

SRC PREXY TO GET HONORARIUM

By John Drew

The SRC President of UNB is to receive a $200 honorarium. This was voted in by members at the SRC meeting Wednesday night. President Ron Manzer alone gave reasons for opposition to such a move.

He said, "the position does take up a great deal of time. But it also carries ample prestige, particularly in terms of future employment, for the amount of work involved. And certainly no one would accept the presidency of the SRC in terms of a monetary reward."

The move brings UNB into line with most Canadian universities where the Student President receives either an honorarium or free tuition.

The Vice-President of the SRC will receive a $50 honorarium. Both honorariums will come into effect this year.

The evening was chiefly taken up with consideration of Non-Athletic Award points delegated by that committee.

Although any recommendations on these points were arbitrary and bound to stimulate argument, the majority of the re-assessments were accepted as satisfactory.

The Arts Society was elected to the standing of a major organization. WUSC and NFCUS became minor organizations. Major and minor distinctions are made on the basis of the particular club's activity at that time.

Rearrangements in the staff of The Brunswickian, Year Book, and Winter Carnival brought new point recommendations. The Choral Society and new Residence system also called for a points valuation.

The only overall lowering of the Non-Athletic Award Committee's recommendations came upon consideration of Intervales, the new campus literary magazine. The Committee also announced that consideration would be given any extracurricular points claims not included in the report.

Barry Yoell was elected UNB representative to the Canadian Amateur University Broadcasters meeting to be held with the CBC in Toronto on a date yet to be set.

President Manzer also brought to the notice of the Council letters sent by NFCUS to the French, South African and United States Governments, concerning discrimination against students entering universities in those countries.

CARNIVAL STAR

THIS IS STAN WILSON . . . Popular West Coast balladeer, Stan Wilson, is headlining the 1959 UNB Winter Carnival. He will appear all three nights of the snow show.

By Carolyn Curran

"Stan Wilson? Whenever we saw him in San Francisco, there was standing room only. He sings calypso-type ballads and excels at folk songs. UNB is very, very fortunate to get him. He is probably one of the most entertaining singers on the West Coast." Mrs. Brookshire, wife of Professor Brookshire of UNB's psychology department, has this to say about UNB's star attraction for the '59 Winter Carnival.

He also does audience participation numbers and sea shanties which have broken up the shows wherever he has appeared.

New York columnist, Earl Wilson, summed up his views on Stan Wilson's singing at the Jamaican Room in New York with an exuberant "Bravo!"

Born in Oakland, California, Stan attended Berkeley High School where he was a two-letter athlete, earning monograms as a half-back in football and as a 220 yard dash man in track.

Stan Wilson's first Winter Carnival performance will be on opening night, prior to the crowning of the queen.

Wherever he appears, one of Stan's most popular selections is "Frankie and Johnny".

Stan is a stocky six-footer whose ruggedness fits his style of singing. His boisterous songs are a specialty, but at other times he is able to fill his voice with a remarkable amount of feeling and emotion to sing tender folk ballads.

Stan Wilson arrives in Fredericton next Wednesday evening on the 9.25 flight from Montreal.

Queen Judges Announced

A panel of five judges is to select this year's Winter Carnival Queen.

The judges are: Mrs. Richard Palmer, provincial president of the IODE; Rev. J. F. Farmer, curate of St. Anne's Church; Brig. E. C. Brown, commanding officer at N. B. Area Headquarters; Murray Falconer, secretary of the Fredericton YMCA; and Jack Murray, UNB's alumni secretary.

The judges are to meet the candidates at a tea from 5 to 6 o'clock this evening at the Lord Beaverbrook Hotel. They will have a second look at the girls at a reception to be held next Tuesday evening at the home of Biddy Wilson.

Five co-eds are in the running for the title. They are: Esther Hoyt, representing the engineering students; Christine Lloyd, business administration; Ann Morrison, forestry; Ursula Rodsewicz, arts, and Betty Rooke, science.

The winner will be crowned next Thursday evening in the Lady Beaverbrook Rink.

The candidates will appear on CHSJ-TV on Monday evening. They are to be seen on Guest Spot which goes on the air at 6.20 p.m. The next evening they will be interviewed on the Norm Butler Show on CFNB at 5.30 p.m.

They are also to attend the opening performance of the musical comedy, Vicki, Tuesday evening in Memorial Hall. On Wednesday they will visit the Polio Clinic and distribute candy to the patients.

Whigs, Tories Name Delegates

Model Parliament organization skipped into high gear this week with the naming by the Liberal and Conservative parties of their respective delegates to the meeting of the Joint Committee which takes place Feb. 10.

Representing the Tories will be Dave Covert, Mike Denny, and Dick Steeves. The Whig delegates are Nick Mulder and Joan Proudfoot.

The Joint Committee is designed to allow any political club wishing to participate in the

Ford Grant Aids Economic Research

By Carol MacPherson

In 1956 UNB received a grant of $20,000 from the Ford Foundation of New York, a philanthropic organization of a worldwide scope and interest.

Under Professor W. Y. Smith, head of UNB's Economics Department and Economic Advisor to the Provincial Government, a total of eight postgraduate students are presently doing research on the economic situation of the Atlantic Provinces.

Purposes

"The grant has two basic purposes", explained Professor Smith. "First, to provide funds for scholars in the Atlantic region to conduct research during the summer months, and second, to provide scholarships for graduate study."

The first two students involved in the project during 1957-1958 were Mr. Eugene McGinley, a graduate of UNB, and Mr. Walter Murray, a graduate of Mount Allison University.

"We think it has been very successful and we have every hope that the programme will be carried on in the future," Professor Smith declared. "It fills a much needed gap in educational and research work in these provinces."

He also pointed out that this year it has been decided to put more emphasis on graduate work.

The following students are at present participating in the programme: Mr. Frederick E. Lownsbury, Mr. David L. McKee, Mr. Harold Austin, Mr. F. J. Jack, Mr. Clifford Rae, and Mr. Stephen Fay. All the students are graduates of UNB with the exception of Mr. McKee who received his degree from Saint Francis Xavier.

MARITIME GOAL SET AT $500,000

The Maritime Provinces have been asked to pledge $500,000 to the nation-wide building fund drive for $3,200,000 for UNB. A realistic survey of the provinces' ability to support this appeal disclosed $500,000 as a fair amount.

One-fifth of the Maritime total, $100,000, is the aim of Fredericton in the campaign which has already begun. Individual campaigns in other Maritime centres are due to start soon.

Dr. Colin B. Mackay, president of UNB, says that the basic reason for the fund drive is the inadequate accommodations at Canada's fastest growing university. The university, designed for only 800 students, has doubled its enrolment over the past five years to a present peak of 1,556 students.

A new physics and biology building, an academic building to replace pre-fabricated huts now operated on a staggered schedule, faculty office building, residences for at least 1,000 students, and a central dining hall are a few of the improvements that are planned on the campaign's agenda.

University authorities point out that UNB serves in many and varied ways—through consultative services to government, business and industry, through fundamental research, through its summer school and extension courses, and through its archives, collections, and creative arts centre.

UNB expenditures and those of students and staff exceed

WINTER WONDERLAND

Winter has lots of it. We get lots of it. Some people like it. Some don't.

Snow is the officious, white stuff that skiers ski on and motorists get stuck in. It strikes some as poetry and some as pneumonia.

White rabbits would be lost without it.

We contemplate its beauty, inside, with a cup of coffee in one hand; outside, well, University of Miami, here we come.

To prevent duplication of meeting times and places and to ensure a listing in THE BRUNSWICKAN, please report all campus events to SHEILA CAUGHEY, campus coordinator, at the Maggie Jean Chestnut House (Phone GRanite 5-9061).

Carnival Carnival Carnival

The topic of most conversations on the campus this week is, of course, WINTER CARNIVAL. There are many views taken on both the Carnival and its committee. In the following letters, some of the views are expressed.

DEAR EDITOR:

I am a first year student at UNB. Before I came here, stories had reached my home town about the wonderful Winter Carnivals that are sponsored annually by UNB. I decided that I would like to work for Winter Carnival for my extracurricular activity. Carnival time has now rolled around, and I have tried without success to do SOMETHING. I just don't know who to approach. None of my friends seem to know either. Could it be that I have chosen wrong friends at UNB?
Perplexed

DEAR EDITOR:

There seems to be an undercurrent of talk on the campus concerning the legitimacy and the actual purpose of the Winter Carnival Committee. A number of people on this campus seem to feel that the Committee is powered by a small select group. This might be true, but if the people complaining would look a little farther, they would see that there are jobs to be done, particularly in the faculty competitions.

Last year, I worked on my faculty's snow sculpture and float, and I am looking forward to doing the same thing this year. It's a lot of work, and it is hard work, but there is fun and satisfaction in doing one small job. I feel as if I have contributed something to the success of Winter Carnival.
Satisfied

DEAR EDITOR:

It was always my understanding that the Winter Carnival was a campus wide activity. After much contemplation, I am uncertain of my former conclusions. I appeal to you for an answer to the question — What is the Winter Carnival Committee? From my vantage point, it seems to be a tight, impenetrable little group of egotists whose greatest fear seems to be the thought of a loss of prestige through the delegation of authority.

'MAKE SWEET MUSIC WITH ME, BABY!'

Granted there has to be a chairman and a central committee with sub committees, but could not a more democratic method for choosing the committee be employed?

For the past couple of years, I have observed Maritime politics in action. To advance profit wise, one must be on the right side of the fence; that is, a person must have "friends" in government circles. This influence is felt on the campus of UNB in the selection of the Winter Carnival Committee.

The chairman of the committee is chosen by his own committee. It sounds as funny as it is. If Winter Carnival is as large an organization on the campus as it thinks it is, then why haven't more people a voice in the selection of the chairman (at least)? The Winter Carnival Committee is made up of approximately twelve members who themselves are chairmen of sub-committees. The latter term is used loosely, as chairmen, with the aid of one another, do all the work themselves. If they want to kill themselves, it is all right with me. (People always show sympathy toward martyrs and their causes.) On a campus this size, however, there is no need to go to extremes. There are many people willing to do small jobs, apart from the faculty competitions of building floats and sculptures.

Bothered.

DEAR EDITOR:

Next week I shall enjoy my fourth Winter Carnival. For me, the carnivals have been the most enjoyable events of the college years. My hat goes off to the Winter Carnival Committee whose tireless efforts make and WILL make the carnival a time of enjoyment for all!

Liberal M.P. Visits Campus

As part of his visit to Fredericton, Hon. J. W. Pickersgill toured the UNB campus yesterday. Member of Parliament for the Newfound and constituency of Bonavista-Twillingate and former minister of citizenship and immigration, he met with Dr. Colin B. Mackay, university president, and later conferred with members of the UNB Liberal Club.

"Wise everybody avoid me so?" h-owled J. Paul. "Because you're such a ruffled old bird", replied his best buddy. Well that really opened Sheedy's eyes. He took a taxi-dermist down to the store and pecked up a bottle of Wildroot Cream-Oil. Now he's the picture of confidence because he knows his hair always looks its best from morning till night. So if people have been hooting at your messy hair, screech for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil. It's guaranteed to keep your hair neat but not greasy. And all the gals will go out of their way to beak to you.

Sir: Far from wishing to say that the purpose of education is to get students tired of their own and others' clichés, I meant "clinchés" to be "clichés", in paragraph 2 of "Injuneers and Aahtsmen" in The Engineering Brunswickan.

I apologize to those who here saw a reason for their existence at this institution.

Automated Bed Goes On Display

(Reprinted from The Manchester Guardian Weekly.)

"If only Farouk were still the King of Egypt", said Mr. D. V. Bliss, director of the export division of Slumberland Ltd., who at the Westbury Hotel last week unveiled a £2,500 hydraulically adjustable, electrically heated, velvet-padded, mink-covered, team-making, dry-shaving, tape-recording, vibro-massaging, intercommunicating, telephonic, televisionary, bibliotech, illuminated bed. Mr. Bliss remembers fondly when King Farouk, a large and restless man in his prime, bought a hundred outsized mattresses and, less than a year later, when they had hardly been worn, scrapped them and ordered another set.

Those days have gone for ever: but, soon after the super-bed has been introduced to the public at the Furniture Exhibition in Earls Court on January 28, Mr. Bliss will set off hopefully to try to sell facsimiles to the more prosperous residents of Kuwait and Bahrein. Sanity guaranteed

There were girlish giggles behind the translucent peach curtain in the Westbury ballroom shortly before last week's preview. "The Nearness of You" was played soporifically by invisible strings; and the audience was kept awake with black coffee. Mr. Seccombe, director of the company, said that the bed to be shown was "the ultimate bed", which would herald a new era of glorified bedrooms. Eventually it might be possible to produce slightly less luxurious mechanised beds for £1,000 or even less.

When the curtain parted, the two models wordlessly expressed warmth, comfort, and relaxation and activated one by one the gadgets under their fingertip control. An engineer, asked whether an inept slumberer could possibly suffer Chaplinesque disasters — being involuntarily shaved, scalded with hot tea, folded in the mattress, &c., while his screams were recorded on tape — guaranteed that "it is quite impossible for this bed to go mad."

In the words of Lawrence A. Kimpton, chancellor of the University of Chicago, we must make room for the oddity, perhaps even "supporting (the) weird one just for his weirdness." For the world wasn't always flat, and today's weirdness may become tomorrow's wisdom.

The good university must make a place for "the excitement and rebellion, the maladjustment of youth."

In short, "sedation is for sissies, and in great universities, chaos must continue."

Winter Carnival Passes Now On Sale

Tickets for UNB's fourth Winter Carnival are now on sale. Passes good for all events cost $2. They are available on campus at the bookstore during regular business hours and in the SRC Office in the Students' Centre from 12 noon to 2 p.m. daily except Sunday.

The passes will also be sold in the city, and can be obtained at the Teenager Shop and George's Men's Store during business hours and at Creaghan's Department Store in the afternoons only.

The carnival will take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Single Events

For those who do not wish to buy passes, tickets will be available for certain individual carnival events. Seats for Stephen Paterson's musical comedy, "Vicki", will sell for $1. Admission to UNB Graduates' basketball game at the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium Friday afternoon will cost 25 cents. Tickets for a hockey doubleheader at the Lady Beaverbrook Rink on Saturday, featuring games between the co-eds and the Englishmen and between UNB Red Devils and Mount Allison University, are priced at 75 cents. Admission to a show by Stan Wilson, the West Coast nightclub entertainer, and the crowning of Miss Winter Carnival, both scheduled for Thursday evening at the Rink, will cost $1.

However, no separate tickets will be sold for a basketball doubleheader in the Gym on Friday or for the carnival dances in the Gym on Friday and Saturday nights. Only pass-holders will be admitted on these occasions.

Bill Pollock, a fourth-year forestry student, is in charge of ticket sales.

$2,000,000 annually, an important factor in the business life of the community.

Business men active in the fund drive point out that UNB has directly contributed in many ways to the Maritime Provinces' prosperity for over 100 years. Members of its staff are internationally recognized in their specialized fields, and have made many significant contributions to distinctly Canadian research. UNB is the headquarters of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council.

Man: A Product?

Modern man faces the very real danger of becoming the unsuspecting victim of his own creation, the technique of mass production.

No one will doubt that the use of this device in manufacturing has contributed much toward improving the living standards of people all over the world, and we can be grateful that its economic potential is not yet exhausted.

But many well-meaning, though misled persons now want to mass produce man himself. They want to turn human beings into so many interchangeable parts, one no different from another. They continually urge us to adjust, to fit, to compromise — and to hell with the cost!

These people do mankind a great disservice.

Compromise has its place, but only as an instrument for achieving the greatest possible justice. It has no value by itself.

The majority is never necessarily right, and nothing can be gained by surrendering valid beliefs merely to be "well-liked". As George Orwell correctly claimed, sanity is not a statistical thing.

History is full of examples of truths ridiculed by the masses. How few went along with Billy Bishop when in the 1920's he predicted the inevitable impact of air power? How many laughed at the few brave souls who warned that the 1929 bull market could not last?

To stand by one's own correct but unpopular ideas has often been socially suicidal, but never more so than today when the Top Ten is always "the best music", the newest fashions make yesterday's frocks laughable, and only the most-watched television programs can draw money from sponsors and approval from Freebooter.

Yet we all don't have to become spiritual jelly-fish. We all don't have to embrace the cowardice of complacency. We can still say no when we believe we are right, and by so doing we help to preserve the freedom of the individual.

We must demand the right to be unhappy and dissatisfied, for true progress comes only when man sees the faults of contemporary life.

Here at university is a good place to start the fight against intellectual invisibility.

DEVILS STRETCH LEAD Face Mounties Tonight

The Red Devils increased their hold on first place Monday night as they upset the Devon Tigers, who had won their last six games. The Tigers had previously drubbed the Devils in their first encounter.

The Tigers did not give up until the final whistle as they pulled their goalie with seconds to go attempting to tie the game and force the Devils into overtime. In the two previous starts for the Devils they were forced into overtime by the Capitals and the Tommies.

Rules Changed

The game was played under C.A.H.A. rules and by all reports a marked improvement in play was seen. Previously a variation of International rules was used but the league has reverted to the original rules. To clarify the situation, this was done because an all-star team picked from the Devon and Capitals team will enter the Intermediate playdowns. They insist they play C.A.H.A. rules now in order to get used to them again. Therefore the Central New Brunswick Senior League will operate under these rules but the intercollegiate loop between St. Thomas, Mt. Allison, St. Dunstons and U.N.B. will adhere to the International rules for the rest of the season.

The Devils scored in the first as Norm Bolitho swooped in and let a rifle shot go which caught the corner. This was the first of two goals he scored. Devon was held scoreless for the first twenty minutes. The two teams then traded goal for goal in the second, each blinking the light four times. Bolitho, Jones, Bartheaux and Morrow scored for the Devils, while Bennett, P. Seymour, D. Seymour and McKenzie netted them for Devon.

The third period proved to be the best as the play went from one end to the other. Morrow picked up his second goal at the 6:05 mark and this proved to be the winner. Devon pressed hard as Boyle scored at the 13:16 mark giving his team a chance to send the game into overtime.

Once again the Devils were outshot but steady Dave Inch proved to be superb turning back 24 shots while his cohort stopped 18.

Referees Vic Leury and Pete Coombes dished out 19 penalties, 9 to the Devils and 10 to the Tigers.

Mt. A. Tonight

The Red Devils journey to Mt. A. tonight where they will lock horns with their arch rivals. Last year the Devils ousted them in the finals to win the N.B.-P.E.I. championship. Both teams have lost key players but the strength of both seems improved. To date Mt. A. have won twice over St. Dunstons both at home and away. The Devils will be guests tonight but next Saturday night will entertain the Garnet and Gold squad in the annual Winter Carnival.

HIGHLIGHT OF WINTER CARNIVAL

Devils Face Mounties

by Hugh Miller

Once again next Saturday, the Mount Allison University Mounties invade Fredericton for the game of the year against the U.N.B. Red Devils. In past years this has tended to be one of the most exciting games of the season for U.N.B. supporters. This year the Mounties have more desire than ever to win due to two successive defeats at the hands of the Devils in Carnival play. On the other hand U.N.B. are out to make this game the highlight of the Carnival week-end by making it four in a row during our three day extravaganza.

Although the Devils have lost many players from last year's squad Coach Pete Kelly and his assistant Ted Bedard have welded their team around such veteran stars as Bob Soward, Tommie Jarrett, Ed McClellan, Don Morrow, Currie McCarthy, Galen Parent and Hedley Savoy, all of whom played hockey with the Red Devils last year.

Don Morrow this year's captain and veteran of many New Brunswick wars centers a line with Jake Bourque, a varsity player of two years ago on right wing, and Al Jones, a star with Sir George Williams in Montreal last year on left wing.

Currie McCarthy, a local product, centers Norm Bolitho of Sault Ste. Marie and Frank Bartheaux of P.E.I., making up the next line. McCarthy and Bolitho are the team's best penalty killers and have a very pleasing habit of scoring when the team is short handed.

Hammering Hedley Savoy of Saint John, and rookie Jim Boland from Arvida, Quebec, form one barrier for opposing forwards to crash. Mainstays Galen Parent, who is assistant captain, and John Sears form another defensive pair.

These units protect rookie goalie Dave Inch, last year a standard for Fredericton High.

Dave Beardsley is Coach Kelly's answer to ex-Leaf Rudy Migay as a great utility forward, and gives the squad great spirit when the Devils are down.

The Devils got off to a great start last Saturday in the intercollegiate loop with a 2-2 tie

Raiders Host Mt. A.

First Intercollegiate Tussle

The Red Raiders, who have won but two games to date in six outings, will get their first taste of intercollegiate competition tonight at the Lady Beaverbrook Gym. The Red Raiders are the N.B.-P.E.I. defending champs and are once again looking for this title and possibly the Maritime title as well.

The Mt. A. squad has played one intercollegiate game thus far, defeating St. Dunstons 79-65. Last year the Raiders upset their rivals in the first game here and later in Mt. A. fought to a deadlock.

Although the Raiders' won and against St. Thomas. Dave Inch, U.N.B. goalie, was nothing less than spectacular in the game as St. Thomas outshot the Devils 38 to 18.

In the newly formed Central New Brunswick Hockey League the Red Devils hold a first place margin over the Devon Tigers. The Devils have done very well in this league which is in fact a tune-up for their intercollegiate matches.

The Red Devils combine speed and power to form a well-rounded team and the team should do well in the N.B.-P.E.I. loop this year.

It is the intention of the coach and every player on the team to retain their championship of the league so that they can once again participate in the Maritime Championships.

Preceding the highlight of the Carnival, the energetic Englishmen will play host to the Capering Co-Eds. This promises to be an exciting exhibition and one not to be missed. It is immediately after this game that the big game gets underway. Both teams are free of injuries and both will drive to their utmost for the victory. This promises to be one of the most exciting hockey games of the intercollegiate season.

Badminton

A badminton tournament was held last Saturday in the gym to pick the varsity team. The team tentatively has John MacDougall, the present Maritime Open Champion, playing men's singles, and Jack Brownell and Don Ripley playing in the men's doubles. The latter are former Maritime Intercollegiate champs.

The ladies team is composed of Mary Jean McNichol playing in the singles and Laureen MacElmon and Marcia Hickman in the doubles.

The team is tentative and anyone who did not compete is free at any time to challenge present team members.

This year the tournament will be held in Halifax and is scheduled for the middle of March.
