The Toronto World says editorially it would have preferred Editor Willson's Globe to Jno. But it adds cheerfully, "The Liberals are in, and we must await the result."

Mr. Thos. Cunningham, provincial inspector, is careful to see that shipments from the States. He has already condemned several consignments of apples. The small fruit yield of the district around Vancouver will this year be very large. As far as strawberries are concerned, a few days will probably see the beginning of the end of the local season, and raspberries are already coming in considerable quantities. COALITIONS IN MANILA

Interview With Mr. Williams, the Late American Consul-General at Manila.

A Merchant From the Island Tells of the Suffering of Soldiers and Residents.

Mr. Williams, late American consul-general at Manila, recently visited Hongkong and furnished the Press of that city with a statement of affairs in the Philippines. The arrival of the transports with supplies both of ammunition and provisions has been awaited. The natives have made themselves useful by providing the fleet with fruit, which of course has been very acceptable.

The best of feeling exists between the Americans and the natives. The organization of the latter is being rapidly proceeded with by General Aguinaldo, who has gathered several thousands of them around Cavite. As yet only between 4,000 and 5,000 are provided with rifles. One day last week the natives have tried hard to wear Aguinaldo and his followers from their allegiance to the Americans. Soon after Aguinaldo arrived the governor-general sent a couple of Jesuit priests to him and promised him all the reforms he asked for, including autonomy for his people, also endeavoring to buy him over to their side. Aguinaldo in reply said he had laid down his arms once before when the government made exactly the same promises. They, however, did not carry out one of their promises and only handed over half the money promised them for laying down their arms. He accordingly declined to negotiate any more.

Under these circumstances the governor-general sent a couple of wealthy natives—members of the provisional government—to Cavite to see Aguinaldo. They entreated him as Filipinos not to array himself against the United States, but to turn to the cause of those opposed to him in religion. Aguinaldo, however, refused to converse with them on the subject. He informed them that he had allowed the Jesuit priests to return, but he did not intend to treat them in the same way. To harm soldiers and to make proposals to him he should demand until the end of the war, when they would be tried by process of law. The following day two more native members of the provisional council arrived, thinking no more on account of the non-arrival of the others their propositions were being entertained. These also were placed under arrest, and the governor-general that if he wished to quarter the whole of the provisional council on him he was well able to take care of them.

The Spanish government seek to curry favor with the natives by making themselves governors of provinces. The Spaniards who held the posts having been withdrawn, and bestowing upon them the title of colonel. A Filipino has been made governor of Cavite province on the understanding that he is to protect that side of Manila from attack. The force Aguinaldo might bring against him. The provincial governor, however, sent him word that he did not intend to fight, but that he would withdraw what troops he had and went to the other side of the district.

Some excitement was caused at Cavite on the evening of the 20th of May by a report that the Spaniards intended an attack on the city, and in consequence the Americans held themselves in readiness to repulse the attack. The Callao being placed under arms, the Spaniards could sweep with their guns the narrow neck of land between Cavite and Manila, and the Spaniards were, however, without incident. On the night of the 23rd there was some musketry firing, but a couple of shots from the Callao put a stop to the incident.

In addition to the hospitals at present in existence at Cavite Admiral Dewey established another at the Callao, and there. So far there has been a remarkable absence of sickness in the fleet. As an instance we may mention that out of the 400 and odd men on the Baltimore not one is laid up. Indeed throughout the whole fleet there are only between 30 and 40 on the sick list.

When the Zafro left Cavite none of the British residents at Manila had rallied themselves of the permission accorded them by Admiral Dewey to remove to Cavite. Apparently Manila is a more desirable place of residence than Cavite, and the British residents will probably not remove until the last moment.

Some reason or other it has been given out as a fact that the Baltimore suffered severely during the naval battle, one Spanish report going so far as to state that she was so riddled with shot that the Americans scuttled her. Consul Williams informs, however, that the vessel was not so much damaged as the report said, and that she was towed to Cavite, where she was being repaired.

Another interesting interview was obtained from a Manila merchant, Mr. P., who had been on the island on account of the disturbances. "Not only the inhabitants but the Spanish soldiers are considerably pinched for food," says Mr. P. "The poor soldiers are very badly treated indeed. It is a pity to see them going about the streets as if they were starving. They do not get anything like enough food. All they get is a little rice and a very dear. The natives are not allowed to cost five or six cents a dozen now costs as much as 50 or 60 cents for one. Whilst the beef is sold at $1.75 per pound, small bony chickens are realising $1 or $2 each, people being glad to get them for that. There is no food for the natives are daily occurrence. The plan adopted

DEADLY COMBAT NEAR

American Troops in Santiago Close to Spanish Lines and a Battle Imminent.

General Pando With Spanish Host Moving to Relief of Besieged City.

Cuban Guerrillas Inflict Serious Losses Along the Line of Pando's March.

On board Associated Press despatch boat Dauntless, of Santiago de Cuba, June 28, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, by way of Kingston, Jamaica, June 29.—The flying squadron hitherto commanded by Commodore Schley has lost its identity by an order issued to-day by Rear Admiral Sampson, and it has been merged in the fleet under the Admiral. The order caused considerable surprise on board the Brooklyn, which has been the flagship of the flying squadron, where it was supposed the squadron would remain intact at least until the fall of Santiago de Cuba. Commodore Schley has been assigned to command the second squadron attached to Admiral Sampson's fleet.

From two Cuban officers picked up by the Vixen to-day it has been learned that General Pando is moving eastward from Manzanillo with 8,700 Spanish troops for the purpose of assisting the beleaguered city of Santiago de Cuba. The Cubans had come to Aeraderos in small boats with despatches from General Pando to Rear Admiral Sampson. They report that General Pando has with him seven battalions numbering 8,700 men and a pack train with provisions. He left Manzanillo, province of Santiago de Cuba, on June 22 to relieve General Linares. The Spaniards were moving at the rate of twenty miles a day when the messengers left and at their present speed it is expected they will reach Santiago de Cuba in about ten days. The Cubans have a small force hanging on the Spanish flank and rear harassing General Pando's troops at every step. Manzanillo is 127 miles west of Santiago and the roads are in bad condition. The Spaniards say that if General Pando reaches Santiago he will be with less than half the force he started with. The Cubans who are harassing him only number about 200 men, but in the passes and in the mountains are very much feared.

BUSINESS IMPROVING.

Something About Canada's Trade by the Manager of the Mercantile Agency.

Defeat of the Yukon Bill Was Not Popular Among Eastern Business Men.

Mr. W. C. Mathews, manager in Canada for R. G. Dunn & Company, mercantile agents, who has been in the city for several days, left this morning for the Interior, accompanied by Mr. J. B. Giffin, the company's local manager. Mr. Mathews says that trade was never better throughout Canada. There has been an immense increase in exports from the Eastern provinces to Great Britain, particularly in hogs and dairy products. Lately several large pork packing houses have been established in Toronto and almost daily the papers chronicle the departure of big shipments. The same is the case in regard to butter and cheese. All the factories are running steadily and employing full staffs, and the traders are likewise kept busy. This has not been the case in the past. It is generally admitted that the business has been better since the Yukon bill was passed. It is also generally admitted that the business has been better since the Yukon bill was passed. REVELSTOCK MEETING

Addresses by the Premier and Attorney General in Mr. Kellie's Stronghold.

Government Policy Stated in Detail and Met With Vague Criticism.

The political meeting at Revelstoke, held from 8 to the evening till 2 the following morning, was quite the liveliest as well as the longest that has been recorded in the course of the Premier's present tour. Mr. Kellie and his friends had had a field day on the Monday, and came therefore "loaded" for interjections and the annoyance of the government speakers. They soon found, however, that the Attorney-General was a bad man to wake up, while the calm, courteous and statesmanlike address of the Premier so commanded the respect of all classes that those who had been expected to interrupt the speaker, and to do so, were content to listen to the Premier's address. In fact, the Premier's address was so well received that it was not until the Attorney-General had finished his address that the Premier spoke. He then spoke in a clear and eminently practical address in which he contrasted the condition of the province with that of the other provinces, and the country as a whole. UNWANTED IN MARRIAGE.

Wedding of Mr. J. L. Roe, Postmaster of Cumberland, to Miss Annie J. Monro.

St. John's Church Crowded With the Friends of the Couple Last Evening.

At St. John's church, the scene of "the most interesting event in life" for many Victorians, there was last evening united in marriage Mr. John Littlefield Roe, postmaster of Cumberland, Comox, and accountant for the Grant and Mounse Sawmill company, and Miss Annie J. Monro, one of Victoria's most popular young ladies, and until the close of last week a valued member of the teaching staff of the North Ward school. The church had been very prettily decorated for the occasion by the friends of the bride and was crowded to overflowing, testifying to the esteem in which the couple are held in Victoria. Included in those present were many of the bride's former pupils.

MR. TURNER IN KOOTENAY.

The Premier Finds Cause for Congratulations in His Reception at Nearly Every Point.

New Denver, June 3.—A tornado which has considerably interfered with traffic on the Kootenay railway lines has caused a rearrangement of Premier Turner's plans and will necessitate the cancellation of meetings at several points it had been proposed to visit on his tour. Mr. Turner was most cordially received at Kaslo, which city, despite the fact that it is a favorite haunt of his, unquestionably gives the government candidate the most hearty reception. Mr. Green, the first passenger from Dawson in Victoria about the middle of next week.

SCHOOL MEETINGS AND MUSIC.

To the Editor: You would do a great favor if you or some of your readers could inform me if our school districts are defined. I wish to know what the names of the trustees take place, who is eligible to vote at such meetings, and how to determine the exact limits, but there should be some definite rules to guide the trustees and so prevent confusion and unpleasantness. Sometimes we see persons attend where the election is held, and to some it is a question if they are eligible to vote at such meetings. But their votes are counted as if they were not being known, they themselves or trustees or chairmen cannot do anything to prevent the matter, and they should be able to do so. If you may I ask, can anyone who is eligible to vote at a school election visit any other school district at same? Visitors from other school districts should be encouraged, and there should be no room left for doubt as to such persons being or not being eligible to vote.

YUKON NAVIGATION.

Large Shipments Being Sent to Dawson by Way of the Lakes.

The Bennett Lake & Klondike Navigation Company received advice by the City of Seattle of the successful run of the Ora. The company had a special messenger leave White Horse the moment the steamer passed successfully through the canyon and rapids, and he reached Skagway just before the City of Seattle sailed. The Ora should have left White Horse on her second trip to Dawson on Monday last, and the manager here expects the first passengers from Dawson in Victoria about the middle of next week.

would support the establishing of a mint here and favored an export tax on all gold produced in the country.

Mr. Helmecken, who was warmly received said he thanked them for the cordial way they had received him. At the outset he would say he was particularly happy because on a previous occasion an effort had been made in that to prejudice him in the eyes of the people. He might say that during session the whole of his time was taken up by the legislative work, and to hold the office as member was no easy matter. Now he was not afraid to show his constituents what he had done during the session his record was open, whilst he could never shirk his duty and he was proud to say it. Many things had been said to rattle his temper, but it would take a good man to do that. (Applause.)

He was an avowed supporter of the Premier and he had always found that gentlemen straightforward and hono- rable to a degree. He would maintain his own opinion, however, when he felt he was in the right. Would anyone deny that British Columbia had made rapid strides under the premier's administration? No! This was why he and the other candidates had been so well received. (Applause.) He had always consistently advocated the general advancement and progress that hono- rable and he had gone so far as to move a resolution that British Columbia should join with the Dominion in securing fi-nan resources and products at the World's Fair to be held in Paris in 1900. This had received the consideration of the house and a suitable sum had been placed on the estimates for carrying it out properly. He had been sincere in his efforts to settle the Songhees Indian reserve and he could assure them the matter would be satisfactorily settled. He related his course on the Alien Labor bill and said that doubtless the province would succeed in passing this legislation, as it seemed to lie within their jurisdiction. He understood the plan (Applause.) He understood the plan (Applause.) He understood the plan

Colonel had applied the word "dodge" to the remark he had made about the establishing of a mint here.

There was no new thing—one did formerly exist at New Westminster! Still he was convinced that such an institution would be beneficial and he thought it was only right to pass a resolution to the Dominion parliament expressing the desirability of establishing a mint in British Columbia to deal with all the gold forthcoming from the Yukon and other districts. Now, where is the "dodge" in his statement? He wished to emphasize that candidates could not make a personal canvass of voters, but he felt that they all knew their own minds, and if they returned the government men who had addressed them they might they would have no cause to regret it. He wished them all many happy returns of the national holiday—Dominion Day. (Loud applause.) A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the chairman and the meeting then dissolved after giving three cheers for the Queen.

IN JAMES BAY WARD.

The Three Opposition Candidates With the Assistance of Archer Martin Announced a Few Voters.

A meeting called in the interests of the three opposition candidates was held at the South Ward school house last evening and attended by an audience numbering something less than a hundred.

These listeners were scattered over the hall and gave the whole affair a ragged and forlorn look. Just previous to the meeting being called to order Mr. Belyea of the candidates—mounted the platform and in a "big round hand" wrote some mysterious words upon the blackboard, which gave all except those sitting in the front seats the idea that he was "setting" a headline for the writing class. This he afterwards explained was the result of his figuring—as an expert on the subject what he termed "the deficit." He said he was prepared to stand by his estimate of $1,500,000, although the Colonist had joicefully suggested $15,000,000. All this transpired after Alderman Humphrey had been voted to the chair, and proceeded to call on the speakers which was way of variety included Mr. Archer Martin, and did not include Hon. Robt. Beaven, who occupied a prominent platform. Mr. Beaven did not say a word for the opposition, but Col. Gregory Beaven, who occupied a prominent position voters to give Mr. Beaven their assistance.

Mr. Beaven's exhortation was the piece de resistance of the evening, an amusing feature of the programme only rivaled by the great gusto with which Mr. Beaven applauded when Mr. Martin's name was announced by the chairman.

Mr. Beaven's strictures on Hon. Mr. Turner were so palpably incorrect that when a gentleman in the audience declared the speaker to be unworthy of the suffrages of this people who were staunch in their fidelity to their flag and country. (Applause.) He said that times accused him of making an attack on Mr. Higgins at the Esquimalt meeting. Now he had only contradicted the Premier and success which had followed Mr. Bullen with the non-success which had attended Mr. Higgins. He did not say that his misfortune had been due to his capacity or any wrong doing, but he contended in returning men to the house successful business men should be chosen. To conclude he would ask them to sustain in every way the administration which had been given to the man he called made on it by the province. He also thanked them for the kind hearing they had given him. (Applause.)

Mr. Richard Hall said that although this was the first time he had appeared before the electors as a candidate, they could rely on his honesty. He said that Dawson now had yet gone down to the coast, and he said that a man had heard it reported on Sunday that a man had come in that day to Skagway reporting that he had seen a man on the steamer, at least part of the way. However, Mr. Palmer was not able to authenticate this nor to learn the name of the steamer.

Thomas Greener, an old man of 70 years, was brought down on the Tartar last night from Wrangell under charge of Mr. Wallace, who is taking him to the hospital at Vancouver. Greener is perfectly helpless from paralysis that came upon him at Glenora. The old man has a little money in the bank at Vancouver and in spite of his age does not resist the temptation of the Yukon gold. Being a tinsmith by trade he managed to get quite a lot of work at Glenora from the troops going through and from the miners. However, he was suddenly stricken with paralysis and does not look now as if he will last very long.

SENTENCING OF CLAUS.

Pathetic Scene in the Nanaimo Court House on Thursday Afternoon.

The scene in the Nanaimo court house on Thursday when Henry Claus was sentenced to death for the murder of Joseph Burns, on the Stikine river early in the spring, was a most pathetic one.

The murderer himself, a short thick-set man, who speaks very poor English, was very nervous throughout the proceedings and when he was called back to the dock to hear the verdict of the jury, there was not a bit of color in his face. The verdict did not seem to affect him, in fact he seemed to expect it. Upon being asked if he had anything to say he bowed his head and stood for several minutes as if in deep thought, starting when the presiding judge, Mr. Justice Walker, remarked that the jury having brought in a verdict of guilty, would now he would proceed to sentence the prisoner to be hanged on August 2.

This gave the prisoner a look of con- sideration as he sat in the gallery, called out to him in French, "Speak up, man!"

They Must Move at Once on Santiago or Reckon With Pando's Advancing Host.

Washington, June 29.—The opinion prevails here that within a day or two or most General Shafter will have begun his attack upon the city of Santiago proper without awaiting reinforcements.

The military authorities say that General Linares has shown great military tact in slowly retiring during the past few days as he has gradually drawn our troops away from the protection of the American ships at Santiago harbor.

It was announced at the department that by their reports 3,000 soldiers should be leaving Santiago today to join Shafter.

It is probable that immediate steps will be taken to throw a force of Americans and Cubans between General Pando and General Linares.

THE DUFFERIN WRECK

Details of the Loss of the Stern Wheel Steamer Off Cape Beale.

Crew of the Vessel Now on Their Way to Victoria None the Worse for Their Escapade.

Manager G. Hinde-Bowker, of the British American Corporation, who was on the bridge of the steamship Progresso when the company's stern-wheel steamer Marquis of Dufferin met her fate off Cape Beale on Friday morning last, arrived from Alberni on last evening's train, abandoning, at least temporarily, the expedition he had started out on.

At 8 o'clock the steamer showed red lights and those on board asked that the Progresso slow down. The big vessel accordingly did so, although at the time she was only running at half speed.

Capt. Gibby, and Mr. Hinde-Bowker were both watching closely the behavior of the stern wheeler from the bridge of the Progresso and it appeared to them as though the vessel was weathering the sea without any particular straining.

When about fifteen miles to the westward of the Cape, however, red lights were again shown and immediately afterwards distress signals were being hoisted. The Progresso was hoisted to once, but in a few minutes the Dufferin's fate was sealed.

Her bow chains were parted, and everything that seemed to hold her together broke simultaneously, the whole forward part of the vessel went on its side, and the stern stood out of the water as if the boiler and machinery were being hauled overboard through the bottom by some force.

The excitement on the Progresso was intense. She was crowded with passengers; in fact, overpowered, Mr. Bowker says, and when the announcement that the Dufferin was sinking was made, men and women rushed to the railing of the ship in their night clothes.

The life boats of the Progresso had long ere this been launched by their movements could not be plainly seen. It was dark and in the stiff breeze blowing from the west the voices of the men and women in the first and second Egyptian rooms were in progress, for confusion and disorder were visible everywhere.

The upper floor of the British museum during the last few weeks can not have failed to notice that a comprehensive arrangement of the mummies and coffins in the first and second Egyptian rooms was in progress, for confusion and disorder were visible everywhere.

PROGRESO'S TOW LOST

Stern Wheel Steamer Marquis of Dufferin Wrecked at the Entrance to the Straits.

Her Crew Escaped in Small Boats, in Which They Reached the Steamer Progreso.

The men and companies who had stern-wheel steamers built in the coast cities to be towed to St. Michael's, for service on the Yukon, and the insurance companies who insured the vessels, must by this time have reached the conclusion that their ventures were risky ones.

The wrecked steamer was sighted about twelve miles northeast of Cape Beale by the steamer Tartar, which arrived here last evening from the North.

The Marquis of Dufferin was built at Vancouver for the British American Corporation at a cost of about $200,000, and was insured for $27,500.

The speech delivered in the Nanaimo opera house on Wednesday evening by Hon. Mr. Eberts was one of the plainest and at the same time most eloquent expositions of the government's policy that has been heard during the campaign.

During his defense of the government's financial policy, the Attorney-General quoted some figures, which Postmaster Brown, the opposition financier (7), who rose to reply, and Mr. Ralph Smith, who also spoke after the minister, made no attempt to refute in fact they dropped the question of finance like a hot brick.

The clear statement of facts made by the Attorney-General in respect to the Chinese question, a striking contrast to the generalities of Ralph Smith, was very favorably received, and admitted by all, for even the opposition speakers did not attempt to refute the facts, as a fair explanation of that question. The only charge that Mr. Eberts had distorted the facts at Revelstoke by stating that the New Vancouver Coal Company employed more Chinamen than the Vancouver Coal Company, it did not alter the case. The fact remained that the big corporation that was behind the opposition in this campaign, were employers of Chinese, and the mining report proved it.

An opposition meeting in the interest of Mr. McAllan was held at Cumberland on Wednesday evening. Mr. James Dunsuir was present by invitation and addressed the meeting which he carried off to one Mrs. S. Leland, who was in attendance at the meeting, says Mr. Dunsuir made a splendid impression and addressed the meeting as a whole. He has a most hearty reception from miners, and in his address he said:

pointed in not receiving the candidature of Mr. McAllan. There is every probability that the Olan McGregor will be represented in the next legislature. The general opinion in Nanaimo is that the opposition are counting on a good many more miners' votes than their candidate will receive.

Mr. Ralph Smith, the opposition candidate in South Nanaimo, is not a lawyer, as erroneously stated some days ago; neither is he a working miner. Mr. Smith is secretary of the Miners' Union, for which it is said he receives $90 a month. His principal occupation is to make the miners believe that they have a grievance and therefore the necessity for a secretary at $90 a month.

Mr. Semlin, late leader of the opposition in the legislature, runs his ranch on the Chinese side of the New Vancouver Coal Company, the chief backers of the opposition, employ Chinamen, and now the government is coming forward to admit that Chinamen cut his wood, but still these men prate about being friends of the Chinese labor.

Mr. A. McGregor had to resign his position with the New Vancouver Coal Company to become a candidate in the government interest in Nanaimo. Mr. McAllan, who opposed Mr. James Dunsuir in Comox, has been and still is in the employ of the Union Colliery Company of which Mr. James Dunsuir is president.

A SOLDIER'S STORY.

Serving His Queen in Various Countries, He Fell a Victim to Rheumatism. Windsor, July 1.—"I have suffered for many years from chronic Rheumatism," writes Mr. F. G. Eaton, of this city. "I have been active military service on different occasions, in different climates, and the hardships I have borne, sowed the seeds of the disease in my system, and nourished it, till it had me completely in its toils. I went through the North-West campaign, 1885, and after my return home, I thought I would never be of use again.

"My sufferings were past the power of words to describe. Every joint was a furnace of fiery burning pain. Every movement seemed to tear my flesh away under. I used remedies after remedy, but with always the same result—Failure. "Finally, thank God, I was advised to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did so, and the result is sold in three words—They Cured Me.

"I have served in the 33rd (British) Regiment, through an Indian campaign, and in No. 2 Co. R.C.M.L. and my comrades in the latter corps can vouch for the truth of these statements."

Mr. Eaton is a man who has earned an honorable record in the service of his Queen and country. He knows that what he has said is true, and his word is not doubted. It is his experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills enough to prove to every man that he is a man who has earned the one, the only cure on earth for Rheumatism.

SANTIAGO HILL FIGHT.

A Thousand American Soldiers Have Fallen in Two Days of Desperate Conflict.

Spaniards Let the Foe Approach to Close Range Before the Terrible Batteries Opened.

Modern Guns Off Cervera's Ships Then Deal Death From Behind the Earthworks.

Washington, July 2.—The President and the Secretary of War through a private despatch coming from the battlefield learn that the engagement was resumed this morning and has continued all day. The wounded men are coming in rapidly and indications point to heavy losses. The despatch does not indicate a decisive result in any direction.

This has been a day of almost unparalleled suspense and anxiety. From President McKinley down through all the officials at Washington everybody has been under a tremendous strain. Things from Shafter have been eagerly awaited and momentarily expected but save a brief word on the extent of the loss yesterday nothing came from him during the day concerning the progress of the action at Santiago.

Just at the close of the day the first bit of information coming directly to the officials reached the President and Secretary of War. It was a private despatch, not primarily intended for them, although it came through official channels. Briefly and expressively it told the story of a day of terrific fighting.

It was direct from the field of action and was as late as 4 p.m. It stated that the engagement had been in progress throughout the day, the dead and wounded were being carried to the rear, and that the American losses were heavy. The exact wording of the despatch was not made known, but one of the high officials who read it said that it conveyed to him the idea of extreme tension and a battle in which all the fiercest elements of war are present.

Until it came the officials were positively without a word as to whether the engagement begun yesterday was continued today. It was only by the brief private message which under ordinary circumstances would have received little attention that the President and his advisers were made aware that the battle was still in progress and still without definite issue.

The mere fact that the despatch did not chronicle a decisive advantage by the American forces was construed by some of the officials as ominous. So far as official despatches are concerned the day was utterly devoid of any information bearing on Santiago. Secretary Alger said at the close of official hours that he had not received a word from General Shafter since the brief despatch at 3 o'clock this morning referring to the loss of yesterday.

Secretary Long said at the same hour that nothing had come from Admiral Sampson and in particular the secretary of the navy dismissed as groundless the rumor that word had reached him that Morro Castle had been demolished by the American squadron. Col. Miles was also without advice at 3 o'clock. He joined Secretary Alger in the latter's office and the two conferred for a long time on the military situation.

with unexpected accuracy, the shots fell from 3 and 5-inch rapid-firing rifles evidently taken from Cervera's warships and mounted behind the fortifications.

The hardest fighting of the day seems to have been on the right flank and the heaviest casualties are reported. The hardest fighting of the day seems to have been on the right flank and the heaviest casualties are reported. The hardest fighting of the day seems to have been on the right flank and the heaviest casualties are reported.

The only movement of the day which did not meet with success was General Duffield's attempt to occupy the village of Aguadores. The New Yorks, the Vermonts and Gloucesters shelled the old fort and rifle pits during the forenoon, and drove all the Spaniards from the vicinity and bowled over the parapet from which flew the Spanish flag, but owing to the broken railway bridge the troops were unable to get across the river which separated them from the little town and were compelled to go back to Juragua. It is probable that an effort will be made to-morrow to repair the bridge and complete the attack.

Today it was reported that General Duffield had been defeated. This is not true, however, as he did not encounter any large body of Spaniards. Many dramatic incidents occurred during the day, with numerous evidences of splendid personal bravery of Americans, officers and men. The work involved owing to hills and swamps and the fierce tropical sun which hammered down upon the men the greater part of the day. The Cubans behaved with skill and valor and rendered valuable aid. General Garcia and the other Cuban generals led the troops in person and showed great coolness in tight places. The Spaniards fought stubbornly throughout and their steady retreat was slowly and coolly conducted. They contested every inch of the way and fought with unexpected bravery and good judgment. As they did most of their work under cover, rarely showing themselves in large bodies in the open.

All the retreats were toward Santiago and it is probable that by nightfall the entire force of Spaniards in the province of Santiago de Cuba will be within the city's walls with the exception of 4,000 men under General Fando, whose attempt to reinforce Santiago is believed to have been frustrated.

UNSELFISHNESS.—It is vain to tell anyone to be unselfish without giving him the power to be unselfish. It is mockery to advise any man to be cheerful without giving him the power to be cheerful. It is only the man who has faith in God, who believes that all God does is done for his best, that God's ways with men are right, whether men understand them or not, that is only that man who can look out upon life with a smile.—Rev. Dr. Fishburn, Presbyterian, Columbus, O.
