A Notable Anniversary.

One year ago today, the Tupper gov ernment resigned, and five days later Premier Laurier and his colleagues were sworn in. Since that time, owing to the extraordinary way in which the late government hung on to office long after the customary time, two sessions of parliament have been held. The supplies for the year ending June 20 last had to be voted in the firs session, and only on the second as sembly of the members was the reg ular work of the new parliament en tered on. In opposition circles, with the object of prejudicing the new administration in the eyes of the elect ors, it has been matter of commen that in the short time which the Lib erals have held office they have been able to pass comparatively few measures. That is true, but there is plentv of time to carry out the entire pro gramme in the near future.

In this diamond tubilee year of he Majesty, it would have been a good session's work to have passed the nev tariff and then to have adjourned. A measure which reduces the burdens of the Canadian people and provides for preferential trade with the motherland would have been an ample task. But the administration not only had its tariff passed, but received th sanction of the large majority of th members to its schemes for effectively promoting the dairy interests of the country by supplying cold storage, at creameries, on railways and steamfor increasing the sale of Car adian farm products in Britain, for properly branding Canadian cheese, so that the old world buyer can no longar be imposed upon by having adulterated substitutes palmed off on him for completing the deepening of th canals, in order to lower the rate for carrying our products to the seaboard; for securing the building of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, and the reduction of freight rates to and from Manitoba and the Northwest, and other import-

The Auful Crime

That Martin Thorn Is Said to Have Confessed.

torrible Scenes in New York's Murder Mystery Disclosed.

How Guldensuppe, the Victim, Was Shot and Dismembered - Mrs. Nack Was the Decoy-Both Indicted for Trial.

New York, July 8.-The harbor police began the work of dredging for the missing head of Guldensuppe at 8 that the ferry was used, and that the bundles containing the victim's remains were thrown off as the boat was entering the slip. If the work here is not successful the whole river will be dragged as far as Thirty-fourth street and across in the vicinity of the navy yard.

THOUSE States and Canada, east of the Rocky Mountains, was as follows: Wheat, 17,583,000 bushels, cars, 218,000 bushels. There was a decrease in the visible supply of the visible supply of the crime.

Martin Thorn, admitting that he had murdered Guldensuppe, and giving all the details of the crime.

The confession, which presumably was made to John Adolph, the barber who betrayed Thorn, gives the full sicons.

THE COND. Acting Inspector O'Brien has the con-her unsuspecting victim, Guidensuppe, drove up in the surrey which has been mentioned in the previous stories of the mystery. Thorn heard Mrs. Nack ask Guidensuppe a few questions and heard Guidensuppe and heard Guidensupper and heard tions about the house, and heard Guldensuppe's answer. Then Mrs. Nack said: "Well, don't wait for me. Go through the house and see how you like it.' "Oh, I'll just stay here until you come back," Guldensuppe replied; but Mrs. Nack was anxious not to see the actual transaction of the tragedy she had planned.

"No, don't wait," she urged; "go and see the rooms upstairs. I think you'll find them." Thorn, concealed behind the door of the closet, heard Guldensuppe's steps on the stairs as he complied with the woman's request.

Carelessly Guldensuppe opened door after door until he came to the closet where Thorn stood. As the door opened Thorn shot Guldensuppe right in the head. He died almost instantly.

Then Thorn took hold of the body by and shoved it into the bath-tub. Then he went to the ground floor, where Mrs. Nack was waiting. "It's done," said Thorn.

The Sultan Convinced That Turkey Is Safe From Coercion,

And Bound to Test the Alleged Concert of the Powers.

London, July 8 .- Greco-Turkish affairs appear to be re-entering an interesting stage. Yesterday the porte dispatched a circular to its representatives abroad containing a skillful defense of the Turkish case, and declining to consider any frontier line in Thessaly north of the River Peneios, which it regards as the natural boundary. It appears that the sultan has convinced himself that the powers will not resort to coercion, and has decided to test the alleged concert of Europe to the utmost. CHAPTER II.

Mrs. Northup had heard her wild poor Sparks, she was tearing her hair for an idea. But the landlady had had sufficient experience with literary lodgers not to be surprised by unusual noises. Now Edith could write that letter she had so much dreaded to race up Willie, and it would not be ecessary to tell more than half the sual number of white lies, which was comforting to a girl of her high moral principle. Willie was fretting at his enforced iddeness while his sister slaved to support herself. If he had known how she had taken the double burden on her shoulders! But happily he did not know, for she had sworn their guardian to secrecy and silence. Much railroad building is being done there, Mr. McLennan said, but there appears to be considerable opposition on the part of the common people, on account of a widespread belief that the young are to be placed under the ties of the railroad, and also on account of the belief that the trains will disturb the graves of their ancestors. Notwithstanding these facts, many roads are being built, among which is roads are being built, among which is one 200 miles long running inland from Tien Tsin to Span-Hai-Kuan. All Else Failing Mr. Geo. C. Ward Is Cured by Eight Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Port Hope, July 5 .- No case of recovery from serious illness that has ever occurred in this community has caused as much talk as that of our steemed fellow-townsman, Mr. Geo. C. Ward, registrar of this county, residing here. For a long time it had been well known to his intimate friends that he was a sufferer from kidney disorder. But for the past year he grew worse, and all efforts to re-gain his strength were without avail. He is now cured, as he says, by using eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and is as well as ever he was in his life.

Prof. Goldwin Smith spoke at a Patron picnic at Moorefield, Ont., this week. He concluded as follows: I am one of the last survivors of a political school on the memory of which every great St. Bernard dog crouched at her jingo is now trampling. It held that Edith could easily have heard the first object of government and of all political arrangements was the material welfare of the great body of the people. I am one of the last sere leaves fluttering on that tree, and I am not ashamed of the tree on which I grew. It was rooted in genuine patriotism, and was blessed in its fruit to the people. Lacking in the love of glory, perhaps, we may have been. On the other hand, we made no widows. Of that there is no doubt. But we have hardly yet scrambled out of that bog ourselves; and what they are doing at Washington is not done against us; it is done in their own imagined interest, without any design of injuring Canada. I went to Washington the other day to learn what was going on, and whether it was likely that any modification could be made in the interest of the Canadian farmer. Sir Richard.

The Personal Side of an Able Statesman.

Hon. Mr. Tarte's Appreciation of His Colleague,

Montreal, July 8 .- Hon. Mr. Tarte publishes the following signed article, which needs no comment: "When I was a Conservative journal-ist I entertained the strongest prejudice against Sir Richard. When he is judged at a distance, you take him as being brusque, violent, and difficult to approach. The Liberal press has in fact permitted Tory newspapers to attack him for 20 years without defending Sir Richard, as they should have done. Loyal to the finger ends, and free from all prejudice, he is the personification of kindness, breadth of view, and devotion to the public service. came to power we have had many knotty questions to discuss, and I must say right here that I have never found in any of my colleagues a more refined thinker and a greater degree of which the English call give-and-take than in Sir Richard Cartwright. The Globe's article referring to him as the new Sir Richard was inexact. He has always been what he is today, but he has not been properly appreciated. For a long time a number of Grits and Liberals caused him all possible annoyance because he was at one time a Conserva-tive; for it must not be forgotten that there are people here and there who think there is no salvation for a man who has not always been a Liberal, When Mr. Blake took the leadership of the Liberal party, Sir Richard again had more trouble, for, in spite of Mr. Blake's great talent, he had his weak-ness, and he did not like Sir Richard Cartwright. Sir Richard, however bided his time, and now he is indispensable, both to the government and to Parliament. I wish to close by saying that I am proud of the friendship Sir Richard has shown me since I entered the ranks of the Liberal party. I wish also to add that the French-Canadians and Catholics generally have never had a more friendly ally than the veteran statesman to whom Sir Wilfrid Laurier has given supreme command

Volunteers' Night.

The Excursion to Springbank Well Patronized.

A Spill on the Camp Ground-Musketry Merit of the 28th Battalion -Camp to Break Up.

Last evening was red-coats' night at Springbank. Many of the volunteers availed themselves of the cheap rate to visit the beautiful summer resort. Eight special cars left the corner of Oxford and Adelaide streets early in the evening, and the ride down the river bank was much enjoyed. A man named Watson, who was driving with a local character known as "Glass Allies," while driving at the camp last night, had a spill. Watson did not like the remarks of the men, and turned his horse around to run them down. In doing so his rig upset, and he with the woman was thrown to the ground. The bugger shafts were to the ground. The buggy shafts were broken and the harness torn. The volunteers collected in short order and righted the rig. The shafts were strapped together, and driver and rig shown off the grounds. The woman was somewhat intoxicated, and after an hour's detention, was sent to the city. Capt. Jamison, acting musketry instructor, has prepared the "figure of merit," for the Twenty-eighth Battalion, of the recent shoot. The figures are as follows: No. 1 Company, 15; No. 2, 13.50; No. 3, 23.90; No. 4, 23.30; No. 5, 19.10; No. 6, 16.50. The best individual score was made by Sergt.

Mowat, of No. 3 Company, with 63 points. Corp. Davison, of No. 3 Company, made 49 points; Pte. Miller, of No. 3, scored 57 points; Sergt. Dennis, of No. 2, 53 points; Sergt. Syrons, of No. 2, 53 points; Sergt. Swanson, No. 4, 57 points.
