Physical Development

And its Bearing on Health and Strength.

By GEE.

POWER OF THE WILL. (Continued.) Also the reader may, once he himself has obtained control over these irritable but none the less real forces, exert a beneficial influence on his friends as under:—

On meeting a sick friend who is inclined to be despondent, immediately force on him your opinion that he is on the high road to health, that he will do no harm to himself (whether he is so or not) and that you will be very much surprised if he is not well again in a few hours (or days) time. This suggestion if delivered with conviction will take deep root in your friend's mind and be of material assistance in helping him, to say the least, to look on the bright side of things. He will first begin to doubt he is as ill as he has thought, and finally decide he is rapidly recovering. Once this state of mind is arrived at his speedy recovery is assured.

The state of the mind affects the physical condition; the continuance of life is wholly dependent on the physical condition; it follows that, in the degree in which the state of the mind is capable of affecting the physical condition, it is capable of affecting the duration of life. It is impossible to maintain the physical processes in a natural and vigorous condition if the mind be in a state of suffering. Everyone must have observed the altered appearance of persons who have sustained calamity. A misfortune that struck to the heart happened to a person a year ago; observe him some time afterwards. He is wasted, worn to the miserable shadow of himself; compare about him at the distance of a few months, he is no more." —Dr. S. Smith.

There is no greater curse than a morbid mind, the possession of which, by constantly dwelling on some particular disease, may induce the ailment mentally pictures into his system, and have shown. This is termed auto-suggestion, and I propose to show you how by simply picturing good conditions, i.e. perfect health, sound organic strength, etc., one may obtain the reverse and, decidedly, the more desirable physical condition.

That faith and hope are powerful factors in curing disease and establishing better physical and mental conditions is sufficiently proved by the thousands of testimonials which attain the highly expectant state necessary

THE RAILWAY CROSSING.

He reached the railway crossing the same time as the train; I saw the engine tossing his auto over the plain; an epitaph engrossing was placed above the sign. With buckets and valves the undertakers came, and gathered up the pieces of his poor mortal frame, the while his weeping relatives declared it was a shame. He speeded up his haste, and tried to beat the train; his speed was surely dizzy and certainly insane; why be so hindered busy, when all such haste is what he had all week to travel to Jacktown-in-the-Hole; but he must reach the gravel, the poor, misguiding soul; and now no druggist's shop will restore this Peter Polo. "Oh, stop, and look, and listen," the railway sign-board said; he saw the wise words glisten in fresh paint, just ahead, and he worked every piston, and to the crossing sped. They scraped him from the plain; the public prints had leaders, that showed his course was vain, a warning to all speeders who try to beat the train. Alas, for poor old Peter! Much grief my spirit feels; and as I toward tetter, no more he rips and reels to show his lizzie's fleetness than anything on wheels.

Novel Attack on the Germans.

An extraordinary incident of the war was witnessed during the Battle of the Marne. When the news of the approach of the Germans was announced the peasants of the district of Montceau, near Leyanne, opened all their stable doors in order that the cattle might have an opportunity of escaping in safety, and hoping they might have a chance to collect after the tide of battle rolled on. Among the cattle was a very fierce and savage bull, who, as soon as the door was opened, rushed out into the road, snorted, lashed its tail, and glared round for some object on which to expend its fury. At that moment a round of cannon was heard. The brute rushed forward and out of the village towards a mound where a German company had just taken up position. The bull, with its horns down and mad with rage, dashed right into the middle of the Germans, and began to bowl them over like ninepins. The soldiers, taken by surprise, remained stupefied for some moments, then fired at the animal, but only inflicted slight wounds. It continued on its mad career, and dashed hither and thither among the affrighted Germans, tossing and trampling them until a storm of bullets ended its life. By that time the bull had killed no fewer than eighteen Germans.

ROYAL AND OTHERWISE.

The King has given another example of his skill as a sportsman. In the first of the season's grouse drives over the Gairnsdale moors, his Majesty had no fewer than 88 brace of fine plump birds. That was a good proportion of the total bag of 264 1/2 brace secured by the party of nine. It is expected the King will have some very good grouse shooting on the Gairnsdale moors, which are said to be particularly well stocked this season.

No definite arrangements for the Prince of Wales' visit to Japan have yet been made, but the expectation is that the Prince will sail from Kurseschee for the Far East and travel direct to one of the Japanese ports, probably Yokohama. He is expected to remain in the "Island Empire" for nearly a month, and will pass most of his time in Tokio and neighborhood, being housed in the beautiful Imperial Palace there.

The marriage between M. Ventzelos and Miss Schilizzi took place quietly at Sir Arthur Crossfield's house, in Highgate, early this month. M. Ventzelos, a bridegroom, was a tour through America shortly. Miss Schilizzi inherited a gigantic fortune from her father, and this she has used for the good of Greece. During the war of 1912 she equipped an entire hospital train in Macedonia at her own expense, and it was she who purchased and presented to the Greek Government a house in London, for use as a Legation.

Dr. Macnamara, who recently celebrated his 50th birthday, has many a time and oft delighted an audience with musical satire at the expense of his own profession. The sympathetic ring which the Right Honorable vocalist can put into his trony is manifest when he sings to a company of fellow politicians, his favorite ditty: When in the House M.P.'s divide, If they've a brain and cerebellum too, They've got to leave that brain outside, And vote just as their leaders tell 'em too.

The fee of 10,000 guineas paid to Mr. Barrington Ward, K.C., to go to Egypt to defend a wealthy Albanian charged with attempting to murder Lord Allibair, is one of the biggest legal fees of modern times, but not a record. Mr. Balfour Browne, K.C., had 20,000 guineas to go to Singapore. The famous Sergeant Ballantine, who went to India to defend a Prince charged with attempting to murder a British resident, like Mr. Barrington Ward, received 10,000 guineas. Sir John Simon is said to have received 4,000 guineas in a big case between Brunner Mond's and one of Lord Leverhulme's companies. Of course, this was only a home job.

Starting life as an office boy, Mr. Robert Somerville, who has just died at Dalkeith in his 33rd year, had become one of the best-known ship-owners in Scotland. He was chairman of Messrs. George Gleson and Company, Limited, of Leith, Glasgow, Dundee, Hull, and Middleborough. He placed the first order for a steamer for the firm in 1880, and eventually had a fleet of 14 vessels running regularly from Scottish and English ports to Rotterdam, Antwerp, Dunkirk, etc. He was made a member of the Leith Dock Commission when a single dock was sufficient to accommodate all the shipping of the port. His contributions to religious and philanthropic institutions have been on a princely scale.

When Moslems Mourn.

The orthodox Turk of the Moslem religion wears no mourning, nor do the Osmanli tribes observe periods of seclusion after the death of a relative. Women friends pay visits of condolence to the harem, but the inmates, after thanking their guests for their formal expressions of sympathy and good wishes for their future freedom from bereavement, speak calmly and resignedly of the departed. If a child has died the mother and her relatives even rejoice before their friends. It is considered sinful to mourn over the death of a child. On the other hand, it is considered an act of filial duty to mourn constant-

Squirrel Hid Soft Balls. CADDIE FOUND 41 SECRETED IN A LOG. Carleton Place, Ont., Sept. 3.—Leslie Reynolds, a caddie of the Carleton Palace Golf Club, a few days ago, while searching for lost balls, saw a squirrel enter a hollow log. He investigated and discovered that the animal had secreted 41 balls in the log. Search of other hiding places in the locality resulted in the location of over fifty balls.

The Opportunity of a Life Time.

Recent cable despatches announce that the Prime Minister of Newfoundland was at Washington on Monday. There is reason to believe that he is still in the capital city of the United States to-day. Sir Richard has already appeared, informally it is true, before the Senate Finance Committee, and discussed with the members thereof, informally also but none the less thoroughly we hope, the duties proposed by the Fordney Tariff to be assessed on Newfoundland fish and fish products. The Premier took the correct attitude when he expressed an opinion that the rates in the Fordney measure were so high as to be practically prohibitive. He might have gone further and informed the Committee that if he persisted in retaliation would ensue. But at such an initial stage in the informal negotiatory proceedings a threat of that nature might not be regarded as either diplomatic or conciliatory. That it can be carried out, however, and will be, is not at all a statement that the press can refrain from using, nor will it be backward in advising should such a measure be deemed advisable to bring American politicians to time. The suave gentlemen of the Senate Committee did not commit themselves in any direct way. Their chairman politely informed Newfoundland's Prime Minister that the Committee did not have the Tariff Bill before it at the present time, but would be glad to consider any statement he might care to file. It is now up to the Premier of this colony to take these gentlemen at their word and file such a statement as will convince them of the grave error in judgment they have made by placing prohibitive duties on Newfoundland fish and fish products. He has all the data in his possession. He is acquainted with the processes of retaliation. He is learned in the law. He possesses information as to what happened American fishermen coming to the coasts of Newfoundland when the Foreign Fishing Vessels' Act of 1905 was put into operation. And if with all this knowledge at his disposal he is not able to show the Senate Committee the error of their ways, then he will surely lose the opportunity of a life-time. It is better to conclude tariff wars by peaceful and reciprocal arrangements. But the weapon of the tariff is invariably two-edged. If America will not meet Newfoundland on a proper basis of tariff rates, then a lot of the methods by which American fishing schooners, laden with Newfoundland produce, bluffed collectors of Customs at their home ports in accepting them for entry as of United States catch and origin, will have to be exposed, not so much to the disadvantage of Newfoundland, as to show Washington politicians and New England vessel owners just where they can get off—if they want to.

MINARD'S LINIMENT LUMBERMAN'S FRIEND.

The Fordney Tariff and Canada.

"The Fordney Tariff," writes the Ottawa correspondent of the London Economist, "will hit the fisheries a stunning blow, and that at a time when they are least able to bear it. For some non-ferrous minerals the export market will virtually be cut off, and the same may be said of certain manufactured products, the surplus of which has found a ready market in the United States, and can find it in no other country."
"The prospect of finding an alternative market for the $90,000,000 of wheat exported to the United States last year is more hopeful than it is for any other important product. Certainly those engaged in the grain trade take a much more optimistic view of the situation than they did a few months ago. The dry weather in Europe, together with a falling off in the American crop, is bound to create a much stronger demand for the Canadian product, this being already strongly reflected in the firmness of prices. At the same time, the financing of the crop will probably be attended with greater difficulty than it was last year, when so much of this was done through New York. The fall in sterling alone makes this feature of the situation more difficult. Last fall the ready sale of large quantities of wheat to the United States really saved Canada from a critical financial situation. At a time when conditions are so upset, it is unfortunate that such an outlet, through which quick settlements may be effected, should be closed up. American tariff legislation has a very disturbing effect on a business situation which, through general causes, has had much to upset it."

Falling Off in Passenger Traffic.

ONLY ABOUT HALF OF LAST YEAR'S NUMBER CARRIED.
Passenger traffic between the port of North Sydney and Newfoundland shows a very large falling off this year as compared with the 1920 season, the difference in numbers amounting to 3,290.
The Reid Co.'s steamer Kyle carried the largest majority of the passengers to and from the colony, but the Farquhar Co.'s boat, the Sabie I, also carried a large number on each trip between North Sydney and St. John's. The total number of passengers transported for the first eight months of this year, was 8,873, as compared with 7,263 for the same period in 1920. By months the number was as follows:

| | | |
|----------|-------|-------|
| January | 1920 | 1921 |
| February | 434 | 240 |
| March | 147 | 6 |
| April | 881 | 6 |
| May | 715 | 400 |
| June | 1,186 | 784 |
| July | 1,207 | 895 |
| August | 1,418 | 679 |
| August | 1,875 | 389 |
| Total | 7,263 | 3,873 |

The decrease is due largely to the general depression and financial stringency which has prevailed during the present season, which has been much more keenly felt than last year.
Another factor which may have had considerable to do in restricting traffic of this kind was the high rates which have prevailed on the Reid system until the beginning of the month, when a very substantial reduction in return and single fares was made. Had this cut taken place earlier in the season, there is little doubt but that the number of passengers transported would have been considerably increased.
Freight shipments over the Reid system have also suffered to a great extent, and the same causes may be assigned for the falling-off as are given for the passenger traffic. Last year the Kyle usually carried from 10 to 14 cars of freight on each of her outward trips, but this summer the shipments have only amounted to two and three cars per trip. With the substantial reduction in freight rates which were made on September 1st, and a tendency on the part of buyers to increase their stocks it is likely the company will very shortly begin to reap some benefits from the reduction in rates. Some of the reductions made on various staple articles are as follows: Apples, per barrel, 25 cents; four, 22 cents; hay, 12 cents; potatoes, 2 cents; salt, 8 cents; and meals per barrel, 85 cents.—North Sydney Herald.

Church Nearly Completed.

The new Roman Catholic Church, which is being built at Torbay, is now nearly completed. The exterior of the building is finished, and only the interior remains to be done. The church is a very large one and is of a most artistic design and will undoubtedly be an acquisition to the settlement. When finished the new church will be one of which the parish priest and his entire congregation may well be proud. Whilst the new church is in course of erection the old stone one is still being used for divine worship.

Stars Defeat B. I. S.

IRISH LOSE FIRST GAME.
Before an enormous number of spectators, the B.I.S. went down to defeat before the Stars last evening, the score being 2 goals to 1. And so, another game will be necessary to decide the championship.
Playing against the wind during the first half, the B.I.S. put up a great fight but were unable to prevent the Stars from getting through and before the half time whistle sounded Phalan had been beaten twice, by Evans and Spurrel.
In the second half play was even more exciting and every effort was put forth by the players of both teams. Walsh gave a magnificent exhibition of goal tending and it was not until 20 minutes of the half had elapsed, that Rawlins scored the first goal for the Irish.
Darkness began to set in, then, and no further scoring resulted during the game.

Celebrates Promotion.

Detective Sergeant Simmonds entertained a party of friends at his home last night to celebrate his recent promotion. Amongst those present were Head Constable Byrne, Fire Chief Benson, Mr. G. Coughlan, of the Inspector General's Office, Mr. W. Morris, Detective Constable Lee and Mr. A. B. Ferlin, of the Telegram staff. The guests were most hospitably received by Sergeant and Mrs. Simmonds. A splendid supper was served during the evening and a most interesting chat was enjoyed afterwards. All present spent a most enjoyable time and hope that Sergeant Simmonds, who is a most conscientious officer, will shortly have cause to celebrate a further promotion which he will undoubtedly deserve.

Spencer College Re-Opens.

Bishop Spencer College re-opened this morning after the summer holidays. Several of the directors were present for the opening, and addressed the pupils before they were dismissed for the day. Miss Richards, the principal, was present, as were a few of the teachers, but there are several other mistresses who are expected from England shortly. Every thing points to a most successful year for Spencer College.

McMurdo's Store News.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 14.
Banes & Black's Baby Talcum is something new and very dainty. A smooth soft talcum, very bland and delightfully cooling and soothing to the little one's skin, and perturbed just right. A generous sized tin for 35 cents.
Try a box of Acme Face Powder next time. We think Acme will please you. A pure, nicely levigated and refined, and faintly, but sufficiently perfumed with Apple Blossom. 25c. a box.

Scouts Reorganized.

At a meeting held last night under the chairmanship of District Commissioner, Rev. E. W. Forbes, at which the Scoutmasters and Patrol Leaders of the Gower Street Troop of Boy Scouts were present, the full programme was mapped out and the troop was re-organized as follows:
A. Co., Leader, Scout Master Tizard, Gower Street Church.
B. Co., Leader, Scout Master Harris, Wesley Church.
C. Co., Leader, Scout Master (Rev.) Johnson, Cochrane St. Church.
D. Co., Leader, Scout Master C. F. Garland, George Street, Presbyterian and Congregational Churches.
It was decided that a number of instruments would be added to the band. The first regular meeting for the fall will take place on Tuesday next in the Methodist College Gymnasium. It is the intention to have inter-company competition and games throughout the year, and it is expected that a large number of recruits will enlist.

Police Seize Booze.

On Monday several members of the detective force proceeded to Holyrood where they seized a considerable quantity of liquor. The "booze" had been smuggled in, but through the efficient watch which is being kept, information was received which enabled it to be confiscated before it reached the possession of those to whom it was consigned. The authorities are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts to keep down smuggling.

Kyle's Passengers.

The following passengers arrived at Port aux Basques at 8.30 a.m. on S.S. Kyle and are now on the incoming express due here to-morrow: J. and Mrs. Sheppard, Mrs. A. Joseph, W. J. Rowe, Miss Ivany, J. Bell, Miss J. Alexander, Miss S. Alexander, Mrs. W. Pike, Rev. Dr. Lawright, P. Coffey, W. Brennan, W. Parsons, M. Parsons, Miss A. Wornell, A. J. Burke, A. Noonan, J. E. and Mrs. White, Mrs. H. Taylor, A. Wells, S. J. Tucker, W. Doyle, F. McLaugh and J. A. Milley.

C. E. I. Protest.

As the St. John's Amateur Baseball League has seen fit to ignore our letter to them in connection with their claim to the Red Lion-C.E.I. game, which should have been played on Wednesday afternoon last, we feel justified in not putting our team on the field in this afternoon's game, until we have a satisfactory explanation from them.

Baseball This Afternoon.

The Baseball game this afternoon will be between the B.I.S. and Red Lions. As these teams are evenly matched an exciting game of ball is assured.

Railroad Men to Discuss Wage Reduction.

The locomotive engineers and firemen of the Reid Nfld. Co. met yesterday afternoon and discussed the recent 20 per cent wage reduction. The consensus of opinion was that the reduction could not be met at the present time and it was decided that the matter be further discussed at a special meeting of all railway trainmen, engineers, and telegraphers, which will be held to-night.

Prospero Sails North.

S.S. Prospero, Capt. J. Field, left port this morning on the Northern Coastal Service. She took a large freight and the following passengers: Messrs. H. Mercer, K. Lush, R. Anstey, E. G. Wornell, W. Squires, J. Davis, N. Morgan, G. Snow, B. McDonald, Messdames Brendon and child, Grimes, Blackmore and child and Misses Milfen, Moore, Jacobs and Grimes.

Labrador Report.

The Marine and Fisheries Department received the following message from the Labrador yesterday:—
Cape Harrison.—Light S.W. wind, cloudy.
Makovik.—Light S.W. wind, poor fishing.
Holton, Smokey.—Fresh S.W. wind, cloudy.
Grady.—Light S.W. wind, cloudy, good hooking.
Flat Island, Domino, Venison Island.—Light S.W. winds, cloudy.
Battle Hr.—Light S.W. wind, good hooking.

Another Trip.

It is likely that the S.S. Manoa will make another trip from this port. A report was current that this would be her last trip. The agents, Messrs. Harvey & Co., have wired the owners as to the probability of the ship making another trip and are expecting a reply in a day or two.

Meat Prices.

A late edition of the London Times states that meat prices in New Zealand, about four months ago, went down with a bang as sheep were selling at as low as one shilling each and lambs at—imagine it—one and sixpence per dozen. This will be interesting news to meat buyers in this country where a pound costs forty-five cents, or about equal to the price of two New Zealand sheep, as quoted by the Times. Some one must be doing well in the meat purveying line, and we recommend a more complete study of the Sermon on the Mount to meat syndicates outside New Zealand.—Com.

Garden Party at Ferryland.

A concert and garden party was held at Ferryland on Sunday last. A large number of visitors from town were present and the affair proved to be a big success. The concert was greatly enjoyed by all present. Several talented local performers took part. Father Maher is to be congratulated upon the success of his Garden Party.

Last Night's Parade.

The C.I.E. Cadets held their regular Tuesday night parade yesterday and there was a large attendance of both officers and men. Mr. Holmes, the new Superintendent of the Seaman's Institute was present during the evening and gave an exhibition of gymnastic "stunts" at which he is an adept. In the gym, the lads were put through company drill and are settling down to work after the summer vacation. The next parade will be held on Thursday when an even larger attendance is expected.

TO-DAY'S BASEBALL.—The Irish will clash with the Red Lions on the diamond this afternoon in what promises to be a good game. The C.E.I. are sticking to their decision as regards not playing until they get satisfaction from the Baseball League, and up to press hour their game with the Cubs was off.

Good Fishing at Torbay.

Although there has been a scarcity of bait, nearly all the fishermen of Torbay have been doing well with hook and line. Traps, however, did not do so very well this season. The hook and line fishing is still continuing and in the meantime, a large quantity of new fish which has been taken to St. John's where its owners had no difficulty in selling it.

Shipping Notes.

Schooner Beeste C. Lake has sailed from Torbay for Sydney with 494 qts. of codfish shipped by the estate of John E. Lake.
Schooner Little Stephano arrived in New York on the 9th inst.

Obituary.

DEBORAH OTT.
There passed away peacefully at her home in St. Lawrence on Sept. 1st, Deborah Ott, beloved wife of Thomas Ott of this settlement. Deceased was an active member of the Anglican community, and was for many years Vice-President of the Church of England Women's Association, filling her office worthily and satisfactorily. She was always ready at duty's call and her endeavors for church and school never failed to bring a ready response. The Sisters of the Association feel the loss very keenly, and as a token of respect, paraded to her funeral on Saturday, Sept. 3rd. Deceased had been ill for about two weeks. In trying to help out her neighbor who had been sick for some time, she contracted a cold which proved fatal.
There remains to mourn the loss of a beloved wife and a tender mother, a husband, three sons and one daughter in Halifax, and two daughters at home, besides many sisters, one brother and friends. To the sorrowing ones we tender our sincerest sympathy and we hope that there is centred around it all some great truth which lifts the veil. "The spirits of the just are blessed."
—P.O.R./
St. Lawrence, Sept. 10, 1921.

Personal.

A message to Miss Nina Croebie yesterday stated that Sir John passed a very good night and was very much improved.

Mr. F. J. King, Organist, etc. of St. E. Cathedral, will resume teaching on Sept. 16th. Terms for Organ, Piano, Vocal and Theoretical lessons on application to Studio, 235 Theatre Hill, Sept. 12, 21.

Church Fails to Help Women.

Startling Charge Made by Canadian Woman Writer--Unexpected Hitch in Irish Negotiations--Allies Demand Surrender of Turkish Conspirators--Five Dollars Per Day Offered Harv esters.

THE ECUMENICAL CONFERENCE.

LONDON, Sept. 13. Mrs. Nellie McLung of Edmonton, a noted Canadian writer and a representative of the Canadian Methodist Church, told this morning's session of the World's Methodist Conference that the church had failed to help women solve their problems. Appeals to British women to demand prohibition in Great Britain were made by Mrs. Norman Sargent, of the Wesleyan Church, and other speakers.

THE IRISH NEGOTIATIONS.

LONDON, Sept. 13. An unexpected hitch has arisen in the Irish negotiations. Lloyd George, who is at Gairloch, Scotland, to-day received Harry Boland, Secretary to Eamon De Valera, and Joseph McGrath, another Sinn Fein representative, according to an official communication issued to-night, and Messrs. Boland and McGrath are returning to Dublin with the Prime Minister's explanation of certain points in the Government's proposals for consideration by the Irish. It is said that Mr. De Valera's reply dealing with the question of accepting, or not accepting, the invitation to conference will not be delivered until Friday or Saturday. It is understood that the letter which couriers McGrath and Boland bore to the Prime Minister asked for fresh explanations respecting the British Government's latest communication, and that there are points of vital importance necessitating the return of the couriers to Dublin for consultation with Mr. De Valera and his colleagues. The developments will delay the proposed conference between the Government and the Irish plenipotentiaries beyond September 20, the date suggested by Lloyd George.

AUSTRALIA STANDS BY LEAGUE.

LONDON, Sept. 13. Reuter's correspondent at Geneva reports that the League of Nations, on receiving the debate on the report of the Council heard an address from Capt. Bruce, of Australia, who declared that Australia was prepared to do the utmost to support the League. Captain Bruce alluded to the part that the Commonwealth had taken in the recent Great War, "which bled Australia white" (cheers). He said that Australia stood for the great principles of the League of Nations.

CRISIS IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 13. The Allied authorities here have inited the Turkish Government to surrender the men involved in the revolutionary plot, discovery of which was announced here yesterday. These persons must be turned over to the Allies within a week or the Government will be held responsible. The conspirators will be tried by an Allied Court Martial. General Headquarters is under guard by British troops, while Gordon Highlanders have raided the premises of various Nationalist organizations. The guns of British warships, anchored in the Golden Horn and Bosphorus, have been directed against Istanbul, the Asiatic section of the city. British troops are proceeding to disarm the population.

AUSTRALIA AND PACIFIC CONFERENCE.

MELBOURNE, Sept. 13. Referring to the approaching disarmament conference at Washington, Lord Northcliffe, who is now touring Australia, said in a speech at a civic reception here to-day, it was unthinkable that Australia and New Zealand should be totally unrepresented by a conference which might decide their fate. Nations would be represented at that conference, which as compared with Australia, would not be interested in the Pacific, he added. Lord Northcliffe said he would be delighted to do anything he could to bring the Australian position more clearly before the United States, as it was possible the United States did not realize the importance of Australia.

PRESSMEN RETURN TO WORK.

HAMILTON, Sept. 14. Their strike allowance cut off, owing to funds being about exhausted, the printing pressmen, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, agreed to return to work. They have been out for three months, fighting for a 44 hour week.

THE ARBUCKLE TRIAL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13. The San Francisco County Grand Jury adjourned at 1:10 this morning without concluding examination of the testimony on which the District Attorney's office is seeking an indictment charging "Fatty" Arbuckle, motion picture star, with the murder of Virginia Rappo, an actress. The indictment will be resumed at a date convenient to Matthew Brady, District Attorney, it was announced.

PERJURY CHARGED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13. A statement expressing the conviction that perjury had been committed by one of the chief witnesses for the prosecution at the Grand Jury investigation last night, of the death of Miss Virginia Rappo, for whose alleged murder "Fatty" Arbuckle is under arrest, was issued early to-day by District Attorney Brady, who stated that he believed "undue influence and pressure of a sinister character had been brought to bear" upon certain witnesses. Whether or not an arrest would be made in connection with his charge of perjury, he said, would depend on developments.

ENGINEER'S TRAGIC DEATH.

SYDNEY, Sept. 13. John McLennan, chief engineer of the Acadia Coal Company at New Glasgow, was found dead on Water Street, Whitney Pier, here to-day. McLennan was the guest of the Rev. Fr. Krastky, Polish Priest, and is believed to have walked through his bedroom window to the veranda and fallen to the street.

HARVEST LARGE.

LABOURERS FEW. TORONTO, Sept. 13. Unable to secure required labor for the Western harvest at four dollars per day, which is accompanied with a guarantee of thirty days' work, the local office of unemployment service of Canada is now attempting to secure labor by increasing the wage to five dollars. The statement issued says: "This situation is likely created by inability of men to raise the necessary railway fare and money to take them to their destination."

LOOTING AND MURDER IN INDIA.

CALCUTTA, Sept. 13. A mob of one thousand armed men from Mannarghat went to the police station in Palghat yesterday and attempted to kill the sub-inspector and several constables. After firing shots into the air, the sub-inspector and constables escaped to Atlaplam. The mob later looted the registrar's office and set fire to the records. Plunder appears to have been the main objective of the mob. On Saturday last a mob entered valuable buildings in Nilambur and set fire to them with kerosene.

METHODISTS ENDORSE LEAGUE.

LONDON, Sept. 13. A resolution commending the work of the League of Nations was adopted without discussion by an almost unanimous vote of the World's Methodist Conference here this afternoon and was ordered sent to Geneva.

SPANISH ADVANCE CLAIMED.

MELILLA, Sept. 13. Occupation of Suk El Arba, and a village by the same name has been effected brilliantly without Spanish losses, it is announced in an official statement issued here, relative to the offensive begun yesterday morning.

CANADIAN IMPORTER REACHES VICTORIA.

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 13. The Canadian importer, after a tow of over six hundred miles by ocean going tugs, arrived here to-day. The steamer sprung a leak some weeks ago and for a time was thought to have foundered.

MAIL SHIP RELOADED.

LISBON, Sept. 13. The British Royal Mail steamer Almansora, which went ashore of Cape Espichel on Thursday last, was reloaded to-day.

THE CYCLONE'S VICTIMS.

ST. VINCENT, Windward Islands, Sept. 13. Expenditures for relief of the poor who lost food crops and houses in the great storm, which swept over St. Vincent last week, have been approved by the Legislature. The Government plans to import foodstuffs and lumber for distribution to the needy. Storm damage in the neighborhood Island of Grenada is placed on moderate estimates at $500,000. Nutmeg and cocoa plantations which were ruined will require at least seven years for re-establishment on Grenada. In a group of islands, between St. Vincent and Grenada the food crops and houses of the settlers were almost completely destroyed.

Memorial Wreath Placed.

The following message has been received by the G.W.V.A. from Lt.-Col. Nangle, C.F. "Placed a wreath in your name, on the Australian War Cross, unveiled by Premier Hughes near Gorbie" (sgd.) Nangle. The message was sent from Albert, and it is understood Lt.-Col. Nangle is now on his way home, and is due here early next week.

Bell at Truro.

President Ayre, of the A.A.A. received a message yesterday from Jack Bell's manager, A. Harvey Thomas, announcing that he and Bell had arrived at Truro. The remainder of our representatives in the Halifax Sports will leave by to-morrow's express under the management of E. J. Goodland. The team's colours will be black and white. It would be interesting to note why these colours have been selected in preference to others which might be eminently more appropriate.

That Customs Appointment.

The rumor that Mr. P. P. Collins had been appointed to the position of Customs Broker still persists, but according to a statement made by the Telegram yesterday by the Minister of Finance, nothing has been done in the matter yet. Mr. Collins also has stated that he was not aware of the appointment. It is hoped that the Minister will see that the order of promotion will be carried out, and that Mr. Buckley who has had 15 years experience at the work will be given the appointment. The Advocate when the last appointment was made, created quite a howl and said it was a case of political expediency.

Are You Right-Eared?

Hardly anyone possesses a pair of ears which are exactly alike. In nearly every case one ear is larger than the other, if set further back from the eye, or is higher in the head.

Very few people can hear equally well with both ears. One ear nearly always hears better than the other, and so performs most of the hearing work.

Test it for yourself, and you will be surprised at the difference. Close first one ear and then the other when you are travelling in a bus or the tube, and you will soon discover whether you are right-eared or left-eared. You will find that not only is the noise louder in one ear, but that there is quite a different sound about it. You will notice this particularly if you try it when you are listening to music. The various noises will sound much more metallic to one ear than to the other.

Most people, when they are straining to catch some sound which is difficult to hear, turn one ear or the other towards the source of the sound, without knowing it, they naturally tend to make use of their strongest ear.

Which ear do you turn towards the stage if you cannot hear the words of a play? To which ear do you put the receiver when you are using the telephone?

Watch yourself and you will find that you nearly always use the same ear.

Elephants Don't Like Mice.

That elephants have a morbid dread of mice is a fact well known to showmen and menagerie owners.

Why this should be so is not clear. One explanation is that the elephants fear that the mouse may run up inside his trunk.

This actually happened to an elephant in a travelling menagerie not long since, and the animal was driven nearly frantic. More than twenty men were required to restrain its mad struggles, nor did it recover its normal quietude until several days had elapsed.

At Sanger's circus, again, an unusual disturbance broke out recently in the elephants' stable. Attendants rushed in, to discover one tiny mouse sitting upon the floor preening its whiskers, and the whole troupe of ten enormous elephants crowded together in the corner furthest away from the intruder, trembling with terror, and trumpeting in chorus for all they were worth.

In India elephants specially trained for hunting will face a tiger with perfect equanimity. But should a mouse happen to cross their path, they will at once wheel round and gallop blindly away.

Only a few months ago, "Billy" the biggest decoy elephant in Ceylon, went mad, killed three men, and demolished several bungalows. A mouse had got into his stable.

The Japanese Schoolboy

In Japanese schools the physical development of a child is given as much attention as his mental development.

On warm days he trips to the waist and his teacher watches him closely as he works. If he breathes improperly, he is corrected; if he is round-shouldered or flat-chested, he is given special exercises; if he is too thin a special diet is recommended.

As in the United States, every child must go to school when he is six years old. He receives a six years' course in morals, reading, arithmetic, gymnastics and poetry.

Criminals Murdering a Great Nation.

Crime in Progress in Russia Not Equalled Since World's Beginning.

"Dmitri Merezhkovski, regarded by many Russians as their greatest living novelist, is among those who believe the destruction of the Bolshevik rule to be the indispensable prelude to effective relief of the frightful famine on the Volga," says the Telegraph's Berlin correspondent.

"His views on this subject are set out in a letter to Gerhardt Hauptmann. It was through the appeal by Maxim Gorki to Germany's leading dramatist, and the latter's sympathetic answer that the attention of the general public was first called to the urgent needs of the famishing millions in South-Eastern Russia. That is why Merezhkovski addresses himself to Hauptmann with his flaming protest.

"How," he asks, "can you believe in Gorki's sincerity?" Only by the fact that "Russia to-day is separated from the rest of humanity by a gulf similar to that which divides this world from the next" can he explain Hauptmann's failure to "comprehend that Gorki is not the friend but the enemy, the secret, cunning, hypocritical, but the worst enemy of the Russian people."

"For what is the true meaning of that which is happening in Russia to-day?"

Immeasurable! "It is so immeasurable that no political, historical, social, or moral standard can be applicable to it. To measure this meaning another and greater standard, a religious one, must be applied. Are we not perhaps perishing so unintelligibly because we have lost the deepest religious significance of that which is happening? Our religious support, the heavenly foundation! Until we have found it again we shall not be saved.

"But before the religious significance of the events is considered we must think of their simple, practical meaning.

"And first the truth must be told. The annihilation of these millions does not horrify us more than all else that has been and is happening in Russia. Nothing is any longer able to horrify the Russians. The cup is full to overflowing; whatever may still be poured into it only runs over the brim. Yes, nothing more can horrify us, for the most terrible is already behind us.

"But it is not only the Bolsheviks whom Merezhkovski includes in his fierce indictment. "What the Russian murderers began the others have completed. Lenin laid the noose round the neck of the Russian people, and the other nations and the whole of humanity have shown themselves in the Russian tragedy devoid of conscience. That is the most terrible thing of all.

Hiding the Truth. "The writer then comes to the main purpose of his letter:

"Before the Soviet power is overthrown the millions of perishing people can be just as little saved as a hanged man before his neck is freed from the noose. Only the respectability of appearances can be maintained. When the Crucified said to a sponge with vinegar, put it on hyssop, and reached it to him: 'Appearances will be preserved; the sponge of vinegar will be held out. Gorki will come along, shed a few shameless tears, utter a few more platitudinous and all these tears and platitudes will be shown in the world in a film. Everything will be done to hide the truth.

"But it is too late. The truth can no longer be hidden. The truth, however, is that not only are these millions of Russians dying of hunger, but also the whole Russian nation with them. Yes, the whole. A crime is in progress such as has never been since the beginning of the world. A handful of criminals is murdering the great nation, and all the other nations wash their hands or help the murderers. The victim cannot be rescued till the dagger has been torn from the murderer.

Murdering a Nation. "By hunger is the dagger in the hands of the Bolsheviks. They need hunger as a murderer his dagger. They maintain themselves by hunger. They murder, outrage and rule only through hunger. They give their own people to eat and keep all others on the verge of death by starvation. They lead them by hunger as an ox is led with an iron ring through his nose—that is the whole secret of their power, and it is so simple. For that reason they will never renounce hunger, the instrument of their might. One thing more should never be forgotten. The ruthless will remain ruthless to the end. To believe in their improvement in their 'evolution,' one must really be mad, as all Europe has gone mad.

The Smile of Lenin. "Do you not see, Herr Hauptmann, behind the shameless tears and placid smile of Lenin? He had no pity for the millions who have already perished; he will have no pity for these. The whole question is whether he needs their destruction. Apparently he now needs the threat, the ghastliness of annihilation as an instrument of an extortion directed against the whole world. He knows that if anything is gained it will be only so little that it will just be enough to allow him to keep his own people going and rule the others by hunger, to lead the ox by an iron ring. "The 'guarantees,' too, trouble him little. He has no fear of guarantees, for in any case they cannot be fulfilled. But if this trick does not succeed, Hidden Treasures of the Old Buccaneers.

That very useful island, where Dumas' famous hero, Monte Cristo, found fabulous wealth, had its position only in the celebrated author's imagination.

What would he have written had he known that the real thing was then in existence, and within easy reach of those who liked to look for it? An Englishman, in the year of Dumas' death, filled his pockets from one of the many hoards there, in the last seventy years, at least twenty-five known expeditions have visited this treasure-strawed locality; and more than one have returned with retrieved riches.

Pacific Phantoms. The island is to be investigated again by a party made up, not of amateur diggers, but of ex-British and United States naval officers, assisted by others with an intimate knowledge of mining. Hitherto operations have been on primitive lines, or, at the best, with spades and explosives. This new party, with a substantial financial backing, proposes to make full use of up to date scientific and mining engineering appliances, and to provide for a long stay.

Some of the "dumps" which have so long defied discovery may be brought to light. Real Treasure Island is no barren, sterile spot. Early last century it had a solitary settler, and before that others. What became of them neither history nor tradition hints, but if ghosts haunt any spot it ought to be this remote island. Wild pigs and goats, doves, and other native fauna are in abundance; and the shore waters swarm with fish and sharks. They who, two centuries or so ago, set up their palisades and brushwood huts, dug wells, and made use of the island for obtaining fresh stores of water and food, were, like others who followed them, keen judges of a handy and comfortable rendezvous. Whether in the East or the West Pacific, the Black Flag pirates had the knack of choosing a pleasing base for drinking and murder.

Since these bold, bad men of the seventeenth century hid their valuables and specie, down to as late as 1835, many millions worth of treasure have been hidden for safety on Cocos Island. Among the principal hoards is that of the pirate Bonita. This Spanish tradition says, hid over 1,000,000 pounds of gold and silver in coinage, ingots, jewels, and plate, obtained from rifled merchantmen and looted towns. Yellow Jack claimed him suddenly at Panama, and he, with his dying breath, divulged to his chief officers the whereabouts of the "dump." Before the vessel set sail, both of them were killed in a drunken fray, and all knowledge of the treasure was lost.

Caches of Gold. Plans and documents indicating another great cache came into the possession of two English women, two years before the war, and their treasure hunt on the Cocos lasted for seven weeks. The search discovered the well-defined rocks which are supposed to indicate the treasure-cave's entrance; also the creek, the waterfall, and several other marks of location; but unfortunately the face of the cliff had slid down over the mouth of the cavern.

There are thousands of tons of debris to be removed before the cache can be reached, but the proposed expedition of treasure-hunters, something to go on with, the previous party having left enough evidence of the site of their labours.

The wealthiest of all the Cocos hoards is, undoubtedly, that of the Peruvians millions, hidden in 1835; and it is interesting to note that as late as 1913, the Panama authorities heard that a United States steamer had left the island with a large quantity of treasure-trove aboard. Later on, collectors in the United States of America were finding that golden pieces of the early Peruvian Republic were not so very rare.

Undoubtedly these coins came from either the 1855 cache, or from the smaller sum secreted on the Cocos ten years earlier by the defuncting heads of a revolutionary junta in Peru, two of whom met unknown deaths, on board their vessel, the third being killed at Valparaiso.

Lost Landmarks. In 1855 the Peruvians, hard pressed by Chile's troops, sent the contents of the national till on board the U.S.A. barque Mary Dyer, lying in Callao Roads. Her hands, three nights later, while the mate was on shore owing to the skipper's sudden and strange death, slipped anchor, and escaped to sea before the forts could hold up the vessel.

When she was captured a few weeks later by a Peruvian warship, the national riches had disappeared. Three of the crew escaped being hanged at the yard-arm—two seamen who promised to reveal the cache, and another Thomson, who had been seriously unwell at the time and in his bunk. Subsequently, the two seamen, on trying to prove that the treasure was hidden on one of the Galapagos, were shot as liars.

Thomson escaped at Panama, and at Colon found a kind Newfoundland-

Eggs That Dance.

Shasta County, California, is the land of wonders. The latest is the dancing egg.

It is laid by an as yet undetermined insect on the leaves of oak trees. Masses of these eggs cling to the under-side of the leaf, and as they advance toward maturity they drop to the ground and dance about.

By holding an oak twig containing any number of eggs to one's ear a crackling sound may be heard, like the splitting of electric sparks. The shell contains a tiny grub, working for release.

In many towns collections of the eggs are on exhibition. When laid on a table these eggs bound about and spring into the air, sometimes to a height of sixteen inches. They are particularly active in the early morning.

This latest insect novelty takes rank with the sulphur bug, which is at home in the red-hot roaster piles.

What is a Billion?

In England a billion means a million millions, and is indicated by the figure one followed by twelve ciphers.

In France and America the term is used to indicate a thousand millions, so that an English billion is a thousand times bigger than an American billion.

A similar difference holds good with that still more swollen conception, the trillion. In England a trillion means a million billions, and is shown by the figure one followed by eighteen ciphers, thus: 1,000,000,000,000,000,000.

In France and America, where it indicates but a beggary thousand billions, it has but twelve ciphers to its credit. It is, in fact, but the equal of our billion.

Freak Pearls Are Precious.

Pearls are occasionally found of a freak or fanciful shape, or fastened together in clusters, and in odd cases these have been known to fetch very high prices. For instance, a pearl-fisher in Torres Straits once found a cluster of pearls shaped like a cross. This curious freak of nature was bought by some wealthy Roman Catholics for presentation to the Pope, the sum paid being £10,000. Pear-shaped pearls, sufficiently large to be used as pendants or earrings, also fetch big prices. But, contrary to popular belief, black pearls are not especially valuable. The most valuable ordinary pearls are those of a pure white, and perfectly round in shape, suitable for stringing as a necklace. Black pearls of this, or any other shape, are worth less than the corresponding shapes in white. The most costly of what for want of a better term may be called "freak pearls," are the pink ones, but these are very seldom met with. So rare are they, indeed, that they have no fixed commercial value; though the pearl-fishers say that, when any are found, the Indian Rajahs are always willing to pay enormous prices for them.

The Accommodating Coco-Nut.

In the islands of the Southern Seas the coco-nut palm supplies all the needs of the members of society. It supplies the natives with lumber to build their homes, their boats, and their utensils. When the leaves of the tree are young, they are eaten. When they are old, they are woven into hats, clothes, baskets, bedding, paper, and thatch. The ribs of the older leaves are made into spears, arrows, brooms, torches, and paddles. The flowers of the tree give the natives wine, vinegar and sugar. The fruit of the palm yields oil, food, cord, and matting. It is said that even the roots are sometimes used as food.

Est. Mrs. Stewart's Home-made Bread.—April 18, 1920.

The most marvelous machine in the world—and how it is neglected

AWAY back in the school books was a lesson on physiology.

Rather dull as a lesson. Yet it was the story of the most marvelous machine ever created—and how the machine gets its power and does its work. That machine is the human body. Some day the mechanical expert of this machine—the doctor—finds out for us where we have missed the lesson and neglected the machine.

GRAPE-NUTS food was made in accordance with the school book lesson on what the body needs and how its needs may best be supplied.

It is possible for a delicious food to be a scientific, "power" food. Grape-Nuts is such a food.

Perfecting Natural Gifts.

Twenty hours of continuous baking has done certain wonderful things to the nourishing properties of whole wheat and malted barley flour, from which Grape-Nuts is made—and has produced a food in the form of crisp, golden-brown granules.

You chew Grape-Nuts thoroughly. The rich, sweet flavor of Grape-Nuts is the reward of chewing. Nature meant the teeth to be used. Primitive people, who keep the natural teeth sound and perfect to old age, are eaters of food which requires chewing. Grape-Nut gives the teeth work to do.

Perhaps you remember a little of the physiology lesson, now—how the salivary juices respond when the food is thoroughly chewed—and the first important step in digestion is taken.

Life-Giving Properties. Wheat and malted barley are richest of all grains in the food elements required for human use. In Grape-Nuts all the essentials provided by nature in these grains are retained and perfected. The long, slow baking process which produces Grape-Nuts turns the grain's starches into natural sweetness and breaks up the nutritive solids into forms easily assimilated by the body.

The exceptional nourishment from Grape-Nuts is secured with no tax upon the digestion.

Penalties for Mistakes.

When the doctor, as the mechanical expert of the bodily machine, comes to give advice in case of trouble, he finds that harm as well as good, often has resulted from food.

"Starchy" foods have been the subject of many warnings. Food which passes too slowly through the digestive tract causes disturbances, which much of the slowing down, wearing out, and failure of the bodily machine is traced.

A characteristic of Grape-Nuts is that it digests quickly and completely—without fermentation in the intestines.

A World Service.

There is, therefore, a reason why, throughout the world, Grape-Nuts has steadily grown in favor these many years, as a food for fitness, as well as charm to taste. You can apply that reason to your own benefit. Ready to set from the package, always crisp, naturally sweet—served with cream or milk and a little sugar if desired—Grape-Nuts is an ideal dish for breakfast or lunch.
