TWO DEATHS IN GODERICH CAMP PTE. PORTER, CLINTON, DROWNED

Private Mackenzie, of Glencoe, Dies as the Result of a Rupture—
Major Mills' Orderly Breaks His Leg—One Day of Accidents Amongst Soldiers Under Canvas.

(By Our Own Man.)

Goderich, June 22.—The drowning of one man, a broken blood vessel which proved fatal to another, and a member of the artillery in the camp hospital with a broken leg, is the gist of Sunday's accidents at the campgrounds.

Harry Porter, 18 years of age, a private in No. 4 company, Thirty-Sixth Regiment, whose home is in Clinton, was drowned here Sunday evening.

Porter, it seems, lost his watch near the mouth of the Maitland River in the morning, and in the evening along with his brother Howard they went over to see if they could find it.

Being unsuccessful, Harry suggested a swim, but as the elder brother did not care to go in he said that he would wait on the bank until Harry was ready to go back to camp.

Young Porter waded out about twenty feet from shore when suddenly he disappeared, being carried away by an undercurrent.

He arose again in a moment and called to his brother on shore for help, but before the elder Porter could get to him he was out of sight.

A boat was procured and the body was found a half hour later.

All that could be done by the army medical corps and doctors in trying to revive respiration was without results.

The drowned man was a clerk in the Royal Bank, of Clinton.

PHUE! BUT IT IS WARM TODAY
MERCURY IS STILL CLIMBING

But the Temperature Is Not as Great as It Was on Friday Last.

—People Suffered in Churches Sunday Night—
Cool Drinks in Demand.

Many people were under the impression yesterday it was the hottest day of the year. But they were wrong.

Friday afternoon, just before the big electrical storm, took the prize for this season's hot weather.

The temperature then went up to 88.5.

Sunday afternoon it was pretty warm, but the highest point reached was 84.5.

This afternoon the mercury got up to 85.

This is warm enough for most people.

The effect of the heat was felt in the local churches yesterday, members of the congregation fainting in several of them.

Miss Clark, of the Wharncliffe road, was overcome by the heat in the Emmaus Avenue Methodist Church, during the sermon at the evening service. She was taken out and removed to her home in a buggy.

Warm in Church.

People who went to church last night felt the heat very much, and many of the ladies were compelled to leave before the service was over.

At St. Andrew's Church a man fainted, and had to be taken out.

He was revived in a few minutes and taken home. Many other people were also overcome in other churches.

Doctors report that the hot, sultry weather is hard on those who are sick.

So far, however, no serious cases of prostration by the heat have been reported.

BOY HAD VERY NARROW ESCAPE

From Death By Drowning at Burkett's on Saturday.

A young lad named Prince had a very narrow escape from drowning at "Burkett's" old swimming hole Saturday afternoon while bathing there with several other boys.

The lad is about fifteen years old, but is not a very good swimmer. An older boy who was sitting on the bank noticed Prince struggle and go down.

He hastily removed his clothing and swam out to the sinking boy. When he arrived Prince had gone down the third time, and was only saved after a lucky dive by his rescuer.

He was carried to the bank and restored by the other boys after hard work.

The rescuer, whose name could not be learned, is receiving much praise from the companions of the boy.

CANADA'S CIGARETTE
DEMAND INCREASES

The Inland Revenue Returns Show
Growing Consumption.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 22.—The inland revenue department returns indicate that the consumption of cigarettes in the Dominion is increasing rapidly, and that the Government will have to check the use of tobacco by minors has been introduced into Parliament none too soon.

For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1908 there were consumed in Canada 284,800,000 cigarettes. The year before the number was 255,000,000, in 1906 it was 229,000,000, in 1905 it was 210,000,000, and in 1904, 211,000,000. Ten years ago the inland revenue returns showed only 80,000,000 cigarettes for the year.

DROWNED TODAY
AT CHATHAM

Little 3-Year-Old Falls Into Useless, Condemned Cistern.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Chatham, Ont., June 22.—Clarence Brown, 3 years old, was drowned in an old condemned cistern at the rear of his parents' house, Charteris street, at 11 o'clock this morning.

He was missed about five minutes, when his sister, happening to go back of the house, noticed that a small tub, usually kept on top of the cistern, had been misplaced, and on investigation she found her little brother floating in about five feet of dirty water.

She pulled him out and laid him on the grass, and physicians worked over him for 45 minutes, without avail.

The father is an engineer. The family had been living in the house but three weeks.

The cistern was deemed dangerous by Mr. John Brown, the father, who wanted to nail the top down, but the women folks objected.

Besides the parents four other children survive.

CANADA READY TO PAY

Rumor That Government Will Compensate for Cattle Disease.

London, June 22.—With reference to the embargo on Canadian cattle, it is rumored that the Canadian Government is prepared to give an undertaking to pay the costs of suppressing disease, together with full compensation in the event of such disease being traced to stock from Canada.

It is pointed out that if the agriculturalists demand a three months' quarantine failing such an undertaking the cattle might be fattened during that period. So a modus vivendi is not impossible.

The Isle of Wight and the Isle of Man are suggested as suitable quarantine stations.

FALLS DOWN STAIRS AT 83 AGED LADY MAY NOT RECOVER

Blind for Fifty Years, Mrs. Jane Bugler Is at Last a Victim of Her Inability To See—Is Now in Victoria Hospital.

Mrs. Jane Bugler, of Christie street, fell down a flight of stairs at the residence of her son, Mr. Edwin Bugler, Christie street, on Sunday evening, and is at present in Victoria Hospital suffering from injuries from which it is believed she cannot possibly recover.

Mrs. Bugler is 83 years old, and has been totally blind for over fifty years.

Last week she came to visit her son, and on Saturday evening while coming down the stairs missed her footing and fell a distance of fifteen feet.

When picked up she was unconscious, and on being removed to the hospital it was found that the aged lady had fractured both wrists and sustained very severe cuts about the head.

A long gash over the left eye is a particularly serious wound, it being feared that blood poisoning may result.

Mrs. Bugler is suffering intensely at the hospital, and very slight hopes are held out for her recovery on account of her age.

SHOOTING NOT SERIOUS MATTER
MAGISTRATE REMARKABLY EASY

Young Men Who It Was Alleged Had Shot at L. Kellestine
Were Fined Small Sums and Allowed To Go—The Evidence Was Most Damaging.

Harry Morris, an employee of the City Gas Company, and William Hayes, an employee of a local liquor dealer, were found guilty of having pointed and carried firearms, respectively, today, before Squires Chittick and Robson, and fined $10 and costs.

The men were charged with having shot at the person of Lawyer Kellestine a week ago last Sunday.

Some seven witnesses were examined.

The complainant, Kellestine, an employee of the Perrin biscuit works, was the first witness called.

Mr. R. K. Cowan appeared for both prisoners, and Mr. E. Scatterd appeared for the complainant. The crown was not represented.

Plaintiff's Evidence.

Kellestine's evidence was in effect that he had gone down the river on the Sunday in question, and in company with W. Croston, a friend, had met Morris and Hayes on the north bank of the river, about a mile down from the cove bridge.

Hayes and Morris had gone down the river in a canoe. Kellestine and Croston accepted an invitation to partake of a bottle of ale with Morris and Hayes, and had afterward gone to a nearby hill to a shanty, where they found a number of men drinking whisky from a jug.

Those in the shanty were Ernest Yelland, Edward Hardy, a boy of about fifteen, and W. Mercer.

Wanted Lunch Basket.

About an hour later Hayes and Morris appeared at the door of the shanty. They were invited to take a drink of whisky by Yelland, and did so. Then Hayes and Morris asked if any of those present had seen their lunch basket.

Quickly running out of the shanty, Kellestine, who was the last man out, made a bee line for some nearby woods, being closely followed by Hayes and Morris, whom Kellestine stated were shooting the leaves off the branches around his head as he ran.

Kellestine said that he had not run in a straight line, as he did not wish to give his pursuers a chance to get a good shot at him.

Met Others.

Some distance further on Kellestine came to a road where he met a number of other men, including Benjamin Scott, M. Scott and Joseph Fortner.

WANT A TWO-WAY SERVICE WILL PRESENT PETITIONS

To the Council—City Solicitor Meredith Shows That the Mayor and Aldermen Have Power To Deal With the Ottawa Avenue Line—An Important Matter.

There is no need of the city appealing to the Dominion railway commission to compel the London street railway to place a proper derail at the Ottawa avenue crossing. All the city has to do is to enforce the original bylaw governing this road, which calls for a two-way service on that road.

Such is the opinion of City Solicitor Meredith on this subject.

Some time ago, it will be remembered, the street railway company appealed to the Dominion railway commission for the right to erect a derail on Ottawa avenue 75 feet on one side and 25 feet on the west side.

The city was not represented at the commission's sitting, and the order was granted.

Outside Bylaw.

It was thought then, and is still thought that the company had this order put through for the purpose of confirming a one-way service, and by this method over-ride the bylaw which distinctly calls for a two-way service.

Ald. Booth was most active in his opposition to the derail, and declared that it was unsafe when cars were run from west to east, as was the case during the Western Fair week and on other occasions, and also that it was contrary to the bylaw and in opposition to the wishes of the residents of that section.

He insisted that action be taken, either by the council or by appeal to the railway commission, to compel the street railway to put in a proper derail, 75 feet each side of the track.

Mr. Meredith's Opinion.

This matter came up early last winter and was referred to City Solicitor Meredith to take whatever action he thought advisable.

Mr. Meredith gave his opinion the other day, and he distinctly points out that the city council has the power in its own hands to deal with the street railway in this matter.

He declares that the order of the Dominion railway commission, allowing the company to put in a 25-foot derail, operates only when the cars are run from east to west, and that when the company runs its cars from west to east, the act governing crossings will make it compulsory for the company to install a 75-foot derail.

Thus when the company is compelled to install a two-way service by that act the company is also forced to erect a proper derail.

A Two-Way Service.

The right to compel the company to put in a two-way service is in the hands of the council.

Mr. Meredith states that there has been no bylaw passed by the city council allowing the company to run one way only, but the original bylaw is still in force, which makes it compulsory to run cars both ways.

The city engineer, however, gave the company the privilege to run cars only one way, some time ago, and the company has been doing it ever since.

Petition Will Be Presented.

There has been considerable agitation against the present service in the south-eastern part of the city, and a petition now being circulated, will be presented to the council, asking that a two-way service again be installed on the line.

The petition is being very largely signed.

"The company should be compelled to maintain a two-way service," said Ald. Booth. "The company turned a sharp corner on us when it got that order through the railway commission. The opinion of the city solicitor clears the situation somewhat, and I am going to see what can be done. If we have the power, I want it exercised."

He will put it up to the council at the next regular meeting of that body and will move that the company be compelled to install a two-way service.

It is thought that Ald. Booth's resolution will carry, as the aldermen are in favor of a two-way service.

MR. FRED DARCH MAY BE MAN TO SUCCEED HARRY COLLINS

Rumor in London Couples Water Commissioner's Name With High Honor—Mr. Darch Refused To Talk of the Matter
When Seen By The Advertiser.

The most prominent name mentioned in London today as successor to the late treasurer of the I. O. F. M. Harry Collins, was that of Mr. F. J. Darch, of this city.

Mr. Darch is looked upon by many Londoners as the most likely candidate for the position, and has been in the past urged by many prominent Foresters to contest the position against Mr. Collins. This he declined to do.

The delegates realized, however, that Harry Collins could not live much longer, owing to the nature of his complaint, and it was thought that a man should be selected so that he could be appointed to the position when it should be vacant.

That was the reason, it was stated, that Mr. Darch was elected supreme auditor.

The latter position was not of Mr. Darch's seeking. It is said, and his election was somewhat of a surprise to many of his friends in London.

Will Not Talk.

With the passing of Mr. Collins the rumor that Mr. Darch would be his successor has again revived, and it is thought in Toronto that he is certain of election.

"I have nothing to say on the matter at this time," said Mr. Darch to The Advertiser. "If it comes to me I may take it. I have not made any plans at all as yet regarding the position of auditor. I am going to Toronto shortly, to make final arrangements. I cannot give any definite information as to the matter yet."

Suffragette Demonstration in London Ten Thousand Women On Parade

Formed Seven Processions in Hyde Park—Fight Started and Thirty Hurt.

London, June 21.—The militant section of the suffragettes was favored with brilliant weather for their Hyde Park demonstration today, which was carried out according to programme.

The marchers formed seven processions. Their number did not exceed 10,000, but enormous crowds watched their progress and accompanied them to Hyde Park, where thousands, probably half of whom were women, assembled. Their number is variously estimated at anywhere between 150,000 and 500,000.

Those seriously supporting the object of the demonstration gathered closely around the various platforms, cheering the speakers, who generally gained a quiet hearing, although in one or two cases there were interruptions of the kind now familiar, such as drowning the speeches by singing music hall songs.

The platform presided over by Mrs. Pankhurst became the center of trouble, which led to about thirty persons being injured, besides some faintings.

A gang of roughs put up an organized opposition, ringing bells, blowing whistles, and booing, following this uproar with rushes and hustlings, which ended in fighting. Frightened women in the crowd stormed the wagon forming the platform, and begged for protection. A number of them were hauled into the wagon, until it could hold no more.

The police soon straightened out things, and ejected the disturbers. The final crisis of "Vote for Women," which the promoters of the demonstration boasted would shake London and be heard in Downing street, failed of dramatic effect, and became a confused din of roars and yells.

Girl Dies Under Peculiar Conditions In Hotel Kept By Former Londoners

Mystery Surrounds the Death of "Lottie Holmes" in Detroit.

A Detroit dispatch says: With friends, relatives and home address all unknown, the body of a pretty young woman lies in Maney's morgue, 43 National avenue, and unless claimants are soon heard from, it will be buried in an unknown grave in the city's field.

"Lottie Holmes" is the name given by the young woman when she obtained employment at the Grand Union Hotel, Third street and Jefferson avenue, about three weeks ago, but when she died in Grace Hospital, after an illness of only a few days, and inquires for her relatives or friends were made, everyone who had known her only as "Lottie Holmes" were at a loss to find friends or relatives to take charge of the body.

The girl told Mrs. E. H. Horsman, (formerly of London, where the Horsmans conducted the Grigg House), whose husband is proprietor of the Grand Union Hotel, that she had formerly worked at a small hotel in Windsor, the name of which Mrs. Horsman has forgotten, and that she had some friends who were employed in the British-American Hotel in Windsor.

Last Wednesday the girl was taken seriously ill, and Mrs. Horsman had her sent to Grace Hospital, where she was attended by Dr. C. G. Crumrine. She rallied well after an operation, but soon collapsed, and died on Saturday. The physicians were unable exactly to diagnose the case, and, for that reason, sought to have a post-mortem examination made, and it was then that the girl's lonely condition was first learned. It was necessary to get the consent of relatives for the performing of an autopsy, but no relatives could be found.

Several letters were found among the woman's effects at the hotel, but none of them was from a parent or relative friend. The most recent letters, which were of a very love-like nature, were signed "Ernie Devine, Hamilton, Ont."

Mrs. Horsman, believing that he would be able to clear up the mystery of the girl's antecedents, sent a telegram to him, but yesterday afternoon received the reply: "Lottie Holmes' relatives unknown. Could get no trace of them. She was a stranger to me. Knew her only a short time."

The young woman was 22 years old, and it is said that she was very attractive in appearance.

"She spoke to me only once about her relatives," said Mrs. Horsman. "I was when she mentioned something about being estranged from her mother."

Poor commission officials will provide the burial in case no trace of the relatives is to be had, but the unusual nature of the case has aroused those who know of it to exert every effort toward having the poor woman suitably buried by some of her own kin.

Fire Hall Site Is Now Satisfactory

At a special meeting of No. 3 committee held at noon today the site for the South End Fire Hall came up for discussion.

When the lot was purchased from Mr. B. Fitzmaurice, it was thought that the dimensions were 114 by 100 feet. On measuring it was discovered that the lot was only 84 feet wide at the south end.

Ald. Greenlee reported that he had consulted with the city solicitor regarding the matter and it was thought that a satisfactory title could be had.

Those present were Ald. Greenlee, chairman; Ald. Moorhead, Ald. Booth, Secretary Bell and Fire Chief Clark.

The change was satisfactory

HARRY COLLINS PASSED AWAY

Death of the I. O. F. Treasurer—Notable Shriner and Well Known in London.

Toronto, June 20.—Harry Collins, supreme treasurer of the I. O. F., and one of the most prominent Mystics in America, passed away at his home, 20 Major street, at 4:50 o'clock this afternoon.

He had been confined to his home since Wednesday, and on Friday he became unconscious and continued so until the end came.

There were present at the bedside his wife, his sister and Mrs. Fullerton, of 23 Wilton Crescent, and his two daughters, Mrs. Harry Bastedo and Mrs. James Kennedy. His only son, Henry, is ranching near Strathcona, Alberta.

Dr. Fred Winnett, who has been attending Mr. Collins, was also present when the end came. Two trained nurses had been attending him since the death of Mr. Collins is a tragic sequel to the crucial events in the history of the I. O. F. during the past ten days.

Mr. Collins was born at Thurles, County Tipperary, Ireland, in 1844. He was educated at Dublin and came to Canada at the age of 17, when he entered the employ of W. H. Sparrow, and later went into business for himself.

BURK'S FALLS HAS A SCORCHER

Fire Does $150,000 Damage in Business Section—Church Burned Down.

Burke's Falls, Ont., June 22.—A disastrous fire occurred here yesterday when the east side of the principal business street was swept by fire. The loss is estimated at $150,000, with insurance for possibly half of that sum.

The fire started in the drying kiln of Knight Brothers' big mill plant, and was burning rapidly when discovered. The fire department was quickly on hand and with the help of the factory employees saved the lumber piles of the firm.

The heavy wind blowing, however, carried the burning embers over the hill into the business section of the town, where they quickly set ablaze the wooden business houses, which comprised the eastern side of the street.

One after another took fire and it was easily seen that nothing could save them, and word was hastily sent to Gravenhurst and Huntsville for assistance. A. A. Mitchell's fruit store was the first to catch and it was quickly followed by E. T. Vanstone's jewelry store, the Canadian Express Co. office, the G. N. W. office, E. E. Seber's photo gallery, the Heavily block followed, and soon all were in flames and burning fiercely.

GALT HORSE SHOW THE CLOSING DAY

Record Attendance of Over 5,000 Persons—Tally-Ho Competition.

Galt, June 20.—There was a record attendance today the last of the Galt Horse Show, and over 5,000 witnessed the events. The feature of the afternoon was the tally-ho competition between H. C. Cox, Toronto, and Dr. Young, Toronto. These were the only exhibitors and it was a splendid contest.

Another feature was the presentation of a handsome silver cup donated by the Galt Horse Show Association to Mr. Alf. Rogers, Toronto, for championship saddle horses. Senator Watson, of Portage la Prairie, made the presentation.

During the afternoon Kentucky Todd, the one-time world beater as a 3-year-old, was hitched to a cart and driven by Jim Murray, of Preston, as an exhibition. Moggie was given an exhibition by Peter Roach. Both these horses were from the same stable, and their performance elicited hearty applause from the great gathering.

A close contest in the high jump between Flying Dutchman, owned and ridden by Frank Moss, of Preston, and Myopia, George Pepper's jumper, resulted in a win for the Preston horse.

The officers of the show are: Executive Committee—Dr. H. F. MacKendrick, president; Dr. J. S. Wardlaw, vice-president; F. Stewart Scott, secretary; Leon Shupe, assistant secretary; F. S. Jarvis, treasurer; R. O. McCulloch, G. R. H. Warner, W. A. Hunter, Frank Moss, N. Todd, Jas. Cromarty, Geo. Hancock, sen.

GOULD-SAGAN MARRIAGE BANNED

Notice of the Coming Wedding Posted—Madame's Age Placed at 33.

Paris, June 20.—The marriage banns of Madame Anna Gould, who was born in the Chateau de Castellane, and Prince Helle de Sagan, a cousin of Mme. Gould's first husband, were this morning posted on the walls of the offices of the mayors of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Arrondissements of Paris in accordance with the law that requires the publication of a marriage in the Arrondissement of each contracting party.

The exact place and the date of the wedding have not yet been disclosed, but it will be celebrated within a fortnight, and very quietly, only a few friends and relatives, including George Gould, being present.

Now dish water is considered by sanitary authorities as a source of danger, especially in restaurants. A movement for the purification of dish water is proposed.

GOULD-SAGAN MARRIAGE BANNED

Notice of the Coming Wedding Posted—Madame's Age Placed at 33.

Paris, June 20.—The marriage banns of Madame Anna Gould, who was born in the Chateau de Castellane, and Prince Helle de Sagan, a cousin of Mme. Gould's first husband, were this morning posted on the walls of the offices of the mayors of the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Arrondissements of Paris in accordance with the law that requires the publication of a marriage in the Arrondissement of each contracting party.

The exact place and the date of the wedding have not yet been disclosed, but it will be celebrated within a fortnight, and very quietly, only a few friends and relatives, including George Gould, being present.

Now dish water is considered by sanitary authorities as a source of danger, especially in restaurants. A movement for the purification of dish water is proposed.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS CURE SICK HEADACHE. Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cure one headache, they are worth taking. Our pills cure it while others do not. Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not grip or purge, but by their gentle action place all who use them. BARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK. Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

LONDON, MONDAY, JUNE 22.

THE MAGNITUDE OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

The London Daily Mail signalled Empire Day by publishing a great quantity of data throwing light on the magnitude of the British Empire.

The area of the Empire is now 13,000,000 square miles, or more than a fifth of the whole area of land on the globe. The total population in 1908 is over 400,000,000, or between one-fourth and one-fifth of the total population of the earth. Of this vast population only a fraction is white, the total number of white inhabitants not exceeding 53,350,000 in the current year. In other words, the empire has six colored inhabitants for every white one. It is not generally known that between 1869 and 1907 the area of the empire increased from 8,850,000 square miles to 11,445,000. During the same period—less than half a century—the revenue has increased two and a half times, and the volume of trade has been more than trebled.

We note, says the New York Sun, in commenting on the Mail's statistics, that the annual cost of all the defensive forces of the empire is $455,000,000 out of a total of $1,500,000,000 spent in Imperial administration. If we analyze these figures we find that the people of the United Kingdom contributed toward the disbursements for defense $37.5 per capita, and the white inhabitants of the empire outside of the British Isles only 12 cents. The imperial war in 1908 comprises twelve Dreadnoughts and fifty-one other battleships, thirty-eight armored cruisers and seventy-seven other cruisers, besides destroyers, torpedo boats and submarines. The aggregate war strength of the land forces of the empire in 1908 is officially estimated at slightly over 1,000,000.

If now we turn to commercial statistics we find that the total value of the empire's trade in 1906, the last year for which detailed data are obtainable, reached $7,630,000,000 for imports and exports combined. The total intra imperial trade fell only a little short of $2,000,000,000, or about 26 per cent of the whole commerce, foreign and intra imperial. The shipping of the empire is almost exactly half the total tonnage possessed by all the powers in the world. In 1906 it consisted of 10,340,000 tons of steam vessels and 2,450,000 tons of sailing vessels. To this aggregate Canada contributed 661,000 tons and Australia's share was 268,000 tons.

The total revenues of the empire now amount to $1,400,000,000 annually, while the aggregate debt exceeds $7,500,000,000. Of the self-governing states of the empire Canada is the least taxed and the least indebted, whereas taxation and debt are highest in New Zealand. The total mileage of railways open for the whole empire and the various leading states is about 208,000 miles. The submarine telegraph cables which link the various parts of the empire together have a combined length of 135,000 miles. We observe, lastly, that Colombo, Singapore and Hongkong complete the line of British fortresses which with Gibraltar, Malta and Aden guard the shortest ocean highway from Europe to China and Japan. Until the face of the earth is changed or until Britain loses her command of the sea nothing can alter the fact that vessels of every nationality on the shortest direct route from Europe to China or Japan must make use of British ports of call. What is true of the route by the Suez Canal is true also of that by the Cape of Good Hope.

THE VICE-PRESIDENCY.

The office of Vice-President of the United States is important only because of the fact that the holder of it is, for the time being, her apparent to the chief executive office. Apart from presiding over the deliberations of the senate, the Vice-President has practically nothing to do, and during his term of office is little heard of. Any one of the heads of departments appointed by the President and forming his cabinet comes far more into prominence than does the official who ranks second only to the President himself. Originally the failing candidate of the electoral college for the presidency became vice-president, but subsequently a change was made by which electors voted for both candidates.

Since the founding of the republic five vice-presidents have been promoted to the presidency, by reason of death of the incumbents of the White House, namely, Tyler, Fillmore, Johnson, Arthur and Roosevelt.

In view of possible contingencies, it would seem that there is almost as much necessity for care in nominating a vice-president as in choosing a man for first honors. But in reality this seems to be a minor consideration, as the nomination is generally given to the unsuccessful faction in the convention as a sort of consolation prize.

Such a concession to the pivotal state of New York there is good reason to regard the choice of Mr. James S. Sherman at the Chicago convention last week. There were available men more in sympathy with the Roosevelt-Taft policies than is this Utica lawyer, but Mr. Sherman is a prominent figure in the political life of New York, which sends the largest number of delegates to the electoral college, and that seems to have outweighed the fact that he is little known, comparatively, outside of his own state. As long as Mr. Sherman is kept in the background it matters little whether or not he is opposed to anti-trust legislation or inclines to the standpoint attitude on the tariff.

GROUNDLESS PROPHECIES.

It is assumed by the Opposition that there will be a Federal election this autumn, though, perhaps, even the Government has not made up its mind. In Ontario the Conservatives are pointing to the Provincial election as an omen of another Liberal Waterloo, but there is nothing in the political history of this Province to warrant their hope.

During the long period in which Sir John Macdonald was triumphant at Ottawa, and wielding his influence against the Liberal regime at Toronto, Mowat won election after election.

A great body of voters in this Province must have followed both men. In the election of November, 1904, the Laurier Government improved its position in Ontario by ten seats. In less than three months the Ross Government was overwhelmed by the same electorate. Thousands must have supported Federal Liberal candidates who at the very time had decided to vote against candidates of the Provincial Government.

The prophets who claim that the figures of two weeks ago spell disaster for Laurier, are basing their calculations on unreliable data.

Probably not a third of the property owners of the city will take the trouble to vote today on the water by-law, though over half a million of their money is involved.

The tariff reformers have scored another victory in England. The day that Great Britain decides against free trade means the beginning of the end of a free British market for Canadian products.

The police magistrate sympathizes with the boys who swim in the river. They could not be more innocently or wholesomely occupied, and it is a reproach to the city that it makes no provision for them.

A curious case has been reported in Paris. A man deliberately created sores on his arm by means of potash in order to attract sympathy and attention; and he went to the extreme of allowing his arm to be amputated. There is a similar case in Ottawa, where members of the Federal Opposition are mortifying themselves by holding up business and sitting all summer in order to attract some notice in the country. The Opposition really deserves amputation.

The public playgrounds in South London are proving very attractive to the children. It is not to the credit of the public authorities that this boon had to be provided by private endeavor. Property in various parts of the city which should have been purchased by the council for parks and playgrounds has been rapidly built upon during the past few years, and soon there will be no vacant land except on the outskirts. There has been no civic policy on these matters, and a sad want of imagination and foresight.

HOW MANY?

[St. Thomas Journal.]
How many contracts has the city made for the sale of Niagara power?

THE REASON.

[Yonkers Statesman.]
Mrs. Bacon—This paper says that a man's hair turns gray about five years earlier than a woman's.
Mr. Bacon—That is because a man wears his hair all the time.

A RESERVE OF ORATORS.

[Montreal Herald.]
Sir Thomas Shaughnessy seems to have made a mighty good speech in Toronto and the ability to do that is rare among the big railway men. Sir William Van Horne made a speech about sixteen years ago, also in Toronto, and while it was not that it cost him great effort to stand there and talk before a multitude, what he said made a great impression upon all who heard him. He had to stand there and talk before a multitude, what he said made a great impression upon all who heard him. He had to stand there and talk before a multitude, what he said made a great impression upon all who heard him.

speech he made at the dinner given him when he left for the Southern Pacific was a little gem in its way, for to an admitted capacity for clever thinking he adds a positive delight to those who find themselves condemned to a course of dullness in monochrome at the run of public men year after year. Of course, it doesn't surprise anyone very much to discover that Sir Thomas Shaughnessy can talk some. If "an O'Shaughnessy could be a Yankee," he couldn't help (on the average) being a good speaker, and was sure to prove it whenever he had got far enough away from the solemnity of traffic returns and cost accounts to let himself go.

TAFT'S RELIGION.

[Buffalo Express.]
Secretary Taft is a Unitarian, but sometimes he attends the Episcopal Church with Mrs. Taft. When at his summer home in Murray Bay, Canada, he goes to the Presbyterian Church. If nominated he may identify himself with all the other denominations, and clinch the church vote.

A FAIR EXCHANGE.

[Toronto Star.]
Torrance, M.P., may become registrar of North Perth, and Nelson Montet may run for Mr. Torrance's constituency. In other words, Torrance is willing to give up his seat for a berth.

WAR AND THE CHURCHES.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.]
"What are the churches doing to help fulfill their prayers for the bestowal upon the nations of unity, peace and concord?" This was the significant question put by Premier Asquith at the opening of the Pan-Atlantic congress. And he added that it almost seemed that the only specific against war on which the Christian nations were all agreed was the incessant multiplication of instruments of destruction. If the churches could be induced to come together long enough to consider that question, something worth while might result. Is there not an almost awful significance about the fact that it has remained for a statesman to put such a question to the churches of Christendom? Two thousand years of Christianity? What are the churches doing to help fulfill their prayer? What have they done? What might they do, what should they do, if they would but co-operate with all their forces?

HE TOLD THEM.

[Punch.]
Lady Bountiful: Well, all I can say is, Jenkins, that if these people insist on building those horrid little villas near my gate, I shall leave the place.

Jenkins—And then what? At the meeting, your ladyship, I said, "Do you want to drive away the geese that lays the golden eggs?"

RATHER!

MY MOTOR.

[Punch.]
Who was by Satan self designed?
Who has more whims than womankind?
And never seems to know her mind?
My Motor.

Who doesn't meet me at the train—
Elliciting remarks profane,
As home I foot it in the rain?
My Motor.

Who's always getting out of whack,
And makes me work with wrench and jack,
Until by hands and face are black?
My Motor.

Who tried to climb a wayside tree
And tumbled backward on to me?
Who broke my arm, and sprained my knee?
My Motor.

Who pitched me from my seat pell-mell,
And mounted on me when I fell,
So I was weeks in getting well?
My Motor.

Who costs me more for wear and tear
Than collapsing power will bear?
Who taught me how to drink and swear?
My Motor.

Who is it drags me into debt,
And makes me fear the sheriff's threat?
Who other than my pride, my pet?
My Motor.

A POOR LOOKOUT.

[Brantford Expositor.]
The Opposition in the Quebec Legislature, Nationalists and all, number only 14 in a house of 74. Yet some folks say that the results of the elections are a mandate that Laurier must go.

OPIUM IN CANADA.

[Victoria Colonist.]
At recent sessions of various bodies in Eastern Canada resolutions were passed calling upon the Dominion Government to prohibit the sale of opium in any of its forms, except for medicinal purposes. It is difficult to understand on what grounds this request could be refused. It requires no argument to secure an admission that such a deadly drug ought not to be dispensed indiscriminately to all who care to buy it; and when one comes to think about it, the wonder is that such prohibitory legislation was not long ago placed on the statute books of the country.

PROFANITY.

[Brantford Expositor.]
As a sign of the times it may be noted that an order has been issued by Mr. D. Nicol, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, calling the attention of railmen to instructions regarding swearing and the use of obscene language on trains. Employees of the C. P. R. are not only instructed to refrain from swearing or using obscene language, but have been ordered to see that language of an offensive or annoying character is not used by passengers. During the past few days the Grand Trunk Railway discharged eight employees for not obeying the rules. Six of the men were discharged for swearing on passenger trains, and two for drunkenness.

PREACHING AT 100.

[Manchester Guardian.]
The Rev. Thomas Lord, of Horncastle, the oldest minister of the gospel in the United Kingdom reached his 100th birthday a fortnight since, and is still preaching. The King sent him a telegram of congratulation through Lord Knollys. Mr. Lord was born two years after Pitt, and Fox died and was a grown man when George IV. was crowned. The funny part of his life was that he was married three times, and achieved the unusual record of celebrating his golden wedding and three years over with his second wife.

EAST LAMBTON'S GERMAN-OPHILE.

[Ottawa Free Press.]
One Conservative has had the courage to come out and denounce the British preference. His name is E. Armstrong, of East Lambton. And the funny part of it is that his grievance is that Germany does not get a larger share of Canadian trade. Is Mr. Armstrong an emissary from Berlin in disguise?

TERROR OF DARK KILLS A YOUTH

He Wakes Up in Lonely Woods and Runs Wildly About To His Death.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 21.—William D. Schuett, jun., aged 17, who for an amateur baseball team, was scared to death by a late hour here. He died in a dimly-lighted street in a suburb, and physicians who reached him just before he expired declare his end was due to fright.

A hard game, exhaustion resulting therefrom, and terror at awakening in darkness, alone and without knowledge of his environment, likewise contributed to the youth's demise.

Schuett, on the firing line for the T. J. Rogan nine, had the fight of his life to win the game. Play began late in the evening, and twilight had settled in before it ended. Schuett and several companions disappeared with one last despairing shriek which, he says, he can never forget.

BURNS VS. BILL LANG

Australian Syndicate Has Arranged Another "Go" for Tommy.

Melbourne, June 22.—A syndicate has arranged a match between "Bill" Lang the champion of Australia, and Tommy Burns, the Canadian champion pugilist, during the week the United States fleet is here.

TWO DROWNINGS

Hundreds See the Last Struggles of Young Man at Ottawa.

Ottawa, June 22.—Geo. Barbeau, age 22, was drowned on Saturday evening at the Central station in sight of hundreds of people who were unable to aid him. He was a passenger on the lacrosse special from Cornwall, and as the train pulled into the station got off on the canal side and fell into the water. The body was recovered an hour later.

A Brantford Armenian, H. Manogian, 45 years of age, was drowned in the Grand River here yesterday while swimming in company with three fellow-countrymen, who, when the man sank, from some unaccountable cause, ran to the police station and gave the alarm. The victim came here recently from Watertown, Mass. This is the second local drowning in two days.

DEADLY DUEL

Wealthy Cattlemen Quarreled and Fought—Both Killed.

Albuquerque, N. M., June 22.—Albert M. Salter and Edward Jones, wealthy cattlemen, were killed in a duel last night near St. Vrain, N. M., 200 miles east of here.

The men were neighbors and quarreled over a cattle trade. Guns were drawn and the men were killed. Both men were instantly killed. The trouble is said to have been the outgrowth of an old feud.

TWO SCHOOL GIRLS SWALLOWED IN MUD

Low Tide Left Their Boat on a Mud Bank—Tried to Walk and Disappeared.

Paris, June 20.—Two schoolmasters of Morlaix and a girl, the daughter of one of them, were swallowed up by the soft mud in Morlaix Harbor at low tide recently.

They and another schoolmaster, who was saved, had been out in a boat. They stayed out too long, and ran ashore in the soft mud at the bottom of the harbor.

It was getting dark, and as they could not get the boat out of the mud they partially undressed and tried to scramble ashore. Two of the men took the girl between them, and the other one went on in front.

Suddenly the three schoolmasters fell help, and looking back he saw the three behind him slowly disappearing in the mud. He tried to help them, but could not, and just as he scrambled to firm land his unfortunate companions disappeared with one last despairing shriek which, he says, he can never forget.

REMEDY IS WATER

SUGGESTION CURES

How Ten Ounces of Fluid When Diluted Worked Miracles—Lasted Fifteen Years.

Berlin, June 20.—A long and most remarkable series of cases of healing by suggestion, described in the current number of the Criminal Anthropological Review by Dr. Naeke.

A friend asked him fifteen years ago for some simple remedy with which to dress an insignificant wound. Naeke gave him a bottle containing about ten fluid ounces of a solution of corrosive sublimate (the bichloride of mercury) of no greater strength than 1 to 3,000—an antiseptic and healing wash which could produce no harmful effect when used externally.

His friend returned to Dr. Naeke only a short time ago, thanked him with the deepest gratitude for having given him a remedy so valuable, told him the bottle was empty and begged him for more of the solution.

"It is known the country round where I live, as the 'miracle water,'" said the doctor's friend. "It cures burns and wounds without fail. The lives of my neighborhood come to me to be treated of the solution, or scald themselves. Indeed, strangers have implored me to give them a little of the 'miracle water.'"

Dr. Naeke became greatly interested. It goes without saying that the weak solution was to be used without further dilution. Here ten ounces of it had lasted fifteen years and made dozens of cures.

In answer to his questions his friend told Dr. Naeke very frankly that when the wash was needed he poured the few drops of the "miracle water" in this soaked a bandage and applied it. If need be the patient took home the basin's contents and continued the treatment, but never for long, because it was cured invariably and quickly.

"So," said Dr. Naeke, "my 1 to 3,000 solution became a 1 to 3,000,000 solution, but suggestion made it wonderfully efficacious."

In the same way hysterical women are cured with bread crumbs or more agreeable doses, such as cream and curacao.

SUNDAY IN THE LONDON CHURCHES

Rev. Dr. Gray, of Knox College, Toronto, preached in the First Presbyterian Church yesterday morning, it being the occasion of the children's annual floral service.

For several days the children were busy getting wild flowers and ferns and the church presented a beautiful appearance as a result of their efforts.

Dr. Gray spoke of his particularly to the children, advising them to be careful of their actions and words, as the habits they form now will be their habits in after life.

Dr. Gray also spoke of the work that Knox College is doing and has done, stating that more than 900 ministers have been sent out to churches.

New buildings, near Toronto University must be built if the march of progress, and although $150,000 has been subscribed, a like amount remains to be obtained, and the college is to keep pace with the college is appealing to the Presbyterians of Canada to aid it.

"The Kind of Religion That Counts" was the subject on which Rev. F. E. Malott preached to a large congregation at the Colborne Street Methodist Church yesterday morning.

Malott took as his text "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to keep himself unstained from the world."

The two qualities which are most characteristic of such a perfect religion were shown by Mr. Malott to be beneficence and purity. No man should live apart from the world, but should live in the world as much as possible, and his life should tell upon the lives of all with whom he comes in contact.

In the evening Mr. Malott spoke on "Rest." From the words, "Come unto me all ye that are laden and I will give you rest," he drew the lesson that we must have rest.

The words, he said, were the greatest which ever fell from human lips. The invitation is for all weary ones. Burdens are the commonest things in life. We carry some burden. Weariness results, Christ gives rest, and is the only one who can give us all perfect rest from the burden of our sins. If we follow him we will get rest for rest for the rest of our life, and when we learn to look at things as he looked at them, we will learn to take life as he took it.

During the morning services a duet rendered by Mrs. Cochrane and Mr. Evans was greatly appreciated. In the evening solos were sung by both Mrs. Cochrane and Mr. Evans.

THE CHAMPION GIRL BURGLAR

Only Twelve Years Old—Caught Picking a Lock—Had 17 Keys.

New York, June 20.—The champion girl burglar has been located in Paterson, N. J. Mary Lockhard is her name, and she is only 12 years old. Attendants remarked her unusual beauty. Rosy cheeked, with wavy hair flowing over her shoulders, she looked like an innocent little school girl when she was arraigned in the juvenile court yesterday.

Mary is a graduate of the public school and is very precocious. Up to six months ago she was a model and dutiful child and very attentive to her studies. Her parents believe she was the tool of a gang which operates in the city. Mr. Lockhard said that he had given the police information that would lead to the arrest of the leader of the gang, a man who conducted a school and taught children to become professional pickpockets and all-around thieves.

THE CRIMSON BLIND

BY FRED M. WHITE

"What a poisonous scoundrel he is!" David cried. "Miss Chris Henson does not hesitate to say that he was more of less instrumental in removing two people who helped her and her sister to defeat Henson, and now he makes two attacks on Van Sneek's life. Really, we ought to inform the police what has happened and have him arrested before he can do any further mischief. Penal servitude for life would about fit the case."

Van Sneek was jealously guarded by Heritage and Bell for the next few hours. He awoke the next morning little the worse for the operation. His eyes were clear now; the restlessness, eager look had gone from them.

"Where am I?" he demanded. "What has happened?"

Bell explained briefly. As he spoke his anxiety passed away. He saw that Van Sneek was following quite intelligently and rationally.

"I remember coming here," the Dutchman said. "I can't recall the rest just now. I feel like a man who is trying to piece the fragments of a dream together."

"You'll have it all right in an hour or two," Bell said, with an encouraging smile. "Meanwhile your breakfast is ready. Yes, you can smoke afterwards if you like. And then you shall tell me all about Reginald Henson. As a matter of fact, we know all about it now."

"Oh," Van Sneek said, blankly. "You do, eh?"

"Yes, even to the history of the second Rembrandt, and the reason why Henson stabbed you and gave you that crack over the head. If you tell me the truth you are safe. If you don't—why, you stand a chance of joining Henson in the dock."

Bell went off, leaving Van Sneek to digest this speech at his leisure. Van Sneek lay back on his bed, propped up with pillows, and smoked many cigarettes before he expressed a desire to see Bell again. The latter came in with Steel; Heritage had gone elsewhere.

"This gentleman is Mr. Steel?" Van Sneek suggested drily that it was. "But I see you are going to tell us everything," he went on. "That being so, suppose you begin at the beginning. When you told that copy of the 'Crimson Blind' to Lord Littimer had you the other copy?"

Advertiser Patterns

DESIGNED BY MARTHA DEAN.

CHILD'S APRON AND BLOOMERS.

Paris Pattern No. 2210. All sizes allowed.

For play time or morning wear, this little apron and bloomers will be found not only comfortable for the little ones but economic for the mother, as they save laundry bills and may be made of left over pieces or inexpensive remnants.

The apron is a plain sack style closed at the back and having a wide extending band at the under-arm seams and a bow over the closing. It is made of figured cambric. A turn-over collar in a pretty neck finish and is bordered with a tiny frill of edging. The long bishop sleeves have their wristbands finished with similar frills.

The bloomers are closed at the sides and are patterned at the top to bands, in which button-holes are worked to attach the garment to the under-waist. They are drawn in at the knees by elastic in the bands. The apron and bloomers may be of like or different material. The pattern is in 4 sizes—2 to 8 years. For a child of 4 years the garments require 4 1/2 yards of material 27 inches wide, or 3 1/2 yards 36 inches wide; with 1 1/2 yard of edging to trim.

Price of pattern, 10 cents.

PATTERN DEPARTMENT, LONDON ADVERTISER.

something told me my life was in danger. "I was getting pretty sober by that time. It came to me that I had been lured there; that Henson had got into the house during the absence of the owner. It was late at night, in a quiet house, and nobody had seen me come. If that man liked to kill me he could do so and walk out of the house without the faintest chance of discovery. And he was twice my size, and a man without feeling. I looked round me furtively for a weapon."

"He saw my glance and understood it, and smiled again. I was trembling from head to foot now with a vague, nameless terror. From the very first I knew that I had not the smallest chance. Henson approached me and laid his hand on my shoulder. He wanted something, he gave that something over to him I was free, if not for the moment."

"Well, gentlemen, I didn't believe him. He had made a discovery that frightened me. And I had what he wanted in my pocket. If I had handed it over to him he would not have spared me. As he approached me my foot slipped and I stumbled into the conservatory. I fell backwards. And then I recovered myself and defied Henson."

"'Fool,' he hissed, 'do you want to die?' 'But I knew that I should die in any case. Even then I could smile to myself as I thought how I could have my foe. Once, twice, three times he repeated his demands, and each time I was obstinate. I knew that he would kill me in any case."

"He came with a snarl of rage; there was a knife in his hand. I hurled a flower-pot at his head and missed him. The next instant and he had me by the throat. I felt his knife between my shoulders, then a stinging blow on the head, and till I woke today I cannot recollect a single thing."

Van Sneek paused and wiped his face, wet with the horror of the recollection. David Steel gave Bell a significant glance, and the latter nodded.

"Was the thing that Henson wanted a ring?" Steel asked, quietly.

CHAPTER LIV. Van Sneek looked up with some signs of confusion. He had not expected a question of that kind. There was just the suggestion of cunning on his face.

"A ring?" he murmured, vaguely.

"Now, look here," David said, sternly. "You are more or less in our power, you know, but we are not disposed to be hard on you so long as you are quite candid with us. Henson required something that he believed to be in your possession. Indeed, you have as good as told us about it. You, Henson lured you into my house to get that more than anything else. That he would have killed you even after that, I firmly believe. But that is not the point. Now, was not Henson looking for Prince Rupert's ring that you got from him by means of a trick?"

Van Sneek dropped his hands helplessly on his lap. "Gentlemen," he whined, "you are too much for me. The marvelous accuracy of your knowledge is absolutely overwhelming. It was the ring Henson was after."

"The one you stole from him years ago?" But what did you know about it?"

Van Sneek smiled. "There is no living man who knows more about those things than I do," he said. "It is a pattern and a study. In Holland, Henson gave me the description of a ring he wanted me to be in your possession. Indeed, you have as good as told us about it. You, Henson lured you into my house to get that more than anything else. That he would have killed you even after that, I firmly believe. But that is not the point. Now, was not Henson looking for Prince Rupert's ring that you got from him by means of a trick?"

"But he did find out?" David said.

"Only lately. Probably he took it to an expert for valuation or perhaps for sale. Lately the price has offered the ring to Lord Littimer for a huge sum of money, but when he discovered he had been done he knew that Lord Littimer would not be so deceived. Also he had a pretty good idea that I should know the ring. I was not sure, but I dared not sell an historic gem like that. And, as usual, Henson was perfectly right."

"Then you had the ring in your pocket the night you came here?" asked Steel, with a commanding effort at coolness. "Did Henson get it?"

"No, he didn't," Van Sneek chuckled. "Come what might, I had made up my mind that he should never see the ring again. You see I was frightened and confused, and I was not properly sober, and I did something with the ring, though to save my life I couldn't say what I did. Do you know, Dr. Bell, I have lost my sense of smell?"

REID WEDDING NEXT IN ORDER

The Bride's Trou Beau Includes Half a Dozen Evening Gowns By Worth.

London, June 20.—Now that the ball at Dorchester House, to which all London had been looking forward, is a thing of the past, the next topic of interest is the wedding, the bride of which has made this well-known house her home for several years.

Although Miss Jean Reid and John Ward have known each other for some time, it was not until this year at Biarritz that the betrothal was reached. At that place the prospective bridegroom was in attendance on King Edward and Miss Jean Reid was visiting Mrs. Potter Palmer during her mother's absence in the United States. Then the news of this happy prospect for her daughter, which brought her to London, somewhat earlier than had originally been planned.

Details for the wedding are now complete. They have been carefully planned so as to keep the ceremony on a miniature scale and consistent with the size of the chapel royal. That is, there will be only children in attendance with the exception of Miss Jennie Crocker, who will be the maid of honor.

The dress of the bride is one of those French creations which, while sounding very simple in description, bears in very line and detail the marks of a miniature scale and consistent with the size of the chapel royal. That is, there will be only children in attendance with the exception of Miss Jennie Crocker, who will be the maid of honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid have given their daughter a diamond tiara, and Lady Dudley and a large quantity of old Georgian silver. In fact, the bridegroom's family are contributing much of silver. Ogden Reid has given his sister a pair of diamond pearl earrings, and Miss Reid's grandfather, D. O. Mills, has presented her with a corset ornament of diamonds and emeralds. From Miss Jennie Crocker she has received a pearl and diamond ring. Pierpont Morgan's gift is a unique antique necklace of sapphires and emeralds, from which hangs a large engraved emerald copy of antique.

The Duchess of Roxburgh's gift is a pearl and diamond bracelet. Lord and Lady Barrymore have sent two gilt cups with covers. Mrs. J. J. Astor, a sapphire and diamond brooch. Mrs. W. D. Sloane, of New York, a diamond ring, and Mrs. Twombly a diamond hair ornament.

Mr. Ward has given his bride several handsome pieces of jewelry besides a lovely ruby ring which is an heirloom in the family.

Presentations from members of the royal family, of course, never sent until the last moment.

Miss Reid's trousseau has been chosen more with a view to immediate needs than with the old idea of supplying the bride with a number of dresses which will become old-fashioned before they are worn. Of her half-dozen or so Worth evening gowns the ones most worthy of note are a black net oversatin heavily embroidered with jet black diamonds; a rose-colored gown of de chene diamonds, having also a girde of black diamonds; another is of a shade known as taupe, which really is a pale mushroom gray, and two white ones, all of them in crepe de chine.

ORIENT FLOUR TRADE CANADA'S OPPORTUNITY

Obstacles in American Millers' Way May Help Dominion.

Vancouver, June 21.—Flour mills on the Sound are experiencing a slack time. The export trade to Orient is practically non-existent owing to the high price of wheat and the low price of silver. Mexican dollars are worth only 45 cents this year, as compared with 50 cents last year. There are large stocks of wheat lying at Hong Kong which must be sold before trade can recover its normal position.

The price of flour delivered in China this year is nearly twice as high as a year ago. The trade has not been able to make a profit of cut freight rates to the Orient.

California experienced a poor crop last year and drew on the other states for supplies, consequently draining stocks that would ordinarily have been used for export trade.

With a poor outlook for this year's Washington crops, it would seem that a similar state of affairs will prevail and that the price of flour on the Sound will tend to be high to be attractive to Oriental buyers. This should shift their attention to Canadian sources of supply and with a bumper crop almost assured, Canada should be able to thoroughly establish her flour in the Orient.

It is significant that at the annual convention of the Millers' National Federation being held in Detroit, the abolition of the duties between the United States and Canada should be advocated, thus showing that the United States millers are looking to Canadian wheat for a portion of their supplies.

The mills at Minneapolis have long been endeavoring to have special legislation enacted regarding spring wheats imported from Canada and as they depend largely on their export of patent spring wheat flour to Europe to enable them to manufacture low grades in sufficient quantities to attract the Orient, it is almost a certainty that they expect to have great difficulty in holding the markets they have practically hitherto controlled in the Orient.

With careful and adequate preparation during the next few months the coming fall should see a tremendous increase in Canadian flour exports through Vancouver.

CONVENTION RESULTS MAKE GOMPERS ANGRY

No Use for Procedure Plank—Will Take Own Plank to Denver.

Chicago, June 21.—Samuel Gompers and the other members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, who declared their presence had nothing to do with the Republican national convention here, will present an anti-injunction plank to the Democratic national convention for adoption in the party platform.

Mr. Gompers and the other national leaders of organized labor are very much dissatisfied with the injunction plank which was inserted as the result of a compromise here. Mr. Gompers is reported as being red hot over the action of the Republican platform makers. He is quoted as saying to friends that the Republican plank, instead of being anti-injunction, was really a pro-injunction plank, and that its only effect would be to strengthen the hands of the courts in the misuse of the federal legislation.

The view is attributed to Mr. Gompers that the provision that notice shall be given before an injunction is issued is nothing more than a meaningless catch phrase to hoodwink workmen.

The executive council of the federation of labor will have a meeting to consider the injunction question.

According to information received here Mr. Gompers believed that he had the assurance of President Roosevelt that an anti-injunction plank satisfactory to the Federation of Labor would be adopted by the Republican national convention.

MONKEY'S SKELETON FOUND IN RAFTERS

Organ-Grinder Lost His Little Friend Several Years Ago.

Toronto, June 21.—An unusual find, in the shape of a small, well-preserved skeleton, was discovered among the rafters of an old building at 214 Queen street west by Mr. C. Shear.

The building, which is over 100 years old, is being torn down to make room for a modern store, and when Shear climbed among the rafters at the rear, he suddenly came upon the bones lying near the roof.

Fearing that there might be some foul play in connection with the remains, Shear communicated with the police. The bones were carefully removed and examined, when it was seen that they belonged to a full-grown but small species of monkey.

Inquiries brought out the fact that some twelve years ago the monkey in question had formed part of the stock-in-trade of an Italian organ-grinder, named Angelo Grazzo. The two promenade the city streets, Angelo turning the handle of the organ and the monkey collecting the coppers. One day, however, the little animal disappeared, and Grazzo concluded it had been stolen, for the most careful search failed to reveal its whereabouts. It is evident now that the animal wandered off by itself, investigating, as monkeys will into every nook and corner, and in some way become imprisoned among the rafters of the old house, to remain there until starved to death. Grazzo, who saw the skeleton this morning, was sure this could be the only explanation of the death of his one-time companion.

CAR ON FIRE IN HUDSON TUNNEL

Exploded Fuse the Cause—Rush for Solid Ground and Fresh Air Afterward.

New York, June 20.—The first real fire scare in the Hoboken tunnels occurred Saturday night, when the train which left Hoboken for New York at 9:05 reached the spot directly under the center of the North River.

The train had been running along at a high rate, when there was a loud report, followed by a flash of light, and the train bumped sharply to a standstill. With one accord the passengers who did not know just what had happened, jumped from their seats and stood trembling in the aisles. Most of them were white-faced, and a few women screamed.

"It's all right," shouted the motor-man, leaning into the car. "Just a fuse blown out."

He hardly had finished speaking when clouds of smoke began pouring up from underneath the car and in through the windows. Passengers sat down and got up again nervously. Men danger, and there were remarks about stopping to see the fisher and exploring the bed of the river.

The train remained motionless. Black smoke continued to fill the cars until the uneasiness increased. Gradually the sense of awe gave way to more of water over their heads and the car beneath them on fire roused the passengers to a pitch of excitement that bordered on panic.

As yet no one had tried to get out, but passengers looked for the exits at steel walls of the tunnel that curved overhead and held them in. What if the car should begin to burn? What if another train dashing through the tunnel behind them should fall to stop and a collision follow, or the tunnel should spring a leak? There was no way of escape without risking the danger of the deadly third rail.

For more than fifteen minutes the train was still. It slowly began to move again and the smoke stopped. Everyone breathed with more comfort and took their seats again. The train had moved only a few feet when there was another slight explosion and another cloud of smoke. The smoke began again it was too much for the already nervous passengers. One woman stood up, screamed and fell back fainting. A number of other women rushed to her aid.

The smoke was now so thick that everyone was taking out a handkerchief and holding it to his nose. Passengers began to move uneasily from car to car. Suddenly courage seemed to leave all at once and there was a concerted rush for the exits. With praise-worthy presence of mind the conductors jammed all the doors shut. When the train began to move again it was partly restored and passengers again took their seats.

The train continued through the tunnel in this way, starting and stopping every few minutes. When Christopher street was at length reached the train had been nearly an hour in the tunnel. As the doors were opened there was a wild rush for the platforms and the open air of the street.

A few of the calmer passengers remained in the cars till the train reached Fourteenth street, where they were all put off. Had it not been for the fireproof construction of the flooring of the cars, the flames beneath the train might have spread to the upper workwood and there is no telling what might have happened.

"INNOCENCE AT HOME"

Name of Mark Twain's New Villa in Redding, Conn.

New York, June 21.—Mark Twain departed yesterday for the summer to his new Italian villa in Redding, Conn., which he has named "Innocence at Home."

"Please be careful of the spelling," Mr. Clemens remarked, "for you see, I might offend some of my friends whom I have invited up to see me during the summer."

He was looking remarkably well in his white clothes, white shoes and white panama.

"How do you keep so young and so fit?" Mr. Clemens was asked.

"Well, I have applied the statute of limitations to my age. I don't eat according to the food experts, and I don't do anything according to rule, but I take precious good care to do the things that agree with myself, and not the things that somebody else has found good for them."

The teredo, or shipworm—which, in the days when vessels were made of timber, was responsible for more disasters than any other cause—is now threatening the Canadian timber trade.

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women or received so many genuine testimonials as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Almost every one you meet has either been benefited by it, or has friends who have.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., any woman any day may see the files containing over one million one hundred thousand letters from women seeking health, and here are the letters in which they openly state over their own signatures that they were cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved many women from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, without drugs, and is wholesome and harmless.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the feminine organism, restoring it to a healthy normal condition. Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

SPECIAL FUND FOR THE AGED

Cent a Month From Each Member of the I.O.F.—The New Rates.

Toronto, June 19.—An arrangement has been made for the creation of a special fund to take care of the needy old members of the I. O. F. by the Stevenson plan. This will be a levy of 1 cent a month from each member, amounting to over $20,000 a year.

By a vote of 123 to 54, the following resolution on rates was carried: "That old members be re-rated as of age of entry, as set out in the S. C. R. report, such re-rating to start on Oct. 1, 1908, with the option set out in S. C. R. report, as option A, or a new option to borrow from month to month the additional premium required, the same to be charged, with 4 per cent interest, against the policy, as alien thereon; also that the same provision regarding extra assessments contained in plan of the committee be adopted.

"That the executive arrange to ascertain the experience of the I. O. F. for twenty years or upwards, and report at the next special or regular session of the supreme court, and that the committee on constitution and laws be instructed to report the necessary amendments to effectuate this recommendation."

This is a compromise between the Stevenson and Myers proposition. The new arrangement is that known as the 1895-98 scale and covers 10 to 64; option A allows for reduction of policy to carry at the present premium paid. The new table is an average increase of 65 per cent.

The propositions laid before the supreme court were:

1. To bring the rates of the "old" members up to those paid by "new" members since 1895, without payment of arrears.

2. Adoption of a new rate (Mr. Stevenson's plan), allowing for sufficient high rates for the future, and enough added to make up for the low rates in the past. This proposition is coupled with option A to reduce the rates of the "old" members, and an option in addition to or in substitution of option B permitting the members to borrow from the fund at interest on the security of their certificate, the monthly difference between his old rate and his new rate to enable the member by such borrowing to carry the full amount of his insurance.

3. The re-rating of the members of the order on the basis of the national fraternal congress table of rates for the I. O. F. benefit at attained age, giving to each member such reduction in his rate as such member's pro rata share of the accumulated funds would entitle him to. This proposition is complete with similar options given under the second proposition.

The first provides for the lowest rate; the second is more stringent, and the third the most stringent. The first two provide for no increase in rates for members who joined since 1895; the last would increase both classes.

In the first the "old" and "new" members would pay the same for the future; in the second the "old" would be paying more; in the third, both would be paying the same, but higher rates than by the first.

The salary of the supreme secretary was reduced to $2,000 and of the treasurer to $2,000.

GLASTONE PRESENTATION

Friends Take Leave of Squire Brodie and His Good Lady.

There was a very interesting gathering on Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Alexander Brodie, J. P. Gladstone, who, having reached the ripe old age of 83 years, has decided to retire from active life and will remove to Dorchester Station.

Friends and neighbors having heard of Squire Brodie's intention, met (to the number of 75) at his pleasant home to show their appreciation of the worthy couple, with whom they have been associated for the past forty-three years. Elder Wm. Campbell acted as chairman, and during the evening Mr. and Mrs. Brodie were each presented with a handsome easy chair, the gifts being accompanied with an appropriate address read by G. A. Burns. Mr. Brodie responded on behalf of Mrs. Brodie and himself in fitting terms. The proceedings were also enlivened with an excellent programme. Timely addresses were given by Messrs. William Watcher, A. A. McCullum, D. R. Stirling, John McCullum and Rev. Wm. G. Burns. John Noble sang a patriotic song and a choice luncheon was served by the ladies.

Miss Adam has handed in her resignation to the board of trustees of the public school here, having secured a position as teacher in London. Rev. Mr. Baldwin occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church on Sunday. He has reached the 71st year of his age, having been one of the members of the thriving church here forty years ago. He is hale and alert. He is living with his son at Arkona.

PAPER MILL BURNED

ESTIMATED LOSS $30,000

Lincoln Paper Company's Plant at St. Catharines Destroyed.

St. Catharines, June 19.—This morning north of the mills of the Lincoln Paper Company, situated on the Welland Canal, was totally destroyed by fire. The loss will reach probably $30,000. Insurance about half that amount.

The cause is a complete mystery, though it may be laid at the door of friction. The expensive machinery used in making paper is ruined, officials of the company declare. About twenty men were employed in the mill. It is not sure that it will be rebuilt.

FARMER'S HORRIBLE DEATH.

Norwood, June 20.—A farmer named Orbin Colby, living about eight miles north of here, and employed at Parker's Mill, was coming to Norwood with a load of lumber, when the neckyoke broke coming down a hill. The wagon upset, and the unfortunate man was horribly crushed under the load, and died in a few minutes. He leaves a widow and large family of small children.

BLACK HANDERS MEET THEIR FATE

Severe Blow Dealt the Gang in New Orleans By Their Intended Victim.

New Orleans, June 18.—A severe blow was given the Italian Black Hand early this morning when three members of that criminal organization were killed, and another mortally wounded by Pietro Giacomina, a wealthy Italian wine merchant, when they were trying to blackmail him. It was supposed that the Black Hand had been crushed out a year ago after the murder of the Lamano child, when many members were arrested, convicted and sentenced to be hanged or to the penitentiary for life and when the Italians organized a vigilance committee which was to ferret out these murderers and protect all Italians threatened by them.

From this false security the public was aroused last week by the dynamiting of the residence of a well-to-do Italian merchant of the name of Serio. It then developed that the Black Hand was more actively at work than ever, that Serio and others had been compelled to give up their money under threats of murder, dynamite or kidnapping of children, that they had reported these Black Hand threats to the Italian vigilance committee, but not to the police, and had received no protection.

Among the victims was Pietro Giacomina, who has paid a monthly sum to the members of the Black Hand not to be troubled by them. Giacomina is a wine merchant, wealthy, occupying one of the most famous old French residences in New Orleans, the Beau-regard house, the birthplace of the famous confederate General Beauregard.

Last night four members of the Black Hand who have been in the habit of collecting this tribute called on the wine merchant. He invited them into the house and they drank together. Giacomina says that they demanded an increase in the tribute and on his refusal threatened the life of his son, drawing pistols on him and firing. Giacomina was evidently prepared for the trouble for he seized a rifle and opened fire on the men. When the neighbors rushed into the house it was to find three men dead and one dying.

The dead were John Baracca, a truck farmer from the upper court, suspected of black handism and involved in the Lamano kidnapping and murder case; an Italian supposed to be a confederate spy, and Schero Cusimano, a recent arrival from the country. The mortally wounded man was Francesco Vitale, only eight days from St. Louis. Vitale's case is peculiar as he claims to have been struck by a bullet passing the house and the Giacomina says they do not know him. The police insist he is the fourth member of the party that visited Giacomina's house to blackmail him and that Giacomina is trying for some personal reason to protect him.

LADY 98 YEARS OLD IN HIGHLAND FLING

Gay Times at a Birthday Party in Strathroy.

Strathroy, June 20.—Mrs. Joseph Smith had the misfortune to fall down the cellar, fracturing several ribs and otherwise badly bruising herself.

About 225 took in the Methodist Church Sunday school excursion to Port Stanley. The court of revision met Tuesday afternoon. Some eight appeals against the assessors' figures were entered and about thirty others were disposed of, quite a number having their income raised.

Miss Annie Marshall and her brother Edward, of Chicago, visited Mrs. James H. English over Sunday. A large turnout of the A. O. U. E. Society, headed by the Citizens' Band, attended service at the Baptist Church on Sunday morning. The pastor, Rev. H. C. Priest, gave an able discourse, while the music by the choir was of a high order.

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of our oldest and much respected citizen, Mrs. Janet McCorkindale, who celebrated her 98th birthday on Monday at her residence on Metcalfe street. A large number of her most intimate friends called early in the evening. All brought the tempting lunches with them and the tables were soon laden with all the good things calculated to satisfy the inner man. After supper a pleasant hour was spent in a social way, during which the old lady and one of the lady guests danced the Highland fling in a manner that surprised and pleased all present. The old lady is as active and graceful as a girl. She wore a new skirt she had just completed, which also surprised the guests. Truly she is a wonderful old lady, 98 years old with all her faculties and quite smart in every way. She has three children, being Lancelin, in the Department of Education, Toronto; Mrs. Melkie, of London, and Mrs. Nivings, of Strathroy, with whom she has lived for many years.

The town council have purchased a new fire team of boys, price $450.

ANNA GOULD AND HER PRINCE.

Paris, June 20.—The banners of Madame Anna Gould and Prince Helie de France were published this morning.

A very enjoyable recital was given at the London Conservatory of Music last evening, by vocal pupils of Miss Brown, assisted by Mrs. McCully, violin pupil of Mr. Poure, and piano students of Miss Steele. All of the numbers were very artistically rendered, showing the result of most careful training. A very pleasant feature of the evening was the presentation to Miss Steele of a magnificent sheaf of carnations.

Every soldier in the Russian army is to be provided with a pocket compass with a luminous needle, and 300,000 compasses, costing $400,000, have already been ordered.

SHARKEY COULDN'T GET ARRESTED

Tried in Vain To Surrender After Fatal Fight at League Island.

Philadelphia, June 21.—William Sharkey, of 727 Jackson street, known in boxing circles as "Johnny Hogan," whose terrific punch knocked out Peter G. Hagan, a marine, in the third round of a bout on board the battleship Mississippi, at the League Island Navy Yard late on Wednesday night, his opponent dying nearly an hour afterwards, vainly visited the police of the Fourth street and Snyder avenue station, the district attorney's office, the United States district attorney's office, the coroner's office and the central police court yesterday in an effort to have himself arrested.

Neither the Government nor local authorities showed any disposition to take the young fighter into custody, the consensus of opinion being that he was blameless, although the tragic end of the marine was most unfortunate. Sharkey was much affected by the sad termination of the bout, and he said he did not think he would ever enter the ring again.

Rear-Admiral Pendleton, commander of the navy yard, appointed Lieutenant Commander John L. Sitt and Surgeons Oliver Diehl, B. Dean and H. O. Shiffert as a board of inquiry to investigate the death of Hagan, and whatever findings they reach will be communicated direct to the secretary of the navy.

Hagan's Condition.
Dr. B. D. W. Brownell, surgeon of the Mississippi, denied emphatically yesterday that Hagan was in a poor physical condition when he donned the gloves on Wednesday night. "Hagan was examined carefully by me before he entered the ring," the surgeon said, "and he was in good condition. Had he not been you may be sure that I would not have permitted him to fight."

He and Sharkey fought a six-round bout a month ago and were well matched. There was a friendly rivalry between them. The only thing that he had a boil on one of his legs, but it was not serious. He must have had some affection of the heart. The blow received must have caused the nerves of that organ to contract. The blow was struck at 9:45 o'clock, and he died at 5 minutes past 11 o'clock.

Hagan's comrades at the Navy Yard barracks said that he had recovered recently from a two weeks' illness, but had insisted that he was well enough to fight Sharkey.

"Besides, I don't want to disappoint you boys," he remarked, and he pluckily trained for the bout, which cost him his life. His home was in Chicago to which place his body has been sent. He had been in the Marine Corps for three years and had a ready gained quite a reputation in the navy as a boxer.

Sharkey Visits Police.
Sharkey arose early in the morning and went to the Fourth street and Snyder avenue police station. There he met Special Policeman McCollough and offered to surrender himself. McCollough took him to the city hall, where the young boxer, interviewed by Coroner Jermon, Superintendent of Police Taylor and Magistrate Beaton.

The three officials looked up the law governing the matter and they quickly decided that they had no right to arrest the boxer, as the tragedy had occurred on Government property. Sharkey was not satisfied, however, and insisted upon going to District Attorney Rotan's office. The latter confirmed the decision of the officials, but even then Sharkey still remained worried.

Sharkey Sorry.
"No one is more sorry than I am for Hagan," he said, "and if I should be arrested and even imprisoned I would rather it would happen than have any say that I tried to dodge punishment. I don't remember hitting the boy over the heart. It looked to me like a clear case of exhaustion. I didn't hit him hard enough at any time to hurt him seriously."

Sharkey then went to the United States district attorney's office in the Postoffice Building. From there the commandant's office at the Navy Yard word came over the wire that Sharkey was not wanted by the authorities.

MERRY WIDOW HAT IS SUPERSEDED

A New Creation, "Soul Kiss Gem" Takes Place of the Umbrageous Lid.

Detroit, June 20.—The Free Press of this city makes the following announcement, which will give joy to a large proportion of mankind: "The 'Merry Widow,' not as a flesh and blood reality, but as a piece of headgear, has been forgotten, and the newest device by which capricious and reckless fashion seeks to lure the souls of mankind is the 'Soul Kiss' hat."

It isn't so flamboyant, so flabbergasting, so dumfounding, disturbing, daring, flaring or dazzling in its effect upon the masculine species that has had to dodge in street cars, hotels and on the sidewalks of a Saturday night when feeling in momentary peril of having an eye jammed out by the far-reaching edges of a "Merry Widow."

APPETITE

The "Soul Kiss" hat has man's sanction and warm approval. It is coy, demure, modest and very, very tame. It's naively seductive rather than contemptuous. It has a tendency to invest its wearer with an air of reticence and shyness—but it isn't forbidding—just a bit exasperating and thrilling. The other day a delightful young thing, all "done" in soft tans, came down the street with a "Soul Kiss" on the top of her yellow French puffs. "That's the kind of a hat for me," said one of two youths who met her. He didn't know what they called it, but for some reason it appealed to him. Its brim curving over her face saucer-wise, its Puritanical simplicity, its moderation and modesty made a hit. Later when he learned that this round drooping edges and the plain round affair of straw with the half-drooping edges and the plain hand about the crown was known as a "Soul Kiss," he ejaculated that that was an excellent name—if only the girl peeping from beneath the enchanting brim were not so demure. "Any way," it makes a fellow feel a heap more like kissing a girl who wears it than he does the one with the "Merry Widow."

Isn't only lovers who approve of the "Soul Kiss." Strange as it may seem, husbands are unanimously in favor of it, especially if they've been touched for a "Merry Widow" when the season was young. The "Soul Kiss" is as modest in price as it is in appearance. Therefore, it votes for it.

FEWER POOR DOCTORS

If Boys Would Follow Vocation They Are Fitted For.

London, June 20.—At the Pan-Anglican conference, Canon Simpson, of Canada, discussing the preparation of the young, urged teaching the boy to follow the vocation whereto he felt God called him.

If this was done, Canada would have fewer inferior doctors and lawyers, and more experienced manufacturers and farmers.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

QUOTING, BOXING,
FOOTBALL, GOLF, CRICKETLondons Drop Another Game
To Yankees By a Score of 5-3

Jack McHugh Brings in Two Runs in the Ninth—Joy's Batting Streak Broken, But He Afterwards Connects for a Triple.

Had there been a few more base runners on the cushions in the ninth inning of Saturday's game when Jack McHugh came to bat London might have trimmed the Yankees. As it was the best the big fellow could do was to bring in two runs, making the score read 5-3, favor the visitors.

Big Cy Doremus had something on the locals nearly all the way, and in only two sessions was he touched up for more than one hit.

Touched Freely. Parkins, on the other hand, was touched up freely in the third and sixth, the Yankees managing to get twelve hits in all, including a triple by Joy and doubles by Wagner and Doremus.

London looked weak alongside of the Yankees, and that despite the fact that they too were patched up.

Errors were not very numerous, but those that did result were as a rule costly ones.

Klinke was the chief offender, and although he was credited with but one run he should have had more, for he muffed every foul that came in his direction. At the conclusion of the contest he was treated to a can, and has since been signed up by Bill Murray.

Triple by Joy. The feature of the game was a triple by Joy, which scored two runs.

Both catchers had an awful time of it, one or the other getting hurt in almost every inning. At one time it looked as though "Tootie's" finger was knocked out by a foul tip, but the gamey little local backstop came right back for more a moment afterward.

Three singles and a fielder's choice that went wrong, gave the Yanks two in the third, and they repeated in the sixth on a clean hitting by Doremus, who doubled, a triple by Joy, a single by McCabe, and a walk.

One More. In the eighth an error by O'Rourke, a single, and a hit by pitched ball gave them another.

London landed one on two singles, and an error in the fourth, and copied off two more in the ninth, when, with two men gone, and two on bases, Jack McHugh singled neatly to cen-

TWO GOOD GAMES
IN THE EAST END

Orions and Stars Play Eleven Innings—Anchors Defeat Somerville.

One first-class game of ball, between the Orions and Stars, the latter winning after a battle lasting eleven innings by a score of 5 to 4, and a good game of ball between the Anchors and Somerville, in which the former won by a score of 6 to 4, were seen by a large crowd of fans in the East End ball yard on Saturday afternoon.

A Twirlers' Battle.

The game between the Orions and the Stars was a pitchers' battle throughout, and had Chapman been given anything like good support he would have won his game. He pitched winning ball throughout, and kept the hits well scattered, and never at any stage of the game lost his head.

Which is more than can be said of one Selzer, more familiarly known as "Bromo."

Very Raw.

This gentleman's playing was of the rawest kind, by trying to cover nine positions at once, he interfered with some really good plays, with the result that runs were scored.

Smith, who was in the box for the Stars, played the game right through, and a glance at the hit statistics will show that he did most of the hitting for his team.

His First Appearance.

"Doc" Sippl made his first appearance in the game this year, and was given an ovation by the fans. He delighted them by performing several of the long slides, for which he used to be famous in the old International League, and also secured a couple of hits.

The Stars had a lead of two runs until the seventh inning, when largely by the efforts of the Orions' captain and clutcher, Tommy Brennan, they scored three runs. Brennan got caught, and a long way off by Ball, who threw to Pook, and Brennan caught him, and made a dash at Jackson, to whom Pook threw the ball, knocking him over, and sending the ball out of his hands. Jackson threw wild to Pook when he got the ball, and Brennan and Richardson and Bennett all came in.

Caught on a Foul.

In the tenth Bennett was caught out on a foul, Chapman hit to the pitcher, and was thrown out at first, and Brennan batted one out to center for two bags, but was left by Richardson, who hit an easy one to Smith.

For the Stars—Murray struck out. Pook was caught on a foul, and Ball hit a high one to Jeffries, which he gobbled.

In the eleventh Eggett struck out, Males hit an easy one, which Jackson fumbled. Jeffries bunted, and Males went to second. Selzer flew out to Ball, retiring the side.

The Stars.

For the Stars—Hughes struck out, and Smith was caught on a pop fly. Jackson hit to center and went to first. Chapman hit to center and scored. Jackson stole third, and scored in winning run when Males dropped a fly of "Doc" Sippl's.

The game between the Anchors and Somerville, while lacking the snap which marked the other game, was still a good contest. Peacock, in the third inning got mad at a couple of errors that were made, and very childishly put on his sweater and refused to play any more. Orr finished the game and pitched well. Score:

LOCAL MARKET.

While there were only nine loads of hay on the stand today, sales were slow, and quotations were not the best; prices ranged from $3 to $3.50 per ton.

One small load of straw was offered, for which the holder asked $2.

A load of oats sold at $1.50 per cwt.

Mr. D. McIntyre purchased about 50 live hogs at $6 per cwt for select and $3.75 for fat ones.

The grocers and dealers are of the opinion that Tuesday will be the big day of the season as regards two quantities of strawberries that will be offered.

SOCIALISM AMONG YOUNG ANGLICANS

Startling Statement Made By Canon Williams of New Zealand.

London, June 20.—At the Pan-Anglican congress, when the question of capital and labor came up for discussion, under the presidency of the Bishop of Columbia, N. W. Hoyle, K.C., told his hearers how far Canada had gone on the labor question, and declared that the state should no longer be content to act as a trustworthiness policeman and keep the ring while the various contestants struggled and strove therein. A fair-wage clause has now a place in every Canadian Government contract.

The labor department was responsible for deciding what were in any given circumstance fair wages, and his opinion played a part, had proven entirely successful in preventing serious labor disputes. But the evils of unemployment were growing, and the recent practice of dispatching unit English emigrants in large numbers was adding to it.

Canon Walter Williams, New Zealand, said he came home to find friends among the laity turned protectionists and his friends among the clergy became Socialists. The socialism of the younger clergy seems especially marked. They loudly applaud every proposition which makes for state control, municipal enterprise and socialist ideals.

The Bishop of Columbia, summing up the discussion on capitalism, said that the Canadian method of investigating and fixing wages before the letting of a contract, was most valuable and a new departure. (Hear, hear.) It was worthy of consideration whether any trade ought to be allowed to continue that did not provide a living for its workers. We were being held back, he said, because people would not retain a calm judgment in dealing with social problems. The mere mention of socialism frightened many persons. If the other man's remedies seem to be those of the quack, was there not an injunction to be taken to the study?

Justice Harrington, of New Brunswick, discussing temperance, said that the standard was not high enough. People should be total abstainers until advanced years, when a stimulus might be necessary.

The secretary for the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel stated that $1,370 has been raised towards the $2,000 required for four priests for Qu'Appelle, three starting shortly. Concluding the full page display advertisement and nominate Roosevelt, Thomas W. Lawson has guaranteed to raise $10,000 out of finance the Democratic campaign, but with this trifling condition: Johnson must get the nomination and Bryan must consent to take second place. This offer was made in a letter to Mr. Bryan today, in which Mr. Lawson said:

LAWSON TURNS HIS COAT

Makes Conditional Offer to Raise $10,000 for Bryan.

Boston, June 22.—Chagrined at the loss of the Republican national convention to follow his full page display advertisement and nominate Roosevelt, Thomas W. Lawson has guaranteed to raise $10,000 out of finance the Democratic campaign, but with this trifling condition: Johnson must get the nomination and Bryan must consent to take second place. This offer was made in a letter to Mr. Bryan today, in which Mr. Lawson said:

The sum total of Roosevelt's work was but to put the people in better condition for the same old seats at the galley oars." Mr. Lawson speaks of "professional feeders at the public trough" with an insolence which would cause the Roman Claudius to turn in his grave, and refers to the superior scheming of President Roosevelt. He says that "owing to a peculiar combination of conditions and after a thorough canvass of the entire country it will be impossible in my opinion for you to be elected. If you will accept in the spirit of a self-sacrificing patriot the nomination for vice-president this one act of yours will wipe out the insult put upon the people last Thursday and will bring about a revival of hope in the breasts of the people."

NOTED PIANIST DEAD.

New York, June 22.—Miss Jessie Shay, the pianist who toured this country with Kubieck, the violinist, in 1902, died yesterday in the Presbyterian Hospital, where she had been ill for some time. Miss Shay was born in Newburgh, N. Y., and received her musical education in this city. She made several tours of the country with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

WILLIAM TAFT AT HIS HOME

Hearty Welcome Given to the Presidential Nominee at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, June 20.—A hearty welcome home was given Secretary of War Taft, Republican nominee for President when his train on the D. and O. Southwestern Railway pulled into the Central Depot at ten minutes after eight this morning.

Half an hour earlier the Chicago train brought the candidate for vice-president, James S. Sherman, of New York, and the sub-committee of the national committee, who are to confer with Mr. Taft on plans and leadership for the campaign.

Charles P. Taft and family were on the same train with the sub-committee, and all awaited the arrival of the Washington train.

Escorted by a large number of Cincinnatians bearing Taft banners, Mr. Taft and Mr. Sherman were driven at once to the residence of Chas. P. Taft where they breakfasted.

SPLENDID FACES AND PHYSIQUES

English Actress Admires Men of the West—Resemble Highest Class of Englishmen.

New York, June 21.—Mrs. Elinor Glynn, the English novelist, who has just returned to the Plaza Hotel from a trip through the west, has written for the New York American, the following views and impressions of her journey, taken from her diary:

I think the west most glorious possession any country could boast of. From its vast desert to its great mountains, from its rich valleys and small, and the people's minds seem to be in tune with their surroundings. In no country I have traveled through have I met so many splendid human beings—kind-hearted, honest, generous, belonging to the class of nature's nobility. This is particularly noticeable in the mining camps of Nevada, where in the infant settlements, like Rawhide—a baby community, not six months old—good manners and civility to women seem to be at the highest standard.

Think of those brave fellows fighting nature to obtain from her legitimate wealth; fighting hardships, cold, great heat, difficulties in obtaining food and water, and each day the chance of death—facing it all cheerfully and coolly with that belief in their ultimate success which inevitably results in their obtaining it.

SPLINDID FACES AND PHYSIQUES.

Nine-tenths of the faces are splendid, so are their physiques. And what interested me most was the English type seemed to predominate. There were probably no more English really, than in any other part of America, but the out-of-door life, and continuous exposure to the sun, and a certain look, which, with our own prejudice, we have been accustomed to consider exclusively English.

What respect and encouragement they deserve those young miners of Rawhide! They have few of the conveniences of the other great camps. No smelters on the spot; no water; apparently nothing but a grim desert of arid sand and sage brush. The late afternoon, when they are all in the town, and the work is over, is a sight. Nearly all of them spruce and smart, and even if they still wear their miner's dress, they seem to have clean shirts and to be freshly shaved, while their exquisite courtesy to women would grace courtiers.

What pleasure of personally speaking to many of them, and while they were kind enough to show a great interest to see the author of "Three Weeks," not a soul in the street or gambling saloons stared rudely or committed a single action in bad taste. I should say this is their particular attribute. That fine quality of good taste which in England we associate with the highest breeding.

TWO DEATHS IN GODERICH CAMP

Another Death.

Duncan McKenzie, 20 years of age, an orderly of the Twenty-Sixth Regiment, who was killed in Goderich, was practicing jumping with some other members of his regiment preparatory to the field day on Saturday, when he only he complained of pain in the region of his heart.

He laid down in his tent but as the pain did not cease he was taken to the hospital, where he gradually became worse and died early Sunday morning.

An Accident.

Edward Powell, orderly for Major Mills, Sixth Field Battery, was riding a horse into town Sunday night when the horse stumbled and fell.

Powell's right leg was pinned under the animal, fracturing it just below the knee.

Saturday's field day was a great success, there being large crowds present from camp and town, and as usual, running races, the Indians carried away all the prize money.

The largest crowd ever yet on the grounds was here Sunday to see the camp church parade, every available place in town being rented out to visitors.

Church Parade.

There were over 3,000 men in the annual church parade on Sunday. In the military sports on Saturday, the winners in the five-mile race were a member of the Twenty-Sixth Middlesex Life Infantry, being members of the Indian company. They were Joshua Nicholas, 1; Elijah Needham, 2; and Frank Nicholas, 3. The 100-yard dash was won by Lou Nicholas.

Col. Sergt. Gilmour, of Wolsely Barracks, who was one of those in pursuit of Moir, the alleged murderer, in the spring, has again distinguished himself by capturing a fugitive from justice. On Thursday he received a wire from the chief of police of Guelph asking him to be on the lookout for Horace Wilcocks, wanted in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

A half hour later Col. Sergt. Gilmour had him in jail, and found in his possession three diamond rings, valued at $500 and $35 in cash. He was taken to Guelph on Saturday.

INTERNATIONAL AUTO RACE.

Paris, June 22.—A dispatch to the Matin from Irkutsk, says that the American car in the New York to Paris race has crossed Lake Baikal, and is expected to arrive there soon. The German car is already at Irkutsk, and will remain at that city until Monday.

RECENT RAID ON RICH GAMBLERS

Resort Near New York's Toniest Hotel—Used Crowbars To Open Doors.

New York, June 21.—One of the most magnificently furnished poolrooms and gambling houses in New York was raided at No. 38-40 West Thirty-Third street, directly opposite the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Nine men, who admitted to detectives that they were guests at the Waldorf and the Holland House, were caught, with three others who are charged with being an entrance to the house. Many people were in the room, and the place was on the sixth floor of the structure, and was patrolled exclusively by men of means.

The raid was the most spectacular made in the city in nearly three years, and the place was nearly three thousand persons crowded the thoroughfares when the reserves from the Tenderloin station, under Acting-Captain Murphy, marched to the house or sped there in the patrol wagon. From the windows of the Waldorf guests watched the police smashing the doors in, and the news of the raid spread quickly. The plain clothes men, armed with jimmies and crowbars, were cheered as they forced an entrance to the house. Many persons were late for the theater, due to the novel attraction, which was presented gratis to the public a little after 7:30 p. m.

Seven Men, Seven Guns.

Another interesting incident was the preliminary trial of a man who had shot another for peeping into his tent. About 50 men were collected in the shack which served as a court-house, all more or less in shirts and high boots and corduroys, and the most splendid features most of them were! Three among them were the most complete specimens of what we call breeding in England, that indescribable balance of line and slenderness, exemplified in a race horse—like a well-bred, noble English in type. I observed their names. They were English, too, but quite American to speak to.

Like Eton Eleven in Fannels.

Other types were like English sailors, not more than ten out of the fifty were really "American," which was curious. They behaved with the usual politeness, and might have been the Eton eleven in fannels or the Oxford eight.

This goes to prove that fighting with nature to get rich does not degrade the type like fighting in the open air. These men are as much as the thick-skinned, cocktail-drinking New Yorkers, the sees in the streets as the highest Indian is above the negro.

USED 1,000,000 CIGARETTES

New He's Going to Quit—Experience of an Iowa Smoker.

Lake City, Ia., June 22.—With a record of nearly 1,000,000 cigarettes at an average of 50 a day, Isaac Manhoff, a peddler of this place, 40 years old, has decided to renounce the weed. The habit had such a hold on him that it was necessary to awake at all hours of the night and roll a "cotton ball" before he could be lulled to sleep again.

When a lad in Russia he began the habit which he found so hard to shake off. Despite this fact, he will devote his days to trying to convince men and boys that they should give up the practice. Manhoff was in the habit of smoking 10 cigarettes before breakfast, and the rest of the day a cigar was out of his mouth only a few minutes at a time.

For a man who has inhaled the fumes of so many cigarettes Manhoff is a strong man. He weighs about 175 pounds and has a massive chest and a continuous exposure to the sun, and a certain look, which, with our own prejudice, we have been accustomed to consider exclusively English.

Manhoff estimates the cost of his smoking at $3,191.

Battered Down cor.

The crowsbars and jimmies began to work about a quarter to eight. Getting to the sixth floor the police found a heavy door facing them. They battered it down and swept into a room, where they found Barry Worthington, a negro, who is believed to have been the "lookout." They hustled him to the wagon and then tackled a second door, made of iron.

The iron door was jimmied, but two others, were encountered by the detectives on their way down a long corridor. The portals were smashed and the officers burst into the room, where the Oriental rugs were in profusion, expensive mahogany and teakwood furniture abounded, where "high-balls" and all sorts of drinks were served, and where a costly roulette wheel, half a dozen telephones, racing charts and several thousand chips were found.

The patrons made a dash for the windows. They faced grinning detectives on the fire escapes—detectives with revolvers that didn't grin in their hands. Then they started for the "getaway," a door on one side of the room, leading to a corridor. Outside this door were detectives. The boys and girls, and the other men were caught, and ceased their efforts to escape.

Poolroom By Day.

The three men arrested, charged with being connected with the maintenance of the poolroom and gambling house for it was obviously a poolroom by day and a "straight" gambling house by night—were:

George Wilson, No. 302 West Fifty-Fourth street; Edward Lynch, No. 243 West Sixty-Third street; and Frank Smith, No. 102 West Seventy-Second street.

SHOT THEIR FRIENDS

Two Fatalities Caused by the Careless Handling of Arms.

Windsor, June 21.—Andrew Sherman, 6-year-old son of John Sherman, of Walkerville, is at Hotel Dieu with a bullet in his brain. He was accidentally shot yesterday by an older brother, who was using a .22-caliber rifle to kill sparrows.

Accidentally the boy came within range of the gun and fell, his skull pierced. He was removed to the hospital, where the physicians say he will die. Even if he lives it is doubtful if he will ever fully recover from the effects of the shot.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

AT ST. MATTHEWS

Holy Communion Was Administered by Rev. Mr. Lowe.

Holy communion was administered at the 8 o'clock service at St. Matthews' Episcopal Church yesterday morning.

Despite the severe heat there was a large attendance at all services.

Rev. Wm. Lowe, the pastor of the church, conducted the services and occupied the pulpit.

JUNE WEDDING IN ST. MARY'S CHURCH

Miss Mary Foxworthy Weds Mr. Gilbert O'Meara.

A pretty June wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Church Saturday morning when Miss Mary Foxworthy, daughter of Mr. Richard Foxworthy, of this city, became the wife of Mr. Gilbert O'Meara, of this city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McKeon, the pastor of St. Mary's.

Miss Agnes O'Meara, assisted the bride, and Mr. Jos. Martin the groom. The young couple will reside in this city.

CANADIAN FLOUR IN SOUTH AFRICA

Marked Improvement of Trade in This Direction Over Last Year.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, June 22.—An improvement in Canada's flour trade with South Africa is reported by Dominion Trade Commissioner John A. Chesley, from Cape Town.

Last year of the South Africa flour imports, valued at $3,000,000, Canada sent almost a third.

The year before Canada contributed a much smaller proportion to this trade.

EXECUTION POSTPONED

For Fear Tercentenary Preparations Might Be Spoiled.

Ottawa, June 22.—The execution of Omar Rochette, at Quebec, for poisoning his wife, which was to have been carried out next Saturday, has been postponed until Friday, Aug. 14. It has been represented that as Quebec is in the midst of preparations for the celebration of the tercentenary of the founding of the city, the execution at this juncture would be somewhat incongruous.

Hence Rochette gets another six weeks' lease of life.

CORPUS CHRISTI IN ST. MARY'S

Many Children Received Their First Communion on Sunday.

The special Corpus Christi services conducted at St. Mary's Church, Sunday, were very impressive.

A large number of children received their first Holy Communion at the nine o'clock mass.

Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father McKeon. He was assisted in administering the first communion by Rev. Father Tobin.

The little girls who received were all dressed in white and were crowned with wreaths of flowers and were veils.

Before mass the first communicants were prepared in the school and marched in couples to the church.

The boys were led by Eugene McGuire, carrying a banner of the Sacred Heart, and assisted by Leo Carson and Harold Foley, in red velvet suits.

The boys who received their first communion were: Pearson Bernard Dunlevy, Phillip Walsh, Wilbert Carigan, Thos. Higgins, Frank Fead, Leo Lenchen, Leo Lily, Leo Kennedy, Alex Johnson, Charles Johnson, Ed. Donnan, John McCann, Wilfred Hannan, Jas. McGuire, Lawrence White and Wilfred Henry.

The girls were: Mary Harding, Frances Voltaire, Teresa Wilson, Mary Flynn, Anna Flynn, Leona Maynard, Beatrice Maynard, Georgina Ellis, Olivia Mary Dunlevy, Myrtle Irene Johnson, Irene Phelan, Mary McGregor, Agnes Young and Laura Collier.

A RECORD OPEN

AIR MEETING HELD

Services in Egerton Street Baptist Church Were Well Attended.

The services at Egerton Street Baptist Church yesterday were very well attended, considering the warm weather.

A record open air meeting was held at the common in Grafton street after the regular Sunday evening service.

A large crowd assembled at the meeting, which was addressed by Rev. A. J. Bowen and Mr. Le Page.

The quartette sang "Rock of Ages" in a pleasing manner.

The popularity of the open air meetings during the summer months was proven by the large attendance.

QUITTING TOURNAMENT

ON THURSDAY EVENING

King Street Presbyterian Grounds Will Be Opened Shortly.

The new quiting grounds of the Men's Association of the King Street Presbyterian Church, which were recently prepared at the rear of the church, will be opened with a tournament of some of the best players in the city on Thursday evening.

The Men's Association is going in for summer athletics in earnest. The work of organization was started recently, and great progress is already being made.

MUCH SYMPATHY FOR EAST LONDON GIRL

Whose Name Is Being Paraded in the Press Simply Because She Got Married.

Much sympathy is being shown in the city for Mrs. Robert McNis, formerly Miss Dagmar Butler, of York street.

Terrible tales of bigamy and hypnosis have been published about the young couple, whose only offense was that they had been married and left on their honeymoon.

It is alleged that the young girl's mother was aware of her intentions, and that she did not make any effort to shield it.

"The affair has been carried to an uncalculated length, and it is hardly fair to the young couple, who were honestly married, and who left to spend their honeymoon," said a well-known east ender today.

COURAGE IS A VERY ESSENTIAL QUALITY

Interesting Sermon by Rev. James Rollins on Sunday.

The subject of Rev. James Rollins' fifth sermon on "Character Development," at King Street Presbyterian Church Sunday evening, was "Courage."

Mr. Rollins defined several kinds of courage and showed the necessity of this quality in a very convincing manner.

Mr. Rollins defined courage as being true to what we know, and loyal to what we believe.

Courage is necessary to be true to Jesus Christ. We need to say No to the companion who is not conducting himself as he ought. We must possess courage for the duty that is monotonous, and for the burden that is heavy.

"One must wait on the Lord for this, and those who wait on him shall never fail," he concluded.

EAST LONDON NOTES.

Mrs. F. D. Pickles, of Santa Anna, California, is the guest of Mr. James Begg of 354 Adelaide street.

The regular services were conducted at Dundas Street Christian Church yesterday by Pastor Rev. E. R. Black. Lay preachers occupied the pulpit of the Centennial Methodist Church yesterday morning and evening, in the absence of Rev. Geo. H. McAlister, the pastor. Mr. Langford preached in the morning and Mr. Wm. Gibson in the evening. They preached excellent sermons.

Special baptismal and reception services were conducted at Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church Sunday morning by the pastor, Rev. D. E. Martin. The subject of a very interesting sermon by Mr. Martin was "The Spirit of Man." Very large congregations attended the services of the day.

Shoes for Real Boys

If your boy is as hard on his shoes as the average boy,
it costs you many a dollar to keep his toes inside.

Never buy cheap shoes for a boy. It's poor economy from every standpoint you take it.
You'll find none of the poor sort in this home of good shoes.

We've specially - made for our boys' trade, Box calf and kid, solid, well tanned soles; inside and outside stays to prevent ripping. Solid, but not clumsy. Nothing omitted in the making that would add to their goodness.

from absolutely pure
cream of tartar,
the most healthful and pleasant of
all fruit acids, and
adds anti-dyspeptic
qualities to the food.
The biscuit and cake
made with "Purity"
are always light,
sweet and of fine
flavor, always nutritious and appetizing.
You can't make the

"The Idler."
Haddon Chambers' intense story,
"The Idler" will be the play offering the first half of the week by the Stoddart Company at Springbank. The play is an exceptionally strong one,
and affords splendid opportunity for
Mr. Stewart and his support. New and pleasing vaudeville will be put on between acts by Lyons and Lyons,
Miss Morris and others, thus making the performance continuous.

The Stoddarts are giving clean, clever entertainments, and are deserving of patronage.
It's a case of get your money's worth every time.
Mr. W. L. Stewart has taken up his residence in South London and will reside here in the future when not on the road.

"I have seen many places," he told
The Advertiser, "but London appeals to me above all others. I have bought a home here and will make London my headquarters in the future."

Who is the queen of beauty, English picnic, July 14?

What if a Gourlay Piano does cost a few dollars more? You get your money's worth. You obtain the extra value in its added durability and your assurance of minimum expense for tuning as well as additional pleasure in its use from the very start, because of its supreme tone-charm.

A BAD THROW DOWN.
Wingham, Ont., June 22.—In an exciting runaway on the main street here Friday night, Mr. William Weames, running on the G. T. R. between here and London, was severely cut and bruised, being thrown out of the delivery wagon he was driving for
J. H. Kerr. The horse was caught with portions of the harness hanging to it, but the wagon was badly damaged.

One feature in the Parisian Mardi Gras procession was a car representing the Sultan of Morocco and his suite seeking a pawnshop, where he might raise money on imperial jewels. Law students also portrayed the burial of the guillotine.

New Rates of Independent Foresters

The new rates of the I. O. F. will be of interest to the many members of the order in London. The rates are increased by an average of 65 per cent.
In brief the plan is to re-rate the old members at the age of entry on the schedule just adopted. The re- rating will commence in October.
If a member cannot pay the extra assessment, he can borrow the differ- ence from the order, and it will be charged against the policy at 4 per cent interest.
The new rate which covers the ages from 18 to 54 is known as the 1895- 98 scale, and is as follows:
Age.	New rate.	Old rate.
18	$0.82	$0.50
19	0.84	0.51
20	0.87	0.52

Old Boys Call Three Meetings Tonight

There will be a number of meetings in the city hall this evening in connection with the Old Boys' reunion, and many of the details of the arrangements for the best celebration of them all will be looked after.

American Citizens.
The American residents of London will meet in No. 2 committee room at 8 o'clock. They intend taking over the "at America" in the Mardi Gras festival, and will make it one of the most imposing in the parade. The matter is in the hands of Mr. Brazzell, acting American consul in London.

Auto Owners.
The automobile owners meet in Assessment Commissioner Grant's office at 8 o'clock. It is the intention of the Old Boys' executive to make the auto parade one of the features of the celebration and valuable prizes are being offered for the best decorated machines in the parade. Considerable interest will be a large turnout of auto owners this evening.

7TH REGIMENT IN OTTAWA DEBATE

London's Splendid Armouries
Give Col. Sam Hughes Much Trouble.

The Seventh Regiment figured prominently in the discussions in the House of Commons at Ottawa on Friday. The Government was criticised by Col. Sam
Hughes for building such magnificent armories in this city, but was defended by Major Beattie, M. P. for London, who erected armories in constituencies opposed to the Government.

London an Example.
"We might take London as an instance," said Sir Frederick Borden.
Col. Sam Hughes thought that the practice of building large armories in cities was wrong. He wanted to see more small armories. Brantford, London, Ham-

WALL PAPERS

Wall Decorations

We have just received from England a shipment of attractive Nursery Paper, showing treatments in panels, introducing many celebrated English friezes. These can be used to great effect for nursery and playroom, and the cost is comparatively small. The Normandy Frieze, the Farmyard Frieze, the Hay Frieze, the Baldock Hunt Frieze, the English Village Frieze, are particularly attractive.

Special price inducements are offered this month in our Wall Paper Department.
