DOINGS AT OTTAWA AND EFFECT ON PROVINCES

One impending development is that of Sir Geo. Foster leaving North Toronto and contesting one of the constituencies in his native province of New Brunswick, whose representation he will share with Hon. Mr. Carvell. Hon. Mr. Rowell may possibly run in North Toronto but prefers a rural constituency. Sir Thomas White, who has represented Leeds is also being sought after in Toronto.

The successful formation of union government intensifies the desire for an early election. The tenth or seventeenth of December is most generally favored. The writs are likely to be issued at the end of this week allowing 28 full days between nomination and election. It is anticipated that there will be numerous acclamations in Ontario and the West. The elimination of party politics in dealing with the problems that will come before it will be the policy of the new ministry.

There is no intention of isolating the province of Quebec, rather it is the intention of the government to pay particular attention to the province, endeavoring to have it swing into line on national unity. The plan is to put up candidates in practically all the constituencies and to emphasize the desirability of all the provinces standing together in a progressive war policy.

Word already comes from Montreal of a wing of the Liberal party being formed to go into the union government with Hon. Dr. Beland, now a prisoner of war in Germany, and Hon. J. L. Perron, chosen as leader. Among the immediate problems which the new government must face is that of financing the wheat crop. With a high price fixed there will be no holding back by the farmers and the marketing of the grain will be unusually prompt. It will be necessary to raise three hundred millions in short order, and it is possible that farmers may be asked to accept the payment for their crop part cash and part government bonds, or credit notes redeemable in a few months. Meanwhile the cash would be raised. Another matter before the cabinet is certain drastic recommendations by the food controller limiting the margin of profit of various commodities and calculated to eliminate the operation of the middleman.

MR. ROWELL RESIGNS AS LIBERAL LEADER

Toronto, Oct. 15—Hon. N. W. Rowell has sent from Ottawa a letter to the Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature, announcing his resignation as leader of the Liberal Party in the Province.

Referring to the meeting in Ottawa at which he was asked to join the Borden Government, he says: "As I had advocated conscription and Union Government for many months I felt that I could not refuse to join with other Liberal leaders in helping to form such a Government."

CLASSING MEN FOR SERVICES

Those in first class under Military Service Act are placed in grades

OTTAWA, October 15—Only those men found physically fit for combatant service overseas by the medical boards will be included in the first quotas called to the colors under the Military Service Act. Such men are now being placed by the examiners in Category A.

Men not in flawless physical condition are being classed as to their fitness for war service in non-combatant units, either in Canada or overseas according to the shape they are in. Such men may be called up later and re-examined or they may be called for non-combatant services. The immediate need, of course, is for men fit for active services.

Experience shows that the physical condition of men varies greatly; that is a man may improve greatly in a few weeks or months. Some of those passed as fit by the medical boards recently had been rejected by the doctors when they had applied for enlistment in the volunteer forces.

RUSSIANS ARE RESISTING ATTACK.

Petrograd, Oct. 15—The text of today's official statement reads:

"Northern, southwestern and Roumanian fronts: There were fusillades.

"Caucasus front: The situation is unchanged.

"Baltic Sea: The fighting yesterday for possession of the Island of Oesel continued. After the repulse of Saturday, Arensburg was occupied by the enemy at seven p.m. Advanced detachments were observed the day before from four to six miles from the town.

"Enemy naval and air forces are energetically supporting their land operations and are attacking the north and south of the island. The south squadron of enemy cruisers, torpedo boats and trawlers attempted to force the entrance to the channels. Its further movements into the Gulf of Riga, are covered by our long range artillery from the Island of Oesel.

"The northern group of enemy warships dispatched a squadron of torpedo boats, between the Islands of Oesel and Dago, which presented back our patrol boats in the direction of Moonsund. Our naval forces reinforcing the patrol boats accepted battle and the enemy retired.

"A third group of enemy warships consisting of cruisers and torpedo boats, approached after noon the southwestern coasts of the Island of Oesel, and bombarded an unimportant part of the coast.

"Enemy submarines were observed several times at different places in the Baltic.

"No, no, I don't write music. I write about music, about musicians. I criticize—"

"Well, yer don't write about somethin' yer don't know about do yer?"

"No, no; but—"

"You're a musician. I can't waste all day with yer. Where yer work?"

"I am a music critic on The Daily Inquirer—"

"On the paper? What yer given us then? You're a noose-paper man. Say, know Barney, write sports?"

"Yes, but I am not in that department, I—"

"Say, feller, what do yer do fer a livin'?"

"I go to concerts and—"

"I asked yer what yer do fer a livin'—"

"Yes, sir. I go to concerts and write stories about the artists and—"

"Then yer report what's going on in concerts?"

"Exactly, I—"

"Why didn't yer say in the first place yer're a reporter. Some of you noosepaper boys make me sick. Next"—Musical America.

BRITISH REPULSE RAIDS

London, Oct. 15—The British official communication issued this evening says: Late reports show that the number of prisoners we captured in yesterday's raid southeast of Monchy le Preux was 64, including two officers.

"A hostile raiding party was repulsed last night east of the Shrewsbury forest. On the battle front the activity of our own and the enemy's artillery continues. The hostile artillery has shown more activity during the day in the neighborhood of Lens and in the Nieuport sector.

"Aviation: Yesterday there was a slight improvement in the weather and artillery work and photography were carried out by our airplanes. One and a half tons of bombs were dropped on the Ledghem railway station and hostile billets east of Lens.

"In air fighting, three German airplanes were brought down and one driven down out of control. Two of our machines are missing."

PARIS, Oct. 15—The announcement by the War Office

tonight by the War Office two tonight reads:

"In the region of the plateaus between allies and Craonne the artillery was silent during the course of the day. Patrol encountered occurred in the Champagne west of Auboyve. There was an intermittent cannonade on the rest of the front.

BORDEN'S GREAT WIN-THE-WAR CABINET

Hon. F. B. Carvell is Minister of Public Works

Premier Murray is Expected to Take a Portfolio

Ottawa, Oct. 14—When F. B. Carvell took the oath of office as minister of public works in the Union-Victory cabinet on Saturday there was practically completed the most powerful combination, both from a political and administrative standpoint, that has governed Canada since Confederation. The Cabinet as it stands is as follows:

Prime Minister and Secretary of State for External Affairs—Sir Robert Borden, (Conservative.)

Minister of Finance—Sir Thomas White (Conservative.)

Minister of Public Works—Hon. F. B. Carvell (Liberal)

Minister of Militia in Canada—General S. C. Mewburn (Liberal)

Minister Militia Overseas—Sir Edward Kemp (Conservative)

Minister of Justice—Hon. C. J. Doherty (Conservative)

Minister of Marine and Fisheries—Hon. C. C. Ballantyne (Liberal)

Minister of Trade and Commerce—Sir George E. Foster, (Conservative.)

Minister of the Interior—Hon. Arthur Meighen (Conservative)

Minister of Railways—Hon. J. D. Reid (Conservative)

Minister of Customs—Hon. A. L. Sifton (Liberal)

President of the Council—Hon. N. W. Rowell (Liberal)

Minister of Immigration and Colonization—Hon. J. A. Calder (Liberal)

Minister of Agriculture—Hon. T. A. Crerar (Liberal)

Secretary of State—Hon. G. H. Murray (Liberal) Probable.

Solicitor General—Hon. Hugh Guthrie (Liberal)

Without portfolio—Hon. F. Cochrane

Without portfolio—Sir James Lougheed.

The latest liberal—and the greatest fighter of them all—to be taken into the administration was Frank B. Carvell. Mr. Carvell had the choice of either marine and fisheries of Public works and chose the latter, Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, who had been given the department of works, made way for his new colleague by going to the department of marine and fisheries, succeeding Hon. J. D. Hazen, who as already announced, is to be appointed chief justice of the supreme court of New Brunswick.

Hon. G. H. Murray left for Halifax on Saturday afternoon. It is regarded as absolutely reliable authority that Mr. Murray has practically assured Sir Robert Borden that he will enter the administration. It is understood that he is to be given the portfolio of secretary of state, succeeding in turn Hon. T. W. Crothers, who is going to the Ontario bench.

In parliamentary and political circles in Ottawa the new cabinet is hailed as marking one of the most decisive and important steps that Canada has taken since the commencement of the war. Adherents of both political parties are unanimous in the verdict that the coalition comprises the most powerful political combination brought together since confederation. Even pro-Laurier liberals frankly admit that because of its personnel and the vast political organizations which it controls, its defeat in the coming elections is practically rendered impossible.

Indeed, speculation is rife as to what effect the formation of such a formidable administration will have upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier's wavering determination to retain the Liberal leadership. They point out that even had Union government failed, and the liberal party lined up in solid phalanx, Sir Wilfrid's chances of regaining office were in doubt; and hey ask what possibility there can be of Laurier victory now when pro-Union pro-Victory liberals are joining hands with Sir Robert Borden, when practically all the outstanding leaders of the party are within or behind the new government, and when nearly all the powerful provincial liberal machines are withdrawn from his leader's support.

British Raid Hun Trenches

London, Oct. 15—No further infantry engagements have occurred on the front of the British attack in Belgium. In successful raids yesterday big losses were inflicted on the Germans. The following is the official statement:

"Our position on the main ridge, south of Broodseinde, were heavily bombarded during the night by the enemy. No infantry action has taken place.

"In a successful raid carried out yesterday afternoon, southeast of Monchy Le Preux, East County troops captured 36 prisoners and two machine guns. Two hundred Germans were killed by the infantry and seven of the enemy's dugouts were destroyed with explosives.

"Another successful raid was carried out by South Midland Territorials early last night, northeast of Roux. A number of the enemy were killed, his dugouts destroyed and 12 prisoners were taken.

PUBLIC OPINION FAVORS THE UNION VICTORY GOVERNMENT FORMED BY SIR R. L. BORDEN

(From the Toronto Globe)

Those who predicted the failure of the Union government movement, or an election virtually on the old party lines, had not fathomed the deeper currents of public opinion. It is idle to say that the consummation at Ottawa is merely the work of a few politicians or political coteries, with no mandate from the country. Take for example, the situation in Western Canada. At the recent Winnipeg convention the supporters of the Military Service act consented, after a struggle and for the sake of "party unity" to a set of resolutions which while implying support of compulsory service were not sufficiently definite to satisfy the rank and file of western liberalism. Immediately Liberals in all parts of the west took matters into their own hands, and opened negotiations for the nomination of fashion candidates. In entering the government Messrs. Calder, Crerar and Sifton represent, not a politicians, but a People's movement in the Liberal strongholds of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta.

The Globe maintained months ago that the differences on the question of military policy which have been agitating the country could not be reconciled by the arts of political management. The attempt to preserve the unity of the Liberal party by a highly elastic formula failed in west, where liberalism is the creed of the great majority. In Ontario it would have been equally impossible to fight the election on a strict party alignment if the Liberal leader were an opponent of the Military Service Act. The conditions are the same in the Maritime Provinces. Party "unity" under such circumstances could be achieved only by the Liberal tradition of independent judgment.

In supporting a Union government Liberals will not be stultified by their criticisms of the Borden administration. In The Globe's opinion, and the opinion of nearly all Liberals, the government has been woefully weak in times that required vigor and courage in the highest degree. The Globe has no intention of recalling the strictures it passed on certain methods and measures of the Borden ministry. But the Borden ministry has ceased to exist, and Liberals who have joined some of its members in a new administration cannot be held responsible for its sins of omission and commission, any more than Brown, Mowat, and Macdougall could be accountable for the record of Macdonald and Carter. Liberals who view with displeasure the association of their leaders with invertebrate political enemies should bear in mind that many Conservatives have the same feeling, and bitterly opposed Sir Robert Borden's efforts at Union. Sir Robert Borden has had to fight this wing of his party, which hoped to keep a monopoly of office and patronage, and he has shown a determination which too often failed him in the past in his relations with strong minded colleagues. In the persistence with which he has clung to the Union idea since he became convinced of the necessity of coalition as a war policy, he has put something to his credit.

The position of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his attitude to the new developments will be a matter of deep concern to all Canadians. He has announced, thru The Canadian Liberal Monthly, that if returned to power his policy would be:

(1) A supreme effort, by a systematic and thoro National war organization to secure by voluntary enlistment the necessary number of recruits.

(2) a referendum if this effort fails.

(3) The acceptance of the verdict in every part of Canada if the vote favors conscription.

(4) A resumption of recruiting efforts of conscription is negatived.

This means that the operation of the Military Service act would cease, pending a referendum, even if only a portion of the first draft of 100,000 were called to the colors before the election, as will be probably the case. Not many candidates outside of Quebec will frankly support this program. It may safely be assumed, however, that in the next parliament, if Sir Wilfrid is not able to form an administration of his own, he will be a friendly and helpful critic of the Union government in all its war measures, except in so far as they conflict with his ideas on compulsory service.

The Globe welcomes the formation of a Union government, with so strong a personnel, and looks with hope for a vigorous handling of the many sided problems of the war. The people will await with interest the announcement of its purpose and plans. They will judge the new administration on its merits and record.

RESULTS WITH ROOT SEED GROWING IN CANADA

(Experimental Farms Note)

Among the problems that the great war has created for Canada, the problem of growing root seed, i.e. seed of swede and fall turnips, mangels, and field carrots, may seem rather insignificant to the average Canadian citizen. Yet that problem is today one of the most vital to the Canadian farmer, notably the dairy farmer, inasmuch as it is directly connected with the providing of that indispensable stock that is generally referred to as "roots."

In 1915, Canada imported a total of 1,927,313 pounds of turnip seed, and 1,056,060 pounds of mangel and beet seed. In 1916, the import of turnip seed dwindled to 150,855 pounds and the import of mangel and beet seed to 636,797 pounds; and for 1917, the figures stand at 291,379 pounds for turnip seed and 891,677 pounds for mangel and beet seed. This means that Canada imported a total of these most important farm seeds, in the years of 1916 and 1917, which falls short of the import of 1915 alone of, roughly one million pounds. It should be added that practically every pound of field root seed in this country is of European origin.

That Canada was running a great risk of having her supply of root seed from Europe shut off, partly or wholly, as a result of the war, was regrettably predicted in an Experimental Farms bulletin entitled "Growing Field Root, Vegetable and Flower Seeds in Canada," issued early in 1915. In the said bulletin, an appeal was made—as has also repeatedly been done later in many issues of "Seasonable Hints" distributed by the Dominion Experimental Farms System—to Canadian farmers and others interested in the seed supply being kept up, urging that Canada could not afford to take the risk of relying on import from Europe either under prevailing war conditions or immediately after the conclusion of peace. It was emphatically stated that "Canada should make herself independent of foreign markets and produce at home what now as to be bought from abroad."

Canadian farmers should not only try to meet the emergency demand for field root seed in the immediate future, but also try to establish a permanent seed-growing industry which would make them independent of any other country." The bulletin went further and predicted "that many districts of Canada where root seed growing is unknown at present, will prove themselves not only able to reduce seed of good quality, but also to be especially well adapted to seed raising."

To what extent this prediction was justified, will be shown by the data following what results in root seed raising were obtained in the year of 1915. In that year the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa raised, from a field about 1-1/2 acres a first class mangel seed crop at the rate of about 1,150 pounds of seed to the acre. Mangel seed was produced at the Experimental Farm at Agassiz, B. C., at the rate of 2,100 pounds per acre, at the Experimental Station at Lennoxville, Que., at the rate of 1,150 pounds per acre and at the experimental Station at Kentville, N. S. at the rate of 2,100 pounds per acre. The same year the Experimental Station at Lennoxville, Que., raised swede turnip seed at the rate of close to 1,250 to the acre.

But what about the profit? Does it pay the grower to raise that kind of crop? As an answer, it may be stated that there was according to records kept, a net profit of about $80 per acre from the mangel seed crop at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, in 1915. And this in spite of the fact that the men handling the crop were quite unfamiliar with the same.

The above figures indicate, most decidedly, that there are, in Canada, great opportunities for developing a new field in agricultural activity promising substantial rewards, from a profit standpoint, to those who take up root seed growing conscientiously and in a business like manner.

May it also be added that the raising, in Canada, of the seed needed in the country will directly help to increase the average yield of the root crops of the Dominion. This will, however, be discussed in a special article.

10,000 CATTLE BURNED

Kansas City, Oct. 16—More than one half of the Kansas city stock yards, the second largest in the country, was destroyed by fire early today. It was estimated, after the fire had been brought under control, after raging for two hours, that several thousand head of cattle had been destroyed. Some estimates ran as high as ten thousand. The origin of the fire was undetermined. No estimate of the financial loss was available early today.

OBITUARY

M. Blanche Bishop, M. A.
On Tuesday last the death took place at the residence of her father, Gustavus Bishop, Esq., of M. Blanche Bishop. The funeral service was held on Thursday and was largely attended.

Miss Bishop was a young lady of exceptional attainments, she graduated from Acadia College in 1886 in a class of 15, she was the third lady graduate of the University, the first being Clara Marshall in 1884 and Mrs. Donald Grant in 1885. She took the degree of M. A. in 1894, two other young lady graduates of Acadia receiving same degree that year Misses Annie and Mildred MacLean. She travelled extensively in Europe and filled important positions as teacher at Moulton Ladies College, Toronto, Harding Hall, London, Ont., and for many years a valued member of the staff of Acadia Seminary.

She was well known as a short stories and magazine articles for "Independent," Canadian Magazine, Youths Companion, etc., and three of her poems are published in the Treasury of Canadian Verse.

Of late years her health has been failing and her many friends were saddened to see her gradually decline.

A PRETTY WEDDING

Taylor-Royce

On Thursday afternoon, Sept. 27th, at half past two o'clock, the Baptist church at Falmouth, which had been prettily decorated for the occasion, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Myrtle Taylor daughter of Mr. W. O. Taylor, of Wolfville, and adopted daughter since infancy of Mr. and Mrs. Burpee Shaw, of Falmouth, became the wife of Mr. James C. Royce, of Royce Bros., Brokers in Cotton Exchange, New York.

The bride, who looked exceedingly well in a handsome tailored travelling suit of navy blue serge with hat to match, entered the church with Mr. Burpee Shaw as the organist. Mrs. L. P. Fuller, rendered the wedding march.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Oakdale, Falmouth, the home of the bride at which a large number of relatives and friends were present from Falmouth, Wolfville and Middleton. During the reception telegrams of congratulations were received from the Cotton Stock Exchange and other friends in New York. There was a large collection of valuable presents consisting of silver, cut glass, china, linen and gold coins. The groom's present to the bride was a diamond brooch, to the organist a gold bracelet, and to the ushers Messrs. Colin and Clyde Taylor, cousins of the bride, gold tie pins.

The bride, who was one of Falmouth's fairest and most popular young ladies, will be much missed in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Royce left by auto for Windsor station, where they took the train for Halifax, thence to Boston, Washington and Southern States, before returning to their home in Cranford, New York.—Acadian.

Miss Annie Bennett, who has been visiting at Billtown, has returned home to Berwick.

A Heintzman in your home will open a new world of wonder to you, develop the musical talent of your family and endow them with a sixth sense with which to appreciate life. What would one mean in the long winter nights with a grate fire, the curtains drawn, the lights low?

As the palaces of the Orient were built to music, so seems every line and surface of this splendid instrument. How otherwise could they make mere wood express so definitely the music it was meant to provoke? You will not find satisfaction until you have examined the Heintzman.

In election for constitutional prohibition in Iowa

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 16—Returns today from more than two-thirds of the precincts of the State on election of constitutional prohibition, held in Iowa yesterday, indicate that the amendment for bidding the manufacture and the sale of liquor was adopted by a majority of about ten thousand.

Prohibition by statute prevails in Iowa at present.

The engagement is announced between Miss Bertie Bedina Mitcher, of Lockartville, Kings county, N. S., and Mr. Sydney Edward Bowden Elliot, of Halifax. Mr. Elliot is well known in Halifax. He is the second son of Major T. B. Elliot, R. M. and grandson of General Sir G. Freeman. He served on the Boxer Risings in China in 1898 and was with the naval forces in Africa as a Lieutenant. When the present war broke out he was in Florida and went to Bermuda and joined the R. C. R.'s. He was wounded on two occasions and is now discharged. They will reside on the Bluff at Hantsport, where Mr. Elliot has procured the Sheridan estate.

BULGARIA IS WEARY OF WAR

May be a Political Change of Grave Importance and Most Unwelcome to Germany

LONDON, Oct. 16—The Times, in an article headed, "Bulgaria's war weariness," says: "The Radoslavoff Government is extremely unpopular. The Premier and his friends could not hold thirty of the 245 seats in the Sobranje if the elections took place now. Bulgaria is beginning to see that Germany cannot win, and therefore Bulgaria cannot keep Macedonia and Dobruja. To profound misgivings and dissatisfaction with the Radoslavoff policy, there is added the exasperation of notorious corruption. Many persons in Bulgaria believe that Radoslavoff and Toucheff, the Finance Minister, made large fortunes out of the war. They have, it is suspected, taken their price from Germany. The Bulgaria people, as a whole, says the writer, never altogether favored German connection, and are desperately tired of having their manhood in the trenches. The Bulgarian people, as a day, and it seems likely Radoslavoff will be defeated and will resign. What the policy of the proposition will be it would be rash to prophecy, the change may be of real importance, with consequence as unwelcome to Germany as it will be welcome to an overwhelming majority of Bulgaria people and army."

GERMAN DREADNOUGHTS SHELL RUSSIAN FLEET FROM LONG RANGE AND SINK THE SLAVA

BERLIN, October 18, via London—The Germans have taken ten thousand prisoners and fifty guns on Oesel Island, the War Office reports. The Russian naval forces in the Gulf of Riga have been trapped by the Germans, according to the announcement. It says German naval units are lying in the eastern portion of Kassar Bay, north of Oesel Island, and are barring the passage westward. Portions of the German naval forces pressed forward through the mine field in the Gulf of Riga to the southern exit of Moon Sound. The statement with about twenty Russian warships, which later retired to Moon Sound.

A despatch from Petrograd says: "After depriving us of control of Irbo Channel, the enemy at night penetrated the Gulf of Riga where, at dawn yesterday his naval forces were discovered by our patrol detachment, which was pressed back to Moon Sound by enemy cruisers and torpedo boats. Our ships of the line, the Graydanin and Slava, and the cruiser Bayan, went out to meet the enemy in the Gulf of Riga and drove back his vanguard by their fire. They soon encountered the principal enemy fighting units and engaged them. Among the latter were two dreadnoughts of the Grosser Kurfuert type, (25,000 tons.)

The Slava Sank "During the battle the enemy adopted the tactics of firing at distances beyond the range of our guns, his artillery range being much superior to the artillery of our old ships of the line. In spite of the clearly manifested superiority of the enemy our ships defended the entrance for a considerable time, and only severe damage caused by the fire of his dreadnoughts, forced us to retire into the waters of the Moon Sound. As a result of several hits beneath the waterline, the Slava sank. Nearly all the crew were saved by our torpedo boats.

"During this engagement our coast batteries at the entrance to Moon Sound dispersed by our fire enemy torpedo boats which attempted to approach our ships. Afterwards the fire of one of the enemy dreadnoughts was directed on these batteries and they were put out of action in a short time. Another detachment of our naval forces in Moon Sound kept back fierce enemy attacks from the north in the rear of our combatting forces. These enemy attempts did not succeed."

Battled up in Moon Sound Apparently contingents of the Russian fleet—in all about twenty warships of various classes—are bottled up in Moon Sound, with a cordon of German warcraft barring their egress northward back into the Gulf of Finland, or to the south into the Gulf of Riga.

25,000 CLASS "A's" ENLIST

Ottawa, Oct. 17—Twenty-five thousand men, approximately have been already assed the category "A" before the medical tribunals established under the Military Service Act. "A" men are those considered fit for general service overseas. Up to the end of last week, men who submitted themselves for medical examination throughout the Dominion, with the categories, were:

Category "A" . . . . . 23,989
Other Medical categories . . . 28,634
Total examinations . . . . . 52,623

With the exception of those of Saturday last—when the first proclamation under the act was issued—these medical examinations were entirely voluntary. The figures for last week show a decided improvement over those of the previous week and are considered very satisfactory. The total of medical examination last week was 25,006, as compared with 15,561 the previous week. The Toronto military district led, with Montreal close behind and London third.

"RALPH CONNOR" IN THE SYNOD

The Synod of the Presbyterian Church of the Maritime Provinces met in session at New Glasgow last week.

The different sessions were all full of interest, but to our mind the greatest event in all the Synod's meetings was the address of Maj. Rev. Charles Gordon (Ralph Connor) who is home from the front.

The times are dark and fearful, but the spirit of the boys at the front are undismayed, and they feel that the great forces which ever roll onward in their majesty and might are on our side.

He told of the passion of devotion and the wealth of sacrifice that abounds in this war of souls.

There is abundance of the essence of religion at the front. Distinction of Catholic and Protestant have disappeared.

Two things are in the boys' creed at the front. The first is that "God is around somewhere," and the second is "We will do our duty even unto death."

The Chaplain's duty is to look after the bodies, the tempers, spirits, faith, and keep them fit and steady.

The men feel that God is near. He is kind and good. Trust in Him, give Him your confidence, and He will help.

brotherhood of the trenches. This is worth while going to France for. God placed the British Empire in the seven seas to bless the world with liberty and honor and faith and humanity.

BOILING DEAD GERMANS

Germany has claimed that the announcement that they were extracting fat from the bodies of dead soldiers was based on a mistake.

Unfortunately for this lie a copy was captured of The Rally Army Order, issued by supreme command of the Sixth German Army, Dec. 21st, 1916.

It has become necessary once more to lay stress on the fact that when corpses are sent to the corpse utilization establishments returns as to the unit, date of death, illness, and information as to (contagious) diseases, if any, are to be furnished at the same time.

This order leaves no room for doubt that the Kaiser is demanding unprecedented services from his subjects both dead and alive.

Josiah Slocombe sat at one end of the sofa and the only girl in the world sat at the other, and the silence was intense and prolonged.

"Josiah," said she, "what are you thinking about?"

"Oh—er—," he stammered, "the same as you are."

"If you are," she said, "I'll slap you!"

SOME CURIOUS WILLS MADE IN THE TRENCHES

The "latest will and testament" which the British private frequently writes into the little army "pay book" which he carries with him wherever he goes is an interesting study.

Wills made in the trenches are legal without witnesses, and such a will acceptable to the courts. Even if the signature is lacking, the will may still be accepted, if there is evidence as to the handwriting or intention of the testator.

Many of these trench wills have Tommy Atkins' characteristic touch of humor. Some are in dialect, some in phoenoctic spelling.

Here is a will in rhyme which was written while the soldier was on duty at a 'listening post' in No Man's Land:

I haven't a sweetheart, I haven't a mother; I've only one sister, not even a brother.

This will went through the courts without question, despite its unusual form.

Whoever first sets eyes on this Gets everything I leave, For my kith and kin are dead and gone.

There's a tidy bit in the bank you'll find, And my army pay, through small;

You're welcome to it all. This will was forwarded to England by the young sergeant who found it, and he shortly afterward received notice that the "tidy bit" which turned out to be a substantial sum of money, had been deposited to his account.

Still another will in rhyme was written by a private who had been cut off from his comrades for 3 days, without food or water and probably without sleep, for the greater part of that time, until the greatest desire in life seemed to him to get a big drink. It was as follows:

If I'm knocked out by bullet or bomb When over the top we go, A gallon of beer I leave to Tom Another to squint-eyed Joe.

Through days and nights of woe; Give my dad the rest—but if I go west, There's a drink for Tom and Joe.

In carrying out this bequest, owing to the fact that half the men in the company claimed to have been called "Tom" and "Joe" and by the testator, and the whole estate was finally turned over to the father it being left to him to carry out the "two gallons clause" as he should see fit.

A certain lady who was travelling in Canada, collecting data for her next book, stayed with a farmer's wife. When the farmer came in from the fields he stopped some time to rub his gum boots on the doormat.

"Where is your husband?" asked the visitor. "I thought I heard him at the door."

"He's cleanin' his 'gums' on the mat, ma'ma," said the farmer's wife.

When the book was sent to the publisher this passage caught his attention:

"Canadian settlers in the out-of-the-way districts can't get tooth-brushes, so they use the doormat"

MESSAGE FROM LIEUT. GOVERNOR GRANT

To the People of Nova Scotia:

Once again an appeal has come to us for funds to assist the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John in the magnificent work these organizations are doing to meet the needs of the sick, wounded and imprisoned sailors and soldiers of the Imperial Forces.

On the two previous occasions your response to the appeal was hearty and most generous. The demands are greater, and the necessity for contribution more urgent.

"If Canada fails us in October," Sir Arthur Stanley, Chairman of the British Red Cross Executive informs us, "we must curtail many of our activities."

His Excellency the Governor General and Her Excellency the Duchess of Devonshire, who, by reason of their close personal association with Red Cross work under the British Red Cross Society and the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, have had ample opportunity to watch the growth of these societies, recommend the Red Cross as the channel through which effective relief can be afforded to the sick and wounded of the Imperial Forces.

Wednesday, October 24th has been fixed as the day in this Province when all collections for this purpose should be completed.

Mr. H. A. Flemming, Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Halifax, has consented to continue to act as Honorary Treasurer of the Fund.

Mc. GRANT, Government House, Halifax, October 12th, 1917.

A frugal Scot, wishing to light up asked a number of fellow passengers for a match.

None of them having one, Sandy said resignedly: "Aweel, I'll have to use yin o' ma agin." — Boston Transcript.

The Prince Arthur Requisitioned By British Government.

Orders have been received by the Boston and Yarmouth S.S. Co to turn the Prince Arthur over to the naval authorities for service abroad. She will make her last trip from Yarmouth on Saturday next, after which she will probably be fitted out at Halifax and sent to England.

The North Star will probably perform the service between Boston and Yarmouth for the present. Yarmouthians in general express regret that we are to lose this fine steamer, especially fitted as she was to perform the trying service between Boston and Yarmouth in all kinds of weather.

The three boats, the Prince Arthur, Prince George and Boston for years performed a service between these ports with the regularity of an express train, seldom losing a trip and coming in on time in spite of the boisterous weather to which we are subject in the winter. With the taking of the Prince Arthur Yarmouth loses the last of this fine fleet. At present it is not known whether the officers and men will retain their positions.—Light.

WAR ON WESTERN FRONT HAS CHANGED

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FLANDER, Oct. 18—The war on the Western front today has entered a new phase and probably its last. The fighting there is as different now from what it was in 1914 and 1915 as it could possibly be.

Open Fighting
First there came trench fighting which slowly developed until the taking of a single trench was an operation as big as Waterloo. Now one sees practically open country battles with the enemy engaging in a sort of rear guard action which when fully expanded will mean Prussian rout. Only the sudden collapse of hostilities can prevent this curtain on the Kaiser's three act drama.

Not since the Crown Prince broke his eagles feathers against Verdun, more than a year ago, have the German armies dared a real offensive on the Western front. Since the Somme, Hindenburg has been openly on the defensive and the present methods of fighting are the direct outcome of that general's grouping to find a means to hold out.

Lost His Punch
The Somme battles were a series of storming operations, the taking of trench systems that stretched for miles in veritable mazes of supporting cuts and channels. So long as Hindenburg believed he might still break through the Allies' lines, he continued this trench warfare. He kept his front lines full of men. Tens of thousands of his troops were killed before he awoke to realization that he was losing his punch. Hindenburg dug the trenches and dugouts deeper, often 30 even 50 feet below ground. But his men still died like rats in traps when British dugout openings or rolled charges Tommies threw mills bombs down the of high explosives down the almost perpendicular stairs.

In the fire trenches where Hindenburg kept troops standing shoulder to shoulder to repel attacks, Allied shells tore whole companies to shreds. While the great German tactician blundered and the superb German labyrinth of trenches became an appealing shamble.

At last Hindenburg saw a light. The offensive was no longer his. He must fight henceforth a defensive war. The famous retreat on the Somme last winter was step number one. He abandoned his once precious trenches now become a hell hole littered with the putrifying corpses of German youths.

Hindenburg's next step was observed during the battle of Arras in April. His trenches were still there, but now thinly manned. The bulk of troops were kept in support trenches hundreds of yards behind. But his plan was still faulty and later at Messines, in June, German troops were more widely scattered. Machine guns were no longer fired from trenches, but from special isolated posts. Also trench mortars. And specially trained counter attacking troops were held in readiness to charge the tired British as soon as the objectives had been won.

But the British got on just the same and Hindenburg began to lose faith in trenches. July 31, beginning the battle of Flanders, found the Germans still differently disposed.

They were occupying not trenches so much as concrete shell holes, two or three linked with short tunnels. "Pill Boxes," steel and concrete turrets whose mud covered tops were just above the ground, made their debut and from their narrow slits machine guns spat death over the Flanders quagmires. These shell holes positions are pill boxes with scraps of trenches a few yards long, plus patches of barbed wire entanglements here and there, covered an area a mile or so in depth and such a thing as a fire trench had ceased to exist.

The idea, of course, as British officers explained it today, was to make it necessary for the British to fire a million of shells to kill a dozen men. The shell holes and pill box tops well might be invisible from the air and only a direct hit sufficed to put them entirely out of commission. Then when Tommies advanced they would come across an unsuspected bit of barbed wire entangled by machine gun fire. Finally after crossing such a zone as this they would meet fresh troops in a terrific counter-attack. The plan worked only partially. Then came the battle of Menin Road when the unheard of creeping barrage used by the British took the fight out of even the pill boxes.

The rain of shells flattened everything, likewise the same terrible curtain of fire often wiped out German counter attacking troops before they got started. Such is the fighting today. It is now Hindenburg's move.

IT REMOVES THINGS

"Alcohol will remove stains from summer clothes." This is true, but it also removes the summer clothes, also the spring, the autumn, and the winter clothes, not only from the one who drinks it, but from the wife and family as well.

It removes the household furniture, the eatables from the pantry, the smiles from the face of his wife, the laugh from the innocent lips of his children, and the happiness out of his home. As a remover of things, alcohol has no equal.
