Rev. A. F. Carr Honored.

The Degree of D. D. Conferred on Him

By Pine Hill Theological College:

At the closing exercises of Pine Hill Theological College, Halifax, last week, the Rev. A. F. Carr, Pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was one of a number of clergymen who received the degree of Doctor of Divinity, as we mentioned in these columns last week.

Mr. Carr has rendered valuable services to his church and this mark of recognition of his faithful work is well merited.

He has been engaged in the active work of the ministry for the past thirty three years, the last fifteen of which being spent in Campbellton. The duties devolving upon him as Pastor of one of the largest, if not the largest, congregations in the Presbytery of Miramichi have been faithfully and acceptably performed and he is highly esteemed by his congregation as well as the citizens generally who appreciate keenly the honor conferred upon him by his Alma Mater.

At the close of the prayer meeting last evening, which happened to be a union meeting, in the Presbyterian Church, an interesting event took place. After J. B. McKenzie had been elected Chairman and Mr. A. G. Adams, Secretary, and the object of the gathering explained, Mr. D. C. Firth read the following address and presented Dr. Carr with a handsome pulpit gown.

To Rev. Arthur F. Carr D. D., Pastor of Saint Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellton, Reverend and Dear Sir:— We, the members and adherents of your congregation, on the occasion of the degree of Doctor of Divinity having been conferred upon you, desire to tender you our sincere congratulations upon the well merited honour.

It is gratifying to us to learn that your long and faithful service in the Master's Vineyard, the zeal and devotion which characterized your ministry, together with the valuable aid and assistance which you have rendered towards the advancement of the Church have been signally recognized by your brethren.

We desire to embrace this opportunity of giving expression to our appreciation of you as our pastor, and of our high esteem and regard for you personally. During the many years you have been placed over this congregation, you have at all times manifested a lively interest in the temporal, as well as the spiritual, welfare of your people, you have been faithful and fearless in proclaiming the Gospel truth and earnest in your efforts, both by precept and example, in leading us in the way of salvation.

We ask you to accept the accompanying pulpit gown, which though of little value in itself, yet may serve as a fitting token of our appreciation of that honour which has been conferred upon you.

To Mrs. Carr and family, who are sharers with yourself in this honour, we desire also to extend our hearty congratulations and our sincere wishes for their future happiness.

Signed on behalf of the Congregation
J. Bradshaw McKenzie
D. C. Firth, Clerk of Session.

Chairman of Trustees
Campbellton, 4th May, 1904.

Doctor Carr and Mr. Firth then retired to the vestry and in a few minutes the Doctor returned clad in his new gown, the congregation rising to receive him.

The Rev. Doctor then made a feeling reply to the address and spoke of the gratification he felt at this reception by his people. He referred to his long service in the ministry but the happiest years of his life were those spent in Campbellton. He had always found tangible evidence of the unfailing loyalty of his congregation. He would wear the gown in his pulpit ministrations as long as he was in Campbellton. He realized that the larger portion of his ministerial career was behind him, life at longest being short in which to work, but he would make the most of the future, being true to traditions of the past and faithful to responsibilities.

Mr. J. T. Reid then read the following:—

Whereas the Quarterly Official Board of the Methodist Church, Campbellton has learned that the degree of Doctor of Divinity has been conferred upon the Rev. A. F. Carr, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Campbellton, by Pine Hill Theological College, Halifax; and Whereas, the said Rev. A. F. Carr has been engaged in the active work of the ministry for the past 33 years, the last 15 of which he has laboured in Campbellton with much acceptance generally and with a marked degree of zeal and energy for the extension of the Master's Kingdom;

Be it therefore Resolved, That this Board do hereby express its feeling of pleasure and satisfaction in this important event in the life of our esteemed Brother and do also hereby extend to him our most hearty sincere congratulations, with the hope that God in his own wise way will continue to bless and honor him in his labours among our co-workers of the Presbyterian denomination and that he may long be spared to influence both them and us to lives of greater usefulness and self-sacrifice in the service of our common Lord and Master, Jesus Christ.

Doctor Carr made a suitable reply, touching upon the good feeling existing between the two congregations, and giving expression to the feeling of pleasure called Interesting Shoe Items For Men, Women and Children.

Our new Spring Styles of Men's Woman's and Children's Shoes are the acme of perfection. We have spared neither pains or expense to give to our trade absolutely the best shoes on the market, and we guarantee these shoes to be superior not alone in Style but in comfort and durability to most shoes selling at higher prices. We call particular attention to our "Empress" Shoe for Women, and "King" Shoes for Men, these are strictly high-class bench made shoes, and there is nothing better made in Canada or the United States.

For medium Class goods the McCready shoe is the leader of them all. From the cheapest pegged or McKay Sewed to the genuine Goodyear welted shoes there is no line of goods that can compare with them at the price. We are sole Campbellton agents for "Empress" Shoe for Women, "King" shoe for Men and "McCready" shoes for the masses, every pair guaranteed or money cheerfully refunded if not found satisfactory.

forth by the reading of the resolution.

Rev. Geo. A. Leck of Dalhousie in a happy manner congratulated Doctor Carr on the honor he had received, and was followed by Rev. J. M. McLeod, Clerk of the Presbytery of Miramichi. He (Mr. McLeod) said that there was no man in the Presbyterian ministry of the Maritime Provinces more worthy of the honor of D. D. than the Pastor of St. Andrew's, and he extended the felicitations and congratulations of the Presbytery with the intimation that something more formal would be done at the next meeting of that body.

After an address by Rev. H. R. Ramsay of Matapedia, the proceedings closed.

To Bridge the Restigouche

The bill introduced by Mr. Marcell to incorporate the International Railway Bridge Co. of New Brunswick has been unanimously adopted by the Railway Committee with amendments inserted by Mr. Marcell to protect local interest, and reported to the House.

The amendments provide for the erection of a combined railway and highway bridge over the Restigouche River between Mission Point and Campbellton instead of a railway or railway and highway bridge as first provided for by the company. The second amendment gives proper representation to the people of Bonaventure and Restigouche Counties on the Board of Directors. The representatives chosen for Bonaventure are Rev. Jacob Gagne, former parish priest of Maria, one of the most progressive citizens of the county, who has taken a deep interest in this matter, Mr. Robert Noble, Mayor of the Townships of Restigouche and Mr. Fred W. Fraser, of the Townships of Maria. At Mr. Reid's suggestion the representatives for Restigouche County are Messrs Kilgour Shives and David Richards, two of the most enterprising men of that region.

Mr. Marcell in defending the bill before the Committee declared that this undertaking was one of the most important for that district and if the bridge was built it would place the Gaspé Peninsula in direct communication with New Brunswick and the American markets besides being of immense advantage to the farmers to reach Campbellton.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

WITH this issue EVENTS comes under the control of a new Management and a new Editor will endeavour from week to week to give expression of the best sentiment and thought which will tend to the advancement of this glorious town and country which in future is to be ours by adoption. We sincerely trust that our humble efforts for the promotion of its best interests will be acceptable to our readers and that we will have your assistance and support. We assure you that if we err it will be by error of judgment, not by heart.

In coming before you as Editor of EVENTS it is not as a total stranger, for many of its readers know of the Advocate and its work, the director of which we have been for the past six years. Although a stranger in these parts, we hope to soon know you all and trust that our acquaintance will be mutually pleasant.

A few words about EVENTS. It is not our intention to make any radical change in its appearance, but we hope by close application to business to brighten up its local and news columns, not forgetting its literary side, which will always receive our careful attention and only those articles which are clean and bright will be permitted to appear. We will endeavour to make a specialty of local news. As this is an age of the great city daily it is to its local news that the county weekly must look to create an interest in its pages.

As in the past all subscriptions must be paid in Advance and subscribers not remitting at the expiration of their time will be promptly cut from our list.

To our advertising and job printing patrons we wish to say that you will ever find us willing and anxious to do all in our power to please and aid you. EVENTS has a circulation which cannot help but make it extremely valuable to its advertising patrons and its rates are very reasonable, in fact are below the average of New Brunswick weekly papers with much smaller circulations. During the summer months efforts will be made to greatly increase our list of readers.

In our job printing department we have the best equipment in Northern New Brunswick for the turning out of the very latest in office stationery and general commercial printing. This is the department in which we take most pride and we are sure we can satisfy the most exacting taste if you will but let us try.

We trust that our business relations will be pleasant and that in our work we will have the aid and support of the citizens generally, for we assure you that one individual, even though he be an Editor, cannot do much unless he is backed up by the citizens.

LAST week a man was hung in Canada for murder, and another man was sentenced to death for the same offence. Both endeavoured to minimize the enormity of their crimes by pleading that they were under the influence of strong drink. The point need not be urged further, even though murder is sometimes committed by men and women who are sober.—Ex.

Will There be War?

Lumbermen and the Stumpage Question.

Reports to-day are that there is to be war between the lumbermen and the provincial government over the new stumpage regulations. The lumbermen individually and through their association vigorously protested against some of the proposed increases. Particularly did they object to the new mileage rate of $4 per mile, and this is now to be the bone of contention. The government declined to make any concession, and a few days before the legislature closed secured a ratification of the new rates, which have, therefore, become law.

It is learned that the lumbermen have determined to continue the fight and that all, or practically all, the largest operators have agreed not to pay the increased mileage unless forced so to do in the courts.

The lumbermen are not altogether satisfied with the stumpage increases. They do not object to the increase as regards spruce, but say the increase on other lines were hardly justified, but they are submitting to these and will make their fight only on the mileage question.

A prominent operator, talking with the Globe this morning, said he did not know what their legal rights were, or whether they could successfully oppose the increase, but it was an unjustifiable advance and their opposition would show the government that the lumbermen are united on the question. —Globe.

The Upsalquitch Road.

Dear Editor,

Be kind enough to allow space in your paper, not to cause any great argument, but to attract the attention of our Great Road Supervisor; that after the long cold winter it is time that he awoke from slumbers and attend to his duties, if it be his duty to get out over the road at the right time of the year and attend to the needs of his loyal supporters, and see the culverts gorged up and the brooks forcing their way through the dump of the great highway, so called, and tearing it out into the hay fields and making it difficult to pass other places. The road is forced through hay fields where the owners get not a cent for their improvements. Places at this time of the year are just a bog where horses go down till their bodies bring them up. At this time we see nothing of our great supervisor till everything is dried up on the road or trail, then he might show up and perhaps report, if he sees fit, that this part of the road is not too bad. Then the Honorable Minister of Public Works might think that we could do for another year, and so we have been for 22 years paying and working on 7 or 8 miles trying to get a road and not much further ahead and if these parties stop us from going through their hay fields we are as if we had no road at any time. What grand encouragement to get the place colonized, and keep the people in this country. How did they think on such a scheme or where is our Great Road Supervisor to make reports, or is it just a title bestowed on him? It must be just a title of honour and he just takes his trip in dry weather for the good of his health. The thought of this almost makes us think we were in Siberia or St. Helena. We can't wonder at some trying to escape to the States.

The road referred to is on the south side of the main river from Upsalquitch up.

Dogfish Enquiry

The Dominion Government Asked to give a Bounty for their Destruction

Ottawa, May 3.—Mr. Marais, Commissioner with Prof. Prince in the dogfish enquiry recently prosecuted in Baie des Chaleurs is here. The fishermen ask that the Government cruiser be instructed to destroy the fish, and ask a bounty of 34 cents per head on all fish caught. Mr. Marais thinks half that amount should be sufficient. Gloucester fishermen say they lost forty thousand dollars last year by dogfish. One great difficulty arises from the fact that the fishermen throw back the impregnated fish into the water to breed instead of destroying them while young.

The town has many fire traps, but our attention was called to several of a dangerous type on the north side of Water Street, nearly opposite Wran's Drug Store. The fire wards won't do their duty apparently, and we know of one course as is a remedy—the Council must appoint a special man to examine the condition of many buildings within the town limits.

Probably Boon Island would be but little known outside of New Hampshire, Maine and Massachusetts if it were not for the fact that the island is the starting point of the Chain An trail course. Perhaps it would be more proper to call the island the northern terminal, but at any rate Boon Island gains a mention in this way every time a new battleship or cruiser is tried off this coast, as all those not built on the Pacific always are.

BY MRS. ALEXANDER

Author of "Beaton's Bargain," "His Perfect Trust,"
"By Another Name," "Her Hea's Idol,"
"Half a Truth," "His Rival."

Could it have been because she knew that she and her little girl were unprovided for, and that she did not like being a burden on a husband? Winton was fairly well off, and not likely to let such an obstacle stand in the way of his own or her happiness. Could it be any hesitation about leaving her (Nora) alone, with some mere hired stranger for a companion? No, Helen was too sensible for such an overstrained sense of duty or friendship. Then, as she gazed into the red mass which glowed in the grate, memory unraveled her long record of past benefits and generous acts. The quick, steady kindness, which had won her childish heart, in spite of her natural prejudice against a step-mother, the perpetual shield she interposed between the irritable, exacting, tyrannical father and his daughter. Now that Nora was a woman—a thoughtful, observant woman—how many instances of her step-mother's patience, her care, for every one's comfort, her entire self-forgetfulness, came back to her mind from dim, bygone days. Her own vague wonder that Helen never wanted to go anywhere, never sought release from the wearying attendance on her querulous, suspicious, invalid husband, her undefined impression that somehow life was over for her young step-mother—that she had thought for others, what would she herself have had, had she been reduced to a single-handed struggle with such difficulties as existence would have presented itself without Helen? How much of youth and beauty have enjoyed? How much of education, or pleasure, or freedom from the stunting effect of care too heavy for her young years? Yes! She saw it all clearly. Helen had been more than a mother to her, for she had no claim to such tender, discriminating care. "And if I can repay her I will," thought Nora, her heart glowing warm and strong. "Nothing shall stand between me and a woman to whom I owe so much. Thank God! she is brighter and stronger now than I ever remember her. I do hope she will grow up a tender, loving daughter! She has a dash of my father's temper! But why—why did Helen send Mark Winton away? I can fancy their whole story—growing into love with each other, almost from their school days—then his going away to seek his fortune, some misunderstanding separating them probably. Helen, left a penniless orphan, with no hope in the future, tempted by the chance of a settled home with my father. It is a sad enough story, and I suppose a common one. Well, she shall have peace now if I can secure it. But—why did she send Mark Winton away? I am sure she did not ask her; I must not see intrusive. Will she ever tell me?"

That evening Nora was more than usually kind and cheerful; she insisted on Mrs. L'Estrange lying down where her eyes were shaded from the light, and she read aloud from a picturesque book of travels.

When bed-time came and they parted for the night, Mrs. L'Estrange put her arm around Nora, and kissing her gently, said:

"You are a good dear daughter, and I should say younger sister, to me; you made my life happier than I ever expected it to be. She went quickly upstairs, leaving Nora touched and surprised, for neither were demonstrative women and rarely exchanged caresses.

The days went by, however, and Mrs. L'Estrange did not show any inclination to tell Nora the story she had promised; still, her step-daughter, waited with lovingly suppressed curiosity, and tidings reached them that Winton had gone as far as Florence, where some Indian friends outward bound to Bombay, and had passed through London without calling to see them.

Meantime, Lady Dorrington flattered herself that her plans were maturing successfully. The day after Mrs. Ruthven had been installed in the principal guest-chamber at Chadworth, Marsden arrived from town, and made himself charmingly agreeable to every one, especially to Mrs. Ruthven. The pretty little widow visibly revived after his arrival, and lost something of the pained, strained look in her eyes, which had given Lady Dorrington such uneasiness.

"You ought to go out more, my dear Mrs. Ruthven," she said, as that lady was hiding her hostess good-night. "There are lots of pretty drives about, and I have a capital pair of ponies."

"To say nothing of an excellent character, in the shape of an unworthy brother. Pray allow me to show you the neighborhood. I am for the remainder of their drive. The morning rose bright and clear, but the projected excursion never came off. A letter from his lawyer arrived in the forenoon for Marsden, and when he ought to have been entertaining Mrs. Ruthven at a tete-a-tete luncheon, he was steaming away to London.

Marsden's summons was peremptory. He could only send a message of farewell to Mrs. Ruthven, who usually breakfasted in her own room, and assure his sister that he should return the first moment he could. With this glimmer of hope she was forced to be content.

"If he finds anything more interesting or amusing than near London, we shall see no more of him, for many a day. I know what Clifford is," said Lady Dorrington to her husband. "I begin to suspect he does not intend to marry Mrs. Ruthven, or matters would not drag as they do."

"Then he is a bit of a black-guard, though he is your brother; every one believes he is paying his respects to her. I do not see how they could think otherwise; and he is bound to give her the option; indeed."

"Nonsense, Lord Dorrington; my brother is no worse than other men, tried by your standard; there are few who, at one time or another, do not deserve the very coarse appellation you are pleased to confer on Clifford. Still, I wish he had more sense and taste; Mrs. Ruthven is a very charming woman in my opinion."

"And if mine, too; why, it is extraordinary luck to find money and shot at all a bad man of business, who gets Mrs. Ruthven with a lucky beggar—a deuced lucky beggar!"

"Yes, Dorrington! I believe you are capable of giving me a cup of 'cold poison,' and trying your own luck in that quarter!" cried his wife, laughing. "However, all I care for is, to see her safely married to my brother."

"Yes; it would be a capital thing for him. I am not so sure how it would answer for her. Marsden would never be constant to any woman."

"You judge him severely; at any rate, Mrs. Ruthven is a woman of the world, and accustomed to men who are not saints; she has too much sense to be ferociously jealous."

"Don't be too sure; I fancy she is about as far gone after your brother as a woman can be. I saw that long ago; and I am a tolerably shrewd observer."

"You dear old thing! you are not blinder than your neighbors, certainly. I shall write away day, to be ambitious. I should not like to be second to any one."

The evening of the day on which Lord and Lady Dorrington held their conversation, Mrs. L'Estrange and Nora had settled themselves, one to her needle-work, the other to a new book. The day had been wet and stormy, in spite of which they had been obliged to go through a long afternoon of shopping, chiefly commissions for friends at Oldbridge, and both were glad to rest.

Mrs. L'Estrange's spirits recovered from the fit of depression which had exercised Nora's imagination a week before, and had, indeed, been more quietly than usual, since she had had a letter with a foreign stamp, which Nora shrewdly suspected came from Winton.

"What a little dreamy that evening, and found it difficult to fix her mind on what she was doing. 'I suppose we shall have rain and fog, now that the fine weather has broken up. I really think I should prefer going to town, in rain and storm,' she said, laying down her book, 'I feel quite tired out.'

"Yes," said Mrs. L'Estrange, when she had counted some stitches; "but then there are fewer resources than in town. Have you not turned into a picture-gallery, and find summer or autumnal sunshine for a shining business?"

"Mr. Marsden announced the exact time of his coming to town, on business," was his vague explanation. "Arrived yesterday. Have been torn to pieces by lawyers all day, and am come to lay my mangled remains at your feet." He drew a chair to the cozy fireplace and spoke.

"And do you go back to-morrow?" asked Nora, who was roused and pleased by his sudden appearance. "To-morrow? Not to-morrow, nor to-morrow!" cried Marsden. "It is dull at Chadworth, desperately dull. The hunting no great thing, the shooting no better; but the house is crammed with bucolic chums of that excellent fellow Dorrington, and, in short, here I am, and here I shall stay."

"Lady Dorrington will be very vexed. I had a letter from her yesterday, saying how much better everything went since you had joined them."

"I am glad she knows my value." "And how is Mrs. Ruthven?" returned Nora. "Oh! quite well and blooming. She is fast recovering her misfortunes."

"Captain Shirley was here on Sunday," remarked Mrs. L'Estrange, "and was saying he had never seen her look so ill and depressed since he had known her."

"Shirley? How did that fellow come to call upon you?" asked Marsden. "I don't know why it is, but I can't stand Shirley," he added thoughtfully. "And Winton, where is he?"

"In Florence." "Florence? He is not the sort of man I should imagine would like Florence."

"I don't think he does," said Nora. "He went there to get some Indian friends so far on their way."

"I did not think he would have been so ready to leave London just now," and he gave an expressive glance to Mrs. L'Estrange which she did not see, but Nora did. Then he asked for Bea, and talked of the child in terms that delighted the mother.

Nora thought Marsden had never seemed so nice and sympathetic. He was quieter and graver than usual, and she felt the relief his presence brought to the monotony of her thoughts most welcome. At length, with apologies for having kept them up so late, he bid them good-night, and drove straight back to his hotel without even an attempt to find if there was any one at his club to play a game of cards or billiards with him.

His spirit's lord sat lightly on his throne. Marsden was little given to think, or trouble himself about the future, but with all his ally carelessness, the last year had been one of irritating anxiety, now he had contrived to clear himself. He could defy Mrs. Ruthven, her unexcused solicitors, and here watchful led-captain Shirley. He owed her nothing. A little love-making, more or less did not count. He was perfectly free to shake her off if he chose, and he did choose. Good heavens! could she have the fresh, natural, girlish elegance of Nora L'Estrange. The arch, delicate animation of the one, the studied grace, the veiled yet perceptible passion of the other. And Nora had been unaffectedly glad to see him. How sweet the candid welcome of her eyes, how unconscious her frank, gracious pleasure. Yes, it would be his delightful lot to waste to their intercourse. Heavens! how lovely those eyes of hers would be with the light of love beaming from their basal depths. Then she would be content to wait, with him, till the Eve-aleigh estates were free from all incumbrances before the laurels of his would never be constant to any woman.

"You judge him severely; at any rate, Mrs. Ruthven is a woman of the world, and accustomed to men who are not saints; she has too much sense to be ferociously jealous."

"Don't be too sure; I fancy she is about as far gone after your brother as a woman can be. I saw that long ago; and I am a tolerably shrewd observer."

Japanese Victory

Czar's Troups Overmatched and Forced to Retreat

Both Sides Loose Heavily in Battle Sunday

Tokio, May 2, 11 a. m.—The Russians were forced to abandon Antung yesterday. They burned the town and retreated to Feng Huang Cheng. The Japanese now control the estuary of the Yalu.

KAMPANG TSE, Manchuria, April 30.—The first battle of the war is persistently reported to have occurred on the Yalu river. Sixteen thousand Japanese crossed the stream Thursday and attacked thirty thousand Russians, who were strongly fortified. It is reported this morning that the Japanese were reinforced and that the battle continued. The Japanese sharpshooters killed many Russian officers whose uniforms were conspicuous.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Reports have reached the state department, the source of which the Russians do not care to divulge, to the effect that a great battle has been fought on the Yalu river, resulting in a complete Japanese victory. Details are unobtainable.

Tokio, May 2.—A supplementary report from Gen. Kurki, evening Sunday's fighting says: "The Russians made two stands. The army's strength included all of the third division, two regiments of the sixth division, one cavalry brigade and about 20 quick firing and eight machine guns. We have taken 23 quick-firing guns, many rifles, ammunition, over 20 officers and many non-commissioned officers and men prisoners. I am informed that Major Koshitskiy, commander of the third East Siberian rifle brigade, and Lieut. General Sevalch, commander of the second Siberian army corps, were wounded. Our casualties were about 700. The Russians lost over 800 men."

Tokio, May 2, 2 p. m.—Advices received here state that the twelfth division of the Japanese army forced a crossing of the Yalu River today (Sunday) before dawn Saturday morning. The second pontoon bridge across the river near Wujia was completed at 8 o'clock Saturday night, and the Imperial Guards of the second division crossed during the night. The Russians left bank has been turned and a general attack began at dawn today (Sunday) nearly all the Japanese batteries on the south bank of the river and a flotilla of gunboats co-operating with the army. The Japanese have the advantage of positions and numbers, and are confident of routing the enemy.

TOKIO May 1, 2 p. m.—Advices from the front say that Japanese forces began an attack on the Russians on the Yalu River last Tuesday. The battle was continued Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. A decisive struggle is anticipated today (Sunday). On Thursday the Japanese effected a crossing of the Yalu and secured a lodgment on the right bank of the river. The fighting Saturday was at long range and there was a duel with heavy guns across the river.

LONDON, May 2.—A despatch to the Central News from Seoul says that the Japanese have crossed the Yalu river and are occupying the Russian lines at Chai Tien, the Russians fell back in an engagement between Japanese warships on the Yalu and Russian shore batteries. It reads as follows:

"The Captain of the gunboat Maya reports that a flotilla consisting of the gunboats Maya and Uji and some torpedo boats ascended the Yalu May 1 and attacked the Russian batteries. The latter silenced the enemy after a severe engagement lasting thirty minutes, and the flotilla returned to Yonampo. There were no casualties."

"Our armed launches reached Antung in the same morning and repulsed the enemy's launches and grinders after thirty minutes of sharp fighting. Fire was rising from the town, and a naive said that the enemy fled from Antung after setting fire to it."

Danger of living with Consumptives

Is real danger because the sputum of affected persons diffuses itself through the air and finds lodgment in the systems of others. If exposed to consumption use the most efficient germicide known. No case of Catarrh can withstand Catarrhoxone which cures this loathsome disease thoroughly. Cold in the head is cured in a few minutes, and bronchitis, asthma and lung trouble are cured to suit cured if Catarrhoxone is employed. I don't know any remedy so good for Catarrh and bronchitis as Catarrhoxone, writes N. T. Eaton of Knowlton. "I cured me after years of suffering and saved me from consumption. Two months' treatment $1.00; trial size 25c."

Schooner Wrecked
At Halifax—Captain and Crew Perish

Halifax, N. S. April 30.—The Schooner Onora, twenty one days out from Porto Rico, bound to Halifax, was wrecked off Duncan's Cove, 16 miles from this city, last night, and all on board were lost. The wind was light but a heavy sea was rolling when she struck the reef. It is thought the sea must have carried the vessel further toward the shore than the officer thought as the reef he struck was very close. The night was intensely dark, otherwise those on board might have saved themselves. When the steamer Whitney reached the wrecked vessel to-day, she was standing on the ledge with the deck out of the water, but a little later she lurched and her after deck sunk. Not a soul was visible. It was impossible to board her. A ship's boat was seen dashing about the ledges and two bodies were washed ashore. It is surmised that the crew finding the vessel filling with seawater, landed the boat, but the heavy seas smashed it against the rocks and all perished. The crew consisted of Captain John Atkinson, New Brunswick

Mrs. Anderson, Jacksonville, Fla., daughter of Recorder of Deeds, West, who witnessed her signature to the following letter, praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. PINKHAM:—There are but few wives and mothers who have not at times endured agonies and such pain as only women know. I wish much to express my value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a remarkable medicine, different in action from any I ever knew and thoroughly reliable. I have seen many cases where women doctored for years without permanent benefit, who were cured in less than three months after taking your Vegetable Compound, while others who were chronic and incurable cases out cured, happy, and in perfect health after a thorough treatment with this medicine. I have never used it myself without gaining great benefit. A few doses restores my strength and appetite, and tones up the entire system. Your medicine has been tried and found true, hence I fully endorse it."

—Mrs. E. A. ANDERSON, 225 Washington St., Jacksonville, Fla.—$2000 worth of some medicine for women not to be named.

No other medicine for women has received such widespread and magnified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures and testimonials. Refuse to buy any substitute.

We Will Buy

A 50c. Bottle of Liquezone and Give it to You to Try.

Liquezone is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. It is the only way to cure the cause of any germ disease. It is also a vitalizing tonic with which no other product can compare. It is now in America, and millions who used it don't know it. For that reason, we make this remarkable offer. We will buy the bottle and give it to you if you use it. We will do this gladly to let the product itself show you what it can do for the human body in life.

We Paid $100,000

For the vaccine which is Liquezone—the highest price ever paid for similar vaccine to any scientific discovery. We have since after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, in this country and others. We paid it because Liquezone does what all the skill in the world cannot do without it. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquezone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

Not Medicine

Liquezone is the result of a process which, for more than 20 years, has been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. Its virtues are derived solely from gases, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and

"Of all the words ever spoken in this one's most curious," said Red Saunders, "and one of the curtiest things in it is that I think it's queer. Why should I, now? What puts it in to our heads that affairs ought to go so and so when they never do anything of the sort? Take any book you read or any story a man tells you. It runs along about how Mr. Smith made up his mind to do this or that and proceeded to do it. And that never happened. What Mr. Smith calls making up his mind is, when you come down to bed rock, nothing more nor less than what Mr. Smith pleasantly calls his mind dodging to cover under pressure of circumstances. That's straight. Lady Luck comes for Mr. Smith's mind, swinging both hands. She gives it a stem winder on the ear, lams it for keeps on the smeller, chugs it one in the short ribs, drives right and left in to its stummock, and Mr. Smith's mind breaks for cover; then Mr. Smith tells his wife that he's made up his mind—be, mind you! Wouldn't that stun you?"—McClure's.

Millstream.

A number of our boys started to drive on the Millstream Monday. Among them were Messrs. LeAndor, Hadley and Geo. Muir. Mr. Charles Peterson has recently made the purchase of a young horse from Mr. Gilbert Barbour of Dunlop. Rumor seems to hint that another of the Dunlop boys intends buying a horse. Will it be a traveller?

James Melanson, Esq. of Nigadoo is busily engaged removing his personal property to the place of his birth, the residence of the late Thos. Melanson, Bathurst Village which he has recently purchased. His farm in Nigadoo was bought by Mr. Marol J. Roy, who, for some time has been in Ontario, not by Frances J. Roy, as rumor seems to say, and who is a cousin of the purchaser of the above mentioned property.

Miss Eva Ward of Middle River was visiting friends here, returned home the 16th inst.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Donnet of Dunlop have removed to Beresford where they intend cooking for the crowd of about thirty men from the southern part of the province who are going to saw the lumber for the Sumner Co.

Mr. J. Hadley is loading cars with the necessary lumber, etc., for the building or improvement of the Railway Station at Petit Rocher.

A Farmer cured of Rheumatism.

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely and if not satisfied after using it he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Rayer of Paterson Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, 'give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I want it in the house all the time for it cured me.' For sale by A. McG. McDonald."

Carlton

I think it will interest the numerous readers of the Events in interesting in its valuable columns the latest news of our locality.

Since a few weeks our farmers have been busy hauling their potatoes to the R. R. Station where a very good price was paid for them; about seven thousand dollars have been paid for same in our vicinity.

When Doctors Were Slaves.

Romans of means had physicians in their own houses. These men were slaves, for, odd as it seems, many Roman slaves were accomplished in literature, art and science. At one time the selling price of a slave doctor was about the equivalent of $300 in our money.

After the time of Julius Caesar, who encouraged physicians, the art began to "lift its head" in Rome, and later men of character and position, though generally foreigners, entered the profession. Some of them accumulated large fortunes, and one made the equivalent of at least $500,000 in a few years.

Saratoga.

In a volume of memoirs it is told that on the first council day after Lord Derby's elevation to the peerhood Greville showed his disapproval by not appearing in his place as clerk. Some body asked Lord Derby whether he had noticed Greville's absence, and Lord Derby replied, with a face of benevolent apology: "No, really! You know, I am the most inattentive fellow in the world about these things. I never notice, when I ring the bell, whether John or Thomas answers it."

GLOUCESTER COUNTY.

BATHURST NEWS

A hot wave is passing over here today. The heat is very intense with a soft warm breeze blowing from the South.

Eighteen years ago to day, May 5th, the Catholic Church in the Village was struck by lightning and damaged to the extent of several thousand dollars.

The ice all cleared out from the Nesqueh and Tetagouche channels on May and this year being only about five days later than last year.

Fresh lobsters were peddled through town and Village on Monday afternoon and were readily disposed of at five and ten cents each. The first catches are reported as being more satisfactory than last year. We hope to hear that the catches continue good.

A Petit Rocher fisherman took eight barrels of fresh herring to Newcastle on Tuesday morning's freight where he expected to put them on the market at 25 cents per dozen. If his hopes were realized we judge he had a Klondyke.

Fresh clams are also being offered on our streets for sale and seem consistent with other lines of fish for bringing profit to the early bird who catches the worm.

Messrs Doull Bros., restaurant keepers, who were burnt out last fall on Water St. have secured space in the Boss building and expect shortly to be again before the public with their usual lines. They also propose running a good bakery's formerly.

Mr. Griffith, manager of the Royal Bank of Canada here, returned from a fortnight's vacation which he spent in New York and Boston.

There was a lively interest manifested in the potato business between the buyers here on Monday last with the beneficial result to the farmers that potatoes went up to $1.80 per barrel. To day the price dropped to $1.50, there being only one buyer in the field.

It is questionable where all the potatoes come from especially after last fall's report of the spuds. Our buyer has now bought up over forty car loads in the county since Feb'y and it would be a safe estimate to say that among other buyers at least thirty five more car loads were bought since the same date.

In connection with the potato traffic we have heard it mentioned that Mr. O. M. Melanson of Shediac was looking up a suitable site at Petit Rocher for location of a potato house with a capacity of holding from fifteen to twenty carloads. Mr. Melanson is an extensive dealer in this line and a large exporter to foreign markets. We hope it is a benefit to farmers to see the project go on.

It is understood here that the Blanchard Hotel at Carleton Place is offered for rent, the present proprietor Mr. Joseph Blanchard retiring from the business for a time owing to failing health. The property is said to be a valuable one and well worth taking over as money making proposition.

Baskets of fragrant smelling May flowers come from the Junction daily since Monday. Purchasers are always easy to find.

The mills are being fitted up and are expected to be in readiness for the 10th of May by which time it is likely all the large concerns will be underway with their season's cutting. Sumner & Co. have made very heavy repairs and have also added much new machinery to their mills at a cost reaching nearly ten thousand dollars. Their mill in the village and Millstream will commence sawing this week. The Gloucester trading company and Mr. F. Good, in who operates rotary mills have started operations for the summer.

Adams Burns & Co. tug boat the St. Lawrence was launched early this morning; shortly after being floated steam was raised and the boat was set in motion. The engineer started the whistle to give some signal but could not shut her down. The continuous screeching of the whistle was mistaken for a fire alarm from the direction of Adams Burns & Co. mill which caused a considerable number to turn out of their beds earlier than usual.

It is certainly noteworthy to mention that very favorable reports are coming from all the streams with regards to stream driving operations.

Mr. Fred Cole took his drive out of Armstrong's Brook into the main Tetagouche river. The Boss river drive is nearing the boom. Middle and Little River drivers are coming along nicely. The drives on the Nesqueh and tranches are doing splendid.

The water has been good from the start. The heavy drive on Millstream is being moved along rapidly and in general it is estimated that the drives will be of short duration.

Mr. John Young, M. P. P. of Tracadie, was in town this week and registered at the Wilber House.

Messrs T. M. Burns M. P. P. and N. A. Landry, barrister, were in Carleton last week a few days.

Mr. P. P. Morais of St. Paul, Gloucester Co. went to Ottawa last week on business in connection with the fishery enquiry held here a short time ago.

Post Prince of Ottawa gave a lengthy report which is now being prepared to be submitted to the minister.

A very old land mark passed away on Friday last by the death of Fabien Duquet who died aged 98 years. His funeral took place Sunday afternoon in the village.

Mr. O. Frenette who is laid off duty owing to ill health went to Moncton this morning to remain a few days.

A pleasant evening's entertainment was afforded the friends of Jeanie Burns recently.

Messrs E. Seeley, Jim Whalen L. W. B. Scovil and Lee Dickson were in town this week.

We understand that the Liquor License Commissioners refused the application of Martin Cormier, hotel keeper.

Mr. J. J. S. Hachey of the Village is brightening his store front with a coat of new paint.

The farmers are doing some ploughing. This much can at least be said of a few who live on the borders of our town. Mr. Joseph D. Duquet was noticed ploughing on Monday May and.

Mr. Henry Baldwin's flower garden has already produced some fine panicles.

Opera House dates to be remembered are May 25, 26, and 27th, June 1st and 17th and July 1st. Watch out for big attractions on these dates.

Mr. L. Shirer, manager here for Lounsbury & Co. keeps right abreast of the times. His business premises is conspicuous for its attractive display of advertising and the front of his ware house is much improved from the application of the painters brush with contrasting colors.

Miss Rita Wilber of this town has been chosen a candidate to oppose Miss Aggie Melanson in an election contest now going on in connection with a bazaar to be held in the Village early in the summer. We trust the friends of Miss Wilber as well as those of our towns people who have any spirit of enthusiasm will rally to the support of Miss Wilber and assist her if possible in winning her election against the Village candidate. Some of Miss Wilber's friends have already cast about 400 votes in her favor or in other words cashed up $20.00.

Bathurst Village.

Bazaar Notes.

For this time, Mr. Editor, we will repress upon your kindness by furnishing a few notes relative to the Bazaar, to be held here in July.

The Managing Committee are arranging now to procure a first class band for the three days grand festival, having now in mind, St. Michael's Band of Chatham. A committee were appointed to organize an election contest between a young lady from the Village and one from the town. The Committee had some difficulty in a selection from the Village, but finally the choice was between Miss Agnes Canty, daughter of Thomas Canty, Fishery Overseer, and Miss Aggie Melanson, daughter of Mr. S. Melanson, Registrar of Deeds, both popular and estimable ladies. Miss Canty resigned in favour of Miss Melanson.

For the town Miss Rita Wilbur, daughter of Mr. Percy Wilbur, the popular hotel man, kindly consented to become the town candidate. Miss Wilbur is the younger of the two opposing candidates but is a general favourite with all, and no doubt will have many ambitious friends to aid in the contest.

Miss Melanson has likewise a great number of friends, is popular and very well known, and beyond question will have most ardent supporters at her back from beginning to the finish of the campaign.

We are very much pleased to notice that a lively interest is already showing itself and a number of workers are about canvassing for votes. Support seems to be as yet equally divided, perhaps a little in Miss Melanson's favour. A great number of votes have already been registered on both sides. Five cents makes anyone eligible to vote. Vote early and often for your choice and you stand to win.

The election scrutineers for the Village candidate are J. B. Hachey, T. McManus, W. Doucet. For the town candidate, John Melanson, John Cain, A. Hendry.

A very suitable prize will be awarded to the winner of the contest.

Spring Millinery

What we saw at the Millinery Openings.

Throughout the entire world of fashion the glad tidings have been heralded that spring is at hand. The gayest, brightest time of the year is here and the busy brains of the designers whose duty it is to make hats are giving a thought to spring models. The crowning touch of that toilet is the hat and this year the hats are prettier than ever.

The millinery stores are the centre of attraction for the ladies to-day and the Opening will be continued to-morrow. The windows are looking very attractive and the display inside is varied and beautiful. The shapes vary in size from an umbrella to a cocoa-nut. Cut steel and jet are much used in trimming as well as foliage and plumes.
