A Friend of Scott.

LONDON, Aug. 22.-The death of Mr. James Stillie, the well-known Edinburgh book collector and bibliographer, severs the last remaining link which connected the literary world of the "Great Unknown" the literary world of the "Great Unknown" with that of to-day. Mr. Stille, who was apprenticed to the Ballantynes, frequently saw Scott, as he was intrusted with the conveyance of proofs to Abbotsford—a tribute to the esteem in which he was held, as the utmost secrecy was then preserved as to the authorship of the Waverley movels. The manuscripts were all copied after they left Scott's hands, and one of after they left Scott's hands, and one of after they left Scott's hands, and one of them, "Rob Roy," was copied by George Stillie.

James Stillie started in business in 1825, and it was only within the last two years that he gave up regular attendance at his shop. Archibald Constable was his first customer. Sir Walter Scott, for whom Mr. Stillie had a profound admiration, and of whom he used to tell a number of ancedotes, also frequently purchased rare works from him. Mr. Stillie's business was confined entirely to old books and manuscripts, and in antiquarian and bibliogreconfined entirely to old books and seripts, and in antiquarian and bibliographical circles few men were better known. In the course of his 68 years of business life he met with a great number of business and other celebrities. Mr. Glad-last night attacked the French consulate and smashed every window in the building. The escutcheon of France over the doorway was torn down and taken possession of by some of the mob. An attempt was then made to burn it, but the police drove the rioters off. Some of the officers espied the escutcheon and rushed into the crowd and recaptured it. This attack is likely to further complicate the trouble. There was a renewal of the rioting at Genoa to-day, during which an omnibus was wrecked.

"LADIES" AT A BOXING MATCH.

New York, Aug. 22.—A large crowd gathered at Madison Square to-night to see the boxing match tournament. Among the spectators present were two ladies, who attracted no little attention. There were six bouts. The final bout of the evening was between George Dixon and Billy Plimmer, the latter being winner in the sixth round.

No News of the Sarnia. MONTHEAL, Aug. 22.—Another day has gone by without news of the overdue Do-minion liner Sarnia. It is now 24 days since she left this port.

MAGAZINE LITERATURE.

Mr. Henry Irving, who landed at Quebec the other day to begin a protracted Amerithe other day to begin a protracted American theatrical tour, will furnish to the September Forum a charming article on "My Four Favorite Parts." The four favorite parts are Hamlet, Iago, Richard III, and Lear, concerning each of which the great tragedian will offer some particularly engaging and illuminative criticism. Many playgoers will wonder that Mr. Irving should not have included the part of Mathias in "The Bells"—one of his great success.

The August New England Magazine is better than ever before, and it significantly marks its change of management with a beautiful colored frontispiece of Mount Chocorua in midsummer. It is not a mere lithograph of the old style, but possesses absolute photographic reproduction of de-tail and delicate blendings of the colors and tones of nature. The New England is the first popular magazine to make use of the wonderful recent advances in color of the wonderful recent advances in color illustration, and this particular is of great interest to all amateurs in photographic and art work. Published by Warren F. Kellogg, 5 Park Square, Boston. An article that will be read with much pleasure in Nova Scotia, and indeed in every part of Canada, and with great profit in the United States, is Thomas F. Anderson's "Nova Scotia."

The September Harper's Magazine, which is published Tuesday (Aug. 22), will con-The September Harper's Magazine, which is published Tuesday (Aug. 22), will contain a brilliant account of "A General Election in England," by Richard Harding Davis, illustrated by W. Hatherell; "An Albert Durer Town," a description of Rocamadour, by Elizabeth Robins Pennell, with twelve illustrations by Joseph Pennell; "Texas," a narrative of stirring events in the State's history, and a description of its resources, by ex-Senator Samuel Bell Maxey; "The Letters of James Russell Lowell," by Charles Eliot Norton; "Down Love Lane," in Old New York, by Thomas A. Janvier; "The Diplomacy and Law of the Isthmian Canals," by Sidney Webster; and "Edward Emerson Barnard," the director of Lick Observatory, by S. W. Burnham. The fiction of the number is agreeably varied, William Black's "The Handsome Humes" reaches its climax, and Miss Woolson's "Horace Chase" approaches an end, which will be reached in the October Magazine. There are two short stories: "Gabriel, and the Lost Millions of Perote," by Maurice Kingsley; and "The General's Sword," by Robert C. V. Meyers; while "A Gentleman of the Royal Guard," by William McLennan, tells a tale as romantic as any in fiction—that of the life of Daniel de Gresollon, Sicur du L'hut, the hero of Dr. A. Conan Doyle's the life of Daniel de Gresollon, Sieur du L'hut, the hero of Dr. A. Conan Doyle's novel, The Refugees.

The Californian for September comes to the front promptly with the beautiful colored cover of poppies which the publishers shave adopted during the World's Fair. The issue is rich in fiction and illustrated descriptive articles. Indian life on the plains is graphically presented in a paper by Verner Z. Reedon the "Southern Utes," in which many interesting features in the life of these people are brought out. A paper of more than ordinary interest is a description of the children of the street in San Francisco. Some of the illustrations of the paper are among the finest ever seen in any magazine. The rise of the Pacific Coast Woman's Press Association is described by its tounder, the late Mrs. E. T. Y. Parkhurst. While Ensign Burke, in a paper on the naval reserve, shows what the Golden State has done in this direction. The article is richly illustrated. The silver question is presented in two timely papers by Congressman Bowers, of San Diego and Hon. M. M. Estee, of San Francisco. John Craig gives a most interesting exposition of the arts of "The Smuggler," while some illustrated papers of interest are: "Irving" by Peter Robertson, the "Nevada Footprints" and Ibsen. The fiction of the issue is particularly noticeable, and the illustrations of the story "In San Sebastian Valley," by Flora Haines Loughead are equal to any in the Century. The Californian for September comes to

The complete novel in the September number of Lippincott's is "A Bachelor's Bridal," by Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron. It Bridal," by Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron. It tells of an unconventional and ill-starred marriage and its tragic consequences. The seventh in the series of Lippincott's notable stories is "The Cross-Road's Ghost," by Mat Crim. Cept. Charles King, in "Uncle Sam at the Fair," describes the Government Exhibit at Chicago, and tells how that part of it which relates to the army is theorem of the which relates to the army is theorem of the writing which those which ment exhibits at the army is thronged by visitors, while those which display the arts of peace are comparatively neglected. "In the Plaza de Toros," by Marrion Wilcox, is an illustrated article describing an Easter bull fight at Seville," "the cradle of the sport." Mrs. Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer gives "A Girl's Recollections of Dickens" on his first visit to America in 1841. A short study of "Forest Fires," by Felix L. Oswald, is accompanied by his portrait. Judson Daland, M.D., writes of "Hypnotism: its Use and Abuse. Commander C. H. Rockwell, of the United States navy, narrates "A Sea Episode" on a fever-stricken ship. Under the heading "Don's," F. M. B. offers some advice to young contributors. M. Crofton, under "Men of the Day," discusses Kossuth, James Whitcomb Riley and the Earl of Aberdeen. The postry of the number is by Zitella Cocke, Matgaret B. Harvey, Edgar Fawcett and James K. Philips.

A Pond Mills correspondent says: Fall wheat in the township of Westminster was not a first-class crop. The average yield would be about 18 bushels per acre. There is complained by the large number of 25 bushels. The oats are a fair crop, the straw being short. The dry weather, accompanied by the large number of grasshoppers, has nearly destroyed the pasture completely. Owing to the failure of the cows in milk the Pond Mills cheese factory is only making half the number of cheese it did a month or two ago.

UNION PROHIBITION CONVENTION. STRENGTH, VITALITY, MANHOOD

The following call, which explains its self, has been issued: UNION PROHIBITION CONVENTION, PROVINCE of ontario, 1893.

In accordance with a suggestion made by the Grand Council R. T. of T., the undersigned have agreed to unite in a "cail for a general Provincial representative convention of friends of temperance and prohibition."

It is firmly believed that there is to-day It is firmly believed that there is to-day in the Province of Ontario an overwhelming public sentiment in favor of the total prohibition of the liquor traffic. This sentiment has made itself manifest in the many strong declarations made by church courts, temperance organizations, municipal councils, and many other representative bodies; in the many petitions laid before our Legislature and the Dominion Parliament, and in the eagencess with which our electors have taken hold of every legislative measure promising to suppress Parliament, and in the eagerness with which our electors have taken hold of every legislative measure promising to suppress or limit the evil-working liquor-traffic.

Notwithstanding all that has been done the liquor traffic is still strong and aggressive. It burdens our country with a rearful load of suffering, poverty, disease, mertality and crime. It is increasing in wealth, and has a debauching and dangerous influence in our political affairs. It is manifest that to successfully meet this formidable enemy there must be a closer union of our forces, and a more determined and uncompromising demand for effective legislation and law enforcement. The imminent plebiscite on the question of prohibition is also a matter calling for special effort to secure the fullest possible demonstration of the people's desire for total prohibition.

In view of these facts every friend of right who may receive this "call" is earnestly urged to use his influence to make the coming convention a success. Officers of all societies are requested to bring the matter before their respective organizations; pastors are requested to be in the force their pastors are requested to be their test of their pastors are requested to be their test.

will be given by all railway lines. Each delegate will purchase, on starting, a regular single fare ticket to Toronto. He will also procure from the ticket agent at the same time a standard certificate, filled out, showing that he has purchased said ticket. This certificate he will present to the secretery of the convention, who will sign it. It will then entitle him to a return ticket free of cost, unless there should be fewer than 300 delegates holding such certificates (which is very improbable) in which case the return ticket will be issued at one-third the usual rate.

MAGAZINE LITERATURE.

Mr. Henry Irving, who landed at Quebec Mr. Henry Irving, who landed at Quebee the other day to begin a protracted American theatrical tour, will furnish to the September Forum a charming article on "My Four Favorite Parts." The four favorite parts are Hamlet, Iago, Richard III, and Lear, concerning each of which the great tragedian will offer some particularly engaging and illuminative criticism. Many playgoers will wonder that Mr. Irving should not have included the part of Mathias in "The Bells"—one of his great success.

his great success. The August New England Magazine is better than ever before, and it significantly marks its change of management with a beautiful colored frontispiece of Mount Chocorua in midsummer. It is not a mere lithograph of the old style, but possesses absolute photographic reproduction of detail and delicate blendings of the colors and tones of nature. The New England is the first popular pagazine to make an is the first popular magazine to make use of the wonderful recent advances in color of the wonderful recent advances in color illustration, and this particular is of great interest to all amateurs in photographic and art work. Published by Warren F. Kellogg, 5 Park Square, Boston. An article that will be read with much pleasure in Nova Scotia, and indeed in every part of Canada, and with great profit in the United States. is Thomas F. Anderson's 'Nova States, is Thomas F. Anderson's "Nova Scotia."

The September Harper's Magazine, which The September Harper's Magazine, which is published Tuesday (Aug. 22), will contain a brilliant account of "A General Election in England," by Richard Harding Davis, illustrated by W. Hatherell; "An Albert Durer Town," a description of Rocamadour, by Elizabeth Robins Pennell, with twelve illustrations by Joseph Pennell; "Texas," a narrative of stirring events in the State's history, and a description of its resources, by ex-Senator Samuel Boll Maxey; "The Letters of James Russell Lowell," by Charles Eliot Norton; "Down Love Lane," in Old New York, by Thomas A. Janvier; "The Diplomacy and Law of the Isthmian Canais," by Sidney Webater; and. "Edward Emerson Barnard," the director of Lick Observatory, by S. W. Burnham. The fiction of the number is agreeably varied. William Black's "The Handsome Humes" reaches its climax, and Miss Woolson's "Horace Chase" approaches an end, which will be reached in the October Magazine. There are two short stories: "Gabriel, and the Lost Millions of Perote," by Mauriec Kingsley; and "The General's Sword," by Robert C. V. Meyers; while "A Gentleman of the Royal Guard," by William McLennan, tells a tale as romantic as any in fiction—that of the life of Daniel de Gresollon, Sieur du L'hut, the hero of Dr. A. Conan Doyle's novel, The Refugees. is published Tuesday (Aug. 22), will con-

The Californian for September comes to the front promptly with the beautiful colored cover of poppies which the pubcolored cover of popples which the pub-lishers shave adopted during the World's Fair. The issue is rich in fiction and illus-trated descriptive articles. Indian life on the plains is graphically presented in a paper by Verner Z. Reed on the "Southern paper by Verner Z. Reed on the "Southern Utes," in which many interesting features in the life of these people are brought out. A paper of more than ordinary interest is a description of the children of the street in San Francisco. Some of the illustrations of the paper are among the finest ever seen in any magazine. The rise of the Pacific Coast Woman's Press of the Pacific Coast Woman's Press Association is described by its founder, the late Mrs. E. T. Y. Parkhurst. While Ensign Burke, in a paper on the naval reserve, shows what the Golden State has done in this direction. The article is richly illustrated. The silver question is presented in two timely papers by Congressman Bowers, of San Diego and Hon. M. M. Estee, of San Francisco. John Craig gives a most interesting exposition of the arts of "The Smuggler," while some illustrated papers of interest are: "Irving" by Peter Robertson, the "Nevada Footprints" and Ibsen."
The fletion of the issue is particularly noticeable, and the illustrations of the story "In San Sebastian Valley," by Flora noticeable, and the illustrations of the story "In San Sebastian Valley," by Flora Haines Loughead are equal to any in the

The complete novel in the September number of Lippincott's is "A Bachelor's Bridal," by Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron. It Bridal," by Mrs. H. Lovett Cameron. It tolls of an unconventional and ill-starred marriage and its tragic consequences. The seventh in the series of Lippincott's notable stories is "The Cross-Road's Ghost," by Mat Crim. Cept. Charles King, in "Uncle Sam at the Fair," describes the Government exhibit at Chicago, and tells how that the series of it which, relates to the army is part of it which relates to the army i part of it which relates to the army is thronged by visitors, while those which display the arts of peace are comparatively neglected. "In the Plaza de Toros," by Marrion Wilcox, is an illustrated article describing an Easter bull fight at Seville," "the cradle of the sport." Mrs. Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer gives "A Girl's Recollections of Dickens" on his first visit to America in 1841. A short study of "Forest Fires," by Felix L. Oswald, is accompanied by his portrait. Judson Daland, M.D., writes of "Hypnotism: its Use and Abuse." Commander C. H. Rockwell, of the United States navy, narrates "A Sea Episode" on a fever-stricken ship. Under the heading "Don's," F. M. B. offers some advice to young contributors. M. Crofton, under "Men of the Day," discusses Kossuth, James Whitcomb Riley and the Earl of Aberdeen. The poetry of the number is by Zitella Cocke, Margaret B. Harvey, Edgar Fawcett and James K. Philips.

A Pond Mills correspondent says: Fall wheat in the township of Westminster was not a first-class crop. The average yield would be about 18 bushels per acre. There was plenty of straw for an average of 25 bushels. The oats are a fair crop, the straw being short. The dry weather, accompanied by the large number of grasshoppers, has nearly destroyed the pasture completely. Owing to the fallure of the cows in milk the Pond Mills cheese factory is only making half the number of cheese it did a month or two ago.

The Berlin Record says: A certain elergyman from Waterloo county journeyed from Berlin to Chicago, and on nearing the exposition city he fell among thieves who attempted to rob him, but was too much for them. This gentleman of the cloth and others were approached by a well-dressed stranger with a $10 bill in his hand, who asked if any of the party could change it for him. None of the others could, so he came to the clergyman, and the latter very obligingly drawing out his purse to see, the rascal snatched the purse and made a bolt for the door of the car, but before he could escape he was soized by the back of the neck by the soized by the back of the neck by the clergyman in question and forced to hand back the stolen purse.

While tapping a gas main in Berlin Monday an employe of the gas company named Robinson was overcome by the rush of gas and was removed to his home in a faint. His body was as stiff as that of a corpse.

A Queen in Exile.

The cx Queen of Naples, according to her annual custom, has just taken up her residence at the Hotel du Pavilion. Boulognesur-Mer, where she will spend a month or five weeks. Her Majesty, who was once a horsewoman as bold and dashing as her sister, the Empress of Austria, now finds her great delight in spending the whole day in an open boat upon the sea; and as she insists on going out regardless of the weather, her visits are, a source of fearful joy to the Boulogne mariners, who are pleased enough to pick up a few twonty-franc pieces, but hardly share Queen Maria's contempt of life. It used to be no light task to pilot the Empress Elizabeth across a stiff hunting country, but the risks were trifling compared with those incurred by those who take part in her sister's aquatic recreations.—[St. James' Budget. AN ENGLISH-SPEAKING ALLIANCE

The London Spectator, a very able literary weekly, does not see any insuper-able obstacle to some sort of race alliance among the English-speaking peoples of the world. Says the Spectator: "Nations in e found, who are influenced by the same ideas, who talk the same language, read the same books and possess the same political traditions, are capable of making an agreement to settle disputes by arbitration a reality. Again, an agreement not to fight till the question in dispute has been referred to a body exercising the functions of a court of law is a step in the direction of that alliance between the United States and England which, we trust and believe, is the destiny of the two countries. If we begin by an acknowledgment that we are not in the position of foreign powers-i.e., liable to war at any moment-we may soon rise to a definite race alliance, and lastly to that declaration of a common citizenship which may prevent any Englishman from

The sunny weather that has provaled for three weeks has increased the milling value of English wheat ainoset everywhere. This is likely to produce a good demand for English wheat at the expense of the imported grain. Millers will endeavor to buy up the bulk of the crop as from 26s to 25s per or, but if the owners hold out for a minimum of 30s this last figure will almost certainly be the average October value. The prices lately recorded have been needlessly low. Much red wheat has been sold at from 26s to 25s, and white at from 26s to 21s. THE LIBERAL LEADER'S TOUR.

Two Thousand People Attend Eon. Mr. Laurier's Last Meeting in Quebec Province. QUEBEC, Aug. 22.—Two thousand people attended the last political meeting held in the Province of Quebec by Mr. Laurier and attended the last political meeting held in the Province of Quebee by Mr. Laurier and his friends. It took place at St. Jean Port Joli, county of L'Islet. The Libberal leader had gone down to the constituency Saturday afternoon. He was met at L'Islet station by A. Fafard, mayor of the parish; Dr. Lavoie, Mr. Tarte and an enthusiastic crowd. An address was presented. Yesterday morning Mr. Laurier, followed by a large number of friends, proceeded to St. Jean Port Joli, where the proceedings began at 1 o'clock under the presidency of Mayor Fafard. In spite of the gloomy appearance of the weather all the parishes were numerously represented. The speakers addressed the meeting in the following order: Mr. Choqueste, M.P.; Mr. Laurier, Mr. Turgeon, M.P.P.; Mr. Carroll, M.P.; Mr. Tarte, M.P.; Mr. N. Bernatchez, M.P.; Jule Tessier, M.P.P.; G. M. Deschene, M.P.P.; R. Roy, C. Pouliot, advocate. It was 6:30 when the meeting broke up, after having given three cheers for the Queen, Mr. Laurier, Mr. Tarte and the other speakers. Mr. Laurier and party came up to Quebec to be present at the funeral of Hon. Isidore Thibaudeau.

SUMMER PAINTING.

Summertime used to be considered a holiday. When the schools were closed the student would, perhaps, with pencil and sketch book, make a pretense of work while taking that physical enjoyment out of nature which all numan beings more or less instinctively have in fresh air, green fields and sunny skies, and think that in this way he was studying nature. But recently this he was studying nature. But recently this amateurish fashion of out-of-door study has amateurish fashion of out-of-door study has changed, and during the summer months, which also include May, September and October, the artist and student work most diligently, and spond their time transferring to canvas what an ever-increasing love for nature delights in. It is only with such effort that one realizes how little they really have comprehended, for without cultivation we do not understand and appreciate every we do not understand and appreciate every phase of beauty, even in the scenes around phase of beauty, even in the scenes around us the most familiar. If anyone will try the experiment of painting each day during the summer some bit of nature, they will find at the end of the season that they see a thousand things never seen before, find beauty in what seemed ugly or commonplace, and realize the difference between mercly "liking" nature and trails are seen to be the seen of the seen that t As the visitor enters either door the notice in gold upon a maroon background, catches the eye and attracts the attention. a Wedding, Jamestows, Aug. 22.—On Wednesday evening, in the town of Kiantone, a few miles south of this city, the marriage of Miss Aiken to Mr. Amsdell took place. The bride was a very popular young woman, and many friends were at her weding. She had a slight sore throat, but thought little of it and made complaint to no one. Since the wedding the case has developed into one of diphtheria, and nearly a score of her friends who were at the wedding and kissed the bride when offering their good wishes have been attacked with the same disease.

No deaths have occurred yet, but many results are feared in some of them.

It has proved one of the most terrible lessons that have ever been given against the habit of promiscuous kissing, as the disease was undoubtedly communicated in that way.

an Old Punt.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Yesterday afternoon a strange craft was sighted off the north pier at the fair grounds, and the guard prepared to notify the odd craft that it could not land. When he saw the voyager he relented. The man was a French-Canadian who had come from the backwoods of Upper Ontario, Canada, in the dugout or punt in which he stood. The lake was so rough and the old punt seemed so unseaworthy that he finally allowed the man to land, as it seemed to be the only harbor for the small boat. The man's name is Antoine Brousor punt in which he sold punts was so rough and the old punts allowed the man to land, as it seemed so unseaworthy that he finally allowed the man to land, as it seemed to be the only harbor for the small boat. The man's name is Autoine Brousseau. Although unable to read or write, he heard of the fair and made up his mind to visit it. He found an old leaky punt about fitten feet long which had been abandened. He patched it up and decided to use it as his means of transportation. With the aid of favorable winds, a horse blanket and an old wooden paddle he succeeded in reaching Chicago after traveling a disance of something like 1,000 miles. His only companion was his dog Petc, Before he left his northern home he had never seen a railroad or an electric light; had never heard a band of music or the whistle of a steamboat. At one of the points on his way a band of music was playing, and there also he first gazed upon the wonders of electricity. He was carrief alway by what he saw and heard that he thought he had reached heaven. He laid in no provisions before starting on his long voyage; but. like the old hunter and trapper that he was, depended entirely upon the resources of nature for his food. Occasionally he would run across some Indians in their canoes, or a company of fishermen, and from them would obtain enough for immediate wants.

His many friends whom he has won in the city and London West wish him prosperity and success in his new home.

—On Saturday evening two young children of Mr. David Sare lighted the lamps in the front part of the house. The wick of one—a student lamp—was turned up too high and the blaze made its way into the oil bowl. A gentleman who happened to be passing the house saw what was wrong, and immediately went in and threw the lamp out on the lawn. Mr. Sare desires to thank the gentleman, as but for his prompt action the lamp would have exploded and the house would likely have been destroyed by fire.

A STRANGE MANIA.

Farmer White is Both Lavish and De structive—Givos Away Fancied Wealth and Tears Down Ris Barn.

DANBURY, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Wm. Ward White, a well-to-do farmer of this place, has become insane. A few days ago he tore down his barn, and the next day he chopped down two large maple trees that had been planted on the lawn in front of his house by his father many years ago. He said that he was going to tear down his house next week. Yesterday he was also to the almshouse and placed in the taken to the almshouse and placed insane ward until he can be taken to the insane ward until he can be taken to the State insane asylum at Middletown. When placed in custody the poor old man had shaved off his hair, mustache and whiskers on one side. He owns much valuable property and farcies he owns thousands of acres of the best land in this section.
