Closing Exercises at Harkness Gymnasium by Insp. Address and Music.

MEDALS PRESENTED

Large Assembly Hall. With Interested Spectators on Friday.

With a representative and enthusiastic audience composed of the parents and friends of the pupils of St. Mary's Convent, the closing exercises of that splendid institution were most auspiciously carried out on Thursday evening last.

The convent hall was unable to seat half of those who sought admittance, and both entrances were blocked with spectators.

The affair was notable for the perfection of the arrangements, for the excellence of the exercises and for the strikingly handsome gowns worn by the pupils and by the ladies in the audience. The Mother Superior and the other Sisters are to be congratulated on the unequalled success achieved, and the splendid work of the pupils, bespeaks volumes in praise of St. Mary's as an educational institution.

Miss Marian Doyle was the valedictorian. Many will recall with pleasure a very clever little sketch given by Miss Doyle and Tennant at a concert given by the pupils of St. Mary's about four years ago.

Since then both Misses Doyle and Tennant have become young ladies, and very talented ones at that, judging from their efforts on Thursday evening. Miss Doyle read her valedictory with an irresistible charm and grace and won unstinted praise from the audience.

The scholars were attired in dainty white frocks, and sat on elevated tiers facing the audience.

The exercises were opened by a welcome song and chorus. The soloists were Misses A. Morris and L. Foran and they sang very sweetly indeed.

The following number was rendered by the convent orchestra in a very pleasing manner. This organization is a splendid one and a credit to the convent.

Then came a song "Merry Little Birds Are We" by the little ones. These little tots carried off their share of the applause. Their work was very clever.

"A Rustic Dance" by C. Renwick was rendered very cleverly on the piano and organ by Misses M. Howard, C. Fitzpatrick, N. Arbo and M. Sullivan. Just here it might be mentioned that the Convent is turning out some very clever musical talent. The instrumental music was especially a very attractive feature of the exercises.

A motion song "The Musical Club" by the pupils of Grades II, III, and IV, won well merited applause.

A recitation "Flora of the Zones" by Misses L. Foran, L. Sager, M. Sullivan, A. Condon and N. Arbo, was given in splendid style.

Another very delightful feature was the "Fitz Villageoise" by Miss I. Bourque, piano, Miss N. Lawlor, violin, Misses K. De Wolf and N. Arbo, mandolin.

A class recitation "Choice of Occupations" was given in a very pleasing way by Misses I. Leblanc, K. Donovan, A. McComb, W. Waleen, A. Morris and J. Doyle.

Misses G. Beaudry and I. Bourque played a very pretty value in flute style, displaying excellent touch and technique.

Miss M. R. y gave a very clever reading "An Order For a Picture."

An instrumental duet "La Grace" by Misses A. Hamel, M. Lawlor H. Hickson.

Next door to H. Williston.

The Newcastle Field Battery under command of Lieut. Col. Maitly went into camp for twelve days Monday about a mile and a half from Newcastle proper on the banks of the Miramichi. There are about 60 men in all and 71 horses.

Yesterday afternoon a reporter for the Advocate visited the camp and was shown about by Col. Maitly. There are twenty-two splendid tents and two marquees. There are fine cooking facilities both for the officers and men. The latter get pork and beans every morning and "squares" every noon.

The horses are a splendid looking and come from different parts of the province. The forage is supplied by Mr. James G. Fish, Miller Bros. have the contract for the rations.

The following officers are in camp: Lieut. Col. Maitly, Cap. Lawlor, Lieut. Andrew, Lieut. Sargeant and Surgeon Major Nicholson.

The non-Coms. are composed of Sergeant Major Jones, Quartermaster Sergeant Russell, Barrister Sergeant, McCullum, Orderly Sergeant, Sergeant, Sergeant, Royal Canadian Field Artillery attached as instructor and Sergeants, Kitchen, Cooper, Murphy, Harris, and Bean, also Corporals Craig, Black, Daniel, Edmunds, Wm. Edmunds, and Leslie Johnston.

Hospital Corporal George Miller, Bombs, Allan Maloney, David Crocker, George Miller, Ernest Scott, and Percy Lindon.

Lieut. Col. Maitly is well pleased with the camping ground. In fact he considers it an ideal spot.

The following is the daily camp routine: Reveille Gun Fire 5:30 a.m. Roll Call 6 a.m. Morning Stables and Fatigue 6:30 to 9:15 a.m. Issue of forage 6 a.m. Breakfast 7 a.m. One hour S. a. m. First Daily parade, 8:30 a. m. Mid-day stables and fatigues, 11:45 to 12:15.

Dinner 12:30. Second daily parade, 2 p.m. Evening Stables, 3 to 5:45. Supper 6 p.m. Issue of rations 6:30 p.m. Guard mounting 6:30 p.m. Retreat 7:30. Two gun first post gun fire 9:30. Last post, 10 p.m. Lights out 10:15.

Nearly as day yesterday the grounds in the vicinity of the camp were besieged by interested spectators.

This year promises to be the banner year in camp. All events so far as members go surpasses any previous years and Col. Maitly is to be congratulated on the study of men under his command.

The following is the list of prizes won by the boys in blue:

This is to be the System in the Advocate's Subscription Department.

On and after July 1st all subscribers to the Advocate must be paid in advance.
This conclusion has not been arrived at hastily by the publishers but after the subject had been given special study for the past year. We have come to the conclusion that this is the only fair, business like course to pursue and it will be strictly adhered to in the future. We must have the cash before the paper is sent and it shall be promptly stopped when the time paid for expires unless sufficient notice has been given.

We ask our readers to send the day before their paper is due and not to read it for a week or month in the future.
We will not be able to do this for you and we will not be able to do this for you
and we will not be able to do this for you.

All persons who a year or more will be obliged to settle with a collected agency unless their accounts are paid previous to July 1st. This is a hard rule but it is a rule that will save the publishers from financial disaster and trouble.

We trust that many of our readers will have not yet received the notice of the Advocate's new policy and we become subscribers. They need not that the paper will be a fine one after time paid for has expired and that we endeavor to collect further subscriptions will be purely voluntary on our part but the paper will be continued and it will not be an easy one to read.

We trust that all our readers will be pleased of this and as by remitting promptly.

what they ought to be and indeed, of what they might be if the writers took a little more trouble over them. We have all got letters that were disappointing in their brevity and dullness. And again we have had letters that for interest and brightness were the well of water in a thirsty ground.

It is a good plan when writing a letter to keep strictly in mind, as far as you can, what will interest your friend and not simply interest you. Don't fill up your letter with scraps of news about people and places unknown to her unless they are entertaining apart from their personal interest. Write to her as you would talk to her. Tell her all the harmless gossip—there is such a thing, you know—she would like to know and don't write anything that you think might hurt or worry her in any way; unless it is really necessary.
Don't gush—that is if you are over eighteen. If you are under that age it is no use telling you not to.
School girls have to gush and write sentimental letters to their darling chums vowing eternal friendship and all that sort of thing. It's a phase they have to pass through. And how silly those soul pourings do read, years afterward when you read them over in cold blood.

Again, never write a letter when you are angry. Or if you do, don't mail it for twenty-four hours.
Then read it over and put it in the waste basket. It may save you a headache in after years. Remember that "written words remain."
Above all bear in mind Sam Weller's immortal dictum:
"She'll wish there was more and that's the great art of letter-writing."

The man with rules for hot weather has reported. He is Health Commissioner Darlington of New York. As hot weather rules are good in any latitude where hot weather is apt to happen along in summer, the ones made for New Yorkers may work here on the Miramichi.

Rule No. 1 is as follows: Be hopeful and cheerful. It is intended for the encouragement of those who may be ill. Very good advice indeed, but as to following it, that depends upon what ails you. We have all discovered at some time or other that hopefulness and cheerfulness are not matters of the will. An attack of neuralgia or a severe toothache on a hot day, or even on a cold one, would make it dangerous for the apostle of good cheer to amble up to the sufferer and advise merriment.

Do not kiss any one on the mouth, is rule No. 5. Think of with the driving season in full swing. There is no room for kisses.

Chatham Ratepayers Unanimously
Decide not to Burden Pulp
Mill With Taxation

E. THUSIASTIC MEETING

It is Hoped That Mill Will Soon be Able to Resume Operations.

A large and representative meeting of the ratepayers of Chatham, by an almost unanimous vote, resolved to exempt the pulp mill from taxation, excepting school tax, to any one operating the mill. The Sulphite Pulp Company mill, C. L. and McKinnon, pulp mill, in favor of the resolution, to the standpoint of a business man and a ratepayer. It was seconded by J. Y. Morrison. The resolution reads as follows:

Whereas, since the suspension of the work by the Maritime Sulphite Pulp Co. mill in 1901 the town has sustained great loss and business interests have materially suffered, and whereas certain disputes and litigation that have been pending for some time have been settled and disposed of, and the said property is now offered for sale and a clear title thereto guaranteed, and

Whereas, it is in the best interests of this community that said mill should be again in operation, and in order to facilitate the purchase of the same it is desirable that certain encouragement by way of exemption from taxation for a period of years should be given to any person purchasing said property, therefore.

Resolved, that in the opinion of this meeting the said property if purchased should be exempt from taxation for all town and county taxes for a period of fifteen years, to date from the day of which said mill commences operations, and that as a further inducement to purchasers of said property this meeting of ratepayers agrees that the taxation for district and county rates for school purposes to be made upon a valuation of said property not exceeding $100,000, as the legislature may determine;
and

Further Resolved, that this meeting authorize the members of the legislature representing the County of Northumberland to take such steps as may be necessary to effect the legislation required to carry those resolutions in effect, and to give the exemption agreed to,
provided always that these resolutions shall be null and void as respects the said property if the same be not purchased and operated as a going concern, and provided so that if at any time during the period named for exemption the said mill should be shut down and cease operations, then the said exemptions cease.

Warren C. Winslow, K. C., spoke vigorously in favor of the resolution and the desirability of offering inducements to prospective purchasers, who expected liberal treatment at the hands of the ratepayers.

Mr. Tweedie, after addressing the audience in favor of the resolution, which he said was drawn with a proper regard for the public interests, and was a reasonable proposition, asked all in favor of the mill resum-

clean the fingernails before eating, is the next bit of advice. This should not be regarded as a strictly hygienic rule, because a great many good citizens who take no particular care of their health are addicted to the habit of being neat and clean.

Another precept is, never run or lift heavy weights. The man who "makes" lake trains and baggage-men will please take notice. They are impeding their health.

The final admonition is to take a warm bath once a week. Might not a strong person, with no indications of defective heart action take two a week without danger?

Of the making of books there is no end, and the same observation is in order in the matter of health rules. They are all boiled down to cleanliness, fresh air, moderate exercise, temperance in eating and drinking and about eight hours sleep. They are good in summer or in winter, and, like the best brands of baking powder, "will keep in any climate."—The Tennis

Nervous Condition

Subject to backache, headache and dizziness for years—cured by Dr. Chase's Mrs. Andrew Hewey, St. John Street, Fredericton, N.B., states:—"Last spring I had a sickness which left me in a very run down, nervous state. In fact, for a number of years I have suffered to a great extent with nervousness, and frequently had attacks of headache and dizziness. I also seemed to be very weak and was distressed with pains in the small of the back.
"I have spent a

for medicine but obtained little or no
relief until I began taking Dr. Chase's

Kidney-Liver Pills,
and can say that the results of this combined treatment have been most remarkable.
I never had any medicine build me up like the

the pains in my back to Dr. Chase's Kidney-ing operations to rise, and the whole audience stood up. Then he asked all who favored the resolution as a means of bringing about that result to rise, and again almost the entire audience stood up.

Mr. W. B. Snowball spoke against the resolution, calling upon the citizens to refuse to grant the exemption asked on the ground that prospective purchasers could well afford to pay taxes and manufacture pulp here, at a profit, where lumber is abundant and wages low.

Robt. Murray, K. C., B. A. Lawlor, K. C., W. S. Loggie, James Nicol and Philip McIntyre followed Mr.
Snowball, speaking against the resolution.

George Watt supported the resolution, calling on the citizens to show by their generous effort of entire exemption how heartily they would cooperate with manufacturers and thus advertise to the world that the citizens here would deal liberally with manufacturing industries. A formal vote was taken, though the Mayor ordered ballots printed in case any one might ask for a ballot vote. An amendment was moved and also an amendment to the amendment, but meeting was decided against any motions emanating from those in touch with prospective purchasers, and voted them down promptly.

BATHURST.

In former times the young men from the cities who came to our smaller towns and the surrounding country for a summer vacation, was, as a rule, a funny specimen of physical manhood. Narrow chested and stopped, after hardly able to hold himself together from indigestion and such like diseases he made great sacrifices to get away from his business for a few weeks in summer and compared with the average young men he met in the small towns and country he was a poor affair surely. Now all this is changed, under the strenuous life which the young men of the American and Canadian cities of large size have been taught to live they are actually ahead of the young men of the smaller towns in many forms, and few farmer's sons can compare with them. It is now to the smaller towns which have no athletic associations or clubs that we must look for poor specimens of manhood. Fortunately owing to our pure air and water as well as the fact that our towns are recruited in young men from the surrounding country to a great extent, we do not notice this fact so much in Northern New Brunswick as we might. At the same time it is a fact that our town bred boys are not as well developed as they should be. Take a town of the size of Bathurst for instance, young men who work in stores, offices and such confined places have very little recreation and very little of that kind of sport which tends to develop their muscles and chests.

In cities the boys have their gymnasium, baseball, foot ball, tennis and golf clubs, and often a young man will belong to several different organizations and somehow manages to fit a few hours to devote to sport, even in the evenings the "gym" is always open and the boys have the benefit. Our winters are long and dreary enough and the youngsters should have some part of the summer to themselves, but even in winter there should be skating and curling rinks for the young folks. Country boys, that is farmer's sons develop under hard work on the farms, but there appears to be nothing of the kind necessary for physical development available for the boys and young men of the smaller towns. A stranger, who travelled through the provinces a short time ago, asked the writer the following question—"What in the name of all that's good, do the young people do in the smaller towns of this province."

He meant what did they do for amusements and the question is a staggerer compared with the opportunities for sport which the average city boys have, our young men are practically dead. Hard work all week and a drive on Sunday afternoon if the day is fine comprises about all the young working man has to look forward to.

If he has a girl he may take her for a walk or something of the kind about midnight, or after the store closes. Is it any wonder that our young men go away to the States or large cities of Canada where they can at least live?

We would like to see our clergymen and teachers take an interest in the sports of the younger portion of our population, and we venture to predict if they went about the matter properly the general public would support them willingly. We understand the Rector of St. George church is formulating some plan for the advancement of his own flock, and it is a good idea, but we should have a general association devoted to games of ball, tennis, and so forth in the summer months, and skating, curling and coasting in the winter. Even in the smaller towns of the United States there are such associations and as we have said the result shows for itself, by the fact that the average young American compares favourably in many appearance with any young man on the face of the earth.

The weather appears to have settled at last, and the appearance of the surrounding country speaks for itself—Farmers have at last got to work, but are of course very late with their planting, etc. Vegetation is however very rapid in this climate and we hope that the harvest will be as fair as usual even if a little later than last year.

Salmon fishing along the coast in the vicinity of Bathurst has been very poor—The fishermen nearest Bathurst Harbour have practically done nothing at all up to date. At the very first of the season they secured a few of the large fish which belong to Restigouche waters, but very few Nepisquit fish have been taken. Now unless this state of things change within a short time the outlook for the Nepisquit as a breeding river is very very poor compared with former years, that is eight or ten years ago when the nets at Salmon Beach particularly depended almost entirely on Nepisquit bred fish, the catch for the past three years has been almost nil if the fishermen are telling the truth, and we think they are. They, the fishermen claim that after the run of large fish which they call Restigouche salmon, was over, they usually secured a large number of the Nepisquit fish every year, and that the latter afforded them the best profit, as the run lasted until the season closed, whereas the run of large fish ceased about the fifteenth of June, of late years they claim, as stated, that they get very few Nepisquit fish at all, and it is a fact that the number of salmon secured by anglers in the river is also falling off, though quantities of grilse are yet available later in the season. The question is whether it is not a fact that too many grilse are killed by the fly. This is what the fishermen claim—All anglers know that grilse are very eager to take the fly, and even after having been hooked will return to the fly in a day or two, which a salmon will seldom do. The question will likely be settled this season by the government, as to whether it would not be a good idea to close up, for breeding purposes, one or two of the pools at or immediately below the Grand Falls of the Nepisquit, for a term of years. This would furnish a natural hatchery, and no doubt the good of it would soon be apparent. Another good move might be made by closing the Tetagouche from the Mill dam up to anglers, opening the fishway, and allowing all fish to go up the river—Of course guardians would be necessary on the upper part of the Tetagouche but this little river in former times was a great breeding stream for salmon, and many go up to it yet, and it would make an ideal hatchery if it could be guarded. There are questions which are engaging the attention of our representative Mr. Turgeon, and the fishery department at present, we understand—

The mills are doing good work and a few vessels have been loaded at Bathurst, mostly we understand with the remnants of last season's contracts. No enthusiasm, such as was in evidence this time last year is apparent in the trade however, and the outlook on the other side as regards prices is yet gloomy. Many reasons are given by different reports from England for the present state of the market.

IS YOUR BACK LAME?

YOU ARE PROBABLY SUFFERING FROM DISTENDED KIDNEY—SUREST CURE IS

FERROZONE

People suffering from kidney disorders quickly lose strength, and often die young. Therefore it is important to get Ferrozone at once, and be released from every symptom of this baneful disease. Price 50¢ a box, or six boxes for $2.50, at all druggists, or by mail from The Ferrozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

Some say that over production, coupled with the fact that large quantities of lumber have come in from the Baltic, is responsible for it, but our opinion is that prices will stillstand a better state of things prevail very soon, in fact as soon as the Chamberlain proposition is disposed one way or another. English capitalists draw in their money just as soon as any disturbance in the shape of tariff tinkering is in evidence, and as timber is used by the operations which need the largest amount of capital to run them, the fact of stringency in the money market at home is first felt in the iron and timber trade. If lumbermen have back bone enough to hold on to their stocks until the autumn, without contracting at small prices they will, we think find it a paying waiting time.

The Electric Light Co., is arranging with property holders regarding the lighting of their houses, stores etc., and their engineer Mr. O'Leary and his assistants are busy putting on the wires, owing to the height of water in the Tetagouche the company has not yet put in the foundation for its dam and it will probably be a month yet before this work is due. Everything else however is being pushed along rapidly, and by the end of August the Company hope to have the lights going.

The contractor of the Basin Bridge from town to village is pushing the work along in good style, and appears to be doing a first rate job at the same time.

There are several American gentlemen fishing at the different stations of the Nepisquit and all are apparently well satisfied with their catches up to date. Messrs. Gilbert and Lauce, who are camped at the Pabineau Falls are thorough sportsmen limiting their daily catch to what they and their guides can eat and being satisfied with such sport as this affords. If all our visitors were so fair minded particularly during the grilse season, there would be no necessity of restocking the river. These gentlemen leave on the 23rd, making way for the Messrs. Jones and their friends from St. John who came along then.

Misses Bessie and Helen Bishop are spending a few days with their friends Mr. and Mrs. Rive at Caraqueet.

Among the summer visitors expected at Bathurst very soon are, we understand, Mrs. Evain and Miss Bishop of Montreal.

Mr. Freeman Goodwin is at present in Moncton, with his family—Mr. Goodwin has disposed of his rotary mill to Mr. John Robertson who will use it at Caraqueet until he has his new water mill erected.

Mr. C. F. C. Anderson of the Portland Packing Co. who is operating in the lobster business in Gloucester, reports that his catch so far this season has been quite up to his expectations. Mr. Anderson who spends most of his time at his factories was in Bathurst, where he has his distributing warehouse, last week.

Mr. Henry White returned last week from a trip to Montreal and Ottawa.

The marriage of Mr. W. C. of the Royal Bank, Dalhousie to Miss Kate McLean, a Bathurst young lady, at present engaged, as a trained nurse in Boston which is to take place in a couple of weeks is interesting news to the young people of Bathurst, who regard the prospective bride and groom as great favourites.

We understand that we shall be at liberty to announce the approaching marriage of another of Bathurst's fair daughters very shortly.

Hon. C. H. LaBelle was in Bathurst last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Flott, Mr. J. C. Blackhall and Miss Blackhall of Caraqueet spent Sunday in Bathurst.

Mr. Tidmark of the Royal Bank who is an officer in the P. E. Island Militia leaves on Saturday to attend camp on the Island.

The Gentleman From Indiana

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

Copyright, 1899, by Doubleday, McClure, Co.
Copyright, 1902, by McClure, Phillips & Co.

Some of the Herald's victory over the state. The paper came regularly. The townsfolk bought the farmers drove in for it. Old there came back. Old advertisements. The Herald began to sell and Gaines county people subscribed. Cadwall fair held up their own journalism was mentioned. The Herald announced a news with Hoken, and with that of "patent insiders" began three issues a week, appearing Thursdays and Saturdays. The brass band serenaded the Herald.

Second month of the new Herald the working force received an addition. One found some barroom, a patriarchal old a magnificent head and a beard. He had been a saloon, and he was a frankness of those he could not help knowing—and that seven years to a day from his commencement this man was sitting on a fence in Indiana.

Down the pike a buggy came creaking toward him, gray with dust, old and faded like the fat, shaggy gray mare that drew it, her unheeded, dejected head lowering before her. While her inconspicuous tail waved incessantly, like the banner of a storming party. The editor did not hear the drop of the mare's hoofs nor the sound of the wheels, so deep was his reverie. The red faced and perspiring driver drew rein, and the journalist looked up and waved a long white hand to him in greeting.

"Howdy do, Mr. Harkless?" called the man in the buggy. "Soakin' in the weather?" He spoke in shouts, though neither was hard of hearing. "Yes, just soakin'," answered Harkless. "It's such a gypsy day. How is Mr. Bowlder?"

"I'm givin' good satisfaction, thank you, and all at home. She's in town." "Give Mrs. Bowlder my regards," said the journalist, comprehending the symbolism. "How is Hartley?"

The farmer's honest face shined over for a second. "He's be'n steady ever since the night you brought him home, six weeks straight. I'm kind of bothered about tomorrow—he wants to come in for show day. I reckon I'll have to take his chance—and us too. Seems more like we'd have to let him, long as we got him not to come in last night for Kedge Hallowsay's lecture at the courthouse. Say, how'd that lecture strike you? You give Kedge a mighty fine send-off to the audience in your introduction, but I noticed you spoke of him as a thinker, without sayin' what kind a man as that! Of course I know Kedge is honest."

Harkless sighed. "Oh, he's the best we've got, Bowlder." "Yes, I presume so, but"—Mr. Bowlder broke off suddenly as his eyes opened in surprise, and he exclaimed: "Law, I'd never expected to see you settin' here today! Why ain't you out at Judge Briscoe's? This speech seem to be interlarded with some humor. For Bowlder accompanied it with the loud laughter of glibly thimblin' riskin' a joke."

"Why? What's going on at the judge's?" "Goin' on! Didn't you see that strange lady at the lecture with Minnie Briscoe and the judge and old Fiske?" "I'm afraid not, Bowlder."

"They couldn't talk about anything else at the postoffice this mornin' and at Tom Martin's. She come yesterday on the afternoon accommodation. You ought to know all about it because when Minnie and her father went to the deopoe they had old Fiske with 'em, and when the backboard come through town he was settin' on the back seat with her. That's what stirred the town up. Nobody could figure it out any way, and nobody got into of a good look at her then except Judd Bennett. He said she had kind of a new look on her. That's all any of 'em could get out of Judd. He was in a sort of a dreamy state. But Middy Up-ton—You know Middy? She works out at Briscoe's—"

"Yes, I know Middy." "She come in to the postoffice with the news this lady's name was Sherwood and she lives at Rouch. Miss Tibbs says that wasn't no news—you could tell she was a city lady with both your eyes shut. But Middy says Fiske was goin' to stay for supper, and he come to the lecture with 'em and drove off with 'em afterwards. Sol Tibbs says he reckoned it was because Fiske was the only man in Carlow that Briscoe thought had read enough books to be smart enough to talk to her, but Miss Selby says if that was so they'd have got you instead, and so they had all jest about give it up. Of course everybody got a good look at her at the lecture—they set on the platform right behind you and Hallowsay, and she did smart. What got me, though, was when she wore a kind of a little dag-ger black straight through her head. A good deal of a sacrifice jest to see your hat was on right, never see her at all?"

"Ain't no," answered Harkless. "Miss Briscoe stopped me on the street and told me she had a feet upon the young man. The years drifted very slowly, and to him it seemed that they went by while he stood far aside and could not even see them move. He did not consider the life he led an exciting one. The other children of Carlow did. He undertook a war against the White Caps, denizens of Six Crossroads, seven miles west of Plattville. The natives were much more afraid of the White Caps than he was. They knew more about them and understood them better than he did.

There was no thought of the people of the Crossroads in his mind as he sat on the smoke fence staring at the little smoky shadow dance on the white road in the June sunshine. On the contrary, he was occupied with the realization that there had been a man in his class at college whose ambition needed no restraint, his promise was so great—in the strong belief of the university, a goal he could not help knowing—and that seven years to a day from his commencement this man was sitting on a fence in Indiana.

Down the pike a buggy came creaking toward him, gray with dust, old and faded like the fat, shaggy gray mare that drew it, her unheeded, dejected head lowering before her. "Ain't no," answered Harkless. "Miss Briscoe stopped me on the street and told me she had a visitor. "Young man," said Bowlder, "you better go out there right away." He raised the reins and checked to the gray mare. "Well, she'll be mad I ain't in town for her long ago. Ride in with me."

"No, thank you. I'll walk in for the sake of my appetite." "Wouldn't it be more to the point—Bowlder, 'Sorey you won't ride." He gathered the loose ends of the reins in his hands, took a turn over the dash-board and struck the mare a hearty blow. The harness-bumper of tail-jacked indignantly, but she consented to move down the road. Bowlder thrust his big head through the sun curtain behind him and continued the conversation. "See the White Caps ain't got you yet?"

"No, not yet." Harkless laughed. "Reckon the boys wouldn't you stayed in town after dark." The other called back. "Well, come out and see us if you get any spare time from the judge's." He laughed loudly with in farewell, and then like a flash he was in the road, and finally turned his attention forward to the mare. When the drop of her hoofs had died out, Harkless realized that the day was silent no longer; it was verging into evening.

He dropped from the fence and turned his face toward town and supper. He felt the life and light about him, heard the chatter of the blackbirds above him, heard the homing bees hum by, saw the vista of white road and level landscape framed on two sides by the branches of the grove, of infinitely stretching fields of green, lined here and there with the woodlands and flat to the horizon line, the village lying in their lap. No roll of meadow, no rise of pasture land, relieved their serenity nor shouldered up from them to be called a hill.

A farm bell rang in the distance, a tinkling coming small and mellow from far away, and at the loneliness of that sound he heaved a long, mournful sigh. The next instant he broke into laughter, for another bell rang over the

He stopped to exchange a word. fields, the courthouse bell in the square. The first four strokes were given with mechanical regularity, the pride of the custodian who operated the bell being to produce the effect of a clockwork bell, such as he had once heard in the courthouse at Rouen, but the fifth and sixth strokes were hitting achievements, as, after 4 o'clock he often lost count in the strain of the effort for precise imitation. There was a pause after the sixth; then a dubious and reluctant stroke, seven a longer pause, followed by a final ring with desperate decision. Harkless looked at his watch. It was ten minutes of 6.

"I'll cross it the courthouse yard to the Palace Hotel on his way to supper he stopped to exchange a word with the man in the buggy, who, sitting on the steps, was leaning his brow with an air of indifference on his hand. "You're a regular schoolboy," he said, "you're a regular schoolboy." "You're a regular schoolboy," he said, "you're a regular schoolboy." "You're a regular schoolboy," he said, "you're a regular schoolboy."

"What we need here," responded the bell ringer, "is a regular schoolboy." "You're a regular schoolboy," he said, "you're a regular schoolboy." "You're a regular schoolboy," he said, "you're a regular schoolboy." "You're a regular schoolboy," he said, "you're a regular schoolboy."

"That's just what I hate about him," murmured the bell ringer in a tone of high complaint. "You can't never tell which half it is. Look at him now." The gentleman referred to was standing over in front of the hotel talking to a row of confounders, who were sitting with their chairs tilted back against the props of the wooden awning that projected over the sidewalk. Their faces were turned toward the courthouse, and even those lost in meditative whittling had looked up to laugh. Mr. Martin, one of his hands thrust in a pocket of his alpaca coat and the other softly cursing his wire, gray chin beard, his rusty silk hat tilted forward, till the brim almost rested on the bridge of his nose, was addressing them in a one-keyed voice, the melancholy whine of which, though not the words, penetrated to the courthouse steps.

TROUT Mezzo Work.

The undersigned have received from Mr. Nash of Maine the agency for New Brunswick for his famous trout mezzo work. A trout mezzo is one half the fish so mounted upon a convex elliptical panel as to stand upon a pedestal in bold relief, giving the effect of an oil painting of whole mounted fish, with the real thing to show for your prowess. The process of preserving fish in this artistic way was discovered by Mr. Nash in 1900, and patented by him.

Invigorating Syrup.

This she did, also using Gates' Nerve Linctum on her hands. She has recently written us explaining how after 3 months treatment she has been permanently cured of both diseases, and is now recommending others to give these medicines a trial.

News Too Good to Keep.

Persons who have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are usually so well pleased with the results, having told the good news to their neighbors. There is no medicine which so promptly awakens the action of the liver, invigorates the kidneys, and regulates the bowels as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and for this reason they are unapproached as a family medicine. One put a box, 25 cents a box, at all dealers.

One in Four Persons.

One person in every four suffers more or less from itching piles. Some do not know the nature of their ailment, and others have not heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment as the only absolute and guaranteed cure for this distressing disease. If you are a sufferer ask your neighbors about this great preparation. It has grown popular as a result of the news of its merits being passed from friend to friend.

So you want to be my son-in-law, do you? asked the stern parent with as much fierceness as he could generate.

Can't say that I do, replied the truthful young man. But I want to marry your daughter and I suppose there's no way to dodge the issue.

CONSUMPTION IS SCOURGING CANADA

Year by year the White Plague steadily gains headway, and why? Because careless people let their colds run into catarrh which in turn becomes consumption. Victims of catarrh need not be discouraged, for fragrant healing Catarrhzone permanently cures every type of catarrh. The soothing vapor of Catarrhzone immediately kills the germs that cause catarrh and prevents them from again entering your system. Relief will be quick, cure will be certain, absolute freedom from any trace of catarrh follows the use of Catarrhzone. It is a scientific remedy warranted to cure lung trouble, bronchitis and catarrh. Cure guaranteed with two months treatment. Price $10.00; sample size 25c.

THE FARMER'S REALITY.

Practical Suggestions For The Improvement of The Farm.

MEAT IN SUMMER—Although live stock is grown on almost every Canadian farm, the farmer as a rule finds it very difficult to furnish his table with fresh meat during the summer months. Salt pork and poultry are in general use, but it is evident, at a liberal supply of fresh beef would make the problem of preparing meals much easier for the women of the household, and would ensure a more wholesome and palatable bill of fare for the family. The average farmer is several miles away from the nearest butcher, and would find it both inconvenient and expensive to send a member of the family to town every day or two for fresh meat, especially as both men and horses are apt to find their time fully occupied. Again the farmer's family could not consume a beef animal before it would spoil, so it is out of the question to think of killing his own beef. In order to make the use of abundance of fresh meat at their home, even during summer months, the Live Stock Commission, Ottawa, recommends the more general establishment of beef rings, which have been successfully carried on for years in some sections of Canada.

BEEF RINGS. These rings are not, as the name might indicate, "trusts" for the control of the production and sale of beef, but are groups of farmers who co-operate to supply their tables with fresh meat during the summer. The ring is usually composed of sixteen, twenty or twenty-four members, although sometimes as many as forty are enrolled. Each member agrees to supply one beef animal during the summer, and in order to give plenty of time for preparation, the members draw lots the previous winter to determine the order in which they shall contribute animals. After the drawing, members may exchange numbers if they find it mutually advantageous. Two small families may combine for one share.

THE ANIMAL. The regulations usually provide that each member shall supply a steer or heifer under 3 years old, sound, healthy and in good condition, dressing from 400 to 500 pounds of beef, and grain-fed for at least six weeks previous to killing. If an animal is not up to the standard it may be rejected, and the owner compelled to supply another, or it may be accepted at a lower valuation. The decision in such cases is left to the secretary or a duly appointed committee of inspection.

KILLING AND DISTRIBUTION. A butcher is employed to kill and cut up the animals, the owner retaining the head, heart, fat and hide. The amount paid for killing and cutting up a beast is usually $2. to $2.50, with an extra dollar if the butcher makes delivery, which is not a general practice. Of course it is not necessary to employ a professional butcher, but a man is required who can do the work neatly and well, and cut up the carcass along the usual lines and in the same way each time. The butcher provides a hook for each member and hangs thereon the portion for each family as the animal is cut up. Each member should have two meat bags with his name on, so that one of them may always be at the butcher shop ready to receive the weekly portion. In the case of one rings each family gets only one piece; in others a good piece of the hind quarter and an inferior piece of the fore quarter or vice versa; in still others a member gets a boiling piece, a roast and a piece of steak each week. The various cuts are numbered, and an accurate record is kept by the butcher of the quality and weight of beef received by each member. In this way it is possible to arrange for each family to receive approximately the same weight of meat, and the same proportion of valuable and cheap cuts during the season. At the end of the summer the secretary of the organization furnishes each member with a statement of the year's operations, compiled from the butcher's records. As no two animals will have been of the same weight, small balances will have to change hands in order to equalize matters. A standard price is always agreed upon at the beginning of the season, say five or six cents per pound. Members who have received more than they supplied pay for the difference at the price agreed upon; those who have put in more than they have received are paid in the same way.

THE ADVANTAGES. Wherever it has been tried this system has given excellent results, as is shown by the fact that it is difficult to gain admission to the rings, as there is no inclination to drop out. The farmers who are particularly well pleased as the result of the system are the actual cost paying no more for the cheapest they could buy in retail. Under the operation of the beef ring each family gets its portion within a few hours after killing, so that there is little difficulty in keeping the meat fresh for nearly a week. The usual method is to use the steak and roast first and put the boiling piece into brine or a refrigerator until needed.

THE COUNTRY.
JANEVILLE.

We are having a spell of fine weather now for all kinds of work. The farmers are about all done seeding. Although the spring was very backward the crops are in about the usual time. The rain which we had in the spring, done a great deal of good to the hay and, and there is every prospect of a good crop of hay.

The roads are very good now, although there is some places which need repairing badly. During the spring the road opposite the Presbyterian Church was almost impassable and something ought to be done to improve it.

The salmon are not very plentiful and no good catches have been made yet. We hear that there has been some good catches in the lower end of the county.

The lobster fishing is about done for this season, and the traps are being brought ashore. The lobsters have been more plentiful this year than for many past years.

Wm. O'Brien has moved his rotary saw mill to Tabusiac where he is to saw for the Tracadie Lumber Co. The village seems quite deserted without the mill-crowd. We hope Mr. O'Brien will have no difficulty in getting a crowd.

A very serious accident occurred on the railroad one day last week which resulted in one death. As the train was pulling into the station a rabbit, which was in a great hurry, went to cross the track ahead of the train but was not quite quick enough and was killed. Several cows were killed along the line last week also. The Caraque train is beginning to become famous for its speed; it is only recently that it could overtake and kill rabbits.

Mr. and Mrs. Havelock Johnston left last week with family for Tabusiac.

Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Ritchie of New Brandon visited Janeville last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Scott spent Thursday last in Bathurst.

Mr. John McCarty of Canobie visited Janeville on Wednesday last.

Mr. Albert Ellis spent last Wednesday in Bathurst.

McLean's Vegetable Worm Syrup—is the genuine—is the original—is the best.

Miss Rose Peterson, Parkdale Tennis Club, Chippewa, experience advises all young girls who have pains and sickness peculiar to their sex, to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many beautiful young girls develop into worn, listless and feeble women? It is a sad fact that no woman is exempt from physical weakness and general pain and young girls, just budding into womanhood should be carefully guided physically as well as mentally.

If you know of any young lady who is sick, and needs motherly advice, ask her to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., who will give her advice free, from a source of knowledge which is unequalled in the country. Do not hesitate about stating details which one may not like to talk about, and which are essential for a full understanding of the case.

Miss Hannah E. Mershon, Collingswood, N. J., says:

"I thought I would write and tell you that, by following your kind advice, I feel like a new person. I was always thin and delicate, and so weak that I could hardly do anything. Menstruation was irregular."

"I tried a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and began to feel better right away. I continued its use, and am now well and strong, and menstruate regularly. I cannot say enough for what your medicine did for me."

How Mrs. Pinkham Helped Fannie Kumpke.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it is my duty to write and tell you of the benefit I have derived from your advice and the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The pains in my back and womb have all left me, and my menstrual trouble is corrected. I am very thankful for the good advice you gave me, and I shall recommend your medicine to all who suffer from female weakness." —Miss FANNIE KUMPE, 1922 Chester St., Little Rock, Ark. (Dec. 16, 1900.)

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will cure any woman in the land who suffers from womb troubles, inflammation of the ovaries, kidney troubles, nervous excitability, nervous prostration, and all forms of woman's special ills.

$5000 FORFEIT If we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness. Lydia E. Pinkham Med. Co., Lynn, Mass.

A FLOURISHING BUSINESS

A prominent actor tells this story about two brother players and their experiences in a Maine temperance town. Feeling in need of alcoholic refreshment, they made application at the local drug stores, but were told that stimulants were sold only in cases of snake bite. The actors had about decided to content themselves with such refreshment as the town provided, when they heard that a certain resident, owned a rattlesnake which he kept as a pet. Securing his address, they called on him, and offered to hire his snake for use in some scientific experiments. "Nothing doing," answered the owner; "he's booked solid for four months ahead."—Harper's Weekly.

YOU HAVE INDIGESTION

And conclude of course that the stomach is at fault. So it is, but there is a cause away back of the stomach that must be reached before the stomach can be made to do its work. The cause is nerve disturbance or nerve debility. First get the nerves in shape, and then the stomach will be right also. Ferrozine has accomplished this for thousands of people whose digestion was completely gone. Ferrozine is food for the nerves and works wonders in stomach trouble. Where digestion, appetite and assimilation are faulty just try Ferrozine. It cures thoroughly. Price 50c at druggists.

FOR SALE BY

NEWCASTLE DRUG STORE

F. R. DALTON, PROPRIETOR.

RECEIVED.

A large stock of Paris Green, Kno-Bug, Cow Ease, Kno-Bug Sifters, and Cow Ease Sprayers.

These are essential articles at this time of the season, and it is to your advantage to buy them good, as it takes just as much time to put on poor fly poison as it does the best.

We guarantee ours to be pure and fresh, and if you purchase from us you will be perfectly satisfied with the results obtained from them.

JNO. FERGUSON,
LOUNSBURY BLOCK.

SPECIAL BARGAINS
IN SOME LINES

MOLASSES

The new stock of choice Porto Rico Molasses has arrived and as our order was booked early we are able to sell cheaper than those who waited expecting lower prices as molasses advanced in price instead of dropping. We have it by the gallon or in barrels, tierces and puncheons and will sell cheap in any case. Ask for our prices before buying elsewhere.

CROCKERYWARE.

In sorting up our stock of dishes we found a number of odd pieces which we will sell at

HALF PRICE TO CLEAR

These are all in good condition and at present prices are exceptionally good value.
