The Imprisoned Heiress

OR

The Spectre of Edremont.

CHAPTER III.

"Might it not belong to one of the servants or foresters?" suggested the Lady Alexina.

"A valuable suggestion, my dear! G. is the initial of George. What George is there at Edremont?" mused the earl, keeping his eyes upon the inscription, as if it might further enlighten him.

"What is the name of that young man, guardian, who lives near the Kays in the wood?" inquired the young heiress.

The earl reflected a moment; then his face lighted up, and he exclaimed:

"Alexina has guessed it. Her wit is always keener than mine. That forester's name is Gosman Kepp, and, now I think of it, he always carries a gun in his hand, and I don't doubt that this is the very one."

"The initials are certainly those of Gosman Kepp," said Indor. "I wonder we did not think of him at once."

"But Kepp could never have been his lordship's assailant," remarked the countess. "There is not a better forester or better-behaved man employed about Edremont."

"Appearances are sometimes deceptive," returned her husband, oracularly. "Kepp has served me well, has been orderly and brave, and never failed in his duty; but how can we know that his faithfulness was only a mere cloak to hide a heart of perjury?"

"I don't believe Kepp was the assassin, guardian, said the Lady Alexina, with sudden energy. "His past life ought to be reckoned in his favor. Surely, you will not condemn him unheard. He could have had no motive in assassinating his lordship."

She paused, with sudden and unwonted embarrassment, observing that Lord Ashcroft was regarding her with approbation for her defense of the forester.

Lyle Indor was looking at her, too, with a soft and gentle steadiness, as if he were surprised at her interest in her guest.

"Alexina is so tender-hearted!" said the earl. "She always defends the weak and the absent. But this time she is in the wrong. The gun is proof enough to convict Kepp."

"I think, my lord," observed Ashcroft, "that the plea of the Lady Alexina deserves attention. I have not yet plunging back at the mansion, and then called, softly:

"Lyle, Lyle!"

As these words sounded upon the air, some one stirred, and then the form of Lyle Indor was visible.

"Lyle!" repeated the heiress, joyfully.

She glided along the edge of the cliff with a quick step, and soon stood by the side of the frank and boyish-looking nephew of Lady Egremont.

CHAPTER IV.

In the midst of Egremont Wood, upon one of the lesser avenues traversing the forest, stood the cottage of Donald Kay, the chief forester. It had been designed by the father of Lady Alexina, and was a picturesque ornament to the spot. It was simply a Swiss chalet, with some modifications appropriate to its present situation, and its verandas were entwined with ivy and a few vines, the latter being, however, now quite stripped of their leaves.

Donald Kay had lived within it for many years, and he frequently expressed a hope that there he might end his days, as his wife had already done. It was endeared to him by pleasant memories of his life, and there his only child had been born.

He had long been the chief forester, and had filled the post worthily, and gained the respect of all who knew him.

On the day subsequent to the arrival of Lady Egremont and Lord Ashcroft at Egremont, Donald Kay sat before a bright wood fire in the large kitchen of his pretty chalet, smoking his pipe.

He was a tall, stout man, with a muscular frame and iron sinews, although his hair and beard were as white as snow. His eyes were yet keen, and strangely contradicted the aged appearance caused by his hair, and his face was seamed with deep lines, which grief rather than years had traced.

His entire appearance was that of a man weighed down by a terrible sorrow or fear, which had produced upon him the effects of extreme age.

This sorrow was generally ascribed to the loss of his wife, whose death had occurred some fifteen years before, but the sorrow had existed long before her death—a fact not generally remembered.

Jean Kay had been a good wife and notable housekeeper, but she had not been a character to awaken such lasting regret in the heart of her husband. Yet, since her death, he had never offered her place to any other woman, and had shunned their companionship as if it had been a pestilence.

His only friends were his daughter and a young under-forester named Gosman Kepp, the one upon whom the suspicions of Lord Egremont had rested as the assailant of Lord Ashcroft on the previous day.

While the old man smoked his pipe in silent thoughtfulness, gazing abstractedly upon the ceiling, a pretty scene was transpiring behind him.

Near one of the windows, in a low chair, engaged in the unromantic employment of darning hose, sat the daughter of the forester, a demure look on her face. Gosman Kepp was seated beside her, looking at her with lover-like impatience.

"Answer me now, Jessy," he pleaded earnestly.

But Miss Jessy affected to be in a meditative mood, and apparently did not hear the words of her companion.

Not yet twenty, Jessy Kay was a bright, laughing creature, as wild as the fawns that lived in her native forest, and as gay and blithe as the birds that gathered about the chalet to eat the supply of crumbs she had at such times always in readiness for them.

No sorrow had ever darkened her young life, for at her mother's death she had been too young to feel her loss, and was wont to fill the cottage with the music of her voice and laughter, frequently beguiling her father from the sorrow over which he brooded so constantly.

In personal appearance she was a fair specimen of a Scotch maiden, being as pretty as a wild rose. In manner she was coquettish, delighting to torment Gosman Kepp, whom she knew loved her sincerely, to the very height of endurance.

Kepp was a tall and straight young man, with a plain, honest face, and a rough sincerity about him that pre-possessed one in his favor.

NO ESCAPE.

If we do wrong we have to pay, if not just now, some other day; if not in the accustomed shape, it cuts no ice, we can't escape; old Retribution will appear, perhaps next week, perhaps next year, and make us dig up all we owe, and show no novelties in woe. So when a catiff strews some glass along the pike where I must pass, and all my tires are running flat, I may be much incensed at that, but thoughts of vengeance do not mar my spirit while I view my car. If I beheld the scurvy knave who strewed the glass along the pike, I would not kick him with my toe, or call him down, for well I know that he'll be punished for his crime; the gods will swat him in good time. Sometime all things are evaded; the sinner drinks the bitter cup, perhaps for evil tricks he sprung long years ago when he was young. The delegate who spread the glass may thrive while many seasons pass; but Nemesis is on his trail, and soon or later will prevail. Some day his engine will break down when he is sixty miles from town, on some remote abandoned road, remote from any man's abode. The night is dark, it starts to rain; he's weeping by his busted wain; and from my airship, as I pass, I say, "Recall that broken glass!" I'll always wait and let the fates hand out revenge to erring skates.

Shelter in a Basement

It has been brought to the notice of the police that two men without home or friends were living in the basement of a house near the East End Fire Hall and their condition was such that it would not be unlikely if they were found dead. The police investigated the matter to-day and discovered that the men had for some time past obtained shelter by crawling under the basement. One was in such a condition that he was ashamed to venture out in the daytime, neither is he in a fit condition to work. What will be done with them has not been determined although the police are trying to have them looked after.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy is equally and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, this mixture saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more readily effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out, and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money refunded.

HER NERVES BETTER NOW

Received Much Benefit by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ont.—"I started to get weak after my second child was born, and kept on getting worse until I could not do my own housework, and was so bad with my nerves that I was afraid to stay alone at any time. I had a girl working for me a whole year before I was able to do my washing again. Through a friend I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it. It gave birth to a baby boy the 4th day of September, 1922. I am still doing my own work and washing. Of course, I don't feel well every day because I don't get my rest as the baby is so cross. But when I get my rest I feel fine. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and am going to keep on with it until cured. My nerves are a lot better since taking it. I can stay alone day or night and not be the least frightened. You can use this letter as a testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Chas. Carson, 27 Forsyth St., Chatham, Ont. Mrs. Carson is willing to write to anyone suffering from female trouble.

"Child's Eyelids Inflamed Stuck Together and Bled"

Mr. E. P. Kimball, Entwistle, Alta., writes:

"Our little girl from birth was troubled with inflamed eyelids and in spite of several remedies, grew worse until at the age of sixteen months her eyes could not be opened after sleep without bleeding, a waxy discharge sticking the lids together and adhering with great tenacity. The child's grandmothers were consulted by mail, and both responded with a little sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. These were used as directed, and lasted until we could obtain a further supply from Edmonton. Improvement was very marked from the first application. The waxy discharge was easier removed and did not reappear. Inflammation subsided and has not returned."

Fire in New Jersey Wipes Out Millions of Dollars of Property.

Resignation of Officials Demanded Following Hamilton Investigation—Prominent Liberal Blames Lloyd George for Liberal Downfall—Besco Employees to be Reduced.

BENN REPUDIATES LLOYD GEORGE.

LONDON, Nov. 14. An incipient revolt, against former Premier Lloyd George holding the joint leadership of the Liberal party with H. H. Asquith, was to-day's development of the plain speaking that has surrounded the party since the poor showing in the recent elections. Mr. Lloyd George was rejected by the Conservative party in the famous caucus in October, 1922, which put an end to Coalition Government and brought Stanley Baldwin into the leadership of the Conservatives. The Labor Party never would have anything to do with Mr. Lloyd George. Now while Mr. Asquith is journeying to Egypt to consult the sphinx on the Liberal riddle, as Austin Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, facetiously remarked in a speech yesterday, Captain William Wedgwood Benn, an influential member of the Liberal party, has written a letter to a prominent Liberal organ declaring he cannot in any way or indirectly acknowledge Mr. Lloyd George as his leader in the House of Commons. Captain Benn declares it was not defective party organization that brought about the Liberal disaster; the vital fault, he says, is want of trust. The people have no confidence, and rightly so, in Lloyd George. It is pointed out in political circles that of the few Liberals elected to the Commons most are strong adherents of Lloyd George, and that if the movement against the former Premier should grow it would not be among the Liberal parliamentarians but among the Liberals outside.

BIG FIRE IN JERSEY CITY.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Nov. 14. A conflagration which started in the saltpetre plant of the Richardson Chemical Company, leaped beyond control of the fire forces of two cities to the plant of the American Sugar Refinery Company and then passed and destroyed several smaller factories and two rows of tenement houses which included most of the buildings in an entire block, raged for four hours before the firemen declared it under control at one o'clock this afternoon. The losses run into millions of dollars but could not be closely estimated. Fifteen persons, seriously injured or burned, scores of others cut by glass blown out over half a mile radius by a series of explosions, and 900 families made homeless, was the toll of the Jersey City fire. In the rear section of the American Sugar Refinery building, the fire has burst beyond control of the fire fighters and is forcing them to retreat. The walls at the rear of the building are beginning to cave and the flames thus released are expected to carry across the street to the main warehouses of Colgate & Co., which is filled with soap and other highly inflammable substances. Should the warehouse become ignited it is predicted the entire Colgate plant will be destroyed. The plants of the Vulcan Iron Works Co., and of the Manhattan Electric Supply Co., are menaced. The firemen are hampered by low pressure.

FIRE IS OUT.

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 14. The conflagration which raged out nearly an entire block with losses running into millions of dollars to-day was declared to be out at 2:45 p.m. when all blazes were subdued and only smoking timbers and occasional small explosions of saltpetre remaining in the ruins of the factory where the fire started were left to be guarded by the fire companies of three cities.

HAMILTON MAKES SWEEP OF OFFICIALS.

HAMILTON, Nov. 14. The Board of Control to-day decided to ask for the resignation of the heads and deputies of the Tax Office, City Treasurer's office, and Auditor's office. The resignations are to take effect when accepted advertisements will be published calling for applications for the positions. This action follows the presentation of the report of the auditors who investigated the city's books, following the discovery of a defalcation of $50,000 in the treasury and the disappearance of H. S. Torboe, a clerk.

BESCO REDUCES FORCES AT GLACE BAY.

GLACE BAY, N.S., Nov. 11. Coal shipments to the St. Lawrence are nearing a close. Only four more trips are in sight and by the end of next week the Dominion Coal Company will have finished its Montreal and Quebec contract for the season. There is to be a reduction to-morrow in the forces at Glace Bay shops of the B.E.S. Corporation. One hundred men or so will get their notice this evening that their services will not be required for the present. The shops have been working under reduced forces for several weeks past.

SOMETHING FOR SOCIETY TO TALK OVER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. New York society was stirred to-day by the revelation that L. K. Rhineland, a representative of New York's oldest and foremost socially established families, had married the daughter of a former New Rochelle cab driver.

FUNDING POLISH DEBT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14. An agreement for funding the Polish debt, amounting to $190,000,000, was signed to-day at the Treasury. It follows practically the same terms accorded Great Britain.

RAILWAY WRECK IN FLORIDA.

MIAMI, Florida, Nov. 14. Six persons were reported killed and 99 injured early to-night when a Florida east coast train was wrecked at Wabasso, near Vero, Florida, according to telephone information received by the Miami Herald.

CRUISER RETURNS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. The United States cruiser Trenton returned to port to-day, having abandoned her search for the missing Lief Ericsson, the yacht in which William Nutting, editor of Motor Boat, and three other men were supposed to have sailed from Greenland following the trail of the Vikings.

SMITH CROSSING THE CHANNEL.

LONDON, Nov. 14. P. J. Smith, the Toronto man who is attempting to win a bet that he could paddle alone from Sydney, N.S., to New York, and from London to Rome, and cover the whole distance in two months, left Dover this morning on his perilous trip across the English Channel to Calais, France. The start from Dover was made at 7:30 in cold weather and sky overcast. The channel was somewhat choppy and the weather hazy, but Smith made excellent progress. He headed westward from Dover on the ebb of the tide.

AMUNDSEN'S POLAR PLANS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14. Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, in an interview at the Waldorf Astoria announced his new plans for an airplane flight from Spitzbergen to the North Pole and from the pole to Alaska, with the object of discovering a continent or a great Archipelago in the million square miles of the Arctic which remain unexplored. The plans of the Norwegian discoverer which failed a year ago because of financial obstacles have been revived through the efforts of Lincoln Ellsworth, American civil engineer and explorer, who earlier this year carried out an extensive geological survey in the Andes for the John Hopkins University. Mr. Ellsworth, his family and friends have furnished $100,000 for the expedition. It is expected three planes will take part in the flight. Capt. Amundsen said. For air stations and bases the shore route from England to Japan or from many other parts of Europe to Asia is over the top of the earth. With the development of dirigibles and airplanes the north route will be used, and there is land there it will be of the greatest importance. In the case of future wars air bases on the Arctic will undoubtedly be of the greatest value.

Susu Arrives

S.S. Susu, Capt. Jacob Kean, arrived from the Fogo mail service last night after a round trip of six days. She brought a small freight, consisting of fish and oil, and a few passengers. The Susu met rough weather going north, and was compelled to harbor at Bay de Verde from Saturday midnight until Monday. Since then fine weather prevailed and all the ports of call were made without any trouble.

Cabot St. Mother Now 'Rubs Away' Children's Colds

Use New Vaporizing Ointment that Replaces Internal Dosing. Nothing to Swallow.

To-day millions of mothers treat croup and children's colds by the "vapor" method. They use Vicks Vapo-Rub, the vaporizing ointment, because it is externally applied. There is no dosing to upset delicate little stomachs.

Mrs. I. LeDrew of No. 9 Cabot St., St. John's writes: "My little boy, five years old, had a bad cold in his throat. I rubbed him twice with Vicks and cured him. I also used it for my little baby girl and recommend it."

For hours after Vicks is applied over the throat and chest, medicated vapors are inhaled directly into the affected air passages. At the same time Vicks is absorbed like a liniment and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion. Vicks contains Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme and other of the best time-tested remedies for inflammations, whether of the air passages—i.e.—head or chest colds, croup, catarrh, bronchitis, etc.—or surface inflammation such as burns, bites, cuts, stings, etc. Vicks is a standby in millions of homes. Over 17 million jars are used annually in Canada and the States.

Oddities in the News

Fles Without Fathers.

A certain tribe of flies investigated by Dr. A. D. Peacock has managed to do away almost entirely with the male of the species. The young are born to the females without the co-operation or assistance of the males. The males are almost without any value in this fly community. Inasmuch as the fatherless fly-children are nearly all females, it may be that this tribe will eventually eliminate its useless males entirely.

Frightened Dog's Grey Hair.

Mutt, a black and white Airedale, furnished the first instance ever recorded at Galveston, Tex., of an animal turning grey from fright or shock. The dog had been missing since a motor accident in which both its owners were killed. Mutt was chained to the running board of the car, which turned over three times. Later the dog was found cowering under the house. When he was finally enticed out his head was covered with grey hairs.

Her Boy—Aged 89.

When Mrs. Mae Urdang celebrated her 114th birthday recently in the Harlem House of the Daughters of Israel, among those taking part in the jollification were her young brother, who is 100, and her "boy," who is just 89. In addition, fifty other aged men and women, inmates of the home, joined in the celebration, the feature of which was the cutting of a birthday cake adorned with 114 candles.

Real Sky Pilot.

Having a "parish" of 40,000 square miles, the Rev. L. Daniels, of Wilcanna, New South Wales, has asked the Colonial and Continental Church Society for an aeroplane in order to make his calls. He explains that he travels 10,000 miles a year in getting round his "parish"—some important places get a service but two or three times a year. He is at present using a decrepit motor car.

Diamond in a Fowl.

A farmer at St. Etienne, France, bought a fowl, and when dressing it for dinner found inside it a diamond which has been proved to be of great value.

Jewels That Keep Time

A watch movement contains precious stones to diminish its wear. The lever and the balance wheel pivots always run on bearings made out of jewels. In high-grade watches the bearings of the entire watch movement are jewelled. The best grade jewels are made of sapphires or rubies, the cheaper grade of garnet, and the lowest grade of ordinary rock crystal. There are from seven to twenty-three points of jewels in a watch, and unless they are all of good quality and fit the wheel pivots perfectly the watch will be a poor time-keeper even if it does run.

DICK FAHEY, A N.F.L.D. BOY STAR—RING IN THE RING.

The following account of a Newfoundland boy, Dick Fahey, a son of Mr. Philip Fahey of the Customs Dept. will be read with interest. He is rapidly making a name for himself in the ring, and in seventeen contests has been victorious excepting on two occasions when the result was a draw:

PERTH AMBOY, N.J.—Intense rivalry between Tommy Sully, of the Pioneer Club, and Dick Fahey, of the Lyceum Club, made the semi-final tilt a six-rounder which was filled with action from start to finish. When the final bell was sounded honors were about even. From the opening bell the two boxers fought hard and Sully had a shade the better of the first two rounds. In the third, after Sully had dished out considerable punishment, Lahey landed a right to the stomach and the Avenel Italian went down for a count of nine. He held on to the bell.

Sully still had the effects of the blow in the fourth and took another count of nine this round. Every now and then he would exchange with the Lyceum fighter, but the battle was slowed up for a time. Lahey was knocked off his feet in the fifth but got up without a count, and Sully had the better of the fight to the bell. The Avenel fighter finished strong in the sixth, entitling him to an even break. Sully weighed 143 and Fahey 141.

Charlie Delacarte, of Rahway, and Young Morro, a Filipino of Carteret, made a good showing in a six round bout, the first mentioned boxer having a shade the better of the battle. There was plenty of action from start to finish. The Rahway man weighed 125, three and a half pounds heavier than his rival.

Fahey's Ability Was Unknown.

Tommy Sully, of the Pioneer Athletic Club and Avenel, is in training again for his bout with Kid Karslick, of South Amboy and South River, one of the big contests to be put on by the police for the show here a week from next Thursday night.

The Avenel battler made a big hit with the fans by his showing against Dick Fahey, of the Lyceum Club, on Thursday night at the local auditorium. Fahey proved a tougher opponent than he was at first thought and after being knocked practically out in the third, Sully fought back gamely during the remainder of the rounds and earned a draw.

Sully entered the ring on Thursday night, a big favorite, because of the fact that Fahey's real ability was unknown. The Lyceum Club representative surprised everyone and the two boys will surely be rebooked again.

Manager Thinks Newfoundland Boy Beat Sully.

Leo Franzblau, manager of Dick Fahey, of the Lyceum Boxing Club, is of the opinion that his man beat Tommy Sully, of Avenel, on Thursday night, according to the following letter:

"Sporting Editor,

"Dear Sir:
"Just a few words in regards to the decision handed out in the semi-final to the Roberts-Johnston fight. Therefore I as manager of Dick Fahey thought it a very unfair or misjudged decision. I will leave it to the public, you will notice that Fahey did all the leading, put his man down for a count of nine twice and if you watched closely you could see Sully bending over in a scrouch and wouldn't fight."
"The only bad thing for the wise boys was that Sully met his match and this cannot be denied as it was shown to the boxing fans. I will let Fahey meet Sully any time the boxing promoters see fit and leave it to three judges from out of town, and I think it fair enough. Thank you."

Yours in sport,

LEO FRANZBLAU,
172 Hall Avenue.

INTER CLUB BILLIARDS.

Masonic Leading By 22 Points.

The inter club billiard tournament between the Masonic and B.I.S. players was continued last night, when two games were played, and the honors again equally divided. On the result of the night's play, though, the Masonic gained eleven points. To date the tournament has been followed by enthusiasts of the game with great interest and the series from now on promises to be very closely contested.

First Game.

The first game, H. Buckingham vs. L. G. Harsant, produced some very good play, particularly by the former, and kept the many spectators present interested from beginning to end. The final result was, Buckingham, 350; Harsant, 294. The breaks were: Buckingham (B.I.S.)—350—21, 10, 12, 17, 25, 12, 17, 22, 10, 11, 19, 10—188. Harsant (Masonic)—294—12, 12, 14, 27, 10, 14, 13, 12—114.

Second Game.

The second game, G. Freeman vs. C. Merner, was most interesting right through and produced some remarkable play. The first half was particularly interesting. Freeman 104 while his opponent scored only 25. Merner, playing carefully, pulled up and made 105 while Freeman got only 25, so that at 130 Merner was one point to the good. Freeman then got away again and at 199 had a lead of 33. This he gradually increased, and with only four to win he was 107 ahead. A nice break of Merner, of 31, however, cut deeply into his margin, and the game ended, Freeman 350; Merner 283. The breaks were as follows:—

G. Freeman (Masonic)—350—22, 34, 25, 14, 11, 14, 14, 13, 11, 15, 30, 12, 24—259.

C. Merner (B. I. S.)—283—16, 10, 26, 29, 23, 12, 16, 10, 31—172.

To-Night's Game.

7.30—H. Foster (Masonic) vs. G. Halley (B.I.S.)
The second game for to-night, Snow (Masonic) vs. A. Moakler (B.I.S.) has been postponed until next week.

M.G.C.A. HOCKEYISTS MEET TO-NIGHT.

The annual meeting of the Guards Hockey Team takes place in the Club rooms at 7.30 to-night, when the election of officers will be conducted, and the finalizing of arrangements for the conditioning of players prior to the season's games will take place. The Guards are placing a formidable line-up in the arena this season, and are determined to do their utmost to win back the trophies which they lost last year. All of last year's players are available and, with the addition of some new blood, they are bound to be heard from.

N.C.O.'s Lost Stripe

PUNISHED FOR OBEDIENCE TO ORDERS.

Obedience of battalion orders was the singular cause of a Guards non-commissioned officer losing a stripe at an Aldershot court-martial. Sergt. William Evan Pearce, of the Welsh Guards, was accused of permitting Guardsman Pearson to escape from custody, and was reduced to the grade of corporal. The circumstances were that Pearce, in accordance with standing orders of his battalion, prepared his guard report. At 10 minutes to 10 at night he told the corporal of the guard that he was leaving the guard-room to take his report to Drill-Sergt. Evans at his quarters. Evans was acting for the regimental sergeant-major. Pearce was absent for that purpose ten minutes, and on return to the guardroom the escape of Guardsman Pearson was discovered. It was ascertained, the following morning, that Pearson had escaped as a result of a piece of wood having been inserted in the lock slot, which prevented the bolts going home. A member of the court-martial, Capt. Stanard, R.H.A., entered the cell after the piece of wood had been fixed, and had no difficulty in getting out of the cell. Nevertheless, the Court held the sergeant responsible, even though he was on duty when the man escaped. The fact that Pearce has now been reduced has given rise to considerable regret and astonishment, having regard to the fact that Col. Mears, commanding the regiment, when called by the defence as to character, stated that accused was a man of exemplary character, and one of the best non-commissioned officers serving in his company.

FRANCE'S GREAT AIR MANŒUVRES.

The most important aerial manoeuvres undertaken by the French Army since the war have just been brought to a close. Nearly half the total air forces of France participated. The General Staff followed the movements closely, as one of the vital problems to be solved was whether combat planes protecting bombers and range-finders should remain close to their charges, like destroyers covering merchantmen, or whether it was best for them to operate at a considerable distance above and away, so as to be able to swoop down on attackers like hawks on their prey. Considerable forces of infantry and cavalry were used to simulate two opposing armies, one of which was supposed to have retreated towards Paris and to be keeping up resistance pending the arrival of reinforcements. The most exciting sham fights occurred when squadrons of bombing planes, convoyed by battle planes, were attacked simultaneously from the air and by anti-aircraft guns. During the night attacks by powerful planes were caught by powerful searchlights and taken under fire by the new anti-aircraft gun, 150mm. long. Simultaneously with manoeuvres General Nollet followed special tank manoeuvres at Chalons, when the new 20 tank, which was first described in the "News of the World," and has now been perfected, went through astounding performances. The new tank can ford rivers and overcome all possible obstacles. Sabbathier, a civilian engineer, was decorated by General Nollet with the Legion of Honour.

HOW THE GOVERNMENT MET ITS DOOM.

(By our Parliamentary Representative.)

It is a long time since spectators in the House of Commons galleries were treated to a succession of really big speakers such as they enjoyed on the night when the death-knell of the Labour Government was sounded. For four hours Front Benches held the attention of a packed House. One after another they simply compelled their colleagues to wait and listen, for at any moment a turn might have been given to the debate which would have changed the whole situation. There was a closely packed assembly on the green benches, on the floor, a respectable overflow in the side galleries reserved for members, and a crush at the bar—not the place where liquid refreshments are dispensed, but the space just inside the doors, where fifty legislators can be squeezed at a pinch. Excitement was at fever heat and partisanship was rampant. Sir Robert Horne in his customary cool and logical mood led the attack on the Government in a speech lasting close upon an hour. He stirred nobody to passionate outbursts either of approval or disapproval. All the time he had his eye on the chief political culprits, the Prime Minister and the Attorney General, and he unfolded his case with the skill of a lawyer, who has thoroughly studied his brief. There were no rhetorical fireworks, but just a plain statement of facts upon which he relied for a conviction. The Attorney General was straining at the leash to reply. He jumped up immediately Sir Robert had finished, but the speaker had to check his impetuosity by reading the terms of the vote of censure. This was a matter of a minute. Sir Patrick Hastings was again on his feet. He treated the House as a jury. He had been pilloried, he was on his trial, he declared with a fervour which roused the Labour members to enthusiasm. What had he done to which exception could be taken? What other course could he have pursued with precedent to back him up? He put all his cards on the table. He piled documents on the despatch box in front of him, and there were still more which he arranged on his right and left. He spoke with such earnestness and vehemence that quite early in his oration his voice got husky and he appealed to colleagues to bring him a glass of water. One of the under-secretaries slipped out of the Chamber and reappeared in a minute or two with a glass of the Metropolitan Water Board's best filtered sample, which he placed on top of the sheet of documents. Refreshing himself, Sir Patrick warmed to his task. When he sat down he had reached an emotional stage, not at all to be wondered at, seeing that he had been vindicating his personal and professional honour with such earnestness, and without waiting to hear the opening of Sir John Simon's speech he threaded his way along the outstretched feet of his Ministerial colleagues and disappeared through the door behind the Speaker's chair. He was patted on the back by a group of Labour members there assembled, and several shook him warmly by the hand. This was to be the main lawyers' day for Sir John Simon and Sir Douglas Hogg, both ex-law officers of the Crown, were concerned with the amendments to follow. It was Sir John's turn first. In easy-flowing, at times eloquent, phrases, he moved the demand for a Select Committee to enquire into all the circumstances. He had no stone to fling at the Attorney-General; in fact, throughout the debate it was admitted that Sir Patrick had completely outstaged his critics as to his share in the withdrawal of the Communist prosecution. Sir John Simon and those associated with him made their chief attack on the Prime Minister and his Cabinet colleagues because, and they did not hesitate to say so plainly, they suspected them of having influenced the course of justice for fear of offending the Communists. This accusation the Prime Minister indignantly repudiated. He was particularly bitter against the Liberal party, for it had become known that they were going to insist on the Select Committee, and, with the aid of the Conservatives, would turn the Government out. One was irresistibly reminded of that fateful night early in the year when the Liberals joined with the Labour party to oust the Conservative Government. There were many speculations as to the fate of the Ministerial Bench. Then, as now, Mr. MacDonald was firm. If the Select Committee was insisted upon, his Government would go out. Mr. Asquith tried to minimize the horrors of the torture chamber which the Prime Minister so much dreaded, and twitted him with super-sensitiveness. Sir Douglas Hogg narrowed the issue down to the happenings of one hour. It was a fateful hour, because it was the period in which the decision to drop the prosecution was made. What influences were at work in that time, he asked in sinister tones. Mr. T. P. O'Connor, the Father of the House, wanted the debate adjourned so that parties could talk over the situation in calmer moments. It was unthinkable that they should precipitate a General Election on such a paltry issue. "Let us not trail our coats for this." Was his advice, but general opinion was that there should be a fight to a finish, and so the adjournment motion was withdrawn. Mr. J. H. Thomas, who was the last spokesman for the Government, was very earnest in his disapproval of Communists. There were five minutes left before the division, and this gave Commander Kenworthy a chance to talk to his immediate neighbours, for few others could hear anything beyond the repeated cries of "Vote!" At 11 o'clock the closure was applied and the fateful division taken, in which the Government was defeated, thereby precipitating a general election.

Fish That Sing

In Ceylon there is a shellfish, a sort of mussel, which sings!

It can hardly be claimed that it competes with the sight-song, but it produces a long, low, flute sound, which has a musical quality. Seeing that these bivalves do not possess a throat in any accepted sense of the word, and certainly no vocal cords, this singing sound must be produced by some manipulation of their double shell.

It is possible that increasing dryness does the trick, for the sound only occurs after the tide has been down for a considerable time, leaving the bivalves high and dry on the rocky beach.

There is a fish which hoots, too. The Scotch fisherman calls this fish the butterman and, when caught by line or net, it makes a noise from the back of its throat when landed. Eels also make a noise when the hook is removed from their gills. The common and very ugly gurnard of our coasts grunts loudly when hauled to the surface, a strange croaking noise more like the caw of a crow than the sound a fish seems likely to produce.

One's evening decolletage may be V-shaped, square, or round, but it is moderate in any case.

Women as Political Agents

London, Eng.—The Daily Mail has an interesting article on the Women Election Agent. If, as is said, elections are not won or lost by candidates, but by their agents, what are women doing in the latter and vital capacity? They are progressing. In 1922 there appear to have been only two women election agents. Last November there were several, and one may assume that their ranks will be doubled, if not trebled during the present campaign. Moreover, there are now at least six women holding permanent posts as chief agents. One notable feature is that up to the present, almost without exception, their employers have been men. Women candidates seem to have preferred men agents.

A first class agent is born, not made, and in many instances may be described as being "born into the work." Thus one woman agent of the day comes of a family of agents, while another is the daughter of a former M.P. It is essential, however, that the agent must have that political prescience, or sixth sense, which will enable her to foresee the trend of things. Here woman's natural intuition is very valuable, but it must be harnessed and disciplined to business habits and she must know her constituency in every phase. She must also have an intimate knowledge of election laws, and the law of libel. She arranges for committee rooms, canvassing tours, chairmen, supporting speakers, reception of deputations, the useful employment of an army of paid and voluntary helpers, and "literature inspired" communications to the press, hecklers, motor and other conveyances, and a thousand and one other things. While keeping a sharp eye on the enemy's camp for weak spots or illegalities, she must be very careful that there are none in her own. After the battle she must see that all accounts are rendered and passed within the statutory period. Her fee for an election ranges from a few pounds to fifty. So far women agents have done very well. Nevertheless it is a highly specialised and intricate job. Experience can be gained as canvasser, office worker, committee woman, poster artist, copy writer, heckler, research or reference clerk, and so on. Municipal elections afford excellent training.

"STAFFORD'S DRUG STORE NEWS" RESOURCEFULNESS

M. Coty, the head of many great perfume factories in France, expressing great difficulty in making his start toward success. When only a poor chemist he discovered a new method of perfume making, but he peddled the process in vain to all the leading perfume makers.

Turned away from his last chance, he instantly decided upon an unusual plan of action. Just as he was leaving, he dropped on the floor a small unstoppered bottle containing his entire stock of the precious liquid. A few days later he received a brief letter from the company. It said: "We cannot longer refuse to help you. That illustrious fluid has made of this office a veritable paradise. Come and see us."

To this interesting incident M. Coty attributes his success. Those who look beneath the surface, will understand that the dropping of the bottle simply manifested an ability to think clearly, decide positively and act immediately. M. Coty possessed the qualifications for an executive. Why not make your home, office or any place you may be working in also a veritable paradise. It's very hard to do this without you are enjoying good Health and Strength, and thousands of people are neglecting themselves every day by not being careful enough over their Body. You require Good Health and Strength you will find nothing better to restore it than Brick's Fastest. The proof of this being the very best in the world is that the market is that by the end of this year the sale will be over Ten Thousand Bottles.

Coconut Palm Perfumes

The coconut palm is the most widely distributed and most generally known tree in the tropical regions of the world. To such an extent do the people of all warm countries depend upon the coconut palm as a source of food or income that it is difficult to imagine how they would get along without it.

While every part of the palm is requisitioned for special uses, it is not generally known that it supplies a dyeing material of no mean importance, especially in the Far East. The dye it yields is in the rind. The latter is ground or powdered, and then soaked for a few days in water and afterwards boiled. The material to be dyed is washed in this water.

Oil is present chiefly in the flowers, which are gathered for their fragrance, and in a small way the oil is extracted and sold for making perfumery.

The new silhouette is remarkably sheet-like still, in spite of the circular and flaring tendencies. Buttons have seldom been more in evidence. They are used in self and contrasting colors.

An Annual Fair

As a result of the events which have been occurring this week the closing of our Industrial Fair failed to receive the attention which it deserved, and before the event has been altogether forgotten...

The Labour Situation

After the decision of the Longshoremen's Union yesterday to permit the men to resume work on the same terms as had been in operation previous to the strike...

The agreement referred to above was suggested as a result of the resolutions passed by the Union in 1920, which were as follows: "All unnecessary overloading of trucks to be prohibited."

"Not more than— Two casks of oil in a sling. Three barrels of fish. Five drums of fish. Four boxes of fish. Three sacks of oats. Five sacks of sugar, 100 lbs. Five sacks of flour, 100 lbs."

"Taking in cargo not less than 14 men. Not less than 9 men in the hold of a coal or salt boat. Work to cease at 6 p.m. No work at meal hours or holidays."

Supreme Court

(Before Mr. Justice Kent).

KING VS. J. WHITEFORD MURPHY.

The hearing of the above matter began before Mr. Justice Kent and the following special jury: Thomas Buckley, Walter Morrissey, John Bugden, Wm. Raynes Edwin Lawrence, Mark Pike, Patrick J. Carter, Wm. R. Neal, Geo. H. W. Press, Geo. Vasagar, Edward Murphy, Chesley Pippy, Mr. B. Dunfield and J. A. W. McNelly.

Mr. Winter addressed the jury and pointed out the salient features of the charge, after which he called Mr. J. C. Hepburn, Director of Baine Johnson & Co., owners of certain timber licenses.

He had one license in his own name at Hamilton Inlet, Labrador. He has held it for the past 7 or 8 years and the rental amounts to $1,500.00. The rental was never charged with any arrears as the amounts were paid regularly on expiry of time limit.

Fenwick Crane, Accountant & Secretary, Job Bros., Ltd., Witness deposed that Mr. Job had several timber limits and the rentals would be paid for through the firm. He had a limit at Hare Bay. The rental varied and averaged $340.00. Receipt for rental for 1921 was put in evidence. Two other receipts for rental of the same limits were put in evidence. A cheque for 1919, drawn by Job Bros. and marked for deposit, was put in evidence.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dunfield witness said the other two cheques could not be located. Robert Leith, Chartered Accountant Witness conducted an audit of the books of the Terra Nova Sulphite Co. prior to liquidation. Witness shown receipt recognized it as rental for 1920 for timber area owned by the Sulphite Co. A cheque for $1,296.00 was attached to the receipt. Cheque was marked for deposit to credit of the Department. A second receipt and cheque for $512.00, paid by the same company, was identified by the witness. A brief cross-examination by Mr. Dunfield followed.

Sidney Hart, Clerk in the Department of Agriculture and Mines. Witness deposed that he knew Mr. McNelly as Second Clerk. About four years ago he was First Clerk. Mr. McNelly looked after the timber business and Mr. Thorburn after the mineral licenses. Some moneys were paid in on timber licenses, it was usually paid to Mr. McNelly. Witness paid all the bills of the Department and kept the books. When moneys were paid they would be entered in a special receipt book with a stub. The stub is a counterfoil of the receipt. Mr. McNelly entered the stubs and witness would make the entry on the cash book from the stub. The number on the stub would appear on the cash book. Witness did not handle the cash. It was deposited in the Bank of Montreal to the General Exchange Account and a receipt would be given by the Bank. The receipt would go to Mr. McNelly. Witness only makes deposits once or twice—during Mr. McNelly's absence. (Bank receipt put in evidence). Debit and credit side of cash book always agreed, so it was safe to assume that Mr. McNelly deposited all the money he received as shown by the receipt. In addition to the cash book a ledger was kept but it was never balanced. Sometimes when amounts were due, bills would be sent out, but not always. Witness shown document which he recognized as a bill for 1,550 square miles of timber area at $2.50 per square mile and interest $93.00. A cheque for the amount and a receipt was also included in the exhibit. The receipt was not one from the regular numbered stub-book. It was signed "paid by Mr. McNelly." When asked if he received stubs showing payments of certain rentals, witness said he could not remember. Asked if he could produce the stubs for 1917-1918 and 1919, witness said that he could not. All used stubs were always kept on file but those for these periods could not be found. After making the entries the stubs were handed back to Mr. McNelly. When a book was finished out, it was put on file and accessible to all the officials of the Department. They were for a time kept out, for audit, and then put away in the vaults. There are no other records for receipts of money except the stubs. Asked to examine cash book for May, 1916, witness, doing so, said there was an entry of payment of $3,100.00 by Mr. Hepburn, but there was none for the interest of $93.00. In the 1917, there was no entry for the amount of rental. In 1918 there was also no entry. The stub numbers on the pages of the book ran consecutively and there was no number missing. The same applied with books for May, 1920 and 1921. Witness showed receipts of R. B. Job, May, 1916, 1917, and another for 1919, said he had not the stub books for these years.

Asked to examine cash book entries, witness said there was no entry of Twenty-five persons are missing and are considered as having been drowned in consequence of a boiler explosion on board a steamer, on which they were returning to their homes. Sixty persons were making the passage, and in addition to these twenty-two were severely injured.

JAVA EARTHQUAKE CAUSES GREAT DAMAGE.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 14. Advice received here from Java bearing Thursday's date say that the earth was still quaking slightly threatening to ruin many of the houses which escaped damage in the serious earthquake shocks on Wednesday. The damage to Government buildings at Wonosobo, where Wednesday's earthquake was most severe, is estimated at a million florins.

COURT OF HONOUR TO DECIDE QUARREL.

ROME, Nov. 14. It was announced to-day that General Italo Balbo, Commander-in-Chief of the Fascist National Militia, owing to the impossibility of a duel with Gen. Peppino Garibaldi, had submitted the case involved in his challenge to Gen. Garibaldi to the permanent Court of Honor at Florence.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE WILL COVER MANY QUESTIONS.

LONDON, Nov. 14. (Canadian Press Cable)—It is anticipated that the Speech From the Throne at the opening of Parliament on December 8th will indicate the Baldwin Government's intentions with regard to housing, trade revival, unemployment, and foreign affairs, an inquiry concerning food prices, and perhaps some suggestion of national insurance against ill-health and unemployment. With regard to the housing problem the Government, it is understood, will assure the Trades Unions that its scheme for providing more housing accommodation for the people will embrace a period of at least 15 years which, it is anticipated, will nullify the Unions towards the admission of diluted labour, or at any rate the extension of the apprenticeship system to the promotion of semi-skilled laborers. Regarding the proposed enquiry as to food prices there are indications that this question will be looked into at a very early period by a Royal Commission, and the question of prices will be explored with reference to the Imperial aspect thereof. An Imperial Economic Committee may be appointed to consider the marketing of Empire produce, with the object of ascertaining how the food commodities of the Dominions can be brought more prominently before the attention of the consumers in the Mother Country than is the case at present.

BRAZILIAN WARSHIP BOUND HOME.

MONTEVIDEO, Nov. 15. Leaving behind 250 witnesses who had brought her to this port the battleship Sao Paulo started home again yesterday manned by 200 loyal members of her crew and fifty sailors transferred from her sister ship the Minas Geraes.

ROYALIST FORCES DEFEATED.

CARIO, Nov. 15. It was reported here yesterday that the Warabi tribesmen had inflicted a severe defeat on King Ali's forces from Jeddah, Batavia.

AIR SERVICE FROM NEW YORK TO CHICAGO.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15. The government has biased the trail for an eight to nine hour overnight air mail service between New York and Chicago both ways. It was disclosed yesterday by Carl F. Egge General Supt. of the post office department of the air mail service. Routes have been mapped, railway terminal way stations and emergency fields are being acquired, machines and personnel have been assigned and all powerful lighting equipment for night flying is being set up. Col. Paul Henderson second assistant post master general has ordered the new service installed early next spring probably in April.

A TREASURED HEIRLOOM.

BOSTON, Nov. 15. A lock of Napoleon's hair that was a gift originally to a prince of bonaparte blood was placed yesterday in a cabinet of the Massachusetts Historical Society. Mrs. Archibald Hopkins of Washington gave it to the Society after it had been passed along as an heirloom in her family for three generations.

A FORLORN HOPE.

BERLIN, Nov. 15. A great many foreigners who possess German paper marks bought at bargain rates in the days of inflation still cling to the hope that the mark's some time will come into its own again, judging by the numbers of letters received here by commercial representatives of many nations. Quite a number of writers are women who eagerly inquire from time to time how much longer they must hold the notes before they are redeemed by the German Government. The paper

Workman Injured at Car Shops

A carpenter, named Patrick Burke, employed at the Government Railway Car shops, met with a painful accident at the plant yesterday while working on a planing machine. The man was engaged at the time in fitting a piece of board by running it through the planer, when a portion of it snapped off and hit him a terrific blow on the right arm, breaking the bone near the elbow. Dr. Patterson who was hurriedly summoned to his aid, made an examination of the injuries and ordered his removal to the Hospital. Last night the injured member was set, and he is doing as well as can be expected to-day.

New Aerial Ladder Arrives

The new aerial ladder for the Central Fire Hall which arrived by the Rosalind and landed at Heart's Content yesterday, is being taken to the city by rail yesterday. In the afternoon one of Lester's large trucks removed the apparatus from the Railway Station to the Fire Hall, where it was adjusted by Mr. Mosher, who represents the makers. This ladder replaces the one which was broken off at a recent demonstration.

Historical Records About Harbor Grace

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO.

(H. F. SHORTIS)
Article V.

February 2nd, 1832, was a day well worth recording. At 8 a.m., the schooner, 82 tons, owned by Mr. William Parsons, was launched at Bear's Cove.

At Carbonear about the same hour, a fine new brig, of 122 tons, the property of Mr. George Forward, was launched in the presence of a large number of spectators. Suitable accommodations had previously been erected for the ladies. At the moment of her leaving the stocks a band of music which was on board began to play "God Save The King." At the same time she was christened "King William the Fourth." The "King William," as she was usually called, went to the ice that spring in command of Captain Taylor, but she only captured 300 seals. However, Capt. Taylor made two foreign voyages in her the same year, so that she was undoubtedly a staunch vessel and a smart sailer. Two launches in one day is not an every day occurrence, but this was only a beginning. I have now to hurry back to Harbor Grace where "The Association of Fishermen and Shoremen" were commemorating the second year of the institution of the Society.

The day, though cold, was favorable, and long before noon the town was all crowd and bustle. The noise of fife and drum sounded, and the members assembled at the "Waterford Arms." Mr. Innott, the proprietor, having granted the use of the rooms gratuitously. After a little time the procession began to form in the following order:

Two members of the Relief Committee
Union Jack
Band
Banner of the Association
Members Two by Two
English Ensign—Irish Ensign
Populace

The procession started with a large number following the interesting scene and accompanied it to the residence of the Very Rev. Father Ewer, and drew up in front of the house, where all were received by the Reverend, and the deputation appointed for the purpose of delivering an address.

The Rev. Father Ewer then made a suitable reply in his usual polite and eloquent manner.

The procession then proceeded to Bear's Cove, and thence, in admirable order, passed through the town as far as Samson's Brook. (This is a narrow long forgotten except by the oldest generation, and is the brook running into the harbor at Brown's Hill). During the march the band had been playing favorite airs. The process on then returned to their headquarters, the Waterford Arms, where refreshments were ready in a sumptuous repast, to which full justice was done.

The chair was taken by the President of the Society, Mr. Talbot, who was escorted by Mr. Oke, one of the Vice-Presidents. After their long walk they were ready for a hearty repast, and great enthusiasm prevailed. They were in no hurry to finish this dinner and kept up the celebration till the early hours of the following morning.

The lists of toasts was a long one, and all were attended with great applause. The records say that the list was so long that very few present remembered it exactly and the writer confines himself to the following:—

First—Our Good Gracious King, William the Fourth. Reply by all singing "God Save The King."

Second—Her Majesty Queen Adelaide.

Third—His Excellency the Governor, Sir Thomas Cochrane, who is Patron of our Institution.

Fourth—Prosperity to the Seal Fishery was received with extra-applause and was responded to by the song, "Money in Both Pockets."

Fifth—"The Land we live in," responded to by "Home Sweet Home."

Sixth—"Our Friends and Guests," by "Welcome here again."

Seventh—"Our absent friends," by "God be with them."

The company were adequately addressed by the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Dr. William Stirling, J. Starke, Nicholas Stubb, Mr. Jas. L. Pronger, and many others.

Everything went off most successfully, and the party separated at an early hour, all well pleased with the day's proceedings.

The officers of the Association were:—
President, Wm. Talbot; Vice-Presidents, Messrs. Henry Webber, Michael Keefe, Francis Lynch, Robert Oke, Wm. Andrews, and Michael Connors;

Treasurer, Mr. Jas. L. Pronger; Secretary, Mr. Martin Kelly; Committee, John Fitzgerald, James Hippley, W. S. Comer, Philip Hunt, Wm. Innott, Andrew Drysdale, Thomas Foley, Thomas A. Danson, James Power, Stephen Bennett, Ebenzer Webber, Robert Andrews, Michael Dooling, John Hanrahan and others.

In my next article I will give a description of a dinner in Brigus, and it will give a very good idea of what these repasts consisted.

DISCOMPLIMENTING BY PROXY.

Some weeks ago I wrote about complimenting by proxy. That is, complimenting people by praising someone of the general type of the person you are talking with, or expressing your admiration for qualities you know he or she possesses, without making the compliment specific.

But complimenting is not the only thing one can do by proxy, as a great many people seemed to have discovered without my aid. You can also dis-compliment by proxy.

Whereupon, you and your little fliver, without a direct word, feel properly put in your place.

A Really Smart Coat. Or you have a new coat and are showing it to your neighbor at her urgent request. You suspect by her face that she isn't really impressed, though she says it's "awfully becoming," that "they say it's such a pretty lining." And a moment later your suspicions are confirmed when she says: "Have you seen Gertrude's new coat? My dear, it is the smartest thing! She certainly has got the best taste. Though, of course, she spends an awful lot on her clothes, too. I wonder where they get all that money."

She Tells You Of A Driver She Admires. For instance, you make considerable effort to take a friend who hasn't a machine of her own out to drive. When you get her home she expresses her pleasure in that flat hollow tone which is so much more truthful than her words. And then with sudden warmth in her voice she says: "Did you ever drive with Mrs. Collins?" You say that you have never

D. D. D. for Eczema

The Standard Remedy with thousands of endorsements from all over Canada to recommend it

A trial bottle only is required to stop the pain—the sleepless nights—the agony of itching. We publish just one letter that tells the story in a few words. It was written by Mr. J. W. Corns, 33 Melbourne Ave., Toronto, one of the prominent business men of that city. A letter from you would mean a great deal to me. I have been a sufferer for two years with eczema on the legs and ankles. I tried three or four different doctors. I went to a skin specialist. All of no use. I used one bottle of D. D. D.—that is all. Today I am perfectly well.

D. D. D. is a soothing, cooling fluid directly applied to the skin. This powerful agent acts on the inflamed and tortured cells. The itching disappears at once. The pain is stilled. Under continued treatment the rough unsightly surfaces assume a healthy normal look you have perhaps not known for years. Perhaps there is someone in your home who is suffering with some skin disease, a mild case of rash, a chronic eczema of long standing. Perhaps you have a friend, know a growing child, a tiny baby, who have tried other ways of relief without success. Why not try D. D. D.? Thousands of people in every walk of life have used it. It gives relief at the very first, yet is mild enough to use on infants' tender skins. A trial bottle will prove to you that D. D. D. is the REAL REMEDY, YOUR REMEDY. Do not make the mistake of neglecting to try this great medical discovery.

REQUIRE MORE FOOD INSPECTORS.

The importance of proper food inspection in the city is emphasized in the annual report of Dr. Hood, superintendent of the division of food inspection of the city. There are 22 inspectors attached to the department who made 81,225 visits to different establishments during the year. Dr. Hood recommends the addition of five more inspectors if the work of his department is to be adequately carried out, one for each of the general inspection divisions.

The superintendent points out that his department is receiving much better co-operation from the wholesale dealers, commission merchants, express companies, etc., and others, this being a great help in preventing the sale of spoiled and dangerous food products, as the staff is not large enough to visit all these places as often as necessary.

Inspectors during the year 1923 made 59,409 visits to establishments handling foodstuffs, 20,263 of these being to butchers' stalls, which are given the strictest supervision, while 9,811 were made to restaurants and eating places. Other visits were made to grocery stores, refrigeration plants, fruit and vegetable merchants, bakers, delivery vans, etc.

Inspectors seized and condemned 306,795 pounds of foodstuffs unfit for human consumption, beef, veal, lamb etc., leading the list with 90,840 lbs. The department also seized 376 carcasses of animals and 265 tons of ice. They instituted 61 actions in the Recorder's Court and obtained 58 convictions.

About 133,528 gallons of milk were inspected during the past year. 11,383 gallons being confiscated as unfit. The inspectors also inspected 5,508 cows, and 26,822 empty cans in the city. Of this number only 13 were seized, the milk dealers showing an appreciable co-operation with the authorities in keeping the milk in clean cans and clean surroundings. In the country the Department examined 4,385 gallons of milk and confiscated 49,406 lbs. cows, 2,640 stables, and 2,111 dairies were examined.

TO BUILD TWO NEW HOTELS.

The shrines at St. Joseph, Cote des Neiges, (or commonly called, Brother Andre's), and at Ste Anne de Beaupre, are becoming such a mecca for pilgrims, that a New York firm, has under consideration, the building of two hotels, one at each place, with five hundred rooms in each.

A Century of Glass-Making

The name of Chance is met with in scientific work all over the world, in connection with microscopes, telescopes, laboratory ware, and, in fact, wherever glass of high quality is employed. This great British firm, which celebrates its hundred years of existence this year, has a romantic record in glass-making. The Crystal Palace, originally erected in Hyde Park, was glassed with 100,000 square feet of Chance's sheet glass. Until the war they were the only British manufacturers of optical glass, and the large astronomical telescopes of many of the world's biggest observatories are fitted with their lenses. Lighthouses, too, on all the coasts of the world flash their beams from prisms produced at the well-known Smethwick works.

Marriage Annulled

Montreal, (C.P.)—In annulling the marriage of two Hebrews, which had taken place when the Congregation (Beth Joseph) had no corporate or legal existence, and the rabbi had not then obtained authority to keep a register of civil status. Judge Bruneau said that in a year he had been called upon to annul five marriages, all for the same reason—lack of civil authority on the part of the celebrating minister.

New York Travelling Public

New York—The street railway systems of New York City carried a grand total of 2,672,940,000 passengers during the fiscal year ended June 30, according to figures made public by the State Transit Commission. This total represents an increase of 109,660,000 over 1923 and establishes a new high mark for the local subway, trolley and elevated lines.

Fabric trimming is very smart. Bands of the reverse side or grain of the material are used as insertions.

"I Will Repay"

THE GREATEST STORY EVER
MONDAY.

"I Will Repay" is the second of the famous "Scarlet Pimpernel" stories, written by the Baroness Orczy.

"In 'I Will Repay' the 'Scarlet Pimpernel' is more dashing, more lovable, performs more prodigious feats of daring, takes our breath away more often than in any of his other adventures.

And behind these hair-raising adventures is a story of extraordinary power—a girl sworn, over her brother's body, to avenge his death, and going through life tied to the wheel and oath, only to find herself deeply in love with her victim. Situations of extraordinary power follow one another in quick succession, and with the "Scarlet Pimpernel" dashing in and out of the picture, the drama is one not merely to enjoy but to remember.

The film of "I Will Repay" is laden with the charm of perfect photography and dazzlingly beautiful sets and scenery—some of it among the most delightful in France. The tale is told with simplicity, directness and freedom from unnecessary padding, and is acted by a cast of exceptional distinction which includes such talented artists as Miss Flora Le Breton, Mr. Holmes Herbert, an actor well-known on both sides of the Atlantic, and a famous American player, Pedro de Cordoba, who has figured in some of the most popular films of the day.

"I Will Repay" is not only strong drama, but clean, wholesome romance. It appeals to all classes, every type of theatre, and young and old of both sexes. To children, the duds and hair-raising exploits of the "Scarlet Pimpernel" are a sheer delight. For women its romance has a rare charm; while men are known to be among the most faithful readers and admirers of Baroness Orczy's "Scarlet Pimpernel" tales.

No one is too trivially minded, and none are too serious to love its story and its underlying moral—vengeance is of God alone—though it is never unduly stressed, gives to it just that touch of deep humanity which ensures its universal acceptance.

In short, "I Will Repay" is most emphatically everybody's picture. It will be shown at the Majestic Monday. Don't fail to see it.

Our Dumb Animals

Report From S.P.A. Inspector For Week Ending Nov. 14, 1924.

Attended to the landing of fifty-five head of cattle from the Lisgar County from Harvey & Co. The cattle were landed by the crew and some of the store hands, owing to the longshoremen's strike. A little difficulty was experienced in the landing of the cattle on Saturday. Those landed on Monday were put ashore on the gangway and were fed and watered on Sunday on board the ship. Also attended to the landing of twenty head of cattle from the Sable I. The cattle were all landed in good condition, and were taken away immediately afterward by Mr. Halliday. I attended the sale at the Abattoir Company. All the cattle were sold. The horse reported by a lady in the East End, has been examined by Dr. Bishop, who says the horse is unfit for labor. The owner has consented to have it humanely put to death. I have had several complaints about cattle being out at night, which have been attended to. Three horses have been taken off the street for lameness. There are complaints coming continuously, about dogs being out at night time, annoying residents in the streets. There are quite a number of horses lame in the city from natural causes, and this can scarcely be avoided. A report was received from a lady in Sudbury St., about a dog which is homeless. I referred it to Mr. Robbins, the Impounder, who is looking after unlicensed dogs. I have attended to all calls and have done my best to relieve all suffering beasts. I call upon all owners of dry cattle in the woods to have their beasts rounded up and housed, as the season is too cold for animals to be out in the weather. All friends of animals are requested to report any cruelty to me.

Chief Agent.

S.P.A. Directors'

Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Directors of the Society for the Protection of Animals was held yesterday afternoon in the offices of the Secretary, W. J. Browne, M.H.A., Bank of Canada Building. Only three other Directors were present, Messrs. Williams and Curran, and Mrs. A. W. Kennedy. It was announced that at the next meeting arrangements would be made for the appointment of a Veterinary Inspector to visit the lumber woods in the vicinity of Corner Brook during the coming winter. The Society also hopes to produce another entertainment like last year's tableaux, in the near future.

For the cost of the ensemble, one is safe in choosing broadcloth or cashmere.

Presentation to Superintendent

On Wednesday, Mr. David Stott, Superintendent of Government Telegraphs, who is on an extended holiday, was presented on behalf of the employees throughout the country with a handsome cabinet Victrola gramophone and records. To the cabinet was affixed a suitably engraved plate. From all parts of the system the contributions were accompanied by good wishes and expressions of esteem, with the hope that Superintendent Stott's holiday may be enjoyable and beneficial. In accepting the gift Mr. Stott expressed his deepest gratifications in the knowledge that the movement emanated from genuine kindly feelings towards him personally.

Alcohol and Man

CAUSES OF DRUNKENNESS.

The Action of Alcohol on Man. By E. H. Starling. With Essays by R. Hutchison, Sir F. W. Mott, and R. Pearl. (London: Longman's, Green & Co., 1923; pp. vii. and 282. Price, 12s. 6d. net.)

There are four classes of causes, according to Professor E. H. Starling, as stated in his exhaustive study of "The Action of Alcohol on Man," which lead to drunkenness or to the immoderate use of alcoholic liquors. First comes fashion, which is gradually losing its influence in this direction. A state of fabricry nowadays carries discredit with it. The second cause is ignorance. "The pleasant subjective effects of alcohol have caused it to be endowed, in popular tradition, with all sorts of beneficial qualities which it does not possess." Better education will abolish these views. Thirdly, alcoholism may be due to economic causes. "If a man or woman in virtue of his or her environment is forced to lead the life of a beast, he may seek to avoid the horrible reality of everyday existence by recourse to the numbing effects of alcohol. The number of such individuals is probably only small, but it is the duty of the community to see that no human being is condemned to such an environment." The fourth group is of a different order, and is not, like the three mentioned, capable of removal by improvement in education and social conditions. The causes at work here are inherent nervous defects, which render those who suffer from them anti-social. These people are not drunkards, and in the numbers of alcohol would probably show their degenerate tendencies in some other direction. If left to itself this class would tend to disappear in a few generations, but the whole trend of modern legislation tends to give it an artificial protection.

Food and Poison.

The greater part of Professor Starling's book is devoted to a history of alcohol in the human body from its ingestion to its elimination, and its influence on the various functions of the body. His clearness of exposition makes his work interesting even to those who have no special knowledge of physiology. Alcohol, within certain limits is a food, and a food with distinct advantages over other foods. It is easily absorbable, and when absorbed undergoes almost complete combustion in the body. There is less waste, for instance, of alcohol in the body than of fat or protein.

As regards the action of alcohol on the nervous system, it is not, as it is commonly believed, a stimulant, but a depressant. And its order of action is interesting. It acts first on the highest centres, diminishing their control over the lower, and thereby increasing the activity of the latter. It is because of this greater activity of the lower centres that the false appearance of stimulation is created. In its further action alcohol paralyzes the various nervous centres in order from above downward, lastly affecting those on which life is dependent. Those developed latest in the order of evolution are destroyed first, while those of long racial history are most persistent to attack. In this respect poisoning by alcohol presents a close resemblance to many forms of insanity.

The Verdict.

Though Professor Starling does not shrink from giving us an accurate account of the evils produced by the abuse of alcohol, to most of the accusations brought against its moderate use he charges for a verdict of "not guilty." He tells us that a study of the evidence has convinced him "that in a civilized community such as ours the abolition of all alcoholic beverages from among our midst, even if carried out by universal consent, would be a mistake and contrary to the permanent interest of the race. If it were enforced by legislation against the wishes and convictions of a large proportion of the members of the community, it would be little short of a calamity."

Washington Letter

(By Our Own Correspondent.)

The Presidential election is over and the feverish excitement which several months of intensive and even bitter campaigning had worked up throughout the country has subsided. The United States, like Great Britain, has decided overwhelmingly in favor of Conservatism, and for some years to come at least there need be little fear of those disturbing innovations and departures from the established order which Radical platforms so freely promised.

The result of the election has been a signal victory for President Coolidge personally. By the Republicans this victory is regarded as a vindication of the chief executive whose blameworthiness in connection with the exposures of the past twelve months was so strongly stressed by his opponents during the campaign. By the Democrats, on the other hand, the Republican victory is looked upon as an indication that graft and corruption within the ranks of a party are no longer matters of sufficient seriousness to warrant unmistakable condemnation by the people.

Whatever causes the Coolidge victory or the Davis defeat may be attributable, it is conceded by Democrats of the old school that the Davis ticket gained nothing by the abusiveness which characterized the campaign in many states. That the majority of the American people did not regard seriously the charges levelled against President Coolidge personally has been shown conclusively.

While the Presidential phase of the election has been so decidedly a Republican victory, the party has not made such gains either in Congress or in the Senate as supporters should wish. While they have a numerical majority in each branch of the legislature they have not sufficient seat room to enable them to disregard the insurgent element which continues to be considerable of a factor.

The blow to Radicalism which La Follette's overwhelming defeat in the Presidential race represents has been rendered more telling by the defeat of the Progressive leader's right hand man Brookhart and that of Magnus Johnson, former radical senator from Minnesota. That the farmer-labor vote on which La Follette counted so strongly failed him absolutely is but a proof that the producers are far from being convinced that their best interests are to be served by concert-of-warfare against the "Big Interests."

President Coolidge resumed his duties at the Executive Offices the morning following the election as though the routine of his official life had not suffered a moment's interruption. As he made his way from the White House to the Executive offices he was greeted by citizens and officials of every standing to whose enthusiastic congratulations he accorded a gracious acknowledgment. Amongst the first messages of congratulation received by the President was one from his opponent, Hon. John W. Davis in which the latter expressed the hope that the new administration "may by its success insure to the welfare of the country." The President thanked Mr. Davis for his good wishes and for the patriotic sentiment expressed by him. From all appearances, Mr. Davis has taken his defeat in a much better spirit than has Mr. La Follette.

Leading writers see in the return of the Republicans to power in this country, following so closely upon the sweeping majority of the Conservative Party in Great Britain, a happy augury for the future in that the Premier Baldwin and President Coolidge are men whose views on world affairs are closely akin, that both while conservative in line true sense of the word, are keenly alive to the best interests of the countries they serve and that the international policies which they are known to favor are of a nature best calculated to promote international amity.

At this writing Senator Henry Cabot Lodge lies critically ill in one of the Washington hospitals, having suffered a severe stroke of paralysis yesterday just when it was believed he was making satisfactory progress.

The National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association of America has refused to co-operate in the observance of American Education Week on the grounds that Education Week is being prostituted by the Board of Education to military propaganda. Newspapers of the Capital denounce this action as part of the intrigues and propaganda of the so-called American Civil Liberties Union which, in its turn, is described as "part of the malignant movement which has been extant for some years for sapping the spirit of American patriotism and poisoning the national life with sovietism and international communism."

Latest estimates places the total vote cast in the Presidential election at about 30,000,000. Of this number Coolidge secured more than twice as many as Davis who had more than twice as many as La Follette. This record vote is largely attributed to the part played in the campaign by radio which kept even the remotest corners of the country so constantly alive to the issue before the people that there was no chance whatever of voters becoming affected by that apathy which is so often responsible for keeping citizens from exercising the great privilege of the franchise. It may be that the next political campaign in Newfoundland will be largely conducted by means of the radio.

Famous Recipes for Home Cooking

DOUGHNUTS FROM SASKATCHEWAN.

(Although she learned to cook with an animal fat, Mrs. T., a farmer's wife of Kisbey, prefers Crisco, a vegetable fat, for deep frying.)

- 2 cupfuls cream.
- 1 teaspoonful salt.
- 1 generous cupful white sugar.
- 2 eggs well beaten.
- 1 cupful white flour.
- 2 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
- 1 cupful sugar.
- 1 cupful sweet milk.
- pinch of salt.
- 2 teaspoonfuls baking powder.
- 1 teaspoonful vanilla.

Enough flour so that they will drip from a teaspoon, three-fourths full. Drop in hot Crisco and fry like doughnuts, sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Dun's Report of Failures in October

A larger number of commercial failures in the United States invariably occurs during the closing months of a year, and the October total reported to R. G. Dun & Co. exceeds that of any previous month since last May. Numbering 1,696, last month's defaults compare with 1,306 in September, while the liabilities rose from $34,296,276 to $36,098,804. In point of number, the October failures increased about 30 per cent. over those of September, which marked the low level this year, and the indebtedness was heavier by 5 per cent. This is a better showing than was made in October of last year, when the 1,673 defaults were 36 1-2 per cent. above the number for September, and the liabilities of $79,301,741 were two and three-quarters times larger than the aggregate for that month. The failures during October of the current year, though slightly outnumbering those for the same period of last year, involved less than one-half the amount reported for the earlier period. It's difference in the indebtedness being accounted for by a falling off in large defaults last month. Thus, there were 48 failures for $100,000 or more in each case, involving $15,988,338, whereas in October of last year 81 such defaults occurred, with liabilities of $60,724,317. For ten months of 1924, all commercial failures, numbering 16,922, compared with 15,173 for a similar period of last year, and liabilities of $446,822,260 contrast with a total of $477,480,368 for ten months of 1923.

The monthly and quarterly reports of business failures are contrasted below for this and last year, with the liabilities for 1924; also, the totals for each quarter and the ten months:

Oil From Locusts

Locusts, the greatest pest to crops that South Africa possesses, provide a wonderful aeroplane engine oil. They are being exported from South Africa for that purpose.

The "Railway General Managers' Bulletin," of Johannesburg, states that eighty-eight bales of locusts, weighing approximately eighteen tons, were forwarded recently from Kazerne to Durban for shipment to Holland.

The locusts will be used principally for feeding livestock and poultry, while a small proportion of oil will be extracted and used in connection with aeroplane engines.

Special properties are reported to have been found in the oil, which is said to retain its liquidity a very high altitude.

WHAT IS IT, YOU ASK?
The most modern and inexpensive heating appliance on the market. Thousands being sold throughout Canada and the United States.

HOW IS IT INSTALLED AND OPERATED?
In most cases can be installed in one day, causing no interruption or inconvenience in the house. It is placed in the basement immediately under the floor of the hall. It sends a flood of heat all up through the house,—into every room and corner, and at the same time draws all the cold air back again from the house, heats it and sends it back into the house again. It is thus a circulating system, which re-heats the air four to five times an hour in an average house.

In and Outdoor Sports Scored by British Doctor

LONDON, Oct. 11 (A.P.)—The British public golfs too much and eats too much, according to Dr. Leonard Williams, a Harley Street specialist and a corresponding member of the American Climatological Society.

As for golf, the game has a bad moral effect, according to the physician. "A man loses his match," says Dr. Williams, "and, as a result, is unhappy about it, is disgruntled, is bad-tempered. His thoughts are on the next game which he vows he will win. And too often he is discontented until he does win."

The way the English take their food is almost as disturbing to Dr. Williams as the way they take their golf. "It is not realized by the public that it takes as much energy to digest an English meal as it does to take a five-mile walk. People eat far too much. The day is started with a

Uniform Dresses for School Girls

TORONTO—Girls attending high schools and collegiate institutions in Canada should all be dressed alike. Such was, in effect, the recommendation put forward by the provincial council of women of Saskatchewan to the National Council during their annual convention just closed. The outlook for uniform attire among Toronto school girls is remote, however. Trustee Mrs. Groves declared uniform dress would never come in Toronto. "Did you ever hear of girls more sensibly and neatly dressed than those who are now attending the Toronto high schools?" asked the trustee. "Truly, when one looks at the tightly corseted figure of the school-girl of the Victorian era and compares her with the simple, graceful, free and easy style of modern school-girls, she realizes that dress reform has come to pass."

Loeb Wills Widow 3,000,000 Pounds Estate

TESTAMENT DRAWN IN 1918 DID NOT MENTION RICHARD LOEB, NOW IN PRISON.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Anna Bolman Loeb, widow of Albert Loeb, senior vice-president of Sears Roebuck and Company, was named as the sole beneficiary of the $3,000,000 estate of the late merchant, it was revealed to-day, when Mr. Loeb's will was filed for probate.

Allan Loeb, eldest son, was appointed sole executor of the will. Three other sons, Ernest, Richard and Thomas, 11 years old, were not mentioned in the testament.

It was dated November 4th, 1918. The fact that Mr. Loeb's third son, Richard, now serving a life sentence in Joliet prison for the murder of Robert Franks, was not mentioned, was not due, it was pointed out, because of the act of the 16-year-old boy performer. Rumor that Mr. Loeb had drawn a new testament following his son's sentence to prison was dispelled.

The Photoplay Sensation at the Nickel

"THE ARAB" WITH RAMON NOVARRO AND ALICE TERRY.

"The Arab," the Rex Ingram production for Metro, which is coming Monday to the Nickel Theatre, is hailed as a worthy successor to Ingram's last triumph, "Saramonche." It is a colorful and thrilling story of love and adventure in the land of the Sheik, adapted from Edgar Selwyn's stage play.

Mr. Ingram, in planning the picture, decided to go to Northern Africa to get the correct atmosphere and the natural backgrounds. He took his company abroad and spent four months among the native tribes and in the streets and old houses of Tunis; it was the first time any American Company ever made a picture in this vicinity.

THE CAST:
Ramon Novarro
Mary Elbert
Alice Terry
Dr. Elbert
Gerald Robertshaw
The Governor
Maxudian Hossain
Count de Limur
Abdullah
Adelqui Millar
Iphraim
Paul Vermoyal
Myra
Justa Urbe
Giuseppe de Campo
Marmout
Paul Francesci
Ould Nini
Alexandresco
Ramon Novarro and Alice Terry again have the chief roles in Ingram's newest film, and this time they appear as a handsome young Bedouin and daughter of an American missionary. The remainder of the players were chosen from famous continental actors and the mobs include thousands of Arab and Berber tribesmen.

As the Arab, Novarro is said to have scored the greatest success of his career. He plays Jamil Abdullah Azam, son of the Sheik of El-Khyrassa, an aged ruler of a large Bedouin tribe.

Newfoundland Poultry Association

November meeting was held last night in the Board of Trade Rooms, President G. R. Williams, Chairman. The arrangements for the Club's twelfth annual show November 26th, 27th and 28th were completed. It will be held in the C.L.E. Armoury, Judge Landry and possibly Judge Warrington, of Cornwall, Ontario, who is judging the Halifax Exhibition will come to make the awards. A special room will be set aside for Nfd. dogs in order to encourage the breeding of this noble animal. Messrs. E. A. Bowring, H. Macpherson, Dr. Bishop, P. Kavanagh and others have promised entries. Two classes in dogs will be made: (1) smooth haired English standard; (2) curly haired dogs. The Association is also desirous of giving fox breeders a chance to advertise their foxes and boom their industry. The City Fox Farm Company will show ten silver blacks, and Brendon Tilley of Clarendville is also sending in some animals. Three local gentlemen will judge each class of foxes and dogs. The lottery committee reports good progress and will have three model houses with a trio of birds in each as prizes. Mr. W. R. Butler will act as show manager, and W. R. McCarter, Show Secretary. The final report of the Truro Egg contest was read showing the average eggs per hen for the eleven months was 162 each. The largest number of eggs from the best layer in the contest was 243. Five Barr'd Rocks laid 1008 eggs for the eleven months, and the second best hen was White Leghorns, which laid two eggs less, or 1006 eggs. His Excellency the Governor has kindly consented to open the Exhibition, and Lady Allardyce will distribute the prizes. The annual dinner will be served by Spencer Club on Thursday, Nov. 27th, and these ladies will also serve tea during the afternoon and at 6 o'clock. Competitors from Grand Falls, Crabbes, West Coast, are already arranging for their entries, and the show this year promises to eclipse all former exhibitions. His Excellency the Governor, Patron of the Association, kindly forwarded several clippings from the "Advertiser" written by experts, which were read with interest. The Association is offering a special silver cup this year for exhibitors who have never shown birds before in the Show, and another special cup for the Outport Exhibitor who gains the most points. The Committee are leaving no stone unturned to have the 1924 show a big success.

At the Star Movie Monday Night

A searching portrayal of truth in the lives of an ultra fashionable New York society set.
A picture strong in drama, rare in beauty.
Consider the lilies; they toll not; neither do they spin; yet Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

A drama of beautiful women who live for costly gowns, rare gems and their own pleasures.
Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle, the lovers of "Black Oxen," in their finest portrayal.

William Hurlbut's big Broadway stage success now a picture triumph. John Francis Dillon who gave you the wonderful production, "Flaming Youth" has outdone himself in this new one.

A picture of unusual artistry, magnificent sets, gorgeous gowns and resplendent with jewels.
The drama of a neglected wife, who, tempted to the brink of folly, is saved by a great love.

A drama of women who live for their own pleasure and of men who doubt the nobility of womanhood, coupled with a beautiful love romance.

The lilies—beautiful women who toll not, who spin not, and yet who are arrayed in the costliest of silks and the rarest of gems.
The story of a set of fashionable women whose only ambition is to drain life of the last drop of pleasure.

A passionate appeal for braves in the race of life.
Brimming with emotion; tingling with its searching truth.
A tale of life, love—and lilies.
An angel of love may be just a lily. See "Lilies of the Field."

A powerful drama of true mother love, filled with gripping situations, a vein of genuine humor and with a smashing climax that will bring tears to every eye.

A drama of beautiful women who spend their lives in the search of pleasure; of men who doubt the nobility of womanhood; and of a neglected wife, who, tempted to the brink of folly, is saved by a great love.
See Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle in this wonderful production.

Price Changes of Dr. Chase's Medicines

By increasing the contents of the boxes the cost to the user remains unchanged

THIS revision of prices affects only three of Dr. Chase's Medicines—the Kidney-Liver Pills, Nerve Food and Catarrh Powder.

In spite of the constantly increasing cost of doing business ever since Dr. Chase's Medicines were placed on the market many years ago there has been no change in the prices of these three medicines to the consumer.

It has now become absolutely necessary to make some changes, but this has been worked out in such a way that the cost to the user remains the same.

The slogan for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will therefore remain "One pill a dose—One cent a dose," for while the price will be 35 cents instead of 25.

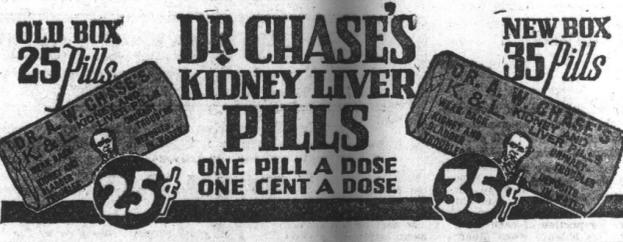

the contents of the box will be 35 instead of 25 pills as formerly.

The same applies to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which will sell at 60 cents a box instead of 50 cents, since the contents of the box is now 60 pills instead of 50.

With the exception of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Powder, which is now 35 cents a box, the prices of Dr. Chase's other medicines remain unchanged.

Dr. Chase's Medicines are sold all over Newfoundland.

Sole Agent.

Orange Pekoe Tea

Ladies in St. John's who have used "LUXURA" Tea have already discovered the following facts about it:

1. That it has—used in the same proportion as any well-known tea—a greater strength than other brands, consequently, a smaller quantity gives a greater result.

2. That it has a distinctive and matchless flavor that appeals at once to the fastidious palate.

These are two FACTS you can easily verify by ASKING YOUR GROCER TO SEND YOU A PACKAGE OF "LUXURA" TO-DAY.

Forty-Three Families Rendered Homeless BY FIRE IN WINDSOR.

Blaze Started in a Shed in the Lower Section of the Town, and Fanned by a High Wind, Destroyed Four Blocks of Buildings and Caused Property Loss Estimated at $250,000, on Which There is Only Small Insurance—Many Other Buildings Threatened and Were Only Saved by Strenuous Work on the Part of Fire Fighters.

WINDSOR, N.S., Nov. 9.—Forty-three families homeless; $250,000 worth of property destroyed; four town blocks wiped out, and the entire town threatened with disaster worse than the calamity which temporarily wiped it out of existence in 1897—such were the results of a fire which broke out on the waterfront of Windsor at 1.15 o'clock this morning and ravaged through a large section of the town until subdued about daylight. Helpless in the face of the threatened disaster, a conflagration fanned by a forty mile north-west gale, carrying sheets of flame from one end of the town to the other, the citizens sent out appeals to Halifax, Dartmouth, Wolfville and Kentville. When the fire was stayed, Windsorians were the first to acknowledge that had it not been for the assistance which came to them by special train and pushed by motor along every highway leading to the town, history would have indeed repeated itself, and Windsor to-night would have been again but a mass of smoking ruins. The factor that saved Windsor was good roads, over which motor fire apparatus could travel at a mile a minute.

Prayers of fervent thankfulness ascended to Providence from hundreds of citizens gathered in every church of Windsor to-night, that on this Thanksgiving eve there had been spared to them their homes and household treasures although menaced at times as beyond human power to save them.

CUT A WIDE SWATH.

The memory of that disaster of the early morning of October 17, 1897 is still poignant in the minds of many of Windsor's citizens, and tonight it seems that they only escaped a second calamity by some miraculous intervention. Under conditions so identical they seemed uncanny, the fire of this morning might well have been a continuation of that which swept the town twenty-seven years ago, but with a characteristic whim of the fire fiend this time it destroyed practically all that was left of the old town on the former occasion. It started in a shed on the waterfront, back of the Hants Wholesalers' Warehouse and did not stop until it had cut a swath extending the whole length of the north side of King Street, reaching and including the residence of George Geldert. On the south side of King Street it destroyed the residence of M. A. Goudge—but here it was compelled to recoil, for there it met the combined fighting forces of Windsor, Kentville, Wolfville, Dartmouth and Halifax—otherwise nothing would have saved Windsor. Outposts of citizens prevented the fire ravaging other sections of the town, for sparks, that were as a great hissing gripes a place with hall, burning boards, like fire ships in the air, and even sheets of flame were carried over the heads of the fire fighters and momentarily for four hours, threatened every home of the town.

Residences a mile and a half away from the scene of the fire were threatened by falling embers, while the dead leaves along King Street for a mile kindled from the sparks which fell among them. A mat on a doorstep of a house a mile away burst in to flames and menaced that home. From the time the fire started until it was well under control after daylight, more citizens spent the night on the roof of their houses than there were in their beds. Fear and faith; fear that all they had recovered in the years since that terrible Sunday when they stood without a roof over their heads and compelled to begin life all over again, was to be wiped out by another scourge; faith that some Providential intervention would save them, directed the feet of many a citizen to the Churches, and it was said that from two o'clock when there seemed that nothing could save Windsor, until long after daylight, there were continuous prayers in the Anglican church and Catholic churches, the only two that were open, people coming to and from the sanctuaries with the hope that was borne of despair.

EXODUS FROM THE TOWN.

By this time help was arriving and the citizens of Windsor were aroused to the fact that they were having another fight for a life time for their homes and for many, for all they possessed. A general exodus from the town began. Everything within the town that had wheels was commandeered, and scores of trucks and other motor vehicles from outside places came to the assistance of the citizens in moving household goods. Many a residence, not only within the fire area, but all throughout Windsor was completely emptied of its contents and the effects carried to the park, old King's College grounds, to Avonton and even to Falmouth.

Here on the north side of King Street was the only section of Windsor which had not been destroyed in the catastrophe of 1897, and here the fire seemed determined to finish the work not accomplished on that memorable morning. The old Post Office, occupying the site of the present Post Office, was the first to go. From this building the fire spread north toward the fort, and carried those buildings behind the Station, including the old Burnham property now owned by John Kuhn. All the out buildings, more or less fire traps at any time, closely connected with one another, were rased almost as if with a breath, and the block of fire tenements owned by J. H. Brown was the next. This by virtue of its size, wooden construction and height was one of the worst menaces of fire.

The heat, radiating from this building, was such that adjacent buildings ignited automatically. Cobett Street intersected the north side of King Street at this point, and leaping the narrow way the fire next attacked the Carver block, three double tenements; Dr. W. E. Dimock's two houses, one occupied by Charles Spencer, and one by Dr. Dimock himself, were the next to go, following in quick succession by George H. Currey's residence. Here the fire leaped the residence of Mrs. John Carl and Frank Pugsley and burned the Royal Bank residence occupied by the Manager F. A. Curry, and the house next to it occupied by George D. Geldert. Beyond this there was an open space, and the fire went no further along the north side of King Street.

WAGED REAL FIGHT.

In the meantime the real fight was being waged on the south side of the street. The Tribune block stood as a brick bulwark against its onrush south along the east side of Water Street, so long as the flames could be kept out of its interior. Mrs. Fielding, the publisher of the Tribune was a modern Boadecia of the occasion, and heroically commanded a volunteer brigade to help save the building. East of this building was the brick McPherson tenement, a small vacant lot and a garden, then the home of M. A. Goudge the Postmaster. This fell an easy prey to the flames, but it was the strategic point, the Verdun of the whole fight. "They shall not pass" was the spirit even in no one thought of Foch and dynamite and gunpowder were to be called to the aid of the fire fighters. R. B. Dakin's fine residence was doomed for blowing up if there was not some stay in the fire at this point—all Windsor depended upon it. Mr. Dakin's furniture and household effects had all been removed, and one of Windsor's finest homes stood ready to follow. But danger yet threatened in other sources. The Somerset Hotel, further up the hill was threatened, and would become a serious menace.

Called for assistance. It was then that assistance was asked, and Halifax, Dartmouth, Wolfville and Kentville notified of Windsor's danger. Though eighteen miles away the Wolfville motor apparatus arrived within half an hour; Kentville within a correspondingly short time, and Dartmouth and Halifax had responded within three hours, sending their motor apparatus by road forty-six miles, and by special trains.

From the Hants Wholesalers warehouse the flames spread to the coal sheds of H. S. Smith, where two hundred tons of coal contributed their intense heat. The three story block of the Charles DeW. Smith estate facing Water Street was doomed, and though all energies of the firemen were exerted to safeguard buildings and keep the fire from spreading north and south along the waterfront, the Apple Evaporator building was the next victim and Brenton Sexton's apple warehouse, with seven thousand barrels of apples upon the next to follow. Here the fire was stopped on the north so far as the river side of Water Street was concerned, L. A. Armstrong's warehouse barely escaping. Rushing south along this side of Water Street the fire was checked by the brick walls of Smith Brothers block.

HELD SOUTH AND NORTH.

Held south and north, the fire fiend swept with one leap across the broad open square of the Railway Station, and now an uncontrollable demon way through the tenement and residential district below the Hill, and with no discrimination, invaded the homes of poor and well-to-do alike. As if endowed with an intelligence by which it knew that beyond the narrow strip of houses fringing the north side of King Street there was nothing but open fields, the flames, directed by a night changing wind, turned toward the centre town and made attacks upon that side of Kings Street which begins with the Tribune Block and contains the residence of M. A. Goudge, R. A. Dakin, the Somerset Hotel, the Jenkins' residence and the residence of Dr. Reid, M.P.P.

Beyond that again the garage of Dr. Reid's premises was already a raging mass of flames, and the Reid residence was constantly an incipient danger. Dr. and Mrs. Reid with the aid of numerous willing workers, but working in the dark, for all the lights had been long out, removed every article of furniture and household goods and sent them to Falmouth. Gerrish Street had here become another strategic point for if the fire ever reached that avenue, again would all hope of saving Windsor go by the board. In the Somerset House all was packed ready for removal, but by this time the danger everywhere was so imminent that there were none left to carry away the furniture. The Jenkins house at this point was another weak spot in this bulwark protecting the centre town, but the concentration of effort saved it and what stood behind it. Easy Cochran's stables at the rear were a serious source of danger and constantly igniting as the sparks were showered upon the roofs. Another leap of the fire, and its last vicious attack, jumped over five houses and descended upon the residence of Mrs. J. E. Graham, which though standing habitable suffered damage both from fire and water. Its neighbor, the Methodist parsonage, was a long time the scene of strenuous and successful efforts and there the last stand of the fire fighters was made, and the victory finally won.

FEILDIAN SOCIAL a Great Success

The Feildian Club Card Party and Dance which was held last night in the Grenfell Hall was attended by a large number and proved one of the most successful affairs of the season. The proceeds which go to the Feild College Campus funds were most gratifying to those who were responsible for the arrangements. In the Auction 45's tournament the first prizes were won by Mrs. A. Carnell and Mr. J. Lang; 2nd, prizes by Mrs. Reg. Dowden and Mr. Clarke. The Bridge prize winners were: 1st, Miss Olive Rennie and Mr. H. Garland; 2nd, Mrs. W. J. Clouston and Mr. A. Lester; the Booby prizes by Miss E. Martin and Mr. G. Balfour.

At eleven o'clock the Ladies' of Spencer Club, and the Feildian Ladies' Auxiliary served a delightful supper. The arrangements made to cater to such a large gathering and the splendid manner in which the supper was served won them the highest praise from all present. Following the supper, the prizes were presented to the lucky winners. Dancing was then begun to the excellent music provided by the Pannan Orchestra and was continued until about 12.30.

"The Veiled Woman," a Repeated Success

YOUNG-ADAMS COMPANY
CONCLUDE ENGAGEMENT TO-NIGHT.

The Young-Adams Company's production of "The Veiled Woman" last night was indeed an artistic bit of work, and there was not a dull moment from the rise to fall of curtain. In the role of Marjorie Ramsay, Miss Adams takes advantage of her excellent opportunity. She looks the part, she plays it to the hilt. She is able to bring that fine acting skill which is hers to bear on Marjorie Ramsay and make her actions understandable. Miss Adams never forces her emotional scenes, she never gets outside the character, she never fails to register values. This is all done with the precision which marks the player who is artist as well as authority, with an careful manner. Last night's display of gowns by Miss Adams was indeed an eye for the fair sex, and come in for much comment. H. Wilnot Young gave a flawless performance of Donald Hayston, the lover of Marjorie Ramsay and in this role left nothing to be desired. Edgar H. Jason handled himself in the role of Robert Elton to good advantage as also did Harry Young as Charlie Ramsay. Marguerite Young, the dainty little blonde with the captivating personality, more than delighted her host of admirers as Cecile Florent. The remainder of the cast did justice to their respective roles. The settings were artistic and realistic and reflects much credit to the technical staff.

The vaudeville features last night were up to that usual high standard. The Durands appeared in a new sketch which nearly brought down the house. They were obliged to respond to repeated encores.

To-night is the farewell performance, being that great old play "The Nights in a Bar-room," as written by L. Russell Case. Mr. Young will be seen in that wonderful role of Joe Morgan, a characterization you will long remember. Come and bid farewell to your favourites to-night.

Mr. Colley is repeating his splendid lecture of "New York" at the Lecture Room of St. Michael's Church on Wednesday next, the 19th inst., at 8 o'clock. The lecture will be interspersed with some musical and other numbers. A variety entertainment, and a good cup of tea at the close, all for the modest sum of 40c. Come along and enjoy a pleasant evening.—nov15.11

An Important Even

Editor, Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—With your kind permission I would make a few remarks in reference to that most important event "The Annual Collection for the Christian Brothers of Mount St. Francis."

Those of us who are intimate with the wonderful work of this noble order in Newfoundland can readily understand the great importance of making this collection greater with each succeeding year.

Our people, realizing the great necessity nowadays of an education, are making greater efforts than ever to give their sons the benefit of the wonderful opportunity afforded by the Christian Brothers of procuring a good religious and secular education, with the result that the Brothers, at the beginning of each school-term, find it necessary to increase their teaching staff and find extra room for the ever-increasing attendance at St. Patrick's Hall and Holy Cross Schools.

These schools must be properly kept, and repairs, furnishings, heating, etc., cost a goodly sum. Therefore, it is up to us to make this year's collection a record one, thereby relieving the good Brothers, to some extent, of this great worry.

Last year it was a pleasure to see in the list of subscribers to the collection the names of many of our old school-mates now residing in our old Montreal and elsewhere. This is as it should be, as there are hundreds of ex-pupils of St. Patrick's Hall and Holy Cross schools filling good positions in Canada and the United States, who can attribute their success to their splendid training received in their school-days from the Christian Brothers in dear old Newfoundland.

Not wishing to take up too much of your valuable space, I appeal to the many friends and ex-pupils of the good Brothers at home and abroad to remember the First Sunday in Advent, Nov. 30th, and to make this year's collection the "BIGGEST YET."

With sincere thanks,
I remain,
OLD BLACK CHAP.

A Diversion

You will pardon this intrusion into public, I'm usually taciturnly inclined. But events of late have forced me out of cover. An incident extraordinary of its kind. With the city in a state of putrefaction. Which was more than frail humanity could bear. Whilst the patient public pays his Council taxes. For the privilege of breathing poisoned air. And amidst this reign of turmoil and stagnation. Confusion, discord, misery and woes. We are treated through the press by Arthur English. To a treatise on the merits of the Crows. Oh ye Gods! It is refreshing and uplifting. A gleam of sunshine to the Laborer's care. The naked babes, the wife who looks for comfort. To the fireless home and kitchen cupboard bare. To know that in their sorrow and affliction. There is one (an ardent naturalist) who knows. And is not afraid to come before the public. To debate upon the merits of the Crows.

(From Boston News Bureau, Nov. 7.)
STUDEBAKER NEW MODELS.
Meeting With Favorable Reception.
N.Y.—That new models of Studebaker Corp. introduced in September are meeting with a favorable reception is indicated by a survey of principal retail centers.

In the five boroughs of Greater New York sales in October were 22%, of those in October last year, while business to date in 1924 is running 33% ahead of corresponding period in 1923.

In Los Angeles sales of new models in October and September were 465, compared with 550 in the same period last year, a decrease of 16%. The decrease is attributed to delay in delivery of orders as much as to general business conditions on the coast, which have been far from satisfactory this year. Only two models out of 14 are ready for immediate delivery, according to manager of the Los Angeles branch. The last week in October was the best in months, with deliveries picking up and prospects improved.

Some Average Sales.
Philadelphia agency sales of new cars have averaged 60 cars a week. Highest week was 72 cars and lowest 56. October sales were about 2 1/2 times those of October, 1923. October usually averages 4% to 6% of annual total, but sales this October were about 12 1/2%. For the second week in October Philadelphia agency sales were the second largest of all Studebaker agencies in the United States. October sales were larger than those of either March, April or May of this year, although these three months usually represent the best selling season.

Sales now are mostly for immediate delivery, and a greater portion than usual are on a cash basis. The situation with old models is good, and it is expected all old models will be cleared off by Jan. 1.

Philadelphia Studebaker retail district includes Philadelphia, Chester, Camden and main line suburban area. Best weekly average for any one year in this district is 23 cars.

Cook County's Big Increase.
In Cook County, Ill., which includes Chicago, sales have shown a large increase over last year. From Sept. 15 to Oct. 22, 650 cars were sold, an increase of 100% over the same period last year. Since Oct. 22 sales have been running approximately 60% ahead of last year, and indications are that this level will be maintained throughout the remainder of the year.

Retail sales in greater Boston from Sept. 15 to Oct. 31 were 257 cars, against 121 a year ago. The best selling period in Boston is that which includes auto show week, from March 1 to April 15. In that period 196 cars were sold. Thus Boston sold 61 more cars in the past 46 days than in the best similar period this year.

MINARD'S LINIMENT, THE ATHLETIC'S REMEDY.

A Fight Under Water

A French diver had recently had a terrifying experience in the course of his duties in the Mediterranean, where he was engaged in repairing the cable between Toulon and Antibes.

He had a great fight with a sting ray, one of the greatest enemies of the diver, and though he escaped with his life he was only saved by the fact that, when the fish lashed out with its terrible tail, he was protected by his diving costume. With ordinary clothes he would have been seriously injured if not killed.

The sting ray is always a formidable foe to meet, for although from the tip of the nose to the end of the tail it is rarely more than three feet long, its tail, which is about half its total length, is armed with a curious flattened spine sticking out and furnished along both edges with exceedingly sharp teeth.

When it meets an enemy the sting ray uses this dangerous weapon in one of two ways. It may lash out with the swiftness of an arrow, cutting and lacerating its victim, or it may wind the flexible tail round the object of attack, and with the serrated spine cut the surface and cause wounds which quickly become inflamed. This inflammation is due not to poison in the ordinary sense but to a mucous substance secreted in the spine, which enters the wounds and irritates them.

The Octopus Lies in Wait.
The French diver, whose name was Cappadonna, went down to the cable and began working on it, when he saw an octopus lying in wait for prey. It was a big one which might prove an awkward antagonist for a man in the water; but a moment or two later he noticed a still more dangerous foe in the shape of the sting ray. At once he drew his dagger, when the fish, seeming to divine his purpose, struck at him viciously with its armed tail. The man, however, was equally quick and stabbed at the fish, inflicting a wound between the eyes. This did not kill it, and the wounded and angry creature again lashed out with its tail, ripping open the diver's suit.

The Fish Goes Off.
Fortunately, before this happened Cappadonna had signalled to be pulled up, and when at last he was dragged in the boat he was very exhausted and had almost lost consciousness. The fish went off, being quickly lost to sight in the blood-stained water. The terrible nature of the teeth on the spine of a sting ray may be gathered from the fact that some of the South Sea Islanders use them as points for their hunting spears.

Men have been killed by sting rays and the ancients had a lively fear of encountering this formidable foe in the water. Sometimes the spines are seven or eight inches long, and when the teeth become blunted they drop off and new ones grow, sharp and pointed.
