"I Can't See"

Said a blind man in our store yesterday, how you sell Men's Fine Goodyear Welted shoes for $3.00.

"I Hear"

Said a deaf man who came in with him, that your $3.00 Men's Shoes are even better than you advertise them to be.

"I Walked In"

Said a man on crutches, to see a pair of those $3.00 Men's Shoes like my neighbor got here this morning.

I'd like to get my hands on a pair of these $3.00 Welted Shoes you advertise said a man who lost both arms. "I've got to be economical now, said an ice man, so I thought I'd run in and see those $3.00 shoes."

All sorts of men are buying these $3.00 Shoes for every man who looks at them from a blind man to an ice man, say they are the best shoe for the money they ever saw. Sold at

HORSE SHOE

Bandmaster Philp Brought it From To onto and Says It is off the Horse the Duke Rode.

Bandmaster Harry C. Philp returned home on Saturday night, after having assisted in welcoming and entertaining the Duke in Toronto. Harry was laden with a heavy parcel, and several of his friends called on him yesterday afternoon to greet him and, on invitation, to learn its contents.

"It's a most interesting memento," he explained very plausibly, "one to which I shall give a prominent place in my collection of curios. It's a horse shoe from off the horse that the Duke rode in Toronto."

"You don't say," quoth Henry Richards, deeply interested.

"How did you get it?" questioned Morton Sheldon somewhat incredulously.

"Well, you see," explained Mr. Philp with exceptional earnestness, "it was this way. The horse cast the shoe and of course there was a big scramble for it. Our bass drummer came out ahead and carried off the trophy. His exultation was but momentary, however, for I relieved him of it clandestinely a few moments later."

The young men heartily congratulated the bandmaster on his trophy as they parted with him.

Finally Will McNaughton, who had been engaged in deep thought, queried meditatively—

"I wonder if that shoe is really off the horse that the Duke rode?"

"Of course it is," declared Billy Brackin impulsively.

"Really off the Duke's horse?" questioned Mac still dubiously.

"No doubt about it," exclaimed Brackin. "It never was on."

Then somebody laughed. Meanwhile Mac is thinking it over.

Theatrical

Never since Chatham had a theatre have local theatre-goers been offered an attraction of the importance of The Bostonians, who will sing their master-piece "Robin Hood," at the Grand next Thursday evening.

Such attractions as "The Cadet Girl," and "The Rounders," which were here last season, are not to be compared for an instant with the Bostonians, who have for ten years been recognized as the leaders in the line of light opera.

It is only once in a decade that such an attraction can be offered the people of Chatham, and the enterprise of the management should be rewarded by the largest attendance the Grand has ever known.

The contract for The Bostonians calls for a clear stage, and no orchestra; the company carries their own orchestra of ten pieces.

There is no No. 2 or anything of the sort, but the original Bostonians, with all the old favorites, who have made the organization and "Robin Hood" famous.

Music lovers have mingled amicably together in securing seats for the Bostonians, who will appear here on Thursday, October 17th, 1901. Chief among the new comers with this company this season, and who have created a sensation with the music-loving public are the handsome tenors Albert Parr and Vernon Stiles; the distinguished basso, Albert Kinckley; and the vivacious young contralto Adele Raifer, whose liquid voice and personal charms have made her one of the most talked about figures on the comic opera stage.

George Frothingham, the well known comedian of the Bostonians, is one of the few singers who has been content to accept position among a brilliant group of entertainers and remain a star in a stock company rather than tempt fortune in touring alone. Mr. Frothingham is pleasantly remembered through his long connection with this company, and in grotesque he has no superior. As Friar Tuck, in Robin Hood, and the lover-sailor in The Serenade, he constantly provokes laughter by his whimsical methods. Mr. Frothingham will be heard here in the coming presentation of "Robin Hood."

THE BEST MADE BETTER.

The New Edition of Webster's International Dictionary, just published, Webster again abreast of the growth of the language and again confirms it in its position as the One Great Standard Authority. A decade has passed since the International was first published and the years have been full of changes and growth in life and knowledge and achievement; changes that have been reflected in the language and that must now be registered in the dictionary.

A Supplement of Additional Words has therefore been added to the International to include the thousands of new words that have come into literary use, the old words that have changed their meanings, the obsolete words that have been revived.

The Compiler's needs for a reliable and usable guide to the proper use of English words have been deliberately preferred to the ability to boast of a huge, unpractical vocabulary.

The Best Scholarship and expert knowledge in the country have been employed on the Supplement to make it equal in every respect to the main vocabulary.

—That tired feeling is a burden you need not carry. Hood's Sarsaparilla will rid you of it and renew your courage.

BUSY BROOKS

Wife He Married in Chatham Suits for a Divorce—Second Marriage Alleged.

Detroit, Oct. 14.—William H. Brooks has troubles on his hands in the shape of a divorce suit and an action to annul an alleged marriage. Frances Brooks is complainant in the divorce suit, and she avers in her bill of complaint that she was married to the defendant October 11, 1876, at Chatham, Ont., and that she is the mother of two children by him. She charges desertion some time in 1887 and non-support.

The complainant in the other suit is Louisa East Crider. She avers that she was married to Brooks on September 5, 1881, supposing him to be single. At that time, she says, she was 16 years old. She states that she lived with Brooks as his wife until January 15th, 1898, when she was informed that he had a wife living in this city. Both complainants have filed petitions for alimony and solicitor's fees, and the motions will come on for hearing to-morrow in Chancery Court, room No. 5. The petitioners state that Brooks is a porter in the employ of the Michigan Central.

HEART DISEASE

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Trouble.

Heart troubles, at least among the Americans, are certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic disease is incurable, but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric.

In another way, also, the heart is affected by the form of poor digestion which causes gas and fermentation from half digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the undigested stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action, hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use of meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at most drug stores, and which contain valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant confectionary form.

It is safe to say that the regular, persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Full sized package of these tablets sold by druggists at 50c. Little book on stomach troubles, mailed free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

BISHOP BALDWIN

Impressive Service Conducted by His Lordship in Christ Church Yesterday.

The fortieth anniversary of the opening of Christ Church was celebrated yesterday. Bishop Baldwin, assisted by Rural Dean McCosh, Rev. Mr. Sims, and Rev. Colles, occupied the pulpit.

The Bishop took his text from the tenth chapter of the Epistle of Paul to the Hebrews—"By the which will we are sanctified through the offering of the body of Jesus Christ once for all."

"The will of God is perfect," began the reverend gentleman, "the earth travels millions and millions of miles in its orbit but does not deviate a particle of a second in a year. The only absolute power is the will of God and nothing can alter it."

"I am told this is the fortieth anniversary of the opening of this church and I can remember preaching in the old church with Archdeacon Sandys. Every man or woman who has reached the sixty mark can look back on his Pompeii and Herculaneum, as Thackeray, the great novelist, has said. Some things that should have been done were left undone while some were done that should not have been done, they can only be repented of, they cannot be brought back and done again. As we look back we can remember strong men and loving women full of light and life, they are gone now and we only see them in fancy."

"Mendelssohn composed what he called songs without words, in Heaven there will be no songs without words. Every man, woman and child will have something different to praise God for and all will blend in one triumphant song greater than any composed by Mendelssohn, or any other mortal composer."

"The people had forgotten that God had made them in His own likeness and had built images of outlandish animals and worshipped them. The Lord came to tell us what the will of God meant, and that it meant that whoever believed in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."

In conclusion His Lordship appealed to the people to let their whole life be bent on the eternal truth of the living God.

"We were very much pleased with the design you sent. It was beautiful and appropriate." The Victoria Ave. Greenhouses receive such words of commendation every day. Telephone No. 181.

BUBBLED OVER

Righteous Wrath of a Maple City Young Man Rose Instantly at Royal Reception.

The inherent gallantry which permeates all men of the Maple City in all circumstances and under all conditions found eloquent demonstration at Toronto just prior to the royal reception.

A sturdy Chathamite had mingled with the throng which gathered ere the approach of the ducal train. Slanders have it that he was conspicuously prepared on distilled loyalty.

Be that as it may, he was making his presence felt—in more ways than one. The vice-regal party had already arrived upon the scene and the preparatory part of the procession was in process of formation. A little child toddled carelessly into the open and a horseman, brushing past her, bowled her over.

The Chathamite's blood boiled. Struggling through the mass of humanity he soon reached the front. He had been taking off his coat as he made headway and the crush, entering into the spirit of his manoeuvre, assisted therein to the extent of demolishing the exposed portions of his shirt. He vowed not.

"That idiotic blunderbuss of an alleged horseman," he declared angrily as he reached the edge of the crowd. "I'll show him whether he can knock down a child in my presence with impunity."

A stern shocked stalwart in scarlet regalia seized him and thrust him back.

"Do you know to whom you are addressing?" quoth the indignant military man. "That, sir, is the Governor-General of Canada."

"Governor-General and blazes," retorted the irate Maple City man. "I care not who it is. The mumbakill can't ride a horse."

And it was some time ere his customary composure revisited him.

HOMELESS BABE

Judge Houston will Enquire Into Its Care and Up-bringing at Police Court.

Mrs. John E. Scott appeared in the police court this morning charged with having abandoned her five months' old baby. Her husband was the complainant, but he failed to put in an appearance.

"I can't allow this case to be dismissed," said Judge Houston. "I am going to compel the complainant to appear and I will also notify the Children's Aid Society. It is horrible, if true, that a five months' old baby was peddled from house to house."

"If your husband's story is true," said the judge, addressing the woman in the box, "namely, that you left the baby alone from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 2 o'clock the next morning, you should be taken care of. If what you say is true about the kind of house your mother-in-law keeps she should be sent to prison."

The case was adjourned till Monday next, and Mrs. Scott was let out on her own recognizances.

Our store closes daily at six o'clock except on Saturdays.

The daily rotation of sleep, work and food satisfies no man's nature. A programme that leaves no room for home life or social relaxation is not right—is far from right—is all wrong.

The thing that keeps a man really alive is ambition. Call it what you like—energy, force, nerve, vim, push, life or go. No man can retain his ambition many years if he works all the time that he is not eating or sleeping.

These are some of the reasons why we close at six.

IN HARNESS ON SATURDAY

Chatham Football Club will Open
Season with a Match Against Darrell.

Reorganization Completed at Meeting
Last Evening—The List of Officers Elected.

With a strong and progressive organization and with immediate contests confronting the Chatham Football Club should be a pronounced factor in the athletic annals of the approaching season.

The club records show that during its past history the Chatham organization has twice held possession of the magnificent Walker trophy, emblematic of the football championship of the Ontario peninsula and Wayne County, Michigan—first in 1895 by the team led by Captain Dr. A. W. Kelly and again four years later by the eleven with Captain F. D. Laurie at its head. This season with Captain-elect Wm. Mowbray at the helm earnest effort will be made to once again have the handsome cup pass into the possession of a Maple City resident.

The Windsor club are the present champions but, from the enthusiasm displayed at last night's meeting, they will have to look to their laurels if they hope to continue in the proud position of cup-holders.

The meeting was well attended and the work of reorganization fully accomplished. S. A. Mercer presided.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing season:

Hon. President—Robert Gray.

Hon. Vice Presidents—John Piggott, sr., and Dr. D. G. Fleming.

President—A. T. Macdonald.

Captain—Wm. Mowbray.

Executive committee—President, Captain, Secretary, Morton Sheldon, Fred Sawyer and S. J. Courtney.

A discussion in the season's schedule resulted in the decision to challenge Windsor, the present holders, for home and home matches for the cup, providing there are no other league entries.

Exhibition matches will be arranged at once. The first will be played on Saturday next on Tecumseh Park with the Darrell club. The latter will formally commence to-morrow afternoon.

It was also decided to arrange an exhibition game with some strong team for King's birthday.

Captain Mowbray is especially anxious to see a large turnout at the practices. Several of the older players are retiring and there should be considerable commendable zeal and competition among the younger players for positions upon the city team.

The executive committee will meet at the close of to-morrow's practice to select Saturday's team.

Not Fear Impending Death.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Superintendent Cornelius V. Collins will send a request to Secretary of State Hay to designate an official representative of the Government to be present at the execution of Leon F. Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley. There will be but 26 witnesses in the chamber of death when the sentence of the law is executed. Warden Mead, of Auburn prison, has sent to Supt. Collins the requests he has received for permission to attend the execution, Oct. 14, in all. The law will limit the number of witnesses and the superintendent will decide who the witnesses will be. It was stated at the state department of prisons to-day that statements to the effect that Czolgosz is in a continuous state of collapse and that he breaks down and weeps every time anything is said to him concerning the execution is false. Supt. Collins had a talk with the condemned man some days ago and at that time he said he knew that he had to die. He expressed no fear as to the execution, but said that he would not care to go outside of the prison for he believed that the people would kill him. Since his confinement at Auburn, prison several thousand letters have been received for him at the prison, as well as a large number of express packages containing flowers and fruit. Neither the letters nor the flowers or fruit have ever reached the condemned man. The flowers and fruit, it is learned, have been sent by Christian societies as have a number of letters counseling him in his last moments. Other letters have come from cranks who have written about the species of tortures to which they would put him if they had the execution of justice in his case. It is stated, however, that it would be a matter of surprise if the names of senders of fruit and flowers were made public. The state prison department has pursued a uniform policy in regard to Czolgosz. An effort has been made to prevent the murderer from gaining any notoriety while awaiting death and to surround him by as perfect an isolation from the world as possible.

GOOD THINGS ALL AROUND

Delicious Luncheon and Excellent Program Provided at the Presbyterian Church.

The Anniversary Occasion Was Fittingly
Observed—A Most Delightful Evening.

The First Presbyterian Church was the scene of much festivity last evening, the event of their annual tea-meeting. There were a large number of people present and the waiters were kept busy serving tea from six to eight o'clock. The tea was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. This organization is doing a great work in the church and is under the management of President Mrs. Geo. McKough, Vice-President Mrs. S. T. Martin, Secretary Miss Glenn, and Treasurer Mrs. Alister McKay. The ladies are to be complimented on the excellent tea they provided. Those who had charge of the tables were:—

Table No. 1—Mrs. Wm. Stone and Mrs. Arch. McKoug; waiters, Mrs. E. Cornhill, Mrs. W. Wilson, Miss Urquhart and Messrs. R. L. Brackin and Morton Sheldon.

Table No. 2—Mrs. Harry Taylor; waiters, Mrs. Geo. Gray, Mrs. E. R. Smith, Miss Cummings, the Misses Walker and George Gray.

Table No. 3—Mrs. Rankin and Mrs. Glenn; waiters, Miss Ina Rankin, Miss Vera Smith and Mrs. Smith.

Table No. 4—Mrs. Peace and Mrs. Gordon; waiters, Miss Todd, and J. G. Peace.

Table No. 5—Mrs. Phillimore and Miss McKoug; waiters, Miss Parquharson, Miss Green, Miss Bowles and Miss Sarah Robertson.

Table No. 6—Mrs. Sam. Glenn and Mrs. A. McKay; waiters, Mrs. James Paxton, Miss Graham, Miss M. Smith, Miss Pritchard, Miss Griffiths, Miss McDonald, Miss Fisher and Miss Nellie Young and Miss Macnab.

Table No. 7—Mrs. William Young, Mrs. Geo. McKough, and Mrs. Turner; waiters, Mrs. McGavin, Miss Stephenson, Miss Ross, Miss Page and Messrs. Black and Jackson.

Table No. 8—Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Jamieson; waiters, Miss G. Kennedy, Miss McKerrall, Miss Paxton and Fred Ward.

The dining room was superintended by Mrs. K. Urquhart and Mrs. S. T. Martin.

After the tea an excellent program was rendered, the musical part of which was contributed by members of the choir.

The choir rendered two anthems, Mrs. Cooper and W. H. Brackin sang, Miss J. Taylor and W. H. Brackin vocal duets, and the quartette, composed of Mrs. Cooper, Miss Ada Ross, and W. H. and R. L. Brackin, gave a selection, "Sweet and Low."

Besides the music, addresses were given by Rev. Mr. George, pastor of Victoria Ave. Methodist Church, Rev. Dr. Battisby, of St. Andrew's Church, who also offered up a prayer, Rev. W. E. Knowles, the pastor of the church, and Rev. J. C. Tolmie, of Windsor.

Lieut.-Col. J. B. Rankin, K. C., acted as chairman.

In his address Rev. Mr. Tolmie paid a great tribute to the past and to the church. Rev. Mr. Knowles, and also to the great work the church is doing.

Mr. Tolmie is so well known in the Maple City that it is scarcely necessary to comment on his speechifying abilities. He is a decided favorite here and his visits are ever looked forward to with delight. His many admirers were in no way disappointed with his address last night.

Each of the speakers spoke very highly of the members of the Ladies' Aid Society.

KILLED AT A CROSSING.

St. Mary's Ont., Oct. 14.—A fatal accident occurred on the "Long Crossing," about a mile west of the junction station here to-day. Mrs. Richardson, who lived about 12 miles from St. Mary's, in the township of Uxbridge, while returning from town to-day, alone, in her buggy, was run down by an east-bound horse train and instantly killed. The horse was also killed, and the buggy completely wrecked. The body of the unfortunate woman was taken to the station, and Coroner Rankin, of Stratford, notified. It is likely an inquest will be held.

JUMPED OVERBOARD.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 14.—A well-dressed man about 45 years of age, jumped overboard from the steamer City of Buffalo early to-day, while the vessel was en route from Buffalo to Cleveland. The steamer was stopped and a diligent search made for the man, but he could not be found. The suicide left an unsigned letter attached to his hat, which was found lying on the deck of the steamer, as follows:—"Everybody sleeping. Good-bye to all. When this is found I will be sleeping at the bottom of old Lake Erie. It's better for all concerned. Should this reach the eyes of those to whom I have written, may they know that I am reconciled and do not hesitate to end all."

RECEPTION AT HAMILTON

The Royal Party Was Given an Enthusiastic Welcome at Mountain City.

Procession and Presentation of Address—New Colors Were Consecrated.

Hamilton, Oct. 14.—Britain's future King received a royal reception on his visit to the Ambitious City to-day, such as will live in the memory of Hamilton's youngest citizens. The business houses, public buildings and many private residences were profusely decorated with flags, bunting, huge maple leaves, etc. The streets, especially on the route of the royal parade, presented a gala appearance, such as has never been shown before in the history of the city. The royal train arrived from Niagara at noon, with the royal party and suite, Lady Minto, wife of the Governor-General, and party on board, and immediately on arrival a salute was fired by the 4th Field Battery from Point Hill, overlooking the station and bay. The royal party were received by Mayor John S. Hendrie and a number of prominent citizens, and escorted by a guard of honor of 100 men of the 13th Infantry, under Major Moore and Lieut. Wright, and preceded by 50 mounted men of the Royal Canadian Dragoons. The royal procession proceeded along Stuart street to James street, and up James to the City Hall, through a complete cordon composed of members of societies and police, the procession being headed by South African heroes in khaki uniform. Arrived at the City Hall, the royal procession made a stop, and the Duke and party entered the building through the James street front, passing through the centre of a chorus of 1,200 school children, who were mounted on a gallery-shaped platform, singing national airs. Inside the City Hall, the royal party were led to the south exit, where the reception committee of sixty citizens, representatives of Hamilton's various societies, received them. Upon this platform, in full view of thousands from city and surrounding country, addresses of welcome were read from the city corporation and the Daughters of the Empire, to both of which the Duke replied in a felicitous manner. After the proceedings, the royal party were again escorted to their carriage, and proceeded to King street, around to George, to Catherine street, and south on James to Bold street, and to the residence of William Hendrie, where Mayor Hendrie entertained the Duke and Duchess and about 30 other guests to luncheon. At Victoria Park, which was the centre of interest, about 35,000 people had congregated to witness the military manoeuvres and the presentation of new colors to the 13th Regiment. To this point of interest the royal party proceeded after leaving Mr. Hendrie's residence and on their arrival were saluted by a guard of honor from the 7th, under Major Ptolemy.

At Victoria Park, the 13th Regiment was drawn up in line facing the royal standard. The Duke of York inspected the line. The old colors of the regiment were trooped for the last time in a manner such as only the 13th can do it, to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne" by the 13th band, amid cheering from the assembled multitude. The 13th Regt. then formed a hollow square. After Majors Stoneman and Zealand had unseamed the colors, Captain Forester proceeded with the consecration, after which the colors donated by the Daughters of the Empire were presented by H. R. H., and received by Lieut.-Col. McLaren, on behalf of the 13th Regt. Following this the regiment marched past in column and quarter column and advanced in review order, presenting arms.

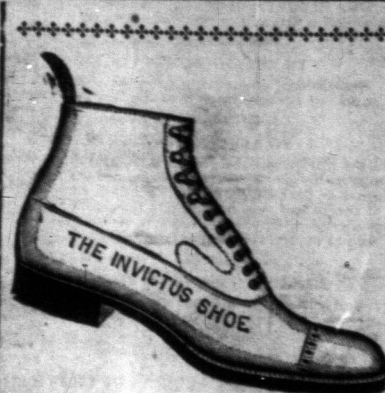

The Royal procession then took its departure for the Grand Fork station by a circuitous route, receiving a grand ovation on all sides, and departed amidst the playing of bands, the din of cannon and the cheering of thousands of people.

WIRELESS TRIUMPH.

London, Oct. 14.—A new advance in wireless telegraphy is recorded here this morning. The Daily Telegraph says Marconi has succeeded in transmitting messages through the air for nearly 350 miles, which is far greater than the maximum distance heretofore reported.

EXPLOSION IN A MINE.

Tunneltown, W. Va., Oct. 14.—By an explosion in a mine to-day 13 miners were burned, five probably fatally. The accident was caused by a miner loading a hole with too much powder, causing the dust from the electric machines to ignite and explode. The following are probably fatally wounded: William H. Hanes, Peter Spiker, Chester Buckle, Ernest Cross, Frank Dodge. The above men were terribly burned. The flesh hung in shreds from their faces and hands and exposed parts of the body. Eight others were painfully burned.

ONLY ONE SAVED.

Nagasaki, Oct. 14.—The Japanese steamer Tsuruhike has been wrecked off Meijima. Only one person of those on board was saved. The marine records available do not contain any reference to a steamer named Tsuruhike.

$1,187 IN CASH.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—The thief or thieves who broke into the Central station on Sunday got away with $1,187 in cash. An audit was made to-day, and it turns out that this amount was taken. The Canada Atlantic Railway Company loses $1,100 of this amount.

ON ACTIVE SERVICE.

London, Oct. 14.—The Pall Mall Gazette says:—"Orders have been received at Aldershot to hold every available man in readiness to proceed on active service. The garrison totals 29,000 men." The above is interpreted as meaning that the government is desirous of re-arming the public, and not as foreshadowing an immediate demand for the services of the first army corps.

FAILURE PREDICTED.

Liverpool, Oct. 14.—It is the opinion of half a dozen prominent steamship managers here that the projected Canadian fast line will prove a failure. Two expressed no fear of competition with a Cape Breton line, as everything during the summer, it would only secure a few passengers, and in the winter practically nothing. A twenty-knot service, they say, is not considered necessary to carry iron ore to this country. It is thought here that the talk at present is only good for consumption for the public, until the C. P. R. is ready to take up the project.

PEASANTS IN PITIFUL FLIGHT.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 14.—It can now be foreseen that the widespread crop failures, the consequent famine and the relief work of the Government and of philanthropists will be engrossing subjects in this Empire during the approaching winter. The word famine is not used in the official publications, which speak of famine-stricken districts as "places that are in an unfavorable condition as respects the harvests," but the facts that are freely admitted show that the struggle to keep the peasant population alive until a new harvest will be harder than has been known since 1891-2.

THE TECUMSEH MONUMENT.

The heartiness with which the press all over the Province are advertising and eulogizing the proposal to erect a monument on Tecumseh Park to the memory of the gallant Indian chief whose name it bears, testifies to the popularity of the plan and the ease with which it can be consummated.

But organization cannot be delayed. The most vigorous enthusiasm will burn itself out if it is not turned properly into practical channels. Idealizing upon the propriety and excellence of the project will not result in its consummation unless the lever of energetic activity be applied.

Let the preliminary suggestion be promptly succeeded by earnest, practical effort. A strong committee should be formed and the co-operation of the Board of Trade invited. Methods should be devised and steps taken to bring about their adoption. Chatham should have that monument ere the Tecumseh centenary dawn.

THE BOSTONIANS.

There are shows—and shows. Chatham has experienced them all, including, unfortunately, a liberal representation of the nether standard. The statement has been made—and made aptly—by patrons of the Grand that the Maple City is both capable of giving, and willing to give a generous support to all that is really high class. But the Chatham people have often in times past been humbugged—to use a blunt but truthful term—and Chatham people have no especial aptitude for playing title roles in buffoonery. As a result the excellent productions which have occasionally come our way have almost invariably been suspiciously avoided and the theatrical stock of our city has suffered in consequence.

Last year a decided brace was noted and confidence began to blossom again. This year prospects are brighter than ever and several attractions of superlative character are being booked. The first—and possibly the best—of these will be with us Thursday night when the Bostonians present the opera Robin Hood. There is no question as to the excellence of this company and their production of The Planet, which is decidedly conservative in the matter of committing itself to advance commendation, is assured that the production is all that is claimed for it. In consequence this journal is pleased to recommend it to such of its readers as are desirous of patronizing worthy theatrical accomplishments.

For there are shows—that are shows. A GOOD RECORD.

The Schley inquiry is not complete, points out the Ottawa Citizen, but it was known before the investigation began that the Brooklyn, the admiral's ship, had received more injuries than were sustained by the combined U. S. ships engaged in the fight—an enviable record and one that serves to show that the Brooklyn was somewhere near the thick of the fight, and not running away like a coward. Already it has been brought out in evidence that 35 per cent of the injuries inflicted upon the four Spanish ships was the work of 5-inch shells and that Admiral Schley's ship was the only one firing such ammunition. It looks as if the Brooklyn was IT the day before the Fourth of July, 1898, off Santiago harbor when Cervera attempted to escape.

THE COLORED MAN.

President Roosevelt had already given the South to understand that he proposed to free it from the grip of the office-holding classes and to appoint men to office because of fitness and without reference to where their sympathies lay in the war of thirty odd years ago, points out the Toronto Star.

He has already appointed a prominent Southern Democrat to an important office thereby giving early proof that he means what he says, and that a new order of things has been instituted.

Brooker T. Washington is described as being the ablest negro in the United States, and one of the first men consulted by President Roosevelt on assuming office was this colored man. The two are said to have been in private conference for three hours and to have met since then in lengthy private interviews. Since the civil war the colored population of the United States has grown from 4,000,000 to 9,000,000, the ratio of increase being much greater than that of the white population.

If President Roosevelt is seriously bent upon the renovation of the South, it is certain that he must recognize the negro question as the most formidable difficulty in the way. And if he hopes to accomplish anything his course is a wise one in calling in Booker T. Washington, who is described by competent judges of men to be the highest product of the colored race in America.

Numerically the negroes of the United States are strong enough to be entitled to a representative in a Government established on principles of freedom and equality, but there is no likelihood of any such recognition being accorded the negro in the neighboring Republic. Yet Roosevelt may nurse the purpose of attempting some solution of the negro problem, using Booker T. Washington as a private and unofficial adviser. And it would be something of a pity if the talents of this colored man, although widely known and recognized, should be turned to no account in the affairs affecting his race.

We won't enumerate other things they will miss, as we don't wish to spoil the pleasure of their visit to London and other unimportant places.

GREAT OCCASION.

Toronto Telegram.
An uprising of "large-minded men," would have been a demonstration of Canada's intellectual greatness. "Large-minded men" do not embellish a state occasion with the ideals of national youth and power which marched in the progress of the Canadian troops yesterday. It is a crass fanaticism which assumes that every Canadian who stops to look at a soldier is a butcher at heart. The attempt to push "large-minded men" to the front and hide the soldiers in the cellar was doomed to failure, and should fail.

WOMAN AND HOME.

A WEALTHY AMERICAN WOMAN WHO MARRIED AN ENGLISHMAN.

Why They Were Going—Training Japanese Singing Girls—Anglican English Women—Curious Proposals—The Countess von Waldsee.

From Ocean View, on the cliffs at Newport, Thomas Shaw Safe can look across the blue sea toward England and congratulate himself that he married one of the richest women in the world, Miss Harriet Ives Gammell. Mrs. Shaw is a charming woman, is the daughter of the late William Gammell of Providence, R. I., who owned much real estate at New port. She is an expert horsewoman and driver and fond of out of door recreation. Her fortune has been variously estimated at from $1,000,000 to $10,000,000. Mr. Shaw, an Englishman, is said to be an explorer of note and to have a considerable fortune.

He was in Newport in the summer of 1899 when Miss Gammell's horse ran away, and, fine whip in hand, she was thrown from the cart she was driving. She suffered severely from shock; besides, her arm was sprained.

The accident gave Mr. Shaw the opportunity to prove his devotion. His constant attentions won the heart of the heiress, and their engagement was soon announced.

Mrs. Shaw is not the only one of her family who is an Englishman. Her sister is the wife of Arthur Herbert of the British diplomatic corps.

Why They Were Going.

A half dozen women were seated in their stateroom chairs, well wrapped in cloaks and rugs, on the deck of one of the great ocean liners. As the long afternoon crept by they exchanged disjointed confidences as to their plans for the summer in Europe.

"It is my first visit," said a middle aged, bright eyed woman. "I have to make real a thousand people who have always been dreamt of, from Charlie Magne to Queen Victoria. I am going to stand in the houses where Scott and Keats and Lamb and Thackeray lived. I am going into Savonarola's cell and Dante's garret and the hut that Francis of Assisi thought God had set aside for him at the beginning of the world."

"Dear me!" said a young woman near by. "I am going over to get some new ideas for posters. That is my branch of art, and Paris is the place to study it."

Two women at the end of the line of recurrent figures were also discussing their plans.

"My sister and I," said one, "hope to spend the summer in the great cathedral towns. An hour alone in York or Canterbury is more helpful to me than any formal service."

"I never took any interest in architecture," said her neighbor, a pretty young girl. "Mamma and I run over to Paris every year to arrange our wardrobes for the next season. You really cannot trust any of the dressmakers with orders. I always superintend my own gowns and hats. Notre Dame? No, I don't care for it. Gloomy old place! I did the churches and galleries when I was a schoolgirl. I've done with the world now."

In every company of Americans that go abroad there must of course be a diversity of tastes and wide differences in the point of view. Let us hope that the ratio of those whose ambitions are worldly and useful may be, as in this case, three to one—Youth's Companion.

Training Japanese Singing Girls.

Children who are destined to a musical career commence at an early age, and their experience is painful. They are required to sing, or, rather, screech, at the top of their voices for hours at a stretch, their musical gymnastics usually taking place on the roof of the teahouse to which they have been apprenticed. They are to be found every day, summer and winter, squalling in unison, a dozen or more in company, until exhausted. Winter is considered the best season of all for the development of the voice, and the colder the weather the better, since extreme cold is held not only to strengthen the voice, but to augment the register. After years of this laborious and tortuous exercising of the voice under the tuition of women professors, themselves once famous singers, the young girl enters the ranks of the professional geisha and awaits calls to assist in conjunction with perhaps a dozen others of her craft at entertainments given by wealthy merchants or others, at famous teahouses or, less frequently, at private houses. These women do not perform in theaters or public places of that kind. Theaters are numerous enough in Japan, but they are never used for musical entertainments. Even in the production of plays no women are employed, female parts being sustained by boys or men. In the time of Shakespeare in England all female characters were played by boys and young men, and the fact that the same condition exists in Japan shows the desire of primitive people to shield their women from the publicity of the stage.—Lodge Monthly.

Anglican English Women.

A thing one notices in London about the women is that they seem to be impervious to changes of temperature. It was exceedingly cold when we arrived—damp, raw and chilly. We Americans put on our woolen dresses and consulted as to the wisdom of taking jackets when we went abroad. The sun was hidden; there were occasional sprinkles of rain; cold air caught you spitefully at street

THE GHOST

Of our boyhood resolved itself to an old tree when we had courage to examine it. Manhood has its ghosts, which, to the man who has courage to confront them, prove to be as harmless as the ghosts of boyhood. One of the ghosts which scare a great many people is the ghost of lung disease. But experience shows this ghost to be very harmless. In cases almost innumerable "weak" lungs have been made strong, obstinate coughs stopped, and bronchial affections cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. And these cures have been wrought in many cases after the doctor had said—"There is no help for you." Don't give in to the superstition of a past age. Give the "Golden Medical Discovery," a fair and faithful trial. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"When I commenced taking your medicine eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland of Chantilly, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pausing in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicine. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and soon commenced to feel a little better; then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pell's.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

corners. It was wretched weather. Yet the English women—thin, fragile and delicate—wore their muslin dresses with calm and unmoved fortitude. A favorite fashion of theirs is a transparent yoke of lace with the bare neck visible through it. In this semicircle state they sit or walk or drive about, apparently perfectly comfortable, while the perishing American is seriously considering the wisdom of going to the bottom of her trunk for her wraps.

It may be this weakening exposure to the inclemency of a damp and trying climate which makes the English woman so delicate in appearance. One seldom sees those buxom, rosy beauties in London that we have always supposed were the British type. An contrary, the type is tall, small boned and exceedingly thin. The English woman of fashion that one sees in the London of today has that kind of figure that the novelists call "willow"—long in all the lines, very slightly rounded, with the smallest of waists, no hips at all and an inclination to stoop in the shoulders. With this they wear very clinging dresses, long trains and in the evening very decided bodices. The general effect is of something incredibly slim, serpentine and delicate.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Curious Proposals.

Even the harmless necessity of a proposal. A modest swain went one evening to the cottage of his ladylove and found her seated by the fire knitting stockings, a large cat at her feet. After sitting some time in silence he took the cat on his knee and said, or, rather, stammered out, "Puss, ask Lizzie if she'll marry me." Lizzie blushed and said, "Pussie, you can tell Jamie that I'll take him."

Another bashful lover presented a prayer book to the object of his preference with the words, "Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?" Underlined. The book was returned with the momentous words, "I will," underlined.

Dr. Thomas Dawson, who was celebrated in the last century, did not propose himself by a book, but was proposed to in this way: One day he found an admiring patient alone, sitting with the family Bible before her. The physician read the words to which her forefinger pointed, the words of Nathan to David, "Thou art the man." He took the hint and married the lady.

A man who was a widower for a second time proposed in this ludicrous way: Bringing to the lady a bundle of papers upon her daughters from the time they are old enough to recognize any responsibility the necessity to keep their rooms tidy, put away articles after use and care for their belongings at all times. The boy, however, is exempt from any similar requirement, not only in his own room, but throughout the house. He reads newspapers and throws them on the floor, gets up from a divan and leaves the cushions packed and shapeless, without the slightest reproach, the only notice taken of the occurrence, indeed, being to ask a sister, if he has one, to pick up the one and straighten the other. The women of the family follow in his footsteps all day long removing whatever disorder he creates. Yet there is no business occupation upon which that boy will presently enter in which order is not a fundamental necessity. Girls, on the other hand, do not, as a rule, suffer so seriously from a lack of order, or at least consequences are not so continually disagreeable and costly as in the case with boys."

The Countess von Waldsee. There are many American women who have become noblewomen, but there is only one who has ever become aunt to an empress, the Countess von Waldsee, and she not only holds that exalted position, but is also distinguished as being the only American woman who ever became a princess in her own right quite aside from all titles acquired by marriage. The countess is really the Princess de Noer, this title being conferred upon her by the emperor of Austria several years since. Few Americans are conversant with the romantic and remarkable life story of their countrywoman, who has never returned to her native land since she left it, forty-five years since, then a girl in the glory of her beauty and first youth. She has been so closely associated with the empress that the nobility of Berlin that Americans traveling or at home could not know of the American woman who is acknowledged to be almost a power behind the German throne. This remarkable woman, although the daughter of a New York grocer, married successfully a royal personage, a scion of one of the most exclusive families of the proud German nobility. She frankly used her influence to bring about the marriage of the present German emperor and her niece and has proved herself to be a most remarkable matchmaker. Her husband holds one of the highest positions at court because of her influence, and he was sent to China at her request.

The Rights of the Mistress. The mistress of a household is like the general of an army. Every detail must be submitted to her, and she must exercise entire right of supervision of all departments—rooms, cupboards, drawers, etc.—in her house.

The house is hers, and she is primarily responsible to husband and children also for the cleanliness, order and wholesome maintenance of that house in its entirety. Now, this does not mean that she is constantly prying into and invading the servants' quarters, but it does mean that she has every right to go into and periodically inspect the order and cleanliness of the servants' rooms and places.

The commander of a troopship inspects all quarters, even the ladies' cabins. It has been known that cooks have resented the so called "interference" of their mistress in the management and arrangement of larders, cupboards and storerooms. Now, this is an untenable position for both parties.

A well managed kitchen should bear inspection in every detail, and resentment of that inspection implies careless work or a foolish prejudice that on the face of it is unreasonable.

The same arguments apply to the maid's own quarters, though no self respecting mistress could for a moment invade unnecessarily the privacy of a servant's personal possessions.

To Develop the Neck. In exercising to develop the neck the first movement consists in allowing the head to drop gently upon the breast as far forward as it will without strain. Next raise the head and throw it as far back as possible; then forward again, etc., until the movement has been performed 20 times. Next the head is turned as far to the side as possible, the body remaining motionless, the head bent to the shoulder as low as it will reach without an actual strain of the muscles and tendons. This movement should be practiced also 20 times, the neck first turned to the right and then to the left, ten times on each side. The same movement with the chin raised as high as possible should be repeated in the same fashion, first toward the right, then the left.

Train Boys to Be Orderly. "It is a curious fact," commented a man recently, "that almost no mother realizes the importance of bringing her son up to orderly habits. She impresses upon her daughters from the time they are old enough to recognize any responsibility the necessity to keep their rooms tidy, put away articles after use and care for their belongings at all times. The boy, however, is exempt from any similar requirement, not only in his own room, but throughout the house. He reads newspapers and throws them on the floor, gets up from a divan and leaves the cushions packed and shapeless, without the slightest reproach, the only notice taken of the occurrence, indeed, being to ask a sister, if he has one, to pick up the one and straighten the other. The women of the family follow in his footsteps all day long removing whatever disorder he creates. Yet there is no business occupation upon which that boy will presently enter in which order is not a fundamental necessity. Girls, on the other hand, do not, as a rule, suffer so seriously from a lack of order, or at least consequences are not so continually disagreeable and costly as in the case with boys."

The Queen and Her Dogs. Victoria raised the Scotch collie to its proud position of the most popular dog in England, it having no mean reputation in Scotland. She owned and loved two collies, Sharp and Noble, which accompanied her daily on her rides about the country. When children came to Queen Victoria and Prince Albert, they, too, had their pet dogs. Perhaps the setters and the spaniels were their best known playfellows. Those dogs are painted the oftentimes with the groups of the princes and princesses. As house dogs the queen found the Danes Diamond unmatched for faithfulness. The Skyes were also pets both at Windsor and at Balmoral castle.

One word we must say of Eos, the devoted and beloved greyhound of Prince Albert. She belonged to the prince long before his marriage and then lived with the queen and prince. The dog, with her two puppies, was painted by the great Landseer and by another fine artist, George Morley. The picture by Landseer is one of the most beautiful dog portraits in existence. On the death of Prince Albert the effigy of Eos was carved upon his tomb.—Our Animal Friends.

How to Spoil a Child. Begin young by giving him whatever he cries for. Talk freely before the child about his cleverness as incomparable. Tell him he is too much for you, that you can do nothing with him. Have divided counsels as between father and mother. Let him learn to regard his father as possessing unlimited power, capricious and tyrannical, or as a mere whipping machine. Let him learn from his father's example to despise his mother. Do not know or care who his companions may be. Let him read whatever he likes, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Let the child, whether boy or girl, rove the streets in the evening and let him have plenty of money to spend. Chastise severely for a foolish and laugh at vice. These rules are not untried. Many persons have proved them, with a substantial uniformity of results. If a faithful observance of them does not spoil your child, you will at least have the comfortable reflection that you have done what you could.

Young Old Women.

The surest way of keeping young is to preserve your interest in people and in things. Are modern women more keenly interested in their lives than modern men? Both in work and in play share life has a far better time. Perhaps that is why she is getting to look so preposterously young. She is gazing toward the horizon of time and watching the faroff stars coming just against a sky in which there are not so many clouds as there used to be.

Her youth should put man on his mettle. With her beside him he ought to be ashamed to look careworn, to become fat or bald or fretful. Let him imitate woman, and soon we shall have found the philosopher's stone. We shall be what we feel, and we shall feel always—say 22.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Woman's Retort.

Lawyers not infrequently receive the most provoking retorts from women when they are trying to confound a counsel defending a prisoner on trial before an English court for stealing money. The cross examination of the principal witness, a woman, by saying: "I am, my good woman, what sort of money had you?"

"I had 8 shillings in silver and a sovereign in gold."

"Tell me, my good woman," continued the lawyer, with a sneer, intended to confuse the witness, "did you ever see a sovereign in anything else than gold?"

"Oh, yes, sir," answered the woman, with a calm smile. "I saw Queen Victoria, God bless her!"

One Result of Matrimony.

When a girl has been taught by her mother how to "housekeep" and manage money, this goes far to solve the question of the ways and means of matrimony. Still a proposed or rather proposing husband should have some money, or an assured way of earning it, unless we are to think that mortality is one of the effects of marriage, as a certain servant girl seems to have thought. The lady with whom she last lived meeting her in the street said, "Well, Mary, where are you living now?" "Please, ma'am, I'm not living anywhere. I'm married."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Clubwomen who have spinal column shivers over speaking in public should follow the example given by Miss Frances Willard. "My dear," she said to a prospective after dinner speaker who was in consequence on the ragged edge of nervous prostration, "always carry your impromptu speech in your pocket."

The disagreeable odor which sometimes becomes associated with metal teapots that have not been used for some time and which imparts an unpleasant taste to the tea can be prevented, it is said, by dropping a lump of sugar into the pot when it is put away.

Carving knives and forks should never be put into hot water—in fact should not be placed in water at all. They can be thoroughly cleaned by holding over the pan and rubbing with a cloth. Emery stone is the best to sharpen.

Honey with enough tar in it to give it a strong flavor constitutes a valuable remedy for coughs and colds, especially in cases where the lungs are affected.

Riding the Bell.

The ringing of a bell is not, as a rule, a performance peculiarly trying to the nerves, but there is one set of bell-ringers the members of which must know no fear, for a moment of tremor would in all probability be the first step toward the moment of death. They are the bell-ringers of the Giralda, in Seville. The Baltimore American calls their method of ringing unique. It ought to be, surely.

When the city is to make merry on high days, the towers climb to the belfry, and then by the aid of a rope and steps cut in the wall of the tower, each mounts to the bell he is to ring, and stands astride the shoulder of the brazen monster, holding the ropes with his feet, holding on to the crosspiece upon which the mass of metal is swung.

Gradually the great bell sways to the muscular movement of the man astride. He until it acquires an momentum that swings the hammer, first gently, and then with increasing force as the sweep of the bell widens, until the air trembling from the giant blows that strike the massive sides of the monument, the sound of the mere vibration of the atmosphere, as the huge bell rings out, would be enough to make an unpracticed ringer turn dizzy and fall from his perch. But this is not all, for it is not only the bell that is swinging in obedience to the movements of their riders, and the clang and din is deafening.

Notwithstanding all, however, the riders begin and rise and fall with the action of the bells, now appearing to the observer from below to be in a perfectly horizontal position as the bell reaches the limit of its swing and again rising gracefully to an upward position as the monster sways backward with another thundering note.

The most terrifying part of the daring performance is the sight of the bell-ringer calmly swaying the bell while it hangs far out of the belfry over the city; for the outward swing sends the counterpoise that the ringer into the space beyond the arch, and one can see the ringers astride their brazen mounts borne far out into space.

"Uppers all gone."

"Now, here are the uppers of these shoes all gone to pieces. The soles are as good as ever, apparently. They ought to be, because I've only worn them a few weeks. But I wonder why the uppers broke out so badly."

The reason why the uppers of some shoes wear out quickly is that the soles are made so stiff they pull the uppers all to pieces.

When you wear "Sovereign" shoes you get the Flexible Welt sole that wears as long as the upper and does not pull your shoe to pieces.

Easy, comfortable wear, perfect fit, beautiful finish. Men's or women's $3.00, $3.50 and $4.00. See that they are stamped

DEATH'S CALL

Death of the Daughter of R. J. Dunlop, Resulting from Overwork.

Dorothy M. Dunlop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dunlop, Richmond St., died yesterday at the age of 16 years, 5 months and 15 days. Death was due to nervous prostration, supposedly caused by over study at school.

Deceased was attending the Collegiate Institute and was a particularly bright student, passing with high standing at the recent commercial examinations. Her death will be regretted by all of her classmates, with whom she was a general favorite.

The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at the Maple Leaf cemetery. Rev. Dr. Hanson will conduct the services.

AN INTERNAL REMEDY

A Pleasant Tea Bag Tablet, Simple, Convalescent, Cures Every Form of Catarrh.

The use of inhalers, douches, sprays, salves and powders for catarrh is a nuisance and inconvenience at the best, and cannot compare with antiseptic remedies in tablet form for internal use.

Internal remedies are the only ones which can really reach the seat of the disease, which is in the blood, and local applications can do no more cure catarrh than rheumatism or kidney trouble, the excessive secretion in nose and throat being local manifestations of a deep seated poison in the blood.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, the most successful of the various internal remedies, is composed principally of highly concentrated antiseptics, which destroy the catarrh germs in the blood and causes them to be eliminated through the natural channels.

Progressive physicians use and advise Stuart's Catarrh Tablets because they contain no cocaine, no opiate, no enervating drug whatever, but are composed of guaiacol, hydrastin, Red Gum and similar catarrh antiseptics, and are so safe and pleasant that even little children may use them with excellent results.

Catarrh sufferers who have wasted time and money on local applications should not despair of a radical cure until a trial of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets has been made.

A complete treatment may be purchased at any drug store for fifty cents.

HOME COMING

The King Will Put to Sea to Meet the Ophir on its Return.

London, Oct. 14.—The arrangements for the reception of the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York on their return to this country are now under consideration.

It is understood that the King and Queen will leave London on the afternoon of Thursday, the 31st inst., and proceed to Portsmouth. On arrival at the dockyard their Majesties will embark on the King's new Yacht, the Victoria and Albert (Commodore the Hon. Hedworth Lambton), and remain there during the night.

Early on the morning of Nov. 1 the royal yacht will steam out of harbor and put out to meet the Ophir, which will be escorted by ships of war.

Details of the naval program have not been settled, but it is certain that it will be most interesting and impressive. The King and Queen and the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York will leave Portsmouth for London in the course of the morning of November 1.

REACHED POLE

Belief that Overdrup Must Have Succeeded—Negative Evidence.

Christiania, Oct. 14.—A strong belief exists in Scandinavia that Captain Sverdrup of the Fram has reached the north pole and is now returning home. Sverdrup has been away on his expedition round Greenland for 40 months.

As Lieutenant Peary did not see him in the north of Greenland, it is thought the brave Norwegian never intended to go round Greenland to reach the pole. In the summer of 1899 Sverdrup was on the northwest coast of Greenland, Lincoln's Sea, to the north thereof, was ice free the following summer, according to Peary. Scientists declare there is a strong probability that Sverdrup seized the opportunity and reached the pole.

No fear is entertained as to the safety of the expedition, which was provisioned for five years.

Captain Otto Sverdrup started from Christiania in the Fram in June, 1898. Rumors reached home that he had reached the pole. Peary came across Sverdrup on the western side of Greenland, but no positive information has yet come to hand. When Sverdrup set out, taking an expedition of eighteen persons and food for four or five years, it was with the intention of exploring the northern coast of Greenland by rounding it, but the possibility of his making a dash for the pole itself was not of the question. He had previously accompanied Nansen in his voyage with the Fram.

MISS STONE STILL ALIVE.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—All that can be gained from the state department officials respecting the case of Miss Stone, the "missionary" who is held by brigands in Bulgaria, is that she is alive and that efforts are being made for her release. The officials while declining to indicate the nature of the measures they are pursuing to this end still have hopes of ultimate success.

Angel Spectacles

"Do you use Atropine in fitting glasses?" asked a lady timidly as she presented her self at an optician's office for the ordeal of having her eyes tested. "Well, that depends," cautiously answered the refractician. "Will you want those glasses to wear while you are living, or do you just want them to go to heaven in or wear when you become an angel?" "Oh, I don't expect to go to heaven very soon, nor wear glasses when I get there." Very well then, I'll fit the glasses to your living eyes, and not the dead ones, such as yours would become physiologically if I used Atropine. Angel Spectacles are not very satisfactory to living eyes. As Atropine paralyze all the ciliary muscles, E. J. MacIntyre, Leading Jeweller and Optician, does not use Atropine, but all the latest scientific methods.

LOCAL LEGAL.

At Divisional Court, Toronto, before Ferguson J. and Meredith J. re Chatham Banner Printing Co., William Chalmers, G. H. Kilmer, for liquidator, appealed from a certificate of the Master in Ordinary allowing the claim of Wilson, Kerr and Pike for costs at $27.25, and disallowing the claim of the liquidator of $199.50 for set-off of those claimants.

The set-off was allowed on the ground that one Ford, who was the Manager of the company, had accepted liability therefor, and had been accepted by the company, and the transaction had been entered in their books with Ford as a debtor, who was not a party to these proceedings. It was contended that the entries were of no avail, and the whole transaction was a fraud, because done after the service of the petition for a winding-up order, and that there had not been any acceptance or ratification by the directors of the company of the transaction. E. E. A. DeVries, for Wilson, Kerr and Pike, for the liquidator, contended that the Master should have determined the question on the merits on all the evidence before him, not on a technical point. Ford, on the other hand, contended that the set-off was not a set-off, but a payment, and that the Master was to determine. Costs reserved to be disposed of on application to either of the Judges constituting this court.

GREAT SALE

Table Napkins, Pattern Table Cloths

SPECIAL PURCHASE—I case manufacturer's seconds in Table Cloths and Napkins. We make special mention of these goods as being a lot of FIRST CLASS SECONDS. They're not soiled or pulled out of shape as most of the so called linen seconds generally shown. All that is wrong with them is a flaw in the weaving, otherwise you never think they were anything but perfect goods. We'd be glad to have you share these special values as soon as possible. They are important enough to warrant your special attention. Prices tell you more forcibly than we can of the remarkable opportunities of this sale. These goods are thoroughly reliable and direct from one of the most famous Linen firms in Ireland.

This is What We Have to Offer You

235 dozen pure bleached table napkins, in 5-4 and 3-4 sizes, guaranteed all pure linen, perfectly clean, beautiful patterns. Only for the slight flaw in them you would think they were perfect. Prices from $1.15 to $4.00 per dozen.

100 pure bleached pattern cloths, with the same fault as the napkins, "a slight flaw," beautiful patterns, bright satin finish, guaranteed all pure linen, even the lowest priced one, which are 90c. each, for an 8-4 size. The others price from $1.25, $1.50 to $4.00 each.

Sizes are 2x2 1-2 yards and 2x3 yards long.

"Why is the city so quiet to-day?" queried a traveller as he gazed about the main street of this thriving city. "Well," responded a native too old to walk, "the whereforeness is this way. Quail shooting came in to-day and all the leading citizens are out shooting. The woods are fuller of hunters to-day than of quail, and if there are any of these birds left it won't be the fault of the Maple City sportsmen. Of course, if the truth be told, in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the birds will just be frightened a little and no harm done, but just think of the fun the hunters will have and the holes that will be perforated in the atmosphere and the tree tops." The aged citizen then stretched out comfortably and continued to enjoy his sun bath.

REMEMBRANCES OF TECUMSEH

A Party of Chathamites Visit Arnold's Mill Where the Indian Chief Met His Death.

The House Where the Noble Warrior Ate His Last Breakfast Still Stands—Other Interesting Facts.

It was a bright October day. All around the trees of the woods above brilliant with their autumn foliage. The scene was a frequent one in Kent County, but this particular spot, historically, was hallowed ground. As I sat for a minute on the fence, as if from a touch from a magician's wand the scene changed. The fences dissolved, the graded road disappeared, leaving only a trail through the woods. Eastward beneath a huge beech tree that shaded the trail stood a tall Indian of country bearing by his side an iron grey horse. Westward but a stone's throw a saw mill and a grist mill arose, one on each side of a small creek. On the dam built to furnish power for the mill stood the stalwart miller with a spade in his hand. His gaze was bent intent upon the sandhills that showed against the horizon westward down the trail. Suddenly the man with the shovel stooped and throws a spadeful of earth in the air. Then he turns and looks towards the tree where the Indian had stood. The place is empty and the miller can just be seen disappearing eastward down the trail. The miller stops in wonder then realizes that the eagle eye of the Indian had marked the change in the horizon at the sand hills sooner than he had.

I awakened suddenly, the whole realistic vision had faded. I took but a short space of time for the picture to pass before my eyes, but it was vivid and as I walked down the road I felt like one who without permission treads on sacred ground. The place where I was, was once the site of Arnold's mill and the cattle grazing peacefully on the hills opposite and the bright colors of the foliage brilliant in the autumn sunshine contrasted greatly with the stirring scenes that this spot recalled. It was near here that the British army and their Indian allies lay encamped on the eve of the battle of the Thames. The month of October, when the British army retreating before the Americans reached Arnold's mills. The Americans, scarce seven miles behind, had encamped for the night and the British were early astir to continue westward. Tecumseh lingered behind to ascertain the movements of the enemy. He it was who had arranged with Christopher Arnold to cross the shovelful of earth in the air as soon as he could distinguish the advance guard of the Americans, but Tecumseh had deserted the enemy first and was well off down the trail when Mr. Arnold looked for him.

The place to-day still holds many land marks that link it to the past. The beech tree, the old mill, the stone wall stands by the roadside opposite the residence of John Brown some 11 miles above Chatham in Harwich.

The mills have long since disappeared, yet the mill dam over the once swift flowing and full creek is still in evidence, rising like the work of some ancient mound builders. The creek has now near dried up and the little more than a ditch at the bottom of a small gully. The old dam still stands, however, and the timbers of which it was made protrude at one end. In the yard of Charles Brown, once the pride of the country side, now an old dilapidated frame building, moved aside to make room for a more pretentious house and put to a more humble use as a shelter for cattle. Thus does the house where Tecumseh is said to have eaten his last breakfast stand as a monument to his memory, but a monument that Canadians are not proud to have. Traversing this old historic spot gives one a feeling that he is traveling where he ought not to trespass and on this occasion, it was so with me but not so with my companions, they seemed to be a part of the place and its histories, being as they were direct descendants of Christopher Arnold, the owner of the mill.

How this historic spot came to be visited is perhaps best to be told. It happened that two members of the Macaulay Club decided to search for reminiscences of Tecumseh, the one because his ancestors had been amongst the last to see Tecumseh alive, the other—well, because. It wasn't much of a day to start on an excursion of this sort, but we had made up our minds to go and go we did. (We equals S. B. Arnold, secretary of the Macaulay Club, and myself.) We had scarce reached four miles from the city, going up the River Road, Chatham Township, when we saw a hickory nut tree well laden. There is something about the sight of a well laden hickory nut tree that appeals to the grasping mind of the person who sees it and we were soon picking up the hickory nuts for no earthly reason except for the sake of picking them up. Pretty soon the owner of the tree hove in sight with what suspiciously looked like a club. We were ashamed to run away and afraid to stay, but we stayed. The owner, however, proved to be a cousin of my friend and he, having explained that he thought we were somebody else, chatted with us.

The farmer proved to be Adam F. Arnold and, when we had told him of our quest, he told us several little incidents in connection with the war of 1812. The incidents were ones that Mr. Arnold had heard his grandfather Lewis Arnold tell. Just across the field from where we were standing, Lewis Arnold had established his home in a log house on the river bank. This was sometime prior to the war of 1812. The night before the battle of the Thames, the British officer told the farmers of the neighborhood to go down and get what they wanted from the storehouse established near Fisher's as the place was to be burned to prevent the stores falling into the hands of the enemy. Many of the settlers got stores and things. Lewis Arnold got a wagon load of bayonets, cannon balls, etc., from the gunboat sunk at Fisher's. He had them piled in a mound out in the yard and one day a buyer of old iron coming along, the girls sold the pile for old iron much to the anger of Mr. Arnold, when he found it out.

When the British soldiers passed Mr. Arnold's place, not a man was allowed to leave the ranks. Lewis Arnold was making cider in the orchard along side the trail which followed the river and the British did not disturb a single man to leave the ranks. The Commander told the owner that if he wanted the soldiers to have any cider, to bring the liquid out on the road. The next day a company of Americans came along the north side of the river. The Americans never waited to ask, but stripped the orchard and the house and even turned upside down the bushes about the house, but they did not find anything. They did this looking for things they thought concealed.

John Arnold, a brother living near Chatham, was nearly a prisoner once he and Windsor. He had a canoe laden with cannon balls, guns and other things, which he was taking home to conceal when the advance guard of the Americans came up. They ordered him to halt. The hardy pioneer raised himself in the canoe as if to see the better and suddenly slipping on the side of the canoe, he upset it and himself jumped into the willow bushes and made for the bush. The British did not follow him. He was closely chased, however, and only escaped by hiding amongst the leaves of a white oak tree. So near did one of the horsemen come to the concealed man that he could see the spot in his eyes.

It was this same John Arnold who kept the communication open between Windsor and Chatham. His brother Christopher Arnold, lived near Kent Bridge, at Arnold's Mills, and John was eating his supper there one night while on his way from London to Windsor with despatches for the "Plan" and took a great interest in the South African war. Mrs. Arnold has many an interesting recollection of stories she has heard of the war of 1812 and some day The Planet may give some of these incidents.

Homemade Ma's and Rugs at the Fall Exhibition and Fair

The autumn exhibitions and fairs held in the various towns and cities of Canada this year demonstrate the important fact that the ladies are deeply interested in the making up of pretty rugs and mats for bedrooms, dining rooms, parlors and halls. We had the pleasure of examining some beautiful specimens of home work which commanded the attention of all visitors. In fact, the ladies were so interested that many of them were made from rags, yarns and other materials colored by the popular Diamond Dyes.

Thousands of ladies are now engaged in the working of one or more of these artistic designs made by the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes. If your dry goods dealer has not yet put in a stock of Diamond Dye Mat and Rug Patterns for your convenience, send your order to The Wm. & Richardson Co., Limited, 200 Mountain St., Montreal, P. Q., and they will mail you free of cost their sheet of designs.

FARMERS AND STOCK BREEDERS.

It will interest the farmers and stock breeders of Canada to know that Mr. J. B. Spencer, who has for seven years been associate editor of "The Farmer's Advocate," has been secured by "The Family Herald and Weekly Star," of Montreal, and will in future be identified with the agricultural columns of that great paper. Mr. Spencer is a recognized authority in all branches of farm work, and the "Family Herald and Weekly Star" will more than ever be considered the farmer's friend. The "Family Herald" is to be congratulated on this acquisition to their already able staff, and Mr. Spencer also in his connection with the leading paper of the continent.

Theatrical

On Thursday evening the ever-popular Bostonians will be with us at the Grand. Oct. 17th is the date set, and without doubt a crowded house will greet the always-welcome company. It is unnecessary to sound the praises of this organization, as the public generally know its worth and its principal artists. For a long number of years it has been without peer in its line, and with the dissolution and decadence of other rival organizations it occupies the comic world alone. Several brilliant young performers are noted among the names of those who will appear here. The complete roster includes Henry Clay Burdette, W. H. Macdonald, George Rafter, Albert Parr, Allen Hinkley, Macdonald Dorrington, Vernon Stiles, Charles J. Swickard, Gustave Drake, James F. Miller and others, with S. L. Studley, musical director. "Robin Hood" is the piece selected to present before a Chatham audience. "Robin Hood" needs no introduction. The opera is a masterpiece of the best elements that go to make lyric entertainment, presenting a clean out story of semi-historical interest, with just the right proportions of comedy, love-making and romance to please all classes of theatre-goers. Among the potent and inspiring songs which are ever refreshing are the songs "Brown Owl of Aile," "The Old Cross Bow," "The Thinker's Chorus," and "Oh, Promise Me!"

The eagerness with which the public have besieged the box office at the Central Drug Store demanding seats for the Bostonians in "Robin Hood" would indicate that this great company will have an overflowing house among the music lovers the above named opera has been selected and will be given in its entirety with all the old favorites in their original roles, with the addition of several brilliant young singers in equal prominence. Barnabas, Macdonald, Frothingham, Bartlett and others need no introduction here. Over sixty people will be employed in the production, and a carload of beautiful scenery and gorgeous costumes will enhance the performance.

Out of town orders for the engagement of the Bostonians at the Grand on Thursday, 17th October, will be received and attended to in the order of their reception. All cheques and drafts should be sent to the manager of the theatre. Already numerous parties have been formed for the engagement here, and "Robin Hood" is to be sung a crowded house will no doubt greet this organization. The Bostonians are a season are strong and better than ever, numbering seventy people, including a chorus of fifty voices and a special orchestra under the baton of S. L. Studley. Barnabas, Macdonald, Frothingham, Bartlett and all the favorites will positively appear here.

Overcoats and Ulsters

If we had been given a contract to overcoat and ulster every man in Ontario we couldn't have gone about it more seriously, or given more pains to getting everything right. As a matter of fact we look after a big fraction of the province now, and are reaching out vigorously for more.

The most excellence for the least money—that was the motto the busy sewing machines hummed to all through the making of these goods. As to how we succeeded the coats must speak. They are going into service pretty briskly. Two prices by way of example:—

$5.00 Men's double breasted ulsters of sturdy all-wool Canadian frieze, brown or black, extra long, heavy storm collar with tab, and heavy checked body lining, sizes 33 to 44.

Overcoats of brown or black beaver, in medium fulness and length, correct cut and make, with double stitched edges, plain pockets, vent in back. Sizes 33 to 44.

Our heaviest ulster. A splendid winter garment, made of 34 ounce all-wool Canadian frieze. Extra long with heavy wool body lining and striped gassade sleeve lining. Sizes 37 to 42.

Overcoats of the fashionable oxford gray cheviot, fine blue beaver or close glossy black cloth. All handsomely made and lined, with silk velvet collars. In the cheviot we show two shapes, a medium chesterfield and a very stylish long loose cut.

More than twenty other styles of ulsters and overcoats are in stock—all hot from the factory.
