EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE cases of the St. John liquor dealers proceeded against for selling without license has so far been brought to a close on Friday last. It will be remembered that the new license law provides that so many places shall be licensed according to the population, and as there were more applicants in the city of St. John for license than could legally be granted, some of them had to be refused. As is not unusual in such cases these people determined to set the law at defiance and continue selling, with the hope that owing to certain points raised in reference to the legality of the act of the local legislature, be a credit to a much larger town. The they would not be interfered with. But two hundred young men who took the mayor of the city instructed the police ner appear to have a spark of the deterofficers to report all places selling liquor mination that characterized the brave sons for violating the law and on being McKendrick, Kain and Duff leading; tried they were fined.
