The Mission Board report was then read, and showed that the year had been very encouraging for the home society. The funds had raised $400.53, and deserved great credit for doing so well. The funds had also been remembered to the extent of $10. Three bands had furnished rooms at Grand Ligne school. Two members had been granted life membership delegates on in each society, and both by the Watford Band. Ninety-five bands had contributed this year, against 81 last year, although the amount was $40 less. Of the 83 Samoilia students, 29 are supported by lands, 12 by Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, 27 by individual circles and societies, leaving 15 unaided. Of the 35 Cocanada girls, 19 of our bands, 1 Quebec band and 10 individuals are responsible each for 1, and 5 are unaided. of foreign work, $1,111, and the circles in connection with these churches added $986.60. All but two associations had reported increases. There were 7,411 women in churches where circles had been organized. Of these 2,392 were members of the home mission circles. There might have been 2,000 more who were members of mission circles had been made among the French-Canadian. Although the work of evangelizing them was very difficult with but one missionary to compete against the numbers of priests, Mrs. Lillie emphasized the fact that the missionaries suffered many hardships which could only be removed by expending more money.

The audience was then favored with a quartet, well rendered by C. Maynard, J. Drew, H. Freeland and H. Essey.

An address by Mrs. Firstbrook, of Toronto, proved entertaining and instructive. She dwelt emphatically on the point that there was yet a great deal of mission work to be done in Toronto, possibly in London and certainly in Montreal. The Catholics ignorant as the heathen of Africa. In order to accomplish this work great sacrifices must be made, and the greatest sacrifices must be made by the missionaries. Mrs. Firstbrook thought that a student might be taken for three months in the year to allow the pastors a chance to lay solid foundations for "new" missions. Women would hardly allow him to enter their houses, but gradually they began to listen to him. Interest was now being taken in the work by others as well as herself. She thought a white missionary should be sent to help him.

Mrs. (Chancellor) Boyd, of Toronto, made a well-directed remarks on Indian mission work. She said that when Mr. Prince, the Indian missionary, first went to his sense of labor the inhabitants would hardly allow him to enter their houses, but gradually they began to listen to him. Interest was now being taken in the work by others as well as herself. She thought a white missionary should be sent to help him.

The corresponding secretary then announced the appropriations which had been made by the new Home Mission Board for the coming year. For the year 1900-1901 the total amount was $1,000. For French Canadian missions, $800; North-west building fund, $200; sundry expenses, $500. The Home Mission Board had also received $400.53 from the Canadian missions, a total of $1,400. This, she said, was an increase of $335 over last year's appropriation, and would require a little extra work on the part of the members.

After the taking up of collection, during which the choir sang an anthem, the evening session closed with the benediction.

The convention resumed at 10 o'clock yesterday morning with a large attendance. Scripture was read by Mrs. Fraser, and Mrs. McK. Robertson led in prayer. The corresponding secretary was read. The Board of the Foreign Mission Society had made ap-propositions as follows: Missionaries' salaries, $2,000; Munchi, $70; assistants, $325; Bible women, $350; school books and tracts, $750; Cocanada boarding school, $400; Cocanada training school, $100; travelling, $50; books for missionary, $100, and others, amounting in all to $3,695. Miss Folom had been made an honorary missionary. Miss M. McDonald, of Stratford, had been aided in completing her medical course at Stratford and at the close of the term she was to become a missionary of the Board. High-life members had been added, making a total of 120.

The report of The Link was read by the editor, Mrs. Newman. The circulation of this missionary paper was only 5,000, although there were 40,000 Baptist women in Canada. It was a good means of getting people interested in the work and was well liked by those who subscribed for it. The expense during the year had been $307.86, the expenses, $372.27; balance on hand, $64.59.
