LABOR CANDIDATES.

LONDON, Aug. 5. The British Labor Party have already selected candidates for 470 of the 707 constituencies represented in the House of Commons.

INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE.

GENEVA, Aug. 5. Ratification by the British Empire of a permanent Court of International Justice was deposited yesterday with the Secretariat of the League of Nations. Other ratifications already received are those of Albania, Austria, Denmark, Sweden and Switzerland. It now seems practically certain, officials of the League announced, that the twenty-four ratifications necessary to set the International Court in operation will be received some time next month.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS RECOGNIZED.

LONDON, Aug. 5. An important step in the direction of equality between the sexes was taken in the House of Commons this afternoon as a result of discussions regarding the admission to positions in the Civil Service. A resolution, introduced by Sir Robert Stevenson Horns, Chancellor of the Exchequer, was unanimously adopted, providing that after a transitional period of three years, women shall be admitted to the Civil Service in the United Kingdom, under the same conditions and regulations as govern men.

FRANCE AGREES.

PARIS, Aug. 5. France, replying to-day to an inquiry made by the State Department at Washington, agreed to November 11 as the date for the Conference in Washington on Disarmaments and Far Eastern questions.

THE IRISH SITUATION.

LONDON, Aug. 5. None of the imprisoned members of Dail Eireann has been liberated, but it is considered certain that the Government will place nothing in the way of their release, and that they will be free to attend sittings of Dail Eireann when that body convenes to discuss peace proposals. Meetings of the Ulster Cabinet and Dail Eireann "cabinet" were held to-day. So far as is known, however, they were not directly connected with the hitherto unsuccessful efforts to bring about an agreement between the North and South preliminary to the tripartite conference at London. Republican "cabinet" confined itself to consideration of Dail Eireann meeting, while Colonel Spencer, Secretary of the Ulster Cabinet, announced at the conclusion of its deliberations, that the question of peace had been touched upon only incidentally. Notwithstanding the lack of definite action immediately connected with peace, or of even a hint of the imminence of such action, confidence continues to prevail in political circles in London that there is no likelihood of any breakdown in the negotiations.

NORTHCLEFFE AS OPTIMIST.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 5. "If delegates of the Washington Disarmament Conference truly and constantly represent the desire of their respective nations," said Lord Northcliffe, speaking before the Canadian Club, at a luncheon given in his honor to-day, "I am convinced that an agreement will be reached and an era of peace and prosperity will be opened in the Pacific. Nor will this be all. The example will be so compelling that the movement will extend from the Pacific to Europe and throughout the world."

PRO-GERMAN MOOR.

MADRID, Aug. 5. Spanish forces have suffered severe defeat in North Eastern Morocco, where they have been resisting heavy attacks by rebellious tribesmen. Abdel Krin, leader of the Moroccan tribesmen, credited with having brought about the Spanish defeat near Melilla, is about 35 years of age, says the Herald. He was educated in France and Spain, speaks several languages, and aims at the civilization of Morocco, in accordance with European ideals, but without losing the essentials of Moorish culture. During the war he was classed as Pro-German.

A FIRE TRAGEDY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5. Four children were burned to death and seven other persons were severely injured in an early morning fire, which swept three tenement houses in the Bronx this morning. The dead are all children of Juliette Perain.

TENNIS.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 5. Australia took the lead in the Davis Cup Tennis Matches to-day by winning doubles on the grass courts of Allegheny Club, 4-6, 9-7, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4. Play to-day gave the Australians their positions because they were a stronger team in the last two sets. After the British had the lead two sets to one, the Australians were able by correct placement shots and serving to win three sets out of five.

was the extraordinary freak of fortune, commemorated by this simple stone.

A tablet marking the spot where British troops first met with armed resistance in America is to be seen at Salem Bridge, Massachusetts. In February, 1775, General Gage, of the British Army, heard that some Canadian and militia men of war had been placed in Salem by the colonists. He sent Colonel Leslie with his men in a vessel from Castle William to seize them.

They landed at Marblehead, marched into Salem, and, falling to find what they sought, moved towards Danvers. Between the two towns, at a small drawbridge now marked by this tablet, they found a large number of people, and on the opposite side forty militia. The latter refused to lower the bridge. Leslie tried to ferry his troops over, whereupon the colonists scuttled the craft. The most pathetic tale of human suffering in history was enacted at Cawnpore, in India, where now stands a beautiful angel figure by the Italian sculptor, Marochetta. The memorial is erected in a park in Cawnpore, near the banks of the Ganges, over the well into which Nana Sahib threw the bodies of two hundred butchered women and children.

Marking an Earth Circle.

There is an inscription: "Sacred to the perpetual memory of the great company of Christian people, chiefly women and children, who near this spot were cruelly massacred by the followers of the rebel Nana, and cast, the living with the dead, into the well below, on the 15th day of July, 1857."

Perhaps the most extraordinary monument in the world is one to be seen in Mexico. It marks the exact spot traversed by the Tropic of Cancer (the Crab), and is shaped like a small stone hut.

In the science of climatology it is customary to classify climates into certain broad belts. These are the climatic zones, and they are divided by imaginary circles of the earth, of which the Tropic of Cancer is the one marking a parallel of latitude twenty-three and a half degrees north of the Equator.

It is probable that the fourth sign of the Zodiac is called Cancer (the Crab) because when the sun arrives at this part of the ecliptic it apparently retraces its path, resembling the sidelong motion of a crab.—T.N.B.M.

Address to Bishop White

We publish to-day, by request, copy of the address presented to His Lordship the Bishop of Newfoundland, during his recent episcopal visit to Curling Bay of Islands. The address done on vellum, the work of Mr. A. H. Barrett of the Western Star was illuminated with wreaths of roses, thistles, shamrocks and laurels, and was enclosed in a metal case, covered with morocco leather, as a lasting souvenir.

ADDRESS.

To the Right Reverend William Charles White, D. D., Lord Bishop of Newfoundland and Labrador, Right Reverend Father in God:—

On this your first visit to the Parish of Bay of Islands, on behalf of the Parish we extend to Your Lordship a very sincere and hearty welcome. We rejoice that a son of Terra Nova—one with such a splendid record and varied experience in Church matters—has been elevated to the office of Chief Pastor of this extensive Diocese, and our hopes are raised to look for great things done for God and the Holy Catholic Church.

We have viewed with alarm attempts made that would tend to weaken the Church's position with her educational institutions. But we have every confidence in Your Lordship as a champion and leader of the Church's established policy for the education of her children in the Catholic faith, and assure Your Lordship of our unflinching loyalty and support in maintaining the rights and privileges of the Church of England in this Diocese.

Your visitation will bring to Your Lordship's personal notice how extensive and unwieldy are many of the Parishes and Missions of the West and the great need for more priests to minister to your people scattered along the coast.

We trust your Lordship will carry away with you warm assurances of the loyalty and good wishes of the Church people of this Parish. And we earnestly pray that the good hand of God will guard and prosper you on your visitation and that you will be spared long to guide the destinies of the Church in your Diocese. Your Lordship's obedient servants, Henry Petley, Rector; Andrew L. Barrett, Ulric N. Bagg, Church Warden; George Cummins, Joshua Sheppard, Wm. Leggo, Vestry; R. Sheppard, Jr., Ed Park, C. W. Lark Jr.; Fred Mitchell, Hy. Brockway, C. W. John's Beach; John Brake, C. W. Cornelius Brake, C. W. A. E. Brake, Meadows; Jeremiah Loader, Summer- sider; Edward Brake Sr. Summer- sider; Joseph Lovell, McIvers; Jas. Noseworthy, Middle Arm.

HIS LORDSHIP'S REPLY.

Mr. Rector, the Churchwardens, Gentlemen of the Vestry, my Friends.

There are three things in this address which I don't want to pass over; these three things I shall speak very briefly now since I hope to have other opportunities to speak of matters in general, but you have seen fit to refer to three points of vital importance to the diocese at this time.

Before I go any further I want to say how pleased I am with the reception accorded me. Of course, it is what one would expect from Newfoundlanders and I want to thank those of you who met me at the station and the members of the choir who kindly contributed their services. I would like to refer to that very beautiful arch which you have built here near the church. It is indeed a work of art and must have cost somebody a large amount of work in designing and building it. I think it is one of the most beautiful productions of that kind I have seen during my visits through the country. I want to thank all the people who helped in the work.

The most important point perhaps is the subject of Church education. You have been good enough to assure me that you are prepared to uphold my point of view regarding Church schools.

There is a kind of false liberality abroad in this country, I may say, mistaken liberality, a mistaken view of church union. There have been several people in favour of amalgamation of schools who have made reference to the opinions expressed at the Lambeth Conference which was recently held in England. I can assure you that these persons have misquoted the Lambeth Conference. One of the last things these 250 bishops would have wanted was to scrap our schools. Moreover, this proposed union would be one of Protestant recommendations only and that is not what the Greek Church? What of the Ancient Eastern Churches? What we want is a unity to include all these. There are many people desiring to amalgamate schools with those of several other Protestant denominations but there is no suggestion that our Roman Catholic friends should be included. Then why should we who are very nearly their equals numerically? We are told that our teaching is not different from that of other Protestant denominations; that there is nothing in our creed to hold on to. But this is a proposition which demands too much of us. We can't pay so big a price to be agreeable. I believe that such a step if taken would prove disastrous to the Church in this country and would be a serious blow to religion, and I intend to oppose the movement to the best of my ability. That is one thing you returned to.

The second point is the question of unwieldy missions, including your own. I know that some of our missions are very much too large and I have seen good evidence of the fact during the three years I have been visiting around the island. I have great admiration for our clergy who at the risk of life try to accomplish the impossible. We do need our parishes divided. There are two things which we must consider, and one is the third point you have mentioned—the scarcity of our priests. At one time priests were sent from England and paid by the S. P. G. and since then this society gave us an annual allowance. This amount dwindled until it reached the sum of $1200 a year and then we decided we should have pride enough to get together and support ourselves, so after December, 1920, we received no outside help whatever and became self-supporting. Now I want you to understand that fact clearly: we pay our own priests and therefore if we want our men to remain in Newfoundland instead of moving to Canada or England the Church must pay them an adequate salary without outside assistance.

The next point is the need of more priests in our diocese. We have our own theological college—Queen's College—but you know that through lack of funds it had to be closed. Our principal resigned and returned to England. But the need for clergy is greater now than it has ever been before and in order to get them some definite steps had to be taken. There were two ways open to me, one was to send our men to the theological Colleges of England to be trained, the other to open up our own college. I chose the latter course and I believe, the right one. Our college is now open and nine students have matriculated. They took their examinations, passed very creditably and I gave them the matriculation just before I came away. We have had our college opened now for the past year, but we have had no guarantee that it will be continued. Before the opening of the college we decided to endeavour to collect a sufficient sum to endow the college. One half of that amount has been collected, but I have faith enough to believe we will reach the sum of $30,000. We have 80,000 Church people in Newfoundland and at the rate of one dollar per head we should have no difficulty in obtaining that amount. $70,000 instead of $30,000 would pay the college expenses if conducted on an economical basis as is being done now.

These are some of the problems we have to deal with to-day. The cause of Christian education, the necessity for the division of some of our large parishes and missions, and the problem supporting our college in order to get men to continue our work."

In a statement submitted by the Government Engineer, Secretary Halford in 1918, in which he discussed the betterments for the road how they were to be provided, a of some million dollars, the which he distributed between government and the contractor, he that ten locomotives, fifty flat and 110 box cars be procured.
 The Government ordered six locomotives, fifty flat cars and 110 box cars. The contractor estimated the locomotives would cost $27,000 apiece, but the ones the government got last year cost $10,000 apiece, or twice as much as flat cars, all of these were but none of the box cars were being that his recommendation was only for flat cars and 110 box cars. The logical conclusion would be that the box cars were twice as expensive as the flat cars, but the contractor made such like were made while the box cars which carry provisions, groceries, dry goods, etc. were disregarded, although I would like to have the explanation, and I think the country should know why all these expenses were incurred, why there has been an increase in what the government of the tremendous advance in the cost of operating the road over four years.

REPORT NECESSARY.
 In my opinion the first necessity is to have a thorough investigation into all the questions that ought to be answered by such an inquiry is as follows: Is the work under the branch line construction completed and if not, what is the value of the work remaining? Did the Railway Commission operate the Reid steamers last year, and if not, why did they put boilers on the boats? If the steamers were not included, why is operation expected to be so costly this year with part of the fleet shut down? Why did Messrs. Coaker and Hall in their report say they spent liberally on ties, ballast, locomotives, and on steamers last year, and yet with none of this done and a curtailed operation, why do we need to put up a million and a half dollars this year? Why does the Government not have Mr. Hall or somebody else on the Commission to see that the money is properly expended?

ADVOCATES NEW CONTRACT.

Then, I contend there ought to be a new deal, a new contract with the Reid company. The present 1901 contract ought to be terminated. A formal default ought to be enforced and an entirely new arrangement ought to be made. No man really desirous of the country's future, should want to cripple the Reids. They have large commercial and industrial interests here. They have big enterprises in St.
 John's. They have great quantities of land throughout the country, they may develop great labor-giving enterprises in the future. Therefore, we ought not to lightly overthrow them, but we ought to insist that the country gets a square deal. Twenty years ago we made this contract with the Reids to operate the railroad for fifty years.
 World conditions, for which they are

In no way responsible, have made it impossible for them to carry out the contract. The country ought not to be so unreasonable as to expect them to do so, but on the other hand it should not be held to the obligations which under the contract it accepted on part. For the operation of the road for fifty years we paid the Reids in land. They have operated for only twenty years and they say they are insolvent, they cannot do it any longer on the present terms. Therefore, in equity they are entitled to only two-thirds of the land, but they have taken all the land, transferred it to another company, and now we cannot get it back. They say they are justified in this because they have lost millions in the operation of the railroad, and I say that I do not blame them for protecting themselves in view of the absence of certain members of the Government towards them. But they have sold some of these lands to the Harms-worths, to the Timber Estates, and to other people, and they have protected themselves in regard to other areas, and at any time, by a fortunate strike in forest areas, water powers, mines, or otherwise, they can recoup themselves for all they have lost in the operation of the railway, but the Colony can never get back the million and a half it spent last year, the million and a half more it is being asked to spend now, and any money it may spend in future in helping the Reids to bear the burden of operation in the meantime.

Therefore, I say we ought to have a new deal. We are trustees, we in both Houses of the Legislature, are trustees for the country. We ought to hesitate before we spend a dollar without knowing the why and wherefore, but yet we are asked to vote now a million and a half dollars without any information whatsoever to justify it, except the Government's explanation that this contract is the best they could make, and that if the Reids aren't given this money they will shut down the railway altogether. Let us insist, and let the Government insist, that the 1901 contract be cancelled, with all its nightmare of litigation, financial burdens, claims for arbitration, and the like, which will hang over us otherwise for the next fifty years and increase all the time, and let us have a new contract equated to present day conditions. Another reason why I am opposing this Bill is because the action I am now advocating, the making of a new contract, ought to have been done long ago. The Government was elected to deal with the Reids on certain lines. I will not discuss manifestations or party speeches, but I will say that a year ago this question was acute. The House, however, was not asked to deal with it, but was only asked to vote for a loan to help provide the Reids with rolling stock, and not a word was said about operation. But then, after the House closed, the Government, without any authority from the country or the legislature, made an arrangement to finance the Reids and give them a million and a half dollars to pay their bills for working the railroad during the past twelve months.

THE PLOT THAT FAILED.

Then this session opened and went through a normal term, and I believe would have closed without this problem, but in its present fashion, only that the Opposition insisted on some action being taken. Notice of suspension of rules was given in the other House about two months ago, the idea being to close it by June 21st. If that policy had been carried out this arrangement would not have been made with the Legislature in session, but privately by the Government afterwards.
 This, to my mind, was not giving the "I couldn't help being a believer in Tanlac after seeing what it did for my wife," said Joshua Pitcher, Bon-cloddy Street, St. John's, N.F.

 She had been in poor health for about five years and had about given up hope of ever being well again, and I was very much worried about her. She had awful attacks of indigestion that would make her pass for breath and cause her heart to palpitate so that we thought she had heart trouble. I never saw anybody as nervous as she was. Any unusual noise or excitement would set her trembling like a leaf. She couldn't sleep, and, to do any good, and complained all the time of pains across the small of her back. She had awful headaches sometimes and would almost go distracted from the agony she suffered.

"Well, sir, she hasn't trouble of any kind now and is the very picture of health. I never saw anything so equal it. Tanlac actually acted more like magic than medicine on her. I never had been so amazed in my life as I was at the way it took hold of her, gave her an appetite, put her stomach in first-class condition and made it possible for her to sleep all night without waking once. Tanlac country a square deal. Three or four Premiers in the past have dealt with large questions right before the election without any delay. For instance, Whiteway in 1893 put through the contract, after its selection, to continue the railroad across the country and operate it for ten years. Winter and his friend, Mr. Shea, a member of the Executive, elected in November, negociated and enacted the contract of that year in the following February.

 Bond in 1901, with a mandate from the country to destroy the contract negotiated two years before, the first not being acceptable to a large element in the country, and another becoming necessary. In 1905 Bond again negociated a new contract, but through the big Harmsworth deal now bearing shape in the mills at Grand Falls.
 Morris in 1907, with a mandate from the country, put through the Grand Falls contract and in 1914, after his second election, did the same with the Carbide enterprise for Bay of Islands, though as a result of the war and for other reasons it has not come to anything yet. The present Government, however, evaded this issue at the last session and a temporary expedient instead of a permanent settlement.

SUPINE GOVERNMENT.

A year ago in an informal conference with us of this House, had with Premier in the room outside, for the tackling of this problem, the Government, so that we might get the whole subject explained to us briefly and then put the bill through all its stages without formal notice. In fact, we were informed that a Canadian Engineer would be brought in to superintend repair work, and other undertakings connected with the railway and that an English lawyer skilled in company law would be brought here to unravel all our past railway contracts and their relation to each other. Neither of these things has been done, so far as we know at any rate, by the Government to deal with this question, until the Government was forced into action by a refusal of the Opposition to allow the House to be closed without something being done. We are told now that offers were made to the Opposition to join with the Government in dealing with the problem, but that the Opposition refused. I do not know the reasons which actuated the Opposition for so doing, but I repeat what I have already said, that I can readily believe that the Opposition did not want to involve themselves in this complication which the Government had created and which they ought to get out of.
 Then Sir George Bury was brought here, but I do not take his report seriously, for he simply adopted Mr.
 Hall's scheme outlined in the Coaker-Hall report two years ago, and previously, and the money we paid Sir George Bury is money thrown away.
 I do not mean to question his capabilities as a railroad man, but he became here in the middle of the summer, stayed only two or three days, when he saw the railroad and everything connected with it in its best, whereas in my opinion, the time to get a man here to study the railroad problem would be in the winter, when the present difficulties would have to be faced. Another thing is that we did not need a man to come here and tell us to make a temporary agreement with the Reids to carry on the road for another twelve months. What we wanted was a man to give us some permanent solution of the problem, something that we could deal with and say "well, the railroad problem will not worry us any more for years." Our Hon. friend (Dr. Campbell) says the Government's interests will be looked after by the new General Manager. This I submit is altogether a mistaken idea. The new General Manager will be engaged by the Reids, will be paid by the Reids, (out of our money I admit) and will be discharged by the Reids if he does not obey their orders. He will not be responsible to the Government or to the Colony. If the Government were bringing in a man like Sir George Bury, or some other Canadian railroad man, and putting him in charge for four or five years and backing him up with money to see what he could do, it would be a different matter, because he would have a free hand. But this General Manager, coming in as he does, with Reid directorate, will not be half as good as John Powell, and the money paid him will be simply wasted. I have no rhetorical flourishes to with; I simply repeat that I cannot vote for this bill, because to me, it means the last push needed to send the country speeding down the highway that leads to bankruptcy, and all the evils that will follow in its trail, and I regret that the Government has not been able to offer the Legislature and the country some more satisfactory solution of the question than this ill-embodied.

Schooner "Prime Vista" arrived from Bonavista on Saturday and went on dock yesterday to have repairs effected.

Schooner "Ocell and Belle," Captain Wm Ridout, arrived from Port Union last week and went on dock on the 30th ult. She came off again yesterday morning and left port dinner hour. Miss Mollie Sheppard, clerk at G. B. Stevenson's went by her to spend a holiday with the Captain's wife. (see Miss Lizette Power of this town.)

Mrs. J. Telford left for St. John's by this morning's train to spend the week there.

Rev. W. H. Browning and wife left for Britannia Cove on Friday last, where they intend to remain for some weeks on a holiday. This is Mrs. Browning's old home and, no doubt, an enjoyable time will be spent by both during their stay. Rev. J. Joyce, pastor of the Methodist Church at Britannia Cove has exchanged pulpits with Rev. Browning and will conduct the service at the Methodist Church here, while he is away.

The football match which was to have been played at Shannon Park last night between the Shannon team and one from Carbonar did not come to maturity, through some cause or other, but very likely at a later date we'll hear from them again.

Mrs. (Rev.) J. W. Bartlett and Miss Bartlett of Brigus were in town during the past week. Their many friends were pleased to see them.

Miss W. Mabel Summers, who is on the staff of teachers in Bryant and Stratton Commercial College, Boston, Mass., has been spending her summer holidays at Newfoundland and is now visiting her mother, H. Summers, having arrived from Clarendville by yesterday afternoon's train and will remain in town for a few days.

Brigadier Prescott of St. John's conducted a service at the S. A. Citadel all through Sunday, and last night Monday gave a very fine lecture on her travels in different countries, which was very interesting indeed. The address lasted practically two hours, during which time her listeners were spell bound, so to speak. It is a pity such lectures are not attended in very large numbers. Mr. John Traynor, I.S.M. acted as chairman of the meeting.

Destruction of the Liege Forts.

When the Germans invaded Belgium in the early days of the late war, Liege was the first considerable town they came to, as it was only just across the border, and but forty miles from the German town of Aix-la-Chapelle. Being directly in the path of the German advance from Cologne, up the valley of the Meuse, it was defended by a ring of twelve forts designed by General Brialmont, no expense having been spared to make them as perfect as possible. The guns were in circular turrets, with steel dome-shaped tops and the turrets were only to move up and down, so that they were only exposed at the moment of firing, and then dropped out of sight again. The heavily armoured steel dome was expected to resist a shell if the enemy should succeed in hitting it, but General Von Emmich brought three army corps against Liege. He did not bother about the forts at first, but advanced his army in close order between two of them, intending to take the town by assault. The Belgians reserved their fire till the enemy were quite close, then mowed them down, so that the attack was a disastrous failure. Von Emmich then brought up his siege guns, some of which were Krupp's new 16in. howitzers, a size not thought possible before. The shells from these enormous guns falling almost vertically on the tops of the turrets, smashed them to pieces, and two forts were soon silenced. The town then surrendered, and the Germans then marched in through the gaps between these two forts, on the night of August 7, 1914. The other forts held out for another week, but the Germans paid little attention to them. General Leman and his Belgian soldiers had, however, delayed the Germans about three days by their brave defence, and so had given the English and the French that much more time to come to their assistance. It is easy to see with the event, and to say that if the Belgians had spent on their army what they had held back the German's march on Paris, but no one could foresee Krupp's 16in. howitzer, or that Belgium would be invaded in defiance of a solemn treaty to the contrary. Germans are proved to be capable of any villainy, and should not be trusted again. General Sir J. M. Grierson—a British officer who knew Germany almost as well as England—was reported to have died in a train in Paris, but it was currently stated that he was at Liege at the moment of the German attack, and was killed there.

Lord Tennyson, Poet Laureate.

On Sunday, August 6, 1899, Alfred Tennyson was born at Somersby, in Lincolnshire, of which place his father, the Rev. George Clayton Tennyson, was rector. He lived to become a very famous poet laureate, this title being derived from the custom which continued from the reign of Edward the Fourth (1461-1483), till that of Henry VIII (1509), at the English Universities, of a laurel leaf being presented to those most distinguished in taking their degree in rhetoric or verification. Completing his education as an undergraduate of Trinity College, Cambridge, by taking his degree he, in 1824, was also created an English peer as Baron Tennyson, being succeeded by his son when he died in 1892. His title of poet laureate signified his supremacy amongst all British poets of his time, as it had done when conferred upon Dryden, Southey, Wordsworth, and his other predecessors in that office. At Tennyson's death the next poet appointed was Mr. Alfred Austin, of Headingley, near Leeds. Of Tennyson's poems, "Locksley Hall," a long one, is most interesting, because his memories show, it describes his own feelings when, as a clergyman's young son he obtained no encouragement from the squire, whose daughter he desired as a wife. "The May Queen," "New Year's Eve," and their conclusion, are three poems that are precious to young people, especially girls, of all social classes.

ANDERSON'S, Water Street St. John's.

Name of Jesus Festival.

August 7 is in the Calendar of the Church of England Prayer-book the celebration of the Name of Jesus. This title was taken from the Sarum Calendar, that was in a Prayer-book used for public worship in that Church before the Reformation, which thus took its name from Salisbury, in Wiltshire, a city then called Sarum. This holy day had been kept on January 1, a week after Christmas, as being the festival of the Circumcision of our Lord, on which occasion, as in baptism now, "his name was called Jesus" (Luke 11. 21). But if He had been born at midwinter, it is not likely that "shepherds" would be "abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flocks by night," but would have sheltered them in the sheepfolds. The observance of His birthday was afterwards removed to that season, that as a day of Christian gratitude and happiness it might tame and hallow the excitements of that leisure time; but the observance of the name "Jesus" has been retained for a day just before the close of summer. It may be supposed by some that this is a name of no use mentioned in the Bible. But this is not so, for in the New Testament it was used by St. Stephen, the first Christian martyr, of Joshua, who brought the Israelite forefathers into Canaan, to obtain for them that possession of the Gentiles (Acts vii. 45). And so Joshua is called Jesus, or more exactly Jesusus, in Greek, in the fifth book of the

Not His Fault.

It was the appointed hour, but the lecturer did not appear. The audience was beginning to show signs of impatience.

Suddenly the manager made his appearance on the platform.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, in apologetic tones, "I am sorry to have to inform you that the lecture on 'How to keep fit' will have to be postponed owing to the unexpected indisposition of the lecturer."

Halifax Unemployed

HALIFAX, July 27.—"We can't get a job!" and "Canada the home of the fruit, meat and wheat, why should we starve?" were among the inscriptions on banners carried by a crowd of six hundred unemployed who waited on civic and provincial authorities to ask for work. Marching orderly fashion from the Halifax Common to the city hall the crowd pressed its demands to deputy Mayor S. Parker. The deputy Mayor addressed the gathering, assuring the men that the city council was heartily desirous of providing work for them and he intended to immediately call an emergency meeting of that body to whatever possible to relieve the needs. The crowd then marched to the province building where they were addressed by W. B. MacCoy, secretary of industries and immigration. MacCoy said that the provincial government was moving heaven and earth to find work and would welcome suggestions. The men dispersed peacefully, and met again this evening at a common where they nightly assembled.

Just Tolls

WISDOM.

I am not wise in printed lore, I own no nicely framed degree, Sad strangers do not seek my door To gather bits of truth from me; When graybeards talk I seldom speak, But when in winter or in summer A bathroom faucet springs a leak I know enough to call a plumber.

On many subjects I am dense And many things I cannot do, I have a little common sense Perhaps enough to see me through;
I do not claim to know it all,
I gladly bow to wisdom greater,
When I need paper on the wall I leave it to the decorator.

I drive a car and yet I find Its secrets much too deep for me, Mine is no engineering mind, An Edison I'll never be;
I run the car until it stops,
And when it will not go I send it Without delay unto the shops Where there are experts who can mend it.

One need not try to know it all,
One place is all a man can fill,
The paper hanger cleans my wall,
The doctor cures me when I'm ill; I hold it wisdom—although you Perhaps this very minute doubt it—When there's some little job to do, To hire a man who knows about it.

NOVEL WRITTEN FOR A JOKE.

Sir Henry Rider Haggard told a London audience that his novel "King Solomon's Mines" was a work with a somewhat remarkable history. It began with a bet of 1s., which has never been paid, and was written for a joke. It was a disastrous work for him in a sense, because it ruined his career at the Bar. After 35 years the book is still as popular as when it was written; in fact, more popular than in the early stages of its publication.

Miss Jewel and her friends
"My fond father said: A watch like a family depends upon the jewels it holds"

The proper number of jewels in a watch insures its time-keeping integrity. These gems, unlike metal, are not affected by the varying temperature. They are used as tiny bearings upon which the little wheels go round to meet their timely obligations of telling the truth about the hours.

Our assortment of Ladies' Bracelets, Watches and Gent's Pocket Watches, with jeweled movements, is most complete. May we have the pleasure of your inspection?
