France Fears Coalition of Eastern Europe Against Republic.

Premier Lloyd George in Most Critical Position of Great Career.

> BULLETIN. Paris, May 3 .- The French government has decided to stand by Belgium in her opposition to the terms of the allied memorandum to Russia on the private property question, it was officially announced after today's cabinet meeting, attended by Vice Pre mier Barthou, head of the French delegation at Genoa.

Special Cable to London Advertiser Genoa, May 3.-Before Premier Lloyd George left London for Genoa he made a speech in Parliament out lining his plans. One of the opposition remarked that in attempting to bring the Russians back into the family of nations, the premier was embarking on a dark and difficult

There is reason to believe today that Lloyd George now knows how exactly true that prophecy was. It is doubtful whether he would have made the attempt in just the way he has if he could have known that he would have to face a German Russian combination and guard his rear against a French attack.

As events have developed, the Brit ish premier has been put in the most critial position in his career. He has Requisition to Include Cost Dakin Street School.

The application of the board of ducation to have the city authorize a further issue of debentures, will be referred to the civic commission when it comes before the council or Wednesday night.

This is the opinion of the officials at the city hall. Already one application from the school board is awaiting action by the new comwill be taken up together. It is rather difficult for the officials at the city hall to estimate just what the board is asking for now in th way of debentures, until the new re quisition has been received.

That there has been some doubt in the minds of the trustees themselves is pointed to also, as this requisiiion will be at least the fourth that has been forthcoming.

The first communication from the board to the city council asked for $146,000. The council had not any ore than received it when Secretary Tanner, of the board of educa tion, sent in a new one for $144,000 Then a little later he communicated with the city clerk and asked that that requisition be withdrawn and one for $50,600 would be made. Later the new requisition came in and this was referred by the council to the new civic commission.

The latest information now is that there will be a new requisition al-It will include the total together. cost of the Dakin street school, $25, 000, for the new collegiate and some other small amount.

A Life for A Dollar

NEVER was human life so cheap as it can be bought to-day in the famine districts of Russia.

$1 will save a child's life by providing food for a month. $10 will save ten children from starvation. $500 will establish a kitchen and feed 100 children until the next harvest.

Will you save a life with a dollar?

Could any other dollar you have-or ever hope to havebring such soul-satisfying returns?

Wouldn't you sleep better-feel better-be better-if you knew that a dollar of yours saved a child's life?

Only-anything you do to save the children of Russia in their desperate fight against death from starvation, must be dene at once. Won't you send the dollar NOW? A child's life depends on it.

Soviet Women Display Savage Cruelty In Administering Justice

BY ANDRE VIOLLO.

COPENHAGEN, May 2.—Opinions may vary greatly with regard to Bolshevik rule in Russia, but on one point at least all who know something of the Russia of today agree—namely, that no other country in the world places its women so absolutely on a level with the men as Russia of the present day.

In Russia the women have acquired an enormous political influence. The best-known type in the past was perhaps the female nihilist, pale, with her hair cut short and burning fanatical eyes. This type has now been replaced by another far less sympathetic for instance, the female judge, a girl of the people, low-bred, and vulgar, dressed in short petticoat, high boots, and coarsely made up with the most primitive beautifiers, who, cigarette in mouth, her feet on the table, condemns or pardons her fellowmen at her own discretion.

Another type is the female policeman, who, rifle over her shoulder, patrols the streets, shooting at casual passers-by who have been unlucky enough to displease her.

The most uncongenial type of Bolshevik woman is, however, the female executioner. She is doing her work methodically and with the utmost coolness.

The notorious Cheka, which consists of spies and provokers, has several prominent female members—for instance, Mrs. Jakoleva and Mrs. Stassova, both of whom belong to the intellectual class. These women now sign death sentences and display a cruelty that seems almost incredible in the present days. This cruelty is due partly to spiritual degeneration, partly to a revolutionary mysticism which has seized the women of Russia, who still retain their Communistic faith—the faith which many of the formerly warm adherents of Lenin have now begun to lose.

In return for all this the soviets are to give assurance that private property will remain reasonably There must be some reservation to the bolshevist doctrine that ral! property belongs to the state. Nationalization of foreign property must be somewhat academic and theoretical. The state can go through the form of confiscatory acquisition, but it must be a form only. The face of communism may thus be saved, but the private rights of investors must also be saved.

It is not too big a compromise. LENINE has already compromised more heartily by even condescending to invite foreign investments. The very invitation is a confession that sovietism, of the simon pure kind, is pretty much of a failure. It is, says LENINE, the finest and best possible scheme of government, but in this unregenerate day and generation it butters few parsnips. The time will come, etc. The time for bolshevizing the world has not arrived, but the time to save Russia from hopeless ruin is very emphatically at hand. LENINE realizes this, and the astute TCHITCHERIN recognizes it. Money from afar is absolutely necessary in The Moscow printing presses are preparing to issue government notes of the denomination of 100,000,000 roubles. A one hundred-million-rouble note will be worth about $25. You cannot get very far with money of this kind. Even if LENINE takes to issuing billion-rouble notes he will still feel the necessity of dollars, sovereigns, francs and lire. And short of making a public acknowledgment of the nonsense of bolshevism he is ready to do almost anything to get them. As for the rest of the world there can be no question of the desirability of Russian rehabilitation. Even the nations which most earnestly detest the bolshevist tyranny admit that bolshevism is at present pretty firmly established and that anything that is done for Russia must be done

The BOOKSHELF

PEPPERDAY. By Grace Miller White. Boston: Little, Brown &

THIS tale is a pot-pourri of many characters, incidents, events and side issues that, although they have more or less bearing on each other, are chiefly thrown in to artificially stimulate interest, complicate the plot and add a few more chapters to an already exceedingly tedious story. It is apparent throughout that this somewhat heterogeneous jumble of people and happenings is the author's conscious effort to intrigue the reader.
Patricia Pepperday, the heroine, and an altogether ravishing young person, receives four-four, at least -proposals of marriage during the ourse of the book. At her father's suffering financial losses she and he two very handsome twin brothers-Barney and Michael-go immediately on the stage. They apparently need no training of any sort, for the three are evidently just born with remarkable histrionic talent. There is a murder in the boarding house in which they live, and Michael, to shield Milly Foster, whom he loves, permits himself to be convicted and sent to jail for the crime. The grief of the Pepperday family is prostrating! Patricia is ill for a long, long time. On recovering, she gets into stock company, using the name of Patricia Rushmore, and swearing vengeance in her heart against Patrick O'Kelleron of the district attorney's office, who convicted Michael, the innocent. Her bitterness against him is particularly deep and keen, for her father died through anxiety over the trial, and she feels O'Kelleron to be "Pater's" murderer, in the bargain. While west, she marries Stephen Claypole, the playwright, and later discovers that he is in reality Patrick O'Kelleron. Visualize her inner struggle now with love and

DRURY-MEIGHEN LETTERS READ

Correspondence Relative To Manning Doherty's Trip To England Tabled.

Premier King Brings Down File At London Member's Request.

OTTAWA, May 2 .- (By Canadian Press,) — Correspondence which passed during the year 1921 between the prime minister of Canada and the premier of Ontario, relating to the activities in England of Hon. Manning Doherty, Ontario minister of agriculture, was tabled in the House of Commons today by the prime minister at the request of F. R. White (Conservative, London,

Two letters and a memorandum sent by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen were in the file which was tabled with a communication from Sir Joseph Pope, under-secretary of state for external affairs, in which it was stated that the department had no correspondence other than certain papers left by the secretary of the ate prime minister at the change

On Jan. 6, Premier Drury wrote from Toronto to Premier Meighen referring to the "propaganda work" of Hon. Manning Doherty, in England the previous fall, which, he said "was designed to stir up the British people on the subject of the removal of the cattle embargo."

"The matter, I am well aware, is well beyond the sphere of the pro-vincial government," Mr. Drury's letter continued, "but the propaganda work done by Mr. Doherty has had an enormous effect on public opinion in England, and seems likely to bear some fruit. I know you are thoroughly aware of the immense importance to Canada at large and to the farmers and stockmen of Canada in farmers and stockmen of Canada in particular, of having this embargo removed, and I would suggest that your government seize the opportunity when public opinion in England is so thoroughly aroused on the subject to make strong official representations through the proper channels that action be taken in this resentations through the proper chan-nels that action be taken in this re-

Meighen's Reply Read. The other letter was from Premier Meighen to Premier Drury, under date of Jan. 15, 1921. In it Mr. Meighen said:

"I have followed personally the efforts made in recent years by, and on behalf of, the Government of Canada to secure removal of the embargo against Canadian cattle. It seems to me scarcely a proper function on our part to initiate or engage in propaganda work among the British people in opposition to the course pursued by the British Government.

"Similar activity in Canada on the part of the British authorities would, fear, be universally resented here. think you will agree from the memorandum inclosed that there has been no proper step omitted by the Government of Canada which could reasonably have been taken to secure the removal of the embargo. The same course which we have pursued we proposed to continue and as noted in the memorandum the strongest pressure will again be brought to bear."

The memorandum accompanying Right Hon. Mr. Meighen's letter to Premier Drury covered the history of the case prior to the representa-tions made by Sir Robert Borden and his colleagues in 1917, and subsequent efforts in 1919 and 1920. In ing on Mr. Doherty's visi the memorandum stated:

Results Negligible. actual effect of Mr. Doherty's visit to England upon the movements of the odies whose influence really counts has been negligible. If Canada is to secure generous consideration from Great Britain in this regard it can never be on the basis of 'demand' or in respect of charges of bad faith, which the British Government will quite properly resent, but rather in consideration of actual economic need, and in the face of conditions which will clearly indicate the mutual advantage to either country.

"The Federal Government is in the best position it has ever been at the present moment to carry through the negotiations with success, and it will be a pity if it is to be embarrassed by demands from irresponsible quarters in Canada, when it ought to re-ceive the undivided and sympathetic support of all Canadian interests, it being a matter which should be above personal or political consideration and be recognized as of vital concern to the whole country.'

INCLINE RAILWAY ACT LAID

OVER. Toronto, May 2 .- The act to inorporate the Ottawa Street Incline Railway Company of Hamilton which has been brought back to the private bills committee of the Legislature in view of the opposition of the city council of Hamilton, was again discused before the committee today and adjourned for a week.

Where Happiness Dwells and Beauty Excels.

A summer day is long in Algonquin Park, inviting to out-door pastimes of all descriptions. The nights are cool and restful, with clear lakes reflecting the great stars that hang low in the northern skies, and there is silence, except for an occasional fluted call, the dip of feeding trout or bass and the subdued song of water and stirring leaves. If you would experience such summer days as these, visit Algonquin Park, drink in with your lungs the air of its heights, with your eyes behold its manifold beauties and you will be-come a lover of this big unspoiled forest of the Ontario Highlands. JACK, JOHN, ALICE WIN FIRST PLACE

Everybody cannot be a first prize winner or even a blue ribbon baby, no matter how great the points of merit. This was the lesson learned by a bevy of cuddlesome, lovable, healthy or getting-healthy babies at the Talbot street clinic Tuesday afternoon, when announcement was made of the names of winners of first place in the thorough examinations taking the place this year of the baby taking the place this year of the baby week competitions. A fine British spirit was manifested by both the tots and their proud parents in grace-fully yielding place to the three judged to be leaders, Master Jack Ham-mond, 457 Central avenue, who starred in the "under-18-months-old" class; John Duckett, 32 Alma street, who captured first place among those over 18 months old, and little Alice Carr, 633 Richmond street, who was considered to have made the best progress in the year. Since last November wee Alice hasn't missed a single clinic day at Talbot Street School, and in that time she has developed from "a sad case of malnutrition" to a rosy, happy, plump, lively little girl.

Thursday will be adjudicating day at the Rectory street clinic.

World Is Wonderful If You Can See

THE woman was little, no longer young, frail and her black garments and thick amber glasses emphasized the pallor of her face. But there was an irresistible sweetness about her mouth as she asked the stranger standing beside her at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets. "Can you tell me if that is the south car coming?"

The answer was a disappointment, and she gave a little sigh. "It seems a long time waiting," she said, "especially when you have been sick."

"Then you have been ill?" "I've had six operations in the past year on my eyes, and I'm not very strong yet. oh, I shouldn't complain about anything. I can see. Isn't it a wonderful, wonderful thing to have your sight, to be able to see the little leaves coming out, the grass getting green, and to be able to go about down town alone like I am? You are so helpless when you are blind.

"I couldn't see at all. But at last the operations were successful. Don't you think it looks a little like rain? Just to think of being able to say again 'looks." Six months ago I didn't think I'd ever be able to see a cloud or the sunshine again. I'm sure there will be a wonderful crown of glory for that doctor of mine. That is my car, you say? Oh, thank you, thank you. Why, I can read the sign myself. Isn't it a wonderful thing to be able to OFFER BULBS.

Dear Miss Grey,-There were not enough cinnamon bulbs to supply the demands of the Boxites last spring, so perhaps those who were disappointed would like to get them this year, and if you would care for them, Miss Grey, will send them in at once as they should be planted right away and kept in a sunny window till all danger of frost is past, then plant them outside. Will say to those who started vines last spring that they must not expect to see them before June this year or perhaps later as it all depends on the weather but they grow extremely fast after starting. The price will be the same as last year, three bulbs for a dime, and the money to go to the War Memorial Hospital. I lost A Wife's address, so will take this opportunity to thank her for the envelopes.

Good luck to the Mail-Box.
A CINNAMON VINE. Thank you, Cinnamon Vine, for the offer of the bulbs again this spring.

PLANS A TEA. Dear Miss Grey,—Our class in Sunday school is planning to have an afternoon tea on May 12. I was just wondering if you could give Ls a few suggestions as to what we could serve. We had one on April 20, and made $12.50. We served potato salad and jellies, sandwiches, pickles and cake. We thought of serving fruit salad in place of potato salad, and buns in place of sandwiches; but thought I would ask you what you thought would be nice. The admission is 15 cents. New Clinics Open Monday, Wednesday

Much interest has been aroused in the Tecumseh and Aberdeen districts in the well-baby clinics which open in the schools next week. Monday, for the Tecumseh clinic, for which the Mothers' Club has been working indefatigably. So keen are the members of the club about getting it going that they have offered to "man' the clinic so far as volunteer aid .is concerned for some time to come. One of the valuable assistants at the Rec tory street clinic for some time past has volunteered to assist for the present at the Aberdeen clinic. The weak place at the present, so far as ade quate "lay" help is concerned, is the Tuesday clinic in Talbot Street School where, states the superintendent of Child Welfare Nurses, Miss Bertha Smith, assistants will be welcomed.

About this time a nephew of his named Thomas Langdon' came out here, under the name of John Corbin. He had been a black sheep and was now wandering about the country.

"Then a woman came out here an Agnes Jierdon, a stenographer, on her vacation. I met her and learned that she was from Boston." A slight pressure exerted itself on Houston's arm. He glanced down to see Medaine Robinette's hand, clasped tight. "She spent nearly the whole summer here, and I made love to her. I asked her to marry me, and she told me that she would. I wanted to use her—to get her in Houston's office. I wanted to find out what was going on, so that I would know in advance. At the end of her vacation, she went back to Boston and got a job with Houston as office clerk. Almost the thing that she wrote me was that the old man was thinking about selling out to some concern back east. "'It made me desperate. Then I cought of Ba'tiste Renaud.'"

"Linda Lee, Inc."

WHILE the first purpose of the book is to entertain, I have endeavored to record certain aspects of life in the Hollywood film colony in a phase which will come to be recognized as a parallel in motion plcture history to that feverish era of "The Days of '49."

Within limitations of its single volume, "Linda Lee, Inc.," paints a true picture, colored only by the author's vision. It pretends neither to expose nor to palliate. It is merely a plain presentment of conditions with which I became conversant in the course of nine years of dabbling in picture making.

Curiously enough, "Linda Lee, Inc.," was written in every detail before the occurrence of that tragedy in real life which focused the attention and disgust of Canada on Hollywood-and was inspired by the author's memory of a conversation with a famous star and her husband. in which we agreed that, providing means were not found to stem the conspicuous than representative of Hollywood, some such tragedy was inevitably to be expected.

DEMPSEY'S PROTEGE TAKES SHORT STEP UP LADDER

Knocked Out by "Pepper" Martin in First of 15-Round Go.

NEW YORK, May 2 .- Vincent "Pep-1.000 per" Martin of Brooklyn tonight
1.000 knocked out Babe Herman, Los in the first round of a scheduled fifteen-round bout in Madison Square Garden. The men are featherweights.

Herman, dancing in a ring about his opponent, fell into a left swing that carried him across the ring. He landed on his back and took a count of five.

Arising, he danced again, and then went down under a series of bodyblows and a right to the jaw, and took blows and a right to the jaw, and took the full count.

One minute and 45 seconds of the round had passed when the referee finished counting over Herman. The Californian was carried to his corner, and was revived after five minutes.

Herman, a protege of Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champton, aspired to a title contest with Johnny Kilbane.

Tommy Nobel of England and Sammy Sieger of Brooklyn, featherweights, fought a twelve-round draw in the semi-final.

Probably never before in its history, not excepting the old days, has there been a greater inold days, has there been a greater interest. Upwards of fifty players have already responded, and the number will doubtless be increased.

The players are being put through their facings by Manager J. E. Thompson, who is confident that he has excellent material for two teams. The players will make their debut on Victoria Day, when they clash with St. Marys.

Ruth's best home-run performance in a single Ruth's best home-run performance in a single game is two home runs.

It has been 25 years since any player made three home runs in one game. On September 25, 1897, Jake Beckley, now dead, accomplished such a feat.

Only 11 players in the history of baseball have made three home runs in one game.

During the season of 1882 Muldoon of Cleveland, made five home runs in three games, as did King Kelly of Chicago, in 1884, and Babe Ruth of New York, in 1921.

A desire to emulate the deeds of Babe Ruth has made Williams a hitter of the slugging type.

While Williams has always been known as hard hitter in baseoall, up until last season he usually hit more balls on a line, rather than lifting them over the fence.

Easy Car to Handle

Women have found that the Chevrolet is a great asset to their shopping trips. They find that they can get to the bargain sales much earlier, and that their car is no trouble to handle through congested traffic.

There is also the trip to the country for fresh products which is the best, besides being the cheapest.

Think of the low cost of the Chevrolets.

LONG SERVICE IS BICYCLE RECORD

Statistics Show Many in Continuous Use For As Long As Eighteen Years.

Upkeep Is Matter of Few Cents, As Cost of Replacments Is Trifling.

In spite of the fact that the average bicycle of today is made up of approximately 1,700 parts, the silent two-wheeler invariably gives magnificent service. Records show that there are many bicycles which have been in regular use in various cities and towns of Canada for ten, twelve, fifteen, eighteen years, and even more, and the cost of maintenance for these wheels, in numerous instances, represents an outlay of comparatively a few cents. These figures bear out the argument that cycling is the most economical form of ransportation known. Replacements are generally of a minor naure and the expense attached thereo is often trifling.
