ALARMING, EFFECTS OF THE OF OLERA OUTBREAK.

A "ceneral Depression in Business-Re-vival of Uncasiness in Britain-Many More Deaths at Marselfles and Toulon. LONDON, July 19 .- Despite the attemp of certain French authorities to minimize as much as possible the cholera panic on the ntinent, it must be admitted that Dr. Koch was justified in those terrible predic-tions which have alarmed all Europe. The whole continent is terror-stricken. A correspondent, seeking for conservative a athorities upon the subject of the cholera scare, met Mr. Cook, the great tourist agent, and obtained from him an int erview. Mr. Cook said : "It is almost impossible to exaggerate the effects of the cholera outbreak in France. Besides the depression it has brought upon general business on the con-tinent, its effects upon European summer travel, both commercial and holiday, has been simply enormous. It is true that the present rush from the southern and east-ern countries to England somewhat com-pensates for the losses in the regular trans-portation eastward and southward, but the general effect of the cholera panic upon Eurogean travel has been disastrous." "The general result must be disastrous to the continental pleasure resorts?" brought upon general business on the con-

"Disastrous! Well, I should say so. There are many continental resorts available without risking any probable contact with the contagion, but even these are suf-fering from lack of patronage. But nearly all the summer resorts have already been closed because of entire lack of patronage. The steamers to Turkey and Egypt are now sailing direct without stopping at any of the Mediterranean ports." "What accounts do the returning trav-elers give of the plague scare?" "Disastrous ! Well, I should say so "What accounts do the returning trav-elers give of the plague scare?" in Toronto. She was the mistress of an irregular house at No. 18 James street for a number of monthe, and about a year ago she removed to Baltimore. Hazeltine and VanWitzen brought greetings from Pearl Snow to ner fallen sisters in the city and it was evidently through these greetings that the men induced White and Thorpe to accompany them back. It might go with-out saying that the greatest excitement prevails among the women's friends in this city over the tragedy. One of them said last night: "That man Hazeltice had a bad look in his eyes, and I thought some-thing would happen. I advised May and Mamis not to co with them." Not a little excitement was caused in certain circles on Saturday night on re-ceipt of a telegram from Baltimore, Md., stating that two women of the town be-longing to Toronto had been shot in the Monumental city in an irregular house. One of them, Frankie Robinson, was shot dead and the other, May White, who keeps a resort of easy virtue at No. 11 Nelson street, was reported to be wounded seri-ously. ately followed the track of the rumor, and learned a multitude of particulars, which were supplemented by a special despatch from Baltimore. Commencing at the beginning it may be said that two weeks ago two young men registered at the Queen's hotel as "G. Milton Nazeline and G. E. VanWitzen, Baltimore." They were well dressed, and The Police of Buffalo Prefer Taking Holday to Meeting the Terents Perce. BUFFALO, July 20.—Lieut. They were well dressed, and looked, acted and emulated what society has now learned to call the dude. The pair spent considerable money around town in wine, carriage driving and good cigars; and as the saying goes went in for a good time. If part of the young male idea of having a good time is to visit fast houses, then these young Baltimore dudes took in plenty of that. They were daily visitors at May White's during their stay here, and in the midst of one of their drunken orgies proposed, that Miss White and Frankie Robinson accompany them to Baltimore. The invitation was speedily accepted, and on Thursday afternoon last the four started for Maryland's metropolis. They arrived there on Saturday morning. The particulars of the shooting are given in the following special despatch to The World :

Quite a number of flower gardens are beginning to take on shape, and Mr. Marshall has succeeded in grow-ing a fine lawn. The trees are also grow-ing very well. There must be fifty tents pitched on various parts of the Island. The grocery service is giving satisfaction, and all the residents appear to be happy "over there," or at least they say they are. One thing sure, the Island is a fine place for children. Wild last evening was one from Ottawa in reference to the utility of the persistent search for the north pole. Now I should like to know what is the reason that my water bill has advanced, for I have not any tenents in my house now, and the last quarter, ending June 30, was only $4. Mr. Brown has been inspecting my premises and reported seventeen inmates, twenty-seven boarders and seventeen rooms, which I can prove to be false. I can swear before any justice of the peace that he did not get the information from me or any of the family. I think this Mr. Brown is too big for his place. JOSEPH SMITH. 103 Since street, July 19. prove that Jesus Christ occupies a close relation to the inhabitants of this world. Great names have been inscribed in the scroll of fame, but none can equal that of Jesus, the Saviour of men. The secret of his wonderful power is that he is the sec-ond Adam. The law of heredity—that of entailment—is admitted by all in every. thing except theology. Sin, disease and death are in the world. If these did not Whilst the divorce bill in France is one destn are in the world. If these did not begin in the first Adam they did in God Himself. "Twas great to make a world from naught, but greater to redeem." Christ is the Saviour of all men, specially of those who believe.

The doctor professed to possess a religion that enabled him to hope that all might be saved. He mentioned the heathen, who have never heard of Christ; children, be-fore the age of accountability, and insane persons as, in his opinion, not amenable to the law.

"The church" was defined as includin all who trust in Jeeus and wholive in accord ance with bible precepts. Organization has proved to be the best means of dissemcapable of playing the repertoire she in-tends to produce during her stay in To-ronto. The scenery will be all new. How do you expect the heathen, who have never heard of Jesus, to believe in Him? This evangelizing process is the work of the church, and the man who does not support the church is not a patriot or a christian.

"Ye are the temple of the living God" was quoted to show that religion is not in the organization, but in the hearts of indi-vidual believers. The first congregational church was formed in England 'n 1616, and its members, asked no authority from bishop, priest or prelate. No king, coun-try or city can own a church, for it is in the individual.

Quotations were given from old authors to show the true relation of the church to the state and to each other. Any author ity assumed by "the church over men's ity assumed by "the church over men's consciences is unauthorized and is only for the purpose of pandering to human pride." The human side of the question is ex-pediency, but don't confound this with divine authority.
