A SPECIAL BARGAIN For SATURDAY!

28 Ladies Full Length Kimonas

$1.28 Each, Worth $1.75

The representative of a manufacturing firm from whom we had purchased these identical garments was in the city last week and offered us the balance of their stock of full-length Kimonas at a big reduction from the regular price to clear them. We accepted his offer, and on Saturday we will place the entire lot on sale at $1.28 each.

They came in a variety of good designs of nap back Kimona cloth, and, among them, are many patterns and styles exactly the same as we have been selling all season at $1.75 each. They were considered excellent value at that price, too, but, at $1.28, the special price for Saturday, they are better than any we have ever offered. See them in the window.

Third Floor Bargain Department

Have you visited it? We have had a good crowd of buyers in this section all week. They like the idea of having "Bargain lines" where they can see them at a glance without wandering from one department to another in search of them. We are adding good things to this department every day, so it will be to your advantage to visit it frequently.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

The Council resumed at 2.30, Warden Somers in the chair. Deputations addressed the Council asking for grants for the town-line and Prairie Siding ferries, and that five cents be charged each person using the ferry to cross the river at these points.

A grant was also asked for the erection of a bridge at Prairie Siding at or near the town-line. An option of a three rod approach free to the county was offered if the bridge were built. John Bagnall made the first request, and Father Ladouceur the second.

The Warden and Clerk were appointed members of the Kent Children's Aid Society on motion of Messrs. McLarty and Brien.

The Inspector of Hospitals and Charities wrote the Council making a report on the local House of Refuge and recommending that the Council make the maintenance of that institution payable from the whole county instead of from the various municipalities.

The communication was referred to the House of Refuge committee.

Mr. Crawford drew attention to the fact that the Council had no page. He thought it would add greatly to the dignity of the proceedings. At present the members had to run back and forth to the clerk with every message, thus in a sense disorganizing the proceedings. In former years, the Council had always engaged the services of a page.

The Warden left the matter in the hands of the Council.

The most important business before the Kent County fathers yesterday afternoon was the striking of the standing committees for the year. This proceeding was accomplished with perfect harmony and unanimity, with the following result, the chairman of the respective committees being in each case the first named on the list.

Finance—The whole Council, with W. C. Crawford as chairman.

Education—Denholm, P. Crawford, Robinson, Clark, Brien, Wellwood, Johns, Ribble, Abram, W. C. Crawford.

County Property—Irving, Ferguson, Buchanan, Denholm, Dillott, Wickens and Warden Somers.

Roads and Bridges—All the Reeves, with Mr. Buchanan as chairman.

Equalization—All the Reeves with Mr. Peets as chairman.

Petition and Legislation—P. Crawford, Greene, Irving, Clark, McLarty, Peets, Stranam, and Johns.

Agriculture—The whole Council, with Mr. Rankin as chairman.

Harrison Hall—Ribble, Rankin, Wickens, Irving, Dillott and Bader.

House of Refuge—Rankin, Brien, and Ribble.

Printing and Contingencies—Ferguson, Brien, Wickens, Wellwood, Johns, W. C. Crawford and Denholm.

THURSDAY MORNING.

The Council resumed this morning at 10.15, with all the members in their places with the exception of Reeve Francis Rankin.

Before the orders of the day were taken up, Mr. Johns drew attention to the fact that a deputation of nine from the Public Schools of the county, taking up continuation classes, wished to address the Council. They represented all parts of the county. They were heard within the bar.

Dr. Gibb was the first speaker. He explained the object of the deputation and presented a petition to the Council signed by representatives from all over the county. In short, the petition pointed out that in this county there is an average of 325 pupils attending the continuation classes in county public schools, which is almost equal to the total number attending both Collegiate Institutes. The results of the Model School examinations show that the work conducted by these classes is equal if not superior to the work done in the Collegiate Institutes. If these classes were not carried on at these schools, it is estimated that about 200 of these 325 pupils would be in attendance at the Collegiates and the remainder would be entirely deprived of a higher education.

The cost to the county for these 200 pupils, who otherwise would be in attendance at the Collegiates, would be about $8,000.

One point which was brought out quite strongly by the deputation was the fact that while pupils were attending continuation classes, they had the advantage of home training, whereas if they had to go to the Collegiate, they would be away from home and their parents, and some of them would have to leave home at a very tender age. When they have not proper home influences, too, they were apt to waste their time and fall into bad habits.

The deputation wanted a grant of $300 from the county for each teacher engaged in continuation work in addition to the grant by the Legislature. The extra amount would be $3,900 over the amount granted by the Council last year.

Dr. Stewart, of Thamesville, and

H. D. Smith's Excellent Work In Dresden Stealing Cases

Prisoners Arraigned and Committed for Trial—Breaking-up of Thieving Gang by the Crown Attorney—Constable Peters' Good Work

The preliminary trial of Vincent Connell, who was arrested on five charges of receiving stolen goods, at his hotel, the Clifford House, Dresden, also the trials of Thomas Smale, Buck Grandbois, John Carter and Harry Gough, who are all charged with stealing chickens and turkeys from the residents of Dresden and the farmers in that vicinity, took place before R. P. Wright, J. P., and I. B. Webster, J. P., in Dresden yesterday.

The interest manifested in these trials was so great that the large crowd more than filled the fire hall, and in order to accommodate the many people who sought admittance, the Court adjourned to the Town Hall, which was soon jammed to the doors with spectators. The gallery and even the stage were also filled to their capacity. Never in the history of Dresden has a trial of any kind excited such great interest, or attracted such large crowds.

Vincent Connell was committed on the first charge and waived examination on the other four charges and was committed on them, too. The evidence received during the day was of a highly sensational character. John Carter and Harry Gough turned King's evidence and gave the full facts in connection with the affair. They gave evidence to the effect that on the night of the 17th of October, at Connell's suggestion, they went to Brethel McKay's place and stole three chickens; that upon returning with them to the hotel, Connell, the proprietor, said that he wanted more, and urged them to go back that night and get more, and Connell wanted to know what he was scared of; that Connell then told Carter to get Jack McIntosh—for whom a warrant is now out, but who is not arrested yet—and get him to go with him, as he (McIntosh) was game. Carter then got McIntosh, who was returned with more chickens. These chickens were taken down stairs and plucked by Gough, Carter and McIntosh. Carter swore that Connell was down cellar part of the time this was going on.

Gough corroborated the story as to the main facts of the story, the two differing only as to what they remembered.

Mr. Towers, of Sarnia, and Mr. Weir, who appeared for Connell, gave Carter a severe cross-examination, but were unable to shake his evidence in any material particular.

In the Smale case, Carter swore that he and Smale stole four turkeys from Edward McKay's and took them to the Hotel Clifford, woke up Connell, got something to drink, took the turkeys down cellar and plucked them, Connell getting three and Smale taking one home. Connell on this account allowed Carter something on his board. Carter swore that Connell knew where they got the turkeys, and all about the whole transaction.

In the Grandbois case, the Crown Attorney, H. D. Smith, explained to their going to Robert Witson's place and stealing a big turkey and some chickens, and that Constable Peters would swear that Grandbois said that that was the only charge he was afraid of. Grandbois waived examination and wanted an immediate trial before a judge and wanted to know what the Crown would do for him.

WILL PROBE CHILDREN'S AID

The Members of County Council Make Grave Complaints Against Society

A GIRL'S FALL IS CITED

A rather serious complaint against the Kent Children's Aid Society was made at yesterday afternoon's session of the County Council.

The charge was made by Councillor Johns, of Bothwell, when the matter of appointing representatives to the Kent Children's Aid Society came up.

It was Mr. Johns' opinion that the Council should have some opportunity of learning more definitely as to the work this Society was doing throughout the county. He said a case had been brought to his notice which was worthy of attention. In this case a girl had been running about the streets of Bothwell, who was apparently uncared for and unprotected. The attention of the Children's Aid Society had been brought to the matter, but they had not taken any action. The girl had got into the company of disreputable characters, and she had sunk lower and lower till she had lost her self respect and became a fallen woman. She had been arrested several times in Detroit and London. Apparently the only place she could run at large was in the County of Kent, where she was never molested, or any steps taken to turn her from her wayward path.

Mr. Johns thought that the Warden should make an inquiry into this and a number of other complaints. He thought that the representatives on the Society from the Council should make a report to the latter body. The speaker said that the Children's Aid Society were no doubt engaged in a good work, and he for one would not object to voting them a grant from the Council, if the Council had evidence that they were fully carrying out their duties throughout the county. The case cited put things in a bad light, however.

Mr. McLarty echoed the sentiments expressed by Mr. Johns, though he was of the opinion and hoped that the case cited was an oversight on the part of the Society.

Warden Somers said he would do all in his power to have the matter investigated.

Clerk Gossnell objected to taking a position on the Children's Aid Society committee. He claimed that it would be impossible for a committee from the Council to make a complete report. No one outside of the Secretary of the Society could make a complete and definite report.

Warden Somers said that if the matter might be overcome by asking the Secretary of the Society to come before the Council and make a report.

"But," added the genial county chairman, "it is likely to cost you something, as they will expect a grant from you. In former years this was customary."

When Rheumatism Drubles a Man Up, physician and sufferer alike lose heart and often despair of a cure, but here's the exception. Wm. Pegg, of Norwood, Ont., says, "I was nearly doubled up with rheumatism. I got three bottles of South American Rheumatic Cure and they cured me. It's the quickest acting medicine I ever saw."

Word has been received from Rev. This practically means that he will pastor of Park street church during the next term. As a rule the Stationing committee usually ratify the resolutions of the official Board.

A CLOSE GAME

The Lacroix street hockey team of this city gave the Wallaceburg senior team a game for their money Monday night. The score at the close of the final quarter was 2 to 1. The local boys deserve much credit for holding the score down so low, when it is considered that the Wallaceburg team which played the Lacroix street team Monday night had the same line-up as that which trimmed the local bankers to the tune of 17 to 1. The local boys scored 3 to 2.

Referee, McKenna was impartial and made a good referee, and the local boys were well pleased with the treatment they received at the hands of their opponents. Walter Huff was time-keeper.

The line-up for the two teams was as follows:

LONDON ELECTION SCANDAL.

Much interest is felt at Ottawa in the trial of the London election conspiracy now about to take place in Toronto. The grand jury has found a true bill and it is understood that much new evidence will be offered in support of the twenty counts of the indictment. Meanwhile the Minister, whose election was obtained by these crimes, some of which are confessed, is ill in the Southern States. The Department of Public Works, about the greatest spending institution in the ministry, is without a head, since acting Minister Fisher gives his whole attention to the portfolio of agriculture. This is a great public wrong, because there are many things in the Public Works administration calling for rigid inquiry. One can force that Mr. Fisher will plead ignorance of the whole matter, as the new Minister of Marine did last session in respect to the scandals in that department.

Mr. Richard Odrwright no longer discourses about the "Reptile Press." The subsidized organs belong now to his own party. Jamaica, where one of the world's horrors has just been enacted, is about the size and shape of Long Island. It is in the Caribbean Sea, 92 miles south of Cuba, about 100 miles southwest of San Domingo, 1,588 miles south of Boston—in 18 deg. and 25 min. west longitude—from Greenwich. The greatest length is 144 miles, greatest width 49 miles, its least width 21-12 miles. It contains a total area of 2,092, 587 acres. Its population in 1901 was about 14,432 whites and 885,568 colored.

As yet only one-third of the Auditor's report for the year ending last June has been presented by the Public Accounts committee at Ottawa, but Conservative members are making use of what they have. Between twenty and thirty orders were passed for accounts and vouchers, most of them dealing with the Railway Department. There will be investigation into land purchases at Moncton, Truro and Halifax, into contracts and supplies for the Government railway and the Transcontinental, and numerous purchases and payments by the Department of Public Works, likewise into large payments made to Mr. Shepley, counsel for Government on the insurance investigation.

LITERARY

The Journal of Modern Construction, a new magazine which is published by Max L. Keith, Minneapolis, is a publication that should be of inestimable value to all builders and contractors. It is to be devoted to "new methods and new materials for buildings," and a specialty is made of Fire Proof Buildings.

Each number will contain plans, elevations, working drawings and cost of material for one or more buildings, two of which are given in the current number. These are both for small houses, the first being a beautiful little home which cost $2,255.

Twelve pages are devoted to this plan, which will give our readers an idea of how fully the publishers go in to every detail.

Heating and Plumbing is a department which will also receive special attention.

In fact the Journal of Modern Construction covers all branches of building so thoroughly, that every builder or contractor who stands at the top of his profession to the young man who is commencing will find much to help and interest him.

The price is 20 cents per copy, or $2 per annum. Max L. Keith, Publisher, 525 Lumber Exchange, Minneapolis, Minn.

Sirs—I have used your MINARD'S LINIMENT for the past 25 years, and whilst I have occasionally used other liniments, I can safely say that I have never used any equal to yours.

If rubbed between the hands and inhaled frequently, it will never fail to cure cold in the head in twenty-four hours.

LETTERS

A WORD FROM LONDON.

The following letter on the fish question appears on to-day's issue of the London Free Press:

Editor Free Press: In your issue of the 19th inst., an article appears, dated Toronto, January 18, referring to the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association endeavoring to prevent net fishing on the River Thames, etc.

As members of above association, and having for the past twenty years fished with rod and line in the River Thames, we beg to take a decision against the assertion of the Fishing Inspector Pelletier that bass and pickerel cannot live in the waters of the river, on account of the muddy condition. This view is entirely far from the facts, as we have in each and every year for years past caught both pickerel and bass in the waters of the river extending from Byron to Cashmere.

Mr. Pelletier also states that not more than 25 bass were taken from the river the past season. This is a most absurd statement when applied to the river as a whole, as we ourselves have taken many during the past season, and considered ourselves fortunate that a few fish did manage to evade the traps we set to stop their progress up the river to their natural spawning grounds.

The same article also intimates that the net fishermen's catch was almost exclusively mullet, carp and other coarse fish, particularly interesting that there was a very small amount of game fish taken from the river by them. We were personally present during the inspection by Inspector Weldon of fish consignments from the Thames River district, and while we have no exact data, it appeared to us that fully 50 per cent. of the shipments were pickerel, also that hundreds of them were under the legal limit, as the seizures at that time proved.

Mr. Pelletier's assertions are correct, how is it that there were several large consignments of pickerel, etc., from the Bothwell district, which must be fully 60 miles by the river—this side of Chatham, whereas, according to his views, there could be no pickerel or bass so far up stream?

Forsooth, they could not live so long in the muddy water.

A party of us a few years ago took a trip to what used to be the location of the old Oshmere dam, and after two or three hours' fishing in the early morning had among us 13 or 14 good bass, besides some pickerel, which goes to show that the game fish come up from the lake, as nature intended they should.

We have one of the finest streams in the country for fish of all kinds, but owing to the rapid adoption of the river by the use of seines, etc., it is getting to be a hard day's work, instead of a recreation, for the angler to get even one-tenth of what the law allows him to take as his legal day's catch. We could, if necessary, get hundreds of declarations to the fact of catching both bass and pickerel in the river waters between Byron and Chatham.

THE STAGE

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

At the Brisco Opera House—

The Arrival of Kitty—Jan. 25.

Thurston Opera Co.—Jan. 26.

"THE ARRIVAL OF KITTY."

This famous comedy success is the offering at the Brisco Opera House for Friday night.

This production was seen in this city last season and pleased our local theatre-goers immensely, and no doubt will be welcomed by all lovers of fine music and melody. The comedy has been rewritten and new interpolations have been added that make "The Arrival of Kitty" more popular than ever before, and possess the attributes that go to make an evening's entertainment pleasing.

Full of tuneful music, catchy songs of the whistly kind, unique specialties, bright dialogue, and a cast comprising many favorites of stage and screen is the make-up of this really excellent comedy organization.

When this decided and popular comedy mixture is presented here the theatre-going public of this city will have an opportunity of witnessing what has been called "the best comedy hit of the entire year."

The company this year far surpasses that of last year and comprises the following: Miss Evelyn Dunmore, Eddie P. Bower, Vinnie Bradome, Hal Johnson, Edythe Bower, Keaton Huel, Edna Pearson, Wm. J. Byrne, Jr., Fred A. Peck, Wm. Heaniges, and others.

Last season was a notable one in the theatrical world for the production of new comedies, and no less than 125 pretentious productions were made by producing managers during the season, but none of them, however, reached such a phenomenal degree of success as "The Arrival of Kitty," which proudly boasts of its record the past season. The dialogue is bright and snappy, the action is lively and the theme plausible, and is rightly calculated to dispel the "bluey" and is easily classified among the new really brilliant successes, and no production has attained such immense popularity or won so great a measure of critical approbation as was unanimously accorded this delightful clever mixture of melody, mirth and song.

Norman Lee Swartout, the author whose works and fame are pronounced, has woven together a clever mixture of fun and music that the public relish. The situations are extremely funny and different from any other witnessed in comedy offerings. Up to the minute comedy and real fun is promised, and from the list of names the laughing atmosphere is exceedingly bright. The C. S. Williams Company have provided a most superb outfit, and the production will be seen here the same form that characterized its great success.

MEPHISTO'S SON.

This is the title of one of the moving pictures that will be seen at the Opera House Saturday. It is 1,100 feet long and is a marvel of workmanship. How ever a film can be made is a mystery. It has been shown and is counted one of the best films ever manufactured. This and numerous others will go to make up the performance, and those who are fond of moving pictures will certainly see some of the latest and most up-to-date films ever shown in Chatham.

There will be a matinee Saturday for ladies and children.

MOVING PICTURES.

Wm. B. Morris will present moving pictures, illustrated songs and loads of the latest vaudeville hits, including the celebrated Babou Children, at the Brisco Opera House all next week. Two performances will be given each day. Matinee at 4 p. m. and evening at 8.15. On Monday night ladies will be admitted free if accompanied by one paid ticket.

FUEL FAMINE AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Jan. 22. — Winnipeg is threatened with a fuel famine. Harper Wilson, city fuel inspector, stated today that there was not enough coal in Winnipeg to last a week.

Winnipeg consumes one hundred cars of coal daily, but the dealers report only fifty cars daily being received. It is impossible to secure fuel from many dealers. The city schools have wood enough to last only a couple of days, and there is danger of closing them.

CARRIED OUT ITS THREAT.

Street Railway Promptly Tied Up Toronto Cars as Reply.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—The city carried out its threat to call out the police and force the street cars back to their old routes yesterday morning, and the Toronto Railway Co. retaliated by refusing to run any cars which were not allowed to make the trips outlined by the management. As a result three lines, those on Bathurst, Arthur and Winchester streets, have been tied up and are without any service at all. The police took charge of the cars where the cars made the turns to which the City Engineer objected and refused to allow the trolleys to pass. Although the action was taken during the noon-hour, there was no disorder. The main lines were not tied up as the Winchester cars all ran into the barns.

The city council met yesterday afternoon and passed the following resolution:

"The Board recommend that an immediate application be made to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board to forthwith compel the Toronto Railway Co. to operate the routes discontinued to-day and to take over the Toronto Railway Co.'s system and operate it pending the enforcement of the agreement between the city and the Toronto Railway Co., and to take other measures as they may see fit under the circumstances; also that the city engineer be instructed to confer with the owners of vans and other suitable vehicles, with a view to providing transportation facilities for those citizens who are inconvenienced by the discontinuance of the Bathurst street, Arthur street and Winchester street cars."

WAS OFFERED $4,000,000.

But Jas. Ross Refused It Because Other Shareholders Weren't In It.

Montreal, Jan. 23.—Recently reports have been current that when some Dominion Steel interests contemplated the purchase of the personal coal stock holdings of James Ross they offered him a little over $3,000,000 for his 40,000 shares. On good authority, however, it is said, that the amount offered was $4,000,000. It is believed that the proposition was made by people who were close to Senator Cox. The latter would then have controlled the company.

The hitch came when Mr. Ross found that it was not the idea to buy out the rest of the shareholders on the same basis, as the plan was to give the shareholders a 5 per cent. debenture.

KITCHEN WALLS.

An Economical Finish Which Is Easily Kept Clean.

A practical and inexpensive treatment for kitchen walls is to rub successive coats of oil mixed with varnish into the walls until they are a pretty light brown shade. The first coat makes them a light yellow; then each successive coat turns it a darker brown. This can be continued until the walls are a light chocolate in color.

A surface which can be washed and even scrubbed, if necessary, and one that steam will not discolor. With this wall it is effective to paint the woodwork white—three coats of common white paint and then a finishing coat of white enamel. This makes a smooth, shining finish, which easily is kept clean with a cloth wrung out of skim milk. After this treatment it will appear as smooth and shining as when first put on.

It is possible to make the walls any color one prefers by adding a little dry coloring matter to the oil and then stirring the varnish in afterward. Add the coloring matter with a light hand, trying the oil from time to time on a piece of board, so as not to make the coloring too pronounced. It is better to run the risk of not adding enough and so be obliged to add another coat than to apply one coat that is unpleasantly dark.

This treatment of the walls is far more satisfactory than using wall paper covered with a coat of shellac, so it can be wiped down with a damp cloth from time to time, or oiled, which also would admit of wiping down with a cloth wrung out of ammonia water. These last, not being a part of the walls themselves, afford an opportunity for the odor of cooking to linger longer than is pleasant, while they also afford a lurking place in which the insect fraternity may thrive. The day has passed when the rear of the house is relegated to the backgarden, and today the housekeeper exhibits her spotless kitchen with pride.

Is Disease a Crime?

Not very long ago, a popular magazine published an editorial article in which the writer stated that "disease is a crime" should be regarded as criminal. Certain it is, that much of the sickness and suffering of mankind is due to the violation of certain of Nature's laws. But to say that all sickness should be regarded as criminal, must appeal to every reasonable individual as radically wrong.

It would be harsh, unsympathetic, cruel, yes criminal, to condemn the poor, weak, over-worked housewife who sinks under the heavy load of household cares and burdens, and suffers from weaknesses, various displacements of pelvic organs and other derangements peculiar to her sex.

Frequent bearing of children, with its exacting demands upon the system, coupled with those suffering from moderate light exercise, is often the cause of weaknesses, derangements and disability which are aggravated by the many household cares and the hard, never-ending work which the mother is called upon to perform. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription says of this class of maladies: "The fact that the poor, over-worked housewife can get the best of her many household cares and labor to enable her to secure from the use of his 'Prescription' its full benefits, is a matter of frequent experience, he says, in his extensive practice in these cases, to most with those in which his treatment fails by reason of the patient's inability to abstain from hard work long enough to be cured with those suffering from moderate light exercise, is often the cause of weaknesses, derangements and disability which are aggravated by the many household cares and the hard, never-ending work which the mother is called upon to perform. ## AFTER CANNING FACTORY

Petrolen, Jan. 23.—The Board of Trade met last night and informally discussed with Mr. Moore, of Chatham, the feasibility of establishing a canning factory here.

The majority of those present considered the scheme favorable. A committee, composed of Mayor Grant, Mr. Charles Egan and John Fraser, was appointed to confer with Mr. Moore this morning.

Yesterday was the coldest day this year, and at eight o'clock this morning the thermometer registered ten degrees below zero.

The following men will run for the four vacancies in the council: Messrs. John McRobie, R. S. Williamson, David Hawkins, Robert Stewart, John A. McCort, W. J. Clark, Edward Pollard, James Stewart, M. Knake. The election will be held next Monday.

WANT PROTECTION

Lewis Wigle, a member of the Essex County Council, gave notice of motion yesterday to memorialize the Dominion Government, asking that the same duty be placed on American raw leaf tobacco coming into Canada as the American Government places on the Canadian raw leaf.

Essex county, especially the southern portion, has become the centre in Ontario for raising tobacco and every year the growers have asked the Government for some modification in the tariff on tobacco in the raw leaf. They claim that the Canadian grower has not an equal chance with the exporters of the American leaf, and have asked for a higher duty on the imported leaf. They also have requested that the label, which marks the Canadian goods, be removed.

Mr. Wigle said that if the duty is raised by the Government it will result in an increase in the price paid for "Canada Green." Windsor Correspondent to Detroit Free Press.

LEGISLATURE IS OPENED

Many Important Matters Mentioned In Speech From Throne

BILL FOR THE SESSION

Special to The Planet.
Toronto, Jan. 24.—The following is the Speech from the Throne delivered at the opening of the Legislature this afternoon:

It affords me great pleasure to again be with you as representatives of the people in Parliament assembled once more. We realize that our thanks are due Almighty God for the bountiful harvest, the prosperity which has been enjoyed by our farmers for a number of years has been continued for another year, while the steadily increasing enterprise and commercial activity shown by our people afford good ground both for satisfaction and for hope, and are indications of future prosperity.

The sittings of the later provincial conference at Ottawa in October last were attended by the Prime Minister and tempo of his colleagues. The deliberations of the conference will, I have reason to believe, result in an amendment to the British North American Act by which the amount of the annual payment by the Dominion Government to the Province will be increased by about $800,000. A report of the proceedings of the conference will be laid before you. On the invitation of the Government of Canada certain of my Ministers attended at Ottawa with reference to the proposed extension of the boundaries of Manitoba. The claims of the Province of Ontario to its western land were pressed upon the Dominion Government, my Ministers urging that the boundaries of Manitoba be extended northward to Hudson Bay by producing the eastern boundary of that Province northward until it strikes the Churchill River, and this by following the middle of the channel of the said river and the lake debouches into Hudson Bay, and that for geographical and other reasons the remainder of the territory of Keewatin lying east of the suggested eastern boundary of Manitoba contiguous to Ontario and bounded on the north and east by Hudson Bay and James Bay, be allotted the Province of Ontario. A decision is expected shortly.

Better accommodation has been provided in this city for the increasing number of immigrants, and my Minister intends to make additional efforts to induce the farmers and farm laborers to settle among us.

You will be pleased to know that the loan of three millions of dollars authorized by the Act of last session for the completion of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway was successfully floated at par and without any expense other than that of advertising.

After the close of the last session of the Legislature my Government, in accordance with the precedent, appointed a commission consisting of certain members of the judiciary, the members of the Executive Council, and others for the consolidation of the statutes of the Province, and subsequently a supplementary commission was issued extending the powers of the commission, substantial progress has been made by them, but owing to the great volume of the work and the care and thoroughness with which it is being done the revision cannot be completed earlier than next year, certain of the changes recommended will, however, be submitted to you at as early a date as possible during the present session. Owing to the steady increase of population in Northern Ontario it has become necessary in the interests of the proper administration of justice to create an additional judicial district.

In accordance with the Legislation of last session, the Railway and Municipal Board has been constituted. Although it has been in existence only a few months, the Board has already considered and disposed of many questions coming within its jurisdiction. It has also proven an efficient agency for enforcing the electric railway rates specified by this legislation and for adjusting disputes between labor and capital in respect of street railway operation.

A report of the work of the board since its formation will be laid before you. I am glad to be able to inform you that under the provisions of the Act of last session, very satisfactory progress has been made in the direction of procuring cheap electric power for consumers. Tenders have been called for the extension of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway to a point of junction with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and the receipts for passenger and freight traffic show a large increase over the preceding year.

The great value of the mineral deposits in the Cobalt district is becoming more and more evident, and the future is full of promise, both to the investor in mining properties and the people of the Province.

The right of the Province in these deposits have been kept steadily in view by my ministers, and accordingly a measure providing for the taxation of mining properties will be submitted for your consideration. I think it will draw your attention to the fact that there is a tendency to hasty and reckless investment and speculation, and it is to be hoped this will be kept in check by the good sense of our people.

The amendment of 1st session to the Public School Act have given general satisfaction. The experience of the past year with reference to the working of the Act has shown certain amendments to be desirable. A measure embodying these will be laid before you. The education department is now dealing with the present session to make satisfactory arrangements with reference to this very important matter. My ministers have for some time past been considering the question of prison labor, with a view to avoiding all possibility of its being put into competition with free labor. It is a subject of the utmost importance, and cannot be dealt with hastily. Some facts with relation to it will be laid before you.

It will be laid before you relating to the colonization on roads, providing for the taxation of mining properties. Consolidating and amending the Companies' Act, amending the Act creating the Railway and Municipal Board, the Motor Vehicle Act, the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, and the Volunteer Grant Act. It affords me great pleasure to inform you that revenues of the Province are largely in excess of the estimates and more than sufficient to meet the provincial expenditures during the year.

The Public Accounts will be laid before you for your consideration at the earliest moment, and the Estimates for the coming year will be also submitted for your approval at an early date.

FREEZE TO DEATH

Galicians Who Leave Snowbound Train, Meet Death on Prairies.

Winnipeg, Jan. 24.—News reached the St. Boniface police yesterday that on Saturday night last a party of Galicians were on a C. N. R. train bound for a settlement near Starbuck, Man. The train became snowbound, whereupon the Galicians left the train, thinking they had no more than a mile to reach their homes. Apparently they misjudged the distance, and five men and a woman are believed to have been frozen to death. The body of a Galician woman with a child in her arms, still living, and the body of a man have been found. Search is being made for the missing men.

YOUNG LIFE CUT OFF

The funeral of the late Douglas Bell, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bell, Victoria Ave., will take place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock to Holy Trinity Church, and thence to the Maple Leaf Cemetery. This is one of the saddest deaths which has occurred in Chatham for some time. Douglas was 12 years of age and was one of the brightest little fellows in Chatham. He was little more than a month, but not until a week ago was his condition considered serious. He suffered with appendicitis, which was the cause of his death. Everything possible was done to save his life, even to the extent of securing the services of a specialist, Dr. Metcalfe, of Detroit, to perform the operation. His mother, father, two brothers and one sister survive. The brothers are Norman and Brooke, and the sister Beattie.

BRIDANT FREED BY THE JURY

Though The Charge Of The Chief Justice Was Against Him

AN INTERESTING CASE

Toronto, Jan. 24.—After a little more than an hour's discussion of the evidence, the jury brought in a verdict of "not guilty," in favor of Edward Bridant, charged with the murder of his wife, by furnishing her with noxious drugs.

In discharging Bridant, Chief Justice Meredith remarked that he did not agree with the verdict, in view of the evidence given.

"It is between you and the Almighty, whether you are guilty or not. You are discharged," were the parting words to Bridant.

The Judge's Address.
Chief Justice Meredith in his address to the jury explained clearly the charge upon which Bridant was being tried, as laid down in the criminal code. He had no doubt Mrs. Bridant had been pregnant for three or four months. Did the prisoner know her condition? It seemed impossible that he did not. After reviewing the evidence his lordship asked, "Would a woman, knowing she was about to pass into eternity, who asked her mother to kneel and say the Lord's Prayer, and repeated the words of the prayer until her strength failed, be liable to accuse her husband falsely?"

Referring to the correspondence between the woman and Driscoll, the only reason it was admitted, was that it might throw some light on the question as to whether there had been any complaints of cruelty to the wife by the accused. The defence had not clearly proven that the letters had been written by Mrs. Bridant. Driscoll was in the Central prison and could easily have been called by counsel for the defence had he so desired.

Is Bridant Unsophisticated?
"You can judge by Bridant's evidence whether is unlettered, ignorant boy, as counsel would have you believe. Did he show care and coolness when in the witness box? If you consider him shrewd, you may not give his evidence as much consideration as if you thought him unsophisticated and innocent," said the justice.

There was no doubt but death was caused by septic poisoning, from the use of an instrument. If a man knew what the pills were for, and they were not effective, might he not go further and resort to the use of an instrument? If the jury consider he had a guilty knowledge of the pills, might he not also have a guilty knowledge of the probe?

The Ominous "If."
If Bridant compelled, aided or assisted in the use of these drugs, knew it was wrong and should have known it was wrong, he was guilty of murder.

Mr. Neville's address to the jury lasted over two hours. He dwelt largely on the correspondence which took place between the deceased and Driscoll, and the deceased and her husband, which was read in court during the morning. His object was to throw discredit on the evidence given by Mrs. Bridant's relatives.

Mr. Lynch Staunton, the crown prosecutor, briefly laid the evidence before the jury, and impressed upon them the necessity of bringing in a verdict in accordance with the testimony.

The case went to the jury at six o'clock.

NOTICE TO GAS CONSUMERS

Natural Gas will be turned into the mains of this Company on February 15th next, on and after which date no artificial gas will be supplied.

In order to use Natural Gas it will be positively necessary for every gas consumer to have the piping in his house thoroughly tested with a pressure gauge at twenty pounds pressure. This is necessary on account of the Natural Gas being delivered at about three times greater pressure than artificial gas.

All stoves or ranges to be used for Natural Gas must have closed tops, and in every case a flue connection must be made from stoves to chimney.

While the manufacturers of gas stoves state that artificial gas stoves cannot be used for natural gas without being entirely rebuilt, it would appear from tests made at this Company's office that the artificial stove may be made serviceable with natural gas, by having a special closed top and flue connection made for the stove. A stove specially made for natural gas and one specially made for artificial gas may be seen by any consumer at this Company's office, both connected with natural gas, where any explanations necessary will be given by the Company's officers. Any coal range or wood stove may be easily and simply connected by special burner to use natural gas at small expense.

To use Natural Gas for lighting, it will be necessary to use mantles on all jets, since natural gas has practically no illuminating value when used as an open flame.

All connections to stoves or hot plates must be made with iron pipe, and in no case should rubber or other tubing be used for connections.

While this Company will look after as far as possible, any orders entrusted to its care for connections to stoves, furnaces, base-burners, etc., it will be impossible for the Company to take care of all its customers, and the public will find all the local dealers and gas fitters ready to take orders.

Consumers are requested to have their work done as rapidly as possible, so that there will be as little inconvenience as possible when the Natural Gas is turned on.

Blind as a Bat

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

Copyright, 1906, by Ruby Douglas

Eastbrook opened its eyes very wide and caught its breath over the Taunton girl when she swept through it riding cross saddle. To be sure, the town had been reading this long time about the divided skirt, but then the town was also not exactly sure in its mind that riding its streets even upon a proper sidesaddle was not rather bold.

Of course in the country it was different. The very best young women rode there. Moreover, it had come to be a sort of proverb among the plantation folk that the hardest and most reckless riders were town girl visitors. Very few of them had any mercy upon the beasts luckless enough to carry them—this not because they were hard-hearted, but from sheer ignorance and the pure animal delight of finding themselves unfettered for a time. They trotted not a little, these town bred riders, when the country folk checked speed at hills or insisted that a horse should have a chance to blow a bit after a hard gallop.

Possibly envy, the least touch, gave edge to their disapproval of Edith Taunton. Edith had a fortune and three fine saddle horses. As if that were not enough, Billy Drayton fell into a way of sharing her early gallops. Until she came back to the old homestead Billy had not seen a sunrise once a year. It was provokingly significant, this change in him. He had been the despair of the town matchmakers. He was a governor's grandson, rich, good-looking, good humored. Further, he was a squire of dames so nobly impartial nobody ever yet had been able to establish a claim to him. The people he regarded most and was readiest to serve were meek old ladies who had known his mother and very little girls.

Edith was, he insisted, only a little girl, very lone and lorn in her big empty house. What he did not say was that he thought her coming back to it something so fine and brave he was about on helping her fight down the loneliness and make her own social place. This in the beginning—until the town gossips took to craning the neck, shaking the head and drawing aside the least bit when the girl came among them. Billy saw the head shaking, the drawing back, a long time before she did. She was open and unsuspicious as daylight and had no thought of treading on the corns of town propriety in anything she did. But, being also full of quick intuitions, after awhile she understood.

And then? Then only she really did set out to horrify the good gentlewomen. She drove tandem through the middle of the square, sitting up very straight, looking neither to right nor left, but pulling up at the corner by the bank to pick up Billy and take him away with her. Next week it was a card party—wholly masculine in composition, except for Edith herself and the colorless cousin who served as her companion. There were wine and cigars and a supper afterward—a very late supper.

The town thrilled with the horror of it. But not as it did a little later, when everybody knew that thereafter, upon Sunday evenings, Edith meant to be at home to her friends.

If Billy had known in time that never would have come to pass. But he had gone away for a fortnight right after the night at cards, first making Edith promise to have no more such assemblies until he was there to give her countenance and protection.

When he came back and found the mischief done, he was in a sad taking. "I see just one way out of it—You have got to marry me, else you won't have a rag of reputation left," he said, pretending to shake her hand.

Edith made a mirthful mouth at him. "Suppose we try some other sacrificial lamb. Aren't you most too old and tough?" she asked, her eyes dancing wickedly.

Billy grinned cheerfully. "You can have carloads of 'em for the taking, nice white lambs, but I don't believe they'd be the least effectual," he said. "You see, what you need, really, is not a sacrifice, but a scapegoat. I'm strong enough to have your sins confessed over my head and thenceforth imputed to me."

"But scapegoats have to be sent away, out into the wilderness. I learned that much at Sunday school, and I can't have you go away." Edith protested. "Besides, I am not doing anything horrid. I shall go to church mornings just the same. As for the evenings, you know yourself other girls go to church then, mainly to have somebody see them home and stay all hours afterward making love to them. I really feel like a missionary—the boys can come here and rest or talk or do anything they please. As it is now, they have no choice at all—they must either mope at home or go out and court somebody and that must be dreadfully wearing."

"It is," Billy said fervently, his eyes reminiscent. "But, my dear girl, you had better give it up. Get a telegram calling you away. I'll send it if your conscience is against fibbing!"

"My conscience is not against anything necessary, and you know that is necessary," Edith interrupted. "But I have much more conscience against backing out of anything just because I'm afraid of some old tabby cats and young ones."

"Tabby cats have claws," Billy said oracularly.

Edith looked at him doubtfully a minute. "I know. They try even to scratch you," she said. And then quickly, her eyes flaming. "They actually came here, three of them, to tell me about your past!"

"They did?" Billy's voice was deadly quiet. "And you?"

"I said it did not interest me to know about it; all I was concerned with was your future," Edith answered, her voice trembling a little, although her eyes were brave.

Billy got up and stretched himself. "That settles it," he said. "Name the day, right off, so I can go order wedding cards."

Edith did name the day, but not until she had stood out against him a week. She might not have given in even then but for the ordeal at church. Not only was she cut right and left—the minister preached at her—not by name, of course, but in a fashion more than unmistakable.

Billy was there, across the aisle, grim and furious. After service he half led her out, and walked away with her, his head high. But even that did not hurt like the furtive yet swaggering airs of the three men who called in the evening. There was further something of patronage about them.

Altogether they made Edith hate them, but not as she hated herself. She was full of quick kindness and had not meant hurt or affront to anybody—at least not in the beginning. Dully she wondered why her townfolk would not understand she had come back to them because her interest lay among them and had been eager to help in all good works if only she had been permitted.

But she held up her head and laughed and jested till the latest of her callers took himself away. Then silently she heaved her hands to Billy. He understood and announced an early wedding day.

It was a church wedding, with the house jammed to the last inch. After it the newly married settled back into their old ways, going a pace that kept them the talk of the town.

They were very gay and desperately unhappy. Edith could not get away from a sense that Billy had married her wholly out of chivalry. Billy was old enough to know better, but he was proving the adage that love, which may make a fool a wise man, may likewise make a wise man a fool. He tormented himself with the thought that he had taken advantage of Edith's extremity. She must know he had loved her from their very first meeting, but she was shy and proud and high with him, notwithstanding she was his dutiful wife.

He left her much to herself and took pains to make her know that she was as free as ever. Edith resented the freedom. Billy ought to understand that she wanted to obey him—make him at least that poor recompense for his sacrifice.

Thus they ate out their hearts in cross purposes, cross miscomprehensions, until Ashbel Clare came to visit them. Ashbel was reputed a dangerous person—tall and slight and handsome, with deep seeing eyes. A glamour of romance hung about him. After the first day Billy wondered, with catching breath, if he had been quite wise to fling a man like Ashbel across Edith's path.

She was clearly fascinated by him. They were forever walking about the big, scrubby garden or along the strip of lawn in full sight of passersby as the while absorbed in talk. Edith was brighter, too—quite her old, winsome self. Ashbel seemed equally captivated. He roused himself as Billy had not seen him since they were late together.

So the days went by, mounting into weeks, at last into a month, and Billy was in torment. He had made a grim and mannerly third for the most part of the time. Still he was sure the two had some secret understanding. He had made up his mind to endure to the end. There was no danger of dishonor. Dishonor and Edith could not come together in his mind. But when he was quite sure—if he were quite sure—he would find a way out of it. His father had died of heart disease. There were ways of ending yourself without making a scandal. He would make an end of himself gladly if only that way lay Edith's happiness.

The first thing was to make his will. Ashbel Clare surprised him at it. Billy was glad. He wanted Ashbel to know, to understand how entirely he had trusted his wife and his friend. So he thrust the paper into Clare's hand, saying gruffly:

"Read that! You see I've some decent instincts if I am half a savage."

"I see. Everything, great or small, to your wife," Ashbel said, then, with a whimsical, half dreamy smile. "Do you know that she's the most fascinating creature alive?"

"Just what she says of you?" Billy growled, signing his name with a blurred flourish.

Ashbel bent over him, laughing softly.

"The perception does credit to her mind," he said. "As for her heart, Billy, you brute, that knows no better than to belong to you wholly, and you won't see it, you blind, blind bat!"

A soft, stifled sob, the patter of swift, light feet, sounded at the door. Billy followed them, caught his wife in his arms and said, with his lips on her forehead: "Darling! Darling! If you really do love me!"

"Hush!" Edith said, with her hand over his lips. "You were a blind bat. Even jealousy could not make you see."

GRETNNA GREEN TO-DAY.

Cid-Fashioned Village of a Single Street—Weddings That Once Made It Famous Not Altogether Nil.

Nowadays one does not dash into Gretna behind a pair of smoking boys with a flogging postboy and a mud-spattered coach. The Glasgow & Southwestern Railway carries one comfortably; though in case of pursuit by angry parents a special train may be hired to whirl one to the Green. Instead of the old inn at Carlisle, where it was the custom for runaway couples fearing capture to hire for the day ever available steed and coach, the start is made from the commodious citadel railway station.

The train whirled northward, crossing the Eden and Esk Rivers, and eventually penetrating into Scotland by way of the new bridge over the Lark. Out of the carriage windows one may catch a glimpse of the old Lark toll bridge by which the border was crossed in pre-railroading days. writes a correspondent of The Washington Star. Fancy depicts a coach with its smoking horses standing at the toll gate, while another vehicle comes down the hill in chase of the eloping couple.

"G-retna Green!" roared the porter at the next little station, with its beds of Scottish bluebells. Over the station wall I saw the village—a single street, long and clean, with white-washed cottages and a church by no means in good repair. The Green itself was an irregular patch of grassy sod in front of the church. Nearby is the more modern settlement of Springfield—a sort of Newer Gretna.

Beyond the village stretches the dreary expanse of Solway moss, where so many sanguinary fights took place in the days of border warfare. Looking toward the south one sees the mountains of Cumberland, blue against the fleecy sky.

The old hall is, of course, the first place toward which travelers turn in Gretna Green. Here more than half the Gretna weddings were solemnized, though the direct line of "lay parsons" has for some time abandoned the place. This I discovered in conversation with the proprietress of the old hall.

"Yes," she admitted, "Lang claims to be the heir of the old lay parsons now, but he lives over in Springfield. My late husband married many people, however, after the Langs left the old hall."

The general belief is that Gretna Green marriages are things of the past. That is not so. Hardly a week goes by that one or two weddings do not occur. I witnessed one myself—the contracting parties being a wealthy merchant's daughter of Carlisle and a stalwart young tenant of the estate of Eden Hall.

The Most "Human" Bishop.

"Strong and gentle" are the two adjectives that best describe the Most Reverend Randall Davidson, Archbishop of Canterbury. Even with those to whom he is in the strongest opposition over the education bill he is most popular, and his geniality of manner and sunny disposition endeared him to the clergy as "the most human" Bishop that ever lived," a phrase that very aptly sums him up. It was his breadth of view and his deep learning that first brought him prominently under the notice of the late Queen Victoria, and he remained her favorite preacher and adviser to the day of her death. M. A. P. tells that some years ago, when he was Bishop of Rochester, he was about to appoint a man to some minor office in his domestic establishment, when one of his chaplains ventured to raise a protest. "What is the matter with the man?" asked Dr. Davidson in some surprise. "Well, he is a Dissenter," said the other. "Dear, dear, how dreadful!" cried the bishop. "And does he eat his victims raw or cook them first?" Needless to say, the man got the job. Despite their recent differences of opinion, the Archbishop and Mr. Augustine Birrell are the firmest of friends, and it is generally believed in political circles that Mr. Birrell submitted to him the draft of the education bill long before it was presented to the House of Commons.

A Great British Contractor.

One of the greatest of British contractors is Sir John Jackson, LL.D., F. R. S., who at the present moment, with the new Admiralty docks at Devonport and Singapore, and the new Admiralty harbor, Simon's Bay, South Africa, is engaged upon undertakings of a value of no less than ten millions sterling. Sir John Jackson, M. A. P. tells, is a Yorkshireman, born in 1851, and was educated at York and Edinburgh University, afterwards going thoroughly through the "shops," as engineers call them, and acquiring that mastery of civil engineering which was to lay the foundation of his great fortunes. His first big contract was for the last section of the Manchester Ship Canal; then came the foundations of the Tower Bridge, Dover Harbor, and other works of magnitude. In appearance Sir John is on the short side, but broad and deep of chest, with the engineer's typically square brow, bearded, grey and keen of eye, and of a quiet, unassuming demeanor which conceals an iron will and inflexible determination. Apart from his work, he is known far and wide as a shrewd employer, firm but just and kind, and unwearying in his efforts to improve the workman's lot, and to teach him to improve himself. In short, an employer against whom not even the most socialistic of Socialists has a word to say.

Queer Balance Sheet.

Perhaps one of the quaintest balance sheets issued is that of the Glasgow and Knott End Railway, one of the smallest working lines in England, which shows that the half-yearly receipts were £2,117, and the expenditure £1,208, leaving a revenue of £909. The rolling stock comprises two engines, six carriages, and 41 wagons, and the mileage of the company is six miles seventy-nine chains.

Style and Comfort.

How many rooms there are, correct and beautiful, which fail of being lovable! Everything is perfect. Some "period" has been carried out faultlessly by a professional interior decorator of big reputation, with the result that the room has style and distinction, is cold, correctly exquisite or magnificent, and yet no one would voluntarily choose that room to live in. No one would deliberately elect to spend a delightful afternoon in it with a novel. No one would dream of repairing to it for the purpose of being unmolestedly lazy. The fact is art and comfort are not synonymous terms by any means. Many an artistic room by any means, cold and characterless because it bears no stamp of personality, yet correct style and comfort can and ought to go hand in hand.

Cleaning Papered Walls.

Papered walls may be cleaned with a mop of cheesecloth strips an inch and a half wide and eight inches long made fast to a light handle. Brush the paper well with it twice a month.

Every spring and fall mix cornstarch, whiting and powdered fuller's earth in equal parts, dip the mop into the powder and rub walls and ceilings well with it. Then shake all powder from the mop, cover it with a damp dannel and go all over the wall again, wiping in long straight strokes. The dannel must be damp only. Wet, it is apt to leave marks. As soon as it is dirty change it for a fresh one.

Old Lace Curtains.

A clever device for utilizing the beauty that remains in fine lace curtains that have seen their day is to cut out the rich raised work rings and wreaths from which the delicate net has worn away. Apply them to squares of velvet or satin for use as cushion covers. Applied on olive or metallic green velvet or some soft wood brown shade the effect is rich and elegant, especially when further set off with a frill of lace and the back of the pillow made of silk or corresponding tone.

GOT A PAIN IN YOUR BACK?

You get a pain in your back, and you wonder what is the matter. You perhaps pay no attention to it. Backache is caused by imperfect action of the kidneys, in fact, is the first sign of kidney trouble to follow. The kidneys, proper, are composed of a close network of fibrous tissue, interlaced with tiny elastic fibres. Their object is the excretion of the uric acid, and other poisonous matter composing the urine, from the blood.

They are continuously at work to preserve the general health of the body and most people are troubled with some form of kidney trouble, but do not suspect it.

Some of the symptoms are: A feeling of weakness in the small of the back, sharp pains in back, puffiness under the eyes, and swelling of the feet and ankles, urinary troubles such as suppressed urination, excessive urination, cloudy, thick or highly colored urine, etc.

Mr. J. L. Whiting, Oshabuck Centre, Ont., writes: "I suffered for two years with kidney trouble. I had terrible pains in my back, hips and legs. I could not sleep and had a poor appetite. I took four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and the pains went away. My appetite returned and I now sleep well. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from kidney trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.35 at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

As a rule when a person buys a piano it is not with the intention of replacing it with a new one next month, next year or within five years. It is regarded as a permanent fixture in the home, and the most important feature next to the owners themselves.

It is evident that great care should be taken to select a piano which will retain its original brilliancy, power and quality of tone for years and years and years. And such a piano is the "Nordheimer."

It has a lasting, permanent tone, as you can prove for yourself if you play on one which has been in the home of a friend for ten, fifteen, twenty years or more.

The "Nordheimer" is perfectly constructed by experts from the finest grade of materials procurable. It is built with the idea of not only satisfying the most critical ear for tone-quality when new, but for retaining its original superb tone, so that it will still satisfy the critical ear in years to come.

Those who own a "Nordheimer" are the only ones who can really appreciate to the fullest sense the wonderful, pure, sweet, brilliant, yet powerful tone of the peerless "Nordheimer" piano. May we not have the pleasure of a talk with you, with the object in view of placing "Nordheimer" in your home?

Our Mr. R. V. Carter will visit Chatham frequently in our interest and will be pleased to furnish you with any information you may desire. Correspondence addressed to him in care of the Garner House will receive careful attention.
