

A Woman's No.
 Oh, no, I could not wed you—no!
 But hope you won't forget
 I love you as a sister should—
 Oh, please Will, don't go yet.
 Yes, love you as a sister should;
 But marry you—oh, no, no.
 I'm grieved that you should think of it,
 Come back, don't leave me so.
 There, now, sit down and talk to me,
 Instead of frowning so:
 One cannot love just when they would
 I'd like to have you know.
 I don't believe you love me much,
 I do not, on my life;
 But if I really thought you did—
 Well—yes: I'd be your wife.

THE SUNFLOWER.

is a Value for Oil, as a Febrifuge and as an Ornament.

Since the sunflower has become fashionable, people have taken to cultivating it. As they want some other excuse than aestheticism therefore, they will no doubt be pleased to learn something of the practical utility of the flower. The blossoms will feed the bees and its seeds are the most excellent food for poultry in winter on account of the oil they contain, while the leaves are said to make good fodder, if dried in the sun, cut up fine and mixed with bran, for milch cows. In England large quantities of sunflowers are raised solely for the purpose of feeding stock and hens.

In Russia the sunflower is extensively cultivated for the oil the seeds contain. The oil is palatable, clear and flavorless, and it is used for adulterating olive oil, being exported from St. Petersburg to the shores of the Mediterranean Sea. Next to poppy-seed oil, sunflower oil burns the clearest and longest, so that the peasants apply it to household purposes. From the stalks of the plants they make a good quality of potash, and the residue of the seeds, after the oil is extracted, is made into oil cake for feeding the stock. Sheep, pigs, rabbits and all sorts of poultry will also fatten rapidly upon the oil cake, and will eat the seeds with as good a relish as they eat corn.

The sunflower will grow anywhere, and it is an excellent plant to absorb bad air and prevent malarial diseases. It should, therefore, be planted about pig pens, barn yards and hen roosts, and serve a double purpose. The seeds should be planted twelve inches apart, and when ten or twelve inches high earth them up like corn hills, and they will ask no further attention at your hands. Each plant will produce at the lowest estimate one thousand seeds. The centre flower often produces that amount, and the lateral flowers several hundred. Six pounds of seed will plant an acre, and it can be planted after the crop of early potatoes has been harvested.

The oil extracted from the seeds is most excellent for making the nicest kinds of toilet soap, and if the stalks are treated like flax they will produce a silky, fine fibre, which, it is said, the Chinese use to adulterate their silk manufactures. They raise large quantities of sunflowers, and with them originated the double varieties. The stalks can also be used in manufacturing paper. In New Mexico and some other sections of the Western country the sunflower grows indigenous to the soil, and thousands of square miles are covered with a luxuriant growth of what is, it appears, a really valuable stalk.

The Bank of England.

"As safe as the bank of England," is an assurance of safety which is never questioned. No one ever lost money in the Bank of England. Its notes are good all over the world. Many strangers go to see it. Only a few persons can go around at once, with a guide. In one room notes that have been paid have the corners torn off and holes punched in them. Over fifty thousands notes, worth a million pounds, are paid every day and thus cut out. They are kept five years, and if you give the number and date of a note, in less than three minutes it can be found; so that if you paid a note you owed and a man said you did not do so, you could prove that you had paid it. The largest note is one thousand pounds. One hundred and twenty men are in the room where paid notes are clipped, and 1,200 in all the bank. All the notes used are printed in the bank and the printing machines keep register of every one. Here pensions are paid to crippled soldiers. Here gold and silver plate—private property—is kept. Two things I heard interested me. "Gold is very brittle," said our guide. "If you throw it about upon a counter—that is a number of gold pieces—and then sweep it of the counter, you will find that the fragments count up. We are very careful with them. In the weighing room all the gold sovereigns that you put in your pockets in the morning with other pieces of coin, at night will not be just the same. We know that and weigh every sovereign that has once been out of the house. We have sent boxes of gold coin by express that have come back to us unopened, yet the rubbing of the gold has worn off five pounds worth." We came away, agreeing that this great bank is one of the world's wonders.

The Conductor and the Tourist.

Now and then a chronic grumbler from the Eastern States finds himself strolling as a tourist out West and learns that the purchasing power of goods is not unlimited in that section. "Where do we take dinner?" he inquired, and the conductor of a Northern Pacific Railroad, travelling from Fargo to Bismark. "At Jamestown," courteously replied the conductor. "Get there at midnight, I suppose?" granted the passenger. "At 12:22," answered the conductor. "Can't you stop somewhere and let me get a cracker?" Not very well, sir. There are no opportunities between here and Jamestown. Finding himself treated in such a gentlemanly fashion, the tourist turned loose and cursed the road from St. Paul to Glendine Creek, and after finishing his dinner he took the Duluth branch and wound up with the officers and trainmen, consigning the whole business to bitterness and wrath eternal. The conductor tried to pacify him, but his exertions only stimulated the volume of abuse until the train stopped at Bismark.

"Can't I see you a moment?" asked the conductor, taking the tourist by the elbow and leading him to the quadrangle back of the Sheridan House.

"You don't seem to understand this railroad system. Now, here's Duluth!" and he spanned the tourist in the left eye. "And here's St. Paul!" planting his fist in the other optic with terrible force. "The two lines meet here at Brainerd!" which he mapped out on the bridge of the passenger's nose. "Then the trunk line runs along to Jintown where you will get your dinner!" and he brought his a terrific one on the mouth. "From there to Bismark is only a short run!" planting a crusher on the victim's chin "and there you are!" landing him in a mud puddle, doubled up like a stomach ache, and howling for mercy. "You will notice that the vigilant officials are carefully scanning all points of the road!" and he marched up and down his prostrate student, who was now yelling for help.

"What's the matter, Jim?" inquired a friend, whose attention had been attracted by the controversy. "Showing a bloke the advantages of our railroads over the Eastern outfit," replied the conductor. "They never explain things where he lives, and I'm fixing it for him so he won't feel like crumpling another time he travels over our line. Wait till I point out the difference between the school sections and the railroad grant!"

But the tourist had eiled out of the puddle and gained the office of the hotel to the disgust of the conductor and his friend, who were prepared to display all the attractions of the country, rather than see a stranger departing dissatisfied.

If a man wants to be abusive in that part of the republic, he wants to write out his views and mail 'em to his family. Careless expressions are very apt to pan disagreeable explanations.

What an Old Man Noticed.

I have noticed that all the men are honest when they are watched. I have noticed that purses will hold pennies as well as pounds. I have noticed that in order to be a reasonable creature, it is necessary at times to be downright mad. I have noticed that some men are so honest that necessity compels them to be dishonest in the end. I have noticed that silks, broadcloths and jewels are often bought with other people's money. I have noticed that whatever is right with a few exceptions—the left leg, the left eye and the left side of the plum pudding. I have noticed that the prayer of a selfish man is, "Forgive us our debts," while he makes everybody that owes him pay to the utmost farthing. I have noticed that he who thinks every man a rogue is very certain to see one when he shaves himself, and he ought in mercy to his neighbor, to surrender the razor to justice. I have noticed that money is the fool's wisdom, the knave's reputation, the poor man's desire, the covetous man's ambition, and the idol of all.

Restored to Complete Health.

From Chas. E. Peary, of Brooks, Me. "From early youth I was in feeble health, troubled with humor in my blood, weakness and debility of the system generally; was unable to labor much, and only at some light business, and then only with great caution. Seven years ago, the past spring, I had a severe attack of Diphtheria, which left my limbs paralyzed and useless, so that I was unable to walk or even sit up. Noticing the advertisement of Peruvian Syrup, I gave it a trial, and to my great joy soon found my health improving. I continued the use of the Syrup until three bottles had been used, and was restored to complete health, entirely to the use of Peruvian Syrup, and hold it in high estimation. I cannot speak too strongly in its praise. I have several times recommended it in cases very similar to my own with the same good results." Said by all druggists.

Bad for His Wife.

He moved over one seat to get along side of an old farmer and asked: "How was the wheat in this section this year?" "Only medium, sir. I did intend to get the old lady a silk dress this fall, but what turned out so poorly that I can't do it." "Hay pretty good?" "Nothing extra. I was going to get the old woman a new cloak this fall, but she'll have to wear the old one another year I guess." "Oats look fair?" "Well they won't begin to hold out. My crop will fall short over a hundred bushels. I was going to send the old woman on a visit to York state this fall, but I guess she'll have to stay at home." "But potatoes are certainly a big crop?" "Yes, potatoes are a big yield, and that will cut the price down to two shillings a bushel. I was going to let the old woman get a set of false teeth this fall, but the way things look now rather goes to show that she'll have to gum along until next year."

The Curse of Brink.

The appetite for strong drink in man has spoiled the lives of more women—ruined more hopes for them, scattered more fortunes for them, brought more sorrow, shame and hardships than any other evil that lives. The country numbers ten, nay hundreds of thousands of women who are widows to-day, and sit in hopeless weeds, because their husbands have been slain by strong drink. There are hundreds of thousands of homes scattered over the land, in which lives of torture, going through all the changes of suffering that lie between the extremes of fear and despair, because whom they love, love wine better than they do the women they have sworn to love. There are women by thousands who dread to hear at the door the step that once thrilled them with pleasure; that step has learned to reel under the influence of the seductive poison. There are women groaning with pain while we write these words, from bruises and brutalities inflicted by husbands mad with drink. There can be no exaggeration in any statement in regard to the matter, because anything worse than the truth, and no pen is capable of portraying the truth. The sorrows and horrors of a wife with a drunken husband, of a mother with a drunken son, are as near the realization of hell as can be reached in this world at least. The shame, the indignation, the sorrow, and the sense of disgrace for herself and children, the poverty, and not infrequently the beggary, the fear and the fact of violence, the lingering, the long struggle and despair of countless women with drunken husbands, are enough to make all women curse wine and engage unitedly to oppose it everywhere as the worst enemy of their sex.

Farmers and Mechanics.

Provide yourselves with a bottle of PAIN-KILLER at this season of the year, when summer complaints are so prevalent; it is a prompt, safe, and sure cure. It may save you days of sickness, and you will find it is more valuable than gold. Be sure you buy the genuine FERRY DAVIS PAIN-KILLER, and take no other mixture.

Cobourg, Ont., March 2, 1880. I have been selling Perry Davis' Pain-Killer for the past six years, and have much pleasure in stating that its sale in that time has been larger than any other patent medicine that I have on my shelves, and in those years I have never heard a customer say aught but words of the highest praise in its favor. It is an article that seems to have combined in it all that goes to make a first-class family medicine, and as long as I have a house and store, Perry Davis Pain-Killer will be found in both. Yours, &c., J. E. KENNEDY. Beware of Counterfeits and Imitations. Price 20c., 25c., and 50c. per bottle.

ENGLAND'S REWARDS TO HER GENERAL—After the Ashantee war, Sir Garret Wolsey received some additional letters to his name and a parliamentary grant of $125,000. He is now a knight grand cross of the order of the Bath, so that nothing remains to be awarded him in the way of additional honor save a peerage. This, if given, will have to be accompanied by a large grant of money and a pension, if the dignity is to be sustained in the manner traditionally deemed fitting, and all the more so in view of the queen's well-known dislike of creating a poor man a peer. Wellington's patriotism was probably at most $30,000, but he received grants of $3,500,000 from parliament. Nelson began life poorer still, and the grants that he and family received amounted in all to about one-fourth of those given to Wellington. Several of the other naval and military peers of lesser fame than these, but nevertheless of very high distinction, received pensions for themselves and two successors; others—as in the case of Lord Ermouth, the hero of Algiers—perpetual pensions. It is not likely that such grants as those made to Wellington will ever be made again. The last military peer was Sir William Mansfield, Lord Landhurst. In his case, too, there was a lack of adequate means to support the dignity.

I would, with the utmost confidence, recommend them to all suffering from Biliousness, etc. Sold by all Druggists at 50 cts. a bottle.

THE WEST HURON PETITION.

The king of France, with forty thousand men, went up the hill, and then came down again. We have all along contended that the petition against the return of M. C. Cameron, M. P. for West Huron, was a fizzle and would vanish into thin air when a judicial test was applied. Two weeks ago we gave the points that would prove fatal to the petition, when it would come into court, and the action of Mr. Justice Cameron on Friday last fully bears out what we have contended. A number of cases similar in bearing to that of West Huron came before Justice Cameron on that occasion and the preliminary objections to the hearing of the petition, raised by the respondents, were sustained. What our Tory friends in West Huron will do under existing circumstances we know not. Their bubble has burst, and

All the king's horses, and all the king's men, can't put their bubble together again. If the protest-mongers were really in earnest, they have received a severe disappointment, and somebody is badly to blame for lifting them up so high to get so bad fall.

For ourselves, we never believed the petition was anything other than a bit of bravado. The Tories of West Huron had been beaten, and not liking the sound thrashing they had received, they bethought them of the petition dodge, to make believe that a fair fight had not been fought. The $1,000 was raised with great difficulty, and after Mr. P. Kelly, of East Huron, had been coaxed to help set the fund on its legs. A solicitor was secured to attend to the drafting of an "imposing" petition and other legal matters in connection. Everything went lovely for a while, and then the bright picture assumed a different shade. The petition was entered in the wrong court! The solicitor, in evident innocence of section 87 of the Judicature Act, allowed the petition to be entered in the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice, instead of having it filed in the regular election court. And thus the matter stands. There is a fly in the Tory ointment, and the odor is not of the best. There is no balm in Gilead, and the protest-mongers mourn and will not be comforted, for their petition, which went up like "a rocket, has come down like a stick.

The idea of the protest was a piece of folly from start to finish. It was instituted by a few designing persons who had axes to grind. And now that the law proves to be against the petition, the chances are that the promoters of the scheme will draw a deep sigh of relief, and thank their stars that a legal muddle has let them out of the difficulty. They who laugh last, laugh best, and Mr. Cameron and his friends can now afford to smile a wide smile at the futile efforts of the protesters to lighten the weight of the Tory defeat in West Huron.

PARTISAN ANSSESSORS.

A public official should be an upright man. He should not only know his duty, but do it in an honorable way, and independent of party bias or personal feeling. Perhaps one of the most important offices in connection with municipal work is the position of assessor, and if a careful, conscientious man is required in any municipal office he is certainly needed in the assessor. It is for him to do justice to the ratepayer as well as to the municipality, and if through ignorance or partisanship he is derelict in his duty the individual as well as the corporation is likely to suffer.

During the past few weeks we have had occasion to watch the proceedings in the Court of final revision for the voters' list of the township of Goderich, and we are bound to confess that, in our judgment, flagrant violations of section 20 of the Voters' List Act have been committed by the assessors. The section reads as follows:—"Any assessor who wilfully and improperly inserts any name in the Assessment roll * * * with intent to give to any person not entitled thereto an apparent right of voting at any election * * * or who wilfully and improperly omits any name from the assessment roll * * * with intent to deprive any person of his right to vote shall, upon conviction thereof before a court of competent jurisdiction, be liable to a fine not exceeding two hundred dollars, and to imprisonment until the fine is paid, in the (Common Gaol) of the County or City for a period not exceeding six months, or to both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court."

When the appeals were heard before the Judge some startling facts were discovered. Boys of 18, 19 and 20 years, of Tory parents, were found on the roll (in some instances against the wish of the parents); absentees, under the statute were also there; students attending college were entered as bona fide farmers sons; in one instance a full-fledged doctor doing for himself, was found to be on as a farmer's son; and other instances could be traced as having been breaches of the statute. Had the errors thus made by the Assessor been divided with any degree of equality between the two parties, there would be some reason to believe that the erroneous assessments were not done with design; but when all turned out to be adverse to the interests of the political party to which the assessor was opposed, the cloven foot of partisanship became manifest.

The time has arrived when definite action must be taken, or there is no knowing where the lawbreaking will end. We understand the case of the Goderich township assessor will come before an early court, and a full and free exposition of the manner in which the roll was manipulated may then be looked for. In such an event there will be a shaking up of dry bones from one end of the township to the other.

Of course, it is quite possible that the assessor, in this instance, acted from outside advice. Unfortunately in some instances the assessor is but a creature of those who appoint him, and has to manipulate the lists in the interests of those to whom he owes his position. But be this as it may, it is sincerely to be hoped that an early example will be made in court, so that the law on the subject will not continue to be the dead letter in has been in the past.

HARD TO PLEASE.

It is an exceedingly difficult thing to please our Tory friends. Only a short time ago they were clamoring because Mr. Mowat did not bring on the elections in the eight vacant constituencies in Ontario, and now when the date has been set for filling the vacancies a howl of deep wrath arises from the Lib.-Cons. press because Mr. Mowat does not dissolve the House, and bring on the Provincial election.

The Free Press, of London, leads the howl, and upbraids Mr. Mowat for his cowardice in bringing on the eight elections instead of dissolving the House, utterly regardless of the fact that for the past three months it has been clamoring because the seats remained vacant. If Mr. Mowat were to dissolve the Local House before the next sitting the Free Press would claim that the action showed weakness on the part of the Provincial Premier. As he exhibits no sign of advising a dissolution of the petulant London organ shrieks, "He's afraid."

For the information of the Free Press we would state that Mr. Mowat does not occupy the position of Provincial Premier so that Tory rebuffs may be obeyed. It ought to be sufficient for the Free Press that Mr. Meredith is the puppet that jumps when the Tory wirepullers pull the string. Mr. Mowat was elected by the majority in Ontario to do the will of the majority, and he is doing it by not putting the Province to the turmoil and expense of two elections prematurely in the one year. The Free Press is not satisfied with the way things are now. And we will wager a new hat it will not be any better pleased after the Provincial election it now craves for is held.

HERE is the result of Goderich Township Court of Revision in a nutshell: The Conservatives took off 2 and put on 2. The Reformers took off 35 and put on 15. Net gain for the Reformers, 46.

Of the eight vacant seats in the Local Legislature, there are three in the West—South Bruce, South Essex and South Waterloo. The other vacant constituencies are Glenora, West Hastings, Muskoka, North Renfrew and East Simcoe.

DURING the recent election contest in West Huron a number of cases of dereliction of duty on the part of deputy returning officers, and several cases of perjury on the part of bogus voters occurred in the riding. So many and so flagrant were the cases, that it was deemed proper by the friends of Mr. Cameron that that gentleman should institute proceedings against a number of the offenders, so that a repetition of the acts in future would not occur. Several writs have recently been served, and there is a feeling of consternation amongst the lawbreakers in consequence. Of course a wail has gone forth from the delinquents, and some of them have cried "Pecorari," but examples will be made of a number, so that such flagrant breaches of the law as were committed in the past will not happen in the time to come. Mr. Cameron has the best wishes of the law-abiding portion of the community in his efforts to secure the honest working of the election law, and none will regret that justice is likely to overtake offenders against law in the West Huron election.

How many cents in the $ do the subscribers to the protest fund expect to realize?

LORD DUFFERIN is to be created a Marquis, and General Wolsey is also expected to be honored on his return to England. By camp and court, English supremacy in the Orient has been more fully established.

THIS, from the St. Thomas Journal, is something after the style of the Mail:—"There are more political hogs at the Ottawa trough than Sir John can feed; he would like to fatten his hungry swine at Toronto, but Mowat is in the way."

The chief organ of the Tory party coarsely alludes to the Mowat Administration as "a set of imbeciles." It doesn't say much for the ability of Meredith, Lauder & Co., when these "imbeciles" were preferred by the Province at the last two elections.

Of the fifty-three men holding liquor licenses in West Huron, fifteen are Reformers. This doesn't look as if licenses were awarded or refused on account of politics. Of the thirteen hotels and liquor shops in Goderich, but four are run by Reformers. The Conservative liquor dealers of Huron are disgusted with the hypocrisy and meanness of the Tory press on the license question. None of them would care to do business again under the old system.

DESPITE the sneers of the Tory factious, the Ontario Bureau of Statistics is making an enviable reputation for itself. It is a model to younger provinces, as well as a credit to our own. It is intended to initiate in Manitoba the Ontario plan of collecting vital statistics, to issue monthly crop reports from every county in the Prairie Province and to establish two new meteorological stations at Fort Ellice and in the Souris district.

WHAT is likely to be done with the unexpended portion of the $1,000 raised to protest Mr. Cameron's election? Is the question which now exercises the mind of the public in this section. Let's see. There is a local election to be held some time within the next twelve months, and wouldn't it be a capital idea to make the remnant of the $1,000 into an election fund? It would be a nice nest egg to start with, and might entice more of the faithful to "lay" a little pile beside it. Or will another meeting of the Lib.-Cons. be called in the regular place of meeting to make a "divvy" of the unexpended portion of the $1,000?

Mr. Gibson thanked the convention very graciously, but expressed the doubt of his being successful against so popular a candidate as Mr. T. E. Hayes, of McKillop, unless Mr. Mowat would gerrymander the riding to suit him, by placing the whole of the village of Blyth into the West Riding and give him (Mr. Gibson) all the township of Hullett.—(Sesforth Sun).

Mr. Gibson did not express any doubt of being successful; he said nothing about Blyth or the West Riding, and made no mention of Hullett. He did refer to the gerrymander question, but it was to say that any attempt to gerrymander Ontario would be political suicide, and that the Government did not intend to do it. His speech was honest and hopeful, and the contemptible action of the Sun in putting words into his mouth which he never used, is a disgrace to journalism.

THE Marmion case seems to be a blunder all around; but the Mail is the greatest blunderer in the affair. It makes the matter a pretext for the vilest abuse of Mr. Crooks personally, and the most shameful misrepresentations as to the relation teachers bear to the Educational Department. Properly handled, the Conservatives could have used the Marmion affair with a certain degree of force against the Minister. The Mail took a wrong position, and its method of warfare has destroyed any advantage offered by its opponents. Archbishop Lynch's statement has hit the Mail between wind and water.

THE Mail still harps upon the license question, and day by day attempts to show that it is not in the interests of Ontario that the Crooks' Act should remain on the statute book. Other bodies beside the Mail editors have been looking into the question and the following will show that the Act, if not perfect, is the best known of at present, and is endorsed by right-thinking men. The Committee on Temperance reported to the General Methodist Conference at Hamilton that "though they could not accept as absolutely righteous any license law, they must regard the Crooks' Act as the best instrument for the suppression of intemperance that the Province of Ontario has ever had, and they recommend the people to use their votes and franchise in preventing control of this license system reverting to the municipalities, where the industrious ward politician and the interested liquor dealer so largely manipulated the elections." The report concluded with a characteristic extract from John Wesley's writings on the subject. No doubt what is here given as the view of the Methodist General Conference will be endorsed by the lovers of order and sobriety everywhere, including many who are not themselves total abstainers.

GLENN, the South Perth Tory who attempted extort blackmail from Mr. Trow, M. P., was on Wednesday last tried and found guilty. This should prove a warning to others of the Glenn stripe who reside in the Province of Ontario.

The tableaux vivants at the Tory convention at Toronto brought down the house. John O'Donohue representing the Green, grasping the hand of Grand Sovereign Rowell, the Orange, made the most striking scene. The guilty blush that mantled the cheek of the Minister of Customs, told of the hypocrisy of the scene and the hollowness of the fraud. But the brethren applauded, and Sir John, the stage manager, thought it a big hit.

"ENQUIRER" wants to know if it is true the petition against Mr. Cameron's return as member for West Huron was entered in the Division Court instead of in the Election Court. For the information of "Enquirer" and others we would state that the case was entered in the Queen's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice, but for all practical purposes it might just as well have been typed in the Division Court, the Police Court, or anywhere else, but in the regular Election Court.

THE Orange Sentinel lets the cat out of bag in the following ingenious manner:—"We have to congratulate Sir John Macdonald and Mr. Meredith upon the magnificent response to their call for a convention of the leading Conservatives of Ontario; and if we may judge from the numbers and enthusiasm of the vast gathering, the fate of the Mowat-Fraser Administration in Ontario is sealed. Such a large representation of the leading Orangemen of this Province at the convention points significantly to the strength of our brethren in Ontario politics. We trust our brethren will work tooth and nail to secure the return of every Orangeman who is nominated as a candidate."

THE misleading statements of the Tory press regarding the territory awarded Ontario by the arbitrators, but refused her by Sir John A. Macdonald, are the results of either profound ignorance or downright dishonesty. They have described the disputed territory as a heap of rocks, sterile and worthless. The Rat Portage Progress says that "for fifty miles east of Winnipeg, and around Selkirk there is some of the best agricultural land in the Province, while in the Rainy River District, nearly the heart of the disputed territory, the grain and root products are infinitely superior to anything raised in Ontario." As for timber, the Progress says that within three hundred yards of the railway track there is "nearly a million feet cut and ready for shipment." This timber belongs to the Government of Ontario, but it is being stolen by the Dominion Government.

The License Howl.

There are eight hotel-keepers in Kincardine, and at least six of the number are Conservatives. Still, there are a few adde-pated opponents of the Mowat Government who claim that the license commissioners are political agents, who only occasionally grant a license to a Conservative.—[Kincardine Reporter.

Orangism and Politics.

To make the Ontario Legislature practically an annual Grand Lodge is what the Orange Sentinel is working for. It says this week that the brethren must "work tooth and nail to secure the return of every Orangeman who is nominated as a candidate."—[Advertiser.

In Bad Taste.

Sir John Macdonald, Sir Leonard Tilley and Hon. John Costigan might be engaged in better business than dabbling in the politics of the province of Ontario. The maritime people would not like to have Dominion ministers from Ontario interfering in their local affairs, nor would the British Columbians. The next thing we will have the Monasans and the Lanzevins coming up to Toronto and telling the people of Ontario that they do not know how to run their own province, and that they will be only too happy to show them how to do it.—[Toronto World, (N. P. Organ.)

The Colonization Companies.

The intimation given by the Winnipeg Times, that out of nearly three hundred colonization companies formed for the purpose of taking up large tracts of land in the North-west only seventeen were able to meet their payments, will put a damper on that sort of speculation. Speculation it was, no doubt, as those who went into these colonization companies did so, not with the intention of digging drains and holding the plough, but of selling the lands to settlers and making a good percentage on the sales. Doubtless the Pacific Syndicate has exerted some influence in having the colonization companies squeezed out. There were so many colonization companies, and they had taken up so much land, that the Syndicate was threatened with serious competition in the sale of farms. But there can be no doubt that the Government has dealt unfairly by many of the companies. It insisted on the money being paid although it was unable to give a deed of the land. Some of the companies have been put to great expense through the action of the Government, and complain that they have been deceived. The truth probably is that the Government has become alarmed at the cry of land monopoly that has been raised and is trying to make the best of a bad job.

MORE ABOUT MARMION.

The Real Objection Comes from Roman Catholics.

Archbishop Lynch on the Book—Why he Thinks it Bad for the Schools.

Hearing that the archbishop had referred to the question in the cathedral yesterday, a World reporter called on his Grace in the afternoon to get the points thereof. He said he thought it would be better for the papers to wait till a letter which he had written to a certain journal appeared or was refused publication, before he gave his views. But as he had referred to it in the church, and as it had got abroad, he did not mind giving the substance of his position which was:

That the story, founded on the broken vows of a nun, on her flight from a convent, on her becoming the mistress of Marmion as a cup-bearer, of her being immured or walled up alive in a convent, though it was only a mythical tale, yet still it was swallowed wholesale by Protestant youth as a true picture of convent life and the inmates of convents. How would Protestants like us to write this way of their?

That the educational department had no intention of insulting Catholics who attended all the high schools and the university, and therefore the minister was only doing what was just in the case when he interdicted the book on his attention being drawn to its unfair treatment of Catholics.

That Catholics, being taxpayers, and therefore supporters of the public schools, should have their feelings respected.

That while Marmion, as a book, possessed high literary merit, still there were other books of equal merit which were not offensive to Catholics.

That one of the express conditions on which he had allowed St. Michael's College to affiliate with the University of Toronto were that the text-books were not to be offensive to Catholics. His Grace spoke of the apparent political animus shown by both the Globe and Mail in dealing with this question and a similar one, the book seizure. Though he did not so inform the reporter, yet the World learned elsewhere that the paper referred to by his Grace above was the Mail, and that he had written a letter to that journal, taking issue with it. It was learned on the same good authority that the archbishop had said he was not going to let the Minister of Education be attacked over his shoulders, and therefore he had written to the Mail, showing that Marmion was offensive to Catholics, and this letter ought to appear in the Mail to-day. There is no doubt this is the objection to the book, and the archbishop is going to defend this position. The Globe tried to prove that the immorality in itself was the objection.

THE OBJECTIONAL PASSAGES.

The archbishop, by the way, was attired in a purple robe, and when the reporter asked about the objectionable passages, he produced a purple automatic pencil and Gage's annotated edition of the book, in which he had carefully sided with the said purple pencil all the objectionable verses. There were quite a number of them, and as the prelate read them over in his sonorous voice, they seemed rather "hard on the Catholics," to the reporter. The first selection he took was on page 11 (Gage's edition.)

CANTO I.
Friar John, of Tillamout, were the man,
A blithsome brother of the can.
A welcome guest in hall or bower,
He knew each castle, town, and bower,
Twixt Newcastle and Holy-Rood,
But that good man, as ill befell,
Hath seldom left our Castle walls,
Since, on the vigil of Saint Bede,
In four he crossed the Tweed,
To teach Dame Alison her creed.
Old Brighting found him with his wife;
And John, an ensuey to strife,
Sans frock and hood, fled for his life.

Is that a fair description of a monk? asked the archbishop. And look at page 7 where the nun is described as the pace in the lines—
"But first I pray thee fair,
Where hast thou left that page of thine,
That used to serve the cup of wine?"
Or was the gentle page in sooth
A gentle paramour.

Canto II, describing the convent, had several objectionable passages in it. It was here where the immuring of the nun was described. Her executioners were thus described:—
"These executioners were chose
As men who were with mankind foes,
And, with despite and envy fired
Into the cloister had retired."
For, as the vassals of her will,
Such men the Church selected still.
And so on through the rest of the canto describing the immurement.

The archbishop had several other passages marked and some of them he read to the reporter. The latter withdrew after thanking his Grace for his kindness, and his expression of good will toward the World, a journal which sought to get at the facts of a case irrespective of party. "Seek the true and honorable," were his parting words to the young man.

HOW IT WILL BE SETTLED.

It was hinted by a gentleman supposed to be posted that certain passages would be struck out or forbidden, and the book allowed to pass.

IN THE STORM.

The Experience of the Manitoba.

Graphic Description by a Passenger.

The following has been received from Mr. J. H. Glass, of Messrs. G. S. Hyman & Co., of London, who was a passenger by the Manitoba during her late dreadful encounter with the waves of Lake Huron. It will be read with interest:

Bruce Mines, Sept. 15, 1882. The magnificent and powerful steamer, Manitoba, of the N. W. Transportation Co., experienced a very narrow escape of a total wreck and of exposing no less than two hundred souls to a watery grave. Circumstances are as follows:—

Left Southampton at 2 a. m. Thursday, 14th inst. All afternoon of Wednesday the elements were threatening. The clouds were a livid hue. Thunder was distinctly heard in the distance, but was rapidly drawing nearer and nearer. The flashing of fork lightning became very vivid. Such was the nature of the elements. No storm signal having been given, no weather bulletins received, and with only a slight south east wind blowing, our captain felt he could proceed on his course. After leaving port we steered a N. W. course until about 7 a. m. A terrific gale set in from the S. W. direction. Captain McGregor now thought it advisable to change his course and make for Cove Island. After a short run—a distance of a few miles—the gale freshened very rapidly, veering to westward. It was now utterly impossible to keep the Manitoba on her course, rapidly drifting leeward. Danger was now imminent, and terror was depicted in every countenance. The larger number of the passengers were dreadfully sea-sick, so that many did not fully realize the gravity of the situation. Strong, stalwart men, who were able to be on hand, exerted every nerve and faculty to save the cabin from utter destruction, while the deck below, from the shrieks of the terror-stricken passengers, the tumbling of freight and continued stamping and surging to and fro of horses and live stock, made the scene most in the extreme. Every countenance of officers and passengers had an anxious look, mingled with alarm, but in the whole were cool and courageous.

From 9:30 to 11 the storm raged with increasing fury, and the skylights of the cabin were smashed into fragments at every roll, doors and windows falling in every direction, while the roar of the hurricane and the seething waters outside was terrific. At times the sun shone through the storm as if to mock our fears. At the hour of 11 the passengers were completely exhausted with sickness. Our strong and stalwart men now began to succumb to the dreadful symptoms of sea-sickness. Fear and still fiercer grows the storm. The Captain, still at his post, finds the boat could not weather the point to which he was steering, and utterly impossible for her to battle the storm in her present condition, the iron rod in the engine-room binding the boat having already broken. The steam pipe was found leaking. These engineer Tonkin, with almost superhuman skill and rapidity, replaced by new attachments. To return to Southampton was impossible. Two courses were open to him, either to run the boat ashore and save all he could, else head her round to Fitch Channel, a course through which a steamer was never known to pass before. He, however, ventured the latter. Breakers were ahead within a distance of 1,000 feet of her present position. The rudder chain had already showed signs of weakness, and was expected to snap under any moment. The most critical time had now arrived. Was it possible with such heavy sea the Manitoba could obey the helm? The captain, still at his post, cool and deliberate, gave his orders, whose voice seemed to ring out far above the roar of the hurricane. Not a moment was to be lost. Up went the jib sail at the command of the captain, and in a moment it was observed the immense pressure of the helm was greatly reduced. The captain now decided to head her round. The critical moment had just arrived; she made a tremendous lurch, amid creaking timbers, rolling baggage, with freight and merchandise flying in every direction. The awe-stricken female passengers sent up a wail of utter despair. God alone could now save us. Ceaseless prayers were being offered for the Divine interposition. The conviction of the writer at this moment was that in answer to prayer God would not "still the storm, but He would save the people. It seemed for a few moments that all was lost, but He who once said to the elements, "Peace," and to the waves, "Be Still," now took charge of the helm. The mouth of the channel was entered, another half hour of suspense, and we are under shelter of the islands and steaming into the harbor of refuge at Tabor Morey. The moments of our ship were watched from the islands with glasses in hand by the various captains of steamers who had taken refuge in this harbor the day before; had ordered steam up to come to our rescue at the first hoisting of signal of distress, as danger was imminent at this point. At last we were moored safely to the main land, where we remained until Friday morning. During the day a resolution of thanks to Almighty God, and under Him to Captain McGregor, was moved by Rev. A. A. Cameron, of Winnipeg, and on Friday evening before rising from tea, an address was presented to the city of London, and to be engraved in the city of London, and to be forwarded to Captain McGregor, Sarnia. Thus has this magnificent boat been tested by the heaviest sea known for the past ten years.

From the Sarnia Observer. The Manitoba, of the Beatty Line which left here on Tuesday night, 12th inst., encountered the dreadful gale of the Thursday following near Duck Island. Captain McGregor, finding it impossible to maintain his course in the face of such a hurricane, made for Tabor Morey, where he would be under the shelter of the peninsula. For some hours it was a struggle between safety and death. At times it looked as if the boat was doomed. The most daring expedients had to be resorted to, and channels among the islands, where vessels under ordinary circumstances would not dare to venture, were taken and successfully navigated. Thanks to the skill and presence of mind of the captain, and the admirable behavior of the crew, the steamer was brought safely through her perils, and under the shelter of the harbor the passengers were able to congratulate themselves upon their providential escape. It was a close call, and all were loud in their praise of the coolness and seamanship displayed by Captain McGregor during the storm. This will be the Manitoba's last trip this season. On her return to this port she will be laid up and her place taken by the Sovereign.

WILL YOU EXCHANGE a case of ZEPESA or BIPESIA for 75 cents? It is awfully unwise to ignore under the many ailments arising from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dropsical Stomach and Liver, when this offer is made to you in your own home in all sincerity, with an absolute certainty of curing you. ZEPESA (from Brazil) cures Dyspepsia and Biliousness. A single dose relieves; a sample bottle convinces; a 75 cent bottle cures. It acts directly upon the Stomach, Liver, and Kidneys. Cleansing, Correcting, Regulating, Zepesa gives energy and vim to the Brain, Nerve, and Muscle, simply by working wonders upon the Digestion, and giving activity to the Liver. On this offer, take it to any dealer in medicines, and get at least one 75 cent bottle of Zepesa, and tell your neighbor how it acts. It is warranted to cure Dyspepsia and Biliousness.

Fun and Fancy.

Britain's jewel just now is a Garnet. A mount for a baillif. A dun-colored horse. A tumbler full of whiskey. A drunk on a croquet. The only game that a grumbler indulges in is croak-eh. The scroob in the circus is really the man who introduces the spring styles. "The crops are backward," said the fox, as he slung the hen over his shoulder. A missionary was asked the cause of his poverty. "Principally because I have preached so often without notes," he said. "Shall I thereafter darn your stockings?" is said to be fashionable language for a young lady to use when making a leap-year proposal. "Forget it! Why, I told you to impress it on your mind," Bridget said. "It was on my mind I put it, mum, and my mind went astray wid it."

Words of Wisdom.

Words of promise are almost as necessary to warn a child into a gentle life as acts of kindness and affection. Juicy promises are to children what the sun is to flowers. To do good which is really good, a man must act from the love of good, and not with a view to reward here or hereafter. Many a small man never ceases taking about the small sacrifices he makes; but he is a great man who can sacrifice anything and say nothing. As the shadow follows the body in the splendour of the fairest sunlight, so will the wrong done to another pursue the soul in the hours of prosperity. A ROYAL SABBATIC YEAR.—The year 1882 begins and ends with Sunday. A year girdled by a golden belt of 53 Sabbaths should be set out in our lives worthy of remembrance. "My boy," said a father to his young son, "trust everyone with politeness, even those who are rude to you. For remember that you show courtesy to others, not because they are gentlemen, but because you are one."

A Saint at the Zoo.

Capt. Harry Piper, Alderman and Superintendent of the Zoological Garden lately communicated the following facts to a reporter of one of Toronto's most influential papers: "Some time ago we purchased from the collection of animals at Central Park, New York, a monstrous Russian bear, which we have named 'Peter the Great,' on account of its tremendous size. Not long after 'Peter' arrived we found that he was suffering from the rheumatism, and in a pretty bad state Peter was not the only one in the Zoo, which had a touch of that delicate torture; the lion likewise had it and in fact I was just being cured of a bad case of the rheumatism, myself, by the use of St. Jacobs Oil, the Great German Remedy. I found St. Jacobs Oil an excellent remedy, for it cured me in a short while, and my case was a very aggravated one. I argued that if it cured men it must be good for animals as well."

It has Stood the Test of Time.

For twenty-five years has Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry been before the people, and its popularity is to-day greater than ever, because it has proved reliable in the treatment of all forms of Bowel Complaint incident to the Summer season.

IN ALL CHRONIC KIDNEY TROUBLES we have evidence of errors in nutrition, as in Bright's disease from over-stimulation arresting repair and hastening degeneration, diabetes from functional liver derangement secondary to impaired digestion, irritation and pain in the back from uric acid or brick shovels deposit in the uric acid, a sequence of malassimilation and a common cause of neuralgia and rheumatism. By securing the perfect excretion of the uric acid, the blood to maintain the constructive work of the organs and tissues, we have in Wheeler's Phosphates and Catalpa the most certain cure of these ailments.

Twenty-four years' Experience.

DON'T USE A CROOKED RULER.

"The Bible is so strict and old-fashioned," said a young man to a gray-haired friend, who was advising him to study God's Word if he would learn how to live. "There are plenty of books written nowadays that are moral enough in their teaching, and do not bind one down as the Bible." The old merchant turned to his desk and to took out two rulers, one of which was slightly bent; with each of these he ruled a line, and silently handed the ruled paper to his companion. "Well," said the lad; "what do you mean?" "One line is not straight and true, is it? When you mark out your path in life, do not take a crooked ruler."

GOOD HABITS.—Habits of temperance, economy, truthfulness, honesty, generosity, once thoroughly engrained upon the life of an individual, will accomplish for him what years of seeking and without them would fail to produce. They will open wide for him the gates of success, of honor, of respect, of affection, through which so many seek in vain to enter. Working spontaneously and almost unconsciously as they will after constant and intelligent culture, they release the power that produced them for still higher efforts; they form a foundation on which to build, without fear of overthrow, all the finest traits of excellence; they prepare the way for progressive virtue, and for the beauty of goodness which is so rare, but so admirable.

Won't You Take a Sheep?

Bishop Bowman, at a great temperance meeting in 1778, closed his address with the following anecdote: "A farmer who had several sons, promised the eldest of them that if he would refrain from strong drink during the harvest, he would make him a present of a sheep. 'Then,' said the younger son, 'if I do the same, may I have a sheep?' 'Yes, you may,' said the farmer. 'And I?' said another. 'Yes,' said the father. Then said the youngest son who was quite a youth, 'May I have a sheep, too, father, if I do the same?' 'Yes, my son,' was the reply. 'And, father,' said the youth, 'won't you take a sheep, too?' The father was stumped, but after thinking awhile said, 'Yes, my son, I will.'

Surgeons know the value of the expansive power of peas and other grain in making anatomical preparations.

No one has any idea of the force exerted until a test a test of it is made. An Italian vessel, laden with rice, put into East London some time ago leaking badly. A strenuous effort was made to pump out the water and unload the cargo. But the rice continued to swell and finally the vessel was violently burst asunder.

Capt. Not long after 'Peter' arrived we found that he was suffering from the rheumatism, and in a pretty bad state. Peter was not the only one in the Zoo, which had a touch of that delicate torture, the lion likewise had it and in fact I was just being cured of a bad case of the rheumatism, myself, by the use of St. Jacobs Oil, the Great German Remedy. I found St. Jacobs Oil an excellent remedy, for it cured me in a short while, and my case was a very aggravated one. I argued that if it cured me, men it must be good for animals as well;

Hensall.

CHURCH OPENING.—The new Methodist church in Hensall was opened and dedicated on Sunday, 24th inst; the Rev. J. Wakefield, of Goderich, chairman of the district, preached in the morning; Rev. H. Cameron, of Kippoon, in the afternoon; and Rev. Mr. Wakefield again in the evening. The congregations were overflowing; after forms and chairs were pressed into service, still a number remained standing, and some had to go away, finding no room. The collections were a little over $32.

The sermons were all that could be desired; Mr. Wakefield set forth, in the morning, the manifestations of Jehovah, through the different dispensations, and His manifestation to the heart of the believer, and ably showed that these manifestations require special preparation on the part of the individual or people. Mr. Cameron forcibly set forth the sacredness of the sanctuary, and the reverence to be manifested therein.

In the evening Mr. Wakefield's sermon related to Christian principle, ably setting forth that while excitement in itself is not religion, yet true religious principle is always accompanied with religious feeling. On Monday, 25th inst., the opening tea was held; there was a good gathering, the speakers did well, and the proceeds of the meeting resulted in over $40. There was after a balance was struck, it was thought, $30 short of meeting the whole indebtedness, which was about $750; this amount was raised immediately. The church is a frame structure 24x10, with brick foundation, Gothic windows, will cost something like $200, and is, in every particular very neat.

Presbytery of Hanford.

This presbytery met in McVillie church building, on Tuesday afternoon, Rev. H. McQuarrie presiding in the absence of the Moderator. Rev. Mr. McKenzie having accepted a call to South Klussak, and Rev. J. McNabb of Beaverton, a call to St. Andrew's church, Lucknow, arrangements were made to induce them into these churches on Thursday, Oct. 5th. Rev. Mr. Bell, of Listowel, appeared on behalf of the Presbytery of Stratford, and on the co-operation of the Presbytery of Hanford.

about a re-union between Moleworth and the bridge. A committee was appointed to take action in the matter. Leave was granted to moderate in a call at Moleworth. Home mission business occupied some time and several matters were postponed till next regular meeting of Presbytery on 19th Dec., in Wingham.

In the evening a public meeting was held for the purpose of discussing subjects of interest to the church. After the opening exercises Rev. Mr. Hartley, of Bluevale, took up the subject of "Pastoral Visitation," and spoke for some time on the object of the same. He was followed by Rev. R. W. Leech, of St. Helens, with an address on the "Best Methods of conducting pastoral visitation." Elders Dickson and Stewart and Rev. Mr. Muir briefly expressed their opinions on the subjects up for discussion. The service was brought to a close by the Benediction.

Leobura.

An entertainment will be held in the Temperance Hall to-night, in order to raise funds to pay off the debt incurred by the recent improvements in the building. Refreshments will also be served, and as the admission fee is only 10c, a big crowd is expected.

Mr. Harry Horton is a tip-top gardener, and his watermelons are superb. Owing to Mr. Horton's generosity, your correspondent knows whereof he speaks.

PAINTING.—Mr. C. C. Augustus Welsh, the popular and versatile artist of Goderich, has painted the beautiful new residence of Mr. James Linklater, in a very tasteful manner. A deputization of the I. O. O. T. secured his services to paint the Temperance Hall, and the obliging wielder of the brush complied on condition that the goat be removed every morning, as he had no desire to be butted into the burn, objecting to such an application of cold water on principle. He suggested the procuring of some Dunlop "Tonic" to mix with his coloring, but the members objected. The hall is now much more presentable.

BIG POTATO DROING.—In six hours Mr. John Stewart, with a hoe, dug up 52 bushels of potatoes. Who can beat it?

THE FIRST CALL.—On Sunday last the new bell recently hung in the Presbyterian Church pealed out its first invitation to divine worship. A large congregation obeyed, to many it brought back memories of ten years ago when their former pastor Rev. Mr. Selveright preached his first sermon in this section in the old building owned by Mr. Strachan, and used as a smithy. Since then many have passed away to another scene of worship. The gift of the visitors of the Point Farm will long be remembered by the congregation of Leeburn Church, to whom the bell is a great boon.

Must Look out for Ourselves. If the representatives of Ontario do not join hands in standing up for her rights, they need not expect that the representatives of other Provinces will stand up and demand them for her. Ontario has a right to expect, no matter what differences of opinion her politicians may have, or how widely divided upon provincial issues they may be, that they will stand up firmly against the encroachments of other Provinces. Those who are writing so strongly against Ontario being given the disputed territory will have little to congratulate themselves upon if the territory that has been awarded be taken from her.—[Toronto Telegram.

The Tory Platform Condensed. The Tories of Ontario recently met in Convention and at the dictation of the Dominion Premier, instigated by Mousseau & Co., and abetted by two New Brunswickers, Tilley and Costigan, they adopted a platform which commits them to:

1. Dominion Interference in Provincial Affairs.
2. Abandonment of our Right to Legislature on Purely Local Matters.
3. Repudiation of the Boundary Award.
4. Unchecked Traffic in Intoxicating Drinks.
5. Irresponsible Division Court Bailiffs.

Such a platform is:

1. Unpatriotic.
2. Unconstitutional.
3. Dishonest.
4. Demoralizing.
5. Retrogressive.—[Sarnia Observer.

No Canadian Need Apply. No Canadian officer, at the head of the volunteer militia force, would be as stupid as to act as Major-General Luard has done in the matter of the towel. But the difficulty is that we cannot have a Canadian officer at the head of the militia force. No one can take command of the Canadian militia who has not attained to the rank of major-general, and no Canadian officer can attain to a higher rank than that of lieutenant-colonel, even should he remain in the force until he is as grey as a ladder. Why this absurd barrier should be erected against Canadian officers in their own country nobody seems to be able to explain. But there it is, and the result is that outsiders are imported into the country and gain their experience at the cost of a good many blunders. In the matter of foreign officers, the Government's N. P. is not worth a button.

Mrs. Scott-Siddons has abandoned the stage, and will henceforth confine her work to dramatic readings. Her recent theatrical engagement in London was a dismal failure.

Dr. John Rae does not hold the common opinion that the Esquimaux are a diminutive race. He is inclined to think that they are fully as tall as the average native of London, and much heavier. The women, when young, he says, are very pleasant-looking—almost pretty—extremely solid and compact, with small feet and hands and well-formed limbs. As to strength he found that the Esquimaux could lift 400 or 500 pounds with ease.

A Volunteer's Command.

When did General Luard and Arabi occupy the position of darkey barber and darkey customer respectively? When Luard had "de towel," and Arabi had "De Chair."

A Manly View.

Hiram Sibley, the most extensive seed grower in the country, stated the case in a manly way at the meeting of the Tariff Commission in Rochester, N. Y., Tuesday. Mr. Sibley argued that it was not right to impose a high tax on seven million seed users, for the benefit of about one hundred seed growers. Mr. Sibley is not a monopolist. Besides his immense seed growing business he cultivates many farms, and rents one hundred and forty-three to tenants. He is owner of one farm alone of forty thousand acres, the famous Sullivan farm in Illinois, and was rightly introduced to the Commission as the largest farmer in the world. Agriculturists are anti-monopolists, and farmer Sibley is no exception to this rule.—[Detroit Commercial Advertiser.

The "Practical" Statesman.

The obsequious Mail bears its head to remark that Sir John's speech before the Tory Convention was "practical," "argumentative," "statesmanlike," "brilliant" and "suggestive." Here is one of the choicest gems from this wonderful deliverance—the one that is said to have provoked the wildest cheers and the greatest enthusiasm. "Mr. Mowat, with his little soul rattling like a dried pea in a too large pod—what does he care if he wrecks Confederation and interferes with the development of Canada so long as he can enjoy his little salary as Attorney-General, and keep Mr. Hardy, Mr. Pardee, Mr. Dancy, and Mr. Lardy (loud laughter)—in office!" How "practical," how "argumentative," how "brilliant," how "statesmanlike," and above all, how "suggestive!" Redolent of the rowdy, suggestive of the saloon and the sand lots, and brilliant as an oratorical rocket from Dennis Kearney, the country, tabeaux wagons, electric light machine and a cage containing a tiger. Two attaches of the circus and a boy stealing a ride were killed. Three men were probably fatally and seven or eight others more or less seriously injured. The cage containing the tiger was burst open and the animal escaped, causing great consternation. At midnight the tiger crept back into his prison and was secured. The electric light and tabeaux wagons were destroyed. The track was torn up for one hundred yards, and the cars were piled in a confused mass. The engine with three cars were uninjured.

Smash on a Circus Train.

LANCASTER, Kentucky, Sept. 25.—Early yesterday morning a train containing a portion of Sell Brothers' show while coming around a curve near Point Lick, a car from some unknown cause jumped the track, and with fifteen others rolled down an embankment. The cars were loaded principally with the baggage of the company, tabeaux wagons, electric light machine and a cage containing a tiger. Two attaches of the circus and a boy stealing a ride were killed. Three men were probably fatally and seven or eight others more or less seriously injured. The cage containing the tiger was burst open and the animal escaped, causing great consternation. At midnight the tiger crept back into his prison and was secured. The electric light and tabeaux wagons were destroyed. The track was torn up for one hundred yards, and the cars were piled in a confused mass. The engine with three cars were uninjured.

THE WORLD OVER.

Dr. Turner, the faster, lectures in London on Sept. 29th.

Mr. A. Macdonald, well-known as a successful participant in all kinds of athletic sports, has decided to give up athletics and attend to business.

"Total Denatry," was the subject of the sermon of the Rev. Mr. McDonald of San Rafael, Cal. While he was preaching, it a thief stole his lap robe from the buggy in the horse shed.

The fall fair held in Zurich on the 22nd inst., was a success. The entries were fully up to former years. Live stock and implements were much better than in any former year. Grain, roots, and fruit were well represented; also other branches. A large crowd visited the fair.

The well-known quotation, "Behold how good and pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity," used by Mr. Warren Kennedy in his address on Methodist union, reported in Saturday's Globe, was by a telegraphic error, made to read, "drink together." Correction in Toronto Globe.

The General Conference of the Canada Methodist Church, after a most successful session, during which matters of the greatest importance were discussed and dealt with, finally adjourned on Wednesday. A number of important concessions were made with a view to the early completion of Methodist union.

The Tuckersmith and Seaford show, held on Sept. 22nd, was above the average. Live stock was well represented, especially horses and sheep. The number of agricultural implements was limited, but of excellent quality. The fruit was a magnificent display, and most far above the average. The weather was delightful and the attendance very large.
