U. S. Government forecasters scoff at reports that an early and severe winter is indicated.

There are more Jews in the United States than in any other country. New York alone has 1,643,000.

Analysis of the 9,000 auto accidents so far this year reported in Connecticut shows that in at least 50 per cent, thoroughly experienced drivers were involved.

A recently patented coat and hat hanger, which can be carried in a pocket and attached to any wooden surface without tools, will sustain a weight of 60 pounds.

Calcium chloride has been tried out as a dust settler in several places this summer, with great success, and will likely come into more general use, says an engineer.

Depositors of the Home Bank which suspended payment three weeks ago, are being offered 60 to 70 cents on the dollar by speculators, according to a Toronto paper.

It took six Chinese to hold down a Cherokee Indian after he had eaten spaghetti in a Chinese restaurant at New York and had been charged twenty-five cents instead of fifteen.

The onion growers of Jeannette's Creek are realizing good returns from their crop. Every farmer has from 10 to 12 acres, and from the prices paid about $300 will be realized from each acre.

The large barns of Chas. Miner, west of Inwood, were completely destroyed by fire Wednesday night, including his full season's crop, four hogs, a calf, and part of his farm machinery. The cause is unknown. Mr. Miner's loss will be heavy, as he only carried small insurance.

Hon. G. S. Henry, minister of public works and highways, hints that the price of automobile licenses might have to be raised to provide needed revenue. He states that the returns from motor licenses are not keeping pace with money advanced to counties for good roads, and that more money must be found.

Robert Austin, of Wingham, was almost instantly killed when he became frightened and jumped from a car in which he was riding. The axle of the car broke, and Austin, fearing that the car was going to turn over, jumped and landed on his head. All the other occupants of the car kept their seats and were unhurt.

Stocks of insulin have been received by the Institute of Public Health, London, for free distribution to indigent patients throughout Western Ontario. The new world-famous discovery of Dr. Banting is thus made available to the poor as well as to the rich. Distribution to indigent patients will be made on certificates of physicians attending them. Why should federal and provincial governments be preferred creditors as depositors? There should be no preferred creditors among depositors as depositors, but if there are any to be given that position, it should not be governments.—Kincairdine Review

GOLDEN JUBILEE CELEBRATED

Impressive Services at Guthrie Presbyterian Church, Melbourne

Melbourne, Sept. 6.—One of the most outstanding events in the history of the village took place on Sunday and Monday, when the members of Guthrie Presbyterian church celebrated their golden jubilee. The Sunday services, which were held at 3 and 7.30 o'clock, were conducted by Rev. Robert Stuart, of Dutton, a former pastor of the church, who delivered excellent sermons. He reminded the people that it is a grand thing to be able to say, "I know there is a Saviour." But it is a very different thing to say, "He is my Saviour." The music was furnished by Miss Frances Norworthy and Andrew McLaughlin, of London. Both are former Melbourne residents and it is always a great pleasure to have them return and give vocal and violin contributions.

Monday evening supper was served in the Sunday school hall. A splendid program was given by local talent. The program committee is to be commended for the excellent numbers, as it was one of the best entertainments ever held here. Rev. Mr. McKay, moderator of the London Presbytery, occupied the chair, and conveyed the greetings of the Presbytery to the congregation. Referring to the importance of the occasion he reminded the people that fifty years had passed, many hardships had been overcome, for which there was every reason to be thankful for God's many gifts. No one can measure the influence of the last fifty years—it has been felt far and wide and in the next fifty years it was hoped it would be further distributed. Rev. W. W. Shoup, pastor of the Methodist church here, presided the greetings of the Methodist church and the Methodist people. He referred to the good-will which exists between the congregations, and expressed his pleasure that union services had been held, as he considered it a step in the right direction.

Andrew McLaughlin delighted the gathering with his violin selections. Miss Margaret Stevenson and Miss Florence Bevis convinced the people that in the very near future there would be two young ladies of whom Melbourne will be very proud. Margaret's Scotch songs are always a treat, while Florence is proving herself to be a born reader. Charles Auld, one of Melbourne's noted singers, also gave a number of selections. The South Caradoc Male Quartette was present and gave a number of harmonious pieces. C. Watson sang a number of his comic songs, which caused much merriment. Reference was made to the two ministers, Rev. Wm. Cooper, Presbyterian minister at Beamsville, and Rev. Peter Sinclair, of Toronto, who were Melbourne boys, and members of Guthrie church.

Although all did their part in making this jubilee a success, much credit is due to the pastor, Rev. G. W. Oliver, who has become one of the most popular ministers in the history of the church. He has won by his strong Christian character, both in the pulpit and out of it, the love and esteem of not only the members of his own congregation but the entire community. In the small booklet which has been arranged, giving a history of the church, his photograph appears on the front page. The photos of the following ministers, who have been pastors of Guthrie church, are also printed therein:—Rev. John Stewart, Rev. Malcolm McKenzie, Rev. J. S. Henderson, Rev. Alexander Frazer, Rev. Robt. Stewart, Rev. F. C. Simpson, Rev. T. R. Shearer, Rev. D. C. Stephens and Rev. John Elder.

The proceeds from the jubilee services, amounting to nearly $200, will be used towards paying the cost of redecorating the Sunday school hall and manse, which was done last spring.

HONOUR DEPARTING CITIZENS

A number of their friends met at the town hall on Monday evening to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thompson, who are leaving Glencoe to reside in Toronto.

During the evening Mr. Thompson was called forward while Alex. McAlpine read an address expressing the community's regret in losing such a conscientious worker and valued citizen. R. Dunlop made the presentation of the address and a purse of money as an appreciation of the splendid services rendered by Mr. Thompson in his capacity as a municipal officer. Vocal solos by Misses Ethel George and Elma King and Mrs. Hill were enjoyed. George F. Munroe made a capable chairman, and addresses were given by Ex-rev. W. D. Moss, J. N. Currie and A. J. Wright. At the close all joined hands and sang "Auld Lang Syne" and "They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

DEATH OF MRS. W. G. ROGERS

Word was received in St. Thomas on Monday of the death at Cleveland of Mrs. Helena Kerr Rogers, wife of William G. Rogers, president of the Erie Iron Works. Mrs. Rogers' death comes as a distinct shock to her many friends, as she was apparently on the road to recovery from a lingering illness, extending over nearly a year, when she suddenly suffered a relapse which necessitated her removal to Cleveland for an operation.

Mrs. Rogers had resided in St. Thomas for eighteen years, and prior to that at Glencoe where she was a teacher in the public school before her marriage. She was 57 years of age.

Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, three sisters and three brothers. Her husband was in the hardware business in Glencoe for a number of years.

FORMER GLENCOE MAN DIES

John W. McMillan passed away in Leamington on Thursday evening, August 30, after an illness of one week, following an operation for acute appendicitis. Mr. McMillan was in his 52nd year and most of his life he spent in Glencoe. He was married in 1901 to Miss Beulah Fulmer, of Leamington. Besides his wife, four children survive: Flossie, at home; Elizabeth, of London; Arnold and Roy, at home. One son, Archie, predeceased him by five years.

Also surviving are one brother, Archie McMillan, of Strathroy, and one sister, Elizabeth McMillan, of London. The funeral service was conducted at his late home on the 6th concession of Gosfield North, Essex county, on Saturday afternoon, September 1st. Interment followed at Lakeview cemetery, Leamington.

Friends and relatives attended the funeral from Rodney, West Lorne, Strathroy, Chatham, London, Somers, Ridgeway, Muirkirk, Detroit and other places.

For several years Mr. McMillan conducted a livery business in Glencoe.

DOLLAR-CAMPBELL

A pretty September wedding was solemnized, in the presence of about forty guests, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Campbell, Graham road, north of West Lorne, on Wednesday, September 5, when their eldest daughter, Margaret L., was united in marriage to Dr. George L. Dollar, of Horne Payne.

The ceremony was performed at 3 p.m. by Rev. A. E. Carr, the bride being given away by her father and the wedding march being played by Miss Joan Campbell, Miss Eva Belle Campbell, sister, assisted the bride, and Gordon Dollar, brother of the groom, acted as groomsmen. Miss Helen Lyle acted as ring-bearer. The house was nicely decorated, and a dainty buffet lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Dollar left on a trip to Seattle and on their return will take up their residence at Horne Payne.

WEBBER-WEHLANN

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Fenwick parsonage on Monday, August 27, when Miss Vada Muriel Wehlann, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wehlann, of Welland, formerly of Glencoe, was united in marriage to Wm. Webber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webber, of Pelham. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Welletta M. Wehlann, and her brother, Lynn, of Buffalo, acted as best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Webber have taken up their residence on the groom's farm at Pelham.

Everyone knows that a cold chisel and a hammer are the tools for cutting vitrified tile, but not everyone knows how it simplifies the work to fill the pipe with sand.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE

Affiliated Couple Meet After Forty Years and Are Married

Benjamin Scott, the most promising young carpenter in Dresden, quarrelled with Mary Mills (later Mrs. Hans Johnson, of Zone township and of Thamesville), the belle of the little town, one summer night in 1883 and walked away from her father's white swinging picketgate, his chin held high, leaving her alone under the woodbine in the moonlight.

Crickets without ceasing all night long chimed hauntingly the rhythm of his footsteps going away up the old board sidewalk.

"Shall I send him a note? Shall I walk past his house tomorrow?" Mary Mills asked herself that night. From the tops of the maple trees outside her bedroom came: "Katy-did! Katy-did!"

"Shall I wait for him to say he is sorry? Shall I let him come to me?" "Katy-did! Katy-did!" came the answer.

The night voices gave her no help. So she obeyed the little voice within herself—the voice of pride. She went away the following morning to the home of her aunt in Essex. And Mary Mills and Benjamin Scott never met again until just before they went together to Mrs. Mary E. Portheringham, assistant city clerk at Windsor, to ask for a marriage license.

That happened Tuesday, 40 years later.

At the marriage license counter he gave her age as 62 years and she gave her age as 65.

She took her pride to Essex with her in 1883 and the same year was married to Hans Johnson, of Essex. They went to live in Zone township and later lived in Thamesville.

The news of the wedding went back to Dresden as Miss Mills knew it would. It sent Scott gathering up his carpenter's tools and clothing. He was one of the young men who went west. He wandered, working at his trade. For a while he was a sailor on the Great Lakes.

Occasionally, after years had passed, he received a letter from Mrs. Hans Johnson. He never married and they never met.

A few years ago Scott tired of wandering, being nearly 60 years old. He went to Newbury to live the last years of his life. He had not been there a day before friends told him Hans Johnson had died. Mrs. Johnson was living alone in Thamesville, the friends told him.

In another day Mrs. Johnson, of Thamesville, had opened the front door of her home to Scott.

They had 40 years to talk about. By the time she moved to Essex from Thamesville, a few weeks ago, they had brought the conversation up to date. Tuesday he made the proposal of marriage which he would have made over the white swinging picketgate in Dresden 40 years before, but for the unfortunate word which started the quarrel. Both now have forgotten what the word was.

In a few minutes after he made the proposal neighbors saw them go down the street to take the interurban car to Windsor.

Neither could tell what was to blame for the quarrel. Each took the blame.

"It was my fault," Scott said. "No," she insisted; "I was too proud."

And they would not say where they would go on their honeymoon.

NEWBURY POST OFFICE ROBBED

Newbury, Sept. 11.—On Saturday evening while the streets were thronged with people a daring robbery of the post office was committed here. Not being locked for the night the thieves found an easy entrance via a rear door, and by aid of a flash light located some $50 in the cash box which had not yet been placed within the safe.

At present no arrests have been made, although conclusive evidence points to a couple of local young men upon whom has been found most of the missing money.

Until You Try "SALADA" GREEN TEA

you have not tasted the best. Fresh, fragrant and pure. Try it.

WOMAN'S INTERESTS

WITH SUGAR AND SPICE. Peas that lack flavor are usually more abundant than the well-flavored varieties. A certain amount of such peas should be canned and used in salads. Others can be improved in flavor if two tablespoons of crushed pineapple are added to each quart jar of the peas. The canned pineapple can be used if the fresh fruit is unavailable.

Excellent pepper relish is made with one cup of green tomatoes (cut small), four red peppers, four green peppers (remove seeds), two cups of celery cut in short lengths, two cups of sliced onion, six cups of vinegar, one-half cup of mustard seed and two cups of brown sugar. Put all vegetables through a food-chopper, add one-half cup of salt and let stand all night. Drain and put with the other ingredients, cook until soft, pack in jars and seal.

Sweet cucumber pickles—Soak cucumbers in brine for twenty-four hours. Rinse, drain, and wipe dry. Place in a kettle, and cover with the following vinegar mixture: one quart of vinegar, one cup of brown sugar, eight whole cloves, six allspice, six blades of mace, eight whole black peppers. Heat the pickles slowly to the boiling point, and pack at once in jars, cover with the vinegar, add a piece of horseradish to each jar, then seal. Other vegetables used in sweet pickles may be added if a mixed pickle is desired.

Nine-day pickles—This is an old country recipe, and even though nine days are necessary for making them, the result is worth the time spent. Prepare a brine of four quarts of water and one pint of salt. Soak large, whole cucumbers in this for three days. Drain, then soak them in clear water for three days. Drain again, cut the cucumbers in slices one inch thick and simmer for two hours in weak vinegar. For seven pounds of cucumbers, use three pounds of brown sugar, one pint of vinegar, one ounce each of cinnamon, allspice and celery seed. Boil sugar and vinegar to a syrup. Drain the cucumbers from the vinegar, pack in glass jars or stone crocks, and cover with the syrup. Pour off and repeat syrup for three days in succession, and after the third time add covers to jars and seal.

Apple butter made of Tallman Sweets is considered especially good. Other varieties of sweet apples are not so desirable. Cook down three gallons of freshly made cider (made from acid or subacid apples) to one gallon. Pare, core and quarter the Tallman Sweets. Add to the cider and place on the back of the stove to cook slowly until done. If the Sweets, as well as the apples used for cider, are perfectly matured and have their full sugar content, no sugar will be needed. If a sweeter product is desired sugar may be added to taste. Add spices last, in the proportion of one part cloves to two parts cinnamon (ground) and according to taste, as tastes vary in this matter.

NO MORE STICKY IRONS. To prevent irons sticking to articles which have been starched, drop a lump of alum into the starch while it is still hot, and stir slowly till the alum is completely dissolved. A piece the size of a walnut to a quart of starch will be found about

The Gift Of The Gods

BY PEARL FOLEY. (Copyright.)

Undaunted by her mother's irascible greeting, Grace ran ahead. Irma Culver stepped from a bend in the path, beaming a genuine welcome on her two belated guests. Under the gracious reception Mrs. Ashton thawed somewhat, and allowed herself to be relieved of her hat and gloves and led to the shaded, vine-covered verandah, where sinking into a comfortable arm chair, she looked around critically.

"Isn't it a perfect Garden of Eden, mamma?" ventured Grace happily, but regretted immediately her thoughtless metaphor and fidgeted uneasily under her mother's surprised stare. "Bless my soul!" exclaimed that lady, "it sounds as if Adam were here already."

"At your service, Mrs. Ashton." And following the voice appeared an unabashed, grinning visage at the verandah railing, which an easy vault swung into the women's grasp. Dragging a chair from an isolated corner, Rowen Strathmore sauntered with it to Grace's side, where he sank into it with a contented sigh. The comical ebullience smile was on his handsome boyish face as he eyed the company complacently. It was plain he had no doubt of his welcome.

"Your voices haven't yet acclimated my presence among you, but neither do I see frowns, so now I'll proceed to break a glorious piece of news to you. Ah, me, this is life after tugging a horse up the mountain on a blistering day in August, eh?" Mrs. Culver was hoping, but wasn't quite sure that it'd be in time for tea. "Doesn't the diplomatic service work on hot summer days? Mrs. Ashton's voice was severe and her look more so.

"Makes slaves of us, every one, but the little god of telepathy whispered in my ear you ladies would enjoy my presence to-day, so here I am, at your service. Jiminy, this tea's good!" "Pause between the sips, Rowe, we're ravenous for the glorious news," reminded Grace. "Ah, yes, and it's a real tidbit, too. The mandarin's niece is found!"

"Where? How? When?" "Rowen's hand went up as if warding off a blow. 'Please don't shout, girls—you make me feel kind of weak, don't you know?'" "Is she safe, Rowe? Oh, I'm so glad!" Helen Claymore had risen and was standing before him, hugging her cup of tea rapturously.

"I can't say I know very much about the affair, but I knew a drop would be welcome, so I hied off here as soon as I got the first trickle of the news." "Yes, yes, go on! Tell us all you know," urged Grace. "Well, as I have already said I don't know much, but she is home again and well, and is going to be married!"

"Married?" The word came in a dismayed gasp from the two girls. "Strathmore nodding and smiling is marrying some rich old Chinaman. Don't know his name. Ding Ding, or some such confounded linguist." "Not Chu Sing?" broke in Helen Claymore excitedly. "Rowen rubbed his chin. 'Well, now I believe that is the handle. Sounds mighty familiar anyway.'"

"Oh, Rowe, you must be mistaken!" There was distress in Helen's face. "You know all Chinese names sound alike to you anyway and—"

"Tut, tut, child," interrupted Mrs. Ashton. "Why are you concerned in these heathen marriages? Bless my soul, you'd actually think China was a creeping little daisy, the way you girls try to nurse and coddle her. You're worse than the Northerners nattering our dignities." "O, mother, you don't understand." Grace turned again to Rowe. "And where has she been all this time, Rowe? Did you hear?"

Britain's Holiday Islands.

It is probably no exaggeration to say that the Isle of Man is the most popular holiday island in the world. Its glens and even its mountains are turned into show places, whilst Douglas is, perhaps, next to Blackpool, the most enterprising seaside town in the British Isles.

The Isle of Wight is what the House of Lords is to the House of Commons, when compared with Manxland. "Man" is a democrat. "Wight" is an aristocrat. "Wight" is the headquarters of the Royal Yacht Squadron, and Cowes Week is one of the great events of the season.

The Channel Islands belong to Britain, although they lie nearer to France, and their visiting list is correspondingly international; but the fine service of steamboats from the southern ports of England is making these lovely islands better known to holiday-makers, even from the North and from Scotland.

Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney, and Sark, not forgetting the tiny Isle of Herm, which belongs to an English nobleman, are all gems set in the sea. Then there is Anglesey, the only island which is also a county of England and Wales. Most people know Anglesey only as the first bit of the way from Holyhead to London. Yet, year by year, by virtue of splendid golf courses and fine hydros, the Welsh county separated from the mainland by the Menai Straits, and connected with the mainland by two historic bridges, is coming more and more into prominence as a holiday centre.

Kept Alive by Rust.

If a piece of iron is left out in the damp it soon becomes rusty; a red layer forms on its surface and in time the rust will eat so deeply into the metal that it becomes as brittle as glass.

What happens when iron rusts? Simply this: the iron contains a very active gas called oxygen, which combines eagerly with many substances. Rust is a combination of iron and oxygen. Most metals oxidize, as the process is called. Copper and brass become green, silver turns black, whilst nickel takes on a yellow tawny hue. Even an apple will rust, turning brown in a very short time when cut open.

The curious thing is that we live entirely by means of the process of rusting or oxidation. You may have noticed that though fresh blood is bright red it soon turns brown when exposed to the air; in doing so it is simply rusting, for oxygen combines very readily with blood.

Inside a man's lungs are thousands and thousands of tiny blood vessels whose walls are so thin that air can penetrate them. As we breathe air into the lungs it is brought into contact with the blood coursing through these fine channels. The oxygen of the air combines with the blood, and is carried off by the stream which is pumped by the heart to every part of the body.

During its passage the blood gives up its oxygen and receives carbonic acid gas, the waste product of the muscles. On reaching the lungs it discharges the waste and takes on a fresh supply of life-giving oxygen by the process of rusting.

In three hours a commercial aviator dusted poison over four hundred and sixty acres of cotton near Corpus Christi, Texas, for a price of fifteen cents an acre. Whether the poison applied in that way is effective against the boll weevil is not yet known.

In the early days of printing, about 1500, the dash (—) or perpendicular line (|) was the only punctuation used. Later it was learned that "The art of pointing, well used, makes the sentence very light." The graceful comma (,) succeeded the awkward (|). The colon (:) was later introduced. "Showing that there is more to come." Not till about 1633 was the semicolon (;) adopted for English printing.

Northern Ontario Wilderness Now Accessible

Heretofore, Northern Ontario meant little to the holiday makers and vacationists, except that they had to pass through it on their journeys east and west. As they passed, perhaps they found what views they had of the forest of either side interesting, but more probably not. Occasionally, a break in the wall of timber would reveal a sunlit glade of alighting charm, or a bridged rivulet or wider stream, seen winding through the trees, would conjure thoughts of fish that might be had, but trees and rocks, green hills, where they can be seen in the distance, flashes of water, and little burnt over areas, are tiresome when there are so many miles of them. From the train, yes, perhaps to some, but once leave the train and the path torn by the builders of the railroad, and set foot on one of those mysterious little paths, that twist and turn and intertwine through the fragrant pine, and it is "back to the woods." Nothing is uninteresting. There are "sermons in stones, books in running brooks, and good in everything." Once leave the tracks and roads beaten by men in commerce and industry, and the tall timbers call you for their own. There you will find that life is real, and stripped of its artificialities, it brings out the best in every man.

Northern Ontario has come into its own. Those who have ventured into its wilds, whether in search of fish, game, health or adventure, being satisfied though lusting for more, have spread the glad tidings, till not only the huntsmen and sportsmen, but the mere vacationists as well have turned their eyes and their feet towards it. And why not? There is room enough and sport enough for all. It is Canada's heritage, to be enjoyed and loved by all—this glorious timber country of the north. And only now are we beginning to realize and appreciate this, now, after the Canadian Pacific has been running trains daily through the country for thirty-five years. It is this Company which has done more than any other agency, perhaps, to call the attention of the sportsmen and nature lovers to the wealth of the district. This year bungalow camps have been established by them in the French River, Copper and Lake of the Woods districts, and through these camps a large number of people, who have in previous years spent their vacations by the sea or lake shore, have already been turned into devotees of the "wilderness."

The camps which were commenced in May were all ready for occupancy on July 1st, on which day, with large gatherings present, they were severally opened. The French River Camp, named "Astinka," (Ojibwa for "On top of the hill") was opened very informally.

Nipigon Camp, also of the Swiss Chalet style of architecture, was officially opened in the presence of a distinguished gathering of citizens of Fort William and Port Arthur. A flag staff had been erected, and as the flag was slowly raised to the singing of the national anthem and "O Canada," the camp was declared open. The Lake of the Woods Camp was opened under similar circumstances, and the three events were not without slight historical import. As the flags were raised a new country was opened, possibly for development in the not too distant future. A country of incomparable splendor, of great sporting value, was made accessible to the average individual—a country where he may roam untrammelled—a land of plenty, a land of beauty, rugged in spots, perhaps, but none the less lovely for that, and a land where one can now enjoy the wonders and exhilarating sports of the great outdoors for a day, a week, or more without losing the comforts and conveniences which civilization has made necessary to our well-being.

Predicts Women Will Have Lone Toe.

A London biologist predicts that, if women keep on wearing high heels, they will find themselves eventually, with only one toe. "Horses originally had five toes, but now they have only one," warns this scientist, who adds: "This change probably was brought about by the efforts of horses in the wild to raise themselves a little higher, to get at the twigs and leaves of trees. The five toes of the deer have been reduced to two, and those of many birds to three. "Women with very high heels have a gait approaching that of birds. I do not suggest it is not an elegant gait, but it is certainly not at all like that of the domestic fowl. It means that with the high heel now worn, three toes are sufficient for progressing; and, as nature always gets rid of superfluous organs, it seems likely that in the course of time women's toes will be reduced to three, and perhaps later to two, or even one."

But the biologist's warning may not be needed for smart women in London are now emulating their American sisters and favoring shoes with heels only about an inch in height.

FOREIGN RESIDENTS IN TOKIO ESCAPED, 30,000 NATIVE LIVES LOST

Yokohama Suffered Much More Severely Than Capital City But Total of Casualties Is Still Uncertain—Seventy Foreigners Killed in Yokohama.

A despatch from London says:—The appalling nature of the Japanese earthquake, fire and tidal wave, with the greatest loss of life and property of any similar catastrophe in modern times, continues to be told by meagre and unconnected press despatches and private messages from foreign residents and tourists who survived the holocaust. But Europe still awaits the graphic story of how the earth shook to pieces and then consumed in flames Japan's capital and scores of towns around Tokyo Bay, including the great commercial port of Yokohama.

The loss of life is estimated at such varying figures, in some cases running into hundreds of thousands, that any certainty of the casualty is impossible while communications with the devastated districts remain as they are.

On the whole, the news received on Thursday is of a more hopeful nature than any since the disaster, one authoritative message from a British naval official at Yokohama placing the deaths of foreigners in that port at seventy and stating that all the foreigners in Tokio escaped. Even this number of dead, which is small as compared with first reports, is enormous for a foreign colony of a few thousands and indicates that the loss of life among the native population may reach the highest reported figures.

The only official estimate is based on Home Office information from Tokio that the loss of life there was 30,000, but Yokohama is known to have suffered much more severely than the capital city, and the Home Office figures do not attempt to take into consideration the one hundred miles of coast-line towns and villages, all in the path of the tidal wave.

All available information shows that Tokio and Yokohama were not totally destroyed, the foreign residential district of the port city, which is on a high bluff overlooking the bay, suffering comparatively little damage, while the residential suburban districts of Tokio also escaped. This would account for the few deaths among the foreigners there, for on Saturday afternoon few would have been in their office.

The destruction in Tokio extends over two-thirds of the metropolitan district of foreign wards, with the low-lying districts completely wiped out. These include the slums of Fukagawa, the industrial section of Honjo, both on the right bank of the Sumida River, Asakusa, famous for its amusement parks, Kyobashi and Nibonbashi, which include most of modern Tokio, where four or five-story buildings lined the principal thoroughfare, the Ginza. This section also includes Tsukiji, in which, before Japan was completely opened to the western nations, foreigners were compelled to reside. It has recently been occupied principally by missionaries, their schools and hospitals. During the summer most of the Tsukiji residents are out of the city, but the loss of property has been heavy.

In other sections of Tokio—Asabu, Shiba, Akasaka, Yotsuya and Ushigon—where the foreigners live in more or less isolated foreign compounds, consisting of a few western style houses built on small hills, the damage was by fire, which, on account of the number of open spaces, could be controlled. The foreign embassies and legal centres were widely scattered throughout the higher districts of Tokio, and a number of them, including the United States Embassy, have been destroyed.

A later despatch from London says:—With communication between the devastated earthquake districts of Tokio and the Southern Japanese ports of Kobe and Osaka partially restored by airplanes and road transport along the Takaido route and with the pick of Japan's well-trained army divisions, which have been converging on the ruined capital since Sunday, exerting discipline to restore order among the hundreds of thousands of homeless, news from Japan begins to give some definite idea of the loss of foreign life. There are approximately 100 dead or reported missing, half of whom are British, but the Japanese Government representatives here are still uninformed as to the number of Japanese who perished through the earthquake, fire and deluge. It is certain, however, that the death list will not exceed 50,000, if it reaches that figure.

Dense fog was the cause of both disasters. The destroyers Chauncey, Woodbury, Fuller, Splice, Nicholas, Young and Delphy were all beached within a few minutes of one another, according to naval officers.

The flotilla, of which the wrecked craft formed a part was in command of Captain Edward Watson, commanding officer of the Delphy, and was on a practice cruise.

The dead were all trapped in their bunks on the Young when that vessel struck and were drowned when the craft capsized within two minutes after striking.

More than 500 men were rescued from the wrecked destroyers, which to-night were reported to be pounding to pieces on the rocks, all total losses.

Of the survivors, fifteen of the seriously injured were brought to the Santa Barbara County Hospital here. One hundred others were cut and bruised in their swim to safety over the jagged rocks. The destroyers were travelling in formation at 20 knots an hour in a heavy sea and dense fog when the leading vessel crashed.

Carried ahead by a strong tide, the others piled on the beach in succession. The boats to-night lay in line along the shore at intervals of 250 feet. One of them, the Chauncey, was resting high on the rocks.

Only one body had been recovered to-night when all efforts to obtain the others had been fruitless.

The seas were running so heavy that it was only a few minutes after the crash that all of the destroyers were taking water.

The rescue of most of the crew of the Young was effected when boatswain's mate Peterson took a line

SEVEN U.S. WARSHIPS WRECKED ON ROCKS OFF CALIFORNIA COAST

Many Lives Lost in Consequence of Dense Fog—Mail Liner Cuba Also Total Wreck.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Sept. 9.—Seven United States navy destroyers and the Pacific Mail Liner Cuba were wrecked yesterday morning and last night. The navy vessels crashed on the rocks in a dense fog off Arguillo Light, 75 miles north of Santa Barbara, and the passenger steamer on a reef off the south end of San Miguel Island, 35 miles off this port.

Twenty-five enlisted men of the destroyers lost their lives in the naval disaster and all the destroyers were reported as total losses.

The Cuba was reported to have sunk during the night, but all passengers and members of her crew either were landed at Los Angeles by the destroyer Reno, or are on their way to San Francisco on board the Standard Oil tanker W. S. Miller, with the exception of Captain C. J. Holland, the purser, steward and eight seamen, who remained on board to guard shipment of $2,500,000 in silver bullion.

Settle Coal Wage Dispute for Period of Two Years

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 9.—All points in dispute between the anthracite operators and the miners were settled at 9 o'clock (Standard time) Saturday night, when the form of a proposed contract for two years was agreed to by representatives of the operators and of the United Mine Workers' Union, meeting in Governor Schott's reception room.

The proposed agreement was at once taken before the full Scale Committee, which ratified it. The committee then set September 17 as the date for the meeting of the Tri-district Convention. The men will probably return to work 48 hours after the convention approves the action of the Scale Committee. The Tri-district Convention will be held at Seranton.

The seas were running so heavy that it was only a few minutes after the crash that all of the destroyers were taking water.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS SUCCEEDS IN SETTLING ITALO-GREEK DISAGREEMENT

A despatch from Geneva says:—There was an air of relief in Geneva Friday evening at the news from Paris that the Ambassadors had accepted the "unofficial" suggestions of the League Council for a settlement of the Italo-Greek dispute, which the Italian representative on the Council, and M. Hanota, for France, Thursday evening prevented from being made official. Signor Salandra formally refused to accept them, on the ground of the incompetence of the Council to make them. Hanota wanted to have them referred to his Government before he would accept them. His Government and the Government of Italy, in the persons of their representatives on the Ambassadors' Conference, have now accepted them. Poincare will act on the suggestions of the League without having openly to admit that the League had anything to do with a settlement, and Mussolini will accept the terms of the League handed on by the Ambassadors without having to admit that they are League terms.

And so everything is likely to be settled and the ground cleared of the actual case in question when the question comes up for settlement, by the Council and by the League, of its competence to deal with such a situation as that which so disturbed its tranquility all this week.

All but the most ardent supporters of League prestige appear satisfied with this arrangement. There are some, of course, who fear that the Ambassadors will have all the credit and the League none. There are others, however, who are not the least important, who argue that without the League the Ambassadors would never have been able to impose such terms on Mussolini, who only a week ago was refusing to recognize even their competence to deal with such a private affair of Italy's.

Almost all are glad that so early in its career the League has been spared the ordeal of such an open split with one of its original members as would have happened if everybody had not been awake to the danger of the situation, and they are glad that time will be given for an academic discussion of the League's competence, which otherwise would have been far too burning a matter for so young an organization.

HANDLING THE HARROW

An Implement Often Neglected By Farmers.

Smoothing, Disc, and Spring Tooth Harrows Described—Keep the Bolts Tight and the Wearing Parts Clean—The Implement Shed.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The iron smoothing harrow, being a rather clumsy implement to handle, is apt to be neglected to the extent of bolts working loose and teeth falling out. A small wrench should always be at hand, preferably strapped to the adjusting lever, with which all bolts could be tightened and kept in proper adjustment. The teeth should be kept sharpened if the harrow is to do its best work with the least expenditure of horse or tractor labor. The harrow sections should be tested for uniformity of set frequently, by lining up the teeth and seeing that all are cutting the same depth. Loos, short, crooked, or dull teeth reduce the efficiency of this implement. When not in use the harrow should be piled in sections out of harm's way. In storing away after seeding it is a good practice to dab a little machine oil or grease on the bright portion of each tooth, using a brush or cloth to do so. If any parts, such as bolts or teeth have been lost, make note of it as early as possible, so that they can be replaced before the harrow is required for use again. The rusty harrow tooth will ball up, collecting grass roots and soil particles in moist ground, reducing the efficiency of the work. It pays well to keep the harrow teeth bright and sharp. The pieces in the implement which are for harrows where such will be out of the way is up on the side walls. Long pegs or spikes that will hold two sections can be driven in the studs or wall studs, and the harrow sections hung thereon high, dry and easy to get when wanted.

This harrow generally suffers more from neglect to oil than any other farm implement. The rusting and dropping the soil on its own bearings, it has been difficult for manufacturers to make a bearing that is dust or sand proof. Frequent and careful oiling right from the start is a good practice that will save the bearings of the disc. If the bearings become loose or worn, the draft is greatly increased and the work not as well done. The bearings should always be at hand and oil should be applied every hour. A 16-inch disc will turn 660 times an hour at ordinary field speed and the bearings are apt to get hot. The rusting of the bearings. Oil can not be expected to last very long, and it does not, so oil often or your disc will squeak and the horse tire. This is the case with the spring tooth harrow. The key tight if it is to do its best work. The wrench should always be on hand and used when needed. If the discs are free from rust, well burnished and supported they are apt to slip. The rusty disc may cause long delays in the early spring. The discs should be dry and clean when put away, and a little rub with a soft cloth and oil will keep them in good condition. The wearing parts bright and always ready for the field.

From Bed to Work in Three Weeks

Draco helps put Wm. Walker on his feet and enables him to return to work.

"For the past year my husband has been a sufferer from ulcers of the stomach," says Mrs. Wm. Walker, of 155 Eileen, Toronto. "His food lay in his stomach and would not digest and he frequently had severe vomiting spells. He was on a diet most of the time. This resulted in his entire system becoming run-down. He had chronic constipation and was very restless and nervous.

"About three and a half weeks ago I brought him home a bottle of Draco. He tried it and said that the first dose seemed to give him relief and eased his stomach of the terrible pains that griped him. His bowels became more regular.

"We are both greatly pleased with the benefits Draco has already produced. My husband's system is improving generally and after the severe trouble he has just passed through he was able to return to work in three weeks' time.

"Mr. Walker is feeling very much stronger and I want him to continue this good medicine, as it is the first medicine we have found that goes right to the root of his trouble."

Draco's beneficial action on the organs of digestion is remarkably quick and thorough. No matter how severe the case or how long standing, Draco will help. This remedy contains no mercury, potash or habit-forming drugs. It is made solely from herbs, roots, bark and leaves and has established an enviable reputation, earned only by genuine merit.

Draco is being specially introduced in Glencoe by P. E. Lumley, and is sold by a good druggist everywhere.

VALUE OF FALL FAIRS

It is not only in the prizes won that the local fair is beneficial. Nor should the winning of prize money be the chief incentive to exhibitors. All through the year should the influence of the fair be felt by the whole district, in the improvement of agricultural conditions generally.

When an agricultural society neglects or overlooks the educational features it is not fulfilling its greatest object. And if the members of the society do not take full advantage of the opportunities afforded they are missing the best reason for the organization. At the fall fairs opportunity is given for a comparison of farm and garden products, and this should be accompanied or supplemented by comparison of cultural methods, as well as of the goods themselves.

The successful exhibitor is not necessarily the one who takes the greatest number of prizes, but the one who can show the greatest improvement from year to year in the quality of his exhibits and who can show his neighbors how to better their methods and products.

In order to encourage and simplify bookkeeping on the farm the Dominion Experimental Farms System has published an extremely simple farmer's account book, which will adequately serve all necessary purposes and should prove to the general farmer one of the most useful publications issued from the Experimental Farms for some time. It is obtainable from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, at a nominal charge of ten cents. No postage need be placed on letters of application.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture Fruit and Vegetable Crop Report for September states that indications are that in Ontario the total commercial apple crop will be slightly less than that of last year. In Middlesex county the total apple crop will be 125 per cent. of that of 1922, but in some sections the fruit is undersized owing to continued dry weather. Throughout Ontario the commercial acreage of potatoes is approximately the same as that of last year, with the early varieties showing a slight decrease. The late varieties have been injured to some extent by drouth but recent rains will be of considerable benefit. The tomato crop although late will be good and approximately 100 per cent. of that of 1922.

Make your entries for the fair in advance. It will save both your time and that of the secretary.

THE BANKING BUSINESS

To the Editor of The Transcript: We have been reading a great deal during the last few days regarding our banking institutions being perfectly safe for depositors—as one man puts it, "As safe as the hills themselves." What a comfort it would be to the public if they could have every confidence that this is the case. In the closing of the doors of the Home Bank of Canada its customers were placed in very trying circumstances as well as being the means of forcing some business places to close, as all of their deposits were in that institution. It came like a bolt from the blue sky, especially after the statement regarding the bank's financial standing in June, 1923.

When the bolt came and the depositors who considered that they were perfectly safe were told that it was very doubtful if they would receive 100 cents on the dollar, the people lost their confidence. Is it any wonder?

It may be true that the banks of Canada have a common interest in keeping the business free and open. But to many people that remains to be seen if this is the case. Why did they not come to the rescue of the Home Bank of Canada before the doors were closed, and keep the confidence of the people? It would appear that our banking business is being tested out and it will only be when the depositors receive full returns for the money they placed in the Home Bank of Canada that the confidence of the people will be secured. #### OH, YOU HUNTERS!

Clean up your guns, trim up the dogs, get out your traps and we will furnish you with complete information "Where to go" to obtain the finest hunting in the land. The great north country of Ontario, so near at hand, is a veritable game preserve, the home of the moose and red deer, as well as other game animals.

Get in touch with your nearest agent of the Canadian National Railway for full particulars.

There is nothing repulsive in Miller's Worm Powders, and they are as pleasant to take as sugar, so that few children will refuse them. In some cases they cause vomiting through their action in an unobscured stomach, but this is only a manifestation of their cleansing power, no indication that they are harmful. They can be thoroughly depended upon to clear worms from the system.

THE SAVING HABIT

Anything which will encourage the habit of saving in this extravagant age is a blessing. The temptations on every hand are so alluring that it is very difficult for a young man of ordinary self-control to resist them and to save his money. Thousands of young men who are receiving good salaries, some of them very large, never think of laying up a dollar for a rainy day. They never see anything in their salaries but "a good time," and they never develop the habit of saving. You ask them how they are doing and they will say "Oh, just getting along." "Just making a living." "Just holding my own." Just making a bare living is not getting on. The difference between what you earn and what you spend is power. It often measures the distance between success and failure. In many minds the economy faculties are not developed, or are so weak that they are no match for the passion of spending for pleasure.

Don't use the steam in your whistle that should be used in your cylinder. That Chicago professor who tried to modernize the New Testament has received so much adverse criticism, it seems as though he would be unable to make gifts of the book to his friends.

A Scotchman visiting in America stood gazing at a fine statue of George Washington when an American approached. "That was a great and good man, Saundy," said the American; "a lie never passed his lips." "Weel," said the Scot. "I presume he talked through his nose like the rest of ye."

Orchard May Be Pruned in Winter.

Fruit growers do not need to wait until spring to prune their orchards. There is little or no difference in the growth and maturity of the wood where pruning has been done any time between November and May.

If the trees are to be pruned make the cuts close to the main trunk or branches, no stubs will be left to die and decay, though the covering of wounds with a white lead and oil paint or with common grafting wax warmed to the consistency of cold molasses will give added protection.

Stubble and Scattered Stalks - Showing where the Borer spends the winter in corn

Plough down Infested Corn Stubble to prevent Losses by Corn Borer in 1924.

The weakest stage in the life of the European Corn Borer is when it is in the "worm" stage, overwintering in corn stubble and corn stalks. That is the time to strike.

Plough down all corn stubble. Plough it clean and deep, preferably in the autumn. Burn every bit of stalk before next June. Husk the corn and move the stalks or plough between the shocks and then move them to the ploughed strips.

Plough Early and Plough Clean

Plough carefully and cleanly so that all stubble is well buried, thus preventing the escape of the moth next June.

Write for pamphlet on the habits and control of the European Corn Borer.

If the Canadian ore-wear exports of flour are considered as 100, the Dominion's average export total between 1921 and 1923 can be considered as 207. Comparatively, the export of the United States being rated at 100, its present export is at the rate of 147. This indicates that Canada has more than doubled her export trade in flour with the United States. Before the war Canada exported 3,832,000 barrels, while at present her exports average 7,885,000 barrels a year.—"Journal of Commerce."

Mr. Georges Delrue, one of the most important personages of France arrived in Montreal by the S.S. "Minnesota" to take up residence at St. Johns, Que. Georges is two and a half years old and spent most of his life with his grand parents in Tourcoin, a small town on the border line of Belgium and France. Major General Lord Lovett, a passenger on the Canadian Pacific liner "Montcalm," and delegate to the British Empire Forestry Conference, Ottawa, said in connection with his investigations into Canadian forestry methods and applied science, "England has but a small forest area in comparison to Canada, nevertheless, her forests were depleted two-thirds to meet the emergencies of the War, and now we are determined to recover this loss by practical reforestation. We have been working at this for the last three years and expect to make completion of our work in another year."

THE QUITTER

"You're sick of the game?" well, now, that's a shame; You're young, and your brave, and you're bright; You've had a raw deal! I know—but the British Empire Forestry Conference, Ottawa, said in connection with his investigations into Canadian forestry methods and applied science, "England has but a small forest area in comparison to Canada, nevertheless, her forests were depleted two-thirds to meet the emergencies of the War, and now we are determined to recover this loss by practical reforestation. We have been working at this for the last three years and expect to make completion of our work in another year."

It's the plugging away that will win you the day; So don't be a piker, young pard! Just draw on your grit; it's so easy to quit; It's the keeping your chin up that's the hard.

It's easy to cry that you're beaten—and die; It's easy to crawl and scrawl; But to hope and to fight when hope's out of sight— Why, that's the best game of them all.

And though you come out of each grinning bout All broken and beaten and scarred. Just have one more try—it's dead easy to die; It's keeping on living that's hard.

DO YOU SLEEP SOUNDLY?

In seeking sleep, many people make serious mistakes. The first is that they "try to get to sleep." This is one of the very worst ways. Sleep often comes when it is not sought, and perhaps even when it is undesirable, as in church during a dull sermon.

Here are a few simple and harmless helps to healthy sleep: The first is deep and full breathing. I have known people to object and say that deep and full breathing is a cure for so many things—such as worry and nerves, as well as consumption and poor circulation—that it cannot be a good cure for any one; but surely the more troubles any one practice can cure at the same time, the more important and valuable that practice must be.

Fighting Insomnia. If we have a tool that can perform only one function, it is less valuable than a tool which can perform twenty tasks. Breathing may be compared with a piece of machinery which can be employed for a number of different uses.

But the deep and full breathing must not be strained; it must be according to a rhythm. A certain number of "beats," for instance, may be given for the inhaling, a certain number for the holding in of the breath, and a certain number for the exhaling, and a certain number for rest before the next inhaling.

Then there are mental helps. In a book published some years ago, entitled "The Mystery of Sleep," the author pointed out how, during sleep, the parts of us of which we are not conscious (it is not accurate to call them unconscious parts) are at work. A striking theory is that we never rest completely. We are always working, if not on the conscious plane, then on the subconscious or the super-conscious plane.

We are aware of work on the muscular plane, except for a good deal of the internal work—as of digestion, and so on; but we are little aware of the chemical work that goes on within us. Nine-tenths of our thinking is subconscious. It might almost be said that we press a certain button and the thinking is done for us.

During sleep some part of our mind is working; and it is best for us not to try to stop work altogether, but to direct the mind to do the work that will help ourselves and others most.

So it may be the most effective plan to direct the subconscious mind, first, to think of something restful, and to concentrate on that, and then to do some useful work in helping others who are in difficulties. Otherwise the mind may roam about at random, and we may not get really healthy sleep. We should tell our subconscious mind what it is to do during sleep.

The Diet Cure. Then there is the diet cure for sleeplessness; and here the important matter is not what we have just before we want to go to sleep. The important thing is to get the blood pure and to get the circulation right. This is not a matter of the last meal we take in the day; it may require weeks and weeks of sensible diet to get the whole system clean.

Often sleeplessness is accompanied by cold feet. The coldness is due to clogging of the blood-stream; and this clogging is usually caused by wrong foods and drinks. When once the blood becomes pure and clean and strong, we are three-quarters of the way towards healthy sleep.

Any Old Bones?

Most of us have a dim idea that bones are of some value. Bone meal is one of the most valuable of fertilizers. It is good for fruit trees, roses, potatoes, and most vegetables, for it contains both phosphate of lime and ammonia. But bones produce other valuable materials besides fertilizer. Treated in a sort of steam tank called a "digestor," they give large quantities of fat and glue. Bones fresh from the butcher's shop give twelve per cent. of fat, which is used principally for making soap.

As for the glue, this is treated so that it is divided into two different qualities, the finer of which becomes gelatine and is the basis of table jellies.

The glue made from bones is put up in a dried state, and before use must be mixed with a little water and heated.

A FINE COMPLEXION

Can Be Had Through Keeping the Blood Rich and Pure.

A girl's complexion is something more than a matter of concern to her vanity. It is an indication of the state of her health. Pallor in a growing girl means a thinning of the blood. Eruptions mean impurities in the blood. Mothers should be watchful of their daughters' complexions and see to it that these signs are corrected—not covered up.

When a girl in her teens becomes pale and sallow, especially if, at the same time, she shows an inclination to tire easily, a listlessness and inattention to her work or studies, she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which directly and specifically corrects the condition from which she is suffering. A chemical analysis of the blood of such a girl would show it to be deficient in just the elements that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can supply, but the physical signs are plain. The girl with a bad complexion, or who suffers from occasional headaches, who is easily tired and breathless after slight exertion, should begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once. A good appetite, sparkling eyes and rosy cheeks follow the fair use of this medicine.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

When Tin Catches Cold.

You would scarcely suspect a metal such as tin of being able to catch cold, but it can do so for all that. In countries like Northern Russia all sorts of utensils are apt to become useless in winter time.

A tiny greyish spot makes its appearance on the surface of the tin. It grows in size, and then other appear. In course of time the metal crumbles into a dark-colored powder.

Some years ago a whole shipload of blocks of tin, stored in the Customs House of Petrograd during the winter, was found the following spring to have crumbled into dust.

What really happens is that the cold causes tin to change from one of its forms to another. Tin is often found in mines in the grey powder form which is quite useless. When it is heated it turns into a well-known shiny metal, but under the influence of cold it may return to its other form.

Finger prints of criminals are sent by telegraph all over Italy by a simple invention, involving the use of from 300 to 400 numbered squares.

Surnames and Their Origin

LOCKYEAR Variations—Lockyer, Lockman, Locke, Lockerman. Racial Origin—English, also Dutch. Source—An occupation.

Lockyear, Lockyer, Lockman and Locke are all only different forms of the same family name, which in its original use was but descriptive of the callings of its first bearers.

Lockyear is really not a "true" form of the name; it is a changed spelling of Lockyer. The "lockyer" of the Middle Ages in England was, as you might opine, a locksmith, as was also the "Lockman," the two forms of the word being interchangeable, with the former, perhaps in wider use.

The family name of Lockman, however, is sometimes a contraction of that of Lockerman, which is not English at all, but Dutch, the true form being "Loockerman." And though this family name also is based upon an occupation, it is not the same from which the English names have developed. The "Loockerman" among the Dutch was a man who raised or dealt in locks.

A GOOD MEDICINE FOR THE BABY

Nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets as a medicine for little ones. They are a laxative, mild but thorough in action, and never fail to relieve constipation, colic, colds and simple fevers. Once a mother has used them she will use nothing else. Concerning them Mrs. Saluste Pelletier, St. Damas des Aulnais, Que., writes:—"I always keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They are the best medicine I know of for little ones and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Robert Burns. Visitor—"Dear me! Fancy your being called Robert Burns—why, that's a very well-known name." Native—"Nae doot it is; I've been blacksmith in the place for nigh on forty years."

MONEY ORDERS. Remit by Dominion Express Money Order. If lost or stolen you get your money back.

Stories About Well-Known People

Royalty Gets a Diploma.

When the Wharton School of Business administration at the University of Pennsylvania held its graduating exercises this summer many foreign students received diplomas and none showed more pride in the hard won bit of sheepskin than a scion of Oriental royalty, Yara Virakorn, who is a cousin of the King of Siam. By very ancient tradition the business activities of royal persons have been limited to the narrow but not unfruitful fields of imposing taxes or receiving for the contents of the privy purse voted them by their adoring subjects. Common report has it that Siam's royalty has also kept up a herd of white elephants to let off its excess energy.

Whether Virakorn will stick to the good old days when he gets back to Bangkok, or branch out for himself in some new line, has not been indicated. It may well be that the Siamese monarch has a good many cousins to keep up, and that the young graduate's thorough acquaintance with American methods in commerce, industry and finance will not prove unacceptable to his exalted uncle.

Care by the Dozen.

The Bey of Tunis, who is now on an official visit to Paris, is well-known as a teller of good stories, and figures himself as the hero, or perhaps the victim, of many a true one. The most amusing of those about himself is perhaps the following:

Railroad Man Gives Out Surprising Facts

"If any in my family were sick with stomach trouble or run-down condition, I would rather have one bottle of Tanlac than all the other remedies put together." Is the positive statement of F. A. Barrowcliff, 8 Locomotive St., Hamilton, Ont., well-known yardman for the Grand Trunk Railroad.

"My wife's health was restored by the Tanlac treatment in such short order it was astonishing, for she suffered so terribly with nervousness, headaches, sleeplessness and loss of appetite that I thought she would break down completely. She went meal after meal without eating, and was so feverishly weak the care of our five children and the housework was more than she could do.

"After her first few doses of Tanlac my wife was like an entirely different person, and hasn't had a sick spell since she quit taking the medicine six months ago. Tanlac has certainly been a blessing in our house, and we are glad to recommend it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

LARDNER Variations—Lardiner. Racial Origin—English. Source—An occupation.

Lardner is by no means an infrequent family name, though probably it is most widely known when it has a "Ring" in front of it.

You might suspect from the first syllable that the name originally had something to do with the word "lard." In many cases when you suspect things like this about a family name you are wrong. But in this case you would be right. There is a connection. In fact the name is founded upon it. But the trade or occupation through which the connection was made is no longer referred to as it was in the Middle Ages at the time when family names were formed.

In medieval England the "lardner" or "lardiner" (for you will find both spellings) was a specific kind of swineherd. His occupation was that of fattening or "lardening" pigs for the market or for the tables of the feudal lords. He had to be a good bit of a forester, for he took his herds into the woods to fatten them upon acorns and nuts, and very often he also held a commission as a forest warden from his overlord.

Originally, of course, the name was descriptive of the individual's occupation, and in the old records you will find many entries of such names as "Hugo le Lardner" and "Roger le Lardner."

SPORT FOR THE KIDDIES

Newbury, Sept. 10.—A unique organization, to be known locally as "The Children's Welfare League," sprang into being here recently in rather a peculiar manner.

At a community meeting called in the town hall Friday evening for the purpose of discussing the possibilities of a civic holiday, dismission arose over the program for the day, a few demanding sole attention and expense be given to baseball. A motion to give the kiddies a good time was overruled and any money from the afternoon gate, receipts refunded and refused. Consequently the good citizens in part have rallied splendidly to the cause and at an enthusiastic meeting tonight drew up a splendid program of all kinds of sports for young and old during the forenoon of the 19th.

The backers of the youngsters liberally a pepper forth wad dollar apiece for prizes, and vouchanted to make their objective $50 at least. So that after all the community spirit is still abroad.

The committee purpose putting on a glorious time for the youngsters, starting out with an old-time call-humpan parade at 9, followed by a softball game between the school and the benedictes, then a tug-of-war between the north and south of the village, with a slow auto race open to all, then the children's games and sports of the most unique and curious nature for which the $50 in cash prizes have been named. No gate receipts whatever during the forenoon; the Children's Welfare League are assuming all responsibilities.

Almost in every district of this vast area game animals of some kind may be found. From Georgian Bay east to Algonquin Park, and from the Kawartha Lakes north is a veritable hunter's paradise for red deer, while farther north, including the territory north of Georgian Bay and Lake Superior, up to and along the line of the Canadian National Railways for hundreds of miles, moose are plentiful, and red deer are found in some sections. Caribou are found in the Lake Nipigon country and in the more northern districts between the line of the Canadian National and James Bay. Bears are plentiful in all this country.
