THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING.
HERRINGDALE, Pa., Aug. 11, 1887.

MR. C. P. ROBINSON, Jeweller, HERRINGDALE, Pa.
DEAR SIR:—In August, 1883, I purchased of you a Rockford eleven jewel nickel
S. W. movement, No. 51,735, and since that time the watch has performed perfectly satisfactorily. It has never stopped and could always depend on it. During the past three months, the actual variations have been less than any second, using it every day on my engine, compared with the time reckoned by the watch at N. Y. L.
E. & W. R. D. P. O.

CONTRASTS IN NEW YORK.

Metropolitan Life is Full of Lights and Shadows.

The Recent Festivities of Fishing Thursday in Venice
Offset by the Inexpressible Sad Suicide of Anselmi Nottolera and his Wife to Avoid Starving.

The contrasts of metropolitan life are sometimes startling—may almost appear grotesque.

But a few days ago the attention of the lovers of the poetry of fiction in New York was attracted by the representation of the Fishing Thursday in Venice at the Metropolitan Theatre.

Not only were the Metropolitan Theatre drawn from the ranks of young New York's fashionable society, and as the proceeds were to be given to the relief of the Italian Floodings, but the representation of the Fishing Thursday in Venice at the Metropolitan Theatre.

MINISTER FROM DENMARK.

Count Spionck, Who Represents His Government at Washington.

Count Spionck, who comes from Denmark as minister to the United States, is the son of Count W. R. C. Spionck, who inherited large estates in that kingdom.
The father was sent by the king of Denmark with the young Prince George, when that prince was made king of Greece, to act as his confidential adviser.
He remained with King George in Athens
for two years.

Count W. R. Spionck was born in Copenhagen in 1818. After being graduated at the University of Copenhagen in scientific branches, languages and the law as a profession, he travelled, and served in the Danish army, and was appointed to the post of minister to the United States.

Count Spionck entered upon his duties at Washington a month ago. Upon his arrival in this country he learned that while he was on the ocean his distinguished father had died.

The Surgery of Mr. Conklin's Case.
A physician has given the following description of the operation recently performed on Mr. Conklin at New York:

"The operation is a delicate one, and having been made over a century and a

AS. H. GOSSET. . . . . EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
SATURDAY, MAY 5, 1888.

MR. HALE SHOULD RESIGN.
The vote given by Mr. Hale, M. P. for Carleton, N. B., out of the party, for some weeks has been protesting against the course of the opposition, and his vote in favor of the government against Sir Richard Cartwright's amendment arranging the government for its misadministration of the federal finances, has naturally enough caused considerable surprise and comment. In the parliamentary correspondence of the Montreal Star it is stated as follows:

OTTAWA, May 2.—A sensation has been caused by the announcement that the Liberal Opposition today decided to formally read Mr. Hale, M. P. for Carleton, N. B., out of the party. For some weeks he has been protesting against the course of the opposition, and his vote in favor of the government against Sir Richard Cartwright's amendment arranging the government for its misadministration of the federal finances, has naturally enough caused considerable surprise and comment. In the parliamentary correspondence of the Montreal Star it is stated as follows:

How much truth there may be that the Liberal Opposition party has decided to formally read Mr. Hale out of the party we cannot say, but the "reading out" may probably consist not in admitting him to confidence. Whether this be or not, it cannot but be regretted that Mr. Hale should so grossly misrepresent the wishes of his constituents. His country is undoubtedly liberal in its aspirations, and for years past has been steadfast in its opposition to Tory rule. Mr. Hale, in former number, whose retirement from public life was a public misfortune, set Mr. Hale an example of steadfast adherence to principle which the latter has not imitated. Nothing is so deplorable as trimming, and nobody in public life is as deplorable as the trimmer. Give us the steadfast honest opponent any day rather than the man who looks one way and votes another.

A straightforward opponent we can always respect and know where to find, but spare us from the politician whose policy is governed solely by expediency. The great cause of public life to-day is the tendency of public men to place themselves in the market to be bought and sold like sheep under the miserable pretence of getting something for their constituents, but really to stoke for the lack of principle by the hope of winning support by the dispensing of patronage. If there is one policy more than another demanded in the interests of the country of Carleton, and which its ablest sons, it is "unrestricted reciprocity." Yet what attitude does Mr. Hale assume towards this question? He actually votes approval of the present government's fiscal policy, the maintenance of which is antagonistic to unrestricted reciprocity. The amendment against which he voted condemned the enormous increase in the public expenditure, but Mr. Hale voted approval. The basis of that increased expenditure is the excessive revenue and taxation due to a policy of protection and commercial isolation from the bulk of the trade of this continent. Any endorsement of the government's excessive expenditure is an endorsement of protection and any support, directly or indirectly of the latter policy is antagonistic to unrestricted reciprocity.

Under the circumstances that Mr. Hale has clearly voted against the interests of his constituents and voted against the political principles of which he was believed to be a supporter when elected, it is his duty as a member of honor to resign his seat and appeal to the electors for approval or disapproval of his altered course. Mr. Hale should resign.

THE AGITATION FOR RELEASE.
Despite the betrayal of the real principle at stake in the anti-contempt of Court agitation by certain newspapers in this province the Press almost unanimously in the other provinces of the Dominion is taking a bold stand not only against the sentence passed upon Mr. Hawke, but against the whole mode of procedure.

It is claimed by the St. John Star that the newspapers outside New Brunswick which are assailing the Supreme Court are doing so under a misapprehension as to the facts of the case. But this is not so. The newspapers in the outside provinces unanimously attack the mode of procedure, and hold, as the defendant himself did, that the proceedings should have been taken in the form of an action for libel inasmuch as the comments and charges were made upon the cause was not subjudice.

The Sun further says that the attack upon the Supreme Court is general because the journals believe that the Court sentenced Mr. Hawke because of the drunkenness charges which it adds were not entered into by the Court. This too is a misrepresentation. The Upper Canadian journals all admit that the charges of drunkenness were not investigated. Unlike the Sun these journals are holding that fact is itself not an argument against the defendant, but one against the fairness of the trial. It is held that inasmuch as this was really the main charge preferred it is the main charge which should have been investigated. They are now denouncing that the Minister of Justice help along the wrong by investigating this particular charge and releasing the defendant.

The journals outside this province recognize the dangerous character of the Supreme Court's action and decision, and they are denouncing all side communications and confining their attacks to the mode of trial. Nothing has disconcerted certain provincial journals more in the eyes of the people than the fact that against the law blackleggedness has been applied upon the defendant by them for political reasons or personal jealousy. For low scurrility and mean contemptible abuse the Sun today takes the palm in its article headed—"Millstone Philosophy." We believe in fair play, and honest warfare, but the vindictive manner in which a clique of provincial journalists have pursued and vilified Mr. Hawke even when he is in jail, unable to defend himself with freedom from their attacks, shows that there is less manliness about certain journals than we believed.

The very violence of the abuse and in some respect upon him, and the dignified and calm attitude he assumes in striking contrast, are making friends for him of those who were formerly hostile.

THE LABOR COMMISSION.
The Labor Commissioners have come and gone, and their efforts were a case of protracted labor with small results. They dangled and talked, smoked their Havanas and loitered around; put in an appearance at the investigation, and each drew his four dollars a day, and then left. One of the witnesses gave a truthful account of the industrial situation in Fredericton, but this did not suit Ald. N. P. McKay who was watching the proceedings. It would never do, he claimed, to have such a statement published in the report, and when the commissioners expressed their inability to contradict the statements, he volunteered to do himself. The valiant alderman ascended the stand, he kissed the Bible with great gusto, and sat down glaring defiance at the last witness. When Mr. McKay had completed the Labor Commission's hearing a sigh of relief, and the country and the N. P. were safe. It is a great pity that Sir Leonard Tilley as the father of the N. P. should not be called to give evidence as to the whereabouts of those ten years of property during which he advised the young business men to clap on full sail. The only other, however, we know now-days are the sales of closed factories and of bankrupt stocks.

It is not likely that the Hon. J. S. D. Thompson, Minister of Justice, will allow to permanently pass the great prize for a lawyer placed within his grasp by the death of Judge Henry of the Supreme Court of Canada. The appointments to the Court are by an understanding made by provinces. The vacancy really belongs to Nova Scotia, the province from which Mr. Thompson hails; and if it is now filled by a comparatively young man, Mr. Thompson is shut out during his life, in the natural order of things, from ever aspiring to the position. It may be that the government will hold the position open for a long time, and that it will with this aim in view it proposed to reduce the quorum of the court, but the judges themselves would demur at having the necessarily increased burden of work thrown upon them as a consequence of any considerable delay. Against Mr. Thompson's fitness for the position, we have nothing to say. His ability is admitted, and if a conservative must have this office, there are few who possess claims superior to his.

The Irish Nationalists naturally do not take kindly to the papal rescript against the plan of campaign and boycotting; and Mr. Dillon has declared that though "the Irish are willing to obey the commands of Rome in matters of church discipline, yet they could not have their political dictation to them by Ireland." This is a bold declaration, but it is probably one which will find an echo in thousands of hearts otherwise loyal to the church. If the issue of this rescript is meant seriously, then the Vatican is ill requiring the Irish people for their past loyalty.

The Ontario government has set an example worthy of imitation by other provincial governments, in calling Mr. Drury, a practical farmer, to the portfolio of agriculture. There is less gossip and more sense in this than in the prying into public life to better all the prizes upon one profession, and the Ontario government has been an example in this respect. The charge, however, no longer applies to it with former force.

THE EXPERIENCE OF MR. PETER.
Mr. Peter had a fall. Mr. Peter had a fall. With powder and squibs. With powder and squibs. Many medicines lured her. With powder and squibs. Their names and their number nobody could tell. And she soon might have got well. That acted like magic, and then she got well. The magic "Pell's" was Dr. F. Pleasant's Pleasant Pellets (the original Live Life Pills). They cured her and now she wouldn't be without them.

REMARKS OF PETER.
The New Order that was established in the Legislature. High Chancellor Moulton, of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, and about forty other knights from the lodges in St. John, Ontario and St. Stephen arrived in the city yesterday and organized a lodge of the Knights of Pythias in Fredericton. The work of the third degree was completed by the new lodge and installed by the Grand Officer.

PERSECUTION OF HAWKE.

Condemned from one End of the Dominion to the Other.

Matter will be Brought up in Commons Tuesday.

Liberal and Tory Journals Alike Speak Out.

(Special to Gleaner.)

OTTAWA, May 5.—The Hawke case will be formally brought up in parliament on Tuesday next by Mr. Davies. The matter stands until that time by request of Mr. Thompson, minister of justice.

The Press in Unity.
ALBERT MAPLE LEAF.—The Press is almost a unit in the condemnation of the conduct of the judges in trying to build up a character by persecution of J. T. Hawke. The Times and Telegraph stand almost alone in trying to whitewash the action. This country's press beginning to be ventilated as the judges study it the more will they see that an attempt has been made to muzzle the press. They will also find out why one or two journals play false to their profession.

Generally Condemned.
KINGSTON WRIT.—The press generally, regardless of party leaning, is championing the cause of Mr. Hawke, and protesting against the persecution of contempt of court by the New Brunswick judges.

Against the Subject's Liberty.
The Halifax Herald (conservative) after denouncing the sentence as severe, says: "But apart from Mr. Hawke's particular case, there can be no doubt that the time has long since passed when judges should have power, without the intervention of a jury, to punish for contempt of court. It is not in accord with the liberty of the press in this nineteenth century that judges shall be accusers, prosecutors and judges, and therefore find and impose law. In England the right to punish for contempt has in a great measure been abandoned by the bench."

A Martyr for a Free Press.
KINGSTON WRIT.—Mr. Hawke would not have been subjected to the indignity of arrest, and conveyance from Moncton to Fredericton, had he been all other than a martyr for a free press. He was arrested, he was conveyed, he was imprisoned, he was tried, he was sentenced, and he was now a martyr for a free press. He was arrested, he was conveyed, he was imprisoned, he was tried, he was sentenced, and he was now a martyr for a free press.

A Vote From Yarmouth, N.S.
The Yarmouth, N.S. Herald, after pointing out the manifestations of sympathy in Fredericton for Sir John Hawke, says:—"It is true, however, that his incarceration at the instigation of a judge, bench of judges, weakly struggling to maintain what they call their dignity, has the appearance of martyrdom. His resolution and manly refusal to accept an apology for his exercise of the privileges of an editor of a journal in a free country, which has led to his imprisonment, is generally approved.
