GARBAGE DID IT

A. E. and Standard Oil Co.'s
Water Frontage Damaged
By Banked Refuse.

ACCUMULATED BY THE BIG EDDY

At the North End, Because It
Was Dumped Too Near Shore

DURING THE PAST SUMMER

Now It Will Have to Be Cleared
Away By a Force of Men
With Shovels.

Last summer the Nugget called attention to the fact that garbage was being dumped into the river in such a way that the current carried it into the big pool at the lower end of town where it lodged and was filling in. At last it has been discovered that the system was wrong and that a large part of this matter will have to be removed.

The water front rental paid to the government by some of the larger companies in this vicinity, notably the Standard Oil Co. and the A. E. Co., is $10 per front foot, and now the privileges for which they pay this rental will become nil in a short time if the garbage at present banked up along the front of their wharves is not removed, and the system of dumping changed from that followed last summer.

"Another year's work in this respect," said Mr. Fulda this morning, "will result in shoaling the water to such an extent that they will be of little use to us. The big eddy catches all the refuse, and swings it up stream and in shore to a point just in front of our landing places, where it is deposited, and of course after a bank has once been formed of the material it grows faster than it would, at first, and the result will be, as you can readily understand, that our property will decrease in value and the revenue derived from rental will be greatly diminished, as of course we cannot be expected to pay rent for something we do not get the use of."

"I am assured, however, that a force of men will be put on soon to clear away this bank of garbage and river refuse, and that another year more caution will be used as to where this stuff is thrown into the stream."

It was suggested, through the columns of the Nugget at the time attention was called to the danger, that a system of dumping the city's garbage during the summer months might easily be arranged so as to avoid all the difficulty.

Anchors could be put well over to the other side of the Yukon, and on cables attached to them could be run self-dumping scows which could be carried out so as to be emptied into the main channel, where the current would carry it beyond the eddy.

Vault Fronts in Position.

Superintendent T. W. Fuller yesterday accomplished the heavy task of placing in position two vault fronts in the upstairs of the new postoffice building, one of which will be used by the registry department of the postoffice and the other by the government land office which will occupy quarters in the building. Each of the vaults weigh 3300 pounds and it was no small task to take them up the stairs and place them in position. The various government offices for which the building is intended will be moved into it within the coming two weeks. Manager Clegg and his force of the government telegraph, will still occupy their present building on the reservation for living quarters.

Married in Germany.

Among the pioneer merchants of Dawson none are better nor more favorably known than Mr. Emil Mohr, of the firm of Mohr & Wilkins, grocers, who left here last July on a visit to the Paris exposition and to his aged parents and the scenes of his childhood in Germany. By the last mail word was received from Mr. Mohr to the effect that since his return to the "Fatherland" he has married a lady who was a former schoolmate and friend of his youth. Mr. Mohr will possibly reach Dawson accompanied by his bride some time in February or March.

Concerning Garbage.

Beginning today all garbage from the city must be hauled down the river and dumped on the ice at a point opposite the high bluff north of the city, which is half a mile below St. Mary's hospital. This is in conformance with an order issued by the Yukon council at the suggestion of the health officer and the police will see that it is rigidly enforced. This will be the means of preventing several thousand tons of an unsightly conglomeration from accumulating on the ice in front of the city as was the case last year. Already the new dumping ground can be reached from the city on the shore ice which has formed around the bluff, and woe be unto him who disobeys the order which is now in full force and effect.

The Weather.

The government thermometer at the barracks registered nine degrees below zero this morning which, with one exception, the morning of October 20th, when it was ten below, was the coldest morning of the season. Present indications are that tonight the mercury will go lower by several degrees than it did last night.

Some Daily News Gems.

A few days ago the Daily News contained a verbatim write up of a fire by one of its own reporters, called editorial attention to the matter and then fired the reporter. While the fire report was a gem of purest ray serene, it could not hold a candle to a few glittering emeralds that have since appeared in that paper and which evidently met with approbation at the editorial desk. Here is one found in the theater writeup of the News of Tuesday:

"John A. Flynn, the principal exploiter of the terrestrial and universe in particular, seemed to be in rather a mundane than heavenly quest provoking merriment in monstrous absurdities, after all the best things to make us laugh. The Svengali of the cast by Townsend was hypnotic and burlesque as need be to call forth shapely figures from misty realms, to be the apotheosis of all who revel in things close to nature."

Under the heading "Dawson Markets" the same paper perpetrated the following on an intelligent public yesterday:

"The prices of commodities in this city are steady, with tendency to advance. Hard wheat flour, fresh vegetables, ham, bacon and fresh meats show a small advance. Canned meats and canned goods in general are dragging. Hay, feed and grain are advancing and will be high before spring. Forty tons are consumed daily to feed the large number of horses and cattle. A shortage is hourly looked for, owing to the large amount in storage and to the usual decrease in the number of stock when the plugs and worthless animals are killed."

UNCOVER YOUR ARM

When the Public Vaccinator Calls, As He Will Within a Few Days.

VACCINATION IS NOW COMPULSORY

And Will Be Commenced as Soon as the Points Arrive.

HOUSE TO HOUSE VISITS

Will Be Made By the Vaccinators to Be Appointed—Present State of Smallpox Infection.

According to the recent ordinance bearing upon the smallpox question, vaccination is now compulsory. That it will be compulsory as soon as the vaccine points now on the way arrive, and the appointment of the public vaccinators is made.

Vaccination will be insisted upon in all cases where it has not been successfully performed within seven years, or the people who have had smallpox.

How many vaccinators will be appointed has not yet been decided, nor their mode of procedure established, but the plan suggested by the health officer is that there be at least two stations for the purpose established in Dawson or vaccinators appointed to make a house to house canvass both in the city and on the creeks. This will take a large staff to accomplish, and entail a heavy expense, but it is quite probable that the suggestion will be acted upon.

A heavy consignment of vaccine points are en route by mail from various points, but chiefly from Toronto and Vancouver. Altogether there have been ordered about 13,000 points, 10,000 of which are embodied in one shipment. The first lot of these is expected to arrive today, as the mail left Stewart yesterday morning in a canoe.

The smallpox situation is about this: Officially there are reported to be about 17 cases at the hospitals at Gold Run, Grand Forks and the mouth of Bonanza.

"Cases have repeatedly been found at the Forks and at Gold Run which had never been in the hospital at all, and had not been heard of before," said Dr. McArthur this morning, "and the fact of the matter is we do not know where the next case may come from. It is just as apt to develop in Dawson as anywhere else."

Here was a case the other day, taken from a gambling house where the man knew that smallpox was prevalent; had known of people having it, and yet he had never taken the trouble to be vaccinated or in any way protect himself. He must have known that his position was one of exposure, and that with the number of people constantly coming and going, the constantly crowded condition of the room and the close air, there was danger of contagion.

"If the people themselves will not take every precaution to guard against infection, it is very hard to work effectively."

There are other physicians of wide practice who place the number of smallpox cases at nearly double that of the official report, and one very prominent practitioner said a day or two since that there were 30 cases. He said that this was largely due to people who, finding that there was smallpox in the house, kept it there and said nothing, thereby spreading the disease instead of helping to eliminate it.

"This outbreak," said the same gentleman, "will cost the government in the neighborhood of $70,000 before it is altogether done away with."

For Future Reference.

The official record of the weather and the dates of the closings and openings of the Yukon river as kept by Sergeant-Major Tucker, of the police, will, in years to come, constitute an interesting reference to people who are then in this part of the country. If known now, the dates of the closing and opening of the river for the past 10 or 20 years would be very interesting statistics and, taken with other features of the season, would enable prognosticators to be much more accurate than it is possible to be where dates can not be more than guessed at. There is no more important feature in the whole category of official statistical work than is that performed by Sergeant-Major Tucker.

All Saints Day.

Today being All Saints' day, there was no police court, but the day was not generally observed, the banks and business houses remaining open to the public as usual. St. Mary's school was dismissed for the day.

Fortymile Still Closed.

As stated in Tuesday's issue of the Nugget, the Yukon river closed at Fortymile Monday evening at 4 o'clock and at 10 o'clock this morning it was still closed, notwithstanding the assertion of 15 or 20 "Jack McQuestens" in Dawson that the jam would surely break at Fortymile once and possibly twice before the river would close for the winter. As the jam must now be many miles in length, there is little chance that it will break before the arrival of the gladsome springtime. It is not thought that the ice will run in front of Dawson more than 48 hours longer.

Money Lost and Won.

When last midnight appeared on the arena of time and November was ushered in, the ice in the river in front of Dawson was still moving with the result that considerable money changed hands today, those who got chilly two weeks ago and backed their feelings with money that the river would be closed by the first of November, forking over the same money to students of moonology who were confident that today the ice would still be moving. Another list of confident men is composed of those who went further into moonology and saw that Luna is billed to get full on the 6th, went so far as to bet money that the ice will still be moving by noon of the 5th, but no new even bets on this lay are being listed today.

A WAR DEMOCRATS VIEWS

He Ridicules "G. A. R." on His Narrow Mindedness.

Was Himself a Soldier in the Civil "Unpleasantness" for Five Years and Is Not a Pensioner.

Editor Nugget:
I have waited nearly a week on some one else to reply to the silly vapors of "G. A. R." who says he was shot full of rebel lead by Democrats 37 years ago and that he bled all over the South in defence of his country. He neglected to tell us how much pension he is drawing and also how many cords of wood he has whittled away since Lee's surrender, while engaged in sitting around fighting his battles all over again. "G. A. R." also neglected to tell us whether his wounds were in front or in his back, but I will go him two to one that he uses two mirrors to see them. He has apparently forgotten that there were more Democrats in the federal army than Republicans when the war began, and the only thing that caused them to forsake their party was that the Southerners were almost unanimously Democratic.

The writer entered the war in '61 and was in it until after Lee's surrender and for 18 more months, being in New Orleans with Ben Butler, and I am one old soldier who has never asked, nor would I accept from my government a pension; I have never missed an opportunity to vote for a Democratic candidate or president for the very good reason that it is the party of the people, not of the few, the party of the people and sinew and not of the corporations and trusts and of which Mark Hanna and his ilk are the trade mark. But do not worry, "G. A. R." Bryan will be elected, but your pension will go on just the same; at the same time there are many things now going on that will be discontinued after his election, and among them are the causes which now cause over 200,000 men in one state to be out of work while their children are crying for bread. And yet this is, we are told, the period of prosperity, of full dinner pails and of general good times. If this is prosperity, may God deliver us from a continuation of it!

WAR DEMOCRAT.

A Most Noble Response.

Is it not in forgetfulness of all natural laws that cities are built where they appear to invite a disaster, such as has come to Galveston? Yet, so it has been, and so it will be. In 1872 the entire eastern part of Galveston was swept away by a tidal wave. In this instance the hurricane blew at the rate of 80 (or, perhaps, more) miles an hour with terrible results.

But the need of the suffering people of Galveston touched the most tender chord of our common nature and quickened responsive impulses into generous deeds. It is one of the noblest characteristics of the American people to help quickly and give liberally the moment a calamity has overtaken any city or region in our vast country. The eagerness and liberality with which the means of immediate relief were given from every community of the land makes a man prouder of his country and the favored affiliations of our national existence. Nowhere has there been a niggardly or reluctant giving, and everywhere the pressing necessity of immediate assistance has been recognized. The prompt cheerfulness of the American people in hastening to the relief of suffering brethren is a touching and beautiful American characteristic. Whether it be found in our own land or beyond the seas, whether it be fire or plague, or distress of any kind, the American readiness to help is limited only by the pressing necessity and ability. A meeting of Americans was called in Paris, and within 15 minutes 50,000 francs were given, and a committee appointed to carry forward relief work. From all parts of the United States and some portions of England many thousands of dollars are pouring in for the relief of the destitute storm sufferers. Train loads of provisions and clothing are hurrying toward Houston and Galveston, and the refugees are being made as comfortable as possible. This is practical charity, indeed.

By envious foreign critics we have been characterized as a sordid commercial people, steeped in the avarice of financial ambition, and immune to the gentler emotions. Nothing could more completely give the lie to this slander than the spontaneous uprising to succor the survivors of the terrible storm. Already nearly a million and a half has been forwarded, contributions are pouring in, and so long as aid is needed it will be supplied. There is no thought but to do what money can accomplish and compassion can suggest to alleviate the afflictions of those who would be crushed, indeed, if to their anguish for their dead should be added a cold neglect of the living.

In such a work as this the necessity of having the money disbursed where it is most needed and will do the most good, and of allowing none of it to be diverted from the purpose for which it is given, is a plain business proposition that has not been overlooked in this instance. The character of men handling the funds in all the cities of the country and at the seat of disaster is a guarantee that moneys subscribed are promptly forwarded, and that they afford relief where relief is most needed. Commiseration now means help and it will be given until the smitten people of Galveston are again able to help themselves.—Illustrated Home Journal.

Had to Take His Tip.

An old lady of great wealth was one of the regular customers at a large store. She was inordinately fond of dress, spending a fortune thus in a year, but her chief peculiarity lay in her habit of always presenting the floorwalker with a sixpence.

This munificent gift was ostentatiously bestowed with a patronizing smile, and the formula, repeated in a loud, clear voice, heard all over the ground floor: "Here, sir, is sixpence. Put it to a good use." And the immaculately dressed floorwalker had, in the firm's interest, with red face, to accept the "gift."

Several times he tried to be "absent" when the old lady was about to depart, but on these occasions she called in a loud tone for the floorwalker who had to come and take his tip.—London Telegraph.

SLORAH CASE POSTPONED

For Reasons Given By Attorney Bleeker for the Defense.

The Case Will Be Heard on the Fifteenth Instead of the Sixth of This Month.

Attorney Bleeker who has the defense of James Slorah, accused of the murder of Pearl Mitchell, in hand has contended since the preliminary hearing of his client that he should have more time in which to prepare his case, and was disappointed when the trial was set for the 6th of the present month. Owing to his efforts in this direction the trial has been postponed till the 15th inst.

Mr. Bleeker yesterday made representations to Mr. Justice Dugas which resulted in the granting of further time as noticed.

The trial of civil cases will commence tomorrow in the territorial court, but there will be no jury trial heard earlier than the 15th when the Slorah case comes on.

Mail Hourly Expected.

The consignment of mail consisting of 500 pounds which reached the mouth of Stewart river day before yesterday evening in a canoe, is now hourly expected to arrive in Dawson, although up to noon today it had not been reported as having been sighted at Ogilvie, the last telegraph station; but it is thought it probably passed there at night and unseen. It is two weeks tomorrow since this batch of mail left Whitehorse, and the travel, after the first day or two, has all been in the running ice; and unless it arrives in Dawson in the very near future, there is a strong possibility that the journey will be completed with sleds.

Not Going Begging.

The fact that the Yukon council is reported to be about to appoint a coterie of public vaccinators from among the ranks of the local medical practitioners, and the further fact that there will probably be a daily salary of possibly $25 go with the appointment, is causing a few of the profession whose office rent is probably the greatest mountain in their various pathways of life, to diligently seek for a place on the list of arm scatchers. Instead of the position wandering about in quest of the man, the knights of the saddlebags are seeking the position.

Light and Truth Again.

Editor Daily Nugget:
If mere words jumbled together haphazardly could be called arguments, that one column ebullition in your issue of Wednesday signed "California Republican" might pass muster. But as quality not quantity is the criterion, my boy, it won't do; caetum non est pictum! There is no denying the facts stated previously, only justification of the deplorable conditions attempted with a pitiable result. A test case in anti-trust proceedings in 1888, when the Democratic party had control of the national government, is given credit for to the Republican party; also credit is claimed for McKinley for the favorable crop conditions in the States and the simultaneous good marketing in Europe. Admission is made to the starvation argument, but the responsibility loaded on to the shoulders of the Democratic party because of the competition of southern coal-mined, though, by Republican capitalists of the north. Really, by debarring ignorance from the polling stations and eliminating the noxious feature of voting cattle from politics, Bryan may have a chance to be president; but surely McKinley is liable to get Dawson's gift, because this is Canada, outside of the jurisdiction of the States.

LIGHT AND TRUTH.

Winter Travel.

Present indications are that there will be much more light travel over the ice between Dawson and the outside this winter than last, although there will probably be less freighting. A number of people who were unable to get away on the last steamers have wound up their business affairs and are waiting the stopping of the ice and will start almost immediately after it stops. The fact that it will be only necessary to travel as far as Whitehorse before getting a train is greatly in favor of the ice traveler this year, as Lakes Marsh, Tagish and Bennett have heretofore been considered the worst part of the trip owing to the heavy and almost continuous storms which prevail there in the winter season.

Hypnotizing the Will.

Charles Godfrey Leland in his book gives a hint that brain workers generally may profit by. Taking the familiar fact that if one lies down to sleep determined to get up, say, at 6 o'clock, he will probably awaken at that hour, Mr. Leland has carried the idea further and made a practical application of it in will suggestion. In other words, Mr. Leland affirms, backed by his own experience, that if one on lying down to sleep at night will resolutely fix in his mind what he will do the next day he will be greatly aided in the doing of it. The will is hypnotized, so to speak, and proceeds to act upon the suggestion. Mr. Leland even asserts a man can cure himself of the habit of profanity, of intemperance and can to a remarkable degree even control fatigue, hunger and thirst. If all that Mr. Leland claims for his method be true, he has lighted upon a wonderful aid in directing the will and energies of man.—Argonaut.

The King Was Better.

A story illustrating the good sense and humor of the late King Humbert is told at the expense of his physician, Dr. Saglione. Sometimes the king, from his hunting lodge of Castle Fusano went to the sea and amused himself by shoveling sand into a cart. "Take care, your majesty," said Saglione one day, "not to perspire too much." "Ah, my dear Signor Doctor," answered the king, resting his chin on his two hands that grasped the handle of his spade, "this muscular exercise does me much more good than your prescriptions." "Yes, but one must abuse nothing." "But I tell you that I feel very well, and you are afraid you see in this poor shovel a competitor." And, laughing heartily, the king finished filling his cart.

However, by exposing himself in every way without exercising any care, the king contracted bronchitis, which took a chronic form and gave him a rather troublesome cough. This cough was a source of anxiety to the faithful doctor, as he could not convince his patient of the necessity for taking medicine. Occasionally the doctor was even sent away abruptly by the king, who would say, "I have not called you. Why did you come? You may go. I thank you very much."

One evening, however, the doctor thought he had gained his point, and he prepared for the king in his bedroom the powders he was to take during the night. The next morning Dr. Saglione rose very early, being very anxious to know the effect of his medicine. He was received in the bedroom and at once asked, "Well, how does your majesty feel this morning?"

"Much better—I may say quite well," was the response. "Ah," observed the doctor, rubbing his hands with satisfaction, "you see the results of listening to reason."

"What do you mean?" asked the king. "The powders!" "Bravo!" shouted Humbert. "Go into the next room and see what you can find."

The powders were in the waste paper basket.—Ex.

A Tip for the Jokers.

"It's a funny thing," said the man with the bad cigar, who had been reading day before yesterday's paper.

"What's that?" asked the young man with the phenomenally short coat. "Why, the way these fellows that write jokes for newspapers get things tangled up," replied the first speaker. "How is that?" asked the long legged young man.

"Why, look here," continued the man with the bad cigar warmly. "Did you ever read a Dutch joke in the papers where two Germans are supposed to be talking to each other?"

"Sure I did," said the tall young man, yawning languidly.

"Well, did you ever notice that every time the guy that wrote the joke has been jabbering at each other in broken English? What do you think of this?"

He picked up the paper again and after hunting a few moments read as follows: "Leberwurst—Heinrich, vy iss it ven you bock beer drink yet that you vant to yump alretty?"

Schwarzkoppen—Maypie it iss vonce because die beer is mit hops filled up. No?

"Now, that's a good thing, isn't it?" went on the man with the bad cigar. "If those two Germans wanted to talk to each other, do you suppose they would amble around in broken English? No; they would spiel it all out in German—that they both understand. Suppose you and I were in Germany for a visit and I wanted to tell you about some sight I had seen, would I try to tell you in bum German that neither of us could speak or would I talk English? They make me tired."

"But that would spoil the joke," protested the tall young man. "Huh!" snorted the other. "Some things are too bad to spoil."

And then the incident was considered closed.—Ex.

Would Change It Himself.

"It's a woman's privilege to change her mind, you know," she said. "That's right," he replied brutally, "and I don't blame her a bit. If I had the average feminine mind I'd change it myself."

However, he already had the reputation of being a "mean old thing," so very little harm was done.

To Use on His Wife.

Dremer—Who was the poet who sang of "the charm that maketh woman-kind?"

Henpeck—I don't know. I wonder if a fellow could buy any of it anywhere nowadays.

Dremer—Any of what?

Henpeck—Of the charm that maketh woman kind.

COMING AND GOING.

Roy Reed and wife of French Hill, are passing a few days in the metropolis, and can be found by their friends at the Regina.

Pete Goseline, of No. 8 Last Chance, is in the city buying a large amount of the latest machinery to be used this winter on his claim. He reports great activity in mining matters on Last Chance, and says that a great amount of winter work will be done there this year, and that the work is fully justified by the indications which denote a heavy output of gold at the spring washup.

The Terpsichoreans.

Some 35 gentlemen who delight to shake the light fantastic toe, have banded themselves together under the name of the "Terpsichoreans," and their object is to give social hops every fortnight during the winter.

The initial dance will be given to-morrow night in Fraternity hall. A limited number of invitations will be issued for each dance, as the hall will not accommodate a large crowd.

Attorney Thornburn is the president and Mr. Soule and Mr. Taggart, respectively, the secretary and treasurer of the new society.

A Chance for Epicures.

Bruce & Hall, of the Holborn have taken another step in the right direction to make their cafe the most popular eating house in Dawson. The restaurant has now seen over one year's life and during that time has enjoyed an enviable patronage among the best people of Dawson.

The innovation referred to is a new broiler, upon which juicy steaks, chops or a small bird can now be broiled to suit the palate of the most fastidious. The fuel used is charcoal, which by the evenness and strength of its heat gives the most satisfactory results.

The new acquisition was constructed by Holmes, Miller & Co., and is now in constant use. An experienced chef who has had long experience with the "gridiron" has been placed in charge of that department.

Held Up His Leg.

The following good story is told of a Glasgow magistrate: In Scottish courts of law witnesses repeat the oath with the right hand raised. On one occasion, however, the magistrate found a difficulty.

"Hold up your right arm," he commanded.

"I cannae dae 't," said the witness. "Why not?"

"Got shot in the arm."

"Then you hold up your left."

"Canna dae that, ayther; got shot in the ither arm tae."

"Then hold up your leg!" responded the irate magistrate. "No man can be sworn in this court without holding up something."

Cheap Notoriety.

"Bumberly put on a shirt waist and an hour afterward was put out of the best restaurant in town."

"Yes!"

"All he went in for was a match."

Best imported wines and liquors at the Regina.
