SMASHING BLOW BY THE BRITISH

Drove Germans Back Over a
Front This Morning.—Progress is Continuing.

London, Aug. 21.—An attack on a wide front north of the Ancre River was launched by the British forces this morning, says the official statement from Field Marshal Haig today. Satisfactory progress is being made, the statement adds.

Tuesday afternoon the British threw back strong German attacks against the new British positions south and north of the Scarpe.

The statement follows:—
"We attacked at 4.55 o'clock this morning, on a wide front north of the Ancre River. Our troops are reported to be making satisfactory progress. Yesterday afternoon strong hostile attacks, accompanied by heavy bombardments, against our new positions south and north of the Scarpe were completely repulsed.

"We improved our positions slightly in the neighborhood of Fampoux (east of Arras) and captured a few prisoners.

"We advanced our line during the night between Festubert and the Lawe River, (on the southern side of the Lys salient) and are in possession of Le Tourlet.

"Early this morning British troops carried out a successful local operation in the Locre sector on a front of over a mile. All the objectives of the attack were taken, and a number of prisoners were captured."

DALHOUSIE POST OFFICE.

The P. O. Inspector was again in Dalhousie last week, investigating conditions in the post office.

Complaint is made that the Postmaster also occupies the positions of Town Clerk and County Treasurer, and transacts the business in the post office, during business hours, to the annoyance and inconvenience of the public. That he personally runs a motor for hire, and is habitually absent from the office in business hours. Loafers who may interfere with the security of the mails have been constantly in the office. Insolence and non delivery of mail promptly, is also complained of.—Cor.

THE G. W. V. A. CONVENTION

Returned Soldiers Must See Service in France Before Being Eligible for Membership.

Lieut. O. J. Lawson, President of the G. W. V. A. of Beauséjour, who was elected by that Association to attend the Dominion Convention of the G. W. V. A. which was held at Toronto on July 29th to Aug. 3rd, returned home this week.

He reports the Convention as being a great success. Many matters of importance were taken up and dealt with in the interest of our returned soldiers. All the resolutions submitted by Lieutenant Lawson were unanimously carried, which were chiefly along the line of pensions, local medical treatment, employment for our returned men.

There were some two hundred delegates in attendance who represented the various Associations from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Convention was held in the Technical School Building. This building is a wonderful piece of architecture, where returned soldiers are being educated to take up any trade they wish.

The Convention opened with an address given by Sir William Hearst, in which he impressed upon the delegates that he was with the boys heart and soul.

Mayor Church of Toronto also gave an address. His address impressed the delegates that he was a man of action and was not afraid to speak his mind. During his remarks he pointed out that the government were not doing sufficient for our returned heroes.

A resolution was passed to the effect that representatives of the press be admitted to all sessions, as there were no secrets in the organization of the G. W. V. A.

It was shown that the membership had increased from 3,884 to 25,000, and that there were 138 Branches of the Order throughout Canada.

A resolution was passed that returned soldiers must have seen service in France or must show good reasons why they could not get to the firing line, before they were eligible for membership in the Association.

Officers and N. C. O.'s who would revert to a lower rank so as to enable them to get to the firing line are also not eligible for membership.

Although the Winnipeg and Ottawa delegates withdrew from the Convention for a few days owing to minor differences, it did not interfere with the work in hand. On Friday, August 2nd, Winnipeg and Ottawa rejoined the Convention.

A resolution was also adopted that no politics should enter the G. W. V. A.

One thing which strongly impressed President Lawson was that when he went to Niagara Falls he saw or several private automobiles "Soldiers and Sailors" will take you as far as I go."

The good work of the Y. M. C. A. at the front was generally approved of, the various delegates speaking in the highest terms of the work conducted by that body.

Le-Col. W. F. Furney of Halifax was elected President for a second term. He is well liked by the returned men and puts his heart and soul into the work.

CANADA PREPARING EMERGENCY ARMY

Newburn Says He is Creating Reinforcements of Canadians for Rainy Day.

London, Aug. 19.—"Like the ministers and the press. I have made a Cook's tour of the front," declared Bishop Fallon, at the Canadian pay corps dinner to-night, amidst good-natured laughter. Proceeding in a serious vein, the bishop said: "The only criticism I have heard of the Canadians' effort has come from Canada, at home. Therefore, I hope the members of the press here now will instruct and inform the people, at home of the wonderful things the Canadians have accomplished. I do not for one moment mean that Canada alone is winning this war, but there is no section doing its share more thoroughly than that element led by Currie in France. Turner in England, an Newburn in Canada.

Earlier in the evening General Turner, alluding to the week's successes by the Canadians, spoke significantly of the value of keeping the re-inforcements in England at full strength. "Battalions may go into the line in full fettle," he said, "but after the first round they look for re-inforcements. I am confident we shall have sufficient re-inforcements here now to maintain our force in what will prove to be the greatest fight of the last four years."

General Newburn declared, amid loud cheers: "I am prepared to stand or fall by my efforts to support the corps at the front. I feel our efforts in Canada have not been in vain. When I was asked in Canada why men already in England could not be used as re-inforcements I looked on the matter as a business proposition, and resolved to create a reserve for a rainy day, for I knew the morale of the corps would be greater by knowing re-inforcements were already in England." General Newburn also expressed the hope that in years to come a scheme would be promoted whereby militia units would be able to carry the battle honors won by their men on their colors.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne expressed the belief that Canada would shortly have a maritime unit of its own working in harmony with the Admiralty.

SEASON CLOSED.

The season for netting of salmon in the St. John river, closed yesterday under the regulations of the Federal Department of Fisheries. A petition from a large number of residents of the parish of Kingsclear was presented to the Department some days ago praying that the season be extended on account of the unfavorable weather of the early summer. The Department refused to grant the extension.—Gleaner.

MIRAMICHI GIRL HELD UP.

Miss Belenda M. Jardine of Underhill, Lower Blackville, N. B., was taken in charge here Monday evening and lodged in the lockup. The young lady got on the train at Newcastle with a ticket for Campbellton. Upon arriving here she was spotted as a suspicious looking character by the I. C. R. police. She had every appearance of being a boy, short hair, boys features, large hands and feet. She wore a skirt but had on a boys mackinaw. When questioned she was very rough in her language. At the police station she was searched and a .32 revolver with cartridges found. When asked by Chief Adams why she carried this she said, "to shoot such guys as you." The police at Newcastle were telephoned to but knew nothing of her, but later her brother was communicated with and she was sent home this morning accompanied by I. C. R. Policeman Lawson.

LETTER B ON OATS.

A farmer writes: A great deal has been said about this so-called "B" on the oat crop this year. It is there alright, but the chances are it was always there. It is found mostly on the upper blade and, around the edge of the oats. The "B" is situated about half way out on the blade. Now what is the cause of it? The phenomenon is always found where the plant is unprotected from the wind. It would seem to be a logical conclusion that the wind blowing the leaf around, causes these two little ridges to form on the bend of the blade, and though nine times out of ten the letter is not entire, human imagination completes it.

A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Miss Kelly Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Newark, N. J.—"For about three years I suffered from nervous breakdown and got so weak I could hardly stand and had headaches every day. I tried everything I could think of and was under a physician's care for two years. A girl friend had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she told me about it. From the first day I took it I began to feel better and able to do most any kind of work. I have been recommending the Compound ever since and give you my permission to publish this letter."—Miss FLO KELLY, 476 So. 14th St., Newark, N. J.

The reason this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, was so successful in Miss Kelly's case was because it went to the root of her trouble, restored her to a normal healthy condition and as a result her nervousness disappeared.

With the Fingers!

Says Corns Lift Out

Without Any Pain

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This new drug is an ether compound, and while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heeled footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.

ARGUMENT OF COUNSEL ENDS CURRIE ENQUIRY

Arthur LeBlanc, M.P.P., Heard in Eloquent and Exhaustive Address on Behalf of Client.

Hon. Mr. Currie's Counsel, in Review of Evidence, Claims to See No Substantiation for Charges, Drawing Attention to Murchie's Unfavourable Showing on Stand—Hon. Dr. Baxter Questions Sawmill Scale Submitted and Says Whole Matter Turns on Conversation.

Moncton, Aug. 15.—The inquiry into the charges preferred in the legislature last spring by Dr. J. B. M. Baxter against Hon. William Currie, speaker of the house, who brought to a close this evening when argument by the various counsel was completed before the commissioner, James Friel, K. C. The result will be made known when Mr. Friel's report is submitted to the government.

Mr. LeBlanc, for Mr. Currie, argued that none of the charges had been supported by the evidence and quoted the evidence in support of his contention. If there was any irregularity, he said, it was the fault of the system and not of the man and Mr. Currie had taken a lead in having the system remedied. His defence was eloquent and exhaustive.

Dr. Baxter, contra, argued that Mr. Currie's own evidence could be used to support the allegations of Murchie. Mr. Currie, for the government, contented himself with a brief reply to Mr. Baxter's intimation that he had not sought to secure all the evidence available by pointing out that it was Mr. Baxter's objections which had limited the scope of the inquiry.

Mr. LeBlanc's Address.

The final session, this afternoon, owing to the delay to the train on which some of those interested were travelling, did not open until after 5 o'clock.

When the court opened, A. T. LeBlanc, M. P. P., colleague of and counsel for the speaker of the legislature, addressed the commissioner, presenting his argument for the defence. Dealing with the evidence of Mr. Purves, scaler for the Continental Company, that his estimate of the cut was 8,000,000 feet, Mr. LeBlanc pointed out that this total included sixty per cent. of fir, that was thirty-five per cent. of it would have been the fir ran generally to small logs and to be discounted because it was rotten and no good. Another twenty per cent. was cedar also very faulty.

The count made by Purves, the company scaler, he said, was not a survey but an estimate. He did not count more than fifty logs at a brow nor scale ten of them. If the estimate ran high it should be remembered that the operators were getting out their timber at a very low rate and if they did not allow the jobbers a generous scale, they would not get men to go to the woods. For their records Mr. LeBlanc said, the company had figures of the actual cut. They did not need an exact estimate. His learned friend had given Purves a high certificate of character as a witness. This witness had figured in his estimate.

Mr. LeBlanc remarked that he had tried to bring the tally sheets, but found them too bulky and too numerous. From the total mentioned should be deducted 319,750 feet of side boards which, according to Murchie, were not merchantable. This leaves a net total of 5,290,000 feet.

Total Not Over 5,000,000 Feet.

If further proof were needed there was the evidence of M. Tapley, a man of forty years' experience, whose estimate based on five days' survey was 5,739,000 feet. That should be sufficient to show that the amount on which stumpage should be paid would not be much more than five millions. And when Tapley made his survey the water was low and the bigger logs were being sawn. It was known that ten-inch logs and under never cut within eighty per cent. of the scale in the woods. In this case every circumstance went to make the cut less than the scale. Any lumberman would tell that the cut would fall twenty to thirty per cent. below the scale. The actual cut at the mill was the quantity on which stumpage should be paid and this was little more than five millions. The government scale was 100 per cent. above the actual cut. The commissioner had the word of Colonel Loggie, the deputy minister, who swore that what the department wanted was stumpage should be paid on the actual cut. Then there was the evidence of the circular sent to LeBlanc pointed out that this total would "give such a scale as would saw out merchantable lumber." There was no evidence of any change in this policy; that was the only evidence on this point. Colonel Loggie had admitted that the department expected an estimate of the actual cut. He had sworn that the department was satisfied with the returns of the government scales in most cases and that most of them were correct.

Regarding the system supplied by the government, scales, the commissioner had had Murchie before him and could judge of his methods. Mr. Murchie's Showing on Stand.

The evidence of Murchie, even if not contradicted, was such that no man of legal mind could accept it, the counsel said, and went on to quote the various conflicting statements made by the scaler. On the other hand, he quoted the evidence regarding the al-

WEEPING ECZEMA SOON RELIEVED

A Perfect Treatment For This Distressing Complaint

"I had an attack of Weeping Eczema; so bad that my clothes would be wet through at times. For four months I suffered terribly. I could get no relief until I tried 'Fruit-a-tive' and 'Sootha Salva' The first treatment gave me relief. After that, I have used three boxes of 'Sootha Salva' and two of 'Fruit-a-tive', and am entirely well." G. W. HALL.

Both these sterling remedies are sold by dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tive Limited, Ottawa.

"Fruit-a-tive" is also put up in a trial size which sells for 25c.

LeBlanc was glad to say that the government had changed the system. Murchie, on his own evidence, never went around to the camps. He received $800 to do work which he never did. He could not swear whether the Continental company had cut one foot or ten million feet. If the old government had sent scalers and knew that the returns were not full and were willing to accept their returns, it had become by right of prescription the established law of the province. It was not theft, but the accepted method.

The scaler went to the operator and asked how much he would make the scale. Bargains were made, and the government must have been aware of them. If another method had been adopted it was possible that the old government party would not have had a large fund to oppose the election of himself and his colleague in February, 1917. If that was the recognized system the department was to blame.

There were two charges against Currie. One was that he had procured, bribed or influenced Murchie to reduce his scale. That had yet to be proved. The other was that he had caused Murchie to be put on a reduced scale knowing it to be reduced, and nothing had been produced in evidence to show that this was the case. The only evidence in support of the first charge was the scale; that was the only evidence proved him a perjurer. He had sworn that he had never been bribed to reduce the scale; that was the only evidence on which he was emphatic, but Mr. Myles and Mr. Barbour had sworn that they had paid Murchie $100 to reduce the scale of the Prescott Lumber Company and had charged the amount up paid for beef. Regarding the settlement for the stumpage, Mr. LeBlanc pointed out that Daniel Richards who was not a political friend of theirs, had sworn that he had settled the stumpage with Murchie before the election. It might be only a strategic coincidence that Murchie had gone to the stumpage, but he would leave it to the commissioner to judge which political party had reaped the benefit.

Murchie's Showing on Stand.

The evidence of Murchie, even if not contradicted, was such that no man of legal mind could accept it, the counsel said, and went on to quote the various conflicting statements made by the scaler. On the other hand, he quoted the evidence regarding the al-

THE CHEVROLET 490 is an investment, not an expense or luxury. Doctors, business men, farmers, salesmen and ladies—all should use the Chevrolet Four-Ninety and crowd more energy, activity and business into the busy day.

The Four-Ninety stands unchallenged in its price class. The electric starting and lighting equipment is most efficient. The car is powerful, roomy, comfortable and economical. The time gained by operating a Chevrolet more than pays for the cost.

one of his first acts was to go before the government and open up the records in the scaling system. He represented the scaling conditions as they were. There was the passage of the act which makes it necessary for the operators to make correct returns of their cut under oath or have their licenses cancelled. That was not the action of a man who was trying to defraud the province. This is not an isolated instance.

Mr. Baxter's political friends on a cut of less than three millions fell short by $99,000 feet on a scale made by the same. Mr. Currie Loggie gave evidence that Thaddeus Murchie, the chief scaler, settled stumpage returns with the operators. A Murchie made his returns for the Continental Company in the same way he made his other returns and what evidence is there to show that he was influenced in any way by Mr. Currie. If any fault can be found, it was not with Mr. Currie but with the system.

Dr. Baxter's Address.

When the hearing resumed in the evening Dr. Baxter was heard in support of his charges. He related the circumstances under which the charges were laid, pointing out that he had not sought to take political advantage of them by rushing them into print, but had submitted them to the leader of the government. Continuing he said that his learned friend had said if there were irregularities they were due to the system and not to the man—a confession that there were irregularities.

Taking up the figures of the scale and the cut, Mr. Baxter disputed Mr. LeBlanc's contention that the saw-mill cut as quoted by Purves was the figure on which stumpage should be paid, as not including slabs, side boards or deal ends. Purves contended that the scale should give the square of log and that all other lumber secured was so much to the good, which he said was palpably incorrect. He regarded Purves as a thoroughly good witness, but he did not agree with his ideas on the subject of the scale. The attempts to whittle down the figures based on the mill cut did not produce the returns on which stumpage should be paid. The reference to Colonel Loggie, he thought, was more a tribute to the ingenuity of his learned friend than a correct interpretation of evidence. His general evidence showed it was the quality and not the quantity of timber to which Colonel Loggie had referred.

The charges might be divided into two classes. First was based on Murchie's conversation with Currie, in which the former said that the latter should not make his report too high. It was alleged that a cut of 6,780,000 was reduced to 4,615,000, a reduction of 2,165,000. The other branch of the charge was that Currie caused stumpage to be paid by the company on the reduced amount, knowing that it was not the proper amount. The first part of the charge depended on the testimony of LaPointe and Murchie on the one side and Currie and Richards on the other. To LaPointe no exception could be taken, as he had no interest in the case. His evidence established that Murchie and Currie did meet.

Comparing the two versions of the conversation, Mr. Baxter said that they established by Mr. Currie's admission that it took place before the cut was completed that mention was made of survey bills and of the cut on private lands, and asked why these matters were introduced if not in an effort to arrive at a settlement of the stumpage.

He commented on Mr. Currie's statement that Murchie had told him that he was making his final return and questioned Currie's belief that Richards had made a final settlement. He found in the evidence no contradiction by Currie of Murchie's statement that he would leave off the names of certain jobbers. Politics might well affect the situation, and the scaler who went to Richards before the election might be expected to go to Currie after the election.

Currie's Knowledge of Cut.

Regarding Currie's knowledge of the cut, that must be judged by his opportunities to know, and his own evidence showed that he was doing more than just acting as a manufacturing manager. Mr. Currie had said that he was opposed to the system in vogue, but his sincerity must be judged by his conversation with Richards, when he failed to protest against a settlement of

CIGARETTE BURN

Men who smoke know how painful a burn of this kind can be. Just smear on a little Zam-Buk and it will give you no more trouble. Even a little burn, if neglected, may develop into a very sore place, as Mr. J. A. Savard, of Doucet, Que., found. He says: "I burned one of my fingers with a cigarette. I spoiled some ointment and thought it would be all right, but instead of getting better it got worse, until the sore covered the entire top of my hand. I suffered such pain that I could not sleep, and tried everything I could think of but could not cure it."

"Finally a friend recommended Zam-Buk, which gave me wonderful relief, and the continued use of it completely healed the sore."

Put out blisters, rash, eczema, ulcers. Mood-poisoning and piles. Zam-Buk is equally good. All dealers 60c box.

the stumpage before the returns were complete.

According to the Purves scale, the company should have paid stumpage of $10,472; only $6,006 was paid, a loss to the province of $4,466. Currie's share would be $535, a little more than he draws for discharging the office of speaker.

Mr. Friel—Mr. Currie said you did not like him. (Laughter).

Mr. Baxter, continuing said that the evidence that the scale would not saw out was immaterial. He made passing reference to Mr. Copp, counsel for the government, and referred to his previous statement that Mr. Copp had conferred with Mr. Currie during the inquiry. He then added that there were ten operators in Restigouche; only three had been mentioned in the inquiry, and there did not seem to be any great desire to secure information for the benefit of the government regarding the system. In closing, he paid a tribute to the impartiality and thoroughness of the commissioner.

Mr. Copp spoke briefly, pointing out that when he sought additional information regarding the other operators and other information relating to the system of stumpage collections he had been prevented by Mr. Baxter's objections.

This concluded the argument, and the commissioner announced that he would make his report to the lieutenant-governor as soon as it could be prepared.

ECLIPSE NAPOLEON.

Debate on the question as to whether Foch or Napoleon was the greater soldier should not last five minutes, says the Toronto Telegraph.

The fame of Napoleon was made in combat with a rabble of peasants led by incompetent Austrian aristocrats. There is nothing in the career of Napoleon, to indicate that the Napoleonic genius would have ever proved equal to the burden that was carried on the broad shoulders of Joffre in 1914.

Foch has written his name on the muster roll of mighty soldiers. There is no name on that muster roll greater than the name: Joffre, who had to work out the salvation of the rescue of France in 1914-15 with the help supplied by Belgium and the British army led by General French. The triumphs of Napoleon's genius never surpassed the triumph wrought by Joffre and Foch when an invading army of 2,500,000 Germans was beaten back from the Marne by a defensive force of 1,200,000 French soldiers, with their British and Belgian allies.

EACH DOMINION TO BE CONSULTED

London, Aug. 16.—In order to prepare for the continuity of the negotiations with the representatives of Great Britain and the Dominions, the Imperial War Cabinet, says the London Times, has decided that each Dominion shall be represented by a minister stationed permanently in London. The Imperial War Cabinet will meet from time to time with these ministers as members.

GERMANS ARE NO MATCH FOR THE CANADIANS

The Enemy is Now In Deadly Fear of the Coming Allied Attack.—Successful Raids on German Lines

Ottawa, August 17.—Roland Hill, correspondent with the Canadians in France, writes:

According to prisoners we took in one of our effective "big little" raids, there is no longer boastful talk in the Hun lines about their coming offensive. On the other hand, although these German prisoners still claim to have something like thirty divisions in reserve from Amiens to the sea, they are in deadly fear of what they call the coming Allied attack. The prisoners which the Canadians took complain bitterly that they are being starved—in food guns and material—so that the Crown Prince may extricate himself on the Rheims-Saizois sector. The full significance of the fighting in the south seems to have filtered through to the Germans opposite us, and they say that from now until the end of the year they must act on the defensive.

Surprised the Germans.

The raid, which was made by men from Saskatchewan battalions, was successfully carried out according to program. It also ripped in the bud a similar Hun project which was to be made with the idea of seeing if there were American troops acting with the men from the Dominion. One party of our soldiers drove in enemy posts back to his defence line and established a blockade across No Man's Land from the east.

The main party had the ticklish job of coming out a series of strong points made up of outposts and trenches about three-quarters of a mile long and half a mile in depth. We expected serious fighting and went over in strength. Masked by darkness and heavy rain the Canadians surprised the German garrison, but the main body fled back to the strongest line of trenches, having to plunge through our barrage which stretched back a quarter of a mile. Scores of corpses the next morning testified that all did not survive, although all night long the enemy stood in little positions, our artillery still punishing them, thinking that the great attack had arrived.

No Match for Canadians.

In the outposts and trenches which we destroyed we were only able to get seven unwounded prisoners and several machine guns. It is hard to say how many were killed in the hand-to-hand fighting, but at least thirty dead were counted. Two large dugouts, which had been discovered, were wiped out by our guns, with their occupants. Our casualties were light, being mostly slight wounds from German shrapnel. The Huns opposite us are no match for the Canadians and the close fighting was one-sided.

Another raid was carried out by Ontario troops and in this two prisoners were taken, of a new division hurried in to brace up the front and about a dozen of the enemy were killed and other machine guns captured.

A TRIBUTE TO CANADA.

Since the United States entered the war its government and people have been giving a great deal of study to the question of how to best promote the welfare of returned wounded soldiers. It may surprise some chronic kickers in this country to learn that American investigators, who have thoroughly inquired into the subject, are unanimous in the conclusion that Canada has made the most progress and developed the best system of any of the belligerent nations.

Writing in the August issue of the World's Work, Mr. Thomas Gregory, after analyzing the system of all the warring nations, concludes: "Canada has come nearer to working out a complete and unified scheme for the care of the war cripple than has any of the other countries engaged in fighting Germany. Canada's conclusions as to the war cripple, therefore, should be the best lamp-post for our guidance."

A PROMISING POSITION.

The determined advances being made by the allies, with the capture of various dominating positions, would seem to verify the prediction that the enemy would be unable to hold the present Chaulnes-Roye-Noyon line. Though the immense reserves thrown into the line by the Huns have succeeded in checking the allied rush, it seems impossible that they should permanently stay it. The German reserves are not inexhaustible. Indeed, if reports may be relied upon, they are much less considerable than was generally supposed, and the reservoir has now been drawn upon to such an extent as to leave it perilously low—something between fifteen and twenty divisions for the entire western front—probably about 250,000 men.

The prodigious use of reserves by the Crown Prince while in the Marne pocket, the immense captures of prisoners made by the Allies, and the needs of Rupprecht of Bavaria, in the present battle, have almost diminished the potentiality of German reinforcements.

That is why it is believed that the fall of Roye, Lassigny, and Noyon is an inevitable development of the present battle. And such a consummation would, of course, force a general retirement of the enemy line to the north.

The British continue to advance in the Somme region, while the operations of the Canadians and French about Roye and toward Noyon hold promise of speedy fruit. The success of the allies during the past few days has been slow, but, nevertheless, it is believed it is sure.—Ex.

FRENCH CANADIAN PATRIOT.

Hon. Dr. Beland, a member of the Laurier government prior to 1911, recently returned to Canada from Germany where he was a prisoner of the Huns for nearly three years. He is being very warmly received by his compatriots of Quebec. We observe with satisfaction that Dr. Beland is not talking politics these days, but he has nevertheless told the people of his native province that they should be proud of the men who have gone from that province to fight for justice and freedom and honor. Dr. Beland has done more than that. He has announced that it is his intention to return to France in order that he may continue to do his part in the great struggle.

Satisfactory as it would be to the people of Canada to see Dr. Beland accept a cabinet position, it must be confessed that his decision is the most eloquent, the most appealing call to arms made by any Canadian. Worthy he is of a portfolio, and ready Canada is to honor him, but Dr. Beland's decision leaves the country still his debtor, and points more clearly than could any words the path of duty. Politics can wait. The war must be won, and Dr. Beland will give all the help he can.

Compare the stand taken by this patriotic French Canadian with the stand taken by Bourassa and his followers in Quebec and elsewhere, who declared Canada had done enough for England and that more men were not needed overseas! What a pity there are not more politicians of the Dr. Beland type.—Ex.

HELP THE EDITOR.

Never find fault because a newspaper fails to give every scrap of news, if you are one of the people who never give the editor any information. An editor isn't a medium or a mind reader but he gets his news the same way as the milkman gets his milk, by pumping. This is true especially of that class of items known as "personals" or "taffy" but simple personal mention, given for the benefit of the local readers, and if you have a friend or relative visiting you, let us know and we will be glad to give the item proper notice. Put any bit of news worth printing in our way.

The numerous motoring accidents which are being reported daily should serve as a warning not only to motorists to exercise caution, but to the municipal authorities to take steps to enforce the speed law. Public safety demands that excessive speeding on our highways shall be stopped. There is too much reckless driving on narrow and winding roads in many sections of the Province. The municipal authorities should bring the offenders promptly to book. The example made of them would have a very salutary effect.

It may be all right to give credit where credit is due, but spot cash is always preferable.

TO MOVE I. N. R. DEPOT.

The I. N. R. depot building is to be moved down to the west end of the present C. G. R. Depot. Men are now engaged in excavating for the basement for this building, which will be used as offices for the Master Mechanic and Resident Engineer's staff, including the Road Master, and Bridge and Building Inspectors. It is expected it will take about a month to move the building and get it in readiness for occupation. The main highway will be used for the removal of the building, the railway cuttings not being sufficiently wide to permit of its removal. Mr. W. H. Wallace has the contract for the moving.

NOUVELLE.

What has happened to the Nouvelle correspondent. It is a good whole since we have heard news from this little place.

Mr. Francis Lynch left last week for Montreal on a short visit.

Mrs. R. W. Kerr has returned to her home here after spending some time in the Hotel Dieu Hospital at Campbellton, where she underwent several operations. She is now coming nicely and her friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Many friends gathered at the home of Mr. J. J. Calvert on Friday, Aug. 9th to welcome home nurse A. Calvert formerly of Nouvelle now residing in Saskatoon, Sask. Her many friends were glad to see her after an absence of thirteen years from this place.

Miss Irene McDonald has returned from Campbellton after spending a few days with friends.

Mr. Peter Fallu is spending a few days with his family after an absence of several months. He intends to return to the same work.

Mr. Marvey Parker paid a visit to Campbellton where he was visiting his brother and sister, Mr. Charles Parker and Mrs. Edmond Loubert.

Nouvelle is getting pretty dull now for the boys are being called every day for the war, leaving very few men around.

CHANDLER.

On Saturday evening Mrs. Theodora Chandler, the Misses Gertrude and Louise Landry, Mr. Jean Landry and Miss Dora Mill, book-keeper for a prominent resident of Middle-Sackville, died this morning at his home in that place. He was sixty-two years of age and was stipendiary magistrate, parish court commissioner and parish clerk in Middle-Sackville. He is survived by a widow, one son, Lieut. Harold Fawcett, overseas, and two daughters, Catherine, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Phillipbrick, Fort Fairfield, Maine.

Let's not complain if we lose our temper. We are probably better without it. Think of ordering your mother-in-law to leave the country and actually have in the interest of our returned soldier do it.

SALVATION ARMY WEDDING.

A Salvation Army wedding was solemnized last night in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellton at eight o'clock when Adjutant Best of St. John united in the holy bonds of matrimony two popular members of the local corps here, Miss Vina Charlton and Mr. William Shaw. After the ceremony a reception was held in the Salvation Army Hall when a most pleasant hour was spent in speeches, music, songs, etc. The speakers were Adjutant Best and Ensign Squibbs, both of whom referred to the many high qualities of the contracting parties and wished them many years of happiness. The presentation of a handsome leather rocker by the members of the corps was another of the pleasing surprises at the reception. Light refreshments were served and before the departure of the guests all wished Mr. and Mrs. Shaw many years of happiness during their wedded life. The happy couple left Wednesday morning for Newcastle to spend a few days there with Mr. Shaw's parents.

AN INSPIRING EXAMPLE.

Hon. Dr. Beland, home from three years in a German prison camp, is careful in acknowledging the congratulations and good wishes of friends and admirers to take no side in Canadian political affairs. When it is remembered that Dr. Beland is a Liberal and a former colleague of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, his silence becomes all the more significant. Nevertheless, he is demonstrating in his decision to return overseas to aid in medical work, what he conceives to be the duty of every Canadian. Satisfactory as it would be to the people of Canada to see Dr. Beland accept a cabinet position, it must be confessed that his decision is the most eloquent, the most appealing call to arms made by any Canadian. Worthy he is of a portfolio, and ready Canada is to honor him, but Dr. Beland's decision leaves the country still his debtor, and points more clearly than could any words the path of duty. Politics can wait. The war must be won, and Dr. Beland will give the help he can.

Harold Fawcett, overseas, and two daughters, Catherine, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Phillipbrick, Fort Fairfield, Maine.

DAMAGE SUIT
Newcastle, Aug. 16.—That the relatives of the late James LeGalle, who was killed by coming in contact with an electric wire in July last, intend to take action against the town for damages was the information given by George M. McDade, of Chatham, in a letter to the Town Council asking that a solicitor be appointed to accept a writ, and the town fathers have instructed the town solicitor to act in the matter. The only other matters of interest before the council was the adoption of Ald. Doyle's motion providing that property holders be asked to pay half the costs of installing sewerage, the granting of $100 additional for Board of Health purposes and granting a license for William Standard Shows to exhibit here.

"Well, that's all right," he said gaily. "I thought that since I have been going with you for a year now, it was only fair that I should give you an opportunity to marry me, if you cared to. But since you don't, I might as well confess that I'd rather be a brother than a husband myself."

THE GREAT QUEBEC BRIDGE

"In the annals of engineering triumphs of the world, the construction of the Quebec bridge, for its immense, unique design, excellence of detail and boldness of organization has rarely been equaled and never excelled."

"These words are well worth weighing. They convey fully and without undue emphasis a fitting tribute to a remarkable achievement. For, after years of propaganda and confidence, unlimited faith in its ultimate success, and perseverance against disappointments and misfortunes amounting to national calamities, it stands there, this great bridge, completed at last as our greatest monument to the vision, the sagacity and constructive skill of Canada."

"The Quebec bridge connects the Canadian Government lines on the north of the St. Lawrence with the Government lines on the south, and is the link which shortens the distance between Halifax and Winnipeg by two hundred miles. It is the connecting link also between two vast transcontinental systems, and the railways reaching the Atlantic seaboard."

"Ten important railways are seeking interchanges of traffic at Quebec—the bridge will be the access to that end. On the south side of the river are the two Government Railways, The Grand Trunk, the Quebec Central and the Delaware and Hudson railways. On the north side are the Government Railways, the Canadian Pacific, the Canadian Northern, the Quebec and Lake St. John, and the Quebec and Saguenay Railways."

"It gives the shortest connection between the immense pulp mills and pulp forests of Northern Quebec and the markets in the Eastern States."

"So intense has become the traffic over the Victoria and Lakeshore bridges at Montreal, that in recent years both have had to be rebuilt and double-tracked."

"Already approaching a thousand cars a week are crossing the bridge, and passenger trains via the Canadian Government Railways are using it between Quebec and Montreal. What then when the world turns from war to peace. With the development of Canada and the vast quantities of Canadian goods which is confidently expected, no very optimistic vision is necessary to foresee the important part the Quebec bridge will perform in the immense increase of traffic which must necessarily result."

BORROWED WOUNDED SOLDIERS.

Mrs. (Dr.) Ferguson of Dalhousie has "borrowed" two wounded soldiers from the Witley Convalescent Home. They are enjoying their visit to Dalhousie very much.

FINE WEATHER.

The weather during the past week has been fine and clear with warm days, all that the farmer could desire for haying. Sunday morning there was a heavy frost in the up river sections which did some damage.

THE LAST DAY.

August 24th is the last day upon which pardon is granted to deserters, or those who have failed to report to the military authorities. The extreme penalty of the law will be visited upon defaulters after that date. A word to the wise is sufficient.

REPORTED WOUNDED.

Mrs. Philip Vautour has received the following telegram:—
Sincerely regret to inform you 709822 Pte. William McIntyre, infantry officially reported admitted to 11 Stationary Hospital, Rouen, Aug. 10th, gunshot wound, knee.

DIRECTOR OF RECORDS.

It has been announced that men working on farms previous to going on active service, will be granted harvest leave for six weeks without pay. The leave is subject to the condition that the work must be performed on specified farms and that the leave may be cancelled by letter or telegram at any time. Emphasis is placed on the necessity of giving the correct telegram and postal address.

ROBB-WALLACE.

The marriage of Elizabeth, daughter of Mrs. A. Wallace to Murray Kenneth Robb, took place at Regina, Sask., at the home of Rev. J. C. Cameron at 4 o'clock. The bride was becomingly gowned in delf blue, she carried a corsage bouquet of American beauty roses. The young couple are leaving for Banff where they will spend a short holiday, after which they will take up their residence in Regina.

THE CASUALTY LIST.

The casualty list issued at Ottawa on Friday contains the name of C. Garrett of Campbellton, reported as wounded.

TO HELP WITH THE HARVEST.

Summerside Journal: A large number of the members of the over-seas draft stationed in barracks in Charlottetown, left Tuesday for their various homes throughout the Province. They have been granted six weeks leave to help with the harvesting.

SCHOOLS RE-OPEN SEPT. 3RD.

As will be seen by advertisement elsewhere the Campbellton public schools will re-open on Tuesday, Sept. 3rd. All pupils entering Grade 1 must present vaccination certificate when applying for permit. The office in the Grammar School building will be open every evening from 7 to 8 until the 3rd of September.

PROVINCIAL BONDS ALL SOLD.

The Comptroller General of the Province has sold to the public at par $500,000 of six per cent. twenty year debentures. The sum of $200,000 was first offered but the demand proved so great that an additional $100,000 was issued. The money will be used to improve the roads, and the principal and interest is payable from motor vehicle fees.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE.

Officials of the inspecting staffs of the Inland Revenue Department have been notified that after September 1 the administration of their departments will be transferred to the Minister of Trade and Commerce. The new arrangement takes from Inland Revenue and places under the Minister of Trade and Commerce the inspection of gas, electric light and water meters, weights and measures, food adulteration, commercial feeding stuffs, fertilizers, proprietary and patent medicines, etc. The change is a most important one.

BERRY CROP A FAILURE.

True Citizen: The berry crop in central Nova Scotia is a failure. The frosts of June did great injury to the blueberry blossoms, and there are very few of these berries to be found. Raspberries and blackberries are also scarce.

In Shelburne county there is said to be a good blueberry crop.

Plums are a failure in the Annapolis Valley. A farmer from there recently told us that the people of that district would have to import plums from Ontario. Pears are plentiful.

HARVEST HANDS WANTED IN NEW BRUNSWICK

The Department of Agriculture, for war purposes, last spring urged Greater Production. 103,772 bushels of seed grain were imported. The farmers have responded splendidly. The acreage under crop is in excess of any previous year. Climate conditions have been favorable, crops promise well.

Every acre of crop in this province must be promptly harvested this year. Many men have been called to the colors.

Under the conditions the Department fears that many crops will remain in the fields unless men from our towns and industrial plants become harvesters, and are setting up labor bureaus in different sections of the province to ascertain the farmers' labor needs and to register voluntary labor.

Every man in the towns or cities who has had farm experience should be ready to assist for a few days.

Every farmer should register his wants immediately at one of the following bureaus. A guarantee of help cannot be given by the Provincial Department of Agriculture but when the requirements are known after a certain date, if necessary, the Dominion authorities will be appealed to.

Give name, address, railway station, number of days help required and when. Approximate wages per day. Where wages cannot be satisfactorily arranged, an appeal to the Department of Agriculture may be made for adjustment.

Every man willing to help should be registered at one of the following places:

ST. JOHN—William Kerr, N. B. Government Office, Prince William St.
FREDERICTON—A. B. Wilmot, Dom. Immigration Office, P. O. Bldg.

TEUTONS FIGHT

OVER THE SPOILS

London, Aug. 15.—The Polish question will be discussed at the conference now proceeding between Emperor William of Germany and Emperor Charles of Austria at the German main headquarters, the Vienna correspondent of the Berlin Tageblatt says definitely according to a despatch from Amsterdam to the Central News. Baron Burián, Austro-Hungarian foreign secretary, consider that the Austrian solution of the question is the only one acceptable to Austria-Hungary, but it is understood that this solution is not acceptable to Germany. Interesting developments are expected, the despatch says.

BOLSHEVIKI SEE

END OF REGIME

Stockholm, Aug. 19.—The social Democrat publishes a report sent from Petrograd, Aug. 8th, by a Swedish socialist, saying that the Slovak "advance on Moscow" is expected to result any day in the Russian government officials returning to Petrograd. The latest Soviet mobilization has been a total failure and the Bolsheviks openly admit that the end of their power may come within a few weeks or even days. The newspaper's informant says that former Russian officers are being shot by the wholesale and thus far more than 1,700 have been killed.

Glad to It.

"You know there are spots on the sun," he remarked as they lounged on the beach.

"Well," replied the summer girl, "don't understand why you take such interest in trade reports."

"I'm glad the old thing has a few free-kick himself and can see how he likes it."

"Well, when other men are prosperous I find it easier to make a truck."

FISH TALKS.

BY GEORGE KENNAN

Secretary of the Victoria Fisheries Protective Association

RESULTS ACCOMPLISHED BY AN ENERGETIC BODY OF PROTECTIVE WORKERS.

In the inland waters of both Canada and the United States, between the years 1880 and 1914, large trout and salmon steadily decreased in number for the simple reason that they were not adequately protected. Their spawning grounds, and the number that escaped was not great enough to keep up the stock. This was mainly due to the fact that the people paid little or no attention to the care of them. In the first place, they were allowed to be destroyed by wasteful methods. The second place, when our governments, by enacting laws and appointing fishery guardians, tried to save us from the consequences of our own neglect, we—the people—not only disregarded the laws, but acquiesced in permitting fishery guardians to promote the interests of our political parties, instead of using them, as they were intended to be used, for the protection of the trout and salmon in our streams. For this, we doubt, our governments were partly to blame; but we ourselves must bear a large part of the responsibility, because we are supposed to control our governments through the representatives whom we elect.

As a sequence to our neglect, for more guardians were appointed than were necessary, and instances could be cited where in proportion to area there were more than ten times as many employed. As for instance in Maine, where the people of that State, realising the immense value of fish and game protection, insisted upon their guardians doing the work for which they are paid. So that instead of a few men being adequately remunerated for their services, the money was dissipated amongst the many, the guardians devoted their time to other and more lucrative pursuits, and the duties for which mere instances were paid, neglected.

As a result of all these causes, trout and salmon were not adequately protected, and getting and appearing were common in all parts of the island. At first, illegal fishing was practised by a comparatively small number of people; but as year after year passed, it became more general. Some took fish to sell down for winter use; others to sell in the developing markets of the island; and all resorted to putting still poisoning (as the easiest and quickest method of taking large fish in large quantities, and which was hardly a river in Cape Breton where trout and salmon were not legally taken by spear or net every year, and in only streams the fishing had been almost completely destroyed.

In 1914, the Victoria Fisheries Protective Association was organized in Baddeck, and in the fall of that year, its officers made an exhaustive survey of the fisheries of the province, and the report was presented to the Civil Service Commission by Ottawa. Guardians, however, will be selected for next year; they will do no political work, and they will devote all of their time to an effective patrol of the streams. Thus, for the first time in more than a generation, the fishery service of Cape Breton Island has been put on a business basis.

SHEEP ON EVERY HILL SIDE IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

The New Brunswick Government through the Department of Agriculture has arranged with the Chartered Banks to help the Farmers—where assistance is needed—to buy Sheep.

The Department will not only arrange to buy Sheep FOR the Farmers, but will also buy good breeders FROM the Farmers—in other words, this branch of the Agricultural Department WILL SUPERVISE ALL PURCHASES AND SALES OF SHEEP.

IF A FARMER NEEDS CREDIT TO BUY SHEEP he should consult his local banker who has the necessary forms.

If you cannot buy sheep in your locality, inform the nearest banker who will notify the Agricultural Department, or, better still, notify the Department yourself and say how many Sheep you want.

KEEP YOUR EWE LAMBS

Every Ewe Lamb, weighing 80 pounds and over and of reasonable quality, should be retained by farmers for breeding purposes. Sell the males and the inferior females for butcher purposes. If you have more ewe lambs than required, induce your neighbor to purchase.

THE VALUE OF WOOL

Unwashed Wool of the best quality brought 80 cents a pound this spring, or about $5.00 a fleece.

Have been lost in Europe since the war started. Wool in enormous quantities is now required to clothe the soldiers; it will take an immense quantity to reclothe the returned men in civilian dress. Prices will likely be high for ten years.

New Brunswick has the pasture, hay, root and a climate suited to Sheep. Every farmer should consider investing in a small flock as a foundation. The first year will give approximately $4.00 worth of wool per sheep, the sheep will cost about $15.00. Is it not a good business proposition?

If you cannot purchase locally, place your order with your banker. Orders will be filled, if possible, in the order filed at this office through the banks.

BEES HOLD UP A TOWN

10,000. Loosely in Montclair, N. J., Aug. 2—A swarm of bees moved through the center of this town today and caused much excitement. No one knows where the bees came from, but it is believed that they came from an apiary on Upper Mount Pleasant Avenue, the owner of which is a Mr. J. H. Jones.

James Lennan, traffic policeman at the busy point, saw the cloud of bees coming over the town, which first invaded Glenridge Avenue and blocked Stimpert's new stand by swarming in a tree in front of the place. This spot, however, apparently did not please the queen bee and soon the bees probably 10,000 in number, moved up to Glenridge Avenue to the corner of Bloomfield Avenue, directly in the business center of the town.

CANADA'S TOLL OF DEATH IN WAR

NEARLY 50,000

Incapacitated. Number Close to 100,000—M. S. A., However, Will Supply Wastage, Is Belief.

Ottawa, August 15.—Canada's death toll from four years of war is now approximately fifty thousand. The wastage of men in the Canadian Expeditionary Force during the four years, including also those incapacitated by wounds, illness or by other causes, is estimated to be a little over one hundred thousand, or at the rate of 25,000 per year. The operation of the Military Service Act which has so far directly produced 58,713 men, not including 23,523 men who reported for duty under the act and have been either discharged for medical unfitness or other reasons, or who have been granted leave of absence for necessary agricultural or other work, has thus produced a reinforcement reserve that should secure, under average conditions of wastage, the maintenance at full strength of the divisions at the front for a considerable period to come. It may be noted also that in addition to the 58,713 draftees actually put in training, voluntary enlistment since November last has added 19,477 men to the Canadian army.

The figures of wastage up to the recent Picardy offensive in which the Canadians were heavily involved, and from which the total of casualties is not yet available for publication, include in round numbers, 27,200 killed, 9,350 died of wounds, 2,300 died of diseases, 4,350 presumed dead and 400 missing. This makes a total of 42,200, to which they may be added 2,774 prisoners of war, and the fallen in the battles of the last month, bringing the approximate absolute wastage from these categories up to about 50,000. In addition to these approximately 50,000 men have been returned to Canada as being unfit for further service through wounds or other causes.

The total number of pensions already granted to returned soldiers is now approximately 30,000, involving an annual payment of more than $4,000,000. In these figures no account has been taken of the wastage through desertions, transfers to the air service or other branches of the imperial army, which, of course, has made necessary the recruiting of many thousands more to take their places in all the various units of Canada's army. The figures are given only to indicate war's actual toll from Canada in lives lost or disabled.

MARY MCC'S RHYMES.

"O! I'm tired of city life; its turmoil and its strife, and I want to find a place of peace and rest. I've looked the maps all over, read the adds by the score, then I decided 'Little Sharlo' was the best. I hurried for my life, packed my grip, and took my wife, I was wild with delight to go to 'Sharlo.' The car it seemed to crawl, but I didn't care at all, for hurrah boys! I'm on my way to 'Sharlo.' Were you ever in 'Sharlo'?"

In the common cause Great Britain had to make every sacrifice the solution of the problem required. It was no time for half measures. Her overseas commerce must undergo the irreducible minimum. Accordingly, ships were withdrawn from the Far East, Australia and India. South American trade suffered an eclipse. Communication with Canada was almost abandoned. "The people of the Dominion," says Sir Joseph Macleay, "have bowed to the compelling circumstances; it has really been splendid."

The concentration of shipping thus effected several trade associations that were years in the forming. "There is no saying when the abandoned services can be resumed," Sir Joseph remarks. "That statement," he adds, "may suggest the character of the sacrifice which the British people are making in order to facilitate the movement of American troops." For the common cause, wherever, then, the merit? Ah, but Great Britain is giving of her all, stinting nothing, risking everything. The empire may be ruined but it would not follow that Continental America, 3,000 miles away would share England's downfall. The part of the British Empire in this war is colossal, the burden it bears crushing; and yet it is seldom that England's leaders find time to go into particulars.

Sir Joseph Macleay's story, then, may be heard with sympathy. He claims no special credit for his country. He is quick in appreciation of what America has done, is doing, and will continue to do to the end. The British Controller praises our genius for organization, and he does not fail to

THE TRANSPORT MIRACLE OF WAR

See Carriage of Troops One of World's Big Things—Britain's Wonderful Work.

The "transport miracle," Sir Joseph Macleay, British Controller of Shipping, calls the movement across the Atlantic of more than a million American soldiers (the total is nearly 1,300,000 now), with their stores and equipment, and of, in addition, the food supplies to sustain our allies in Europe and their soldiers and sailors. Some day the truth, subject to human fallibility will be written about the war. It will be sifted from an embarrassing mass of material; official records, which are not always accurate, and personal testimony that may be colored by self interest or warped by bias.

During the war it will be difficult to deal with current events with any assurance that half the truth can be told about them. The drama moves too furiously, the actors are too many, counted by millions; in the rush, turmoil and confusion it is impossible to obtain verification of much that is reported. We can be certain only about the big things, those that are salient, not to be challenged. The sea carriage of America's armies to embattled Europe is one of those big things, and there is no better authority upon the matter than Sir Joseph Macleay. In telling the wonderful story in the New York Times on Sunday he blazed out the "transport miracle" in the way for the historian, who will forefront of his imperishable work.

The amazing thing is that the achievement was practicable with the seas infested by the enemy's submarines that knew no law of God or man. Had there not been a hostile warship between Sandy Hook and Land's End the difficulties of the enterprise would have seemed insurmountable except to men of heroic mold whose faith never faltered. Sir Joseph Macleay was one of them, but he shares the glory of achievement with associates, American as well as British. They are the supermen of the transportation business by sea and land. The first resolution they had to take may be expressed in the form, "Damn the submarines, we must go ahead!" Where were the ships to come from, America had seized the German fleet in her ports and requisitioned every ship available or buildable. But the tonnage thus obtained would be far from adequate.

Great Britain lost no time in combing the seas to make up the deficiency. She herself needed an enormous amount of tonnage for the transportation of her soldiers and to supply their needs; they were fighting not only in France, but in Italy, Macedonia, Palestine, Mesopotamia, Persia and Egypt; reinforcements had to be brought from Canada, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand and India. Great Britain in all the war theatres was maintaining from three to four million men. To supply them with munitions, equipment, and food was a tremendous undertaking possible only with thorough organization and never-failing resources.

His back was aching from bending over so much and he had paused for a moment to straighten himself up, when his companion remarked: "Say, Mike, what would you do if you had a million pounds?" "I'd add four inches to the handle of this pry bar," was the reply. "Tom could not resist the opportunity of replying, and looking archly at his father said, 'Then, sir, you must borrow it.'"

HE KNEW HIS FATHER.

McManus was very desirous that his son Tom should marry a young woman of large fortune, but knew that a certain Miss Callender had won his son's heart.

McManus, expatiating on the folly of his son, at length exclaimed, "Tom, if you marry Caroline Callender, I'll cut you off with a shilling." Tom could not resist the opportunity of replying, and looking archly at his father said, "Then, sir, you must borrow it."

It was Very Necessary. The Celtic office janitor had been working faithfully at his job for several years, when he surprised his employer by asking for a vacation.

"We can't get along well without you," said the boss. "You don't need a vacation. You'll only blow in your money and come back broke."

"I'd like to have a vacation," persisted the Irishman. "I'm going to get married and I would like to be around when it happens."

HORSES IN WARTIME.

Situation In British Isles Is Causing Concern.

Lovers of horses are greatly concerned with the condition of the horses now being worked in British cities. They consider that these horses are both half starved and overworked. Before the war, the horses used in London transport were, as a general rule, above the average standard compared with those at work in the other cities of the country. A more sorry batch of horses than those upon the streets of London at present would be difficult to discover.

The needs of the army have depleted the normal urban supply and the remaining horses and ponies are either too small or too old for the work required of them. It is affirmed that the horse is not getting fair treatment. The food ration has been cut, but the work instead of being reduced has been increased.

Owing to recruiting for the army and navy the place of experienced drivers has been taken by boys of women, who are incapable of understanding the real working power of the equines. Shortage of horses result in those available being worked too many hours, either at too great a pace, while they are also handicapped by the roads being in a bad condition. The conditions prevailing cause increased mortality of horses, and the stock is being used up rapidly. There is a grave prospect of a serious shortage in the near future. The military police are doing all in their power to prevent cruelty in driving or the use of unfit animals. They have prosecuted all offenders during the last eight months and obtained more than 1,700 convictions.

Apart from the smallness of the ration horsekeepers complain of the quality of the feed supplied. They say that the oats supplied are of a light type and contain an abundance of husks. The best oats are being used for human consumption and the horses get the balance.

The army demands for hay are said to be excessive. It is also charged that good quality of hay are held until they spoil. The poor hay that is left is only of qualities that nobody would have bought in peace time at any price. Horses often refuse to eat it. The Government will be asked to relieve the situation.

The General's Charges. The immunity from wounds in action of others in becoming billets for bullets is unique.

No commander was ever more forward in the fighting line than Sheridan, yet he never got a scratch. So, believe, who many a time went in with his own good sword and in his white coat on his white charger, head-down every charge with a recklessness that men called madness, had as complete immunity as if he carried the charmed life that his soldiers ascribed to him, and was wounded only in the quiet trenches by a chance bullet fired into the air a mile away.

Wellington was but once hit, the bullet that carried away his boot heel scares giving him a contusion. Mac was never struck, nor was Napoleon.

Of Sir Neville Chamberlain, again, one of the most distinguished officers in our Indian army, the saying goes that he never went into action without receiving a wound.

Bazaine was a man to whom fortune was not stony in the matter of wounds. At Berneville there came to him the leader reminder that he was mortal, though this time it was but a gentle hint. The fragment of a shell hit him on the left shoulder; but it had been well spent, and because of the protection of the epaulette gave him but a contusion.—Tit-Bits.

The Mercantile Marine.

Havelock Wilson, president of the British Seamen's and Firemen's Union, in a statement as regards the sacrifices of the mercantile marine, says that 15,000 British seamen have been murdered by German pirates during the war. Sea murders are growing because the Boche is determined that every sailor in sunken ships should not live to tell the tale.

British sailors were in deadly earnest in their determination to apply a punitive boycott to Germany after the war. All went in hearty unanimity in their determination not to handle stuff in any way connected with Germany after the war. A year ago the limit of the boycott was for two years. Now, owing to the increase of such crimes, it had been extended to 5½ years. He added that the Seamen's League was growing daily. Already it had 100,000 members.

Cannot Hear Food.

Sir Frederick E. Smith was discoursing at a New York luncheon on the food boarder. "The food boarder is a rare bird in England," he said, "and, when found, he gets short shift. He gets that is to say, a £10 fine, and £50 costs. Every Englishman is a detective where the food boarder is concerned. I heard recently of a chap in a West End club, who said to another, 'I spent all the morning in a tea queue. Most exhausting, I assure you.' 'I do better than that,' said the second chap, with a laugh. 'Come, come,' said the first chap. 'There's nothing doing without the tea queue.' The second chap laughed again. 'The tea queue for some,' he said, 'and for others the g. t. And he walked off still laughing, but the next day they hauled him up for hoarding and his fine and costs came to £215.'

Father and Son.

In his lecture on "War Aims and Peace" at Queen's Hall, London, the Earl of Bessborough, in a story told an excellent story. A friend of his took prisoner an elderly German officer, who was very nasty about it, and remarked that he could console himself by the thought that his officer son was killing "twenty pigs of Englishmen a day." When the captive arrived at Southampton a cheery voice came from the quay. "Hallo, father! Have they got you, too?"
