The prospects of the Nova Scotia Provincial Fair this year, which opens on September 14th and continues until September 21st, are unusually bright being the only Exhibition in the Maritime Provinces.

Many exhibitors who have heretofore selected one or other of the cities outside of Halifax as the point for showing are this year making application with the Secretary for space at Halifax.

The applications to hand bespeak the finest display in every department ever seen in Nova Scotia.

The advertisement reappears in this issue and is well worthy of perusal. The prize list has been revised to conform to the best interests of the province at large.

In many departments large increases have been provided for, and these should have the effect of creating still keener competitions.

FRUIT TRANSPORTATION

Professor Robertson, Dominion commissioner of agriculture and dairying and Hon. Mr. Fisher, have returned from England, where they had a conference with steamship owners and importers, with a view of obtaining better shipping facilities for our fruit and other perishable produce. Mr. Robertson said to a reporter: "One of the main objects of our visit was to meet owners and agents of steamship lines to arrange for improved accommodation for the carrying of cheese and apples, especially, that is for mechanical refrigerators and the circulation of cool air. The steamship company undertook to make a beginning with an equipment of four steamers sailing to London, Liverpool and Glasgow. They are also fitting all their steamers with fans for the continuous circulation of air. The Thompson line are putting the improved refrigeration and circulation system in three of their steamers sailing for London, and are improving the cargo ventilation on the other vessels of their line. I found the steamship owners, with one exception, very favorably disposed to meet the wishes of the agricultural department in this matter. The need of our commerce is safe rather than quick carriage, that is, transportation without deterioration of the products carried. The minister and I had public meetings with importing merchants and shipping men in various places to discuss improvements which would give our products a better place and a larger share in the British market. The meetings were largely attended. We also had conferences with the leading importers of various lines, to get confidential information as to what, in their opinion, is needed in regard to packing, marketing, shipping, etc., of Canadian food products to meet the wants of their customers."

WATERVILLE

August 5th.—On Saturday last the Pleasant Hour Club of Waterville and Cambridge with invited friends spent the day picnicking at Aberdeen beach. The day being charming quite a large number attended. Taking the early train, they arrived at the place of pleasure early in the day, leaving again by the night express. The day passed pleasantly, bathing, boating and eating being the principal sports, while two of the young men tried wheeling to Windsor over the hot and dusty roads. No doubt their feelings can be better imagined than described on their return. The picnickers returned here late in the evening, singing the praises of Aberdeen beach. Mr. and Mrs. Abbott who have been visiting friends in the vicinity, returned to Bridgetown on Saturday. Miss Burgess and Jessie Bowles ate spending a few days with friends at Port Williams. Miss Lada Woodroffe spent Sunday with friends at Hantsport. Mr. F. W. Bird has moved from his former place in D.G. Hattie's harness shop to the shop formerly occupied by Thompson Co. on North street. Mr. Wiley West and D. G. Hattie spent Sunday at Black Rock. Miss Bessie McIntosh, who was visiting at Halifax, returned home by Saturday night's express. Mr. Boyd Bowles spent Sunday visiting friends at Windsor. Picnics appear to be all the rage now. The Baptist Sunday School are having one at Harborsville on Wednesday. Liniment Cures Colds etc.

nesday and the Presbyterian school are to have theirs at Brooklyn street corner on Thursday of this week.

In our items today we might be justified in using the words of a wester—that death spared not the rich and as little did it forget the poor. When the news that one of the young men formerly of this place and late years a citizen of New York, in the person of John Bond, son of the well known farmer, Mr. Henry Bond, who was killed last week while at work on the roof of a building in N.Y., by chance caught hold of a wire charged with electricity, which drew him at once from the building and falling head foremost to the pavement, crushed his skull. A workman who was engaged with him, on seeing him on the wire spoke to him but received no answer, and on trying to release him received so severe a shock that he was unable to do anything to assist him. Mr. Bond was unconscious before he fell to the pavement. The sympathy of the friends is extended to the bereaved family.

Loss Of Flesh

If you find yourself falling below normal weight there is danger. The use of fish oils can temporarily add fat, but will never build up healthy tissues. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food acts through the blood and nervous system and carries new life and energy to every nook and corner of the body. It regulates the various organs of the body, makes the appetite good, adds healthy flesh and replaces the tissues wasted by disease. Naturally and gradually this food cures restores color to the cheeks, increases weight of the body and thoroughly overcomes disease.

Scotch Village

August 5th.—Again we chronicle the death of another, Wm. T. Dodge, aged 78. For some years he has been subject to spells of dizziness. On Monday he took Miss J. Anthony to Newport Station, she again returned to Boston, where she has been for a number of years. Arriving there he fell backwards out of his wagon, making a small cut on his head. He soon recovered and started for home. At Sweet's Corner, he became unconscious, and with some difficulty they got him home. He remained unconscious until death at midnight. On Wednesday the remains were placed in the Newport Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Fraser officiating. He leaves a widow, two daughters and one son in the States.

Much sympathy is felt for the family of Mr. Benson Harvey during the serious illness of Mrs. Harvey. It is hoped she may be spared them, though the hope is a slender one. Haying is about finished and we are having some timely showers for the root and grain crops.

Canada And United States

Boston, Mass., July 30.—The subject of reciprocity with Canada came before the Board of Directors of the Boston Chamber of Commerce today. This is a subject upon which the chamber has for several years taken a pronounced stand, advocating the freest possible exchange of commodities between the two countries through an international treaty providing for reciprocity concessions. At the meeting today, the Secretary of the chamber, Mr. Preston was directed to take immediate steps to place tangible form, by petitions and otherwise, the desires of the business men of the different cities and manufacturing towns of Massachusetts for such legislation as will facilitate the exchange of commodities with the Dominion of Canada.

The Cause Of Hay Fever

It's a microbe that floats in the air, gets into the throat and lungs, develops rapidly, excites inflammation, etc. The cause is as simple as a thistle in the finger. Extract the thistle away goes the pain. Destroy the Hay Fever germ—and get well. That's why Catarrh acts on us marvellously in Hay Fever. Its fragrant vapor to you brings cure, but to the microbe death. Catarrh is as quick to act on these microscopic organisms as lightning. Prevents as well as cures, and is always successful. Druggists, 25c and, or Poison & Co., Kingston, Ont. Twenty five head of Nova Scotia cattle have been entered for the Toronto Industrial Fair. The freight rates from the upper provinces to St. John and Halifax have been reduced. A special from Windsor Ontario, says: Disclosure of discrimination of freight rates on corn from Windsor in favor of Detroit, before Prof. McLean government commissioner on freight rates, has led to quick redress of grievance. A reduction of nine cents per hundred pounds on corn has been announced. The local rate from Windsor to Halifax and points in Nova Scotia was 27 1/2 cents. The new rate to these points is 19 1/2 cents and the export rate is still lower.

Burlington

We have had excellent weather all through the haying season and the farmers are about done with their hay. Occasional showers help the grain and other crops which show every prospect for a good harvest.

Wire fences seem to have been the order of the day in Burlington this season and now another is being added to the number which have already been built. Capt. John Liswell is putting a nice wire fence in front of his property, under the management of Mr. Reuben Santori.

Mr. A. S. Sanford, with his staff of workmen, will return to Port Williams soon, to resume work on the wharf.

Our shopkeepers, Capt. Mann and Capt. Liswell, are doing a good trade this summer, supplies arriving from St. John, N. B., almost every week. Mr. E. Zwicker of Summerville, and a friend who came to see his uncle were in Burlington last week.

Mr. Stanley Card has built a fine dory for use on the river during the fall. We have not seen Mr. Card's boat, but judging from past work we can say it is all right.

Cook's Cotton Root Compound is especially used monthly by over 2,000,000 Ladies, Sick, chronic, Ladies, and your druggist for Cook's Cotton Root Compound. Take no other, as all mixtures, pills and injections are dangerous. Price, No. 1, 25c per box; No. 2, 50c per box; No. 3, 75c per box. No. 4, 1.00 per box. The Cook Compound Winsor, Ont. Stamp. The Cook Compound Winsor, Ont. Stamp. No. 1 and 2 sold and recommended by all responsible druggists in Canada.

No. 1 and No. 2 are sold in Kentville by R. Masters and G. O. McDougall, druggists

Scotch Village

Haying is progressing very rapidly, those having plenty of help being finished. The crop is reported good on uplands, while dyke lands are lighter. The weather has been very fine, and much too dry for the growing crops. The pastures are brown and dry.

Mr. D. W. Smith since his return from G. Henville, has erected a very neat barn.

Mr. Congdon is moving his portable mill from Woodville to the village, where quite a quantity of material awaits him. His men in the meantime are haying.

Mr. Philip McInnis has returned to Bristol, N. H. He finds he can do better in the neighboring Republic than in the land of his birth.

Mac's sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. I. Adams in the loss of their first born, a bright little fellow of two years, of Meningitis.

Miss Basine Murphy has come to stay the summer with her sister-in-law, Mrs. O. C. Murphy.

Hillford

Crops are suffering from continued drought although recent showers did some good.

An unusual scarcity of blue-berries is reported by persons that have visited the berrying ground.

Miss Ethel Dill of St. Croix is visiting Mrs. Robie Spence.

The Misses Leano of Berlin Falls, who have been visiting their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Leano, are spending the week with Mrs. Shearer of Burlington.

Miss Jennie Salter of Boston is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. B. Reynolds.

Mr. H. O'Brien of Noel is visiting her father, Mr. Archibald Sanford.

Alton Sanford who cut his knee with a scythe recently, is slowly recovering.

Mauntee A. Reynolds of Fitchburg, in company with his sister, Mrs. A. F. Sanford, is expected at their father's J. B. Reynolds tomorrow.

Dr. Moore, while attending a patient here one day this week, was left by his horse. The genial M.D. started in pursuit and after a long run nearly overtook the animal. But a mile is as good as a miss, for ere the doctor had grasped the rein the animal ran away. Being stopped farther along, the animal ran up a rough cut in the lane and came to a standstill at the back pasture bars. No Misard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Look at your tongue. Is it coated? Then you have a bad taste in your mouth every morning. Your appetite is poor, and food distresses you. You have frequent headaches and are often dizzy. Your stomach is weak and your bowels are always constipated.

There's an old and reliable cure:

Ayer's Pills

Don't take a cathartic dose and then stop. Better take a laxative dose each night, just enough to cause one good free movement the day following.

You feel better the very next day. Your appetite returns, your dyspepsia is cured, your headaches pass away, your tongue clears up, your liver acts well, and your bowels no longer give you trouble.

Price, 25 cents. All druggists.

"I have taken Ayer's Pills for 25 years, and I consider them the best made. One pill does me more good than half a box of any other kind I have ever tried."

Mrs. N. E. TALBOT, March 20, 1898, Arrington, Kans.

Owing to a remarkable lack of rain, the ground has become very dry, pastures have dried up and vegetation and growing crops are suffering. There was quite a crowd of sports down at the mouth of the Half Way River here on Monday to see the trial races of the miniature sailing vessels.

The usual rain which accompanies their outings put in its appearance, and there was a good smart shower. Some one said they should have gone earlier, it has been so dry. If picnics have a tendency to bring rain, ever body should take one. People wouldn't mind much getting wet if there was a good soaking rain now.

PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS have found Pain-Killer very useful. There is nothing equal to it in all cases of bowel troubles. Avoid substitutes. There is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis'. 25c. and 50c.

A Halifax despatch states that the election petition against Sir C. H. Tupper was dismissed by Justice Meagher last week.

THE RACE

Does not depend on the start but on the finish. It's staying power which carries many a runner to victory. It's like that in business. Many a man starts off in the race for business success with a burst of speed which seems to assure victory. Presently he begins to falter and at last he falls and fails. The cause? Generally "stomach trouble." No man is stronger than his stomach. Business haste leads to careless and irregular eating. The stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition become diseased. The body is inadequately nourished and so grows weak.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It strengthens the stomach and so strengthens the whole body which depends on the stomach for the nourishment from which strength is made.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. Accept no substitute for the "Discovery." There is no medicine "just as good" for diseases of the stomach and allied organs.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has performed a wonderful cure, writes Mr. M. H. House of Charleston, Franklin Co., Ark. "I had the worst case of dyspepsia. The doctors say that they ever saw. After trying seven doctors and everything I could hear of, with no benefit, I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and now I am cured."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

GENERAL NEWS

A LOTTERY FOR SETTLERS

One of the greatest lotteries in history was held at El Reno, Oklahoma Territory, Monday morning. It was conducted by the Federal Government in disposing of 13,000 quarter section claims thrown open to settlement on the Kiowa-Comanche reservation.

No public event in years in the south west has attracted so much attention as this one—the initiation of a new method of disposing of Government lands. One hundred and sixty seven thousand persons, each with one chance in thirteen of winning a homestead, watched the event here at a distance for the applicants come from every State in the Union. The drawing took place on a platform built for the purpose in the open air a few blocks from the center of El Reno. Situated at the foot of several small hills which formed a perfect amphitheatre, the platform was the cynosure of thousands of eyes. People occupied every inch almost of the space around about and every movement of the small space below was watched with the most intense interest.

El Reno Monday cared for fully 15,000 people and the trains that came in during the night and morning, doubled the number. Hundreds of others are still bound this way.

57-62 The Critical Age

Height of vigor past—nature's power showing down vitality less recuperative power less, endurance less. Stop the progress of decay, tone up the weakened nerve centres, impart vigor to the brain, prepare for the crisis. A means of re-markable potency in the renewal of decreasing vigor is found in Ferrozone. It brightens up the whole being, imparts a sense of power and strength. By the use of Ferrozone, old age is pushed back twenty years. Ferrozone gives strength, vigor, endurance, vim. Your druggist has it. Get a box today. At Geo. C. Mc Dougalls.

Rapid Progress.—I must say, doctor, that in the past ten years the science of medicine has made no progress at all.

Excuse me—no progress? Formerly I got $1 per visit, and now I get $3.

New Color in the Cheeks Richness in the Blood

And Health, Vigor and Strength in the Whole System When Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is Used.

Palleness of the gums, lips and inside of eyelids, nervousness, weakness, indigestion, headache and drowsiness are the symptoms common to chlorosis and anemia.

These symptoms indicate that the blood is thin and watery, and does not contain sufficient nourishment—symptoms that disappear when Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is used to build up the body and fill the shrivelled arteries with rich, red, life-sustaining blood.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a special formula devised especially for all diseases arising from an exhausted condition of the blood and nerves, and has proved signally successful as a cure for anemia and chlorosis.

In fact it cannot fail to cure these ailments, because it goes directly to form new red corpuscles in the blood, and so nourishes and restores the system to health and vigor.

It is of incalculable worth to women suffering from the weaknesses and irregularities peculiar to their sex, and is evidenced by the grateful testimonials published from time to time in the daily press.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorative; 50 cents a box at all dealers, or Edman-son, Bates & Co., Toronto.

In Her Eyes.

The Bearded Lady—I don't see how she could marry him. Why, he drinks terribly and is subject to delirium tremens.

The Circassian Girl—It would take more than that to scare her. Isn't she an experienced snake charmer?—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Anything For Pacification. "Regina, cook says dinner was late because the kitchen clock is out of order."

"Well, lend her your gold watch, Reddy. We can't have her getting mad and going off right in the middle of house cleaning."—Chicago Record.

Her Idea of It.

"What is your idea of an egotist?" asked Willie Washington conversationally.

"An egotist," answered Miss Cayenne thoughtfully, "differs from the rest of mankind only in one respect. Every person feels at heart a certain sense of superiority. But the egotist has sufficient courage to publicly admit his opinion."—Washington Star.

Heat of the Stars.

Experiments at the Yerkes observatory have led to certain results on the heat of the stars that may be summarized as follows: The apparatus employed was sensitive enough to register the heat received from a candle 15 miles distant. The heat received from Arcturus was equivalent to the heat received from a candle at a distance of about six miles.

The Difference.

Lady—I see you advertise home-made bread?

Baker—Yes, ma'am.

Lady—Does it taste like homemade?

Baker—No, indeed, ma'am. It's sweet and light.

Many of the Western States are experiencing a drought. Scientists tell us that it is mostly due to the cutting down of our forests. They have told us, and are telling that if we persist in cutting down our wooded land faster than we grow new ones to take their places we shall eventually change our climate for the worse.

Many years ago it used to be said that no person would ever run 100 yards in ten seconds and no horse would ever trot a mile in two minutes. These as well as other prophecies have been disproved. Many of the low records are being put down to a much lower mark.

The steamer Deutschland has made the trip between this country and Europe in five days, and now proposes to make it in three days and a half by the use of the turbine wheel and by using crude Texas petroleum as fuel.

The following statement made by the Halifax Chronicle recently contains more than a grain of truth.
'For one thing, however we can all be devoutly thankful—the days of "the party organ" are definitely numbered.

Inspecting The D.A.R. And Steamship Lines

The officials of the Dominion Atlantic Railway are on a tour of inspection of the line with its steamship connections. Vice President Thos. Ronald and his eldest son, Secretary R. L. Campbell, Mr. Archibald Denny, builder of the Shamrock II who is a director have all recently arrived from England and came to Yarmouth from Boston on Friday.

On Monday after a visit to the different car shops in Kentville the Mayor and Councilors called on these officials at their private car and presented them with an address. They inspected the Cornwallis branch and on Wednesday left for a tour over the Central railway to Lunenburg. They returned to Kentville that evening and gave a smoking concert to the employees in the railway restaurant. A very pleasant evening was spent there being given and responded to. Wednesday night they received a number of friends at the Halifax Hotel in Halifax.

Accident

Last Wednesday afternoon while Mrs. B. Jordan and little daughter accompanied by Mrs. Greenwald and daughter of Dorchester, Mass., were returning home from Moore's Falls in a carriage they came near meeting with a very serious accident. When between Rev. P. M. Holden's and Geo. Reeves the horse started to run and when Mrs. Jordan pulled in, the left hand rein broke. Something frightened the horse and it took to running away. There was nothing for the occupants to do but sit still or jump out for if they persisted in pulling the rein it would have steered the horse over the bank. Coming down the hill it kept close to the fence and the wheels ripped the boards off. When Hiltz's corner was reached the horse turned to the right and the team brought up against a water pipe covering at the bridge and the team was turned over throwing the occupants out, with the carriage on top of them.

The Supply for National Refinery

From the Hanford Journal, Hanford, California, July 23rd, 1901.

The National Oil Refinery that the Boston companies under which L. H. Bartlett is acting as manager is to install at Fort Costa is rapidly being planned and the erection of the buildings will soon be under way. The company has not yet placed the order for the machinery, though the bids for so doing have been received and all preliminary arrangements made. The property upon which the plant will be located consists of 15 acres with a good water frontage.

The National Refining Co. and Dirigo Oil Co., referred to in the above clipping are the Boston companies advertised and represented by G. W. Parker of Canning. They are the first Eastern companies to operate in the great California oil fields. Mr. Parker informs us that the stock of Arcola company was placed upon the market at 25 cents per share, but when on Feb. 8th last, the oil was struck and spouted over a 74 foot derrick, and after a few hours commenced to flow over the casing at the rate of 165 barrels per day—the stock that was unsold was quickly bought up, the last shares selling at $2.45 each.

The Sunday School Worker for July says—Mrs Potter, our Temperance Superintendent, is pushing the work of her department. Since she reported to the semi-annual executive meeting in April, she has had applications for 400 membership certificates, which means the formation of a number of White Ribbon armies. We are glad to notice that she uses the secular and religious press to such an extent for calling attention to the observance of Temperance Sunday each quarter.

At Waterville about ten days ago there occurred what might be called a loss of life but which was a serious accident. Mr. G. Fraser of that place while haying was coming from the scaffold to step on the ladder when it slipped just as he was ready to step on it and he fell to the floor a height of twenty feet or more, striking his right shoulder on a spike knocked the joint out of place also bruising and twisting the arm. The Dr. was immediately summoned who fixed up his patient as well as possible but on account of an old hurt to the same shoulder several years ago it will take some time for this to get strong. We understand he is doing as well as can be expected, still carries his arm in a sling. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Fraser who is an industrious man. His friends hope to soon see him able to work again.

The members and congregation of St. Stephens Methodist church of this town tendered their new pastor Rev. Mr. Williams and family a very hearty welcome in that church on Monday evening. The reception was held in the church and was largely attended. Several members of the choir who were present furnished the music for the evening. Rev. Mr. Ackman acted as chairman, and after one of his witty speeches, in his jovial style, extended to the new pastor a very cordial welcome on behalf of the church and congregation, and also the other denominations and town. This was replied to by Mr. Williams in a very pleasing manner. Rev. W. has now preached here several Sundays and has made a grand impression and the congregation are getting larger than formerly. Mrs. Williams was presented a beautiful bouquet by Miss Eva Strong on behalf of the Ladies Aid Society of the church. This was accompanied by a short address of welcome which was acknowledged by a pleasant word of thanks. The gathering then assembled in the vestry where refreshments were served. The pleasant evening came to a conclusion by the singing of God Save the King.

A GIRL OF GRIT.

BY MAJOR ARTHUR GRIFFITHS.

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY H. F. PENNO & CO.

Who sent you? asked the dona directly he'd gone.

"Do you come from his friends? She nudged the bundle alongside.

"Do you know Captain Wood?"

"Ha, you see!" interposed the American.

"You bet that was our man hid up among those rugs."

The others were compelled now to admit the fact, and they did so ungrudgingly.

As for me, my heart was beating fast, for I felt that at last I had come upon the track of my love.

"What did you tell her? Go on, my good boy," I said breathlessly.

"You see, miss, I'd never heard tell of no captain, but I wouldn't let on."

Joe continued. "The boss 'ere had only told me to watch, saying it was a cross job, but he mentioned no names.

So I ups and asks, 'is that Mr. Wood?' and I could 'a' sworn that the bundle moved, and there was struggling like inside."

"Gagged, of course," put in the American.

Joe went on. "Anyway, I am his friend," she says. "I don't mean he shall come to harm.

And I want him—the bundle moved again—him and others to know that, and I'd like you to tell 'em so when you get out of this mess."

"When'll that be? I make, a little bit on the hump, you know."

"Now, if you're game to hop out, I'm not a-going to stop you," and she was for turning of the handle then and there.

"But I considered a bit, and the thought came in my head that now I'd got 'ere I had ought to stick 'ere. There was the gentleman opposite me—as I judged—and if I was to do any service to him 'twasn't by cutting away. I'd got to see the thing right through—where they took him, what they did to him, and what they were."

"You're a brave lad," I said, stretching out and shaking hands with him, and indeed I should have liked to hug him, dusty and dirty as he was.

"Thank you kindly, miss," he answered shyly, and went on. "The only way out of it was to say I was afraid to jump. The cove on the box was a-watching me, I says, and a lot more. Then the carriage settled it by turning into some yard, a private place, it looked like, but they gave me no time to spy, for the feller from the box came down directly we stopped and had me out in a jiffy."

"'Ere," he says, "we've got first to do with you. Lay hold on him. Then two other chaps grabs me by the arms and rushes me head down, jam, ram, straight into a dark hole that smelled of moldy straw and garbage—some sort of cellar—where they locked a door on me, and I was laid up in limbo like a rat in a trap."

"It took me half an hour or so to shake myself together. First thing that gave me heart was a streak of daylight up atop of the calaboose, and when I struck a match I found it come through an old iron grating, which I soon overhauled. 'Frown't set so tight that I couldn't soon loosen a brick, although I tore my hands a bit before I got the thing right out. Then I'd a job to lift myself up by my arms, but I'm strong in the arms, and by and by I scrambled through that grating—that's what tore my clothes—and out on the yard above. It was the one as we'd druv into—a stable yard at the back of a tall house all shut up, windows shuttered, blinds down. No one at home, you'd say. The stables was empty—no horses, helpers, no traps. I couldn't find that the stables joined on to the house neither, but I judged it was better not to hang about so long or they'd be copping me again. So I makes for the yard doors. They was only barred on the inside, and I got out right enough into the back lane. That's about all. I come on then straight to you, sir, to make my report."

"You were in a monstrous hurry," said Colonel Bannister. "Why didn't you mark down the house, the neighborhood, the exact spot?"

Mr. Snuyzer took his part. "Joe knows his business; yes, sir, as well as the best professionals. Tell us, Joe."

"The stables was in Featherstone mews, No. 7. To make sure I chalked something on the doors. The stables was at the back of Featherstone Gardens and belonged, I should say, to No. 7."

In a few minutes more we had started in cabs—I in a hansom with Sir Charles—straight for Featherstone Gardens. Roy came with us. We were the first to arrive, but the others had gone round, escorted by Joe, to the back of the house so as to verify the news and the situation exactly.

When they joined us at the entrance of the gardens, Colonel Bannister, who now took the lead, dismissed the cabs and said in his brief, ordering sort of way:

"We can't all go up to the house. It might create a scandal. The whole thing may be a mistake. I'll take this lad first. He may perhaps identify somebody, and then we shall be entitled to act."

"And me, please," I added. "Oh, yes, indeed, Colonel Bannister, I shall go too."

He shrugged his shoulders, and we three, with Roy close at my heels, soon stood on the doorstep of No. 7. The house was all shut up, the chain was on the door, and we waited a long time while some one inside fumbled with it and several bolts.

"Well, what is it?" asked an old man who at last opened the door, but held it ajar. He was of very respectable appearance, with white hair under a black skullcap, and wore a decent blue and white striped jacket, the type of an old servant in a good family. "May I inquire?"

"We wish to see your master," said the colonel promptly.

"I am afraid that is impossible, sir," replied the man civilly. "The family have gone out of town. The duke left yesterday for Spain."

"The duke?"

"The Duke of Tierra Sagrada. He is my master, sir. If you will leave your card I will see that it is sent on to him, or any letter. I have his address."

"In Spain?"

"Certainly, sir. Casa Huerta Hermosa, St. Sebastian. They have gone to the seaside. No, please—this was to me, for I was quietly trying to get Roy past him into the house—that dog mustn't come in. My orders are strict against dogs."

"Call him back, Miss Fairholme, at once," said the colonel in a tone which I resented, but he cut me quite short.

"This farce has gone far enough. I wash my hands of it. Good night!"—this to the old manservant as we walked away. "And if you will be guided by me, Miss Fairholme, you will do the same. It's all humbug from first to last, I give you my word. I do not believe one syllable of this story, except perhaps about the papers, and even then I am not quite satisfied, for they were sent to Captain Wood in the dispatch box. That we know."

"But not at Captain Wood's request," I said hurriedly.

"His man thinks not, and I admit the box was specifically mentioned in the letter, but the letter said papers, and the expression was seemingly one that Wood used, for the man, as a matter of course, sent the dispatch box."

"But what do you imply?"

"Just this, that Captain Wood intended to keep out of the way—for reasons I do not presume to conjecture—there will be a jolly row; a cabinet question, egad, and the devil's own complications. The matter can't rest here. So cheer up, Miss Frida. We'll all do our level best."

"Why, certainly," added Snuyzer, "we don't depend entirely on police colonels, and this one is not so almighty clever. I've got to get on the inside track of this business, and I'll do it yet, you bet your bottom dollar."

It was kind of them, but I would not be consoled. When I got to 11111 street, I crept up to my room, very sorrowful and sick at heart, and cried myself to sleep.

Next morning while I was dressing they came and told me that Mr. Snuyzer had called. He had something important to tell me, and was rather in a hurry.

"Captain Wood's not in that house," began the American abruptly, when I got down stairs.

"How do you know? Why are you so sure?" I asked.

"I haven't the smallest doubt of it. I know, because I went right through the house last night, every single room."

"What! Did they let you in?"

"No, miss; I broke in—burglary you call it in this country, I believe, and you may give me into custody if you please. But the detective that's not good enough to break the law on an occasion as well as break into a house and stand the racket had better give up the business."

The man's audacity staggered me. I was quite terrified, but I liked him for it.

"You see, miss, I can't afford to stick at trifles. My professional reputation is at stake, and the more I thought of the more I bungered to get inside that house in Featherstone Gardens, and this is how I worked it: First I set a close watch on the house, front and back, and found before midnight that no one had gone either in or out. I reckoned that there were not very many of them, and we mustered half a dozen, two of them practiced crooks—professional burglars, miss. We got into the house right enough—the crooks managed that—in half an hour. First thing was to lay hands on the caretaker. There was no one else in the house. He swore to that, and we soon saw that he was speaking truth, for we drew every room, ransacked every corner, turned out every cupboard, but nary soul was to be found. They'd all cleared out but this one critter. So I went back to him and threatened his life. He was very stiff, but a revolver is a mighty fine persuader, and presently he outs with the story; lies maybe, maybe truth, but good enough to make him worth keeping till we could get some corroboration."

"What was his story? Anything about Captain Wood? Did he admit that they had taken him?"

"You bet he did. Told us the whole game from first to last. The first we knew pretty well before; the last is that they have taken him out to sea in a steamer. A New Industry.

After extracting a nail from the stomach of a child, where it had remained for about a week, a Turin surgeon remarked that the iron had become reddish in some places and corroded in others, in exactly the same way as ancient Greek and Roman coins.

These observations, communicated to his colleagues, spread abroad and quite a new industry has sprung up lately in Italy. Traders manufacture spurious coins with the effigy of Trajan and others and force them down the throats of turkeys. They kill them after a few days and withdraw the coins, which thus acquire an appearance of antiquity which deceives the most experienced numismatists.

WOMAN AND HOME.

A CLAIMANT FOR THE POSITION OF FIRST "REAL DAUGHTER."

Woman's Higher Education—Her Work in Turkey—Cured of Her Crave—Principles Versus Cooks. They Conduct a Sheep Ranch

Miss Jane Morton of Salisbury, Vt., is the first "real daughter" of Ethan Allen chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution of Middlebury, Vt. She was initiated early in the year 1898 and at the age of 95 still retains her mental and bodily faculties to a remarkable extent.

MISS JANE MORTON.

ized a company of militia, and when the war of 1812 broke out he became captain of the famous "Silver Grays." It was which took part in the battle of Plattsburgh in 1814. He passed away at the age of 94 years on Dec. 22, 1857.

Among Miss Morton's treasured keepsakes are an ancient desk and a drinking cup of peculiar shape, relics of her Massachusetts home. She relates her early experiences in Vermont with a pleasure born of a knowledge that they are past. Among her recollections is hearing the cannon fired at the battle of Plattsburgh, this memory being indelibly imprinted by her anxiety for her father, who was engaged in that fight. A student of physiology will mark gentleness and high breeding in the portrait above given, and these terms aptly describe her character. Her health has not been of the best recently, but her friends hope for her many more years of life.—Middlebury (Vt.) Cor. Boston Herald.

Woman's Higher Education.

In these days of discussion about the higher education of girls and the propriety of woman's entering the arena of political life, the effect of this education and political work on her position in society is rather lost sight of. It is the study of philosophy a bad bearing on the power to entertain? and has a knowledge of the ins and outs of election day a tendency to decrease the ability in charm? are aspects which are considered only by the few and not by the great majority. The fact is, a woman know what she may, if her smile is winning, her manners pleasant and her disposition charitable she will be popular. The trick of telling the character of the land by the rock formation will not harden the true woman's heart against an appeal for mercy or charity. The ability to determine what medicine will help her ailing child without a doctor's aid will never make her heart less loving to that child, if she be a true woman in the first place, and if she is not, men all the ignorance in the world will not remedy the defects which education cannot cure but may help.

In the social ranks alone, leaving out of the question entirely the thinker's view on the subject, it cannot be claimed that the ignorant are the most popular because of that ignorance. There are many very popular girls who know nothing of the depths of learning, and there are many girls who are able to demonstrate a problem in mathematics and astronomy who are hummed and left to be wallflowers, and there are the cases cited by the pessimist, who wishes his women to know nothing beyond what he tells them and to be fools enough to believe it all.

Many pretty, sweet tempered girls have not the ability to study deeply, and that these girls are popular is no argument against study. They are loved in spite of their ignorance, not because of it. The student may be loved if she is lovable in the first place and does not allow her study to detract from that characteristic and if she will come out of her books to be in touch with the people about her and descend sometimes from her clouds to know their little hopes and fears.

It is a cynical but true statement that people love us for the interest we display in their own affairs. This may not be true of the one great love of life, but it is true of the love which is possessed by a person of whom it is said, "Everybody loves her," and it is almost invariably the secret of great popularity. The faculty may be expected by the student as well as the know nothing, and, although the former will have less time in which to win her hearts, she may have a better chance of keeping them when won if she can school herself never to forget the details which interest her confidants or the affairs which have been poured into her sympathetic ears. The result of thinking on the subject, then, is that if the mathematician can dance as well as her sister, who cannot say the rule of three, and can listen as well as the dear little girl who never spent a book and sirt an wool and combs
