

CITY PRESBYTERIANS ASK FOR CHURCH UNION

LONDON PRESBYTERIANS
VOTE FOR CHURCH UNION

Forward Plea for United Christianity to the General Assembly.
Marking End of Long Controversy in City—Action Taken This Morning.

MAJORITY NOW BEHIND THE MOVEMENT

Eager for the consummation of a church union, which is expected to bring about a welding together of the great forces of Methodism, Presbyterianism and Congregationalism throughout the Dominion, local Presbyterians have this morning forwarded to their general assembly an overture, moved by Rev. Dr. Beattie and seconded by N. A. Campbell, that the assembly do all in its power to speedily bring about such a consummation.

Such action marks the culmination of months of thoughtful consideration and conference on the part of the local members of the presbytery and their people.

The favoring of church union has not been without an opposing force. Certain members of the presbytery have been strongly against organic union, strenuously opposing the church would lose its tradition and a great part of its influence. Those who held this belief have been, however, decidedly in the minority.

The greater part of Presbyterianism in the city has been firmly behind the movement and have at numerous times signified their approval of a course which they believe will create a stronger spiritual force, and has already at many points throughout the Dominion caused the elimination of small and struggling congregations in the formation of one large and successful church.

The resolution reads as follows:

The Resolution.

"Unto the venerable, the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, indicted to meet at Port Arthur, there, on the first Wednesday of June, 1923, at 8 p.m.:

"Whereas for a period of twenty years negotiations have been carried on between the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the Methodist Church in Canada, and the Congregational Church in Canada, with a view to organic union, and

"Whereas in the various votes taken a large majority of the membership of the church was shown to be favorable to union, and

"Whereas when the question was submitted under the barrier act, the presbyteries of our church, with few exceptions, declared themselves favorable to union, and

"Whereas during the years of negotiation the General Assembly has repeatedly urged the policy of co-operation with the other negotiating churches, resulting in the formation of 984 union churches with approximately 7,700 preaching stations;

"Therefore, it is humbly overtured by the Presbytery of London, that the General Assembly proceed to consummate organic church union with the Methodist and Congregational churches of Canada without further delay."

The resolution reads as follows:

REV. J. G. STUART DIES
AFTER LONG MINISTRY

London Loses Public-Spirited
Servant as Beloved Pastor
Succumbs.

In the passing of the Rev. J. G. Stuart, for 23 years minister of Knox Presbyterian Church, South London, who died this morning, the citizens of this city lose one of their most public-spirited servants, and a man who was beloved not only by his own congregation, but all others who knew him.

For some years past, the Rev. Mr. Stuart was actively engaged in furthering the work of the playgrounds committee, of which he was a member, and he always took an active interest in movements further the welfare of the youth of the city.

He was born in the town of Markham, Ontario, in 1850, where he received his primary education. Later he went to Queen's University, Kingston, where he graduated in arts and theology. After obtaining his degree in divinity, he pursued missionary work in Eastern Ontario for some time, after which he accepted a call to St. Mark's Church in Toronto.

In 1896 Mr. Stuart came to London, and four years later was appointed to the post of minister at Knox Church. His position he held until 1918, when he retired. Since then he was made clerk of the London Presbytery, and held this office until his death.

For some years, Mr. Stuart was chaplain of the Middlesex Regiment, and went into camp each year with the men at Carling Heights.

Through his work as president of the Western Ontario Bible Society, and his intimate connection with the work of the alumnae of Queen's University, he was widely known in both religious and social circles throughout Ontario.

He is survived by two daughters, Miss Maybelle of this city, and Mrs. Farrell Dide of New York City, and one sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Stansbury of Oakville. His wife predeceased him some 25 years ago, before he came to London.

The funeral service will be held at Knox Church on Sunday at 3:30, and will be conducted by the members of the Presbytery of London, after which the body will be taken to Toronto for interment.

RENAME ROYAL BARRACKS.

Rome, Jan. 12.—The German ambassador at Rome has presented his government's protest against the Ruhr seizure to Premier Mussolini. The German note states that Germany's slight failure in execution of the treaty are absolutely inadequate to produce such gravity of action as that of France and Belgium.

Tom Moore Gives Impression of Present Crisis in Europe.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Jan. 12.—"The recent military expedition on the part of France into the Ruhr valley would never have taken place if the Labor movement in France had been as solid as it was in 1919. If a plebiscite could have been taken of the workers in France, the action of the last few days would never have resulted. In France, as in all countries, there is a group of industrialists and financiers who are wedded to militarism, and the industrial workers of France have joined with the militarists to secure control of the coal and steel industries of Europe."

Stuart was the statement of his impression of the present European crisis made by Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades Congress and representative of France to the last conference of the international labor office at Geneva, in the course of an address last night to the United Brotherhood of Carpenters.

Moon Intervenes,
Venus Darkened

Spectacle Occurs About 7 a.m. in Eastern Canada.

Associated Press Despatch.
Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 12.—Astronomers at the Harvard Observatory made arrangements today for observations of the darkening of Venus tomorrow morning, when the moon will swing between that planet and the earth. This occultation will be visible in most parts of Canada and the United States.

The spectacle will be visible in the Canadian midwest commencing about 5 a.m., and in Eastern Canada between 6:30 and 7 a.m. Vancouver will see nothing of the spectacle, which will take place below the horizon there.

The process of occultation will take from a few minutes to a little more than an hour, according to the point of observation.

Venus and the moon now are almost at their nearest to the earth, and Venus is only a fortnight removed from the period of its greatest brilliancy.

"The unaided eye, Venus will appear to hang like a bright spot on the moon, first on the eastern limb of the crescent, and as it emerges, in shining contrast with the darkened limb."

SERIOUS KINGSTON FIRE.

Special to The Advertiser.
Kingston, Ont., Jan. 12.—A serious fire broke out at 8:45 this morning in the shoe department of Louis Abramson's store, Princess street, and the fire spread very rapidly, and was extinguished by water and smoke. The firemen had a hard time in checking the fire, which was making great headway when the alarm was raised. It is believed that a customer who was smoking a cigarette was responsible for the fire.

WESTERN PLACES
RESTRICTIONS
FRAT' SOCIETIES

Students Desiring to Join Fraternity Must Consult Deans.

NEED YEAR'S WORK
Not Eligible Unless Accredited With Certain Term.

Regulations restricting the activities and membership of fraternities or societies of all departments of Western University have been issued by the executive committee of that institution, and one of the requirements laid down is that all members of such organizations must maintain a satisfactory academic standard at Western.

Permission to draw up these regulations was granted the executive committee by the university board of governors. These regulations are regarded as most binding, and practically place the control of fraternities in the hands of the deans at Western.

Following are the regulations, applicable to the faculties of arts, medicine and public health, which will affect the fraternities already in existence at the medical school, and one sorority at the college of arts:

"A group of students of Western University who desire to join a fraternity or society must secure the permission of the executive committee of the university, and before attempting to effect organization."

"No student of Western University who is eligible to be a member of a fraternity or society must be recommended by the dean of the faculty in which he is enrolled, and must be approved by the executive committee of the deans before the individual in question may be invited to become a member of the fraternity or society."

"The executive committee of the deans reserves the right to refuse approval, for sufficient reasons, of the candidacy of any student, even if he or she is eligible according to the registrar's books, for membership in a fraternity or society."

"Unless Pledged."
"No fraternity or sorority of Western University will be recognized by the executive committee of the deans until it has formally pledged itself to observe all the regulations of the university, and to accept of the registrar's books, for membership in a fraternity or society."

"Western University will not recognize a student who is a member of a fraternity or sorority in Western University by an international organization that has not investigated the status of the student through the officials of Western University."

"Any or all members of a fraternity or sorority in Western University who do not conform to the foregoing regulations may be dropped from the rolls of the university at the recommendation of the executive committee of the deans."

"The initiation ceremonies of fraternities and sororities must be entirely devoid of any proceedings of the nature of hazing or that might be considered as a disgrace."

"Academic Standing."
"In every case where the academic standing of a student member of a fraternity or sorority is in question, the standing credited to him in the books of the registrar is to be regarded as final."

"The members of fraternities and sororities must be eligible for such changes in the regulations governing these organizations as the authorities of the university in conference with representatives of the fraternities and sororities may from time to time deem desirable."

"(b) No student of the Faculty of Arts of Western University is eligible to membership in a fraternity or sorority who has not attained a standing of 60 per cent in each subject and 60 per cent on all the subjects of his course taken prior to the date of initiation."

"(c) Any student of the Faculty of Arts of Western University who has been admitted to membership in an authorized fraternity or sorority must maintain the academic standing required for membership as in class (a) above, under penalty of being suspended from the university for a period of one year, or until such time as the required standing is regained."

"No student in the Western University Medical School is eligible for membership in a fraternity unless his academic standing prior to the date of initiation is considered by the committee on admissions and promotion of students to be such as to make probable his successful completion of the entire medical course."

"Must Make Reports."
"Any association or club or organization formed for any purpose by members of Western University, as such, for social, fraternal, or other purposes, whether for study, or for entertainment, whether secret or non-secret in character, whether with or without national or international affiliations, whether known as a Greek letter society or not and whether known as a fraternity or sorority, shall be reported annually to the administration of Western University; such report to show:

(a) Constitution.
(b) Current officers.
(c) Dates and places of meeting.
(d) Typical program.

The president, chairman or other designated head of the organization shall be responsible for such report.

Any such organization as above described formed for any social purpose, including dining clubs, residential clubs, entertainment associations, etc., shall be regarded as of the nature of a fraternity and shall be subject to all rules governing fraternities prescribed by the University Administration.

GERMANS DESERT
PRIDE AS FRENCH
TAKE POSSESSION

Promise U. S. They Will Stay by Versailles Treaty Under Protest.

CLINGING TO PEACE

London, Jan. 12.—The British government will give recognition to the German protest against the French advance into the Ruhr, which the Berlin government addressed to the allies last night, and in no way will the protest affect British action or policy, it was authoritatively stated this afternoon.

Essen, Jan. 12.—General De Goutte today issued a proclamation from Dusseldorf establishing a state of siege throughout the newly occupied territory. The German laws, it was stipulated, would remain in force.

By A. L. BRADFORD.
Special to The Advertiser.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Germany has given her word to the United States that as a result of the French occupation of the Ruhr, she will not meet violence with violence. This and the fact that Germany declares she will not renounce the Versailles treaty, were the outstanding points in a note from the Berlin government, which protested against French invasion of the Ruhr.

While the note is an appeal to the United States to place her influence on the side of Germany, this government is contemplating no action as a result of it. It feels it has done all it can to prevent the present situation.

The administration now is giving consideration to demands in the Senate for the withdrawal of the American observer of the reparations commission, and to the possibility of a definite decision has not been reached. After denying the French right, under the treaty of Versailles, to invade the Ruhr, the German note, which was delivered to the state department last night, thus announces the policy of Germany during the occupation.

"The German government herewith enters a protest against the oppression applied toward Germany in contravention of the treaty and international law. The German government does not intend to meet violence with violence nor to reply to the breach of the treaty with a withdrawal from the treaty."

"However, as long as a state which appears contrary to the treaty exists, Germany is not in a position to make actual reparations to these powers who have brought about this state of affairs."

It is the chairman's contention that this system is not exactly proper, and in the best interests of the city, although he stresses his point that he is not making any charge, or will do so, of inefficiency or the like, against city officials or their assistants.

"I do maintain, however," he said, "that the council should have the final sanction of all purchases. They are the ones held responsible for the spending of the public funds—not the various employees at the city hall."

"I have been giving this question considerable thought, and I understand it, this kind of thing has been going on for years. For instance, at the inaugural session of the board of works, as the new chairman I signed a voucher for a car of stone. I presume that the purchase has been quite in order, and I signed without remonstrance, despite the fact that I knew absolutely nothing about the car in question. I venture to say that none of the members of the committee were aware of it, either."

Realizing that there are times when certain minor expenditures would be imperative, Alderman Douglas explains that a comparatively small amount could be set aside for incidentals—say $150 or $200.

Small Appropriation.
"I quite appreciate the fact that there will be times when certain small purchases will be required," commented the chairman, "and I would not do to halt all proceedings in this particular instance to wait the pleasure of the committee. I would safeguard against this by the setting aside of a small appropriation."

It is his contention that in any business house or institution, where modern methods prevail, all purchases are checked in such a manner.

"In my own place of employment, for instance," he said, "I could not undertake, on my own initiative, to purchase a set of scales, and then have my action subsequently ratified, possibly two weeks later."

"All purchases must be requisitioned for," he concludes.

BOARD OF WORKS TO BUY SUPPLIES

Chairman Proposes Change in Policy for City Engineer's Department.

Will Submit Case Believes Plan Will Tend to Improve Efficiency of Department.

As chairman of the board of works, Alderman Leonard Douglass proposes a change of policy for that body in 1923, involving chiefly the purchase of supplies for all sections of the city engineer's department.

"The board of works will control the situation during the coming year in this respect," the chairman stated to The Advertiser today. "I propose that we should not merely ratify accounts after they have been paid."

"I am not inferring that there is anything radically wrong with the business of the city engineer's department, or that anyone is attempting to put anything over us, but I believe that the time has come for a decided change in our method of purchasing our material and supplies."

All purchases must be approved first by the members of the board of works and then by the city council, argues Ald. Douglass, and he is preparing his case for the board of works, as the new chairman of the board of works, to be made by the works department, the accounts subsequently signed by the chairman and then audited.

When the voucher comes to the board of works for ratification, the purchase has been transacted, in most instances.

System Not Proper.
It is the chairman's contention that this system is not exactly proper, and in the best interests of the city, although he stresses his point that he is not making any charge, or will do so, of inefficiency or the like, against city officials or their assistants.

TRUSTEE E. SMITH
CHOSEN TO HEAD
NEW COMMITTEE

Vote Made Unanimous on the Motion of the Losing Candidate.

INSPECT SCHOOL

Principal Beal Reviews Attendance of Technical Students During Past Year.

Trustee Edwin Smith, the retiring chairman of the board of education, was elected chairman of the advisory vocational committee at a special session held in the Technical School at noon today. Trustees Thomas Rowe and J. B. Wright were also nominated. The latter, however, who was chairman of this committee for the past year, withdrew his name, claiming pressure of business. The vote resulted Smith, 6 votes; Rowe, 3 votes. On the motion of the losing candidate, however, it was made unanimous.

Trustee S. F. Lawson was named representative to the audit committee.

A special meeting was then called under the new chairmanship, after which, the members adjourned for luncheon.

Very little business was brought forward as it was desired that the members of the Advisory Vocational Committee and the trustees of the school board should have time for a thorough tour of inspection of the technical school. The principal, H. B. Beal, conducted the inspection after luncheon.

It was decided to recompense the engineer to the extent of $150 for each Saturday afternoon he spends in the school, as it is necessary for him to keep the school heated all day Saturday because of the adverse weather. The rate is the same as that paid for evenings and met with the approval of the committee.

Discuss Pay Question.
There was some discussion, however, over the question as to whether Saturday afternoon should be considered extra time or regular. Principal Beal stated that the engineer's work should be paid for, but did not receive anything extra for that. But on Saturday, when all other employees were off he thought the extra work should be paid for. There are 140 adolescent students using the school each Saturday afternoon.

In his address, the principal, H. B. Beal, after reviewing the attendance for the last year, during which period 367 full-time technical classes, 234 full-day commercial classes, and 1,333 evening and special afternoon classes were held, dealt in detail with each phase of the work of the school and the several courses of study.

With regard to the matriculation course, he said that among the reasons given for matriculation courses in technical schools is the fact that, with the general extension of engineering, applied science, household engineering, etc., the number of students is increasing.

WILL RECEIVE APPEAL IN COLLEGIATE CASE

Committee of Board of Education Meets Today First Time.

The first meeting of the Collegiate committee of the board of education this year will be held this afternoon. A notice of appeal concerning the case of Nobbs versus Kingston Construction Company will be brought forward.

This question was referred to the Collegiate committee at the last regular session of the board last year, when the solicitor, T. G. Meredith, advised that the appeal would be heard some time in January.

Secretary W. A. Tanner informed The Advertiser this morning that the only way in which the appeal might affect the board of education in case a decision was handed down against the Nobbs Company would be through the loan which that company holds against the Collegiate building for the amount of the account, about $5,300.

Of the amount of $17,000 which Trustee A. E. Silverwood recently stated was owing to the Kingston Construction Company, $7,000 has been paid, namely: the Belton and Eggett accounts, for $4,000 and $3,000, respectively. The remaining $10,000, he said, would more than cover the remote possibility of the loss in case Nobbs Company's loan was made use of.

Trustee A. E. Silverwood will be installed as chairman of the Collegiate committee this afternoon.

TAKE STEPS TO ALTER NAME OF UNIVERSITY

Members of Committee Confer With Minister of Education at Toronto.

The first definite step has been taken by the board of governors of Western University to have the name of this institution changed to the University of Western Ontario. On Wednesday of this week the committee chosen to carry out this idea met and appointed delegates to go to Toronto to confer with the minister of education on this question.

These men went to the Queen City yesterday, and there is now more or less definite assurance that their recommendation in this respect will come before the provincial legislature at its coming session.

The board of governors will know for certain in a few days the exact extent to which their bill will be considered by the Ontario government when it meets.

It is thought that with the completion of the new university buildings in the north end this school will have a great era of expansion before it, as it will then have every facility for accommodating the needs for higher education of a vastly increased number of students.

The reason for changing the name of Western to the University of Western Ontario is that this new name will make the institution more truly representative of this portion of the province from which it expects to draw an ever-increasing quota of its students.

I SPIED TODAY

EVERYBODY'S "spying." Why not you, too? Keep your eyes open for news and win one dollar. It's news that is wanted; something you see, not a funny conversation or an old joke.

One dollar awaits "W." who contributed the winning item today.

A local coal dealer trying to balance his scales, and not noticing that a coal truck was standing on them.—W.

A certain young man, who, after being invited to a house party, had the nerve to slip out quietly from among the guests, make his way down cellar, and hand a bottle out through the window to a friend outside.—WE SEEN HIM.

That two Scotchmen were on the market. One had a collie dog and the other had a pot of lobsters. The collie dog stole a lobster from the pot, and was running across the market, and the man said, "Mon, mon, whistle to yer dog, whistle to yer dog!" The other replied, "Hoot, mon, whistle to yer lobster!" —LOBSTERS GONE DOWN.

A man walking down Piccadilly street quite leisurely, apparently on his way to work, when two Alreale dogs came running up behind him, unheeded apparently. When almost up to him they separated and stopped abruptly, one on each side of him, each giving a short, sharp "Woot!" By the expression on the man's face one would think he just had a narrow escape from death.—EYES OPEN.

On Dundas street, a row of garbage cans ready for collection. One which stood in front of a butcher shop contained a paper filled with nice fresh bones. A lean-looking dog came along, sniffed, then looked both ways, and finally jumped up, hurriedly grabbed the paper and made away with it. But alas! along came the garbage truck, and he hopped a surly-looking man, grabbed the dog by the collar, gave him a kick, and, worst of all, took away his bones.—AINT IT AWFUL.

On the London market, two farmers who in years gone by had had words with each other. One, trying to pay the other back for the insult said: "I bet you a dollar I can put my foot down to the bottom of your basket of eggs and not break an egg." At this remark the other hopped, "Well, I lose my bet, but I had ten dollars worth of revenge." —HEE-HAW.

G. T. R. TRACKS OPEN; SNOWPLOWS IN SHOP

Railroads Keep Trains on Schedule With Little Effort. Despite Storms.

Although Western Ontario is now experiencing her heaviest snowfall this winter the Grand Trunk Railway is not affected to any great extent, and the officials have had very little difficulty in keeping the lines clear. Superintendent Forrester of the London division of the G. T. R. told The Advertiser this morning:

The snowfall during the last two days has been exceedingly heavy around Hamilton and Toronto. Mr. Forrester said, but late reports state that the majority of passenger trains are running into these two cities on schedule time.

Extra engines were placed on the two Bruce trains this morning, but outside of that, the addition of extra equipment has been found unnecessary, and the lines have been kept clear without the aid of snowplows.

Passenger train No. 17, from Montreal, today was ten minutes late, and No. 6, from Chicago, was 30 minutes behind schedule time.

VERY SEVERE BLIZZARD RAGES IN MONTREAL

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, Jan. 12.—A severe blizzard developed during the night, and at 10 o'clock this morning was raging with unabated force. As far as can be ascertained, however, no serious damage has been caused. The Tramways Company had their sweepers out early, so the heavy fall of snow, of which there is several inches, did not impede street car service.

PASSING OF MRS. BLAY CAUSES KEEN REGRET

Large Circle of Friends Attend Funeral of Popular London Resident.

Accompanied by scores of floral tributes which bespoke the sympathy of her many friends, the funeral procession of Emily Victoria, beloved wife of W. G. Blay, circulation manager of The Advertiser, passed at 2:30 today from her home on Hellmuth avenue to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Particularly sad circumstances surrounded the death of Mrs. Blay, as she was but a young woman, and was well on the way to recovery from a serious operation when complications set in, which late Tuesday afternoon resulted in her death.

Services at the home were conducted by the Rev. G. A. Leichter of Adelaide Street Baptist Church, and at the grave he was assisted by Rev. James McKay, of New St. James' Presbyterian Church. With the text from the 14th chapter of the Book of John the Evangelist, "Let not your heart be troubled," Mr. Leichter spoke of the atmosphere of peculiar beauty and peace which hung over the passing of Mrs. Blay.

Attendant at the very moment of her death, he drew a picture of the quiet sublimity of her entrance into another world, a mental image which was to those who mourn the loss at least one ray of comfort in alleviation of their distress.

Palbearers were E. V. Buchanan, A. R. Kennedy, Dave Logan, C. C. Nichols, W. Peart and Tom Rowat.

In addition to the members of Mrs. Blay's family, there were present at the services a large number of friends, to whom the news of her death was a source of keen regret.

SEES CORPORATIONS
IN SETTLERS PLANAlexander MacDonald Claims
Colonization Scheme Would Aid Big Companies.

CLAIMS IT UNSOUND

Thinks Only Limited Number of Immigrants Should Be Allowed.

Special to The Advertiser.
Winnipeg, Jan. 11.—"I have the same objection to the scheme of the Canada Colonization Association as when it was first mooted," Alexander MacDonald, Winnipeg multi-millionaire, said today when interviewed.

Mr. MacDonald was approached by M. A. Brown and others at the time of the foundation of the association and asked to contribute $5,000 towards the undertaking, which he refused to do.

"I believed then that it was a scheme to place settlers on lands held by big corporations," Mr. MacDonald said. Contributions were asked by Mr. Brown and his associates to bring settlers for vacant lands within reach of the railways. Nine-tenths of that land belongs to well-known corporations, I maintain that the corporations which own the lands should bring out the settlers themselves, and not the public as a whole," Mr. MacDonald said.

Limit Immigration.
Mr. MacDonald would encourage only a limited immigration. Canada can absorb only a limited number of new settlers each year and it is cruel to induce more than that number to come, he said. Not only should settlers beyond power be assimilated, but not be asked to come, but they should not be allowed to come, he said.

"We were asked, as citizens, to subscribe to an immigration scheme," Mr. MacDonald continued. "It is our business as citizens, to see that no more people are brought to this country than can be made contented and prosperous. Careful selection should be used in the choice of immigrants, in justice to ourselves and to them."

Scheme Unsound.
"I considered the scheme unsound in the beginning and could not see how it could possibly work out, and I understand it has not worked out," he said.

Railway officials estimate that the amount of privately-owned land listed by the Canadian Colonization Association in Western Canada intended to be settled by selected immigrants represents about 1,000,000 acres. So far as could be ascertained none of this land has yet been taken up under the Canadian Colonization Association's immigration scheme, but railway agents have been receiving numerous inquiries concerning it. There are prospects that the work of the association proceeds most of this land will be taken up in the spring.

arts and household science departments in the universities, leading educationalists in the matriculation courses for entrance to those departments should be a direct training for the work the student would take in the university course.

Numerous American universities have been demanding matriculation from technical schools from students entering these courses and had been found advantageous in every case.

Instructors Scarce.
One of the outstanding difficulties in conducting a technical school is in securing instructors and teachers.

A mere carpenter or machinist, no matter how good a craftsman he may be, will not fulfill the requirements for a successful technical school instructor, while the academic teacher must have all the qualifications of a successful high school teacher and in addition must be able to correlate the academic studies to the practical work of the school.

There are few satisfactory textbooks for technical schools as yet. For these and other reasons successful teachers and instructors for technical schools are not easy to obtain.

There is a considerable amount of misunderstanding as to the nature of the practical shop work suitable for technical high school students. I have frequently pointed out that it is not possible for a technical school to produce journeymen. It does train boys in the fundamentals of the industries so that they will become skilled mechanics, but the skilled mechanic is the finished product of years of application and adjustment to the shop environment of the special industry in which he is engaged.

Boys trained in technical high schools without doubt, outdistance their untrained fellow-workers, but they are not mechanics, but artisans in the making who are in the department of education may be gathered from the following statement of the director of technical education:

Not School Alone.
"I am of the opinion that a school alone cannot equip a youth as a journeyman in any trade, but that some form of apprenticeship should be restored in which the school and the shop should both take a part in the instruction. The function of the school should be to give instruction in the related knowledge and the operations fundamental to an industry while the apprentice receives his skill and develops his industrial intelligence at work in an industrial establishment under productive conditions."

The question of shop output of a technical school is integrally connected with this problem. The most valuable commodity that we have in this country is the human mind. A technical high school, and our equipment is valuable and the cost of materials is high, but the most valuable commodity we have in the time of our students. The instructor must not lose sight of the fact that the students are in the school for instruction, for as the foreman in an industrial plant knows that the primary object of the industry is production.

The training that a specific piece of work affords the student is the only thing that justifies its being a school project. When it ceases to be profitable for training to the student it ceases to be a proper school project. For this reason the school would not be justified in employing its students' time in producing furniture or other equipment or a saleable product in the school unless the making of such is profitable as training to the student.

Make School Equipment.
This does not mean that the school cannot produce a useful product or that the methods employed in the school shops are not practical. We do make a very great deal of equipment. All the teachers' desks and class room cupboards, library furniture, etc., have been made in the school.

It is quite possible to select shop projects which are thoroughly practical and at the same time are suitable for instructional purposes, but their value to the school is in the direct proportion to their usefulness as instructional work. The main project of the school of which no amount of material production, equipment or repairs produced by the students can compensate, is the training of the student.

We have abundant evidence that the school is preparing students for practical occupations. Our technical students are in great demand in the industrial and many are advancing rapidly to positions of responsibility. The graduates of the commercial department are securing the choice of the office and mercantile positions in the city. We find it difficult to supply the demand for our students.

Gymnasium Needed.
The outstanding requirement of the school is for suitable accommodation for physical training and for additional facilities for physical training. The attendance in the gymnasium has increased so that two lunchrooms, the art room and the laundry are now being used for academic classroom purposes. There are at present 40 full time and 213 full time students in the day classes.

The lack of adequate accommodation and facilities for physical training for 817 day students in the most critical period of their physical development under modern urban conditions where the means of physical development which were open to former generations under different living conditions no longer exists, is one, the seriousness of which no thoughtful person will deny.

The effect of systematic physical instruction on students was demonstrated at the local secondary school field day last fall. In the events competed for by students who had received gymnasium training, 87 per cent of the students trained in gymnasiums and only 13 per cent of students of a similar age who had not received gymnasium training in their secondary school course.

Abandoned Project.
Last year the board included in its building program the erection of the gymnasium unit containing two additional classrooms. This was abandoned when the present building program was pressing then; it is more acute now. The plans and specifications are completed and the provincial government will pay half the cost of the erection of this much needed unit. This should receive the early consideration of the advisory vocational committee and the board.

During the period of high machine prices we did not add to the machine shop equipment. In the interval the machine shop classes have greatly increased and the need for an additional milling machine and three additional lathes is now very pressing.

The principal concluded with the assurance that the school was in a very healthy condition, and the continued increase in the attendance of day classes was gratifying. The pro-

FRANCE RECONSIDERS

Modifies Plan for Collection of Cash Reparations.

ESSEN QUIET TODAY.
By CARL D. GROOT.

Special Cable to The Advertiser.
Essen, Jan. 12.—Essen was quiet today. During the night the French withdrew from the heart of the city, and when citizens appeared about their duties this morning they encountered only an occasional blue-coated sentry, pacing the downtown streets. The bulk of the invading forces had been withdrawn to the suburbs. The absence of tanks, armored cars and machine guns was marked.

German traffic police were in charge throughout the city. Surprised at the absence of warlike demonstrations, citizens of Essen, who had acted sullenly when the city was first seized, were apparently engrossed in an effort to master their resentment. The French commandant of the Kaiserhof Hotel, evicting the permanent and transient guests and press correspondents, who had made their headquarters there. The English control commission and a group of French officers moved in.

Uneasiness is expressed regarding what may happen tomorrow, which is pay day, when the miners have been accustomed to come in from the coal fields and drink rather heavily. The government's action in guaranteeing the miners' pay has somewhat relieved this fear, however.

The ammunition producers' union and also the customs office have moved their papers and books from Bochum, fearing invasion from the French. It has been unofficially reported that the next move of the Ruhr forces would be to invade Bochum. Early today, there was no evidence that the French had marched beyond Essen.

URGES WORKERS TO BE CALM.
Associated Press Despatch.
Berlin, Jan. 12.—The directorate of the German railwaymen's union has issued a protest against the French occupation of Essen. The statement urges the workers to remain calm, saying: "Since we are defenceless we must submit to force, in the expectation that a protest to the conscience of the world will obtain our aim."

FRANCE RECONSIDERS.
Special Cable to The Advertiser.
Paris, Jan. 12.—France has modified her plan for collecting cash reparations from Germany, and is willing to consider a moratorium on a basis proposed by Premier Mussolini of Italy, it was learned from semi-official sources today.

The next payment is due on Monday. The reparations committee will meet tomorrow to consider Germany's request for a moratorium. A majority vote will decide, so if France, Belgium and Italy agree, Great Britain cannot be profitable for training to the student it ceases to be a proper school project.

(Above despatch refers to "cash" reparations, not reparations in kind, which the French entered the Ruhr to collect.)

Special Cable to The Advertiser.
Paris, Jan. 12.—International Communist plot, which was to bring the Bolshevik army across Germany to the banks of the Rhine and thence into France, was charged today against Deputy Cachin and Communist leaders arrested in Thursday's roundup.

The minister of justice filed a request that the Chamber of Deputies raise Cachin's parliamentary immunity so that he might be arrested and prosecuted on this charge.

Cachin, Mousmoussat, Senard and Trent are to be accused of fostering a revolution in Germany, in which the Russian army was to intervene. It was charged that Trent stated that if the Red army reached the Rhine, French Communists would open the gates of their towns to the Bolsheviks.

pects for 1923 pointed towards the most successful year in the history of the school.

The principal also alluded to the part-time adolescent course which had been put into effect in September last. The students' time, he said, was divided between academic work, and practical work as nearly as possible related to the occupations of the adolescents.

PRAISES FACILITIES
OF LONDON LIBRARYFred Landon, Addressing the Kiwanians, Declares City
Fourth in Dominion.

"It is a distinction for any city to be renowned for its library facilities, and London bears the added distinction of standing fourth in the Dominion as library statistics are compiled."

With the service rendered by the London Public Library as his subject, Fred Landon, M.A., city librarian, was an exceptionally interesting speaker at the noon meeting of the Kiwanis Club in the Tecumseh House today.

Uppermost in his remarks was the injunction that the city recognize the value of its library, and bend every effort toward the construction of a fire-proof building for its housing, in place of the present quarters, which are, he said, "a regular fire-trap."

In recounting the value of its library to the citizens of London, Mr. Landon made reference to the great and international loss sustained by the burning of the huge library at Louvain during the war.

"The poignancy of that loss," he continued, "was evident in the alacrity with which all nations moved toward the rebuilding and restocking of the library."

With the outlining of the growth the London library has made since the outbreak of the war, Mr. Landon declared, "the attention paid to boys and girls. The underlying principle both here and in Europe is that all shall have access to the shelves of the library as soon as they are able to read."

He made the statement that nearly one hundred thousand books had been issued to children last year. "One of the most potent influences for good on a child at home is the reading habit, and by instilling that habit as soon as children are able to read the public library accomplished a tremendous work in the direction of child welfare."

Little or no business was accomplished at the meeting, all energy being concentrated on their ministerial show, the Kiwanis Jollies, which is to be held in the Grand Theatre tonight.

George Thompson of the Newman Company, vulcanizer, was booster for the day. Prizes were won by Ed. Hayden, Wilf. Stevenson and J. Pollock.

Emile Coue, the "miracle man" of Nancy, France, sketched at his first demonstration in America, January 5, in New York City, by Usa Gombarg, the distinguished Russian caricaturist, now in this country. At this first lecture, given privately to the editors and publishers of New York City, were revealed the magnetic personal traits of the world-famous autosuggestion expert, whose characteristics of expression and action Mr. Gombarg has caught with astonishing accuracy.

EMILE COUE'S OWN STORY

Coue Says Child Education Commences Before Birth

Declares Prospective Mothers Can Determine Sex and Characteristics by Exercising Imagination—Offspring Will More Readily Achieve Self-Mastery.

By EMILE COUE.

Article VII.

Paradoxical as it may appear to those who have not fully understood the principles and working of autosuggestion, the education of a child begins before even it is born! Without going back to explanations which I have given in previous articles, I need only say that the imagination plays the supreme role in every function of life, and that by disciplining it, or, in other words, by exercising autosuggestion, a prospective mother can not only determine the sex of her child (that has been demonstrated by certain medical authorities), but also, to a large degree, its physical and moral characteristics. She has only to let her imagination deposit in her subconscious mind the image of the son or daughter she desires and the qualities she wishes the still unborn infant to possess. The result is assured.

Yield More Readily.

Even more important, perhaps, is the fact that such a child will yield more readily than most to suggestion. Which does not mean that its character is likely to be weak. On the contrary, the probabilities are that it will, as it grows up, exchange suggestion for autosuggestion, and achieve perfect self-mastery. Only it must be remembered that our acts and deeds are, for the most part, the result of past outside suggestions or examples. The importance of beginning a child's education early, and of controlling the suggestions destined to influence and mold the young mind, must therefore be obvious to all. Parents and educators must be careful to implant in it only good suggestions and preserve it at all costs from bad ones.

How is that to be done? I will try to give a few indications—or suggestions. They must be taken as general ones, or course; they may be modified or adapted to individual subjects and circumstances.

Maintain Even Temper.

Be of an equable temper with them, speaking in gentle tones, but firm, persuading them to obey without giving them the temptation to resist your influence. Never be rough with a child, for to do so is to risk provoking a sentiment of fear, accompanied by suliness or even hate.

Avoid talking ill of people in the presence of children; the latter would inevitably follow your example later on. And back-biting often leads to disaster.

Seek to awaken in their minds the desire to understand Nature. Keep them interested. Answer their questions clearly, with good humor. Do not put them off, as so many of us are tempted to do, with such replies as: "Oh, you bother me," or "You'll know about that later."

Above all, never on any account tell a child that he or she is a "story-teller," or lazy, or a dunce, or worse. Remember that such suggestions have a very strong tendency to become realities, just as the better kind of suggestions have.

Encourage Improvements.

Rather say one day to a child inclined to be lazy or negligent: "Well, you have done much better than usual today; I am much pleased with your work; you are improving." It may not be true. No matter. The idea of improvement, of excellence, of endeavor, will sink in the child's mind, and gradually, with judicious encouragement, will be transformed unconsciously into fact.

Avoid discussing diseases in front of children; autosuggestion is quick to transport the idea to the physical plans and develops the very illness you wish to avert. Teach them, on the contrary, that good health is normal; sickness an anomaly, a humiliation, which is only a consequence of the non-observance of Nature's laws.

Do not let a child fear the elements; man is made to support cold, heat, rain, wind, etc., without ill effects; it's merely an idea that creates weakness. It is a cruel thing to frighten children by talking of "bogies" and "goblins" and the like; fear thus instilled may persist in after life and ruin a child's later life and destinies.

Make Lessons Attractive.

It is easy to make a child like work and study by making the lessons attractive by means of anecdotes appropriate to the subject and by explaining the difficult points with a smile and conveying the impression that it is all quite simple.

The educator's ideal should be to make his pupils look forward to the next lesson.

Naturally, one must instill the love of labor, with the idea that labor is natural and indispensable; that idleness is abnormal, unhealthy and conducive to every kind of physical and moral evil. A child's pliable mind easily assimilates such suggestions, which become permanent and will mould and build his character.

It is unnecessary, and not in the scope of these articles, to enumerate all the qualities which a child should possess. What I want to explain is the employment of suggestion and autosuggestion in his education and training. We all know that "example is better than precept," but we realize the truth of it with greater force after studying the power of autosuggestion. And children are particularly sensitive to suggestion; they are always ready to copy what they see, good or bad. So the first duty of the parents and educators is to set good examples.

Correct Character Defects.

Suggestion may be practiced with wonderful effect to correct any defects in a child's character, and to develop missing qualities. Every night, just as the child is about to fall off to sleep, or when he is already asleep, stand about a yard away from the bed, and murmur in a low undertone what you wish to obtain; repeating fifteen to twenty times the qualities it is desired to provoke and the defects to be corrected. Do not be afraid to repeat the same phrases monotonously; that is the most powerful means of reaching the subconscious. The latter needs no eloquence to be impressed. A plain statement of the idea is sufficient. More than that defeats the ends to be attained.

In schools remarkable results should be obtained by teachers practicing suggestion on their classes every day before beginning lessons. The pupils should be told to shut their eyes, and then they might be addressed something after the following fashion: "Children, I am sure you are all going to be good, polite and amiable to everyone, and obedient to your parents and teachers. You will always take notice of their observations, because you know that it is for your own good. You are intelligent, so you love your work, even the subjects which you used to dislike. In class your attention will be always alert and attentive to what your teacher says. You will only be sorry for other children who may be foolishly wasting time and playing during the lesson. So, as you are very intelligent, you will have no difficulty in understanding the lesson, no matter on what subject, and you will remember everything you are told. It will all be stored away in your mind ready for use directly your knowledge is called upon."

Modify to Suit Needs.

Of course the above is merely a sample of what might be said in the way of suggestion. It can be modified and certainly improved by teachers to suit their particular needs. The important point is to practice suggestion in this form. It does not matter if the children laugh a little at first, or if their attention wanders, or if, when the morning suggestion (it is not desirable, naturally, that they should know the purpose of it) has become a regular thing, they listen automatically to the words without hearing them. The words reach the subconscious mind all the same, and the ideas conveyed do their work just as efficiently.

In a word, it is essential that a child should be impregnated with the right kind of suggestions. Everything depends upon it. Play upon the imagination. Character is formed by imagination. More often than not that which is attributed to heredity, in the moral domain as well as in the physical, is the consequence of ideas germinated by example. It is impossible to believe a child is born a criminal. He becomes one by autosuggestion, just as he may become a valued member of the community as the result of autosuggestion guided in the right direction.

HER THREE CHILDREN HAD WHOOPING COUGH

Many mothers make the mistake of thinking that whooping cough is not of serious importance, but it is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in female than male children.

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble as it helps to clear the congested-up air passages of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way brings on the "whoop" which brings the so-much-sought-for relief and heals and soothes the lungs.

Mrs. H. W. Mahar, Kentville, N. S., writes: "My three children had whooping cough. I tried every medicine I could think of until an old gentleman told me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Before they had one bottle taken the cough seemed better, and after two bottles they were about well. It loosened the cough and relieved them of that hard, distressing and strangling feeling that goes with it."

"Dr. Wood's" is 35c and 60c a bottle. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

LIONS CLUB WILL HELP UNDER-PRIVILEGED GIRLS

Owing to the unavoidable absence of Very Rev. Dean Tucker, who was to have delivered the main address, business at the noon meeting of Lions Club in the Tecumseh House was confined to discussion of the banquet which is to be held on Thursday, Jan. 28, at the inaugural social meeting of the New Year, and for the purpose of commencing a membership drive.

Special membership committees is to be appointed, and the club are already outlining a program of work for the year, chief amongst which, it is expected, will be that directed for the benefit of the under-privileged girls.

Money and Marriage.

How to get along with one pay envelope after marriage, where there were two before, was a problem discussed by Rev. J. A. Agnew before the Mothers' Club of Wortley road school. The speaker brought up a real human subject—real and human because some homes are wrecked on it, while others are built on it.

We are often told that business life has spoiled the girls for domestic happiness; likewise that they will not start on a small scale and come along as they prosper. All this belongs to an age that has passed—it might have been all right for father and mother, but it's too stupid to be considered now.

And in spite of all these sayings there are many weddings taking place now where there is not a great deal of money in sight. Not very far from this office is a cottage—yes, a cottage, in this age of mansions—where a home was started not many months ago. The wife had been a business girl before marriage, and her business now is running that cottage and adding to the furnishings as the money will allow.

There are thousands of our finest homes—finest in every sense of the word—where the mother and father can now look back on some of their happiest days, when they were making ends meet and keeping out of debt.

A lot of this talk about girls not being willing to make sacrifices for the love of a good man is all imagination. Some person started the rumor and then it spread. Human nature is just the same as when our forefathers fashioned a log cabin in the woods, and the bride of the pioneer period made rag carpets and added her share in every way to the making of the home.

We would dislike very much to have to believe that marriage is coming to be a dollars and cents proposition, and that the tonnage of money outweighs all else.

It cannot be that way. There is such a thing as love in the world; it still builds its castles and beckons men on to the greater and more worthy efforts; it touches the hearts and lives of our girls, and makes sacrifice a pleasure and planning a recreation. If these things were not so, we would have no homes, no mothers, no wives and no children.

Is the Senate Needed?

Canadians have not heard very much about abolition or reform of the Senate in recent weeks. About the one and only time the Senate comes into prominence is when there is a vacancy in it to be filled.

Meantime the feeling grows that the people of Canada are paying too much for the services that are rendered by the Senate.

It is a large, highly-paid body, housed in expensive quarters. It is there performing a function in keeping with the outlay, Canadians would be inclined to look upon it as an investment.

It is not doing this, and Canadians regard it largely as an expense.

There may have been very good reason for bringing the Senate to existence in the first place. That gives no justification for its continuance when its mission is not large and its upkeep great.

It is a matter that the government is almost bound to seriously consider.

The Real Sinner Escaped.

In a letter to The Advertiser, S. Wood believes that France is perfectly justified in her invasion of Germany, and claims that not one returned soldier would ever raise a hand to stop France from carrying out her plans.

In one sense, Mr. Wood is right, but there is a point he has overlooked.

The man who plotted the trouble in which Germany now finds herself was Wilhelm Hohenzollern. He had associated with him his sons and his generals, who did as he did and thought as he thought.

There was talk tall all through the war that he should be tried before the bar of the world in order to see if he could give reason or cause why he should not be hanged as a common murderer.

When the war was over and it looked as though there might be a cry for the head of this Hohenzollern, he picked up and got out. Since then he has made hundreds of thousands of dollars while the people in Germany made nothing.

He has been married to a second wife, and he placed around her neck a string of diamonds, while his victim at home had not enough to eat.

He made another $10,000 out of the moving-picture rights to his wedding ceremony.

He pulled down catastrophe on the German people, and stepped well outside its reach.

The German people, we believe, were making an honest effort against terrific odds to establish a system of government that would in time give expression to the desire of the German people.

An invasion by France is not going to catch or punish the man, or the group with which he was associated. He can look over the back fence at Doorn and it makes not one particle of difference to him what happens.

He is well provided for. Furthermore, The Advertiser believes that the attitude of the British on this question is sufficient proof that France is not in the right. British diplomacy makes errors, but it is not wantonly perverted. The British experts have been over the field, and they recommend a much more reasonable course than France is willing to consider.

When all these things are put together, it is hard to see how approval can be extended to the movement of the French armies into Germany.

The Position of the Jew.

Rabbi Brickner of Toronto urged before members of the Chatham Canadian Club that Canadians should have greater consideration for the Jewish people, pointing out the trials and persecutions his people have suffered for years in many parts of the world.

The Jewish people, although today in possession of much of the wealth of the world, are a nation without a country, and a people without a government. At times they look away off to the east and watch the developments at Palestine, but the vicissitudes of international turmoil have for centuries surrounded that hope with a barricade of uncertainty.

Every center in Canada has a number of Jewish residents, and many of them are first-class businessmen, aggressive, up-to-date, and willing to take their place in our business, civic or social life.

But how far can they go? There are many of them who realize—or who have been made to realize—that there are well-defined limits past which they find it very difficult to go.

One of these men stated his experience to The Advertiser some time ago. He had taken an active part in war work, and his assistance had been sought many times for various campaigns were on for raising funds. In all these activities he had been thrown into contact with the other men of the community.

When the war was over he signified his desire to become associated with these same men in organizations of a social nature, but was unsuccessful, and on that account has gone his own way with his own people ever since.

This particular Jewish resident claims there is nothing left for him to do but go ahead and plan for business and money making. It is the one sphere, at any rate, in which he knows he is the equal or superior of the Canadian people, and in that way feels they must recognize him and at least deal with him on terms of equality.

It would not hurt Canadians to bend over a little farther in this direction. We are not certain how many more of this race Canada can stand, as they are city people, traders, merchants and dealers of one sort and another; they seldom take to the land. We speak, though, more particularly of those who are here, and no good purpose can be served by making it certain that they should feel their position more keenly by reason of our attitude toward them.

Note and Comment

Wonder if that man who wrote "It's never too late to mend" was the owner of a glue factory?

National railroads have placed orders for over 1,000 cars in Hamilton, which makes the best railroad news heard in Canada for some time.

A scarlet fever sign chased the Chatham tax department away from a house. One of these signs would be a handy thing to keep around the premises.

Brantford Indians claim to be independent of Canada. It may be they feel their isolation now that so many whites have departed from the Indian list.

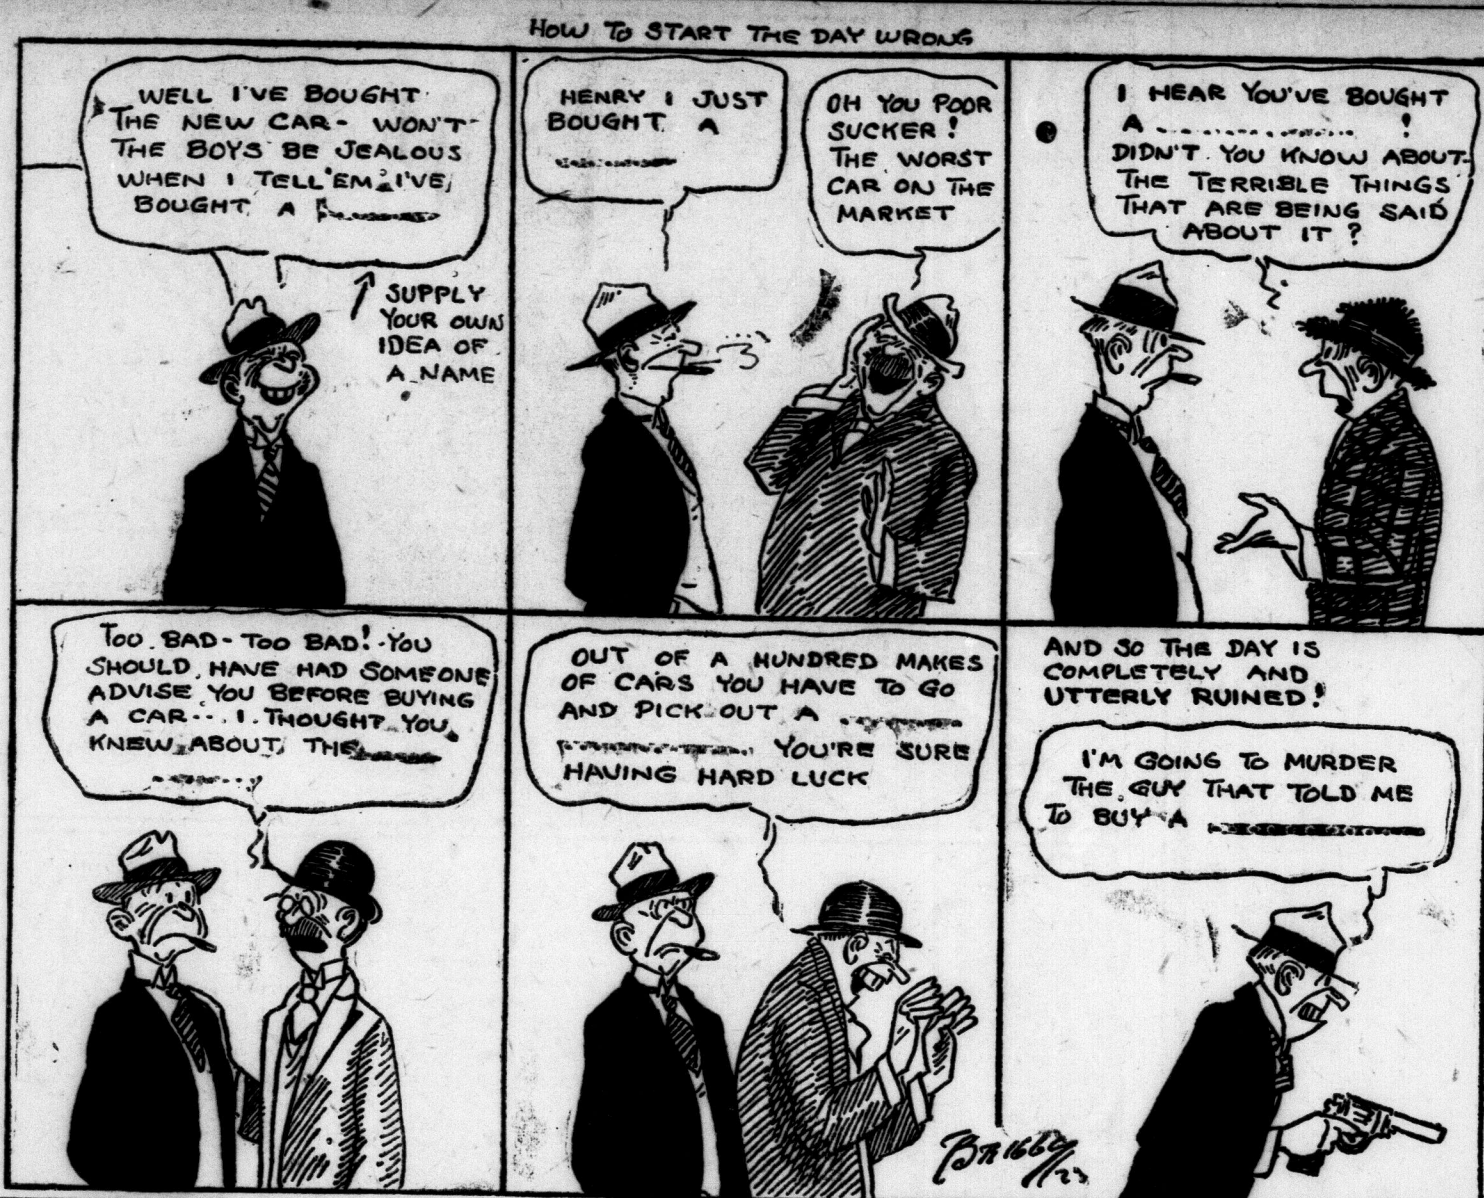

If M. Coue ever comes to this country and visits Vancouver, the little song will have to run: "Day by day, in every way, I'm getting wetter and wetter."

A former preacher near Port Huron was arrested as the King pin of the rumrunners, and now it is claimed he is crazy. That claim sounds reasonable, for a rumrunner can't preach any more than a preacher can be a rumrunner.

International trades union executive met at Amsterdam, and expressed the opinion that they couldn't see how world peace was going to be advanced by France invading Germany. It is one sure way to make Bolsheviks out of Germans.

Brantford notifies citizens to appear in police court if they do not have their sidewalks cleaned off by 9 in the morning. London uses the civic snowplow, and all the walks are cleaned and paid for at large. Brantford will need an army of police if it is going to enforce a snow-shoveling bylaw.

The 1923 automobile markers are a superior looking article when compared to the 1922 car jewelry. The last year numbers were seized with something like scarlet fever in the middle of the season, and by the time the skin-peeling process was over it would take a traffic officer with a periscope to get the number of a car standing still.

Your Health

HOW YOU CAN AVOID AND ALSO RELIEVE CHILBLAINS. By Royal S. Copeland, M.D., Commissioner of Health, New York City; U. S. Senator-Elect from New York State.

Every mode of life has its joys and its penalties. There is a fascination about the desert with its open spaces and the wonderful colorings. The stars seem nearer and existence is like a dream. As there are vipers and poisonous insects to make life uncertain.

The mountains hold the eye and the mind to climb them is a privilege. But under that jutting rock may be a den of rattlesnakes.

The city dweller has the advantages of urban life, but he may live in an apartment which is overheated and poorly ventilated. He wears clothing so thin that he is chilled when he goes into the open. As a result he often contracts catarrhal troubles which may annoy him for a lifetime.

The resident of a small town or the rural inhabitant has the joys of intimate friendships and the association of kindred minds. But there are defects in his manner of living and in his personal habits which are likely to lead to trouble.

Any house heated by stoves is sure to have cold floors. Having lived in the country and in a small town, I know exactly what it means to go into the kitchen in the morning to find a fire in the cook stove, a paper of soap, a box of matches, a story to breakfast. Your breakfast makes a vapor as dense as the smoke which soon curls up the chimney. Your fingers tingle and your feet are like ice because the floor is like ice.

Even when the room is comfortably warmed by the general heat of the fire the floors remain cold. The underlying basement is cold. More than likely the kitchen is a "lean-to" without basements, and possibly with scant foundation, leaving the space under the kitchen to be swept by the icy blasts of winter.

What happens to the poor housewife? She develops chilblains. Her heels and the sides of her feet are "frosted," and for the rest of the winter she must endure the torture of this miserable ailment.

The farmhand who wears heavy woolen socks and boots which are in danger of developing chilblains, the chilling and the natural results of the impaired circulation caused by the tight boots.

Police men, stone masons, motor-men and all others who are exposed to inclement and chilling weather are in danger of developing chilblains. It is important to protect your feet by proper shoes and stockings. These should be suited to the occasion, because sweating, feet and damp stockings are factors in the development of chilblains. Dress according to necessity.

When you get home with thoroughly chilled feet you stand over a hot radiator or stick your feet in the oven. This is not the thing to do. You should take off your shoes and stockings, and then rub them with a coarse towel. This treatment will relieve the circulation in the frost-bitten feet and spare you months of misery from chilblains.

Chilblains have actually developed in my ears. I have a formula which will give you great relief:

Jodine crystals, 5 grains; collodion, 1 ounce; ether, 3 drachms. Paint this mixture on the chilblains every day. This will stop the itching and protect the skin.

If your druggist hesitates to fill the prescription, ask your friend, the doctor, to get it for you.

Answers to Health Questions.

E. B. J. Q.—I have been suffering from a gout for the past 15 years. I have been advised by two physicians to have it operated upon. What would you advise me to do?

A.—Try medical treatment first, and if your condition does not improve then an operation should be considered.

A CONSTANT READER. Q.—Will you kindly tell me the correct height and weight of a girl 15 years of age?

A.—A girl of the age you mention should be about 5 feet in height and should weigh about 105 pounds. However, weight and height are largely a matter of individuality.

L. L. D. Q.—Please tell me what causes dizziness and a roaring noise in my ears. These spells usually occur at night.

A.—Your condition may be due to high blood-pressure or nasal catarrh which has extended to the ears. Have an examination made to locate the cause. Proper treatment can then be prescribed.

The Daily Story

ROMANCE AND WALL PAPER. By Jane Osborn.

It seemed to Marjorie Dawe a tremendously solemn affair—taking leave of her old and true friend, Alice Conway, on this last trip that she would ever take as Marjorie Dawe.

"Here's the key to the house—in case anything happens," she said, signing the brand-new little house where she and John Cavendish were going to start their life together in only one other key. "John has the other keys with the wall paper man—but goodness knows we'll have to leave this to him. He's a papering expert and we've had so many expenses already."

"What a shame—those white walls will look so crude with your pretty new things. It's too bad."

"I know it's dreadful—but John and I are fearfully in love and we probably won't notice the walls. They are awfully glaring, though."

That was about all there was to the final leaving before Marjorie Dawe started off to visit her aunt for a brief rest and shopping before the eventual wedding day.

The same time John Cavendish was talking to his college chum, Bob Hanson, on the eve of his departure for a business trip that he had to take to before the eventual day of his wedding.

"Here's the key to the house," he said. "Marjorie has the other. We're going to move out here until the day we get home, so there's no danger of any one's breaking in. Still, it's best to have some one here before we leave. I thought I'd ask you to Marjorie gave it to me to give to the wall paper man. We thought we'd have the walls done while we were away, but we've had to spend so much already. I hate the sight of those bare white walls; still—"

"What do you mean? You're papering the downstairs?" proudly demanded Bob.

"Yes," said Alice. "I was always so excited I just ran upstairs as fast as I could. I've been coming every afternoon ever since Marjorie left. I thought the bedrooms were most important—and I knew Marjorie wanted little figured paper for her room, and her guest room is going to be blue, and yellow seemed most appropriate for the north room."

"You're a trump, Alice," said Bob. "Well, I think you were awfully good to do the downstairs—and nights after you had worked hard at the office."

"Let's be friends," suggested Bob, very boldly resuming the position of support that he had been forced to assume when she almost fainted into the paste-pail. "Let's make up."

Alice put her little head up with slightly pursed lips and then thought to wipe a smear of paste from her nose. "There's only one way to make up, Bob—I'm sorry."

After the making up there was still time for an hour of work. "I've been so busy with the papering of their finished job. 'Because before long we'll be papering our own little cottage. I know a lot more about this sticky business than I did when I began."

Jim, who was John Cavendish's young brother and not all eager to go through with "this heathenish best-man business," was delighted when Bob told him the good news—and there were three surprises for John and Marjorie when they arrived—the re-engagement of Bob and Alice, the decision of Bob to be best man—and most important of all—the complete papering of their new little dovecote.

CROWNING TRIUMPHS ACHIEVED BY ARTISTS

Ferdinand Fillion, Violinist; Viggo Kihl, Pianist. Offer Recital at Local Institute.

PROGRAM DEMANDS

Difficult Numbers Perfectly Executed in Every Mood by Gifted Musicians.

By A. MINOR.

Into a very inner shrine of music a few London people entered last evening when they availed themselves of the privilege to attend the first of a series of three sonata recitals for violin and piano, given in the London Institute of Musical Art.

Ferdinand Fillion was the violinist, Viggo Kihl the pianist. Their program included two sonatas for violin and piano, the Caesars Franck in A Major and the Beethoven "Kreutzer," No. 47, played only once before in a recital in this city in concert, and a solo number for each of the artists.

The audience was just a handful, but so sympathetic and responsive that the twin stars appeared delighted with a sea of upturned faces. Both were in a happy mood and gave of their best.

Presenting tremendous difficulties for both pianist and violinist, the Kreutzer sonata was a crowning achievement of intellectual and dramatic appreciation in interpretation, the work of both artists having solo distinction, yet blended and united to give an almost flawless production. A most finished performance was also given of the beautiful Caesars Franck sonata.

Mr. Fillion's solo contribution was the Tartin-Pente Concerto in D minor, with the characteristic Tartin demands upon technical dexterity.

Mr. Kihl chose for his appearance alone three charmingly contrasted impromptus by Schubert.

Fillion Lures Hearers. Ferdinand Fillion's playing is of the order which enables the listeners to settle back to unworried enjoyment after the first few measures. He is absolutely confident and authoritative in his command of technique, and in his knowledge of the music he is presenting. His pitch is absolute, his intonation unvaryingly perfect. His tone is firm and robust, and in certain passages of great sweetness. At times his bowing is brilliant, but never ostentatious.

His manner is calm and business-like, and his demeanor gives little indication of the dramatic intensity and warmth of feeling which made possible the colorful reading of the first Presto movement of the Kreutzer sonata.

The andante variazioni movement following opens as serenely as a Puritaneal Sabbath service, glints of vivid hue appearing as the variations develop.

After the comparative lull, Mr. Fillion and his associate artist entered with abandon into the rushing final Presto movement, working up a magnificent climax.

Master of Instrument. The ability to make the piano sing beautifully is the fine art of Viggo Kihl. Always, whatever he is playing, a distinguishing feature is the lovely musical tone. In pianissimo passage, no matter how rapid, there is never a hint of muffling or slurring. In fortissimo, not a suggestion of harshness. Idealism and poetic feeling have as their ally sound musical judgment and big intellectual grasp.

Like a delicate bit of lace, with here and there interwoven bits of gold and silver thread was the first Schubert impromptu in B flat, Op. 142, No. 3, a song to a running accompaniment. The second, in G major, Op. 90, No. 3. The A flat, Op. 90, No. 4, which rounded out the group, revealed another and this time a brilliant mood.

At the conclusion of the recital, friends pressed around Mr. Fillion and Mr. Kihl to add their words of appreciation to the tribute of prolonged applause.

Ferdinand Fillion is appearing at all recitals of the sonata series on February 15, with Paul Wells, pianist, and on March 15 with Ernest Seitz.

While the auditorium of the Institute of Musical Art holds only a limited number, seating capacity can be found for many more than the group which thoroughly enjoyed last evening's program.

FORMER MAYOR'S ARREST CREATES
SWIRL IN EDMONTON

Postmaster Given Bail of $40,000 Following Theft Charge.

PLEADS INNOCENCE

Armstrong Declares He Knows Nothing of Missing $50,000.

Special to The Advertiser.
Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 12.—Seldom has Edmonton been so stirred as by the arrest of George S. Armstrong, former mayor, prominent Conservative, high degree Mason and elder in his church. Citizens in all walks of life were shocked Thursday morning when it became generally known that Armstrong had been taken into custody on a charge of stealing $50,000 from the postoffice vault in August of 1919. The postoffice mystery had been accepted by the police as one that would never be solved. There were hints now and then that the money had been quietly returned, and that some one "higher up" was being shielded, but none expected Thursday's sensational climax.

Armstrong was subjected to a merciless questioning in the room of a local hotel before his arrest. Taken before federal officers Wednesday morning he was kept there all day and all night until 3 o'clock Thursday morning when he was formally placed under arrest and taken to the police station, where he was locked in a cell. When he appeared later in the court he showed the effects of the strain he had been under.

He was unshaven, and wore no collar or tie. "I swear before God I am not guilty," repeated Armstrong again and again during the morning, while awaiting the arrival of his lawyer, S. B. Woods, K. C., and his appearance before Police Magistrate Primrose. In court, Mr. Woods secured an adjournment of the hearing until next Thursday, when he was to make his argument on the question of bail, but the magistrate finally set this at $40,000, in two or more sureties.

Refuses To Consider Plea.
A plea for two sureties of $5,000 each by Mr. J. H. Hefner, acting Crown Prosecutor, J. H. Hefner, K. C. "This is a case," he remarked, "where I must not let my duty be swayed by any considerations. The charge is serious. Practically as serious as manslaughter and other major offenses, being punishable by life imprisonment. Visibly pale and with his mouth and chin nervously Armstrong appeared supremely unmoved when the first part of his ordeal came to an end.

"The arrest is the culminating point in a long and painstaking investigation," stated the federal officer, "during which I have traveled twelve thousand miles. Witnesses will have to be brought from distant points," he added, "but I give no details as to whether the money has been discovered or not. It is common knowledge that other arrests are pending, one of them it is declared, being that of a former member of the city police force. The theft for which Armstrong is held took place over the Christmas week-end in August, 1919. The money was done up in three parcels, were shipped from the Winnipeg office of the Merchants Bank to the branch here. Saturday afternoon, and were placed in the vault. When the vault was opened Tuesday morning (Monday was Civic holiday) the three registered parcels were missing.

Contained $25,000.
One parcel contained $25,000, another $20,000, and the third, $5,000, all were gone, the chief of police—at that time George Hill—and his detectives searched all over the place, but found no clues, gradually the matter dropped from public notice, with the interest in the robbery was made the subject of questions in the House of Commons two sessions ago. To add to the mystery, practically all the money was in five and ten dollar bills, and their numbers had not been taken.

The bank was protected as the packages were insured. The insurance firm had Pinkerton men here for a while, as well as detectives from other agencies. All gave up the other agencies, all except operatives of the department of justice, some of whom practically have lived in Edmonton since the mysterious disappearance. It is known, for instance, that William Duncan has been here for months past.

The crown is remaining absolutely silent on the case until the preliminary hearing is begun next Thursday, when it is stated, some sensational evidence will be offered. In the meantime, P. T. Cooligan, acting general superintendent of the postal department, who arrived here two or three days ago, is occupying Armstrong's office, and is seeing to it that public service is not interrupted by what has occurred," as he himself put it.

ALBERTA FEDERATION

OTTAWA PLEASED AS AYLESWORTH
COMES TO SENATE

Liberals Credited With Splendid Stroke of Business in Appointment.

LIKED BY OPPONENTS

Sir Allen Always Strongly Partisan, Though Fair-Minded.

Special to The Advertiser.
Ottawa, Jan. 12.—The appointment of Sir Allen Aylesworth to the senatorial seat made vacant by the death of Senator Proudfoot is well received in the capital and is regarded as a good stroke of business on the part of the government.

Sir Allen was known as a strong partisan in politics, but he was a fair-minded and courteous to his opponents and enjoyed marked popularity with them.

Among the Liberal party he was rated as among the ablest of their chiefs, and there was general regret when his growing deafness drove him reluctantly to the decision to retire from the House in 1911.

It has frequently been stated that Sir Allen had been able to remain in active politics, but for the fact that he was a member of the Liberal party. His selection for the senatorship was quite unexpected, and it was not thought that he had any ambitions to re-enter public life even in the modest capacity of a rank and file senator.

The Liberal party will welcome his advent to Ottawa, for although many of them do not share his views upon the constitutional position of Canada and Imperial relations, they know that Sir Allen will always be thrown on the side of progress and reform and never for reaction. His deafness may prevent him playing any very active part in the debates of the senate, but as he can claim rank from point of seniority next to Mr. Kierulff, the Liberal hierarchy, it is certain that behind the scenes he will play a large part in the inmost councils of the party.

He will bring to the government a reinforcement which they badly need in the shape of his wide knowledge, not only of ordinary law, but of constitutional problems. In all our recent cabinets there has been included at least one first rate constitutional lawyer, but no member of the King ministry could be rated in this class. The minister of justice has confined his talents to the commercial law, and Mr. Murphy, who has a keen interest in constitutional problems, has not practiced law seriously for years.

NEW YORK PREACHER
KILLS SELF IN HOTEL

Rev. Dr. Percy Gordon Left Church, Ends Life With Bullet.

Special to The Advertiser.
New York, Jan. 12.—Motive of suicide for Dr. Percy Gordon, 60, until recently pastor of the fashionable St. Bartholomew Episcopal Church, was a mystery.

Gordon was found dead, a bullet wound in his right temple, in a bathtub at the Hotel Wolcott, where he had been staying since his return from a trip to Paris. He had been dead several hours and several bare hours elapsed before the discovery was reported to the police, who said the case was one of suicide.

William Singreen, manager of the hotel, declared that the last time the minister was seen he was laughing with a group in the lobby. He received a special delivery letter, Singreen said, and hurried to his room. Dr. Gordon left two letters, one addressed to his son in the American embassy in Paris and the other to Dr. Leighton Parks, rector of St. Bartholomew's. Both letters were sealed, and police withheld information.

POPULATION OF OTTAWA
IS NOW SET AT 116,205

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Jan. 12.—A total assessment increase in Ottawa in 1922 of $1,385,863 is reported by Assessment Commissioner P. H. Veale in his annual statement. It reveals a decrease of $1,462,246 in income assessments made in 1922 as compared with 1921, and an increase in land, improvements and business assessments. The total taxable assessment made in 1922 was $137,059,270 against the total taxable assessment of $135,673,559 made in 1921.

Mr. Veale's report gives Ottawa's 1922 population as 116,205, as compared with 112,839 in 1921, or an increase of 3,366. The marked decrease in income assessment is due to exemption granted during the year and the fact that many incomes previously assessable are not now on the assessors' rolls.

H. E. Attwater, chief inspector of the dead letter department, who also is here denied rumors that the thefts since the disappearance of the $50,000 had brought the total up to $90,000. "There has been no serious losses beyond the $50,000," he said. Armstrong, formerly a brigadier, was a soldier here in 1909 and 1910. In 1911 he was elected mayor, and was returned by acclamation the next year. In 1915 he was appointed postmaster.

Medicine Hat, Alta., Jan. 12.—The Alberta Federation of Labor yesterday adopted a resolution condemning the action of Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, in accepting a position on the directorate of the Canadian National Railways, and demanding that he resign one of the positions.

Unable to Effect Cure First Time, Frenchman Returns to Patient.

Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

New York, Jan. 12.—The morning clinic at the MacDowell Club was productive of one of the most moving incidents of M. Coue's visit to this country. Shortly before the clinic began, a tall, gaunt man with a tired stoop walked into the room. By slow, painful jerks he made a snail-like progress to a seat, where he sat down with a thump as if he had exhausted his strength. In the progress around the circle of sick by M. Coue, the buoyant, smiling Frenchman came to this man and halted puzzled. The patient explained in a weary voice that he had been ill for a long time of a disease which had robbed him of the power to walk naturally and that he was an old newspaperman and could not write a single sentence his hand shook so.

He put forward a long, talon-like hand which trembled violently.

"Oh, you will be better," interrupted M. Coue, smiling cheerfully and rubbing his sturdy hands together. "You shall see." He urged him to stand up, and asked him to walk across the room. Every muscle shaking, the big frame of the man slowly lifted out of the chair and walked haltingly across the open space. His progress was so slow that it seemed he would never get there, then he turned and came back, collapsing into the chair.

"Can you cure me?" he asked hopefully.

"I cannot cure you, but you may cure yourself. I cannot promise that you will be wholly cured, but you will improve," M. Coue turned away.

After completing the circle, the little Frenchman, with his bright smile, returned to the gaunt figure. He repeated the hand-clapping experiment on the man and then knelt, repeating the machine gun "ce passe" formula. While M. Coue was thus busy, the man's arms and legs, he urged him to stand.

While the roomful of people sat in an electric hush, the tall man pushed his chest, pushed his gray head upward proudly, and walked firmly but slowly across the room. "Faster, faster," urged M. Coue, trotting at his side. The eyes of the man fixed before him caught a wild look of amazement and the legs began to pound faster. Finally he broke into a run. Then M. Coue halted him abruptly, and the man sat down with a tired thump.

At the conclusion of the clinic M. Coue came back to him and made him stretch his arms, fingers and neck. The trembling disappeared from the man's hands. He pulled his seat down and, taking a pencil and paper, wrote in an easy, legible hand, "I am glad."

"That's the best I have written for two years," he said, looking up mistily at the little Frenchman.

His wife, smiling with a smile of triumph, led him out, his head higher and his step firmer than when he came in.

SHIPPING CONFERENCE BANS UNDER-CUTTING

Canadian Press Despatch.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 12.—With the majority of its work completed late last night the Pacific westbound conference of shipping companies operating into Pacific coast ports completed a strenuous three-day session. The most important feature of the conference was said to be the agreement reached between Pacific and Atlantic representatives relative to freight for the Orient.

Under this agreement rates will be the same on freight moving from any part of the country by way of either Atlantic or Pacific routes. Under-cutting will be eliminated.

No changes were made in Pacific Ocean rates nor were any material changes effected in overland rates.

INDIGNANT, LLOYD GEORGE DENIES BULLS AT PARTY

Associated Press Despatch.

Gibraltar, Jan. 12.—A report that David Lloyd George had attended a bull fight as a feature of his sojourn at Algiers has caused the former British prime minister much annoyance, a member of his party said today. What was heralded as a bull fight was in reality, it was explained, only a garden festival, held at an Andalusian estate where bulls are reared for the ring. There was, however, no fight.

Constantine Died of Broken Heart, Wounded by Disgrace of His Exile

Associated Press Despatch.

Palermo, Jan. 12.—Former King Constantine had never held up his head since his second abdication. His health had been poor, and his spirits at low ebb since his arrival here from Greece after he left the throne. Often he was seen walking with his daughter, but he always seemed weak and had an air of depression.

Apparently the end was sudden and painless. It is said there was scarcely time to call his family around the death bed before the former monarch passed away.

When the physician declared that life was extinct, Princess Helen, Constantine's eldest daughter, exclaimed: "Poor father, he died of a broken heart."

VANCOUVER KNOWS MAN WHO COMMITTED SUICIDE

Canadian Press Despatch.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 12.—William Coulter, who took poison in London yesterday, is believed to be a man of the same name who carried on a street propaganda here in 1921, drawing the attention of returned soldiers to alleged inhuman treatment of Canadians overseas.

Coulter started from Vancouver later, afoot, announcing his intention of carrying his grievances to the federal government. He reached Ottawa and later was understood to have sailed for England. Nothing of his antecedents is known here.

RUMOR EAMON DE VALERA IS ON WAY TO NEW YORK

Associated Press Despatch.

Halifax, Jan. 12.—A rumor was circulated here last night to the effect that Eamon De Valera, the Irish Republican leader, was on board the Baltic-American liner Latvia, which called here today en route to Danzig and Copenhagen for New York. It was stated that De Valera boarded the liner at Copenhagen.

Agents of the line here tonight stated that if he was on board the Latvia they knew nothing about it.

ASK COMPULSORY GRAIN BOARD FOR WEST PROVINCES

Delegates at U. F. M. Convention Vote Almost Unanimously for Action.

BOARD IMPERATIVE

H. R. Richardson Declares the Stand Necessary Owing to Conditions in Europe.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brandon, Man., Jan. 12.—After a two-hour full debate covering every conceivable angle of the situation, the U. F. M. last night voted nearly unanimously for a compulsory wheat board as a temporary expedient.

A lot of information regarding the workings of the 1919 board was forthcoming from C. Rice-Jones, vice-president of the U. G. G. Mr. Jones stated in addition that the U. G. G. were prepared to operate a voluntary pool on their initiative. There was a certain amount of feeling engendered into the debate, Hon. T. A. Cramer's discussion of the moral side of the situation also came in for comment. The majority of the delegates affirmed their devotion to co-operation principle through deploring the insistent need of a compulsory board for the 1923 crop.

Prior to Mr. Jones taking the platform, almost at the conclusion of the debate, W. J. Lovie, M.P. for MacDonald, declared that the east looked upon the wheat board as a protective move, which statement brought cries of "No, No," from the audience. H. R. Richardson, former M. L. A. for Roblin, declared that the state of European finances made a board imperative.

Following was the text of the resolution as passed:

"Whereas, present grain marketing conditions are very unsatisfactory, therefore, whilst still strongly affirming our opinion in regard to the principle, we urge as a temporary expedient that the Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta governments get together and advise a workable scheme for a wheat board."

RESTORES POWER IN ARMS AND LEGS OF WITHERED MAN

M. Coue Brings Joy of Living Back to Worn-Out Human.

MAKES TWO TRIALS

Unable to Effect Cure First Time, Frenchman Returns to Patient.

Special to The Advertiser. Copyright.

New York, Jan. 12.—The morning clinic at the MacDowell Club was productive of one of the most moving incidents of M. Coue's visit to this country. Shortly before the clinic began, a tall, gaunt man with a tired stoop walked into the room. By slow, painful jerks he made a snail-like progress to a seat, where he sat down with a thump as if he had exhausted his strength. In the progress around the circle of sick by M. Coue, the buoyant, smiling Frenchman came to this man and halted puzzled. The patient explained in a weary voice that he had been ill for a long time of a disease which had robbed him of the power to walk naturally and that he was an old newspaperman and could not write a single sentence his hand shook so.

He put forward a long, talon-like hand which trembled violently.

"Oh, you will be better," interrupted M. Coue, smiling cheerfully and rubbing his sturdy hands together. "You shall see." He urged him to stand up, and asked him to walk across the room. Every muscle shaking, the big frame of the man slowly lifted out of the chair and walked haltingly across the open space. His progress was so slow that it seemed he would never get there, then he turned and came back, collapsing into the chair.

"Can you cure me?" he asked hopefully.

"I cannot cure you, but you may cure yourself. I cannot promise that you will be wholly cured, but you will improve," M. Coue turned away.

After completing the circle, the little Frenchman, with his bright smile, returned to the gaunt figure. He repeated the hand-clapping experiment on the man and then knelt, repeating the machine gun "ce passe" formula. While M. Coue was thus busy, the man's arms and legs, he urged him to stand.

While the roomful of people sat in an electric hush, the tall man pushed his chest, pushed his gray head upward proudly, and walked firmly but slowly across the room. "Faster, faster," urged M. Coue, trotting at his side. The eyes of the man fixed before him caught a wild look of amazement and the legs began to pound faster. Finally he broke into a run. Then M. Coue halted him abruptly, and the man sat down with a tired thump.

At the conclusion of the clinic M. Coue came back to him and made him stretch his arms, fingers and neck. The trembling disappeared from the man's hands. He pulled his seat down and, taking a pencil and paper, wrote in an easy, legible hand, "I am glad."

"That's the best I have written for two years," he said, looking up mistily at the little Frenchman.

His wife, smiling with a smile of triumph, led him out, his head higher and his step firmer than when he came in.

SHIPPING CONFERENCE BANS UNDER-CUTTING

Canadian Press Despatch.

Vancouver, B. C., Jan. 12.—With the majority of its work completed late last night the Pacific westbound conference of shipping companies operating into Pacific coast ports completed a strenuous three-day session. The most important feature of the conference was said to be the agreement reached between Pacific and Atlantic representatives relative to freight for the Orient.

Under this agreement rates will be the same on freight moving from any part of the country by way of either Atlantic or Pacific routes. Under-cutting will be eliminated.

No changes were made in Pacific Ocean rates nor were any material changes effected in overland rates.

INDIGNANT, LLOYD GEORGE DENIES BULLS AT PARTY

Associated Press Despatch.

Gibraltar, Jan. 12.—A report that David Lloyd George had attended a bull fight as a feature of his sojourn at Algiers has caused the former British prime minister much annoyance, a member of his party said today. What was heralded as a bull fight was in reality, it was explained, only a garden festival, held at an Andalusian estate where bulls are reared for the ring. There was, however, no fight.

Constantine Died of Broken Heart, Wounded by Disgrace of His Exile

Associated Press Despatch.

Palermo, Jan. 12.—Former King Constantine had never held up his head since his second abdication. His health had been poor, and his spirits at low ebb since his arrival here from Greece after he left the throne. Often he was seen walking with his daughter, but he always seemed weak and had an air of depression.

Apparently the end was sudden and painless. It is said there was scarcely time to call his family around the death bed before the former monarch passed away.

When the physician declared that life was extinct, Princess Helen, Constantine's eldest daughter, exclaimed: "Poor father, he died of a broken heart."

ASK COMPULSORY GRAIN BOARD FOR WEST PROVINCES

Delegates at U. F. M. Convention Vote Almost Unanimously for Action.

BOARD IMPERATIVE

H. R. Richardson Declares the Stand Necessary Owing to Conditions in Europe.

Special to The Advertiser.

Brandon, Man., Jan. 12.—After a two-hour full debate covering every conceivable angle of the situation, the U. F. M. last night voted nearly unanimously for a compulsory wheat board as a temporary expedient.

A lot of information regarding the workings of the 1919 board was forthcoming from C. Rice-Jones, vice-president of the U. G. G. Mr. Jones stated in addition that the U. G. G. were prepared to operate a voluntary pool on their initiative. There was a certain amount of feeling engendered into the debate, Hon. T. A. Cramer's discussion of the moral side of the situation also came in for comment. The majority of the delegates affirmed their devotion to co-operation principle through deploring the insistent need of a compulsory board for the 1923 crop.

Prior to Mr. Jones taking the platform, almost at the conclusion of the debate, W. J. Lovie, M.P. for MacDonald, declared that the east looked upon the wheat board as a protective move, which statement brought cries of "No, No," from the audience. H. R. Richardson, former M. L. SAYS SAINTS BETTER OFF THAN FLINTERS

Border Directors Feel Halligan's Statement Misleading.

Sarnia, Jan. 11.—Officials of the Sarnia-Port Huron Base Ball Club are taking exception to a statement issued yesterday by President Tom Halligan of the Mini League, over the Mini League controversy. President Halligan's statement says: "I have today sent a photograph of the case to John Farrell, secretary of the National Association, following a telephone conversation with him in regard to the matter. I explained that directors of my league voted to take up the Port Huron franchise because they understood the club would not be able to start the 1923 season for lack of finances; because the club held back its league dues until it believed it could prosper by a sell-out; and also because the club did not have any real assets."

"In my opinion, while the directors did not follow my advice in paying what I termed a moral debt, the league acted as it saw fit, and is willing to abide by a decision from either Farrell or Commissioner Landis. The league had the right to take up the franchise. I still have the right to dissolve itself and reorganize."

Sarnia officials state that the Saints are in better shape to continue this year than Flint, one of the movers in the existing activities, who are said to be still in arrears in the purchase price of their franchise. Hamilton did not set any records in paying its league obligations, and the local club is in as good a position to carry on next year as the majority of them. If the matter comes to an active fight, all these things will likely be brought out into the limelight.

George B. Dawson has as yet received no answer to his protest from Judge Landis.

MINORS COUNTER RUSE OF MAJORS ON DRAFT

International and American Association To Refuse Players Subject To Draft.

Baltimore, Jan. 11.—In a circular letter, a copy of which was received today by Jack Dunn, president of the Baltimore Baseball Club, President John Conway Toole of the International League, today notified his owners not to accept any players from the major leagues which are subject to draft. Should the majors insist upon carrying out their recent rule in this matter, Dunn says Toole's decision will mean a breaking off of relations.

President Toole's letter follows: "It seems to be certain that at the last joint meeting of the major leagues, Dec. 14, 1922, a resolution was passed which in substance provides that players sent from the majors after Jan. 10, 1923, shall be sent with a provision making any player so sent subject to draft. It is obvious that no such agreement can be made by any club or league. The only assignment of the players we can accept are: "Optional assignments."

"Any attempt to add a provision relating to draft could cause you to refuse contract."

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION, TOO.
Los Angeles, Jan. 11.—Thomas J. American Association, said here today that the clubs in that organization had decided to refuse to deal with the major league players if they persisted in their apparent intention to send what they saw fit to the minors and then redraft them at their pleasure.

Regrets Parting From Boy Group

Stan. F. Howard Says Farewell to Trail Rangers.

Wednesday the Trail Ranger groups of their city, in their weekly meeting in the Y, were surprised and exceedingly sorry to hear of the departure from the city soon of Stan. F. Howard, the popular leader of the Talbot Street Baptist Argonaut group.

The announcement that Mr. Howard had been called to the Bank of Montreal in Georgetown was made by Chief Ranger George T. Tamm, and on behalf of the boys he expressed his sincere regret that the Argonauts were soon to lose a man who has been greatly responsible for the position the group holds in the city today.

Mr. Howard thanked the boys for their good wishes, and told them that he would be very lonely in his new position away from the boys whom he had learned to love. He regretted very much that there was no Y. M. C. A. in Georgetown.

REAL MINT OF MIRTH COINED IN 'CLARENCE'

Booth Tarkington Story as Starring Vehicle For Wallace Reid.

In a manner intangible, the elusive quality of humor has been caught and retained in Wallace Reid's newest vehicle, "Clarence," the screen adaptation of Booth Tarkington's work, now showing at Loew's Theatre.

In the limelight at present, by reason of the unfortunate break in his career, Wallace Reid still maintains sufficient hold on his public to bring a large audience out to the first showing despite inclement weather conditions. Of course, he is not the sole attraction in "Clarence." The fact that it is a production of a Booth Tarkington story would mean much to those familiar with this writer's inimitable skill and subtleties in portraying the whims and vagaries of youth.

And co-starring with Reid are two of the screen's prettiest and cleverest, Agnes Ayres and May McEvoy, together with an actress upon whom the public may depend for both beauty and a skilful portrayal of any role in which she may be cast, the widely-known Kathryn Williams.

In "Horn-Rimmed Spectacle" As far as plot goes, "Clarence" holds together with a mere wisp. There is not a single moment in which one is held by thrill or suspense. But through what plot there is Wallace Reid ambles in delightful urbanity, so urbane in fact that he is almost inane. It is surprising the change effected in the first few scenes by the horn-rimmed glasses he affects, but fortunately in a struggle with the villain (for "Clarence" has a villain) the spectacles part company and we have with us once more our old friend "Wallace."

As Clarence, Wallace Reid becomes installed temporarily in a home where everything is out of tune, including the piano. In the course of a few days he has said piano, saves the daughter of the house from an unfortunate elopement, deprives the son of the house of his best-beloved, restores the man of the house happily to the arms of the lady of the house, and he himself placidly walks off with the most charming thing in the house, to wit, the fair Agnes.

Pretty Trappings! Reid is a comedian, certainly not the screen's best, but given any sort of a vehicle he may be relied upon for a few laughs, and with "Clarence" he manages a spontaneous and irresistibly funny performance.

Max McEvoy has not been given opportunity to equal her work in "Sentimental Tommy," but she fits nicely into the role of Cora Wheeler, the romantic and considering herself much-abused daughter of the house. She is an undeniably pretty little thing, and knows how to fly into a tantrum just in keeping with her prettiness.

Since the cast is small, every character has opportunity to become an individual attraction, of which opportunity they take the utmost advantage, from the head of the house down to (or up to) the butler.

Fans are not advised to see "Clarence" unless in a mood to be amused.

TRADING MORE ACTIVE ON NEW YORK MARKET

Rubber Group Attracts Attention, Buying Brisk at Higher Prices.

By STUART P. WEST.
Special to The Advertiser.
New York, N. Y., Jan. 12.—Trading on the New York Stock Market was more active today and more stocks took part in the advance. That represents the main difference between the trading today and Thursday. Industrial stocks, as usual, were favored, one after another having its turn.

Studebaker was the leader of the motors, but the motors, as a group, attracted less attention than the tire shares. The recent succession of increases in rubber prices have put these companies in good condition, and all of them are making money.

U. S. Rubber, Kelly Springfield, Goodrich, Lee, Priebe and Ajax were actively traded. The rubber group has been recently a good deal of investment buying, was selling over 12 points above its low of last autumn, at which time it was feared the dividend might be cut.

The pool in Beechnut Packing had been active in putting its favorite to a new high. High records were also reached in California Petroleum and in Corden, operations in the latter having in view a dividend increase later in the year. Superpetroleum was taken up and so was Cerro de Pasco, in which a higher dividend is expected within the next two months.

The fact that meeting of the directors in its latest monthly report showed earnings at a rate sufficient to pay dividends on all three classes of stock, was an adequate explanation for the rise in this issue.

Railway shares did little, with the exception of Delaware and Hudson, which had a special dividend overnight jump on the statement that dividends will be continued at the present rate, although surplus would have to be dipped into quite heavily.

ATTITUDE OF COUNCIL PUZZLES BUCHANAN

Comments On Action in Regard To Proposed New Park Concessions Asked.

While the attitude of the city council, with regard to the request for permission for the public utilities commission to grant a lease to an amusement company for a piece of land south of the tracks at Springbank, seems to resolve itself into the question, "Why don't they give us some information about what kind of concessions they intend to set up?" The public utilities commission ask in return, "Doesn't the council know that all buildings and so forth must first be planned by the city architect?" General Manager E. V. Buchanan, in commenting on the council's decision arrived at Wednesday night to refer the request back for more information, stated that it was hard to see how there could be any misunderstanding on the subject.

The concession for all refreshment privileges at Springbank Park, he said, were let to one man, the proprietor of the pavilion. In the case of the proposed new amusement park, a private company requested permission to install certain amusement devices on a piece of land at present growing nothing but weeds. Before the public utilities commission could grant a lease of sufficient duration to protect the lessee it was necessary to ask the council to have a clause inserted in the City of London Bill granting such rights to the public utilities.

URGES RICH CHURCHES BEAR BURDEN OF POOR

Rev. T. Neal of Toronto Addresses Methodist Council at First Banquet.

SPEAKS ON MISSIONS
Claims Bad Housekeeping
Causes Much of Misery in Cities.

"The physical and spiritual welfare of the cities is the greatest problem facing Canada today." This was the message of the Rev. Thomas Neal, in an address to the Methodist council at their annual banquet in the hall of the First Methodist Church last night.

Mr. Neal is in charge of the extension work of the church in Toronto, and he spoke from his own experience as to the condition under which this work is carried out.

Two essentials there were, he said, to the successful conclusion of the work in the missionary field: A strong community spirit and the wholehearted co-operation of the layman.

"Our effort in Toronto," he went on, "has been successful, and it is due more to the loyal helping spirit of the ministers and laymen of the district than to any other cause."

"Poor churches cannot stand alone in this period of extension, the wealthy congregations have got to take a hand to get things going, for instance, at the inception of the Toronto scheme in 1902, we were indebted to the fine and unselfish aid that we received from the people of the Sherborne Street Church, who came down to the mean little streets in which the work was going on and both by deeds and gifts of money started us on our progress that we have ever since followed."

How great is this problem of the modern city can be judged from these figures: In 1850, 20 per cent of the population of this country lived in the cities; in 1900, 40 per cent, and today there are more than 50 per cent of the whole population of the country living in the great centers of production.

The causes which are responsible for this unequal state of affairs are both economic and compulsory, according to Mr. Neal, and the result of this overcrowding and its inevitable poverty and squalor and crime constitute the greatest challenge of God to the church today.

"The test of the twentieth century church lies in the way in which it meets the situation. It can meet it, and overcome only by unselfish and sacrificing effort, and the church will live or fail, succeed or fail, on this vital score."

"This extension work in Toronto is very largely a foreign missionary movement, in view of the fact that there are over 100,000 men and women of alien blood in the city, who will be the Canadians of tomorrow. It is in the best interests of the country as well as from a Christian point of view, that they should be guided and directed in the paths of thought and action that we believe to be essential to clean manhood and worthy citizenship."

Issue Certificates.
"There are two outstanding centers of this service, the Italian Mission and the Fred Victor Mission, and there is also a course of training whereby certificates of merit are issued to girls who have passed an examination in housekeeping and church believing that much of the distress that exists in the poorer districts is due to lack of housekeeping knowledge."

"Then there are two summer camps, where in the hot sultry days the little boys and girls, to whom the sunshine and the fresh air are strangers, are able to spend a few weeks of really healthy and happy life on the sands of the lake shore. Church union being a question of the moment, the speaker took the opportunity to say a few words on a subject that was near the hearts of all his hearers."

On Church Union.
"A meeting last Wednesday evening, in the King Edward Hotel, in Toronto, of over four hundred of the most influential laymen in the city, declared itself to be unanimously in favor of union," he said, and Mr. Neal endorsed this decision with all his eloquence. "It is the supreme need today that we should all work together in harmony for the greater benefit of His kingdom, and the more practical expression of His spirit."

Other speakers included Israel Taylor, the Rev. John Garvey, and the Rev. J. Agnew, and another item of the evening was the reading of the financial statement by the secretary of the council. During the banquet an air of cheerfulness was added by a number of community songs sung by Jordan at the piano, and led by Mr. Carmen Learn.

There were also a couple of solos by Miss Somerville and Miss Carmen Learn that met with enthusiastic appreciation.

McClary's League-Girls.
The Huskies and Sunshines played three close and exciting games. The Huskies came out on top, taking two out of three. The second game was a tie, but the Huskies pulled it out of the tie in the play-off. The high score of the night was made by Miss A. Merritt with 400, and 185 for high single.

Statistics Reveal Antics of Londoners During 1922

Estimate Nearly Two Thousand Forest City Flappers Started "Flapping" During the Past Year.

Unofficial statistics, from the gross production of pink pills to the number of stubbed toes have just been tabulated and released for the year 1922. Several records were broken, including the phonograph kind, and many new facts came into prominence. It is interesting to learn how Londoners behaved during the past year as indicated by such figures as could be obtained from those familiar with the situation.

Two thousand London girls attained the age of sixteen and simultaneously two thousand flappers commenced to awe their staid forebears with "carrying on."

Local Greek restaurant proprietors solicited reprisals on their traditional enemy by refusing to serve turkey to customers.

One thousand sweet, young things fell in love with Rudolph Valentino, and one, to be original, fell for Ben Turpin.

Two hundred long skirts came in every night at about 12:30.

The salaries of civil servants continued to be of such slim proportions as to make any servant unconvincing.

The sign "Be Brief" was only accepted literally by local stenographers, when it came to buying clothes.

After seeing a number of the younger generation performing on a dance floor, forty-three investigators became advocates of the Darwinian theory.

One jack-the-peeper was caught and sentenced, proving that people who live in glass houses should never go to bed.

An enormous drop in the cost of living was announced. The items reduced were battleships, tombstones, German marks, structural steel bridges and polo sticks. This will mean a great saving to the average householder.

Ty Cobb was laid off for two games with a corn. Corn on the Cobb, as she were.

A certain gentleman who could not stand the sight of a pug nose has gone to Jerusalem to live.

Come announced his autosuggestion doctrine. A local liquor lover started on a spree as soon as he heard of it. Questioned as to his expectations, he replied: "Every day in every way I am getting wetter and wetter."

Sir Adam Beck delivered a speech without once using the ninth letter of the alphabet. If you don't know the ninth letter, you don't know the hydro knight's favorite word.

"Experts" in 1918 predicted the world would end in 1922.

All stocks decreased except liquor stocks.

Cellars became favorite storage-houses for fuel, both external and internal.

American politics continued to be conducted to the tune of "Here comes the bride."

They started the system of selling wives in Serbia for $20 each. First come, first served.

Musical Service Will Close Week

Choir To Give Special Music at Prayer Meeting.

Under the leadership of Charles E. Wheeler, the choir of St. Andrew's Church will render special music for the union prayer service in the church tonight, which will conclude the week of prayer held throughout the city churches.

The choir in full voice will render the anthem by a Russian composer, "Bless the Lord, Oh My Soul," and the selection, "In Heavenly Love Abiding" will be rendered by the St. Andrew's quartet, Miss Ulah Kennedy, Luta Laymon-Durst, A. L. Christian and E. Webster.

As has been previously announced, Very Rev. Dean Tucker of St. Paul's Cathedral will be chief speaker, delivering a message for the new year.

Large numbers from all congregations have signified their intention of being present.

SAYS LONDON NEEDS PERMANENT ADVISER

Alderman Drake Opposes Plan of Linking Clerk's and Solicitor's Office.

London needs a first-class legal adviser at a permanent salary, with an office in the city hall.

So contends Ald. Gordon B. Drake, Ward Three, who considers that it is well-nigh time for a change from the present system. He does not propose, however, that the offices of city clerk and city solicitor should be amalgamated, however.

This would be highly inadvisable, he reasons.

"While I favor the appointment of a capable solicitor, who would have an office in the city hall and devote his entire time to the city's interest," he said, "I would not have one man as city clerk and solicitor both. That cheapens the entire affair, and would, I am sure, be decidedly unsatisfactory."

The city solicitor should be present at all sessions, not unlike the city engineer, the city treasurer, the building inspector, etc., when he could give his opinion, in most instances, right at the moment. Much time and money would be saved in this manner. It requires the lapse of days under the present system, as a general rule, to obtain a written opinion from the city solicitor.

"We need a good, sensible man for city clerk, and I contend that we have one now in the present incumbent of the position. If we did not have him we would be all 'balled up' more times than one. I noticed that a half-dozen times during the last two meetings. Right now we have done something that I feel is not right."

Ald. Drake believes that a capable lawyer could be secured for this purpose at a reasonable salary and money would not be saved, to say nothing about time.

BAR POLICE FROM VOTE.

Associated Press Despatch.

Dublin, Jan. 12.—The committee of the Dail Eireann, considering the new electoral bill yesterday, adopted the clause over which there has been most contention, namely, that debarbing policemen on full pay from exercising the parliamentary franchise.

The labor members opposed to the clause on the ground that it deprived the policemen of their common rights of citizenship.

Charges Sister Slapped Her Face
At Relative's Funeral In Sarnia

Special to The Advertiser.
Sarnia, Jan. 12.—A case of an unusual nature occupied the attention of Magistrate Henry Gorman this afternoon, when Mrs. Angela Giffels brought a charge of assault against her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Joyce, alleged to have been committed at the funeral of a third sister on Tuesday.

The complainant alleges that she attended Mrs. Giffels' home to take part in the funeral of their sister, and is vice-chairman. The members are F. C. T. O'Hara, deputy minister of trade and commerce; A. W. Tolmie, exhibition commissioner, department of immigration and colonization; J. E. Walsh, general manager of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and a representative of each of the was ordered from the house before the funeral service. She declined to go, and received a slap on the face from Mrs. Joyce. The latter admitted slapping her sister's face, and said she had done so because some time ago she received slanderous letters from Mrs. Giffels, and had forbidden her to come to the house again.

After part of the evidence was given the hearing was enlarged.

JARED VINING IS AGAIN
HEAD OF COMMISSIONImportant Matters Discussed At Inaugural Meeting of Utilities Body.METERS FAVORED
Council Will Likely Be Asked
To Authorize Debuture Issue.

At the inaugural session of the public utilities commission held yesterday afternoon, Jared Vining was re-elected chairman. T. W. McFarland was named chairman of the parks committee, and Philip Pocock, chairman of the playground committee. While Chairman Vining thanked his fellow commissioners for the signal honor of re-election and the confidence they had placed in him, he announced that there would be no inaugural address.

Commissioner R. J. Webster, who was recently elected to the commission, and T. W. McFarland were named as representatives to the Western Fair board.

"It's the only job in the gift of the commission to which there is any graft attached," said the chairman, with just a hint of a smile, and for a moment business was in a dead-lock till the laugh subsided.

Possibly the next gathering of the council will witness the request of the commission for the issuance of debentures to the extent of $75,000, to cover the cost of metering the homes in the city with meters. The matter has been under discussion for some time, and recently the Pitometer Company of New York were permitted to begin operations. They were forced to halt their work on account of cold weather, however, and will not resume until spring. Their work so far was taken up mainly with inspection and installations of meters where heavy taps were found.

Mayor Wenige was of the opinion that the matter of debentures should be carefully explained to the citizens, as in the present case there was likely to be criticism.

"The citizens have never been sold on their own city," claimed the mayor. "Every time an issue of debentures is asked, the people think of it as an enormous addition to the tax rate."

Chairman Vining pointed out that there was no matter proposed for some time that would yield such good returns as the proposed metering of all homes.

"The resulting saving in water now wasted will take care of both the interest and the sinking fund each year," he said. "And that is not taking into account the revenue that will be received."

Discuss Asylum Well.
The well at the asylum was also discussed, and it was stated that the capacity, 600,000 gallons per day, would satisfy the needs of the asylum and permit the greatest quantity of that amount to be turned into the city's supply. To this would be added the amount of the city's water now being allowed the asylum.

It was pointed out that, as in the case of the Broughdale well, the pressure to be used in the case of fire, especially in the east end of the city, would be greatly increased. When the water was obtained from Springfield only, the pressure near the city limits was found to be very low.

The general manager stated that while the life of a meter was supposed to be 15 years, it was found that generally it was much greater than that. One-third of the city is at present metered. The meters proposed will cost about $15 each. Later additions and replacements will be taken care of out of the revenue.

A request from the Y.W.C.A. for permission to erect and operate a refreshment booth adjoining the skating rink in Victoria Park for the remainder of the winter was not granted.

While the commissioners were agreed that the use, the obtaining of funds for the operation of a bathing beach at Port Bruce, was a worthy one, many requests of this kind were from time to time received, and the only way to avoid trouble was to refuse all such requests.

The suggestion was offered the Y. W. C. A., however, that they might use their veranda on Wellington street, which is only a "stone's throw" from the rink, and which would be more suitable. With this utilities commission at yesterday's inaugural meeting.

suggestion, the assurance was given that the public utilities would not offer any competition.

The general manager will go further into the request for the shingling of the house at the fair grounds occupied by the caretaker.

London's "triple entente," the city, which owns the property; the public utilities, which runs the property when the fair is not in progress, and the fair board, which runs the fair, have been passing the matter around from one to the other in a "you-take-it, I-don't-want-it" attitude. However, Mr. Buchanan was instructed to familiarize himself with all the details and report.

Accept Generous Offer.
A local landscape artist, who is willing to lay out Thames Park Playgrounds, including drives, entrance, slides and such matters, for the price of his railroad fare from Guelph to this city and return, will be notified that his public-spirited offer will be graciously received.

Chairman Vining took occasion to laud the teamster who recently suffered from exposure in the water at the coves when the team with which he was cleaning the ice fell through. The man stayed with the team. He will be sent a check for a nominal amount, along with a note of recognition.

"When a man does something that he is not justified in doing," said Chairman Vining, "we take occasion to reprimand him. But when a man does something, as in this case, that he is not paid for doing, something that showed he had feeling for the dumb brutes, and did that something at the risk of his own life for nearly two and a half hours, then I think we ought to recognize that man."

The commissioners were unanimous with the chairman.

A blanket insurance policy will be taken out for the protection of employees who are engaged in the trimming of trees, as well as pedestrians. Three thousand dollars a year was set aside for the protection of line-men, and this had accumulated into quite a substantial sum. The matter of protection for the men engaged in trimming the trees was brought to the fore through an accident recently sustained by a temporary employee.

The pulmotor which has been in use for some time past by the utilities will be scrapped and another will not be purchased. Mr. Buchanan pointed out that it was at present in a bad state of repair and not fit for the purpose intended. In the case of accidents, if called for, and not sent, he thought, the utilities would come in for unjust criticism. Following the lead of numerous bodies lately, the utilities will return to the older, yet surer manual method of resuscitation.

A banquet get-together meeting will be held soon, but the date was left over for later decision. At this banquet, as is customary, the heads of departments, along with his worship the mayor and the members of the public utilities commission, will be present. Reports from the department heads will be presented and suggestions for improvements accepted. The idea is primarily one of co-operation, and in the past has been productive of fine results.

CONSIDER QUESTION MUST GIRL LIKE SELF?

Y. W. C. A. Federation of Clubs Decides Self-Respect Supremely Important.

ADDS SERVICE CODE

Finishing Foundation Started Last Year With Home, Marriage, Business and Social Standards.

"Should a girl like herself?" A ripple of laughter from a room full of girls greeted the question put last evening by Mrs. Mattie Rose Crawford, industrial extension secretary of the Y. W. C. A. If a bit startling, it was the logical outcome of the first of a series of discussions on "Service" by the Federation of Girls' Clubs at their fortnightly meetings at "Lennore," the King street residence, in connection with building up the service section of the club code.

"Yes," came the quick response of a merry-looking girl, answering to the name of "May."

Her subsequent comments proved she was just as quick to think as to laugh.

"If you don't like yourself nobody else will," she said emphatically. "I mean it," she continued. "If you don't like yourself you won't respect yourself, and if you don't respect yourself you can't expect anybody else to respect you. If you don't like yourself you won't think it worth while to keep yourself clean in person, mind, thought, word and deed. You won't think it worth while to dress as decently as you can and make the best of your appearance. You won't care what you do. You won't go to church. You won't take the trouble to make friends. And, as likely as not, you will go out in the snow with just slippers on."

When the mirth provoked had subsided the gentle voice of the presiding officer, Miss Elsie Chambers, made herself heard. "And if you don't like yourself you won't try to improve yourself. You won't say, 'There is something that girl does that I like, I'm going to try to do it, too.'"

Gives You Pep.

"Take the elastic out of elastic, and it isn't any good to hold up your skirt. Take the pep out of yourself, and what use are you?" came epigrammatic comments.

"Talking about work," said the practical Mrs. Crawford, "how are habits formed?"

"By what we do every day," came a regular chorus.

"Why, is it important that we work? Why do we work?" questioned the extension secretary.

The girls decided that if they didn't work they would lose the power to do so, therefore work was a necessity apart from its wage-earning aspect.

And work, they came to the conclusion, was essential as an expression of life. So work will go into the service code in the section reading, "Duty of a girl to herself."

"If work is an expression of life, what kind of work should you do?" was another question raised.

The consensus of opinion was that the self-respecting girl could only do the best work of which she was capable, for herself or others, in somebody else's kitchen, in factory, in office, studio, school room, or in her own home.

Keep Men in Their Place.

Self-respect was summed up as the best kind of service for a girl to render herself, her best safeguard.

Finally, if a girl liked herself well enough, the meeting decided, she might accomplish very worth-while things in the world, no matter what the circumstances in which she was placed.

"Hit your wagon to a star," said Mrs. Crawford, then paused a moment, in the pause a flash of inspiration illuminated her face.

"You know, girls," she said, "it takes three and a half years for light to come to us from the nearest star. And think of driving towards the nearest star in a wagon in these days of automobiles. But we'll never get anywhere on our way to a star unless we start out for it. The important thing is to be reaching up towards it, and the possibilities are that some will some day reach their stars."

From a corner of the room came a murmur, "A man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a heaven for?"

The introductory address of the evening was given by Mrs. Aquilla Lucas, mother of the federation president.

Last season the federation built up standards for home, business, marriage and social relations. With the service code completed before the spring, the entire solid foundation will be laid for the superstructure of Canadian Federations of Y. W. C. A. Girls' Clubs.

HOLDING VALENTINE PARTY.

Robinson Memorial Methodist Church Ladies' Aid is planning a birthday party for Feb. 14, when Rev. Mr. Salton, founder of the society, will be one of the honored guests, and also Mrs. Boyd, whose husband was pastor of the First Methodist Church when the mission was established, out of which grew the Robinson Memorial Church. Mrs. W. L. Hiles will entertain the members at the parsonage the first week of February at a sewing tea, to make bags for the birthday pennies, and to get out invitations. A huge birthday cake is to be a feature of the St. Valentine's function.

HER TITLE IS "BIG CHIEF."

And that is the highest office in the gift of the Y. W. C. A. Campers' Association. Her real name is Miss Eva Graves of 149 Marmelon street, but her friends all call her affectionately, "Billy." She's a merry, whole-souled and at the same time, serious-minded, typical young Canadian girl, such a favorite with her fellow campers at Port Bruce that they wanted her for leader. Of course, she is tremendously enthusiastic over the campaign which has just been launched to raise funds for a permanent camp at Port Bruce, and looking forward with joyful anticipation to the big campers' rally, Friday, Feb. 9, just before the week of the big whirlwind campaign, when teams recently appointed will endeavor to raise their quota. BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES
WELCOME ROBIN'S QUANDARY.
By Thornton W. Burgess.
It only we could always know
The wisest thing a bird can do
How fine and simple life would be;
How unexciting, too.
—Welcome Robin.

Quandary sounds like a big word, but the meaning of it is really very simple. When there are two or more things a person can do and he cannot make up his mind which one to do he is said to be in a quandary. He could spend the night in the shed at the back of Farmer Brown's house, but he was afraid to on account of Thack Puss the Cat. He could fly down to the cedar swamp and hide among the thick branches of one of the cedar trees, but he was afraid to for fear that Terror the Goshawk might catch him on the way there.

Terror had not remained long on the post of Farmer Brown's hen yard. He was too wise a bird to waste much time where he knew that his presence was known. So after waiting a short time to see if any of the little people in the Old Orchard would be careless enough to move and so give away their hiding places and finding that they were too smart to do that, he spread his broad wings and flew away.

No sooner was he out of sight than all those who had been hiding appeared again. Such a chattering as there was as they talked over their recent fright. Everyone had something good to say to Sammy Jay for the warning he had given them. And they were all very glad to say about Terror the Goshawk. So for a few moments they excitedly talked it all over. But in a short time everything was as peaceful as if Terror had never appeared. Had you happened along then you wouldn't have guessed that all those little people had only a short time before been in such dreadful fear. They never waste time in thinking about dangers which have passed.

"What is past is past, so what is the good of thinking about it?" says Sammy Jay.

So in no time at all all those little people were as happy and care-free as ever. That is, as were but Welcome Robin. That had been Welcome Robin's first experience with Terror the Goshawk, and he couldn't get over it. Before Terror had appeared Welcome had about made up his mind that he would spend the night down in the cedar swamp. But now that he had seen Terror he didn't dare fly down to the swamp. He knew that should Terror see him on the way he would have no chance, for Terror is very swift of wing. "I don't dare go down to the swamp, and I don't dare stay in that shed. Oh dear, what shall I do? What shall I do?" he kept saying over and over to himself.

He remained right where he was until the Black Shadow came creeping into the Old Orchard. By this time it was too late to go down to the cedar swamp. Then he thought of the cedar tree back of Farmer Brown's house, the one in which Sammy Jay had escaped from Terror the Goshawk. "Why didn't I think of that before?" he exclaimed. Welcome started to fly over there.

GIVE CHARMING PROGRAM AT AFTERNOON RECITAL
A charming program was presented at the fortnightly recital of the Woman's Music Club held in the Normal School auditorium, Thursday afternoon. The opening number was "Adante," by Guido Pappi, a violin duet by Misses Marian Sharpe and Leona Murphy. A clever interpretation of this number was given by these young artists, who exhibited great musical ability. Miss Leona Murphy also gave a solo number later in the program, Mendelssohn's "Adante," Concerto Op. 64, which she played with delicacy and grace. Miss Hilda McMillen, soprano, always a PLAN TO REPATRIATE CANADIANS FROM U. S.

Prospect of Immigration Stated To Be Exceptionally Bright.

Associated Press Despatch. Ottawa, Jan. 12.—Consideration of the problems of the proposed campaign to repatriate Canadians now living in the United States occupied a considerable portion of the final meeting of the immigration conference between provincial and federal authorities yesterday. Representatives of Quebec and of the western provinces were particularly interested in this phase, and it is probable that the final decisions of the conference will embody a scheme to cover this work.

The prospect of considerable immigration from the United States was stated to be exceptionally bright. Decisions of the conference, with an outline of the plans agreed on, will likely be announced by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, tomorrow. After the meeting it was understood that the provincial representatives were agreed on a policy of co-operation, but that all the details were not yet worked out.

Further consideration was also given to the questions submitted by Mr. Stewart, namely, the number of immigrants actually wanted, the classes desired, and the countries from which they should be taken.

Hon. Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture for Ontario, pointed out that the position of his province was somewhat different from that of other provinces, inasmuch as his province already had its American agency and agent-general in London, and had entered into an agreement with the overseas settlement board of England.

favorite with London audiences, gave as her opening number a group of songs, including: "Dedication," by Robert Schumann; "No One Saw At All," by Carl Lowe, and Adolph Jensen's "Murmuring Zephyrs," a dainty morsel. Miss McMillen's voice, which is wonderfully round and sweet, was shown to its best advantage in her final number, "Chere Nuit," by A. Bechelet.

Mrs. Arthur Chapman also gave two delightful numbers, which were greatly enjoyed.

A pleasing finale for the artistic recital was Mendelssohn's Concerto Op. 25, by Miss Mabel Stevens, with Mr. A. D. Jordan at the second piano. Miss Stevens plays with a touch that is most appealing in its quality, and she gave a most brilliant interpretation of this number.

Mrs. Fred Smith and Mr. A. D. Jordan acted as accompanists and Mrs. Edwin Paul and Miss Mabel Stevens were conveners of the recital.

Public Now Prefers Vegetable Laxative
Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin affords prompt relief in a natural way. The public is constantly becoming more discriminating in its choice of drugs. Those subject to constipation try to learn what makes them constipated, and then avoid it. If constipation persists in spite of their efforts they take the mildest, most easily tolerated laxative obtainable, and not a drastic physic that upsets them for days afterwards. As over 10 million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin are sold a year, a large proportion of the people must believe that this mild vegetable compound is the proper remedy for them, and so it is. No need to take salt waters and powders that dry up the blood; coal-tar drugs in candy form that produce skin eruptions, or calomel that salivates. These drugs are "heroic measures," over-effective, weakening and griping. The best constipation remedy is the one that moves the bowels without shock to your system, and such a one is Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. It is a vegetable compound of Egyptianenna and pepsin with pleasant-tasting aromatics, and has been satisfactorily sold for 30 years. Unlike the harsher physics it does not produce habit, and increased doses are not required; in fact, it so trains the stomach muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

Many take a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin once a week as a health safeguard. Others use it only when required, as for example, Mrs. Jack Turtle of Cherry Valley, Ont., who finds it equally valuable for herself and the children, and Mr. H. S. McLennan of Montreal, Que., who uses it regularly. Try Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin in constipation, biliousness, piles, headaches, sallow complexion, and to break up fevers and colds. A generous-size bottle can be had at any drug store, and it costs less than a cent a dose!

MOORNFUL EVENT ENDS INTERESTING CONTEST

Pool Challenger Mutters Parody on Cue When Whiskey Bottle Breaks.

The Victoria disaster of 1881 was the greatest tragedy that ever happened in this city. But an accident closely approaching the former for pathos and catastrophic consequences was enacted in a local poolroom Wednesday night.

A fair youth of some 18 winters invaded the aforesaid ivory establishment, and challenged an acquaintance to a game. The contest progressed favorably for the challenger. In a jiffy he had a long lead over his opponent. At one period of the game it became necessary for him to lean over the table to make a difficult shot. He did so, and there was heard immediately the sound of breaking glass. The shark rose sharply from the table, placed a hand in his hip pocket and withdrew it, bleeding profusely. In the meantime, drops of pungent whiskey fell upon the floor. With the assistance of sympathetic friends the broken bottle was extracted from his pocket. Chagrined written on his noble nose, the pool shark hid him into the street. A friend who passed him declared that he had the unfortunate creature muttering to himself: "Every day, in every way, I'm getting wetter and wetter."

RESERVES JUDGMENT IN SMITH-RANEY CASE

Mr. Justice Orde Decides To Carefully Consider Mass of Evidence.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Jan. 12.—Mr. Justice Orde yesterday reserved judgment in the action brought by John T. Smith, Toronto, against the attorney-general of Ontario, in which he sought a declaration that Ontario is not a prohibition province, because native wines are sold. Considerable argument was heard from both sides. The justice said that if he did declare that the province was not a prohibition state that the governor-general's proclamation that it was would not be over-ruled, but would remain.

Eleven hundred motor truck licenses, the allocation for this district, were received by License Issuer C. E. Bernard yesterday morning. The markers arrived according to schedule, and are now ready for distribution among the truck owners of this district.

Necessary alterations to the London Motor Club rooms to enable Mr. Bernard and his staff to look after the issuance of markers in an efficient manner will be completed in a day or so.

Although warned from time to time to properly fill out the application form, motorists still persist in coming for a license not knowing the serial number of their motor and neglecting to write down other necessary information. It is necessary that every question of the application form be answered before the marker is given to the motorist, Mr. Bernard asserted.

A jaunty school dress with bloomers.

Do mothers of small girls love frocks for them with a hand-made touch? Most assuredly they do, and while most mothers can't always afford to buy such frocks ready-made, the only alternative is to make them at home.

The charming little design with matching bloomers is shown which was originally made in line of that new rust shade embroidered in brown, green and red.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

By Rafael Sabatini

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

PETER BLOOD is wrongly convicted of treason against the English king. He and Jeremy Pitt among others, become the slaves of COLONEL BISHOP, a Barbados planter, and uncle of ARABELLA, between whom and Peter Blood an interesting friendship springs up. A Spanish ship conquers the island but is captured through the strategy of BLOOD, who heads a party of slaves. DON DIEGO, commander of the vessel, who is given freedom of the ship, attempts to betray Captain Blood and his fellows but fails. Blood sails to Tortuga, headquarters of buccaniers, where he joins with Levasseur, another adventurer.

The governor of Tortuga tries to break up an attachment between his daughter, MADEMOISELLE D'OGERON, and LEVASSEUR. He sends his daughter on a sea voyage, guarded by his brother. Levasseur follows and kidnaps Madeleine and her brother.

SECRET SERVICE IN RUSSIA

BY SIR PAUL DUKES.

Writes To Avoid Trouble, Develops Heart Disease

Finds Two Exemption Certificates in Place of One and Begins to See Plan for Outwitting the Too Dangerous Zorinsky.

CHAPTER 8.
He turned the paper over. Fortunately the regulation had not yet been published rendering all documents of identification invalid unless stamped by one's house committee, showing the full address. So there was nothing on the back.

"You are a pupil of Melnikoff, that is clear," he said, laying the paper down on the desk. "By the way, I have something to tell you about Melnikoff. But finish your writing first."

I soon inscribed my occupation of clerk in an office of the Extraordinary Commission, adding also "six" to the age to confirm with my other papers. As I traced the letters I tried to sum up the situation. Melnikoff, I hoped, would soon be free, but misgivings began to arise regarding my own position, which I had a disquieting suspicion had in some way become jeopardized as a result of the disclosures I had had to make that evening to Zorinsky.

When I had finished I folded the exemption certificate and put it with my passport in my pocket. "Well, what is the news of Melnikoff?" I said.

Zorinsky was engrossed in Pravda, the official press organ of the Communist party. "I beg your pardon? Oh, yes—Melnikoff. I have no doubt he will be released, but the investigator wants the whole 60,000 roubles first."

"That is strange," I observed, surprised. "You told me he would only want the second half after Melnikoff's release."

"True. But I suppose now his fears he won't have time to get it, since he also will have to quit."

"What Guarantee?"

"And meanwhile what guarantee have I—have we—that the investigator will fulfill his pledge?"

Zorinsky looked indifferently over the top of his newspaper.

"Guarantee? None," he replied, in his usual laconic manner.

"Then why the devil should I throw away another 30,000 roubles on the off-chance?"

"You needn't if you don't want to," he put in, in the same tone.

"Are you not interested in the subject?" I said, secretly indignant at his manner.

"Of course I am. But what is the use of getting on one's hind legs about it?" The investigator was his money in advance. Without it he will certainly risk nothing. With it, he may, and there's an end of it. If I were you I would pay up.

"What Melnikoff let out. What is the good of losing your first 30,000 for nothing? You won't get that back, anyway."

I thought for a moment. It seemed to me highly improbable that a rational investigator, having got his money, would deliberately elect to put his neck in a noose to save some one he didn't care two pins about. Was there no other means of effecting the escape? I thought of the Policeman. But with inquiries being made along one line, inquiries along a second would doubtless be detected by the first, with all sorts of undesirable complications and discoveries. An idea occurred to me.

"Can we not make the life of the investigator if he plays false?" I suggested.

Zorinsky considered. "You mean like some one I shot last night. That would cost a lot of money and we should be in the hands of our hired assassin as much as we are now in those of our investigator, who if he were shot we should lose the last chance of saving Melnikoff. Besides, the day after we threaten the investigator's life he will decamp with the first thirty thousand in his pocket. Pay up, Pavel Ivanich, pay up and take the chance—that's my advice."

Zorinsky picked up his paper and went on reading.

What should I do? Faint though the chance seemed, I resolved to take it. It was the only one. I told Zorinsky I would bring him the money on the morrow.

"All right," he said, adding thoughtfully, as he laid aside the newspaper, "by the way, I think you were perhaps right about threatening the investigator's life. Yes. It is not a bad idea. He need not know we know we are really powerless. We will tell him he is being tracked and cannot escape us. I will see what can be done about it. You are right, after all, Pavel Ivanich."

Satisfied at having made this suggestion, I set about to copy the map of the minefields and then retired for the night.

Not to sleep, however. For hours I paced up and down the soft carpet, recalling every word of the evening's conversation, and trying to invent a means of making myself again independent of Zorinsky.

Would Melnikoff be released? The prospects seemed suddenly to have diminished. Meanwhile, Zorinsky

CLAIMS IMMIGRANTS SOLUTION TO PROBLEM

A. McMaster, K.C., M.P., Outlines Solution At Real Estate Board Banquet.

OWES U. S. BIG DEBT

London Organization Makes Great Progress Since Formation Two Years Ago.

A potent indication of the great strides made by the London Real Estate Board since its inception two years ago, was the immense success of the annual banquet held at the Tenthman House last night. Members of parliament and many other prominent citizens gave timely speeches on questions relating to both real estate and public welfare.

The visiting speakers were Alex McMaster, K.C., M.P., of the Ontario Real Estate Board; Andrew McMaster, K.C., M.P., of Montreal, and J. O. Lundy of Windsor.

Mr. McMaster dwelt on the effect upon Canada of the present economic conditions in Europe, and recommended the encouragement of immigration into Canada from Europe as the best method of rehabilitating the former.

His speech was well received. "Conditions in Europe," he said, "are of such a nature as to us in the cradle of the people who built up North and South America into what they are now, have today 20 European countries with a total population of 11,500,000,000, and the scales are turned."

The trade of Europe is of great importance to us; in 1920, 52 per cent of the products of Europe were sent to America, but now this has fallen to 30 per cent.

At the Genoa Conference in April of last year it was agreed that the question of reparations would not be considered until this was the cause of the failure of this conference; reparations is the supreme consideration in the restoration of normal conditions in Europe.

"It is estimated that there are 200,000,000 men in Europe today who are non-producers because of the fact that many vital affairs such as transportation and manufacturing are demoralized."

"One indication of the prosperity of a country is the manner in which its currency compares with that of other nations."

"In 1917 the English pound, German mark, French franc and Italian lira were all below par, but not more than 25 per cent; today the pound has risen to a value of $4.67, but the others mentioned are still at a very low level."

"In 1913 the percentage of gold reserve held by the Bank of England was 44, now it is 29; that of the Bank of France was 62, it is now 14. The Bank of Germany had 40 per cent gold and now has but one-half of one per cent. The Italian gold reserve was then 53 per cent; it has now dropped to 6 per cent."

Currency inflated.

"During the war the currency of all these nations was greatly inflated. Such inflation, however, is contrary to the laws of economics, and as men can no more oppose these laws than they can those of nature, these nations naturally suffered."

"France, with her population of 39,500,000, has a per capita income of $185. The per capita debt in 1913 was $163.45, while it has now risen to $1,424. To clear the principal and interest of her national debt she is faced with the problem of raising $4,581,991,000, and this is the reason she is demanding immediate reparations from Germany, and has invaded the Rhine territory."

Set Example to World.

"After contemplating the sad state of Central Europe, it is pleasing to consider the status of Great Britain. She has set an example to the world by reducing both her capital debt and taxation considerably, and she has a balance of ordinary receipts over ordinary expenditures."

"We Canadians depend upon Europe insofar as when the buying power of countries on the continent weakens our export trade slumps."

"There are four ways in which Germany might pay France—in gold, by making promises to pay, backed by other countries; by rendering service in transportation or through the export of commodities. However, because of prohibitive tariffs and their destitute situation, the Germans can do none of these. The poorer classes in Germany today are merely living from one day to the next, while the wealthy and middle classes have also suffered in an untold manner."

The average increase in price since 1917, of everything that the Canadian farmer buys, is 70%, and much of the discontent among the producers is the fact that they are getting about one-half the price they received then for their goods, while they are paying out 50% more for what they purchase."

There is one all-powerful remedy to rehabilitate Europe and thus restore normalcy to the whole world, and that is by encouraging immigration from Europe to America. The first step we must take is to abrogate many of our present immigration laws, such as requiring an immigrant to have $250 on entering Canada, or to have made a continuous journey from his homeland."

We must see that the door of opportunity is thrown open to a good class of immigrants—men who will work hard and become valuable citizens—and it will be our duty in the interest of Canada, to see that they do so.

James Gray, president of the local chamber of commerce, in proposing a toast to "The King," said the endeavor of the organization was to make London a bigger and better city, and that they were behind the new mayor and city council in everything they did for the city. "I know," he said, "that I am in the right atmosphere to ask your co-operation when I am among real estate men. Their hearty co-operation is necessary in boosting London and I think that all merchants, manufacturers and realtors should work together in the public interest."

Important in Community.

J. C. Elliott, crown attorney, said he thought real estate men to be the most important in the community. "They can do more," he stated, "to make or mar a city's welfare than any other organization. No other dealers in America are offering better values than you real estate men of London. Our city has a great future, but it depends largely on the manner in which we do business."

Frank White, M.P., declared the local realtors were known for their fair dealings. "A continuance of this," he said, "will prove a great boon to the city. Many manufacturers and dealers have hurt trade in the past by setting their sale prices, not on the actual value of the article, but rather on how much they thought the customer would pay. Square dealing is the best, after all."

Alex. Simmers of Windsor, one of the organizers of the local real estate board, then addressed the gathering.

"Real estate," he said, "is an absolute necessity to everyone, as it is the foundation and basis of all business and connected intimately with every human being from the cradle to the grave. If a man buys land, he always has it right on hand and increasing in value, but many other investments are not so reliable."

"The realtor has a double responsibility—to see that the man who is buying his first little home is treated fairly and given a chance to get along and not made to make payments in excess of 25 per cent of his income on the home he purchases."

"Booms are not wanted by realtors. They prove a detriment, because they bring undesirable speculators into our midst, and when the boom falls flat our community suffers economically."

The real estate business demands more foresight and knowledge of civic affairs than any other known profession. A city never gets any respectably entertained into a big way and your community will benefit."

Help Immigration.

"We must help immigration, and it would pay the country to an amount as large as $100,000,000 for its encouragement."

"Millions in Europe are ready to come to America if we can assist them."

Mr. Simmers then told of the proposed realtors' license bill, which is being advocated, and which will be taken up with the provincial government today in Toronto.

If this becomes law all realtors will be forced to have a license just as doctors and lawyers have. This will insure their being of a responsible character and having a strict code of business ethics."

Pleasing solos were rendered by the Misses Pirby and Self, accompanied by Miss G. Palmer, and a novelty entertainment number was rendered by Roy Olson, who gave numerous whistling and bird singing numbers.

F. W. Renwick, president of the board, in conclusion, thanked all who had co-operated with the realtors. He especially thanked his fellow real estate dealers for the way they have worked together.

"The real estate board," he said,

"is working for the betterment of this city and with the co-operation of the citizens at large a mutual benefit will follow."

The London Real Estate Board is composed of 18 active members—heads of the different firms—and the same number of active associate members, salesmen, etc. There are also between 20 and 30 associate members, such as bank managers and insurance men, who are interested in the real estate movement from various standpoints.

CANADIAN PACIFIC. VICTORIA. CANADA'S WINTER RESORT.

Are you seriously considering spending a month or more in a more congenial climate? If so, there is a spot right here in Canada that will fill your every need in the way of climate and relaxation.

A city that has been likened to a bit of England, on account of the wonderfully mild climate and very temperate rainfall. Situated on the lower part of Vancouver Island, this city ranks second to none in Canada as a winter resort, offering everything that could be desired in splendid motor drives, bathing and summer sports.

The Vancouver Express, leaving the Toronto Union Station at 10:00 p.m. daily, offers a most comfortable service to passengers en route for the Garden City of Canada. In Victoria the visitor is amazed at the vast contrast presented by the scenery in the Rockies and the semi-tropical climate of this city, that is noted for its buildings and resorts.

Excursions to points not on the traveled path, especially into the Alberni Lakes country, have drawn sincere appreciation from more than one traveler. The sportsman, too, is overwhelmed at the fine fishing and hunting. Salmon trout rise to the fly; pheasant and grouse break from cover and even the call of the moose is heard, all of which are more appreciated on account of the surprise furnished to those who visit Victoria and the surrounding country for the first time. Motor trips of more than 50 miles can be made, including the famous Georgian Circuit Tour, the greatest and most complete scenic tour on the continent.—Advt.

CORN SHOW AT ESSEX PROVES SUCCESSFUL

Volume of Exhibits Said to Have Equalled That of Chicago Show.

Saturday will bring an end to Essex County's first corn show, which for enthusiasm and number of entries compares favorably with any similar exhibition throughout the continent.

The volume of exhibits is said to have equalled that of the Chicago International Show. More than 300 individual displays were recorded, with a total of 1,500 entries. Programs each day has been crowned with splendid success, the only drawback being the illness of Justice Miller, secretary of the Corn Improvement Association, which prevented his attendance.

The board of trade turned out in full force for Tuesday's program. Wednesday was children's day; Thursday was Essex County farmers' day, while today all denizens of the county will be entertained in splendid fashion.

Friday morning there will be an auction sale of corn at 10 o'clock in the Essex counting factory, which has been fitted up and decorated especially for the corn show. In the afternoon, H. G. Crawford of Ottawa will speak on the corn-borer; H. F. Hudson of Ottawa on the cinch bug; and Dr. Barnes, V.S., on diseases of swine and cattle. At 7:30 o'clock a meeting will be held for the election of officers, to be followed at 8:30 o'clock by a county ball and progressive euchre party.

Not only entries for the different prizes offered in the general and township classes, but the exhibit also includes entries made by other townships in the township competition.

The judging of the commercial and open classes was done by Prof. Albertz, while W. J. W. Lennox and I. D. Hankinson judged the township classes.

The Canadian Postum Cereal Company had a space with their products, and G. W. Doyle had an exhibit of corn planters and scufflers. The Dominion live stock branch of the department of agriculture had a wool exhibit. A. Aaron Hill had a space showing brick from his yard in Essex. J. W. Noble had a booth where the ladies of the U. F. O. and Institute provided a self-serve lunch. J. MacDougall & Sons had a space, and the Essex High School exhibit occupied a prominent place. The Rex Motor Company had a space showing five speed wagons. Grinnell Bros. of Windsor had a space showing pianos.

EARTHQUAKES IN CHILE. Associated Press Despatch. Santiago, Chile, Jan. 12.—A strong earth shock was felt last evening from Rancagua to Copiapo. No damage resulted.

FOUND WONDERFUL RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

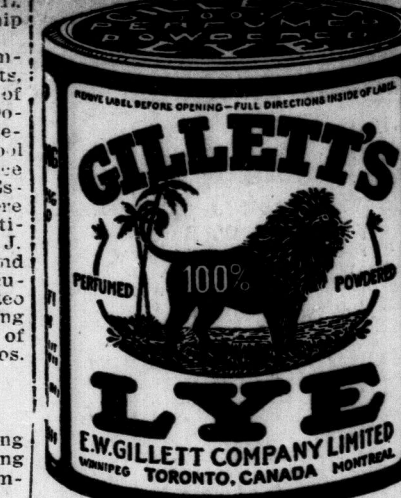

BY USING Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills

Constipation is one of the most prevalent troubles the human race is subject to, and is the greatest cause of many of our ailments, for if the bowels cease to perform their proper functions all the other organs will become deranged.

Keep your bowels working gently and naturally by the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and thus do away with the constipation and all other troubles caused by it.

Mrs. A. R. Spence, Springfield, N. S., writes: "I have suffered for some time from constipation, and was advised by a friend to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. After taking a vial of them I have found wonderful relief, and would advise all those who are constipated to give them a trial. For I feel sure they will also receive the same benefit I did."

Price 25c a vial at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Advt.

Western University Briefs

Dean Sherwood Fox of the faculty of arts declared a half-holiday yesterday afternoon in honor of the late Mrs. Waller, whose funeral took place at that time.

Mrs. E. K. Albright of the department of English at Western University will address members of the Hesperian Club this afternoon. The subject Mrs. Albright has chosen for her address is "Blake." A great deal of interest is being shown and a large turnout of club members is expected.

The Hesperian Club is the newly adopted name of what was formerly known as the English Club.

Meetings of the Literary Society, Students' Council, French Cercle, German Club, Glee Club, History and Political Science Club have been postponed until after the mid-term examinations commencing Jan. 20, as announced by the officers of these various organizations.

Overland
at these new 1923 PRICES
Steps into a price class which it completely dominates

Here is a price announcement that represents the biggest news in Motordom for 1923—a reduction which places Overland within reach of the thousands who have long envied Overland owners, but did not themselves aspire to owning a car so fine.

At the old price there was widespread acceptance of Overland as a real buy. Its powerful motor and exclusive Triplex Spring Suspension are recognized as features that place it well in advance of all other light cars.

Its finish, appearance, and riding qualities are rivalled only by bigger and more costly cars.

To offer a car so sturdy and so good to look upon at the prices now quoted, is to produce value which can only be described as "brimming measure."

"There Were Many Things Which I Could Not Eat"

Mrs. H. Robert Wells, English Harbour, Trinity Bay, Nfld., writes:

"I was troubled with nervous dyspepsia—so much so that there were a great many things I could not eat at all on account of the distressed feeling afterwards. I used many different remedies, but they did me little good. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills, and was surprised at the relief this combined treatment gave me in such a short time."
