Ontario's Mining Lands.

Extensive Gold Fields—Abundant Supplies of Iron—
Large Deposits of Copper, Nickel, Silver, Mica, Graphite, Corundum, etc.

In the Province of Ontario there is great mineral wealth, comprising the precious and useful metals and many important non-metallic minerals. In fact, almost every variety of valuable or useful material found in the earth's crust is known to occur in Ontario in greater or less abundance.

The gold fields of the north-western part of the Province, the iron ores of Michipicoton and the Rainy River district, the nickel-copper ores of the Sudbury region, and the corundum and mica of the eastern counties, though only in the early stages of development, show how great and widely spread are these natural resources.

The rock formations in which the known deposits of gold, silver, copper, nickel, iron, corundum, etc., occur extend over large areas, much of which has been very little explored. Along the greatest axis of the mineral-bearing belt—from the St. Lawrence River to the boundary of Manitoba, a distance of about 1,200 miles—runs the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the numberless lakes and water-routes which extend in all directions enable the prospector to take his canoe almost anywhere.

Crown Lands are sold at $2.00 up to $3.50 per acre, or leased at $1.00 per acre for the first year, and 15 to 30 cents for subsequent years.

MANITOBA.

The Province of Manitoba was acquired by the Dominion of Canada in 1870, and therefore ranks amongst the youngest of the sisters of the great British America continent. Manitoba is recognized as the Prairie Province and resembles in many respects Ohio and Illinois of the United States. It is the most regular in geographical features of all the provinces, being nearly a perfect parallelogram in shape, 200 miles long from east to west. It contains 64,066 square miles of land and 9,890 square miles of water. The general surface of the land is a level prairie, lying only 70 feet above the sea and about 80 feet above Lake Winnipeg, and is situated in the very centre of the North American continent. It is a part of the domain granted by Charles II. in 1670 to the Hudson Bay Company. The policy of the company, which exercised territorial authority over the whole North-West, similar to that exercised by the East India Company in India, was to retain for themselves the rich trade in furs and the natural products of the region. In pursuance of this policy, the company represented to the world that the region was a land of perpetual ice and snow, unfit for habitation for the white man and only suited to the Indians and the wild animals which they hunted. So persistently was this misrepresentation maintained, and so lasting was the effect, that it was only at a comparatively recent date that the real resources of the Prairie Province became generally known. In 1869, the Hudson Bay Company's charter expired, and they surrendered their territorial rights on the suggestion of Earl Granville to Canada for £300,000 and the province, under the name of Manitoba, entered the Dominion on July 15, 1870.

When Manitoba entered Confederation the total population, including a strip of land since awarded to Ontario, was only 11,963, of whom 10,447 were Indians and half-breeds. In 1883 it was 65,954; in 1886 it was 108,640, and in 1896 it had risen to 200,000. In 1882 there were only 65 miles of poorly equipped railways, and last year the Canadian Pacific Railway Company connecting the Atlantic ocean with the waters of the Pacific, had 6,300 miles of rails laid. In 1882, not a bushel of wheat had been exported; in 1888, the province sent out 12,000 bushels of wheat, the total wheat crop being estimated at 14,000,000 bushels, and in 1898 the yield had risen to 25,313,245 bushels of wheat, 17,308,252 bushels of oats, 4,277,927 bushels of barley, 350,000 bushels of flax, 63,860 bushels of rye, 31,880 bushels of peas, 3,253,038 bushels of potatoes, and 2,471,715 bushels of root crops.

Winnipeg, the capital of Manitoba, had a population of 241 in 1871. Three years after it was 1,869. The following year it rose to 2,961. In 1880, it was 6,178; in 1885, it was 19,574. In 1890 it had increased to 22,892. In 1895 there was a population of 37,062, and in 1898 there were 39,348, with a total assessment of $22,851,700. In 1882 the first settlements were being made in Brandon and in 1898 the inhabitants had increased to 5,928, and the total assessment was $2,309,119.

Live stock raising in Manitoba has become a very important source of wealth during the last few years as the following table indicates, showing the number of horses, cattle, sheep, and swine in the province from 1896 to 1898:

	1896.	1897.	1898.
Horses.. . . .	95,140	100,274	101,836
Cattle.. . . .	210,507	221,775	227,097
Sheep.. . . .	33,812	36,680	32,053
Swine.. . . .	72,562	74,944	69,648

Some years since, a Chicago stock-raiser visited Manitoba for the purpose of seeing the capabilities of the country for raising swine. He reported on his return that the country was all right; but the only question he was debating was as to whether during winter he would have in the swineries self-feeding stoves or furnish every pig with a fur overcoat. This may have been regarded as very witty by the Chinese merchant, but it was a baseless libel on the climate, it is needless to say, as the average of 72,000 swine a year were raised without either fur coats and self-feeders, and as a matter of fact many parts of Manitoba are superior as regards the swine industry to portions of the far-famed Illinois, which find a market for their pigs in Chicago.

Contrary to preconceived ideas and reports industriously promulgated by United States immigration agents, the climate of Manitoba is much milder and decidedly healthier than several States of the American Union further south. This, at first sight, anomalous condition, is partly due to the country being drier in winter, and not so far above the level of the sea. The winter is dry and bracing, not like the raw and chilly cold that prevails in countries in more southern longitudes, with an average temperature a few degrees higher. Even in Manitoba a south-western wind at zero produces a greater sensation of cold than a clear, sunny day when the thermometer reads 25 degrees below. Manitoba has fewer stormy days in the year than perhaps any other point on the American continent. Windy days are very rare, cyclones and tornadoes are unknown, and the fluctuations from intense cold to sudden thaws have no existence.

Referring to this question of climate, a young Englishman, who resides in Manitoba, recently said: "It was when I returned to England that I began to appreciate the climate of Western Canada. It was not long before I began to realize that I would again require the restorer of the pure air of the prairies, and it was not long before I made up my mind to return. A person who has never been away from England can scarcely understand how a winter with the thermometer registering at times from 20 degrees to 30 degrees below zero (as it sometimes does here), is preferable to the changeable weather which is almost always experienced in England at this season of the year. There is no comparison—the winters of Western Canada being infinitely preferable. When in England last winter, I was forced to endure fog, rain and snow, with very little sunshine thrown in and in all it was most discomforting. With the steady winter here, modified by the small percentage of humidity, your blood has a circulation; vim and energy are acquired, in contrast to which the winters of England are most enervating."

It may be a fact not generally known, and a little startling at first mention, that comparatively little snow falls on the prairies, the average depth being 18 inches, and horses, cattle and sheep can graze out nearly all the winter. The snow leaves the ground early, and ploughing begins before the middle of April, a fortnight earlier than in Quebec. The average mean temperature of Manitoba in summer is 60.1 degrees. Mr. S. E. Dawson, in his "Handbook of Canada," referring to the climate of Manitoba, says: "It seems strange that there should ever have been a question concerning the climate of a country which the buffalo—an animal without political prejudices—has for unknown ages selected as his winter home. Lord Milton and Dr. Cheadle report that their horses, turned out in the fall upon the open prairie, were caught in the spring, so well nourished that they were like balls of fat. At St. Paul, Minn., and on the Peace river, the spring opens at the same date. The navigation of the Red river is open as early as that of the St. Lawrence, and the Red river is generally open ten days before the Erie Canal in New York."

Ontario was long considered the banner farming country of the Dominion, and its climate was regarded as in every way better adapted for the farmer than Manitoba. A few statistics cannot but prove interesting as well as instructive. In 1898 the rainfall in Ontario was 39.14 inches; in Manitoba the same year the rainfall was 16.75 inches. In Ontario the snowfall was 89.8 inches, and in Manitoba only 53.8 inches. The rain generally falls freely during the spring, the summer and autumn being remarkably dry. Water is found by digging wells of moderate depth in the prairie, while the rivers and coolies are also available for water supply. Trees are found along the rivers, and streams, and they will grow anywhere very rapidly if protected from prairie fires. The cultivation of trees for wind-belts is now very extensive, and the majority of farms have their little grove of fruit or ornamental trees.

The soil of Manitoba is a rich, deep, black, argillaceous mould or loam, resting on a deep and very tenacious subsoil. It is probably the richest soil in the Dominion, and especially adapted to the growth of wheat and other cereals. Analyses made by chemists in Great Britain and Germany have confirmed this. So rich is the prairie soil that it does not require the addition of manure or artificial cultivators for years after it is first broken, and in some places, where the black loam is very deep, it is practically inexhaustible. The marvellous richness of the prairie soil has arisen from the gathering of droppings from birds and animals and ashes of prairie fires, which have accumulated for ages, together with decayed vegetable and animal matter, the entire deposit resting upon a very retentive clay subsoil.

The wheat of Manitoba is well known to be extremely hard, the yield being from 30 to 50 per cent. more than in the States south of the boundary line. The principal causes for this are natural ones. The farther cultivation is carried towards the limit of the wheat growth, the finer is the quality of the soil. The subsoil throughout the heat of summer is kept moist by the slow melting of the deep winter frosts, the moisture ascending to the surface and nourishing the roots of the grain, thus stimulating growth and producing an abundant crop. Nor are heat and moisture the only things essential to profitable wheat growing. Solar light is a great factor, and the greater the amount the better the result, and the sunshine is longest in the northern portions of Manitoba just at the period it is most needed. From the 15th of June to the 1st of July there are nearly two hours more of daylight in every twenty-four in Manitoba than in Ohio.

The average yield of wheat varies under different conditions. In some years the average has been more than thirty bushels per acre, while in others it has been twenty-five, and in one or two exceptional years, in the early days of wheat cultivation, there were occasional early and late frosts, going as low as eighteen bushels. But taking even the lowest average, there is no industry that will produce larger profits. Owing to the modern and economical methods employed in cropping, harvesting, thrashing, and marketing, as well as the special ease with which in the prairie country all this is accomplished, there is always a handsome profit. It has been calculated by experts that the price of raising wheat is from $5 to $7 per acre, and in the past few years there have been many instances where as much as $25 per acre has been realized as profits, and even where the profit drops to $15 per acre, which may be regarded as the minimum, there is large money for the agriculturist. With wheat at its present price and with prospects of stationary or increasing prices for some years to come, it does not require much demonstration to the practical mind to show that the wheat fields of Manitoba are mines of wealth to the thrifty and industrious farmer. The late United States Consul Taylor, in one of his reports from Winnipeg, said: "When harvest time came, the entire labor of the region was found to be wholly inadequate for the task before it. The wheat straw had grown so tall and stout, and was so heavily loaded down with grain, as to make the work of reaping and stacking extremely exhausting. The weight and strength of the growing grain frequently broke the reaping machines, and the utmost exertion of strong men was required to handle the great weight of the sheaves."

Nor need the farmer rely entirely upon wheat. The crops of oats, barley, and peas are always large, sometimes phenomenally so, and can be successfully raised north of the wheat belt. Oats yield from 60 to 90 bushels per acre, and in some cases have been known to exceed a hundred. Owing to the almost continuous sunshine and the absence of rain during harvest time, barley not only yields enormously, but presents a bright appearance, and is in great demand by brewers and sells for several cents a bushel more than that grown in other countries. The yield of peas is splendid, and there is an absolute freedom from grubs and bugs. They are used for fattening hogs and for other feed and are superior for the purpose to corn. The absence of hog cholera in Manitoba is attributed by experts to the excellent feed, peas taking the place of corn.

The Dominion Government has an Experimental Farm in Manitoba, where different grains have been tested, with the object of establishing what varieties are best suited to the climate and soil.

As already mentioned, Manitoba presents many attractive features for grazing and cattle raising. The prairie grasses are nutritious and in illimitable abundance, and hay can be cheaply and easily made. The first attempts at dairying, as carried on in the older provinces, were made in Manitoba about 1884; in 1886 there were six creameries and twenty-six cheese factories. At the present date the home market is supplied with a slight surplus for exportation.

No territory can be a wholly desirable place unless the religious and educational requirements of the settlers are satisfied, and Manitoba, notwithstanding its youth, is abundantly supplied with churches, schools and colleges. The Canadians are essentially a religious people. According to the census returns of 1891, there were 10,480 churches in Canada, an increase of 1,828 over the previous decade. Taking the total population, there is a church provided for every group of 461 persons; and there are 7,164 clergymen of all denominations, an increase of 735 in ten years. From these facts it may be calculated with certainty that all the religious bodies vied with each other in providing places of worship for their adherents in the new province. In Manitoba there are 30,852 members of the Church of England, 28,437 Methodists, 39,001 Presbyterians, 16,112 Baptists, 20,571 Roman Catholics, and of other denominations, principally composed of Mormons, Mennonites, Doukhobors and other immigrants from the continent of Europe, 17,533, making a grand total of 152,506. The population of Manitoba in 1896 was 200,000, so that rather more than 76 per cent. of the population were church adherents. When the nomadic nature of the people is considered, the distance many settlers reside from the nearest place of worship, and the number of Indians who are pagans, the religious statistics compare favorably with many old and thickly settled countries.

Under the British North America Act of 1867, the right to legislate on matters respecting education was placed in the hands of the Governments of the several provinces, the rights and privileges of denominational and separate schools then existing being specially protected. In 1883 there were 256 schools in Manitoba, with 246 teachers, a school population of 12,346, the number of pupils, 10,831, and an average attendance of 5,064. In 1887, the number of schools had risen to 464, the number of teachers to 581, the school population to 17,600, the number of pupils to 16,940, and the attendance to 9,715. In 1897 the number of schools was 1,068, the number of teachers 1,197, the school population 51,178, the number of pupils 39,841, and the average attendance 21,500. In Ontario, the province which possesses one of the finest educational systems in the world, the total number of pupils registered in 1897 was 482,777, and the average attendance was 273,544, the proportion of attendance out of the registered number of pupils being very nearly the same (53.96 to 56.66) in the new province of Manitoba as in the long established Province of Ontario. This shows that the educational wants of the people are being attended to, and thoroughly appreciated. In 1897 there were in Manitoba four provincial Normal School teachers, nine local Normal School teachers, with an attendance of 143 pupils at the long and 101 pupils at the short sessions. In addition to the common schools and Normal Schools, Collegiate Institutes for more advanced education are attached to the Public Schools at Winnipeg, Portage la Prairie, and Brandon, and the total number of pupils enrolled for the year was 554, 86, and 178 respectively. There is also a Normal School in Winnipeg for the training of teachers. The total school receipts for 1897, from Government grants and municipal taxes, were $825,774, of which $445,204 went to the teachers as salaries.

The most valuable immigration agents are the railways built to and through a sparsely settled country. The life of Manitoba began with the construction of the Canadian Pacific railway, which was begun in 1881 and was completed four years later. Then immigration began to pour into Manitoba, at first principally from Ontario, but later on from the outer world. In 1898, Manitoba had 1,621 miles of track laid, or an area of 45.6 square miles of territory to each mile of track laid. Manitoba has 3.2 per cent. of the population of the Dominion, but she has 9.6 per cent. of the railway miles of Canada. A comparison with Ontario in this respect is instructive, always bearing in mind that Ontario was thickly populated and had large and flourishing cities, towns and villages when Manitoba was the happy hunting ground of the Indians. In 1898, Ontario had 6,674 miles of track laid, or 33.3 square miles of area to each mile of track laid. Ontario's population is 43.7 per cent. of the population of the Dominion, and her railway miles are 39.6 per cent. The railway mileage of the Prairie Province is wonderful in comparison to its population. Nearly every farming district is within easy access of one of the lines of railway, while branches are being extended as the conditions of settlement demand. While it is possible in some cases that in order to secure the advantages of free homesteads, it may be necessary to go some little distance from the railway, the policy of the Government is to push forward the construction of colonization lines, so that in a very short time even the new settlements will have the advantage of railway facilities.

Considering the immense advantages offered by Manitoba as a field for the immigrant, it will be naturally asked upon what conditions can he obtain land.

The information provided by the Government is explicit. Under the Dominion Land Regulations, all surveyed even-numbered sections (excepting 8 and 26) in Manitoba and the North-West Territories, which have not been homesteaded, reserved to provide wood-lots for settlers, or otherwise disposed of or reserved, are held exclusively for homesteads. A homestead entry for one-quarter section (160 acres) of surveyed agricultural land, open to such entry, may be obtained by any person who is the sole head of a family, or by any male who has attained the age of eight years, on application to the local agent of Dominion lands, and on payment of an office fee of $10. The homesteader must perfect his entry by beginning actual residence on his homestead and the cultivation of a reasonable portion within six months of the date of entry, unless entry shall have been made on or after the first day of September, in which case residence need not commence until the first day of June following, and continue to live upon and cultivate the land for at least six out of every twelve months for three years from the date of perfecting the homestead entry. In the event of a homesteader desiring to secure his patent within a shorter period than the three years provided by law, he will be permitted to purchase his homestead at the Government price at the time of entry, on furnishing proof that he has resided on the land for at least twelve months from the date of his perfecting his homestead entry, and that he has brought at least thirty acres under cultivation. In connection with his homestead entry, the settler may also purchase, subject to the approval of the Minister of the Interior, the quarter section of the same section, if available, adjoining his homestead, at the Government price, which is at the present time $3 per acre, one-fourth of the purchase money to be in cash and the balance in three equal instalments, bearing interest at 6 per cent. per annum. The odd numbered sections are at present reserved for the purpose of being granted as land subsidies in aid of the construction of colonization railways in Manitoba and the North-West Territories. A homestead settler, whose land is destitute of timber, can, upon the payment of an office fee of 25 cents, procure from the Crown Timber agent a permit to cut the following quantities of timber free of dues: 3,000 lineal feet of building timber, 400 roof poles, and 500 posts. Any settler can obtain a permit, upon the payment of the same fee, to cut fallen timber for fuel or fencing for his own use. Leases of grazing lands in Manitoba and the North-West can be obtained at an annual rental of two cents an acre. The leases are granted for a period not exceeding twenty-one years, and no single lease covers a greater area than 100,000 acres. The lessee is obliged within each of the three years from the date of granting of the lease, to place upon the land not less than one-third of the whole amount of stock which is required to be placed upon the land leased, namely, one head of cattle for every twenty acres of land covered by the lease, and shall, during the rest of the term, maintain cattle thereon in that proportion. After placing the prescribed number of cattle upon his leasehold, the lessee may purchase land within the tract leased for a house, a farm or a corral.

It will be seen from these regulations that the Canadian Government is no hard task-master. Immigrants are required for the development of the Dominion, and land is offered on the most liberal terms to those who desire to start life in a country that offers a home and a prosperous future to all those who have sturdy arms and industrious habits.

It will be well to bear in mind that no question of naturalization arises in connection with the emigration of British subjects to Canada. Settling in the Dominion makes no more change in this respect than the removal from a provincial town to London, Dublin, or Edinburgh, and the newly arrived immigrant has all the privileges of his Canadian-born fellow-subject. As regards foreigners, the Canadian laws are very liberal. The stranger can at once transact any business and hold real estate without being naturalized, and by residing three years in the country and taking the oath of allegiance, he becomes a naturalized British subject, and acquires political and all other rights.

Those who will best succeed in Manitoba are British farmers with a small capital, next the young man with a knowledge of agriculture, and the farm laborer who is willing to work and who has chances of obtaining a farm of his own, which would never come to him in the old world. There is always a brisk demand for male and female farm servants, and to all of these Canada says: "Come."

WHEAT.

In the August Bulletin the estimated wheat yield was 33,504,766 bushels. This was considered at the time a conservative estimate, as a greater yield than 20.55 bushels per acre (as reported) was generally expected. Actual yields have, however, been less. The Government estimate has not been realized. The principal causes of shrinkage were a period of drought in August, when wheat was filling, and the ravages of the Hessian fly. The most promising fields, especially on summer-fallow, from which 30 to 35 bushels per acre were expected, only yielded 20 to 25 bushels per acre. Shrinkage from the work of the Hessian fly is estimated in individual cases at from five per cent. to thirty per cent. of the crop. The damage was most serious in the Red River valley. The sample of the wheat is good, grading 1 Hard, 2 Hard, or 1 Northern, although a few cars in some districts are frosted. The absence of weed seeds in grain is specially noted.

OATS.

The oat crop was good, and the sample perhaps the best ever grown in the province: heavy, plump kernel, and free from smut.

BARLEY.

A fair crop, though the grain is reported small or thin.

WEATHER.

Harvest-time was favorable, although a heavy snow-storm, early in October, delayed stacking and threshing for a week or ten days. But this snow all disappeared, and since that date, up to the 1st of December, the weather has been, without exception, the finest experienced in Manitoba for over twenty years. Plowing was continued in all parts of the province to the end of November. Many farmers, having completed their fall plowing, put their plows under cover for the winter, before the frost set in.

LIVE STOCK.

The number of beef cattle exported this season was 12,000. There were 25,000 yearlings, or stockers, shipped to the ranches in the North-West Territories, and about 10,000 stockers shipped to the United States.

Hogs.

The supply of live hogs has not been sufficient for the wants of the province. There were none exported; on the other hand, it is estimated that over 5,000 hogs were imported from Ontario by packing houses in Winnipeg in order to supply local demand. Packers in Winnipeg advise that during the month of November, now closed, the supply has greatly increased, and prospects are that this increase will continue.

Stock in Province.

The number of stock in the province has remained almost stationary since a year ago. There has been a slight falling off in the number of cattle and swine, while horses and sheep show a small increase. The figures are as follows :

Horses . . . . .	102,655
Cattle . . . . .	220,248
Sheep . . . . .	33,092
Pigs. . . . .	66,011

HARVEST LABORERS.

In the August Bulletin it was estimated that over 8,000 laborers would be required to assist in the harvest fields. Over 10,000 hands came from the east in August. These secured employment on arrival, and were employed steadily until harvest and threshing were completed at good wages. Many more could have found employment, especially during the threshing season.

FALL PLOWING.

The total area of fall plowing is 861,070 acres, being 253,350 acres more than in 1898. The revised figures for summer-fallow and breaking are slightly in excess of the August estimate. The breaking is now placed at 153,515 acres, and the summer-fallow at 472,500 acres. This makes a total area of 1,492,085 acres now ready for next year's crop, which is an increase of 480,630 acres over the corresponding figures of a year ago.

THE ONTARIO AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE AND EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

By Dr. Jas. Mills, President of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

To the Hon. Sir John Carling, of London, belongs the honor of having taken the first steps towards founding a School of Agriculture in the Province of Ontario; to him also is due the credit of having established the Dominion Experimental Farms at a later date.

In his report for the year 1869, addressed to Governor Howland, Mr. Carling, then Commissioner of Agriculture and Arts for Ontario, spoke in complimentary terms of the system of general education in this province, and then said: "I have a growing conviction that something more is required to give our education a more practical character, especially in reference to the agricultural and mechanical classes of the community, which comprise the great bulk of the population and constitute the principal means of our wealth and prosperity. What now appears to be especially needed, in addition to the ordinary instruction in common schools, is the introduction of elementary instruction in what may be termed the foundation principles of agricultural and mechanical science, and I hope to be able, in the next report I may have the honor of presenting to your Excellency, to record the fact of a commencement being made with a prospect of success."

Rev. W. F. Clarke, Commissioner.

On the 12th August, 1869, Mr. Carling appointed the Rev. W. F. Clarke of Guelph, a Commissioner to visit the principal agricultural colleges of the United States, gain what information he could and report with the view of establishing in this province a school to give instruction in agriculture and kindred subjects, and to conduct experiments for the purpose of solving some of the problems which confronted those who were engaged in agricultural and horticultural pursuits. Mr. Clarke's report, which appeared on the 8th June 1870, was concise, comprehensive and scholarly, and withal practical and sensible in its suggestions and recommendations. It furnished the Minister with the desired information and indicated in outline the scope and character of a school of agriculture such as it was thought should be established in the Province of Ontario.

Schools of Agriculture and Practical Science.

So, in pursuance of his previous intimation, Mr. Carling, in his report for 1870, definitely proposed the establishment of two schools, one for agriculture and the other for mechanic arts, and the outcome of his recommendation and subsequent action was the founding of the School of Practical Science in Toronto, and the purchase of 600 acres of land for a School of Agriculture at Mimico, seven miles west of Toronto.

The land was purchased in 1871, and a contract for the erection of school buildings for the accommodation of 100 resident pupils, at a cost of $47,900, was entered into in November of that year; but, a change of Government having taken place that fall, the work was delayed for a time, and objections urged against the Mimico site by prominent farmers and stockmen caused some hesitation as to what should be done.

Committee, Mr. H. B. Howson, of

Hon. Archibald McKellar.

At length the Hon. Archibald McKellar, the new Commissioner of Agriculture, requested the Provincial Board of Agriculture and Arts, and afterwards Professor Miles and Dr. Kedzie, of the Michigan Agricultural College, to examine the site and report as to its suitability for an experimental farm.

Both reports were unfavorable to the site, chiefly on account of the character of the soil and the lack of church and other privileges such as are enjoyed in the immediate neighborhood of a town or city; and the result was that a committee, consisting of John Dunlop, John Miller, John Dryden, the Hon. David Christie, and Robert N. Ball, was appointed to examine farms in the neighborhood of Whitby, Guelph, and Woodstock, with the view of getting a suitable site for the proposed school. This committee reported the facts, without a definite recommendation, on the 13th of December, 1872, and left it for the Government to decide, which it did by purchasing the Gulph farm of 550 acres from F. W. Stone, a political opponent, in the early part of 1873.

Some additions were made as soon as possible to the farmhouse, which still constitutes the first two stories of the main building, in order to get ready for thirty pupils at as early a date as practicable.

Name and Motto.

The name decided upon was the Ontario School of Agriculture and Experimental Farm, and the motto suggested by George Buckland, the genial and scholarly Professor of Agriculture in the University of Toronto, was "Practice with Science."

Liberal Terms.

In accordance with the recommendation of a Commission appointed to prepare by-laws and regulations for the school, the first years were to be regarded as a preparatory term, in which student help was to be largely employed to put the farm and horticultural department into shape for practical instruction at a later date. During this period students were to work seven hours a day in the outside departments, and for his labor in these departments each was to receive instruction, lodging, board, and washing, with a bonus of $50 in cash at the end of the year, in case he completed it satisfactorily and passed the prescribed examinations in the course of instruction.

Opening of the School in 1874.

On the 29th July, 1873, Henry McCandless, from Cornell University, was appointed the first Principal; and on the 26th of March, 1874, there appeared over the signature of Mr. McCandless a long advertisement announcing the school on the 1st of May, 1874.

List of Officers at Opening.

H. McCandless, from Cornell University, Principal.

Rev. W. F. Clarke, from Guelph, Rector.

James McNair, from Richmond Hill, Farm Foreman.

James Stirton, from Guelph, Stockman.

Thomas Farnham, from Toronto, Gardener.

James McIntosh, from Guelph, Foreman Carpenter.

Mrs. Petrie, from Guelph, House-keeper.

T. Walton from Toronto, Engineer. Twenty-eight students entered the first term, and the outlook seemed encouraging, but the officers soon began to quarrel among themselves. In a short time the dispute between Principal McCandless and three or four members of his staff became so violent that Mr. Clarke resigned on the 9th of June; and on the 13th of July, twenty-six of the students in attendance sent a petition to the Hon. Oliver Mowat, asking for the removal of the Principal. Mr. McCandless resigned on the 18th of July, and the Government began to realize that its troubles had only begun.

The Second Principal.

Charles Roberts, Esq., of Haslemere, Surrey, England, a prominent graduate of Cirencester Agricultural College, was appointed to succeed Mr. McCandless. He came out for observation in the fall of 1874, but could not enter on his duties until April, 1875, but he was suddenly seized with an illness so severe that he decided to resign his position and return at once to his native land. Some have said that the illness was caused by the stories which were told him of the frightful difficulties, trials, and annoyances of the position which he had accepted.

Third Principal.

Wm. Johnston, B.A., was employed in the capacity of Rector from August, 1874, till the end of 1875, and as Principal for nearly four years—from the beginning of 1876 till the 1st of October 1879. Mr. Johnston, though lacking in practical experience, was a man of real ability—a good organizer, an efficient executive officer and a vigorous writer. He soon grasped the situation, and to him very largely is due the credit of having placed the institution on a fairly solid foundation. He classified the work in the different departments, handled his men to advantage, and did much to give character and stability to the school.

Change of Name, Etc.

At the time of Mr. Johnston's resignation, and at his suggestion, the Ontario School of Agriculture and Experimental Farm became the Ontario Agricultural College and Experimental Farm, and the chief executive officer of the institution was afterwards to be known as President of the College. The writer took charge at that time (1st of October, 1879), and through storm and stress has stood by the ship for over twenty years.

Farm Superintendents.

From the outset, the office of Farm Superintendent was one of the most important in the School, and it is no less important in the College. James Laidlaw, afterwards representative of South Wellington in the Legislative Assembly, was Farm Superintendent in 1875; William Brown, from the fall of 1875, till 1st of July, 1888, a period of nearly thirteen years; Thomas Shaw, from the 1st of October, 1888, till the summer of 1893—nearly five years; and Wm. Rennie, from 1st October, 1893, till the 1st October, 1899—exactly six years. G. E. Day, B.S.A., was appointed Superintendent on the 1st October of the present year (1899).

Commissioners and Ministers of Agriculture.

The gentlemen who, as Commissioners and Ministers of Agriculture, have had control of the School and College since the Mimico site was purchased by the Hon. John Carling are: the Hon. Archibald McKellar, about four years (1871-1875); Hon. S. C. Wood, nearly eight years (1875-1883); Hon. James Young, a few months in 1883; Hon. A. M. Ross, about four and a half years (1883-1888); Hon. Charles Drury, first Minister of Agriculture, nearly two and a half years (May 1st, 1888, to September 1st, 1890), and Hon. John Dryden, second Minister of Agriculture, over nine years from September 1st, 1890.

It would be invidious to enter into a discussion of the work done by the different Commissioners and Ministers; but, without offence, we think it may be said that every one in the list devoted a great deal of time and anxious thought to the affairs of the College at Guelph, and did the work much better than it would have been done by any Board of Trustees or Governors.

Advisory Board.

In the early days (1874-1875), there was an Honorary Council to consult with the President and the management of the School. This Council consisted of the Hon. David Christie, Hon. George Brown, Hon. Archibald McKellar, Professors George Buckland, James Young, M.P., Delos, W. Beadle, Esq., and James Laidlaw, Esq. The Council disappeared when the Hon. S. C. Wood became Commissioner of Agriculture, and the Commissioner alone controlled the Institution, till the year 1885, when the Hon. A. M. Ross had an Advisory Board of practical farmers appointed to assist him from time to time, especially in matters pertaining to the management of the farm. This Board is still in existence, and consists of John I. Hobson, Guelph, chairman; C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, secretary; John McMillan, M.P., Constance, Huron Co.; William Donaldson, South Zorra, Oxford Co.; Edwards Jeffs, Bondhead, Simcoe Co.; G. B. Boyce, Norham, Northumberland Co.; and D. A. Dowling, Appleton, Carleton Co.

Strong and Weak Points.

One of the especially strong points of the institution, from 1874 to 1899, has been the thorough and persistently practical character of its work. Many United States Agricultural Colleges are agricultural only in name. They have placed agriculture in the background, and have broadened their courses so as to compete with arts colleges and universities. The Ontario Agricultural College has not done so, but has always insisted on manual labor, and has given special prominence to agriculture, live stock, dairying, horticulture, veterinary practice, and other branches of study which have a direct bearing on the ordinary work of the Canadian farmer. For a long period the farm management was severely criticised by the farmers of the province, and was often spoken of as the weak point of the institution; but in time the tide began to turn, and during later years the farm has been made an undoubted source of strength to the College.

One undoubted source of weakness, from the beginning till 1893 (for nineteen years), was divided, and necessarily conflicting, authority. It was a cause of trouble to the first Principal; in the form of a double headship, it led to the resignation of Mr. Johnston, the third Principal, in 1879; in the same form it caused endless friction from 1879 to 1888; and in other forms it endangered the institution at a later date. It was not till the summer of 1893, that the Government had the courage to give the President full control and make him responsible for everything, thus eliminating a serious element of weakness.

Another source of weakness has been the fact that throughout its history (commencing with the change of site) the College has been systematically and persistently discussed from the standpoint of provincial party politics. In the discussion, the institution has very often been very much misrepresented and injured; but by keeping free from politics and attending to its work it has at length established itself fairly well in public confidence and is beginning to receive a reasonable amount of sympathy and support from both political parties.

Courses of study, Diplomas, and Degrees.

The primary aim of the College always has been to train young men for work and life on the farms of the province. The course for an Associate diploma, extending over a period of two years, and including both study and practical work, has been arranged with this object in view; and nothing is allowed to interfere with this aim throughout the first two years of every regular student's course at the College. Those who complete this course and obtain the Associate diploma, signed by the Minister of Agriculture and President of the College, are known as "Associates of the College."

In 1887 a third year was added to the course, and the College was affiliated with the University of Toronto for advanced examinations and degrees. The addition was made at the request of Associates who wished to pursue their studies in certain departments for a longer time than was embraced in the Associate course, with a view to preparing themselves more fully for the work of the farm or for positions as agricultural writers and teachers of agriculture, horticulture, dairying, animal husbandry, chemistry, biology or entomology. The work for this additional year is heavy, and none but the best associates are allowed to take it. The examinations on the third year work are conducted by the University of Toronto, and the P.S.A. degree (Bachelor of the Science of Agriculture) is granted to the successful candidates at the annual commencement exercises of the University.

Ninety-eight degrees have been granted on the three-year course, and it has recently been decided to extend the course to four years—two years for the Associate diploma, and two additional years for the B.S.A. degree. This change is due to the fact that the additional work required for the degree has been found too heavy for one year.

A special course in dairying was announced for the 1st of February, 1893, and the attendance was so satisfactory that a new dairy building was at once erected, and the equipment for a permanent Dairy School promptly provided; so everything was ready for a large dairy class (over 100) in January, 1894. This school furnishes a very thorough course of theoretical and practical instruction in milk-testing, butter-making, and cheese-making, and is divided into two departments—one for home dairy work and the other for a factory course including both butter and cheese. A special dairy certificate is given to those who complete this course.

Equipment Then and Now.

From the beginning, the institution had a very fair equipment for instruction in field agriculture and stock-raising—550 acres of land and substantial farm buildings, with good samples (male and female) of cattle, sheep, and swine; three greenhouses and a large garden for instruction in horticulture, and two commodious classrooms for lectures and demonstrations on the subjects embraced in the course of study. A dairy building was erected in the early days, but little or no instruction in the subject was given for the first eleven years after the opening of the school.

Houses for the Farm Superintendent, the Bursar, the Gardener, and the Farm Foreman were erected and large additions to the main building made in the Hon. S. C. Wood's time. New farm buildings were erected while the Hon. A. M. Ross was Commissioner, and the chemical laboratory (the first laboratory provided) was built and equipped in 1887, near the close of Mr. Ross' commissioner-ship. The experimental barn was built while the Hon. Charles Drury was Minister of Agriculture; and the following large and important additions have been made during the regime of the Hon. John Dryden: New greenhouses, biological laboratory, convocation hall, dairy building (with complete equipment), and houses for the Department, poultry buildings and house for manager, physical laboratory, experimental building, bacteriological laboratory, buildings for Experimental Feeding Department, and a new chemical laboratory (the first having been burnt).

Present Attendance Overtaxes Capacity.

The number of students enrolled in the regular course this term is over a hundred and sixty-four, thirty of whom are lodging outside for war-room in the College.

Present Position.

With an able staff of instructors and workers, and such large and valuable additions in the way of buildings, apparatus and appliances, it may be surely said that the College is now in a good position to train young men for agricultural pursuits; to do work in original research; to conduct experiments on various lines, and to lead the van of agricultural and horticultural progress throughout the province.

The present equipment of the College may be briefly described as follows:

I.—For College Work.

A large and well furnished chemical building, containing a beautiful classroom and three commodious laboratories—one for first and second year students in general, agricultural and animal chemistry; another for third year students in quantitative work and a third for special investigations and research in connection with the dairy and experimental departments.

A large and well-assorted geological cabinet, especially arranged for purposes of instruction.

A well-equipped biological laboratory, with class-room and everything required for theoretical and practical work in botany, zoology, and general biology, including cabinets and specimens for the study of entomology, of that branch of science which treats of insects.

A large and well-equipped bacteriological laboratory for instruction in original work in the vast and highly important field of bacteriological research.

A good physical laboratory, with tables and all necessary appliances for practical instruction in dynamics, mechanics, hydrostatics, hydrodynamics, electricity, and soil physics.

General and special lecture-rooms for studying, handling, and judging live stock, especially cattle, sheep and horses, and for practical demonstrations in the veterinary art.

A complete set of greenhouses, with lecture-room and laboratory for instruction in horticulture.

Lecture-room, with all modern appliances for the illustration of lectures on dairying.

A lecture-room for instruction in English and mathematics.

II.—For Practical Work Illustrative of Lectures in the College.

A farm of 345 acres of land in fine condition, well tilled and well managed.

A complete set of farm buildings and an ample outfit of agricultural implements.

Representative specimens of the most valuable breeds of cattle, sheep and swine.

A large experimental building, and 43 acres of land, divided into about 2,000 plots for testing varieties of grains, roots, potatoes, and corn, and for experimenting as to different methods of cultivation, dates of seeding, kinds of seed, value of artificial fertilizers, etc.

Special stable, piggeries, and yards for experiments in feeding cattle, pigs and sheep.

A separate dairy stable and a special herd of thirty cows for experiments in dairying.

Butter, cheese, and milk-testing rooms, with the latest and best appliances for butter-making, cheese-making, and milk-testing, and the pasteurization of milk and cream.

Two rooms devoted to experimental cheese-making for nine months of the year, and to work in the dairy school for the remaining three months.

Large and well-arranged poultry-buildings, with twenty varieties of the most valuable hens, for practical instruction in the breeding, feeding, and management of poultry.

Sixty-three acres of land, including lawn, arboretum, forest-tree plantations, vegetable garden, vinery, small fruit garden, and orchards, for instruction and practical work in horticulture.

A carpenter shop, with benches and tools for plain work and general repairs.

Course of Study.

The course of study is liberal and very practical, specially adapted to the wants of young men who intend to be farmers. It embraces agriculture, arboriculture, live stock, dairying, poultry, bee-keeping, chemistry, geology, botany, zoology, entomology, bacteriology, horticulture, veterinary science, English literature and composition, arithmetic, mensuration, drawing, mechanics, electricity, book-keeping, and political economy. French and German have recently been added for the B.S.A. degree. The purely practical or bread-and-butter subjects are well taught. The work in English is thorough, and the course in natural science is equal to that in our best arts colleges.

Outside Work.

Already the College has rendered excellent service to the province at large by the publication of reports and bulletins from year to year, and in several outside departments of work:

(1) The Experimental Union of ex-students and others in testing manures and varieties of grain, grasses, roots, potatoes, and other crops throughout the province—about 3,500 of them working under the direction of C. A. Zavitz, B.S.A., the College Experimentalist.

(2) The Farmers' Institutes, organized and controlled by the President of the College for ten years, and assisted by the College staff from their inception to the present time.

(3) Travelling Dairies, sent out from the College, controlled by the President, and conducted by graduates of the College.

(4) Dairy schools, east and west, under the control of the President.

(5) Fruit Experiment Stations, twelve of them and two sub-stations, testing varieties of fruit under various conditions of soil and climate throughout the province, and preparing a description of Canadian fruits, under the control of a small Board, of which the President of the College is chairman, and the College Professor of Horticulture a member.

With due regard to modesty and professional etiquette, I think I may say that, through these organizations and in other ways, the College is imparting a great deal of useful information to the farmers of Ontario, is creating a widespread interest in agriculture, and is adding dignity to life and labor on the farm.

A Forward Movement Needed.

Progress has been the watchword of the College in the past, and it would seem that the time has come for another forward movement. Increased accommodation for students is very much needed, and there is a growing demand for instruction in domestic economy for farmers' daughters; so it would appear to be the duty of the province to provide at once the new building which the ex-students asked for last year, and to add without further delay a large and well-equipped Department of Domestic Economy.

THE FUTURE OF THE ONTARIO AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

By Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, and ex-Chemist of the Ontario Agricultural College.

Mr. James referred particularly to two points in connection with the training of the students in the future. He thought that special instruction should be given in what might be called the study of "citizenship," so that when the students leave the College to become farmers they would at the same time be qualified at once to step into municipal life well equipped as to the duties and privileges of citizens. They should have an acquaintance with Canadian history, and be well grounded in municipal administration. They should be directed to take an intelligent interest in public questions, political, educational, and social. In the second place, he thought more attention might with advantage be given to the special training of the students for Farmers' Institute work. Every student on leaving the College should have in his head and in his pocket at least two practical addresses or papers that he could give at Farmers' Institute meetings and defend against critics. These papers should be prepared under the direction of the staff and have been discussed before the students and staff. Many hints could be given to the students that would be exceedingly valuable in preparing for such work.

Beyond these two pieces of advice or suggestion he did not venture to prophesy. As the future, however, is largely the outcome of the past, he could only look for a most prosperous development of the institution, since after a varied experience the College has become so firmly established in the estimation of the class for which it was instituted.

AREA AND POPULATION.

The total area of Canada, including its lakes and rivers as well as its land is 3,653,946 square miles.

The population of the Dominion of Canada is estimated to be at present 5,083,424. The following figures for provinces and districts are taken from the census of 1891: Ontario, 2,114,321; Quebec, 1,483,525; Nova Scotia, 321,263; New Brunswick, 321,263; Manitoba, 152,506; British Columbia, 18,173; Prince Edward Island 109,078; North-West Territories, 98,957; Territories east of Hudson Bay, unknown, making a total of 4,833,230.

Prince Edward Island is the smallest province in the Dominion, but it is more than twice as thickly populated as any other province, the proportion being 54.5 persons to the square mile. Nova Scotia comes next with 22.0 persons to the square mile. The following is the order in which the provinces stand according to density of population, as ascertained by the census of 1891:

Density of Population in Canada.

Prince Edward Island . . . . .	54.5
Nova Scotia . . . . .	22.0
New Brunswick . . . . .	11.4
Ontario . . . . .	10.0
Quebec . . . . .	6.5
Manitoba . . . . .	2.4
British Columbia . . . . .	0.3

Canada is a young country, with an enormous territory in the North-West only recently brought into the Dominion, compares very favorably in railway facilities with the old world and the United States. There were 16,717 miles of railway in operation on the 30th of June, 1898, and 16,870 miles of track laid.

Canada has 166 railways. Twenty-five of these have been amalgamated and form the Grand Trunk System. Twenty-three others have been consolidated into the Canadian Pacific System. The remaining 118 have, more or less, consolidated. Two of these are bridge companies, with 3 1-8 miles of rails, one is a tunnel, with 2 1-4 miles of rails, and nine are electric railways with 114 miles of rails. The mileage of these several organizations is:

Canadian Pacific . . . . .	6,300.71
Grand Trunk. . . . .	3,161.98
Intercolonial and Prince Edward Island. . . . .	1,355.46
Other railways. . . . .	5,982.88

Electric railways (nine) .. ..	113.61
Bridges and tunnels .. .. .	5.56
Total .. .. .	16,870.20

As a rule, the railways of Canada are built with a gauge of 4 feet 8 1-2 inches. The exceptions are the Carillon, Grenville, thirteen miles, with a gauge of 5 feet 6 inches; the Prince Edward Island railway, with a gauge of 3 feet 6 inches; the Montford Colonization, 21 miles, with a gauge of 4 feet 6 inches; and the Alberta coal railways, 64 miles, with a gauge of 3 feet.

NEW ONTARIO.

The annual influx of settlers into this continent is rapidly filling up the free grant districts, which are so attractive to the dwellers of the overpopulated countries of Europe. In the United States there are no longer any free grant lands, every acre has to be purchased by the settler with hard cash, frequently at more than its actual value. But Canada still extends a welcome with open arms to the stranger from across the ocean. In the northern districts of the pre-ponderant province of the Dominion, known as New Ontario, there are homes, and happy homes, for thousands of the toilers of the old land. New Ontario comprises the Districts of Nipissing, Temiscaming, Algoma, Thunder Bay, Wabigoon, and Rainy River.

These districts comprise a vast territory, and it is doubtful if any country in the world can present greater advantages to settlers of the right sort. To the poor man, who wishes to rise above his poverty, and has intelligence and strength, who is not afraid of hard work for a rich reward, it offers cheap and fertile lands, a healthful climate, and ultimate competency as a reward for his labors. This is no lawless territory, but has all the advantages of settled institutions, and a good government, freedom from war's alarms, and the conscript system of European countries, and from the incursions of savage tribes. In Northern Ontario, life and property are as safe as in England, and freedom prevails under the British flag.

While the settler's life in any new district is not devoid of hardships, the immigrant to New Ontario has child's play compared to what the settler of Old Ontario had two or three generations ago in hewing out his home from the primeval forests. A man with some knowledge of farming, with industry and self-denial, a clear head and strong arms, can make a home for himself and family, can obtain immediate material comforts, and the prospects, after a few years of labor, of a competency.

One of the great advantages offered in New Ontario is the fact that the settler can obtain abundance of well-paid employment throughout the year, thus enabling him to realize ready money while he is putting in part of his time in clearing his farm. He can obtain employment in cutting and hauling pulpwood and cordwood, railway ties, posts and telegraph poles, and tanbark, getting out pine logs under contract for lumbermen, and working on Government roads and bridges.

The climate of New Ontario is temperate compared with that of many of the thickly inhabited and prosperous parts of the new and old world. There is an entire absence of fever and ague, and there is no malarial disease whatever, making this district one of the most healthy countries under the sun. Nor is this immunity from disease its only advantage. It is attractive to the immigrant on account of the cheapness of the land and the fertility of the soil. It is a first-class country for live stock and dairying. All the crops of the temperate zone can be successfully raised. There are immense mineral resources and incalculable forest wealth. There is a great variety of industries and constant winter employment, cheap building material, fuel for the cutting, and fruit for the picking. There are fine fisheries and an abundance of game. There is water communication and good railway accommodation. There are religious and educational advantages. There are good local markets, and facilities for reaching foreign industrial centers.

The Wabigoon country, in Rainy River District, is attracting much attention at present. The agricultural section lies midway between Fort William, on Lake Superior to the east, and the city of Winnipeg to the west. The Canadian Pacific railway passes through the district, and the fertile land extends for forty miles along the railway line from Dinorwic to Eagle river. It is estimated that the area of good agricultural land in this district is about 170,000 acres, of which about 30,000 have been located. The Ontario Government was the pioneer of the Wabigoon country. In the spring of 1895 the Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, with the eye of an experienced farmer, selected a site for a house and barn and commenced farming operations with the view of testing the agricultural capabilities of the section. A small crop was put in that summer, consisting of wheat, oats, barley, grass, and a few roots. In the early summer a warm, comfortable house was built, such as any settler of moderate means might erect. Later, a basement barn, with the necessary accommodation, was added. At the present time there are 130 acres cleared and stumped, so that all kinds of labor-saving machinery can be used to the best advantage. The farm is surrounded by a substantial cedar post and wire fence. The farm buildings are across the railway track and almost opposite the railway station at Dryden. Mr. D. Anderson, who visited the farm in 1898, said: "As I stood at the back of the farm and looked at the railway station, a pleasing rural scene filled the eye. A fifty-acre field of oats just beginning to shoot, another field of heavy spring wheat and barley waving in the wind, and just beyond, the dark green of a healthy field of Swede turnips; a flock of Shropshire sheep were nibbling in the home field next the barn, while half a dozen useful milch cows were industriously grazing the young, tender grass which recent rains had caused to cover the pasture fields, while the farm team was just finishing the ploughing of a ten-acre fallow field that had been grubbed, stumped, and burned this summer. The Pioneer Farm has demonstrated very clearly the excellent agricultural advantages of this section by changing in a few short years wild waste land to clean fields and a well cultivated farm."

This district presents special advantages to the farmer. Generally speaking, the soil consists of a strong clay of greyish color, changing in lower lying sections to a clay loam or occasionally even lighter soil. It is remarkably free from stone, and pulverises quickly when turned to the sun and air. On the creek bottoms the soil is very rich, and heavily timbered, making the clearing more difficult. On the rolling upland the clay is of a drier nature, and will require much more rain or moisture than in loamier soil in the same neighborhood, and perhaps either manure or green crops will have to be ploughed in to put life into and quicken it before it will give the best of results.

A striking feature of this district is the abundance and excellence of the water supply, and the water is pure and good. Water can be had for the digging on almost every farm at from ten to twenty-five feet. Wabigoon lake, a beautiful sheet of water, lies not quite a mile south of the railway track. It is almost thirty miles long by four or six miles wide, and it is dotted with picturesque islands. Its shores are well wooded, and it contains a plentiful supply of fish, including white fish, maskinonge, herring, pike, and pickerel. From the lake the Wabigoon river, a broad navigable stream, with abundant water power, flows north and west through the townships of Wainwright, Eaton, and Sandford. The Pelican river flows from Pelican lake, in the township of Rugby, through that township and four or five miles into the township of Eaton, where it joins the Wabigoon. The township of Aubrey is bounded on one side by Eagle lake. The district is abundantly watered. There is no fear in this region of the disastrous droughts that afflict some of the Western States of the Union.

Every prospective settler naturally enquires about the timber of the region where he intends making his home, for the timber on his newly-acquired land will either prove a source of profit or an obstacle to his farming. In the Wabigoon district, the timber consists of a growth of small poplars, a few spruce, with here and there a tamarac, but the greater bulk of the timber is jack pine—a resinous fir that predominates throughout the whole country. The settler, on his first arrival, can make very good wages cutting jack pine into cordwood, for which there is always a ready cash sale at from $1.15 to $1.80 per cord delivered at the nearest railway station. Tamarac ties, eight feet long, sell at twenty-five cents each, while ties of the same material twelve feet long, are worth forty cents. Large sections of the country have been burned over and are ready for the plough. Where the timber has been burned off the land is growing up with native grass and wild peas, showing that the soil is only awaiting the arrival of the settler to give him an abundant return for his labor.

While Wabigoon presents advantages to the farmer in growing wheat, barley, oats and root crops, it is as a dairying and stock-raising section that it offers particular attractions. Clover and grasses grow most prolifically, the former producing two crops a year. Fine natural pasture is supplied in the prairie grass and wild peas, while cattle thrive on the wold hay to be obtained in all the creek bottoms. In this district summer frosts are unknown. Ploughing usually begins about the last week in April and finishes about the second week in November. Generally, the seeding is done about the first week in May.

The products of the Pioneer Farm give a fair idea of the capabilities of the district. Fall wheat, Dawson's Golden Chaff, yielded from twenty to twenty-five bushels per acre; Colorado spring wheat, about twenty; Harrison's bearded, about twelve. The clover in fall wheat, sown early in May, at the time of putting in wheat, was in full bloom, from one and a half to two feet high. Clover is cut twice in the season, the first crop about two tons, and the second one ton per acre. Potatoes yield 213 bushels per acre. Mr. Duncan Anderson, a practical farmer, having inspected the Wabigoon district, made the following report: "From what I have seen, I know from my own experience in clearing land, that a working farmer of moderate means, with an industrious family (if not afraid of flies for a few weeks in the heat of summer for the first few years, and other drawbacks incident to pioneer life), can in five or six years have 100 acres cleared and free from both stumps and stones. Thus many men who are now forced to work for others, if they were to put forth an effort and deny themselves some of the luxuries of life, could, in a few years, become independent, by having a very comfortable farm home of their own in the Wabigoon country."

Outside of the Pioneer Farm, it is well to mark some other yields of crops. The following reliable figures show the remarkable fertility of these northern regions: Slate river, ten acres of oats, 1,100 bushels; Oliver, 847 bushels of potatoes per acre; McIntyre, 1,500 bushels of turnips per acre; Oliver, 45 bushels of wheat per acre; Pigeon river, 4 1-2 tons of timothy per acre; Farm station, Port Arthur, red table carrots, 647 bushels per acre; Rowler, Port Arthur, celery, forty-five and a half tons per acre.

After a description of this desirable region, marked by its fertility and agricultural advantages, the question naturally arises, how can a man of moderate means acquire a farm. The Ontario Government being anxious to reserve the land for the bona fide settler, and to prevent it falling into the hands of speculators, where it might remain unproductive to the detriment of settlement, have decided upon the following conditions: That the amount of land each applicant may purchase shall not exceed 160 acres; but if a head of a family he is allowed to increase his purchase to 240 acres; that the price paid shall be 50 cents an acre, one-fourth down and the balance in three equal annual instalments with interest at six per cent. The settler will be required to clear and put under cultivation at least ten per cent. of the land purchased and to erect a habitable house of not less than 16 by 20 feet. When this has been done and the purchaser has resided on the land for at least six months in each of the three years, or for two years continuously, and has fully paid for the same, he may obtain his patent. Settlers without means are bound to meet obstacles difficult to overcome; but in this district, with perseverance, they can earn a larger income than elsewhere, and with economy they can lay by an annual surplus that will enable them in the course of a few years to purchase a farm for themselves and have, what they could not expect elsewhere, a comfortable home and a productive farm on which to end their days.

The chief advantages of the Wabigoon country may be described in a few words. There is cheap land, which can be easily cleared. The main line of the Canadian Pacific railway passes right through the agricultural belt, practically bringing the market to every farmer's door. There is sufficient timber for building, fencing, and fuel. There is a good soil, an abundant supply of pure water, and a healthy climate. There is plenty of fish and game to supply the needs of the settler. There is winter employment in the lumber camp, also hauling and chopping cordwood.

The superintendent of the Pioneer Farm, Mr. A. E. Annis, whose post-office is Dryden, Ont., is also the Crown Lands agent, and will be found prepared to give information and assistance to those who are looking for a new home, and all intending purchasers should apply to him for the information they may require.

THE BATTLE OF LUNDY'S LANE.

The Battle of Lundy's Lane marks an epoch in Canadian history, and an epoch of which all Canadians are proud. The battle occurred on the evening of the 25th of July, 1814, and resulted in a decisive victory for the Canadian and British forces. The contest raged four hours; at one time the Americans gained a slight advantage and captured (for a brief period only) a few of our guns. Before midnight the guns were recaptured, the enemy were in full retreat, and the Canadian held possession of the field. The anniversary of the Battle of Lundy's Lane is celebrated each year with becoming ceremony, and in fact the celebration is attracting more attention as time goes on. The United Empire Loyalists of Canada have been largely instrumental in developing and increasing this interest, and in this connection it is only right to mention the prominent part always taken by the Chief Magistrate of Toronto, Lieutenant Colonel George T. Dension. The Lundy's Lane Historical Society has done excellent work in keeping green the memory of this momentous episode in our early national life. The officers of this society are: President, Canon G. A. Bull, M.A., Niagara Falls South, Ont.; Vice-President, John A. Lee, Esq., Niagara Falls South; Recording Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. Superintendent Wilson, N. F. Park, Niagara Falls South; Corresponding Secretary, the Venerable Archdeacon Houston, M.A., Niagara Falls.

Card money was introduced into Canada in 1688; the decimal system was adopted in public accounts in 1857, and Canadian silver coinage was issued in 1859.

Slavery was gradually extinguished in Upper Canada by an act of the Legislature passed July 9, 1793, but slavery still existed in York on March 1, 1811.

The Halifax Gazette, the pioneer Canadian newspaper, issued its first number on March 23, 1752; the Toronto Globe in 1827, The Toronto Leader in 1853, and The Toronto Mail in 1873.

Canadians on a trip to Europe are in the habit of speaking of themselves and being addressed as "Americans." This bad habit should cease; remember you are a Canadian from Canada, and take care that others remember it too.

An order-in-council has been passed providing that dutiable commercial samples from the United Kingdom or other British country accompanying a commercial traveller through an intermediate country into Canada, may be entered at the Custom House under the British preferential tariff upon proof by certificate or affidavit to the satisfaction of the collector at the port of entry that the samples are bona fide the produce of the manufacture of the United Kingdom or other British country admitted to the benefits of the British preferential tariff in Canada.

PULP MILLS IN ONTARIO.

The Government of the Province of Ontario has granted to the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company the right to select as a reserve 40 square miles of spruce and other woods suitable for pulp, with the further privilege of cutting pulp wood on territory five miles on either side of the Spanish River and tributaries. It is said that this practically gives the company control of over 2,500 square miles of territory.

In consideration of the grant, the company agrees to erect within three years pulp and paper mills costing $500,000. The grant is for 40 years, and the mills are to be located on the Canadian Pacific Railway, about 100 miles west of this city.

Another grant for 40 square miles was given to the Blanch River Pulp and Paper Company, and an additional right to cut pulp wood on the Blanch River and tributaries. The company agrees to erect within three years mills costing $250,000. These will be located on the Canadian Pacific Railway, about 314 miles west of Montreal. A grant was also given to the Nipigon Pulp, Paper, and Manufacturing Company, on the Nipigon River, near the north shore of Lake Superior. All the companies will use water power from the falls on the rivers on which they are located.

Citizens of the United States, as well as Canadians, are interested in each of the companies.

ANGLO - CANADIAN COMMERCIAL RELATIONS.

In discussing the commercial relations of Canada and Great Britain at the Canadian Club dinner in New York, Mr. Ross, the Ontario Premier, said: "If the Canadian seller in the British market had a preference of 10 per cent, or even 5 per cent, over the United States seller, the effect upon Canadian trade would be simply incalculable. Apply it to the millions of bushels of wheat which England buys with which to feed her subjects, and let the Canadian agriculturist on the prairie feel that he has the advantage over the United States agriculturist, then you would speedily see our prairies filled with a teeming population, and the wheat trade of America change its course. The same would apply to the products of our forests and our mines. I hope such a preference may some day be given to us, although British statesmen as yet have not shown any disposition to consider it seriously. I know of nothing Britain could do that would be more helpful to us in building up Canada, and strengthening the relations between us and the Mother Country."

A remarkably prosperous showing is made for 1899 by the Hudson Bay Company. Indeed we do not know that it ever made a better one. The directors declare a dividend of 15 shillings per share, and a bonus of 10 shillings, in all 25 shillings, as against 20 shillings the year before. The dividend and bonus is equal to 9½ per cent. on the capital stock, as compared with 7½ per cent. for the previous year. In addition, the company has set aside £10,000 sterling for the employees' benefit fund, £10,000 to the insurance reserve fund, and carries forward £50,000, as compared with £42,000 in the previous year.

Mr. McNicoll, the General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, estimates that the Western crops will be 15 per cent. better than those of last year. This is a hopeful report; with the grazing, the wheat-raising, the mining, and the fishing, 1900 should be a record year. We shall close the century well. Just imagine; when this century commenced, there was a little fringe of settlement on the St. Lawrence and Lake Ontario. All back of that was dense forest. Now the country is a huge garden, and we have extended to the Pacific, with high hopes as to the future all along the line.

Canada has no need of a Passmore Edwards. According to Mr. James Bain, Chief Librarian of the Toronto Public Library, there are as many as 511 public libraries in the Dominion, containing 2,420,577 volumes. By Provinces they are distributed as follows: Nova Scotia, nine libraries, 90,020 volumes; Prince Edward Island, two libraries, 7,500 volumes; New Brunswick, six libraries, 50,530 volumes; Quebec, forty libraries, 670,025 volumes; Ontario, 439 libraries, 1,287,667 volumes; Manitoba, four libraries, 46,435 volumes; Northwest Territories, one library, 3,500 volumes; British Columbia, five libraries, 16,900 volumes; Government libraries, five, containing 250,000 volumes. Ontario and British Columbia alone of all the Provinces have adopted the principle of public libraries.

THE GOLD OUTPUT.

The position of the Klondike field may be gauged by the yield of the last three years, which is approximately as follows:—

1897 .....	$ 2,500,000
1898 .....	10,000,000
1899 .....	16,000,000
	$28,500,000

Mr. McConnell devotes a special chapter to the characteristics of each of the main creeks, and the report contains interesting illustrations of the region, and is furnished with an admirable map. Copies may be had free of charge on application to the office of the High Commissioner for Canada, 17 Victoria Street, London, S.W.

EXPENDITURE PER CAPITA.

It is generally understood that the increase in the annual expenditure has been chiefly caused by additional services, such as the Yukon District and Intercolonial Railway extension to Montreal, which did not exist under former Governments; and that this increased expenditure adds nothing to the burdens of the people, inasmuch as the services produce large increases on the revenue side of their account.

But even if this view were left aside, and only the total annual expenditure chargeable to income considered, the statement is a very favorable one. The following is a statement of expenditure per capita for twenty years:

The total exports of Canada for the year ending June 30th last were $175,656,947, or $46,440,165 over 1896, which year showed an increase over 1878 of $40,638,618.

The greatest proportional increase over 1896 was in agricultural products, over 95 per cent. In animals and their products 53 per cent. In manufactures 47 per cent., and in no case has there been a decrease.

The following statement is taken from Mr. Fielding's Budget Speech. Mr. Fielding considers the total trade of the country for three distinct periods: first, the period from 1868 to 1878, which was a period of low tariff. Second, the period from 1878 to 1896, which was a period of high tariff. Third, the period from 1896 to 1899, under the present moderate revenue tariff.

THE CATTLE TRADE.

IMPORTATION OF LIVE STOCK.

The importation of horses and mules, cattle, sheep and swine into the Dominion reported during the past season was as follows:—

Horses and mules.....	3,260
Cattle .....	3,178
Sheep .....	13,925
Swine.....	1,589

The above were brought in at various points as shown in detail in the official reports of the Chief Veterinary inspector.

EXPORTATION OF LIVE STOCK TO EUROPE.

The exportation of live stock from Canadian ports for the year ended October 31, 1899, was as follows:—

Horses.....	4,980
Cattle .....	97,014
Sheep .....	62,308
Swine .....	174

EXPORTATION OF CATTLE TO THE UNITED STATES.

The numbers of Canadian cattle exported to the United States during the three previous years, were as follows:—

1896.....	1,646
*1897.....	57,857
*1898.....	88,605
*1899.....	85,240

The figures of the last three years indicate that the removal of the old regulations which required a quarantine detention of ninety days on cattle entering the United States from Canada has enabled the farmers and stock-raisers of the Dominion to find a large market in the United States for their live stock. The total value of the last year's export to the United States of Canadian cattle amounted to $1,269,020.

THE EXPORT TRADE.

The export commerce of Canada in most of the farm products is increasing at a very rapid rate. The following comparative statement of the value of the exports of some of the farm products of Canada during the years 1896 to 1899, shows the growth in that short period and indicates somewhat of the great possibility for further expansion of this trade;—

TRANSMISSION OF WATER POWER.

By J. A. Kammerer, Toronto.

Canada being the birthplace of the electric telephone, and the electric incandescent lamp, and also the arena of some of the earliest efforts in the practical application of electric power for the propulsion of street railway cars, it seems fitting that it should be also in Canada where should be made the first practical application of the transmission of electric energy over long distances from water powers to centres of manufacture. It also seems proper that the Canadian Year Book, a chronicler of facts, should have, for the benefit of the layman rather than the engineer, a general resume of the progress in development of our immense water powers by the utilization of them for growth and promotion of the different industries requiring the application of power, and the transmission of this power by electricity.

Those water powers, before the advent of electricity, had been inaccessible owing to their situation, or could not be profitably utilized by any of the known methods of transmission; or were unavailable because of the lack of facilities for the proper handling of raw materials and the finished products where the powers were located, and still more because of the inability to carry the power to the already well-established manufacturing centres. These difficulties have all been happily overcome by the advent of multi-phase electricity, and its application for the transmission of power over long distances, and now Canada can boast of more hydraulic-developed and electrically-transmitted horse power per capita of population than any other country under the sun.

Canadians had the honor to project and have in daily commercial operation the longest distance electrical transmission plant on earth at the time, and has in daily use at this writing the largest dynamos for the generation of electric power ever built, and they were built in Canada. This is a matter of sincere congratulation to Canadians, and should forever set at rest the idea that Canada cannot stand alone, or that as a nation it is not progressive and up-to-date.

The earliest application of electricity for purely power purposes in Canada, transmitted any considerable distance, is perhaps, the plant of the Barber Bros., near Georgetown, where a direct current electric plant was put in at a water power situated about two miles from their woollen mills; of this, 50 horse-power was transmitted, and used to supplement their steam plant, but this was never enlarged, owing to the difficulty experienced incidental to the transmission of the low tension direct current, and also the great loss of energy in driving over the lines at such a low pressure. This plant, however, is a pioneer, and was put in operation in 1890, and is still in daily use.

From 1890 to 1894 very little was done in Canada by way of utilizing water powers for the transmission of power by electricity, but the rapid development, beginning about that time, of the high tension multi-phase alternating current apparatus, was making great advances, and the Montmorency Power Co., of Quebec, who were utilizing the Falls of Montmorency, situated nine miles from Quebec city, to drive their arc and incandescent electric lighting machinery, decided to construct an up-to-date multi-phase electric plant, generate the current at a high tension at the Montmorency Falls, drive it to Quebec, and there re-transform it into energy and use it through multi-phase motors to drive their arc and incandescent lighting machines as well as their power machinery. Their first installation had a capacity of 4,000 horse-power, and as that proved eminently successful, they have been enlarging their plant, and now supply the Quebec District railway, and many factories, elevators, etc., with power and light, their present capacity being about 8,000 horse-power, which is shortly to be enlarged.

In this plant was used the highest tension current which up to that time had been put into successful operation, viz., 5,600 volts. This current was generated by the dynamos direct, and generators were at that time considered a marvel that would withstand this immense pressure.

The generators used by them are of the S.K.C. Inductor type, which were the only machines that would admit of the generation of this high current within themselves, and was a decided step toward bringing into use electric power transmitted from afar.

Following this installation by the Montmorency Co. came that of the North Shore Power Co., of Three Rivers, Que., who had a water power at Batisan Chute, 16 miles away, where they developed hydraulically and transmitted by electricity to the city of Three Rivers about 1,000 horse-power, which is utilized in driving the city lighting machinery, with motors, as well as driving the water works pumps and other industries requiring power. The distance in this case was seven miles further than from Montmorency Falls to Quebec. It was decided that in order to get a loss that would make the transmission a commercial success it was necessary to use higher pressure than at Quebec in order to decrease the cost of the copper on the transmission line. This was accomplished by what is known as step-up transformers, the current coming from the generator at a pressure of 2,400 volts, then being transformed or stepped up to 12,000 volts, transmitted sixteen miles, and then, by a similar translating device reduced to an ordinary working pressure of 2,400 volts. This was found to work admirably, and the entire plant as installed at that time has been continuously in successful operation.

The generators used in this plant throughout, as well as the translating devices, are of what is known as the S.K.C. System, manufactured by the Royal Electric Company of Montreal.

The next large transmission of power undertaken was that by the Lachine Hydraulic and Land Company, of Montreal, Que., who dammed the north shore of the St. Lawrence river, and had in operation, in the fall of 1897, a plant conveying power to Montreal, six miles away. The capacity of their development is about 15,000 horse-power. It is a notable development owing to the manner in which the power is obtained and the dam was constructed, that is, instead of the river being completely dammed only part of the river was put under tribute by a wing dam, taking in only a part of the river, and while this was quite an engineering feat, and has been in operation for some time, it was found necessary to instal an auxiliary steam plant in the city of Montreal, owing to danger experienced from anchor or frazile ice.

The next installation of importance begun was that of the Chambly Manufacturing Company, who are utilizing the Richelieu river at Chambly Rapids, eighteen miles from Montreal, and who began work in the fall of 1896 and are now transmitting power into the city of Montreal. Their hydraulic development is over 25,000 horse-power.

This plant is particularly notable, as being at the time of its inception the largest single development of power in North America, and also the only plant, and is the only plant, at this writing, that generates primarily in its dynamos a current of a pressure of 12,500 volts. This current is transmitted directly over the wires into Montreal, a distance of eighteen miles, and is there transformed from this pressure of 12,500 volts to the ordinary working pressure of 2,400 volts through the medium of translating devices called step-down transformers.

These generators are referred to in the first part of this article as being the largest that have ever been built anywhere, and are the largest in use to-day. They weigh over 115 tons same speed as those in use by the Niagara Falls Power Company at Niagara Falls, N.Y., would have an output each, and if they were operated at the same speed as those in use by The Niagara Falls Power Company at Niagara Falls, N.Y., would have an output capacity of over 7,500 horse-power each.

These generators, as well as the entire electrical equipment of this plant, were built and installed by the Royal Electric Company of Montreal, every piece being built and finished in their shops, and these being, as above stated, the largest electrical machines in existence, speak only, as they alone can speak, of the capacity of the Canadian manufacturer to cope with anything in the line of machinery that is to be built, and will stand as a lasting monument to the company building them as an engineering feat, and marking an epoch as a radical departure in dynamo building which will stand out as bold in the future in the electric power transmission as does the telephone in the electrical transmission of sound.

Up to this time the longest distance over which power had been transmitted electrically was about eighteen miles, and the highest pressure 12,500 volts, but in the summer of 1896 the Cataract Power Company, of Hamilton, who had acquired certain water rights near the city of St. Catharines, desired to develop the hydraulic power and bring the electric energy to the city of Hamilton, a distance of between thirty-five and thirty-eight miles. The ground was gone over carefully by hydraulic engineers, and it was found that they could secure a head of 270 feet.

and the transmission of the same from the power-house to the city of Hamilton, presented at that time a seemingly unsurmountable obstacle to the carrying out of the scheme, no transmission of energy such a long distance for commercial purposes having up to that time been undertaken. The largest electrical concerns both in America and Europe were consulted, but the limitation of a practical working pressure sufficiently great to insure the transmission of power such a long distance, practically precluded the undertaking of the work, by any of the companies consulted, the highest commercial working pressure, up to that time, being not above 12,500 volts.

At this pressure the cost of the transmission line became so great that the Cataract Power Company did not feel warranted to undertake the development of the enterprise. The longer the distance, the heavier the conductor must be: therefore to transmit this long distance, it was necessary that the pressure be 20,000 volts or over, so that the cost of the conductor would be within the limit set to allow the Cataract Power Company to undertake the development of the enterprise. After nearly a year of futile attempts to have the work undertaken at a pressure which would justify them in proceeding with the work, and being unsuccessful, they consulted J. A. Kammerer, one of the staff of the Royal Electric Company of Montreal, and after careful consideration of the conditions and preliminary estimates of cost prepared by him, with a working pressure of 24,000 volts guaranteed, the Royal Electric Company agreed to undertake the work which, with its consequent saving, brought the cost within the limits deemed necessary by the Cataract Power Company to admit of the enterprise being proceeded with.

Ground was broken on October 5th, 1897, and the work pushed with such vigor that the current was sent over the lines from DeCew Falls to Hamilton on the afternoon of August 25th, 1898, or just ten months and ten days after the beginning of the undertaking, and it has been in successful operation, without a moment's intermission, to the present writing.

The generating plant, which had originally a capacity of 3,000 horse-power, is now being increased to 50,000 horse-power, and at this writing surveys are being made to increase it to 50,000 horse-power, and Hamilton, the city where the power is transmitted to, which had been before the advent of the Cataract Power Company a city of small manufacturers, and a city of smoke and dust, has now become a practically smokeless city, or, as suitably termed by an eminent writer, "a smokeless city in a coalless province."

This enterprise, at the time it was undertaken, and at its completion, and when power was first transmitted over the lines, was the longest distance and the highest pressure then known in practical commercial operation and has changed the city of Hamilton from a smoky manufacturing town to one of the brightest and cleanest cities in Canada, and the growth of its manufacturing industries since the advent of electrically-transmitted power has been phenomenal. The different factories already established, and those negotiating for power, will show a consumption of in the near future of 40,000 horse-power, and it certainly serves to, and is, making Hamilton the manufacturing centre of the Dominion of Canada.

Another example of transmission of hydraulic power by electricity is that of the West Kootenay Power Company, of Rossland, B.C. This plant is situated at Bonington Falls, sixteen miles north of Nelson, B.C. It was projected and built under exceptionally severe physical conditions, and has, no doubt, done more to cheapen mining in the mountain districts than anything else, the mines being so far away from the railways, and as the cost of hauling fuel over the rough mountain roads to the mines, in order to drive steam engines and air compressors, made it impracticable in most cases to operate the property at a profit, but now, with the advent of electric power, they have become exceptionally valuable, and which, without the possibility of long-distance transmission of electrical energy by electricity, would never have been developed. The present electrical equipment of the West Kootenay Company consists of two 1,000 horse-power and one 1,500 horse-power revolving Field type generators, delivering current at 1,000 volts, stepping it up through the usual translating devices to 20,000 volts and transmitting it to the Rossland mining camp, about thirty-five miles distant, and to Nelson, about seventeen miles away.

At Rossland, the power is used principally for lighting and motor power, and at Nelson it is also used for lighting and motor power, and the tramway company are operating their rotary converters, from which is supplied the power for their street railway.

Another transmission plant is that of the British Columbia Electric Company, from Gold Stream to Victoria, a distance of twelve and one-half miles, 1,000 horse-power. The current is generated at 700 volts, stepping up to 12,500 volts, transmitted to Victoria and there converted into 1,000 volts for lighting, and to 350 volts for their rotary converters for street railway apparatus. This plant is another instance of an existing property operating by steam, who, with the advent of poly-phase electricity, were able to discard their steam plant, or rather to keep it as an auxiliary, and operate their lights, power and street railway apparatus from a water power twelve miles away. The water used in this plant has a fall of 600 feet, or rather an available head of 6.0 feet.

The Cascade power plant of Cascade, B.C., is under construction now. The dam is almost completed. The head which they will operate under is 168 feet, and they expect to develop 8,000 horse-power and transmit the same electricity to Grand Forks, 14 miles away, and to Greenwood 25 miles away. The right of way has all been secured and is being cleared. They expect to be ready with their power in August of this year. The hydraulic and electric equipment will be of the latest and most up-to-date pattern, and the contracts for the same are shortly to be let.

The proposed transmission plant of the Stave Lake Power Company, another British Columbia concern, is now under consideration, and upon which work will shortly be started. Their available head of water is 108 feet, and the minimum horse-power they expect to develop is 17,000. It is proposed to transmit this power thirty-nine miles to Vancouver, and thirty-four miles to New Westminster. This will be, when completed, the longest distance power transmission plant in Canada.

About two years ago the corporation of the town of Orillia began an agitation for a municipal power plant to furnish cheap power to its already existing energy-consuming industries, and also to attract manufacturers and make it an object by offering them the inducement of cheap power to locate there. The town of Orillia was one of the first to supply an incandescent service to its citizens. This, at the time of the putting in of the plant, was a very radical departure from established practices, but the plant, as put in, has been in successful operation for the past six years, and it is said to be a paying investment for the corporation.

This encouraged them to take up the matter of supplying power, and as there were numerous water powers in the vicinity, they looked to an hydraulic development instead of to increasing their steam plant for the lighting and power business. After investigating a number of water powers they decided to develop the Ragged Rapids of the Severn River near Sparrow Lake, and about twenty miles from Orillia. At the point where they decided to put their dam and power house the physical difficulties were not very great, and they claim that at the driest season there is a sufficient flow of water at a thirty-five foot head to give them at least 3,000 horse-power. This plant is now being constructed, and it is thought that by September 1 next power will be delivered in the town and the lighting and waterworks pumping will also be from the same source, instead of from the steam plant, as heretofore.

The water-power development was no unusual thing, but as the Ragged Rapids are between nineteen and twenty miles distant from Orillia, the question of the transmission of power became at once a living question, and one on which the success of the scheme largely depended. Here again multi-phase electricity came to the rescue.

The present development is about 1,000 horse-power. The hydraulic equipment consists of two 500 horse-power wheels, and the electrical equipment of 2,300 K.W.S.K.C. generators generating a two-phase current at 2,400 volts, and stepping it up for transmission to Orillia to 20,000 volts at three-phase, and at Orillia re-transforming it into two-phase again for distribution about the town.

The complete electrical equipment is being furnished by the Royal Electric Company of Montreal. The Electrical Maintenance and Construction Company, of Toronto, are building the entire works.

This is the first municipal corporation that has undertaken a long distance transmission of power by electricity generated by water-power. The little town is certainly deserving of great credit for its pluck, and it to be hoped that the power enterprise will turn out as successfully as did their lighting.

The Trenton Electric Company, composed of Toronto capitalists, about two years ago acquired the water rights and privileges of the corporation of Trenton, on the Trent river, about two and one-half miles from the town of Trenton, and there installed an electric lighting and power transmission plant. The current is transmitted to the town of Trenton, about two and one-half miles distant, where it is used for lighting, and it is contemplated, in fact the line is completed, to transmit power to Belleville, a distance of twelve miles. The maximum horse-power is about 1,200. They have installed in their powerhouse two 300 k.w., or about 800 h.p. capacity, of electrical generators, from which the current is delivered primarily to the line at 6,600 volts and conveyed to Trenton and Belleville. It is expected that power will be delivered in Belleville some time during the coming summer. The electrical apparatus for this plant was furnished by the Canadian General Electric Company, of Peterboro', and is of their revolving Field type.

The Auburn Power Company, of Peterboro', are utilizing a fall on the Otonabee river, about four miles from the center of the town of Peterboro'. They have have about 800 h.p. in water, but at present they have only one 150 h.p. generator installed, which is delivering power to the different factories in the town of Peterboro'. It is expected that this will be increased in the near future.

The Lindsay Light, Heat and Power Company, who have been operating by steam for a long time, supplying arc and incandescent lights to the town of Lindsay, are now at work transmitting power from Fenelon Falls, sixteen miles away, to the town of Lindsay, and propose doing a large business in power among the manufacturers, as well as driving their present arc and incandescent machinery by water power. The maximum amount of horse-power to be delivered is in the neighborhood of 1,500 h.p. and is an example of the progressiveness of the existing electric light companies taking advantage of the possibility of transmitting power by multiphase current at a high tension and making it commercially successful. They expect to have the first power in Lindsay by midsummer.

Another long distance power transmission which is under construction now is that of the Canadian Electric Light Company, of Levis, Que. The distance of their transmission is about seven miles from Chaudiere Falls; the amount of power to be transmitted, 2,000 h.p. The electrical equipment for this plant consists of two 1,000 h.p. generators of the revolving Field type, made by the Canadian General Electric Company, of Peterboro', Ont., and they deliver the current direct to the lines at 5,500 volts. The current is to be re-transformed at Levis for lighting and power purposes.

The Jacques Cartier Water Power Company, of Quebec City, is another power transmission company which was organized about two years ago, and which is now delivering electrical current at the city of Quebec. The water power of which they availed themselves is thirteen miles from the city. Their electrical equipment consists of two 1,000 h.p. generators, made by the Westinghouse Electrical Manufacturing Company of Pittsburg, Pa., U.S.A. The current is generated at 1,000 volts, and through step-up devices it is raised to 20,000 volts, at which pressure it is transmitted to the city of Quebec, and there re-transformed into a workable voltage. This company is in competition with the Montmorency Power Company, and lively times are anticipated. Their business consists chiefly in lighting.

The Shawinigan Water and Power Company, of Shawinigan, P.Q., is still another instance of an immense development of hydraulic power converted into electricity, which is used in transmitting any considerable distance and about the vicinity, it not beance, but utilized for commercial, pulp, and electrolytic work. Their water power is a development of about 20,000 horse, for 10,000 horse-power of which the electrical machinery is now being placed.

The Valleyfield Cotton Milling Company is also another instance of a large water-power development, they utilizing in their mills in the neighborhood of 5,000 h.p.

In addition to the above, there are a number of small transmission plants running from 100 to 300 horse-power, which, in an article of this kind, cannot be given space, but which go to swell the grand aggregate.

Another proposed development is that of the Ontario Niagara Falls Power Company, formerly the Dominion Power Company, which proposed to tap the Chippewa River at or near the village of Chippewa, carrying the water to the Niagara Victoria Park, and there developing the first fall of about 100 feet, then utilizing the water again where it falls into the Niagara gorge. Their proposed development is 50,000 horse-power, and work on it is to be shortly commenced.

The Welland Niagara Power Company is another company that has procured rights, and are negotiating now for the development of 30,000 h.p. at or near St. Catharines.

Of projected water-powers there are a large number.

Among those most liable to be developed in the near future is that of the company who have secured the rights of Crooked rapids, at the foot of Belmont lake. They expect to develop 2,000 horse-power, which is to be used by the mines in the different sections of the country thereabouts, and will be distributed within a radius of twenty miles.

The Burleigh Falls Power Company have acquired the rights of Burleigh Falls, which amount to, it is said, 8,000 h.p. This power has been secured by a company which was organized a short time ago, and it is proposed to develop it and deliver power and lights to the corporation of Peterboro', Lakefield and Lindsay, and amalgamating the different companies. It is expected that this plant will be in operation in about a year.

The Canadian Niagara Power Company, an offshoot of the Niagara Falls, N.Y., Power Company, have had for a number of years the right to develop power on the Canadian side of the river at Niagara Falls. They have secured a concession from the Government to develop from 50,000 to 100,000 h.p., and are to begin the work of tunnelling, etc., this summer.

The practical commercial success that has been attained is so great that investigations of water-powers throughout the entire Dominion are being made for the purpose of converting them into electrical generating and transmission plants, thereby developing and utilizing forces and powers provided by nature.

CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

The Toronto Conservatory of Music was incorporated in November, 1886, and was first opened to the public in September, 1887. The objects of the Conservatory are to furnish instruction in all branches of the art and science of music and to furnish instruction in such other subjects as may be considered necessary for the fullest development of the students' mental and physical faculties preparatory to their pursuing music as a profession. From the first the Conservatory has been a growing success. It opened with 200 students. Last year the number had risen to 733, and it is expected that during 1900 there will be 1,200 individual pupils. About two-thirds of the pupils are residents of Toronto, and the remainder come from all parts of Canada and from several States of the Union. The phenomenal success of the Conservatory is undoubtedly due to the excellence of the system of instruction and the eminence and efficiency of the teachers on the faculty. The Conservatory is affiliated with the Toronto University and with Trinity University.

Established in 1886 by Dr. Edward Fisher, for giving instructions in music, both vocal and instrumental.

Dr. Chase's Remedies.

 TO SUCCEED beyond all other men in a particular undertaking is the special triumph of genius; and no man ever more eminently deserved this distinction than the late venerable Dr. Chase. He was not only tireless and supremely successful in his researches for Discovery, but he sought to make the results of his labors at once widely practical and of everyday use to his fellow-men.

The relief of human suffering and misery caused by disease is the noblest work in which the lover of his kind can engage, and no man ever with greater enthusiasm entered upon this, his life work, than Dr. Chase. He never stopped to think or ask for pay. The suffering poor came to him as to a father for advice and treatment, which he freely gave without charge. He compiled a book containing many hundreds of his recipes and cures, to be sold at a figure barely covering cost, so that all might avail themselves of his experience. Certain of Dr. Chase's medicines not easily prepared he caused to be manufactured on a large scale, the expense thus reduced enabling him to sell them at a comparatively trifling figure. Notably among these were Dr. Chase's Ointment, his Kidney-Liver Pills, his Catarrh Cure, his Liver Cure, and his celebrated Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

After learning the above facts it will surprise no one when told that this department of the Dr. Chase business has assumed, during the past ten years, since being established in Canada, gigantic proportions. Probably more of Dr. Chase's remedies are sold in Canada, the United States and Europe than all other patent medicines combined.

The reason is not far to seek. These medicines answer every expectation of the user, because nothing is said of them which is not previously demonstrated by their success in thousands of cases.

You Know our Ploughs

You know that they last best, draw lightest and are easiest. You know they cost repairs, with full attention and address cast in on each piece. You know that they "last twice as long."

DO YOU KNOW OUR LINE OF PNEUMATIC ENSILAGE AND STRAW CUTTERS

In five sizes. Look out for them, or you will be behind your neighbor.

The cause of the unquestioned success of our Implements is neither secret nor mystery—they simply cost more money to build. We use more expensive material, more expensive labor, more care for each implement, and more judgment in making improvements and changes; and you reap the benefit in substantial long-lived implements.

THE C.W.A.

The Canadian Wheelmen's Association (familarly known as the C.W.A.) was organized at St. Thomas by a few enthusiasts in or about the year 1882, and is now the largest amateur athletic association in Canada. For many years the Association has held its annual convention at the city of Toronto, at which the most exciting episodes were general, election of officers, and the awarding of the annual wheelmen's meet held on the 1st day of July.

With the advent of the modern pneumatic bicycle, the membership of the Wheelmen's Association was greatly augmented, and about a year ago numbered nearly 10,000. The objects of the association, as laid down in its constitution, are:

- (a) To promote the general interest of cycling in Canada.
- (b) To ascertain, defend and protect the rights of wheelmen.

(c) To encourage and facilitate touring.

(d) To secure improvement in the condition of the public roads and highways of the Dominion.

(e) To control and govern track bicycle racing and racing bicyclists, both amateur and professional, in Canada.

(f) To establish and regulate bicycle championships for Canada and its constituent provinces.

All these objects have been attained in a very large measure. The Association has ever been on the alert to protect its members from anything which would infringe upon their rights as wheelmen, and has expended hundreds of dollars to this end, and the immunity from encroachments upon their rights which wheelmen enjoy, is largely due to the Association. The Kingston toll-gate nuisance, whereby wheelmen were asked to contribute toll the same as the owners of other vehicles, is a case in point. This mediaeval relic is still in vogue in many parts of Canada, but it has been held that the proprietors of these toll gates cannot exact any fee from the wheelmen. It is within the memory of most cyclists, the audacious attempt which the railway companies made to exact an almost prohibitive charge from cyclists for the carriage of their wheels.

The Executive of the C.W.A., believing that the railway companies should carry bicycles as baggage when accompanied by the owner, a bill was introduced in Parliament by Mr. George Casey, M.P., on behalf of the C.W.A. to this end, and was carried in the Commons, though defeated in the Senate by a small majority. The immediate effect, however, of the agitation was, that the railway companies forthwith made great concessions to the wheelmen, and wheels are now carried at a cost which does not operate harshly at all.

The Association has done a great deal for the betterment of the urban and suburban roads of the country, and the rapid advancement made in this direction has been largely due to the untiring efforts of the Association to this end. The Association greatly encourages touring, one of the real pleasures of the wheelmen, and the country has been dotted over with sign boards, and an exhaustive touring book is now in course of preparation, being compiled by the energetic chairman of the Roads and Touring Toronto. Arrangements have also been made for its members whereby the international boundary line to the south presents no inconveniences, the members of the Association being enabled to cross and re-cross at their will and pleasure.

During the present year the Executive have arranged with a prominent insurance company whereby the lives and limbs of its members are insured. In case of death while riding a bicycle, the personal representatives of the wheelmen become entitled to an indemnity of $125, and in case of accident the cyclist to a weekly indemnity of $5 not exceeding four weeks. These, and many other advantages, are such that membership in the C.W.A. has now come to be considered a most desirable thing.

SOME ELOQUENT FACTS

Twenty-five years ago the chief products of Manitoba were the furs of wild animals. To-day these products are Wheat, Cattle, Butter, Cheese.

In Twenty-five Years the population increased from 12,000 to 200,000; the land under cultivation from 10,000 acres to 2,000,000 acres; the number of schools from 16 to 982.

A comparison between the years 1885 and 1899 shows the following results :

GRAIN PRODUCED

	1885.	1899.
Wheat.....	7,429,440 bush.	27,922,230 bush.
Oats.....	6,364,263 bush.	22,318,378 bush.
Barley.....	1,113,481 bush.	5,379,156 bush.
Total.....	14,907,184 bush.	55,619,764 bush.

Increase, 40,712,580 Bushels.

The province has a municipal system which is simple, economical and efficient. Taxation in all parts is therefore reduced to a minimum. Lands can be bought in nearly every district, on easy terms of payment. Prices range from $2.50 per acre upward. FREE homesteads are still available in some parts of the province.

The Times Atlas

THE TIMES ATLAS consists of 118 pages of Maps, measuring 17 inches by 11 inches, and includes a large number of insets, making a total of 175 Maps.

The Index, consisting of about 130,000 names, has been compiled by a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, recommended by the late Secretary of the Society, and is believed to be more complete than any yet issued.

NEW EDITION.

In accordance with the policy previously announced, THE TIMES ATLAS has been carefully kept up to date in every respect. The constant advance in exploration and the frequent changes resulting from political development have made this task an exceedingly heavy one, but it has, nevertheless, been carried out with exceptional thoroughness. In the new edition of the ATLAS, which is now issued from The Times Office, many alterations and additions have been made, including a new full-page map of New Zealand, with an inset map of Tasmania, making a total of One Hundred and Eighteen pages. A Special Index to the new Map follows the last page of the General Index.

Many important additions have been made throughout the ATLAS. Many of the Maps have been added to and, where necessary, corrected, and various minor improvements effected.

The prices of the ATLAS in its various forms are as follows, delivered post free within the United Kingdom—
