The water falling on the roofs and running along the spouts took up in its course each time a portion of the lead used in the paint and deposited it on the bottom of the cistern, where it collected in increasing quantities after each shower. It was then pumped through eighteen or twenty feet of lead pipe, two to five feet of which lay in the bottom of the cistern. THE CLASS MEETING.

In the course of a sermon preached to his own congregation at Birmingham, during the Methodist Conference of 1879, the Rev. R. W. Dale. one of the foremost Congregational ministers of England, spoke at length upon Methodism. This sermon, with others, has now been published. Of the Evangelical revival of the last century. Mr Dale regards Weslevan Methodism as the "most conspicuous monument and memorial." He shows how the older Nonconformity of England had become imbued by its spirit and quickened by its life; and how by the influence of Methodist doctrines the "narrow and rigid lines of Calvinism have been gradually relaxed." With the Episcopal Church of England as the "permanent home" of the revival he has no sympathy. After having spoken of the tendency of the Evangelicals towards "individuality" as their "besetting weakness" and added that cism." Mr. Dale said :-

Methodism has founded one great and remarkable church institution. The classmeeting is perhaps the most striking and original of all the fruits of the Revival. It was not invented; it was the creation of the circumstances in which the Revival was carried on; it was a natural product of the soil; and the Methodist people should take good heed how they treat so precious and wonderful a growth. It renders possible a far more effective fulfilment of the idea of the pastorate and a far more saints than are common in any other Protestant community.

There are some things in Methodism which I do not covet. I do not covet the made possible by the authority of the Conference; but I covet the class-meeting. If we could transplant the class-meeting. we could transplant the institution into Congregational soil we we should modify it. The difficulty is that it does not seem to bear transplanting. But if we could transplant it—if all the members of this church were grouped together in "classes" of a dozen or twenty, meeting for prayer, for conversation on the hopes and " to conduct and to the discipline of ethical man at the head of it, the trusted friend depth of religious earnestness, a fullness seem to be beyond our reach.

RELIGION AND HONESTY.

In an editorial under the above title the Hebrew Leader, a Jewish organ, published in New York, has the following on the Dr.

A Methodist preacher at Rock River, Ill., one Dr. Thomas, has stirred up a lively commotion in that section, and his case is attracting general attention throughout the country. He is a heretic in the opinion of most of his brethren. He appears anxious to obtain all possible notoriety, and shows a strong disposition to have somebody make a martyr of him. True, the time is past for literal branding with hot irons in such cases, but this man wants the best attainable substitute for the old way. To this end he preaches doctrines condemned by the authorities of his church and the reverse of the faith to which he seemnly subscribed when he entered its fellowship, doctrines which be is bound by his ministerial vows to oppose with all his might.

Not only in the pulpit which he occupies, but elsewhere in public he squarely aims his heterodox sentiments, and seems to think he is doing just right. " THE BRIGHT SIDE." "There is many a rest on the road of life If we only could stop to take it, And many a tone from the b-tter land If the querulous heart would wake it ! To the manly soul that is full of hope, And whose beautiful trust ne'er faileth, The grass is green, and the flowers are bright Though the wintry storm prevaileth.

Better to hope, though the clouds hang low And to keep the eyes still lifted; For the sweet blue sky will soon peep through When the ominous clouds are lifted. There was never a night without a day, Nor an evening without a morning, And the darkest hour, the proverb goes, Is the hour before the dawning.

There is many a gem in the path of life, Which we pass in our idle pleasure, That is richer far than the jewelled crown Or the miser's hoarded treasure; It may be the love of a little child, Or a mother's prayer to heaven. Or only a beggar's grateful thanks For a cup of water given.

Better to weave in the web of life A bright and golden filling. And to do God's will with a ready heart And hands that are swift and willing Than to anap the delicate, tender threads Of our curious lives assunder, And then blame h e sve for the tangled ends, And sit, to grieve, and wonder.

Any philosophical view of the condition of a nation will take into account both its excellencies and its defects, both its hopeful signs and menacing dangers, these being the lights and the shadows which constitute the complete picture. Often persons profess an utter lack of confidence in the genuineness of the conversion of children; forgetting that older converts backslide and go astray; that they themselves are "prone to wander;" that the lack of Christian nurture and Christian example on their part, is a fruitful cause of children becoming cold; and that after all a large proportion of the most faithful and eminent to notice the inevitable combination of Christians were converted in their early

TRIFLES.

Straws show which way the wind blows, and trifles indicate the bent of character. I saw Hettie reading the other day in a borrowed book, and when her mother called her she laid it care. lessly open, face downward, on a chair. It happened that Hettie did not return immediately, and before she had done so the baby had pulled the book by one corner to the floor, and Hettie running hastily in, had trampled upon it. Its condition would certainly be unpresentable when it should be sent back to its owner. My own impression of Hettie. who had seemed to be a very amiable young lady, was that she was unfaithful in small things. Had she closed her book and placed it on the table before leaving the room, it would not have been injured. When I see a young girlwith a torn dress, slippers down at heel, and a general lack of neatness in her home toilet. I am doubtful of her genuine love and respect for dear home friends. When I know that Lucia is always late at church, I begin to wonder if she is not tardy everywhere else. When I hear Sarah scolding Mattie for some small fault, I consider her on the road to become a termagant. Don't neglect trifles, girls.—Christian at Work.

the empty boxes and pick up the loose papers, etc., down in the cellar." In less time than it takes me to tell it the boy was hard at work picking up the loose papers, and piling up the empty boxes, and cleaning up in general.

During the day the merchant asked the foreman : " How is that strange lad working?" "Like a beaver, sir. He is killing

"No. sir!" said the boy: "give me one half a dolar. It's all I think I've carned, and will buy me a supper and a

This the merchant thought was uncommon honesty, and pleased him so much that he told the lad to come the next morning He was there long betore any one else was, and in that way showed his promptness. It reflects great credit upon Judah. He was better than the others when they laid violent hands on Joseph; but it was at his suggestion he was sold into slavery. During all the intervening years he had watched the grief of his father, and no doubt had repented of the part that he took in that great crime. And now he appears altogether to advantage. He is faithful to his pledge to his father, and does the utmost to obtain Benjamin's release, offering himself as a bondsman in his place. Every word of this appeal-recounting so pathetically all the circumstances, describing his father's grief at the loss of Joseph, and his anxiety about Benjamin, depicting the consequences to his aged father if they returned without Benjamin-every word of it went straight to Joseph's heart. It is no wonder that he could no longer refrain himself. But it not only toucked Joseph's heart, it showed that the purpose he had in view in subjecting his brethren to these severe tests was accomplished.

The effect was produced which he intend-

THE RECONCILIATION. - Instead of ordering them from his presence into confinement, and sentencing them to death, as they deserved, and as, no doubt, they expected, Joseph gives the gracious invitation, Come near to me! This must have astonished them as much as the revelation. And then the deeply-injured brother proceeds to allay their fears and quiet their agitation by showing them how God had overruled their sintul conduct for good. He would now fain forget that they had sold him into Egypt. God had sent him thither to preserve life-the lives of multitudes who would otherwise which can be freely used internally and externalhave died of starvation-and, above all, their lives and that of his aged father. Here we see Joseph's piety again exemplified-God had done it all. He acknowledged the Lord in all his ways. Few people who see bananas hanging in fruit stores think of them as more than a tropical luxury. In fact they are a staple article of food in some parts of the world; and, according to Humboldt, an acre of bananas will produce as much food for a man as twenty-five acres of wheat. It is the ease with which bananas are grown that is the great obstacle to civilzation in some tropical countries. It is so easy to get a living without work that no effort will ever be made, and the men be come lazy and intolerably shiftless. All Careful investigations by English scientists seem to leave no room to doubt that a close connection exists between dampness and diphtheria. In several cases where diphtheria had broken out with great virulence examination showed that the disease originated in houses which stood near a river, with the subsoil very near the surface, or under the shadows of trees so dense as to cause a stagnation of air with consequent dampness.

TO THE WORK!

Readers of our "Methodist Items will not be disposed to charge our ministers and churches with idleness. In work of a certain class some of them have abounded. New churches are being built, old ones have been renovated; the pleasure and profit of our Sunday-scholars have not been forgotten; and the amount of money gathered by various expedients to meet the season's outlay has been very

To merely nominal members of our church, such results will seem quite satisfactory; but by men and women, in thorough sympathy with the Redeemer's purposes, they will be regarded as but means to an end. To these all such work as we have named, and much more in which church energy finds expenditure, seems but so much scaffolding. Well-pleased would they be, could they convince themselves and others that in no case has the scaffolding inflicted any injury upon the temple they seek to build, as workers together with God. Our peneil is sharpened for other and nobler records—the records of enlistments, willing and lifelong, in the service of the Lord Jesus. Other items will still be given with pleasure, but these are most befitting a journal published under the auspices of a Christian the apparently tacit admission that summer days are not days of salva-So long as Christ has work to be done, and Satan seeks to obstruct that work, and Death has all seasons for his own, the danger from such an admission is very great. But now even Nature says loudly, "The harvest is passed and the summer is ended," The voice of the Spirit adds, with purely spiritual meaning, "Not saved," as thousands pass before us who have "no hope." Are our peo-. ple, with their pastors at their head, preparing for the work which, above all others, heaven designed them to do, before death shall place an eternal emphasis upon that most terrible expression, from the lips of an immortal being,-" not saved"?

From several quarters we hear of preparation. Let the preparation be confidence, the final call. Do they seem thorough. When entering upon such work-the pastor should take care that no clouds intercept his own view of a "Godhead reconciled." He should seek, too, if possible, to get in retirement, as taught by his Master, a singleness of purpose, and a power to pursue that purpose, in spite of all influences. The preaching which saves is from the heart, and therefore reach- ily replied, and then—as it by way of apoles the heart. "I know a man who always preaches well," said the president of a local preachers' convention the other day, "but, somehow, I al ways feel, in hearing him, that there is no strong, valorous, redeemed man behind it. It is a plea by a lawyer memoranda? From a death-bed, cheered who might be on the other side, not by an unfailing trust in Christ, the acthe wife's loyal and intense beseeching complishment of such a work as led Gen. for her husband's acquittal." Such preaching never precedes Pentecost. Nor is thorough preparation for revival effort less necessary on the part of the membership. It is not their sole privilege to ask the unconverted questions. In Scotch fashion, one be of equal, perhaps of greater value. Our question may be asked in answer to another. A young man, trained up in another communion, had been awakened through attendance at a Methodist protracted meeting. A classleader was talking with him. Determined to take nothing at second-hand, the youth looked the leader in the more egotism than might be charged against St. Paul, the leader, with full, round utterance, replied, that he did. The young man thereupon resolved to obtain the same coveted knowledge, and some years later entered the ministry of the Methodist Church. What, if in that moment of destiny, the voice of the leader had uttered an uncertain sound! Need we add that the prayers and relations of Christian experience from the lips of these men and ling wood" to human hearts. Blessed is the pastor who has such helpers. Only those brethren who have wrestled with Satan during revival seasons almost as consciously as Jacob wrestled with the more willing angel, can tell their value.

WATCH!

Already, in several counties in the Maritime Provinces, liquor venders are being taught a needed lesson. Diminished sales and heavy fines are reminding them that we are waking out of that singular infatuation which permitted us to authorise them to madden, brutalize and destroy our friends and children for a slight money consideration. Other counties in Nova Scotia are moving on in the right direction, and, in the neighboring Province, an attack is being planned on the very centre of the enemy's position. We rejoice at this. No city, perhaps, has lost more young men through the course of intemperance than St. John. It is only meet that her citizens should lead in the further prosecution of the struggle in that

But temperance-workers must not forget, in their preparations for further attack on the rum intrenchments, that their success will be largely dependent upon their vigilance. Sentry duty must not yet be dispensed with. If a recent statement be true, the butchery of a British regiment, and the temporary loss of British prestige, in Zululand, was the result of an effective surprise by natives who sprang from the deep grass to hurl their assegais at brave, but unarmed, men. It is by silent, unsuspected means that Satan seeks to effect his purposes. Our readers will not yet have forgotten that during last winter's session of the Dominion Parlia-No remark need be made respecting ment, a surprise was attempted, and only defeated by the action of the Senate. It is possible that the comparative silence of the advocates of the rum traffic is an omen of evil, rather than a symptom of shame. It may be a mere feint to distract attention from some contemplated movement, calculated to destroy at one blow the temperance effort of years. It is tremendously true that " eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Let temperance men prove by their works that they value the advan. tage already given, and let them put sleepless sentinels all along the line. In the absence of these, some toe may spring out of the grass, to their sad surprise.

> " I have some plans I should like to carry out. I should like to endow Dickinson College. I believe the great want of our age is was in danger of running aground, I sent a to have our educational institutions well equipped."

These words were uttered a few weeks Pennsylvania, while awaiting, in Christian too practical, too worldly, for the chamber of death? We might have thought so once, but a godly class-leader, on the eve of departure, taught us that, against the background of eternity, duty to God and His Church stands out with marvellous distinctness. We were at his bedside, when an elect lady, waiting upon him, asked us a question in relation to the financial affairs of the circuit. We heartogy-said to the dying leader: "These matters seem trifling to you now." "No," said he, in tones that half-chided us, " No, they never seemed more important."

Will some of our readers to whom God hath "given power to get wealth," note these utterances among their private Albright to wish for added days will give abundant pleasure. We do not expect such munificent gitts for Mount Allison as Dalhousie has received from George Munro, or the five times larger sum which George Seney has given Wesleyan University. A number of smaller gifts would institutions at Sackville have deserved far more aid than they have yet received. Their record already is second to none in the Maritime Provinces, yet but one-half of the contemplated endowment of $100,-000 has yet been received for them. It will be remembered that Josiah Wood, Esq., has offered $10,000 towards the erection of a new College so soon as the other eyes, and asked him if he really knew half of the endowment shall be forthcomthat his sins were forgiven. With no ing,-in fact, has intimated, we believe, that he will see the College built. We await the beginning of a monument that shall lead to such a desirable result.

In the meantime we direct parents to the splendid record of Mount Allison, and urge them to avail themselves of the advantages provided for their sons and daughters in our own Institutions.

The case of Professor Robertson Smith is again before the public. It was supposed to have been closed in May last, when the Assembly restored the Professor women of confident heart will both to his chair, but the discussion has been ling the civic year.

prevail with God, and prove "kind- | re-opened through the publication, shortly after that event, of a new volume of the ·· Encyclopedia Brittanica" containing new articles from his pen. One of these-on Hebrew languages and literature-was held to be as offensive as his previous one on the "Bible." In response to memorials addressed to it by a number of presbyters, the Free Church Assembly Commission took up the case a second time in August and, by a majority of 210 against 139, appointed a committee to examine Professor Smith's recent writings, and report to a special meeting of the Commission in October.

At that meeting, which took place at Edinburgh on the 27th ult., the report of the committee was given. Its conclusion is to the effect that the whole tendency of the writings is fitted to throw the Old Tes tament history into confusion, and, at least, to weaken, if not to destroy, the very foundation on which New Testament doctrine is built. The committee recommends that steps be taken for making it evident that the Free Church cannot sanction such

After an address from Professor Smith in his own defence, which lasted fully an hour and a half, and created a great impression, a motion of Dr. Wilson, asking the Commission to approve the report of the committee, and to instruct Professor Smith to abstain from teaching his class during the ensuing session, -leaving the whole question as to his status and position in the Free Church to the General Assembly-was carried, with a great deal of dis cussion, by a majority of 68 votes. The constitutional question involved in the discussion will now claim attention. The Daily Telegraph of St. John, N. B., is devoting a large part of its columns to this celebrated case.

Rev. W. Taylor is somewhat disgusted with the "circular business." At his suggestion, the editor of the New York Advocate intimated to his readers that persons wishing to assist Mr. Taylor in paying the outward passage of his missionaries might remit directly to him. In response, Mr. T. received five dollars, and an order for five sets of his books! He writes to the Twice before I made a half-begging appeal on behalf of my Transit Fund for paying the passage of my missionaries. The first was when I lacked eight hundred dollars to pay steerage passage to Peru and Chili for a dozen of as heroic men and women as the Lord has sent out lately-four of whom have gone to heaven, and ten were driven from their field in Peru by blockading and bombarding fleets, and yet not one has even given the record of what they saw and suffered, nor called for assistance. Well, when I thought I circular and letter of explanation to twentyfour of our most wealthy and liberal givers. In response to all that I did not receive one cent. Two other copies tell into the hands ago by a devoted Methodist layman of of two personal friends of mine who gave each a little help. So I gave up the circular business as a bad job. When I returned from Brazil I had to find over a dozen first-class workers to sail Nov. , prox. That was a human impossibility; but (as Fred Douglass said of his providential deliverance from slavery in answer to prayer, the deliverance came when his "legs prayed!") in answer to prayer God has given me the workers, and (D.V.) they will sail at the time appointed.

I am happy to say, to the praise of God, that through the obscure channels he had previously opened, not through any intimations of mine beyond the facts of my mission, so widely knewn, all the funds we need for passage and small outfit are coming in as needed. As for support, all my workers are supported by the people they serve in foreign countries. A careful record of all our transit receipts and disbursements is kept by Mrs. Anderson Fowler, who is a noble daughter of that noble man of God, William Arthur.

Surprise has been expressed in some quarters that W. McArthur, Esq., the Lord Mayor elect of London, who is widely known as a zealous, though catholichearted member of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, should not have appointed a Wesleyan minister as his chaplain. The Methodist Recorder explains Mr. McArthur's position, and in doing so shows that while some trunk-limbs have been lopped off, the axe has yet to be laid at the root

It may be well to explain in a few words that not only the usages, but the official necessities of the office require the appointment of a clergyman of the Established Church. For instance, four official sermons are to be preached in St. Paul's Cathedral, besides three or four others in different churches, and, as the age has not yet attained to the liberality which throws these pulpits open for occasional occupancy by Nonconformist ministers, it is evident that an official restriction is put upon the civic freedom of choice. Even the late Alderman Salomons, though a Jew, when Lord Mayor of London, had his Episcopal chaplain in compliance with this prescriptive custom. It is as well, to prevent misconception, that these things should be publicly stated. Alderman McArthur's loyalty to Methodism, and love for its institutions and for its ministers, has been approved too well and too long to need vindication. It will be remembered, moreover, that in the year of his Shrievalty his own pastor was his chaplain, for the Sheriffs are not thus restricted. As the restriction exists it is matter of congratulation that Alderman McArthur's choice has fallen upon so thoroughly earnest, evangelical and catholic a man as the Rev. Canon Fleming, to whom we wish all joy and health and opportunities for usefulness durREV. A. W. NICOLSON.

DEAR BRO. EDITOR,—Permit me to use my first returning strength in rendering in this public way, my thanks to the God of redeeming mercy for His goodness in preserving my life. Let me next thank my brethren who have sympathized; and explain the facts of my accident, as far as I know them. was, as you were informed, returning home from a funeral, about 3 p. m. last Monday, seated in a two-wheeled spring carriage, my horse travelling briskly, when one of her fore feet broke through a false crossing. I remember, as if at a distance of several years back, that my beautiful beast had been at that moment an object of admiration, as she confidently and proudly stepped out-type of many a more rational, unforseeing creature. Quick on foot as an antelope, she made repeated efforts to recover, but broke down hopelessly in the attempt. My head struck beside hers, as she lay extended at full length, the blow taking effect between the eyes and mouth. I judge I was precipitated not less than ten feet. My recollection then takes in the appealing look of my poor Fan-her perfect submission to my voice as I ordered her to lie stillthe moment's survey of my situation and the distance from the nearest house-my movements in unharnessing-the mechanical act of drawing the shafts from under the mare by using the leverage of the wheels—her nimble spring to her feet at my command, and her mute concurrence in my wish to stand (though generally restless to be gone) -the arrrival of a woman and young man in a carriage, and in my blindness turning my back to the woman lest she might be shocked by so much blood, as she tied a handkerchief over my face-my suggestion to the young man to use the reins for repairing the shafts-and there comes a most curious mental blank, during which I walked torty five rods to the nearest house. Each link before and after the walk is distinctly clear, as if the occurrences of a very vivid dream, but the walk and the time are. I think now, blotted out forever, so far as I am concerned.

Atter the week which has elapsed in mingled suffering and nervous prostration, I am here writing to my brethren, Blessed be the Lord!

I promised Bro. Coffin, when he sold me his Morgan, to give him the preference should I desire to sell her. My dear brother is not likely ever to have the offer, unless Providence should make him very, very rich, or me very, very poor. We have been "companions in tribulation"she may even be the last to get well-and gold will not separate us.

I am yours in love and gratitude, A. W. NICOLSON.

In response to a question in last week's issue, "Westmoreland," who was present at the dinner, and therefore knows whereof he affirms, writes:

Two dinners were given to the "delegates" while in Westmoreland, -one at the "Mountain House," Westmoreland Point, where, no minister being present, the Hon. D. Hannington said grace; the other at the "Brunswick House," Sackville, where the Rev. George Fisher performed that duty, in response to the request of Senator Botsford, the chairman on the occasion.

The mention of this matter seems to imply a fear on the part of "Enquirer" that Methodist ministers and professors in Westmoreland are in some danger of not being treated with proper respect. You can assure your St. John correspondent, Mr. Editor, that these gentlemen are well able to maintain the dignity of Methodism, and command the highest respect here.

Mr. Fisher, who has written us to the same effect, thinks it "only right" to state that he was "most cordially welcomed and most courteously ireated by members both of the Government and

A statement in a Newfoundland exchange is well worth transfer to our columns. There are few spots, the world over, respecting which the words used by Judge Pinsent at the recent opening of the Supreme court at Brigus, could be

His Lordship congratulated the Grand Jury upon the fact that nothing but venerable custom required their attendance this term; that Brigus was unique in having during the Circuit not one case upon either the criminal or civil docket. He commented favorably upon this remarkable freedom from crime of the system of denominational favoritism and litigation in a population of about 12,000; and spoke of the personal satisfaction it gave im from the natural interest he felt in a District associated with his earliest recollections and earliest life. The Judge then referred in very favorable terms to the magistrate and police, and spoke of the records as affording corresponding evidence with the Supreme Calendar as to the high character of the District.

Special collections will be taken up at all the services for purchase of new library.

In some parts of the Maritime Provinces there seems to have a been little confusion respecting the proclamation for a day of general Thanksgiving. The Rev. W. W. PERSONAL.

At latest advices, Sir Francis Lycett of London, who had been severely ill for several days, was in a critical position. His life has been a valuable one to English Methodism. May it long be spared.

Our parsonage at Truro has of late resembled a private hospital. Mr. Temple has been ill through bronchitis, and five of his family have been attacked by measles. Rev. W. H. Evans, who went up to take Mr. Temple's pulpit duties on Sunday, reports a general improvement in the condition of the patients.

We learn from the Christian Guardian that Mr. John Mathewson, of Montreal, died on the 23rd ult. at the ripe age of ninety years. Mr. Mathewson left Ireland and for more than fifty years was He early became a member of the Methodist Church, and continued to walk worthy of his high calling. His memory, therefore, is precious. In all our connexional efforts he took a deep interest, as well as in all movements for the improvement of men, and the extension of the kingdom of

LITERARY NOTICES.

The Canada Health Journal, edited by Dr. Playter, Toronto, is a neatly-published and most useful little magazine. It is devoted purely to subjects pertaining to health, and from its low price-$1.50 a year-is within the reach of all. It should be received and read in every household.

The Twelfth Annual Catalogue of the Women's Medical College of the New York Infirmary - contains all necessary information concerning the college year, 1880-81. In the medical class of 1879-80, were two young ladies from Nova Scotia.

Littell's Living Age for Oct. 30th and Nov. 6th, has been received from the publishers, Messrs. Littell & Co.. 17 Bromfield St., Boston. Each arrival of this weekly magazine, with its 52 pages filled with the best articles from the reviews and monthlies, causes us to regret the small amount of time at our disposal for general reading.

An hour's perusal of the Literary News, a small monthly journal of current literature, will aid in the selection of books, or in intelligent conversation on the literary topics of the day. Its criticisms and sketches are pleasant reading. F. Leypoldt, 13 & 15 Park Row, is editor and publisher.

With the October package of English Wesleyan Conference Office monthly publications, which are worthy of being everywhere read, we have received Oscar's Bouhood, or The Sailor's Son, and The Prisoner's Friend,—the Life of James Bundy. These two books, attractive in appearance, and wise in teaching, will prove a useful addition to the Sabbat h school issues of the Conference Office.

Howard Gannett, 52 Bromfield St., Boston, sends us the second number of his Monthly Cabinet of Illustrations for the use of preachers, superintendents, teachers, etc. Few are ignorant of the value of illustration in the teaching especially of youth. It is often true in reference to older folk, also, as Daniel O'Connell once said, that "one fact is worth a cartload of arguments.

The Industrial Monthly for October-E. Young & Co., 24 Ann Street, New York, -contains an interesting article on Halitax in the past; and notices with approval a paper on the late Professor Henry, read before the National Academy of Sciences by Prof Simeon Newcomb, a Nova Scotian, who visited his native Province a few weeks ago. Other articles will be of much interest to business men.

THAT AND THIS.

Suppose the news should come from China that a mob had attacked the American missionaries in Fuh Chau, had killed several of them, had cut off the ears of one, had beaten several, and had torn down their houses; all this occurred without the slightest provocation having been given by the missionaries; the authorities tried to control the mon, but could not; there were 1,000 rioters who hurrahed and yelled: "Lynch the foreign devils," what would the press of the United States say? Would not there be a united demand for energetic remonstrance by our representatives in China, for the punishment of the inciters of the mob and indemnification for the property destroyed? The scene which might have occurred in China has occurred in the United States. A mob of about a thousand persons-not wild Indians, but civilized men-attacked the Chinese in Denver, October 31st, and, with cries of "Lynch the lepers!" beat, shot, and mutilated the defenseless and unoffending foreigners, tore down their houses and destroyed their property; and the police and fire department combined sould not stay the rioters. Such outbreaks are exceedingly mortifying to our national pride. It is bad enough when the savage Indians descend upon settlers and massacre them horribly; but this is only done in retaliation for wrongs reeeived. What wrongs have this miserable erowd of mad men at Denver received at the hands of the 150 Chinese in that town? Our notion of the proper treat. ment of such an outbreak would be to sweep the streets with a battery of cannon, loaded with grape shot. This is the kind of argument that such men would listen to. And now what is to be done in the way of reparation to China? Nations go to war for far less sufficient causes than

NEW BOOKS AND NEW EDITIONS.

Several books—a few only of a number lately received at our Book Room-have been brought under our notice:

The Gospel Miracles, in their relation to Christ and Christianity, by Wm. M. Taylor, D.D., will be widely read at a period when the strength of the many evidences of the Divine origin of the Gospel is being so severely tested. This book consists of a series of lectures on miracles delivered before the students of Princeton Theological Seminary, and published by request of members of the Faculty. We advise our young ministers to procure it and make themselves masters of its contents.

" Stones Crying Out and Rock-Witness to the Narratives of the Bible, concerning the Times of the Jews," by L. N. B.,author of the Book and Its Story, is a title which—unlike some titles—explains the purport of the book which bears it. Its clear presentation of the evidence of the last twenty years in favor of the truthada Temperance Act, was an enthusiastic fulness of history, as presented in the Scriptures, and its abundant illustrations. make it valuable as a gift-book for wouth.

Mr. Baycott had done nothing to displease the tenantry of the vicinity, but on the contrary has done everything possible to satisfy the reasonable demands of his own workers, and made every effort to live at peace with his neighbors. In spite of this, and through the influence of the Land League, his position is a serious one. His farm and person are only safe through the protection of a guard of constabulary. No farm servants dare enter his service, and on the 8th inst. when, accompanied by four men, he went to Ballimore to procure provisions a regiment had to be called out for his protection. He, however, has resolved to stay upon his farm and a large body of troops has been detailed for his protection, while a determined Ulster man has engaged to take a body of laborers, fully armed, with him and gather in the harvest, provided his expenses are paid.

MARRIED BY MISTAKE. On July 22nd last, a number of young people had assembled at the house of a friend in Lisbon, N. H., to spend the evening in social enjoyment. During the evening a marriage was proposed (in sport, as is alleged) between a young man from Lyman and a young lady from Lisbon. They stood up together and the ceremony was performed by one of the gentlemen present, and they were pronounced man and wife. The parties considered the whole thing was in jess, and had no intention of becoming legally married. It happened, however, that the person who performed the ceremony was Justice of the Peace, and, as such, authorized by the laws of the State to solemnize marriages. When this fact became known it caused great consternation to the parties affected, and much gossip in the neighborhood. Legal advice was taken and a petition for nullity was filed under the statute providing that, when any doubt exists whether a marriage is void, a libel may be filed, and nullity pronounced accordingly. The circumstances of the marriage, as detailed above, having been proved to the satisfaction of the Court, a decree has just been entered, declaring the marriage null and void, and the parties are free to wed the persons of their choice. -N. From Bocabec, N. B., Rev. W. Wass writes that a melodeon, blinds and carpets placed in the church there have made it much more cheerful and attractive. The church at Digdeguash has also undergone a thorough renovation. From the friends at the latter place the young pastor desires to acknowledge the gift of every valuable overcoat, of the benefit of which he expects to become more conscious when winter shall lay its grasp more firmly upon us. On the lat inst, at Pleasant Ridge two persons were received into the fellowship of the church. The baptismal, reception and sacramental services were very interesting. Rev. D. Chapman—Chairman of the District cheered the congregation by his presence and words. A most liberal collection and subscription was taken at the missionary meeting on the evening of that day.

MRS. TYRUS HART .- MEMORIALS OF ME THODISM IN GUYSBORO.

An obituary of the late Mrs. Alex. Maguire appeared in your issue of August Permit me to correct a mistake which occured in that notice. It was not Mis Maguire, as stated, who was converted under the sermon alluded to, but a Kinnon.

Since that notice appeared another name must be added to the list of "noble | Rev. William Hansford and W. H. Lamwomen," on the Guysboro circuit, who were our beliers there. I refer to the late Mrs. Tyrus Hart, formerly of Cape Canso; but late of Guysboro. Her conversion is connected with the old church of that R Duncan and Josiah Wood, Esq., N B cannot now be definitely ascertained. It occurred however when the Rev. Matthew Cranswick was stationed on the Ship Harbor-no Port Hawkesbury-circuit; and was c -incident with the formation of the first Math dist class meeting ever held in the Easten counties of the Province. As the last connecting link that bound us to these events has been severed in Mrs. Hart's death, dates and details cannot be accurately given; but from reliable an hority the circumstances may be thus stated.

The Rev. Wm. Webb, then occupying the Guysboro' circuit, had gathered a small class consisting of seven members; and, having made arrangements for the opening of the new church. Mr. Crans. wick, who I presume was the superintendent of the Guysbore' Circuit, was called from Ship Harbor-to conduct the dedicatory services. It appears to have been in connection with these services that the first Methodist communion service was held in Guysboro'. It consisted of the seven members, making with the young minister we suppose, the eight, of which the first class, was said to be formed; or was there another name? It appears further from some unexplained circumstances, which cannot now be ascertained, that the communion was administered previously to the opening of the church in a private house.

The names of those who attended this communion service, are worthy of record, and I give them to go down to posterity, with all who have laid the foundations of our Zion. They are: Miss Charlotte Newton, Mr. John Scott, Mr. & Mrs. Frances Cook, Mrs Shaw. Miss Sarah Hart, and Miss Arabella MacIntosh, whose name afterward changed to Hart, stands at the head of this notice.

Miss Newton's name was intimately connected with the growth of Methodism for I suppose, more than half a century. She left ample materials for interesting | S. F. Huestis, R. Duncan, T. Harris, W. memorial notices. Her name is still a J. Hunter and Messrs. A. J. Donly. Dr. household word in Guysboro'; and ber Norris, W. H. Lambly, J. W. Smith, J. grave is visited with interest as a sacred place. Some years ago it was visited by the writer and was unmarked by tablet or stone. Miss Sarah Hait, aunt to the late Rev. Joseph Hart and two brothers still in the ministry, was widely known as the first devoted wife of the Rev. William Smith. Her prayers on every circuit they travelled are spoken of as kindling the flame of revival, under her husband's ministry. To use the words of Augustine "her life was one long connected prayer." It is to be regretted that no fitting memorial has yet been given either of her or her devoted husband. All these names are worthy of honorable mention,

Miss MacIntosb, as Mrs. Hart was then known, was the last surviving member of this list. She was converted to God under Mr. Webb's ministry when but eighteen or : wenty years of age. Methodism was "the sect then everywhere spoken against," and we are not surprised that her connection with it awakened opposition, and caused domestic difficulty. The change she had experienced was so marked, the light she had received was so clear, that she dared not put it under a bushel. In a matter that pertained to her soul's salvation, she felt that she must obey God rather than man. This decision of character which at this early period in life led her to weigh the conflicting claims of duty to an earthly and a Heavenly parent; and to decide for the latter distinguished her as a true disciple of Him who said, "He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of

It could not have been long after this when she was united in marriage to Mr. Tyrus Hart, then engaged in mercantile pursuits in the town of Guysboro'. Some years afterwards they removed to Cape Canso, where they continued their mercantile pursuits until Mr. Hatt's failing health necessitated his retirement, thus throwing upon her the double responsibility of carrying on the business alone and caring for her husband, which she did with assiduous attention, for several years, till death released him from mortal suffering.

For many years, while struggling to hold her position, and maintain her family, her house and her heart were ever open to the cause that was dearer to her than thorize the General Secretary to lay any earthly interest. Through all these a printed statement of the whole matyears of adversity, and years of sorer trial that succeeded in the breaking up of her home associations—dispensations that come sooner or later upon all-she maintained a cheerful, even temper-rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation-loving Methodism, its people, and its ministers, and all good people of every name, and last but not least, loving Him-her Saviour-to whom all love is due.

P.S.—Since writing the above I have learned that the old church was opened Nov. 1st, 1829 Rev. Messrs. Cranswick, Hennigar and Webb were present. From the tablet on the Hawkesbury Church, "Bethel 1828," it appears that the latter was erected but one year before the former. FIRST-We make our Staple Goods by HAND at the INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, and are thus able to produce a much better article than those made by Machinery. SECONDLY-By making our Goods and sellin them ourselves, you get them first hand, hence you have only to pay for the material and one small profit.

THIRDLY—As you buy from the maker his responsibility to you is greater than if he had purchasthe goods of another and was selling them again. If the style and size of the boots does not suit, you can have them made at a triffing additional cost We sell for CASH and cash only to keep strictly to this we cannot send out for approval, all parcels being paid for before they are sent.

Should they not suit we will return the money: Consequently the cash buyer is not compelled to pay those bills that are lost as the result of the CREDIT SYSTEM. These with many other advantages we could mention, warrant us we think in reasserting that we can give better value than any house in the trade.

COMPOUND SYRUP OF

FOR THE RELIEF AND CURE

WASTING DISEASES.

Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, General Debility, Brain Exhaustion, Chronic Constipation, Chronic Diarrhœa, Dyspepsia, or Loss of Nervous Power. It is unequalled in the treatment of Palpitation of the Heart, Trembling of the Hands and Limbs, Loss of Appetite, Energy or Memory

It acts with vigor, gentleness and subtlety, owing to the exquisite harmony of its ingredients, akin to pure blood itself. Its taste is pleasant, and referres permanent. Its first apparent effect is to increase the appetite. It assists digestion, and causes the food to assimilate properly—thus the system is nourished. It also, by its tonic action on the digestive organs, induces more copious and regular evacuations. The rapidity with which patients take on flesh while under the influence of the Syrup, of itself indicates that no other preparation can be better adapted to help and nourish the constitution, and hence be more efficacious in all depression of spirits, shaking or trembling of the hands or body, cough, shortness of breath, or consumptive habit. The nerves and muscles become strengthened, and the blood purified.

READ WHAT THE INVENTOR, MR. FELLOWS, HAS TO SAY ABOUT HIS SYRUP OF THE HYPOPHOSPHITES.

In the summer of 1864, I was suddenly effected by a copious expectoration of muco-purulent matter. I had been declining in health for some months, and, being exceedingly nervous, the symptoms caused alarm. As my business was that of a dispensing chemist, the shop was constantly visited by medical men, all of whom tendered their advice. During 1864 and 1865 my chest was examined by ten first class physicians, some of whom pronounced the case Bronchitis; some, not wishing to cause alarm, or unwilling to venture an epinion, gave no decision; some stated unequivocally that I had Tubercular Disease of the Lungs, and located the trouble where the pains were felt. By professional advice, I used, in turn, horse-back excrcise, country life, eggs and ale in the morning, tonics, Bourbon whiskey, cod-liver oil, electricity, tar, and various inhalents, but the trouble increased. Expectoration became more profuse and offensive. Night-sweats set in. Cold chills, diarrhosa, dyspacea, cough, blood-streaked expectorations, loss of sleep, loss of appetite, loss of memory, loss of ambition, accompanied by general prostration, showed themselves. Under the microscope the blood was found to contain but a small portion of vitalized corpuscles; the heart's action was feeble; the pulse intermittent; the stomach could not digest properly, so that flatulency and acidity was the result. Finding the symptoms indicated Consumption, I determined to use every effort to stay its progress, and, if possible, to cure it. I selected the most powerful tonics and moderators, and combined them with the vital constituents of the human body. For months I endeav. ored to amalgamate them before my efforts were crowned with success. I count speak too plainly or too strongly of the effects produced, and the benefits 1. ed from the composition.

At first my appeare ingreased; the expectoration became easy, Ingration better; the faces became more conious and less frequent; cold chills ceased; night-sweats lessened: I gained in weight; the backing cough left me; refreshing sleep returned; my spirits became buoyant, the mind active and vigorous. I continued taking the Syrup month after month; but owing to the damp, foggy climate of St. John, my recovery was necessarily slow, although I could observe a gradual return of strength for three years, during which time I continued taking the remedy. My present weight is one hundred and eighty-eight, being thirty-eight above my usual. I have no symptoms left denoting disease. The only notable aign during twelve months was the expectoration. Now that has stopped, and I consider myself well. The reader may ask, How do you know your difficulty to have proceeded from ulcerated or tuberculated lung? I answer, In the most certain of all modes for ascertaining. In March last I coughed from the right lung a piece of PHOSPHATE OF LIME, half the size of a pea, which could have come from no other place, and which the highest authority in Lung Diseases (Laennec) states is the result of tubercle, which has been owed. Added to this, I had the leaden-colored, purulent, blood - streaked expectoration, and the opinion of one of the best diagnosticians in the country. I believe I have experienced all the symptoms incident to the two first stages of Censumption, and have successfully combatted them, so that I do not despair of any case where there is left sufficient lung tissue to build upon. I can only add that the mere monetary consideration of increased sales would never induce me to publish this report, but a sincere sympathy for the poor Consumptive, with whose misfortune I believe it villany to trifle.

SUBSTITUTES!

The public are cautioned against a custom which is growing quite common of late among a certain ciass of medicine dealers, and which is this; When asked for a bottle of Pain-Killer, they suddenly discover that they are "sold out." "but have another article just as good, if not better." which they will supply at the same price. The object of this deception is transparent. These substitutes are made up to sell on the great reputation of the Pain-Killer; and being compounded of the vilest and cheapest drugs, are bought by the dealer at about half what he pays for the genuine Pain-Killer, which enables him therefore to realize a few cents more profit per bottle upon the imitation article than he can on the

C. GATES, SON & Co :- Gentlemen-For over two years I have suffered from Dropsy and Liser Complaint, and was reduced very low; could as walk across the room. In the meantime I had consulted all the doctors around, wherever I was but they did nothing that helped. But still I grew worse until my life was dispaired of; my neigh bors looked for my death at any moment, when your agent J. Ford, gave me a phamplet, in which I saw my complaint described. He gave me the medicine, which I took, the No. 2, and 3 LIFS OF MAN BITTERS and No. 1 INVIGURATION TING SYRUP, with the Nerve Ointment Vegetable Plaster, in all six bottles and in at weeks I was almost well; in ten weeks I was strong and able to work, and to-day weigh more than ever I did in my life. Spavin Cured

St. John, N.B. January 6th, 1880. DEAR SIRS :- In regard to your favor of a few days ago, I would say:.. "About one year age a horse owned by me contracted a large Bone Spavin for the cure of which I tried a number o the liniments and lotions advertised to cure the same, without any effect, and he became very lame. A friend of mine recommended me to try FELLOWS' LEEMING'S ESSENCE. I acted upon his advice, and now I am happy to say the lamsness has ceased and the Spavin disappeared. I now consider him entirely cured, and would cheerfully recommend Fellows' Leeming's Es SENCE as being the best remedy in themarket for all lameness that horses are subject to.

Yours truly, THOMAS F. FRY.
