PAGES MISSING

DEAR SAINT ELIZABETH.

Patron of the Poor and Lover of the

Thursday, Nov. 19, we celebrate the feast of St Elizabeth of Hungary, whose humility, despite her royal birth, and whose far reaching charity to the poor and the sick, bringing her so closely in touch with the great world from which she was isolated both by her station and her holiness, have earned for her the sweet familiar title " dear Saint Elizabeth."

Traditions of her childhood and earliest youth tell us that the gentle princess had always a marked degree of holiness and a love of prayer and self-sacrifice, although she was not unmindful or negligent of the social relaxations which her position demanded of her; for as the daughter of the King of Hungary she was raised amid the pleasures and distractions of the court.

In their games she lead her mates towards the church, to spend a few moments in prayer, if the church were open ; but if she found it closed she pressed a kiss on the door for love of the Divine Presence in the tabernacle. She was fond of dancing, too, which was a favorite pas-time of the court; but after a few rounds she would say "One set is enough for the world : I must deprive myself of the others for the love of God.'

The rich dress that became her rank was worn simply because it belonged to that rank, and Etizabeth took no pleasure in its richness nor in her own personal adornment; and when in diadem in the presence, as she said, of Jesus crowned with thorns.

It is related that on one occasion she was reported by her foster mother, the Landgravine of Thuringia in whose house she was raised, for this act of humility and for the lowly position she assumed before the altar. "Cannot assumed before the altar. "Cannot you do as others," chided the noble lady, " and not as a badly brought up child? Ladies should be erect and not bent over like wilted roses."

Elizabeth remonstrated. "How can I," she responded, "appear crowned and erect in the presence of my King and my God? My crown is a mockery in the sight of His." And so fervently did she return to her devotion that the queen felt constrained, almost against her will, to follow Etizabeth's example.

In her childhood Elizabeth had been betrothed to Louis of Thuringia and when, after their marriage, they came to the throne, she found still more ample opportunity for the practice of those charities which had been the occupation of every moment that, as a princess, she could steal from the court. Her own fare was as frugal as she could manage to make it at the royal table, and her biographers tell us that the cooks of the palace were fairly annoyed by her frequent raids on the kitchen in behalf of her pensioners. The legend of the roses is familiar to everyone;—of the precious cloak-full of food which she was carrying to some poor sufferer and which, when her husband met her and incorrect and virtuous life was concerned —and this was my ideal of what religion should make a person — I feel I had rather risk the tenets of Masonry than any religion that I had met.

"In this state I lived practically for quired what errand took her so far from familiar is another legend which tells us that once, having exhausted in alms the money in her purse, she gave a eweled glove to a poor beggar who had received nothing. The glove was secured by a young knight who had seen the charitable act, and he wore it ever after as a crest in his helmet, at tributing to this token the success of his arms in tournament and in the

To the lepers, also, the sympathy of St. Elizabeth was most precious, as she founded hospitals for them and washed their sores with her own tender hands.

Poverty followed upon her husband's death, and her banishment from the palace with her children made her homeless and penniless; but not for long, for she died at the early age of twenty-four, after a life as rich in holiness, charity and sacrifice as if it had lasted the allotted three-score and ten of the Scripture.

St. Elizabeth was a member of the Third Order of St. Francis, and may therefore be called the especial patron of those who enjoy a like blessing. Not inappropriately, too, do we celebrate her feast in the month of the Holy Souls, for she had a great devotion to the souls in purgatory, often saying of them: "These are now saying of them: "These are now dead; they were living once, just as we are, and we must all die, as they have done; so let us love God and re-member His saints."—Catholic Colum-

THE BISHOP OF GALWAY ON IRISH UNITY.

The Bishop of Galway sends this significant letter to the Dublin Freeman, with his check for £20:-

Mt. St. Mary's, Galway, Oct. 28 My Dear Sir:—I beg you will do me the favor of conveying the enclosed human origin, and the tendency of its tained with the necessary resources the good Bishop's face as he said: 'We for carrying on their representative work. Should the Irish Nationalists now lapse into lethargy as to the condition and welfare of the representa-tion of the country in Parliament, disaster to the political fortunes of the nation must inevitably be entailed. It must be plain to any one that takes in the present critical situation that the Irish party cannot possibly be held together without the financial support of the Irish at home. How can any one reasonably expect aid from the greater Ireland abroad if the mother country will not, even in her actual and prospective disheartened outlook, manifest a generous and self-sacrificing spirit on behalf of the paramount in-terests of the National couse? Without the Irish cause shall once more meet with the old and proverbial deaf ear of the House, and become once again the sport of both Euglish parties alike— Liberal as well as Tory. It is scarcely possible that Irish Nationalists will stand by passively, and see the ground won during the Parliamentary warfare of the last twenty years now exposed to the danger of being lost through their own strange apathy and political blindness. If they are going to rest on their ears, the country must drift, and who can tell how far back it may be carried in the adverse political currents. In such untoward event, we may abandon our Home Rule as pirations, despair of any adjustment of personal adornment; and when in church she invariably removed her black despondency at our backward black despondency at our backward condition as to the natural and mental development of our unhappy country, tamely submit to millions of unjust annual taxation, and witness the sad spectacle of Ireland falling back again into the old grooves of twenty years ago, when there was no Irish party to force the Irish cause on an unwilling House, and when British misgovern-

> Yours very faithfully, † Francis J. MacCormack, Bishop of Galway and Kilmacduagh.

AN HONEST SEEKER

After Truth Tells the Story of his Conversion to the One True Faith.

A convert from Methodism, Mr. N. . Thompson, says that after he lost faith in Protestantism he was turned back from becoming a Catholic by the apparent formality in the Church and by the belief that it was taking no steps to enlighten mankind in practical religion. Then he tried the secret societies. "It was in this state of mind," he writes, "that Masonry and Odd-Fellowship seemed to offer me my greatest solace, and I became a devotee at the shrine of both these orders, and they took so strong a hold on me that I embraced some half-dozen others. I sought in vain for a satisfactory reason of the Church's opposition to these orders, and really had settled down into the conviction that in so far as a correct and virtuous life was concerned ten years, attending no church, but a zealous and devoted member of every secret order that had attained any prominence in the land. It is just to say that my naturally religious disposition was increased rather than diminished by this experience, but the claims of a growing family made me more and more thoughtful, and more and more desirous to set my children a proper example. My devoted wife never omitted a prayer for my conversion in the evening and morning pray-ers, and once more I sought to find wherein lay the proper road to take. Protestantism could give me no cer-tainty for my belief, and in a matter so important as the salvation of a human soul I felt Almighty God could not leave mankind without some certain guide. Protestantism said: "You have that guide in the bible;" but I found innumerable sects, all claiming the bible as the special foundation for their teaching, and many of these so wholly irreconcilable that, instead of accepting the bible as such a guide, I felt it needed some authentic and infallible interpreter. No other Church claimed that authority save the Catholic, and this I could not embrace be-cause it condemned Masonry.

"In this frame of mind I met Archbishop Gross, then Bishop of Savan-nab, Georgia, and to him I stated my difficulties, asking him to explain why the Catholic Church opposed Masonry, and as near as I can give them I will repeat his words, though fifteen years have elapsed since they were uttered. He said: 'The Cath-

course of which he said:—

English sympathy and English money has created political prisoners in every corner of Europe, and yet the moment she comes to deal with the Mirish political prisoners she deals with them with a barbarity for which you will find no parallel in the prison system of any country in the world with a spark of civilization (A Voice—You know that, and cries of "Tulla more") What is the history of England on this question? It was in England that the insurrectionary movement against the King of Naples was organized; it was in England that Orsini found a place to manufacture his infernal machines; it was England that the insurrectionary movement against the King of Naples was organized; it was in England that Orsini found a place to manufacture his infernal machines; it was England that The Monasteries are maintained, like the prison should be a substitute of seeing it, in little less than three decades, well extended and deeply rooted, and now signed with the Church's solemn approval.

The monasteries and chapels of the Order in St. Hyacinthe and Toronto are especially well equipped and beautiful. At the former, the nuns publish a very interesting and well-edited monthly magazine, The Voice of the Precious affiliations, are as far as possible, centres of activity in the production of pious books and pamphlets.

The monasteries and chapels of the Order in St. Hyacinthe and Toronto are especially well equipped and beautiful. At the former, the nuns publish a very interesting and well-edited monthly magazine, The Voice of the Precious affiliations, are as far as possible, centres of activity in the production of pious books and pamphlets.

The monasteries and chapels of the Order in St. Hyacinthe and Toronto are especially well equipped and beautiful. At the former, the nuns publish a very interesting and well-edited monthly magazine, The Voice of the Precious affiliations, are as far as possible, centres of activity in the production. The production of production of production and the production his infernal machines; it was England that supplied the rebels against the United States of America with arms (cheers for America). It was from English territory that the raid upon the Transveal was that the raid upon the Transvaal was In a future article we shall have bursts against oppression. England has been at the bottom of half the rebellions of Europe. She has made a hero of every rebel from Garibaldi to Stepniak, and she has never been too ment of Ireland had a free hand. sepniak, and she has never been to stepniak, and she has never been to sepniak, and she has never been to sepniak s an Irish rebel every instinct of Christhemselves when they prate of the Sul educational questions that have been tan of Turkey about liberty and humanity. I have no hesitation in "2. Religious teaching t humanity. I have no hesitation in saying that many of those recent Armenian atrocities, for which England is so justly indignant, are no greater disgrace to civilized constructions of the school construction of State than the way in which Gallagher and Whitehead have been driven mad. and the way in which, probably, Wilson is being driven mad at the present moment, while we are here in Kilrush. The Sultan's methods are more com-plete, they are shorter and more merciful, for I venture to say that it would have been a less brutal thing if they had plunged a dagger into the hearts of these men the night they were con-

THEIR RULE APPROVED BY ROME.

The Contemplative Order of the Nuns of the Precious Blood.

The Rule of the Nuns of the Precious Blood, a religious community founded n 1861, at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quebec, has just received the inal approbation of the Holy See, so that its members are, in a very special way, daughters of the Church

Seldom has a religious institute been in years and in the actual lifetime of its foundress. But the Order of the Precious Blood is engaged in a work of prayer and reparation peculiarly adapted to the needs of our time when religion is op-World, by means of those apparently certified non-Roman Catholic teacher. weak things with which He loves to

to Our Divine Redeemer.

terests of the National couse? Without an Irish party in sympathy with our people, the certain result must be—that the Irish cause shall once more meet with the old and proverbial deaf are of

THE MANITOBA SCHOOLS.

The Official Agreement.

her. She pounces upon them; she buries them as John Daly was buried and passed at the next regular session that Legislation shall be introduced and passed at the next regular session. in one of those dungeons among the lowest felons of the land, where she lowest leions of the land, where she tortures them with a malignity that in amendment to the Public Schools' ought to make Englishmen ashamed of Act, for the purpose of settling the

> "2. Religious teaching to be con " (1). If authorized by a resolution, > passed by a majority of the school trus "(2) If a petition be presented to the board of school trustees, asking for religious teaching, and signed by the parents or guardians of at least ten children attending the school in the case of a rural district, or by the parents or guardians of at least twentyfive children attending a school in a city, town or village.

"(3) Such religious teaching to take place between the hours of thirteen long years of cruel torments, to that system of barbarity by which by slow degrees of bureau and to be conducted by any Christian clergy. by slow degrees of hunger and of dreary solitude men's minds are broken down and they are left a prey to all down and they are left a prey to all sorts of horrors and delusions. man, or by a teacher, when so author lized.

"(4) Where so specified in such resolution of the trustees, or where so required by the petition of the parents or guardians, religious teaching dur ing the prescribed period may take place only on certain specified days of he week instead of on every teaching

(5) In any school in towns of ties where the average attendance o Roman Catholic children is forty o upwards, and in villages and rura districts where the average attendance of such children is twenty-five or up so highly honored, while still so young wards, the trustees shall, if required by the petition of the parents or ians of such number of Roman Catho lic children, respectively, employ at least one duly certified Roman Catho lic teacher in such school. school in towns or cities where the posed less by those who deny the Divinely founded Church than those Catholic children is forty or upward, who deny the Divinity of Christ Himself and in villages and rural districts and the redemption of the world by His where the average attendance of such sacrifice on the Cross. Rationalism, rather than Protestantism, seeks to dominate the social and intellectual life of the New World; and in the New Such children, employ at least one duly

"(6) Where religious teaching is re confound the strong, God prepares the quired to be carried on in any school way for a great increase of devotion in pursuance of the foregoing provis ions, and there are Roman Catholic The Order of the Precious Blood is children and non-Roman Catholic chil contemplative, devoted to prayer and dren attending such schools, and the penance, like the Order of Mount Carmel, the Second Order of St. Domorganization, commissioned and established by Jesus Christ Himself as the sole teacher of faith and morals among men. It can not, therefore, brook a human rival. Masonry is of purely human origin, and the tendency of its the instruction of converts.

the time allotted for religious teaching jail, amounts to this figure, although the first beginnings of the institute shall be divided in such a way that the all are not behind the bars at any one shall be divided in such a way that the lime." Now these criminals are mostly check for £20 to the treasurers of the Irish Parliamentary Party Fund. as my response to the party's appeal for aid.

It seems to me a matter of urgent

In the first beginnings of the institute shall be divided in such a way that the divided in such a way that the shall be divided in such a way that the vere at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology were at St. Hyacinth, Province of Quereligious teaching of the Roman Cathology wer catechism and knew all the fundamen. the name by which she is known in re- | ciples of this Act for the carrying into

"(10) Where ten of the pupils in any school speak the French (or any language other than English) as their native language, the teaching of such pupil shall be conducted in French (or such other language) and English, unless the parents or guardians of such pupils may desire it. In case the parents or guardians do not desire the attendance of the pupil at such religious teaching, then the pupils shall be remain in another room."

CATHOLIC PRESS.

Catholics, as men and citizens, ought to govern their conduct by the eternal principles of public right and social order which form a part of that normal planned (cheers for Kruger) It was from England that the Armenians were instigated into all their recent out.

more to say of the manner of life of the Nuns of the Precious Blood.—Bost and reasonable philosophy of life which alone has the note of Catholicity.

The present is a fitting opportunity of reminding our Protestant friends of a few historical facts in connection with the See of Canterbury. They ap pear to have forgotten that the Chair of Canterbury was founded by the Pope, who placed St. Augustine on it as its first Archbishop, and that in olden times the Archbishop of Canterbury was a most influential and most powerful prelate. He was Papal legate in virtue of his office, and from the year 1049 took rank in Rome im mediately after the seven Cardinal Bishops: he was occupant of a chair more ancient than the throne of England, while his authority stretched far wider than the boundaries of the realm."- Liverpool Catholic Times.

To meet again! What ineffable joy is contained in this hope! And now, what shall we do to render happy those of our loved ones who returned to their true home, who passed through the portals of eternity? Many of them are still undergoing punishment for their unatoned faults. Could we only see them, we could not but give them proof of our sympathy. Or would you not make use of the means of relief placed at your disposal? Would you refuse them your help, and thereby demonstrate your disregard for them? If so, they will not meet you in gladness when you enter the portals of the next world; they will give their welcome to those who were more charitable than you. - Rev. John A. Nagel

A correspondent writing to the Tablet concerning the controversy about the alleged revelations of "Dr Bataille" about Free Masonry, declare that he was once a Master Mason and adds: "The 'secret 'of Free Masonry is simply the possibility of uniting me of all creeds in one common worship o God. That is all. Its position is the of the cultivated pagan, who regarded all beliefs as equally true or equally false.' If Free Masonary possessed a ecret the knowledge of which is incalculable benefit for every body - fo Free Masonry is intended to imply universality - then Free Masonry criminally wrong in keeping that knowledge a secret. If, on the other hand, there is no secret at all, then Free Masonary is a gigantic humbug in pretending to possess what it has not my predecessors in the bishopric of pretending to possess what it has not got." The Catholic Church is the one true universal organization. In it all men are brethren. It recognizes neither bond nor free, but children of God and brethren of Christ. And it has no secret and desires no darkness. -Catholic Review.

The famous "Evangelist" Mr. D. L. Moody says: "If any one had told me an increased devotion to Our Lady two years ago that I would become in among the Catholics of St. Peter's terested in any more work than I then parish. had on hand, I would have laughed at ready to hear our supplications, and to him. But it was about eighteen intercede with her Divine Son for all months ago, when I was on my way to Texas, that the statement was made to spiritual, that we stand in need of. I me by a lady, that we have 750,000 will give you one instance of the fruits prisoners in this country. I inquired of this miraculous intercession. It is into this statement and found that the whole criminal class, in and out of work, and had tried every human whole criminal class, in and out of work, and had tried every human jail, amounts to this figure, although means to obtain employment, but in It seems to me a matter of urgent and vital interest to the country, at the present juncture in our political affairs, that the Irish party should be sus. This request brought a broad smile to would be painful to her, and contrary half of the teaching days of each and their thoughts are full of remorse. and their thoughts are the for those of Can nothing more be done for those of them who are Catholics in faith though not in action? Mr. Moody them more than one hundred thousand catechism and knew all the fundamental teachings of the Church, and on being examined I was found fully instructed, and really was received into the Church the following day.

"This is briefly the story of my conversion; but no tongue can tell the joy and happiness that I experienced when all doubts were removed, and I felt that I was in truth a member of the one true Church."

ENGLAND'S TREATMENT OF POLITICAL PRISONERS.

William O'Brien made a stirring was calculated among the name by which she is known in religion.

Enough to say that her own qualities, and the special method by which she is known in religion.

Enough to say that her own qualities, and the special method by which she is known in religion.

Enough to say that her own qualities, and the special method by which she is known in religion.

Enough to say that her own qualities, and the special method by which she is known in religion.

Enough to say that her own qualities, and the special method by which she is known in religion.

Enough to say that her own qualities, and the special method by which she is known in religion.

Enough to say that her own qualities, and the special method by which she is known in religion.

Enough to say that her own qualities, and the special method by which she is known in religion.

Enough to say that her own qualities, and the special method by which she is known in religion.

Enough to say that her own qualities, and the special method by which she sought to glorify God and save souls, by increasing devotion to the secular work.

"(8) Where the school-room accommodations shall take place during the secular work.

"(8) Where the school-room accommodation at the disposal of the trustees permits instead of allowing different days of the week to different denominations shall take disposal of the trustees permits instead of allowing different days of the week to different denominations shall take disposal of the trustees permits instead of allowing different days of the week to different denominations shall take dispo dence in many quarters of a growing disaffection towards the over-excited, high-pressure rate of speed at which we have been living, and there are more and more pleas from those who are of," the powers that be "in literative for simple, again, again, and the samplifung. ture for simpler, easier, less ambitious modes of thought and deed. The world is tired, mentally, morally, such other language) and English, upon the bi-lingual system.

"(11) No pupils to be permitted to be present at any religious teaching unless the parents or guardians of such growing quieter through weariness and sauer through the quiet of re-action. In spite of the assumed and widely circulated demand for "a purpose "in everything; in spite of the cramming and jamming, the boring and crushing system of instruction that has oppressed us with lectures even in our leisure moments, made a toil of every recreation and destroyed. In her concern for the salvation of all social kindliness through a neverouls Holy Church insists only upon a ending struggle of poor wits and very ractical faith in Jesus Christ: that is, moderately endowed intellects, there is religion, and the use of the divinely appointed means of grace. But Catholics as men and divinely peace, when, if one show the days of peace, when, if one show the catholics as men and divinely peace, when, if one show the catholics as men and divinely peace, when if one show the catholics as men and divinely peace, when it one show the catholics as men and divinely peace, when it one show the catholics as men and divinely peace, when it one show the catholics are men and divinely peace. peace, when, if one chose to be a dunce, one was a dunce, and no other one thought it a fact worthy of com-ment.—Catholic Standard and Times.

> When a Catholic man becomes the father of children, he owes them, first of all, a rearing in the faith, and, secondly, an example of the Christian life. If such a parent eats meat on friday, remains absent from Mass on Sundays, neglects his morning and night prayers, talks contemptuously of the priest, sneers at religion, refuses to perform his Easter duties, is deficient in charity, and yields to anger, drunkenness and profanity, his sons are likely to be criminals and his daughters wayward. He is apt to be the main cause of their destruction and they are pretty certain to be his scourges. He will help to lose his own soul by contributing to the loss of theirs. He will sink further into hell and of their viciousness of which he was the occasion. He has scandalized the innocent. It were better for him to be chained to an anchor and to be cast into the depths of the sea, than to be an instrument in the perdition of his own children. Even in the depths of the pit, if he and they meet there, he will be upbraided by them and feel his misery deeper because of them. Woe to the scandalous father-misery here and agony hereafter! - Catholic Columbian.

Our Lady of Aberdeen.

On the occasion of the blessing of a new statue of Our Lady of Aberdeen in St. Peter's, Aberdeen, the Bishop of the liocese gave the following interesting account of a famous statue connected with the granite city, of which this is an exact reproduction: In the olden days — before the Reformation — a chapel on the Bridge of Dee. The exact spot where the chapel stood is now lesignated by the title 'Chapel Neuk. When the Reformation came Bishop Gavin Dunbar removed the statue for safety to the cathedral of S. Machar in Old Aberdeen. Fearing that it would suffer desecration even there, it was entrusted to the care of a faithful sea captain, who conveyed it in safety to Beigium, where it was erected in the Church of Our Lady of Finisterre, in Brussels. Its erection there roused a great degree of devotion to Our Lady among the faithful, and it came to be known as the statue of Our Lady of Good Success, also as "Our Lady of Aberdeen." I have seen the statue at Brussels, and have prayed before it. Aberdeen and all the Bishops of Scot land, to have this statue removed back to Aberdeen, but up to the present, I regret to say, this has not been accomplished. However, Father Chisholm has got an exact reproduction made, in size and appearance, and it is this statue which I am now about to bless. I hope it will have the effect of rousing The Mother of God is ever vain. His wife at length came to this the grave and get a relapse, ced any symp-ill. Hickey. , in the same 'astor Koenig's and liver comcago, III.

ENIG'S

ottle. 6 for 35 or 50. 1897.

ITRACTIONS

GIBBONS-Good Book." "Elizabeth."

ic Marriage." Ionor's Sake."

Cold Water."
op and his wonnt.) of Abgarro," of her Life and us of Prague." of the X-Rays.

etry); "Mary's Lady of Guada-Sorrow"; "The thony's Bread;" e of St. Patrick's D LIST OF SOME y-Five Cents.

and you will get All that is neces-to, or 25c. in post-tworth double the ouys it will find it D. London, Ont.

us.

avelling agents.) ANTED. NT TEACHERS Separate school. sional second pre-inspectors' testi-tier, Sec. 943 tf

t 1897. HOLDING r the Hesson Sep-ions, enclosing tes-y, experience, etc., son, Ont. 943-3 OLDING A SEC Separate school Applications to be rmick, Secretary,

FOR SCHOOL 1897. Holding 2nd Applicants please required. Also en-ss John Fox. jr., 943-4 FOR PUBLIC references, grade experience, salary also, to F. C. Peck,

OR SCHOOL SEC-Holding 2nd or to commence Jan ry and experience, n, Ont. 942 3 EACHERS FOR nool for year 1897. a teachers. Male certificate; female rifficate. Applicatersigned until 30th nts to state qualification, Almonte.

WANTED. YING CORNET:

"A FAREWELL and pretty songs. EY, ROYCE & CO., 939 tf WARE

Carpet Sweepers weepers atest ET, North Sile.

Cripple

The iron grasp of scrofula has no mercy upon its victims. This demon of the blood is often not satisfied with causing dreadful sores, but racks the body with the pains of rheumatism until Hood's Sarsaparilla cures.

"Nearly four years ago I became atflicted with scrofula and rheumatism.

Made

Pieces of bone came out and an operation was contemplated. I had rheumatism in my legs, drawn up out of shape. I lost appetite, could not sleep. I was a perfect wreck. I continued to grow worse and finally gave up the doctor's treatment to came back; the sores commenced to heal. My limbs straightened out and I threw away my crutches. Lam now stout and hearty and am farming, whereas four years ago I was a cripple. I gladly rec-ommend Hood's Sarsaparilla." URBAN HAMMOND, Table Grove, Illinois.

Well

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is the One True Blood Purifier. All druggists. $1. Prepared only by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass. Hood's Pills cure liver fils, easy to take, easy to operate. 25c.

ST. JEROME'S COLLEGE

BERLIN, ONT.

Canaplete Classical, Philosophical and Commercial Courses.
And Shorthand and Typewriting. For further particulars apply to REV. THEO. SPETZ. President

A BSUMPTION COLLEGE, SANDWICH Ont.—The studies embrace the Classics and Commercial courses. Terms, including all ordinary expenses, $150 per annum. For full particulars apply to Rev. D. Cusairs O. S. B.

THE PINES URSULINE ACADEMY

CHATHAM, ONT.

CHATHAM, UNIT.

The Educational Course comprises every branch suitable for young lades.

Superior advantages afforded for the cultivation of MUSIC. PAINTING. DRAW.

ING. and the CERAMIC ARIS. ENG. and the CERAMIC ARTS.

SPECIAL COURSE for pupils preparing for Matriculation, Commercial Diplomas, Sten Matriculation, Commercial Diplomac, matriculation, Commercial Diplomac, ography and Type writing.

For particulars address,
THE LADY SUPERIOR.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.
BELLEVILLE Ensires College is the most popular fusiness Col lege in the Dominion,

BECANSE:

(a) The College buildings and grounds are owned by the Principal; consequently it is the most substantial and permanent College in Canada.

(b) The large staff of instructors are experts in their respective departments.

(c) The equipment and facilities are much superior to that of other colleges.

For circular and further information address: Belleville Business C-llege, Bulley Belleville, Ont.

LEGAL.

LOVE & DIGNAN, BARRISTERS, ETC., 118 Talbot street, London. Private funds to loan. THOMAS J. ANDERSON, BARRISTER, I Solicitor, etc. Office: Edge Block, South east corner Dundas and Richmond streets. Money to loan.

Mustard - THAT'S - Mustard

MADE ABSOLUTELY PURE FROM RICH FLAVOURED ENGLISH SEED

Ask for Dunn's Pure Mustard

THE SAUGEEN MAGNETIC MIN-ERAL WATER

PLOWS FROM AN ARTESIAN WELL in the control of the c

PLUMBING WORK Opp. Masonic Temple.

SMITH BROS

Sanitary Plumbers and Heating Engineers London, Ont. Telephone 538. Sole Agents for Peerless Water Heaters.

Pictorial Lives of the Saints The Catholic Record or One Year For $3.00.

The Pictorial Lives of the Saints contains Bedections for Every Day in the Year. The book is compiled from "Butler's Lives" and other approved sources, to which are added Lives of the American Saints, recently placed on the Calendar for the United States by special petition of the Third Plenary Council of Baltimore; and also the Lives of the Saints Canonized in 1881 by His Holiness Pope Lee XIII. Edited by John Gilmary Shea, LL.D. With a beautiful frontispiece the Holy Family and nearly four hundred other filustrations. Elegantly bound in extra cloth. Greatly admired by our Holy Father, Pope Lee XIII., who sent his special blessing to the publishers; and approved by forty Archbishops and Bishops.

The above work will be sent to any of our subscribers, and will also give them credit for a year's subscribtion on The Carholic Becord, or receipt of Three Dollars. We will in all cases prepay carriage.

MARCELLA GRACE.

By Rosa MULHOLLAND

CHAPTER XXVIII.

A WARNING.

There was grief and indignation among the people at the news of cruel murder, or "sudden death" as they called it, speaking under their breath as if they feared the blades of grass at their feet could hear them. Marcella, catching their whispers, told herself that these people must have lived terribly between two mortal fears -dread of the landlord, and dread of the secret societies-to have learned this cowardice, they who cared so little for hurt or death. Mike was followed for hurt or death. to his grave by true mourners, but there was no loud demonstration on the part of his friends, and nothing was said about trying to discover the authors of his death. He was put away under the sod and apparently out of with sighs and shudders; but even his own family mentioned him no

Marcella, having questioned some of the people on the subject, but without getting any satisfactory answer, asked Father Daly the meaning of this unnatural state of things. Was the murderer one among themselves, and had friends and neighbors agreed by

mmon consent to condone the crime

'Hush!" he said, "it is enough for me to speak loudly when I denounce the murderer from the altar, but it will be safest for you to be silent in the Neither friend nor neighbor matter. could do any good by lamenting ever poor Mike's untimely fate. The same hands that with one blow struck Mr. Fight-who, God forgive me for say ing it, had worked hard to earn his fate-and struck your husband for defying the power that moves thos hands, have felled this harmless lad. Doubtless he was marked from the first moment when he ventured to warn you of Bryan's danger, and told off as ripe for death after he gave his evi dence on the trial. We have had a visitor or visitors in the country, it seems, unknown to us. Let me en treat you, my dear, to do nothing to provoke their attentions, to be silent on dangerous subjects, and to be careful how you go and come.' Marcella, appalled at such a view of the case, struggled a while with her impulse to cry out, to condemn, to warn, but remembering her helpless ness as a woman, and Bryan's depend ence on her, lowered her voice, and was careful in her movements, and acknowledged herself at last to be a

"For they would strike a woman, she said to herself. "Those who would harm a poor simple youth like Mike would strike a woman. And I cannot deny that I want to live for Bryan. braved the fever for the sake of th saving of many, but I am powerless here; and Mike is already gone beyond

She did not, however, alter her usual course of conduct, persisted in the dis charge of her self-imposed duties, and hung out no signals of fear.

Mike had been in his grave a month and the fever was abating ; September brought cold, fresh weather, unfavor able to the spread of the scourge, and there was hope that it would have quite disappeared before winter.

One night Marcella had sat up later than usual to finish the letter that, whatever the labors of the day migh be, was unfailingly posted to Bryan She had had much to tell him lately as she sat now alone with lar and fire she told him that she felt with always said so, but I am going to give relief that winter was coming back and | you plenty of time to think the matter that the sweet airs he could not breathe with her, and the brilliant scenes he could not behold with her, were going and would soon be gone - she felt nearer to him as she was now, shnt in a room, all her mind concentrated on her thought of him; even the sighing of the night wind-

What the night wind had to do with her fancies remained untold, for suddenly glancing up, she knew not from what cause, she saw the figure of a man coming into the room. She was sitting in the library, a room somewhat removed from the others in the house the table and the fire were between her and the door. Scarcely believing the evidence of her senses, she stared at the figure, saw that it was totally strange to her, that all the middle part of the face was blackened over so that the features could not be recognized, and, finally, that it was advancing towards

She glanced at the clock on the mantelpiece. It was half an hour past midnight, and the servants had all been in bed for two hours at least. In the midst of the confusion of her sudden alarm she realized that there would be no use in calling for help even if her voice would come. If this meant death, then it must be death; yet if she could keep her senses-

The man had advanced to the table at which she had been sitting, and stood at the other side of it, leaning towards her, his long, light-colored eyes gleaming horribly out of the blackened Marcella had arisen as he drew near, with an attempt at defiance, and clenched her hands on her breast, striving to force back the sob of terror that broke from her. With a flash she saw Mike lying with the wound through his heart. She was Bryan's wife and claw like hands that supported him as he leaned across the table towards her, and would strangle her. Where had she seen those hands before? mind wandered back as in a sort of delirium to the trial, to the witness box. she would not swoon, she would try to speak, she would not scream-And then, after enduring this dread ful madness of gazing and battling for sane thought for a full minute, which seemed like years, she heard the man begin to speak, not ferociously, but in a quiet, reasuring tone of voice.

"Don't be so frightened, lady," he said, "I'm no burglar, and I mean you no harm-that is, not unless you force it from me. I have come here to talk to you about business. Come lady, I know you have pluck. Drink this glass of water, here quite handy as if you were expecting me, and si down and attend to what I am going to say to you.'

Marcella drank the water hoping that it would give her back her voice and almost thankful to him for suggest ing it. Then she sat down and mad a great effort to gather up her wits s as to defend Bryan's property, that is her own life, and all the comfort an service which that otherwise worthless life must mean for him.

Presently she was amazed to hear her own voice speaking rationally and quietly in the terrible silence of the

"If you wanted me on business," she said, "why did you not come in daylight like an honest man? I am here every day to see all who come."

Thank you, but that would no suit me at all. My business is not or dinary business. I have come from them that have their own ways of Lady, you have got a ately. You met with someworking. warning lately. thing in your path that you did not like.

The lowered voice and insinuating tone emphasized the last words. God, he was hinting at the murder of Mike. Her blood curdled as she saw again that white face staring through the heather at the sky should she be found one day; and who would dare to tell Bryan?

"Now, lady, we don't want any more blood in this matter if we can help it; but maybe we will not be able to help it if we find people stupid and obstinate. I come from them that are bound to work their will, not for your sake or my sake, but for the sake of the great cause.

"I am waiting to hear what you want me to do," said Marcella, mechan ically.

"Well, lady, your husband, Mr. Bryan Kilmartin, belongs to us. That's one thing I have to put before you. Once one of us, always one of He thought to shake us off and he was punished. Death was the punish ment due to him, but an accident came in the way, and in a matter of a hand ful of years, twenty, eighteen, may be fifteen-who knows? he'll be out on the world again. And, lady, he'll want something to do. The pretty, genteel world he wanted to belong to vill have nothing to say to him. him return to us and we will rub out old sores. What you've got to do now is to swear to me, and to give it to me in writing, that you will use your influ ence with him. It's well known to us that you write to him pretty often, and that you're the kind of a wife that sticks to a man like glue-that you will win him over for us, so that when he comes out of prison he will be one of us again."

"Never!" said Marcella. "Ah, I thought you would say that for you are a plucky over. It's a matter of life and death to to you, but you won't mind that much as some of your sex would do. for their own sakes, I mean. But when you come to consider of it, you'll think a good deal about all that you'll bring upon Bryan Kilmartin by refus-ing. When you are gone, he'll sit there in his prison cell-a hell of a place I can tell you - a desperate man. and by the time he comes out he'll have worked himself mad. And so we'll be pretty likely to get him without any thanks to you. The law has con demned him as one of us, and the world believes he belongs to us, and he'll find out he may as well have the game of it, seein' he's got the name of it. You and him can both be useful to us, but he's the one we want. can do without you. So now you know what I mean, lady. As it is, you've been rather in our way for some time back. We have a score running up against you since the night you hid Kilmartin. At present you stand be tween us and the people here ; you've got a lot of work in you and we could make you very useful; but if you won't change your hand and work for us, you'll have to go.

"I must go, then. "No, you needn't. I have my or ders and I shall obey them; but it's part of my business to tell you that we yould rather not meddle with women if we can avoid it. As I said, you are going to get time to think about it. We do nothing without plenty of warning. You have ten days from this time to turn it all over in your mind. On the tenth day when night comes, you will put a light in bedroom window, a bright light to burn all night, so that it can be seen; and I will-no, I will not come here again, trust me for that-but I will to-meet with a bad accident." "I suppose this is all you have to say for the present," said Marcella, struggling to control the expression of her horror. "If it is, I will ask you her horror.

to leave me for the present."
"I'm going," said the intruder;
"but I must say before I go that you are a plucky one, lady. I was afraid I might have frightened you to death. And I don't want to hurt you-not if I can help it. I'm only doing my duty and obeying my orders. You'll learn to do the same before long, if you are Good night."

Marcella saw him withdraw from the other side of the table, turn and glide away, she did not see where. eyes, released from gazing at him, grew suddenly dim, and she groped her way to a door near her with but one thought that she would escape to her room before the reaction after her fierce effort at control should set in and might take away her senses. To wake from a swoon, here, alone, in the dead of night, with the recollection of this horror staring her in the face, might overturn her brain. Safe in her bed-room she locked the door, and flung herself on the bed, feeling secure for the moment, if not yet capable of think

Her first clear thought in the matter was that she would write to Bryan and ask his advice, his guidance as to her conduct; he would know how she ought to deal with these people. Whatever he directed her to do she would do The next thought that came her was that she must do no such thing, that she would not even hint to him of what had happened. His anxiety for her might lead him to think of temporizing with the fiends, thus entangling himself, through her, inextricably, in their toils. By him she could only fill him with atarm and cruel agony of mind, causing him to fear every moment, throughout the long monotonous moments that made up the prisoner's day and night, for her safety. She would take counsel with Father Daly only. She would fight out this battle for her husband and for herself, alone.

As soon as possible she hastened to the priest and related her extraordinary story. The old man stood aghast at the dilemma in which he saw her placed. He was dazed and horrified. He had no expedient to suggest, no advice to offer.

"They mean what they say," he said, walking about his little parlor where his breviary lay open on the table showing where he had been interrupted in his reading, "and they generally do what they threaten; not always, perhaps, but generally."

"Not always?" asked Marcella, tremblingly. "Sometimes their only object is to frighten, but I am terrified for you, terrified, terrified. I can only think of getting you away out of this-"Would that do any good?" said Marcella. "It seems to me that if they want me they will follow me anywhere. I have got the impression that if I try to escape they will be the more bent on having me. I fancy that the only thing that seemed to that wretch towards me was what he called my 'pluck.' If I stand my ground, I have a chance; if I run,

"Yes, you are right; they admire courage. It is the only virtue they have any longer a conception of. my lost sheep, my men who ought to have been soldiers!" cried the old man, throwing up his trembling hands. "When will the Lord lift the pall that hangs over this unhappy

Then, recovering himself and returning to the urgent question of the moment, he went on:

. "And yet I must think about guarding you. I could smuggle you into a convent where you could live as one of the nuns-Marcella shook her head. "I feel that it would be of no use," she said. "The moment I tried to come out again, they would meet me on the threshold. That is, if they are in threshold. That is, if they are in earnest. If they are not, why I should earnest. only be wasting my time and neglecting my duties here.

"In the meantime, at all events, I will put you under the care of the polic "I will not have the police," said Marcella. "I will not be followed about as if I were an evicting bailiff or an inhuman landlord. Father Daly, the more I think about this, the more clearly I see that my only chance is quietly to ignore their threats. Even in the hope of ultimately persuading me to their ends, of utilizing my ' pluck ' for their own purposes, may let me live a little longer. I will not temporize, I will not hold out a straw to them, but I will go my own way and take the chances that are in my favor. If even after five years persuasion I could be induced to yield and take their oath, think how useful my money would be to them. They will hope, perhaps, to weary me out with fear-

"And, my poor child, are you strong enough to live with such a sword over your head?" asked the old man, taking her warm hand in his own cold ones, and looking pityingly in her eyes.

"I do not know. Who can tell how much he can suffer till he tries? Perhaps, if it were a question of myself alone, I should committ myself to God come to the end of my helpfulness!" During the ten days that followed that midnight visit Marcella went her way exactly as usual, and when the night of the tenth day arrived she vent to bed early, locking her door and leaving her room in darkness. surprised her to find that the terror she had expected to feel on this night, more than all others, did not, after assail her. Feeling that she had de-cided as best she could and that the die was cast, she fell asleep from sheer weariness, the entire bedily collapse that often follows on a long strain of suspense and excitement. The next day she arose refreshed, wondering at her own fearlessness cheerfulness, almost gaiety of spirit Now that her course was finally taken she knew by the sense of relief that underlay her good spirits that she must have been in danger of turning coward, and of ruining Bryan's after life by her weakness. Even if she died, and she did not feel that she was going to die, she would have done nothing to compromise him or his future. Almost before breakfast was over, Father Daly appeared.

"I knew you would be off to the hos pital as usual," he said, steing her hat and gloves on the table, "and I have come as your escort. For the future you must have some one with you wherever you go."
"What use, what use, Father Daly cried Marcella, drawing on her gloves

"You are always welcome, but I do not change my habits one iota. My mind is made up."
Her eyes were sparking, and a little red spot was on one of her cheeks. She laughed as she tripped down the steps before him. Then she turned grave for a moment as she looked back at him and saw his anxious face "I have said my prayers, Father Daly, and what matter about the rest Something is going to take care of me I know; else how could I feel so blithe when there is everything against me?

Father Daly answered nothing ex cept by taking her hand and placing it on his trembling arm with an air of protection; as he went along he found himself almost tottering. He realized for the first time that old age had come upon him. It was a fresh, bright September day; the birds were singing with that spontaneous afterburst of song which breaks from them when the heats of summer have gone away. The purple coloring of the heather was at its perfection; the shining silver of the sea was subdued with soft gray lines, the moors were at their tawnies and loveliest. When they had walked about half a mile, a man met them at a turn of the road and appealed urgently to the priest to come with him at once up the mountain where a erson lay suddenly dying who has omething afflicting on his mind.

The priest stood still with a shock of disappointment. Why could be not fulfil first the task be had undertaken of conducting Marcella safely to her destination? He hesitated, and the messenger renewed his entreaties. It vas an urgent case, a desperate case There was not a minute, not a second be lost. After a minute's struggl and a short prayer Father Daly's hes tation was over. His priestly duty ay up the mountain road. The angels Theangel must take care of Marcella.

TO BE CONTINUED.

Mr. Johnston and the Jesuits.

The irrepressible and picturesque Johnston of Ballykilbeg, the head of the Ulster Orangemen in Parliamen and out of it, presided over an Orang meeting in Dublin recently. chief subject discussed by this ludicrous statesman was the duty of England with respect to the Armenian complica Mr. Johnston was strongly op tion. posed to British interposition, unless in conjunction with the other European powers. This was the logical natural position for ah Orangeman to take. It there is anything which the average Orangeman dreads it is war. The average Orangeman is a coward and a craven. He only fights with his mouth.

Mr. Johnston offered a new and interesting explanation of the continen tal difficulty which had reached its acute stage at or near Constantinople The Jesuits were at the bottom of it all Mr. Johnston knew this, and he wanted to have his beetle-browed confreres know it, too. The whole trouble was brought about by Jesuitical trigue. Mr. Johnston solemnly believed, he said with his hand on the Bible, that the Jesuits were working to bring about a European war. Cheers greeted this declaration. Nothing so arouses the enthusiasm of the Orange man as the exposure of a Jesuit plot Moreover, the Jesuits were trying to embroil England with the United States for the sole purpose of destroy ing British supremacy, and overthrow ing the Protestant Church. With Eng. land reduced to the rank of a fourth rate power the "old man on the Tiber would be restored to his temporal power, and the Orange society would be wiped out.

The strange part of the whole pro ceeding is the fact that the assembled Orangemen absolutely believed every word uttered by the braying donkey from Ballykilbeg. - Boston Republic.

Don't dally with Frheumatism. Purify your blood and cure it at once by taking a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla.

they were coming to punish her for having stood by him. And he would be left alone—unless she could use her wits. But with this struggle in her throat—how?

She kept her eyes all the time unflinchingly on his with an instinctive assurance that if she withdrew them an instant he would stretch out the cruel

The first with the content of that—but I will add and say, let it be ended quickly, what contrive to meet you somewhere and to get that promise in writing from you. And I will have means of knowing too whether you keep your word—"

She were coming to punish her for again, trust me for that—but I will and say, let it be ended quickly, what contrive to meet you somewhere and to get that promise in writing from you. And I will have means of knowing too of almost stern resolve left her brows, and ner lips quivered. "Yes, the whole of it is in that but, I know. Then may God in heaven assist you, uncivit to a lady, but in case of obstinating these course of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Cholera morbus, cramps and kindred comever is to be the end!" But—"

"Yes, "said Father Daly, as the look of almost stern resolve left her brows, and in relieve of the book same time as the hot weather, green fruit, cacumbers, melons, etc., and many the properance at the same time as the hot weather, green fruit, cacumbers, melons, trust to be the end!" But—"

"Yes, "said Father Daly, as the look of almost stern resolve left her brows, and in relieve of almost stern resolve left her brows, and in relieve of almost stern resolve left her brows, and in relieve of almost stern resolve left her brows, the same time as the hot weather, green fruit, cacumbers, melons, trust to be the end!" But—"

"Yes, "said Father Daly, as the look of almost stern resolve left her brows, and in relieve of the book same time and the same time and the same time and the same time as the hot weather, green fruit, cacumbers, melons, trust to be the end!" But—"

"Yes, "said Father Daly, as the look of almost stern resolve left her brows, the same time as the hot weathe

NOVEMBER 23, 1896. BACK TO OXFORD.

Jesuits Open a Hall at the Engl'sh University.

The Stonyhurst Magazine gives the following particulars of the new half opened by the Jesuits at Oxford, about which so much has been said recently in the press.

The new hall opened at Oxford by the Society of Jesus for its university students has now been occupied by us, its first four students, for nearly The old name of No. month. Giles, we hope soon to see changed to that of "Campion Hall," after Blessed Edmund Campion, the proto martyr of the English Jesuits, and a famous nember of the university of his time A FINE SITUATION.

The house is a small and old fashioned two storied building, over two hundred years old, its front faced with plaster below, and beam and rubble above, and its titled, high pitched roof, pierced with numerous dormer wind ws. A small garden fenced off with railings separates it from the street. The situation and climate are very good, lying as it does about the middle of St. Giles, the broadest street in Oxford, and one of the most elevated above the river. Unpretentious as we are, we have yet attracted the atten tion of the Oxford guide books. is what is known about us through that medium: "Leaving St. Giles Church and proceeding south, we may notice on our rightlying back from the street, an old-fashioned house (No. 40 which has been acquired by the Order of Jesuits as a hall for University students. This is the first step in the return of the religious orders to the position held by them in Oxford in pre Reformation times.'

THE RAISON D'ETRE. This is a concise declaration of our aison d'etre. The object of the religious orders in pre - Reformation imes was to give their subjects the best training their country, or perhaps the world, could afford, the case of teaching orders, that the students educated in their colleges might have the best teaching that the best training of their masters would give them, and they themselves might in their turn be fitted for their course at the University. This, too, purpose here. Since the toleration by the Church on certain conditions of Catholics residing at the University, many more may be expected to come from our colleges to take their degree at Oxford. This, and the recent change in some of our principal col-leges—such as Stonyhurst and Beaumont-in the final examination of their course from the Matriculation Examination of the London University to the examination for the Higher Certificate, has made such a move all the more im-

Besides this it is well known how much more the course of studies at our colleges was always in harmony with the Oxford course than with that of the London University.

A FRIENDLY RECEPTION

Our coming here has not excited any animosity among the general public, though when it was first rumored that the Jesuits were coming some of the Low Church party, who are very strong here, talked of calling an indignation meeting to protest against the invasion of Oxford by the Jesuits, and one writer in the Oxford Times went so far as to remind his readers that by the laws of the land it was allowable to "shoot a Jesuit at sight. However, this was an extreme case. The only abusive epithet as yet ap plied to any of us in the street was addressed to one of the Fathers here who was plodding through the rain in an Inverness waterproof. The waterproof was mistaken by a small boy for the habit of some Protestant monks here, known as Brothers," and the Father, as soon as his back was turned, heard the boy squeal after him, "You Cowley evangelist !" THE HUMOROUS SIDE

The university authorities seem, on the whole, very friendly; any of the dons we have come across so far have been most kind and obliging. attitude of the undergraduates to-ward us is, as might have been expected, one of good humored indiffer-When they first heard that ence. the Jesuits were coming we obtained an honorable mention in a sporting poem in the volumes of the under graduate paper, the Isis. It was an account of a boat race, in which the Jesuits "eight" or "four" oar was described as taking a prominent part.

To Recall a Letter.

Many times people would like to recall a letter after it has been mailed. This can be done, even if the letter has reached the post office of its destination. At every postoffice there are what are called "withdrawal blanks." On application they will be furnished, and when a deposit is made to cover the expense, the postmaster will telegraph to the postmaster at the letter's destination asking that it be returned The applicant first signs this agreement: "It is hereby agreed that, if the letter is returned to me, I will pro tect you from any and all claims made against you for such return and will fully indemnify you for any loss you may sustain by reason of such action. And I herewith deposit 8 - to cover all expense incurred, and will deliver to you the envelope of the letter re-In many cases persons have turned." made remittances to fraudulent persons or irresponsible firms, not learning their true character until after the letter had gone.

Great battles are continually going en in the human system. Hood's Sarsaperilla drives out disease and restores health.

THE SUFFERINGS An English Journal

"I know you will are sorry, as he has t of four hundred a ye gary." This is wh friend has written to

NOVEMBER 28

with regard to the Thomas, M. A., received into the his wife and six chil think, says the L Times, be generally Mr. Thomas and his a noble sacrifice, and but a typical exampl number of converts doing. It is not too this obedience to t science, in opposition claims and ties, and every human interes considered a splendie Not easily can the ha be realized by those felt pressed by duty excites the fiercest l and acquaintances. face the trials of life or prospects of a succ unenviable experien be to do so when all been helpful and ki unresponsive, when the means of gain seems closed, and w an entirely new sph from old associati knowing what the m There are many to the religious in present age, and nied that there are tending to show that look what is spiritu that which is men temporary. It is, h the acts of conver Church that faith ha still exercises a com on the lives of men. The fund which the started has been ma cheap sneers by cert If the editors of the difficulties wit the Catholic Church they would, we fee they stand in need sympathy that can b and that it should them by Catholics w interests of their rel the times have chan have changed with t bitterness formerly lics has disappeared lic is no longer deen inferiority. Those faith are not now s because of their bel from Protestant de still to suffer much. The authentic a have received from

in the past ten troubles they hav

through the action

friends, have been

us that in many of

will could not have

ers have been mem

siding in a parti district. When th gaged in business have fallen away a reduced to want. have been the victi ances, and they have leave the district. of the family have employers attempts injure them and de positions. Again, the son of Protestan become a convert to had to undergo har to enter on a usefu his father and moth coverd that he has the attitude of all a denly altered. He will no longer rece career which he de that he must expe as he remains a Car in fact, an outca circle, antagonism evinced in the lo language of those

been most intimate

Another type of daughter in a Prote embraces the Cath

tried as in a fu

Parents, brothers, relatives at one the tenets of her r mock them; at a with divers pains a testant clergymen argue with her, ar vivid colors the da she is pursuing. she is forced to lea living as best she unjust to say tha had this bitter ex undoubtedly true lot of many. That secution, as we n ceased is manifest, of Miss Butterly, cently commented satisfactorily the mistress in the Lo Bedfordshire, which diction of a School became a Catholi was made upon l vicar in a letter and Miss Butterly the School Board, ever being made efficiency as a tea stance of the tria verts is supplied Father Prest, O S

lish this week. A

An English Journal Tells of Some of 3, 1896.

RD.

the English

ine gives the

the new hall exford, about said recently at Oxford by

cupied by us

se changed to after Blessed oto martyr of a famous y of his time.

and old fashog, over two

and rubble n pitched roof

dormer wind-nced off with ate are very out the middle street in Ox-most elevated tentious as we

it us through

ng St. Giles'

back from the house (No. 40)

by the Order

or University rst step in the

in Oxford in

TRE. laration of our

ect of the re-- Reformation

ry, or perhaps , in order, in orders, that the

their colleges

ching that the masters would emselves might or their course

e toleration by conditions of he University, pected to come ke their degree

id the recent principal col-

arst and Beau

lation Examin

iversity to the

her Certificate, all the more im-ell known how harmony with with that of the

as not excited g the general i it was first ts were coming

ed of calling an

by the Jesuits, Oxford Times nd his readers he land it was extreme case.

thet as yet ap

the street was ie Fathers her

ugh the rain in of. The water-a small boy for cotestant monks ther, as soon as heard the boy u Cowley evanorities seem, on

lly; any of the oss so far have obliging. The ergraduates to-have been ex-amored indiffer-

first heard that

ng we obtained

in a sporting of the under

sis. It was an e, in which the prominent part.

would like to re-

n if the letter has e of its destina-toffice there are drawal blanks.

ill be furnished,

s made to cover master will tele-

er at the letter's

at it be returned igns this agreed agreed that, if

to me, I will pro all claims made return and will for any loss you n of such action.

osit 8 - to cover and will deliver of the letter re-ses persons have

Letter.

"I know you will be glad, but we are sorry, as he has thrown up a living of four hundred a year to go to beg-gary." This is what a Protestant friend has written to a correspondent, with regard to the Rev. D. Lloyd, Thomas, M. A., who has been received into the Church, with his wife and six children. It will, we think, says the Liverpool Catholic Times, be generally acknowledge that Mr. Thomas and his family have made a noble sacrifice, and their conduct is but a typical example of what a large number of converts have done and are doing. It is not too much to say that this obedience to the voice of conscience, in opposition to innumerable claims and ties, and indeed to almost every human interest, deserves to be considered a splendid proof of heroism. Not easily can the hardships it involves be realized by those who have never felt pressed by duty to take a step that excites the fiercest hostility of friends and acquaintances. At any time to face the trials of life with slight hopes or prospects of a successful career is an unenviable experience. What must it be to do so when all who have hitherto been helpful and kindly are cold and unresponsive, when every avenue to the means of gaining a livelihood seems closed, and when one must enter an entirely new sphere of life, parting from old associations and scarcely knowing what the morrow will bring?
There are many complaints as to the religious indifference of the present age, and it cannot be denied that there are various indications tending to show that men largely overlook what is spiritual and eternal for that which is merely material and temporary. It is, however, clear from the acts of converts to the Catholic Church that faith has not died out, but still exercises a commanding influence on the lives of men.

The fund which the Holy Father has started has been made the subject of cheap sneers by certain Anglican journals. If the editors were fully aware of the difficulties with which converts to the Catholic Church have to contend they would, we feel sure, admit that they stand in need of all the practical sympathy that can be tendered to them, and that it should not be refused to them by Catholics who are alive to the interests of their religion. Of course, the times have changed and Protestants inferiority. Those who profess that Catholi faith are not now subjected to insult thief. because of their belief. But converts from Protestant denominations have still to suffer much.

The authentic accounts which we have received from time to time within the past ten years, of the troubles they have had to endure through the action of relatives and friends, have been such as to convince us that in many of these instances illwill could not have been more powerfully exerted. Sometimes the sufferers have been members of a family residing in a particularly Protestant had to undergo hardships. He is about to enter on a useful career, aided by his father and mother and encouraged by all his friends. As soon as it is discoverd that he has become a Catholi the attitude of all around him is suddenly altered. He is informed that he will no longer receive support in the career which he designs to follow, and that he must expect no help as long as he remains a Catholic. He becomes in fact, an outcast from his socia circle, antagonism being all too plainly evinced in the looks, bearing, and language of those with whom he had been most intimate.

Another type of case is that of a daughter in a Protestant household who embraces the Catholic faith. She is tried as in a furnace of affliction. Parents, brothers, sisters, and other relatives at one time argue against the tenets of her religion; at another mock them; at another threaten her with divers pains and penalties. Protestant clergymen are brought to argue with her, and to paint to her in vivid colors the dangers of the course she is pursuing. If she remains firm, she is forced to leave home and earn a living as best she can. It would be unjust to say that all converts have had this bitter experience, but it is undoubtedly true that it has been the lot of many. That the system of per-secution, as we may call it, has not ceased is manifest, from the dismissal of Miss Butterly, upon which we re-cently commented. She filled most satisfactorily the position of head

THE SUFFERINGS OF CONVERTS. received into the Church, being in HUNGER THE DISEASE EVIC- of alcohol will, in such persons, give temporary distress, applied for aid to an old friend, a Protestant, on whom fortune had smiled. His reply was, "Give up the Catholics and turn Pro-are held out are by no means rare.

That Protestants should feel some That Protestants should feel some the crops depriving them of the where with the crops depriving them of the where with the procure even the necessaries of the crops depriving them of the where with the procure even the necessaries of the crops depriving them of the where with the control of the crops depriving them of the where with the crops depriving them of the where the crops depriving the crops depriving them of the where the crops depriving the crops de friends enter the Catholic Church is of life. not surprising. Annoyance is but natural when our own beliefs are rejected, whether in religion, politics or science. But the root-principle of Protestantism is the liberty of private judgment, and that surely should safeguard converts to the Catholic Church from downright ill-will and antagonism. As a matter of fact, the rule with Protestants seems to be that people should have perfect freedom to predilections in favor of Ireland, reaccept any form of belief or disbelief so long as they do not become Catholics; at that the line must be drawn. This at that the line must be drawn. This anti Catholic prejudice is gradually growing less and less, and, no doubt, in the course of time it will vanish altogether. Meanwhile, it is the urgent duty of Catholics to display a thoroughly practical sympathy for those who have bravely given up everything for conscience sake. The Holy Father has appealed to their zeal in this good cause, and we feel sure they will respond to his call in a generous spirit.

"SCHOOL OR PRISON."

Under the caption, "School or Prison," Rev. J. B. Soule, a Protestant minister, writes as follows to the Pottstown Daily News."

We are told with much sounding of Pharisaical trumpets that the Covern

town Daily News:
This is a grave question, and one that is not receiving the attention that it should. I saw in your paper notice of a corner-stone laying which took place near Phenixville. The building is to be a great educational institution is to be a great educational institution and no tidings of starvation will reach and the start and the sta for young men who havd no employ-ment and are drifting out into the world without home or anchor. This educational institution proposes to gather up these poor, homeless men and boys and educate them and make world without home or anchor. This educational institution proposes to gather up these poor, homeless men and boys and educate them and make None. useful men of them.

Did you ever hear of a more noble and philanthropic enterprise than this? But you say this institution will make Roman Catholics of them? What of that? Better that, ten times, than have them become thieves and robbers have changed with them. Much of the bitterness formerly felt towards Catholics has disappeared. To be a Catholic is no longer deemed a sign of social times sooner have my son a Roman Posterior Processor. Catholic gentleman than a Protestant

> Our jails and penitentiaries are a menace to our country. If a boy steals he is sought out by the police and taken to jail. Why not take him to some good educational institution? It will not cost any more, or not as much then he comes out of such an institution with a good education and a reformed character, while they say it is right he remains in jail for a time, comes out with no education and worse morally than when he entered. Then what is the real use of your jails; just that much money wasted. It is really etter. But if the poor man had been put into a first class school at his first offence he to day might be one of our best citizens. The Roman Catholic Church has touched the right key. In the place of the jail, the academy; in place of the penitentiary, the college. Then shall we have no use for those grim-walled jails nor court-houses with alances so high that the common people are never reached.

I am not a Roman Catholic by religion, but I am heartily in sympathy with this idea of educating the crimin-Nay, every boy and girl, take them when they are young, train them, and we will have no need for police, sheriffs, lawyers or penitentiaries.

An Heroic Act of Charity.

The month of November, the month of the holy souls who have no present olace but our prayers, may be made joyous to them by at heroic act of char-ity on our part. We may voluntarily resign into the treasury of the Church for their benefit all the suffrages which may be offered for us after death and all our own works of satisfaction, that the suffering souls may be the sooner released from Purgatory. By thus depriving ourselves of personal benefit, however, we do not resign the power of offering our good works and prayers for other intentions. This practice carries with it Indulgences granted by testant again, and you shall want for nothing." All who have come into contact with converts after their reception into the Church know that cases in which temptations of this kind are held out are by no means rare.

It is the old, old story. The loss of a single harvest entails famine on a country which is compelled in good thinks of the remarkable labors of this woods for the remarkable labors of this and having no personal or political surplus product is stolen by England. The landlords are doing as they always have done, evicting their help-less tenantry with all the brutal accom-paniments which the word eviction signifies. The story of hunger is told by the correspondent of the Manchester Guardian which, as a cablegram of the seventh instant justly says, is "one of the most trustworthy and least sensational papers in England." The tale of the evictions comes from all quarters. The account of England's ment of India has made preparations to meet another famine in that country with such care that not a man, woman the world through British channels. We hope that there may be none to

The Government is doing nothing, will probably do nothing until too late. Again the cutside world will be asked to relieve the distress of Great Britain's subjects, and the appeal will not be made in vain. The shame is with the power which lets its subjects beg for bread, not with the unhappy people whom that power has driven to beggary and famine. Who is this un-kempt Lazarus that he should offend the senses of Dives with his rags and his sores and his hunger?

Indecent Journalism. The New York Sun took occasion recently to condemn in vigorous lan-guage the publishers of the World and Journal for the discreditable and de moralizing sensationalism which finds vent in the Sunday issues of these papers. To those who believe that the Sunday paper should be less objection able in tone and feature than the regular daily editions, the appearance district. When they have been engaged in business, their customers have fallen away and they have been the victims of petty annoyances, and they have felt compelled to leave the district. If some members of the family have been working for employers attempts have been made to injure them and deprive them of their positions. Again, it may have been positions. Again, it may have been the districts of petty and the proposes to right face on this acourt house and the jail. Neither of their conjure them and deprive them of their positions. Again, it may have been the districts of petty annoyances, and they have felt compelled to characteristic penitentiary.

Now the great Roman Catholic Church proposes to right face on this subject. . . Almost the first thing appeal to pruriency seems to pall upon the two constituencies, the exploitation of the horrors of morbid anatomy and disgusting pathology begins. Pictures of diseased tissue sprawl across whole pages formerly occupied by the imaginings of lasciviousness. Crime and Mr. Hearst for supremacy in the field of filth: "When the multifarious appeal to pruriency seems to pall upon the two constituencies, the exploitation of the horrors of morbid anatomy and disgusting pathology begins. Pictures of diseased tissue sprawl across whole pages formerly occupied by the imaginings of lasciviousness. Crime and Mr. Hearst for supremacy in the field of filth: "When the multifarious appeal to pruriency seems to pall upon the two constituencies, the exploitation of the horrors of morbid anatomy and disgusting pathology begins. Pictures of diseased tissue sprawl across whole pages formerly occupied by the imaginings of lasciviousness. Crime and breath—God's life—can always be redeemed from death, and life the first thing appeal to pruriency seems to pall upon the two constituencies, the exploitation of the two and the contents of the World and injure them and deprive them of their closing notes of the positions. Again, it may have been tury.

This jail business has been tried on imaginings of lasciviousness. Crime the son of Protestant parents who has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no is illustrated in all its phases, with is illustrated in a continuous to the Church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and has poor Abe Buzzard, and he is still no in the church and he i charts and full working directions for intending criminals. When the Harintending criminals. vard graduate ransacks the shelves of the library hells for forgotten nastiness literature, sends forth his men and his women to collect from the cooks of the anonyma of to day their mistresses' favorite re cipes for Christmas plum pludding When the ex kellner goes to the hos pitals with his camera to photograph for the benefit of World readers the latest running ulcer, the Harvard graduate promptly furnishes to readers f the Journal explicit instructions with plates, teaching how murder may be done with a single blow of the fist upon the chin by driving a splinter of the under jaw upon into the brain. So it goes on, Sunday after Sunday, with the bright sun shining in the heavens; and the end is not in sight. There can be no question of the extent of the evil which is bred in this new craze for sensationalism, and the Sun is to be commended for its exposure of the debasing methods employed by its two contemporaries. The public should cease to patronize these vile publications. - Boston Republic.

Action of Alcohol on the Nervous

System.

TIONS THE CURE.

It is needless to say, says the Boston

It is needless to say, says the Boston Pilot, that there is only one country in Europe whose condition could be des-

JESUIT AND PURITAN.

In a paper on John Eiliot published a Unitarian minister, is the following seasons to pay over to England the fruits of its industry that in any justly governed country would have been the people's religious in the resulting of Jesuits and friars, and their successes in Country and their successes in the country and the country and their successes in the country and t The Royal Commission of Inquiry appointed by the English Government, and having no personal or when the latter part of the save you." about our northern lakes a wonderful display of the Jesuit missionary's zeal, ports that England has been cheating the "sister island" out of millions of pounds every year since the Union.

The cheating is going on to day, and Irish farmers must starve because their for any sacrifice even to marrydom. Allouez Dablon and Marquette were Allouez Dablon and Marquette were but a few of those missionaries who at the same time with Elliot were making unsurpassed missionary journeys and efforts to bring the Indians to a knowl edge of the Christian faith.

Among the Jesuit missionaries of the North-West perhaps no one was more active than Father Gabriel Druilletes. On one of his expeditions he came from Quebec to Rogsbray as he called Rocks borough, where he was received by Governor Dadley, and made a visit to Elliot the year after he had established his mission at Natick.

In "The Puritan Age and Rule in the Colony of Massachusetts Bay," Dr. George E. Ellis writes: "And now we have to present to ourselves a not-able scene. The priest, a Jesuit on an embassy, named Le R. Pere Gabriel Dremillette de la Compagnie de Jesu writes: 'On my way I arrived at Rogsbray, where the minister named Elliot, who was instructing some savages, received me to lodge with him as the night had overtaken EXPLANATION OF THE me. He treated me with respect and affection, and prayed me to pass the winter with him." Here is a scene which might well engage the pencil of an artist whose sympathies responded to the subject. Two men, then in the vigor of lite, who were yet to pass their fourscore years in their loved but poorly rewarded labor for the savages, separated as the poles in their religious convictions, principles and meth-ods, trained in antipathics, and zealous hostility to each other, are seen in simple, loving converse as kind host and responsive stranger guest. The humble sitting and working room of the Apostle Eliot in his modest cottage has the essentials of comfort, and there is a guest-chamber. Around hearthstone are two or three Indian children, whom Eliot had near him as pupils, while he himself was a learner from some docile elders of the race, whose barbarous tongue he was seeking to acquire through grunts and gutturals, that he might set forth in it the whole oracles of God. His hopeful experiment in the Indian village at Natick had recently been put on trial. The priest was, after his own different and breath—

od's life—can always be redeemed from death.
And Evil, in its nature is decay,
nd any hour can blot it all away:
The hopes that lost in some far distance seem,

May be the truer Life-and this the dream.
-Adelaide Proctor.

What an Angel is.

us may have some idea of an angel It is probably a figure of youth and beauty, clad in a simple flowing robe, with strong fair wings folded gently, with serene face and eyes of gentle love, and, perhaps, a majestic arm upraised for man's protection. The figure is not false. Yet, if we could see them up there in Heaven where they are, it would seem a truer figure to say that an angel was a flash of the ightning of Heaven. Bright light, erce heat, tremendous power-this is what an augel is. The saint who is the great writer on the hierarchy of Heaven, Saint Denis, tells us that fire is the chief scriptural symbol of an angel. The activity of fire, its pene trating subtlety, its uncontrollable freedom, its irresistible power, the brilliance of its action-these are the qualities that make the Holy Scripture describe the angels as fire—as wheels of fire, as rivers of fire, as burning flames, as creatures full of fiery bright Doctor Forel of Zurich teaches that alcoholic intoxication, as affecting the nervous system, is conspicuous from the first, often after small doses. The excitement following the first glass is satisfactorily the position of head mistress in the Lower Stendon School, Bedfordshire, which is under the jurisdiction of a School Board. After she became a Catholic a pointed attack was made upon her religion by the vicar in a letter which he published, and Miss Butterly was dismissed by the School Board, no objection whather ever being made on the score of her efficiency as a teacher. Another instance of the trials which beset converts is supplied in a letter from the fact, so great is the power of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost verts is supplied in a letter from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, Parswell P. O., Oat. Writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

several Popes, and while acceptable at at any season is especially so in November.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

Parmetee's Pills possess the power of set discount the dorman energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every pame and nature are driven from the body. Mr. D. Carswell, Carswell, Parswell P. O., Oat. writes: "I have tried Parmelee's Pills and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well." Old Gold

_CIGARETTES

W. S. Kimball & Co.

ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Retail Everywhere

5C. per Package 17 FIRST PRIZE MEDALS.

Commence and the control of the cont (D)ROTHERS

New York: Cincinnati: Chicago: 6 & 38 Barclay St. 343 Main St. 178 Monroe St Sold by all Catholic Booksellers, or sent post paid on receipt of price by the publishers.

The Best Popular Book on the Holy Mass.

COCHEM'S HOLY SACRIFICE

With a Preface by RIGHT REV. CAMILLUS P. MAES, D. D. Bishop of Covington. 12mo.

COCHEM'S Explanation of the Holy Mass is compiled from the teachings of the Church. of the early Fathers, of theologians, and spiritual writers. It is written in an agreeable and impressive manner, and the perusal of it cannot fail to give the reader a better acquaint with the nature of the Mass, to inflame him with devotion for it, and greatly to increase his desire to lose no opportunity of assisting at it. For nearly two hundred years this book has been used by the Catholics of Europe, and the good it has gone is incalculable.

UNAPPROACHED! Our Hand-Made Beeswax

CANDLES.

Stearic Wax Candles

Unsolicited testimonials received from all parts of Canada, for the unquestioned superiority of our high grade candles.

candles by our customers, forces us to com-pletely ignore and refuse to carry in stock candles that are not up to the standard, conaining little or no bees' wax, and which ar emptingly offered as cheap goods.

Our hand-made wax candle is in keeping with the standard quantity of wax (in each candle) exacted by the Church. If you want the best candles in the mar-

et, at prices as low as the superior grade of ur goods will allow, please communicate with

In his new book on "The Christian inheritance," Bishop Hedley supplies his description of an angel: "Each We solicit your orders for church ornaments tationary and vestments.

> D. & J. SADLIER & CO. atholic Publishers, Booksellers and Sta-tioners, Church Ornaments, Vestments, Statuary and Religious Articles,

669 Notre Dame St. | 115 Church St. TORONTO. CONCORDIA VINEYARD

SANDWICH, ONT.

ERNEST GIRADOT & C(
Alter Wine a Specialty.

Our Altar Wine is extensively need as recommended by the Clergy, and our Clare will compare favorably with the best izz ported Bordeaux.

For prices and information address,

E. GIRADOT & CO.

Gandwich Cur.

PRAYER BOOKS . . .

We have now in stock a very large and beautiful assortment of Prayel Books, ranging in price from 25c. it $\frac{8}{2}\text{.0c.}$ There are amongs the lot some specially imported for Presentation purposes. Orders from a distance promptly attended to. We will make a nice selection for any given sunthat may be sent us, and if book in not entirely satisfactory, it may be re-mailed to us, and money will be refunded. Address, THOS. COFFEY.

Catholic Record Office, London. On

VERY LIBERAL OFFERS

An Opportunity to Possess a Beautiful Family Bible at a Small Outlay.

Hand-Made Beeswax

ANDLES

Moulded Beeswax Candles,

Stearie Way Candles

give better satisfaction than all other makes THE HOLY BIBLE

(A SMALLER EDITION) all parts of Canada, for the unquestioned superiority of our high grade candles.

Many new and beautiful designs added to our decorated candles.

Please write us before placing your orders; you will find it to your advantage.

The confidence, so long placed in our candles by our customers, forces us to come and the source of the confidence of the confi

Address-THOMAS COFFEY, Catholic Record Office, - LONDON, Ont

Father Damen, S.J.

O. LABELLE, MERCHANT TAILOR 372 Richmond Street.

French Bordeaux Clarets

JAMES WILSON 398 Richmond St., London. 'Phone 65

STAINED GLASS FOR CHURCHES.

Best Qualities Only. McCAUSLAND & SON

JOHN FERGUSON & SONS, The leading Undertakers and Embalm-ers. Open night and day. Telephone-House, 373 Factory, 568.

DR. WOODRUFF, NO. 185 QUEEN'S AVE. Defective vision, impaired hearing, nasal catarrh and troublesome throats. Eyes testel glasses adjusted. Hours, 12 to 4.

audulent persons s, not learning until after the tinually going en in Hood's Sarsaperilla stores health,

METHOD OF HEARING MASS. Devout Practices with Which all Catholics Should be Familiar.

On your way to the church, consider that you are going to Calvary, there to witness the most sublime and affecting spectacle that can be imagined, that of a God made man, who immolates Himself on a cross, suspended between heaven and earth, in order to reconcile earth with heaven, and man with God. Consider with lively faith that the sacrifice of the Mass is the renewal of that of the cross, or, rather, that it is, according to the Council of Trent, the same sacrifice, with this sole difference that, on the altar, it is accomplished without the shedding of blood, and that consequently it produces the same effects, since the Victim and He Who sacrifices are the same, Jesus Christ, Who by the ministry of His priests, offers Himself to God His Father

These considerations should inspire you, while on your way to the church, with sentiments of reverence, confid ence, and devotion.

Having entered the church, and chosen a place where you may be free from distractions, resolve to avoid those faults which you are liable to commit when assisting at Mass, and beg of God the grace to be faithful to your resolutions. You will then express your desire to attain the ends for which the Holy Sacrifice is offered, namely, to render to God the honor due to Him in acknowledgement of His supreme dominiou over all creatures, to obtain from His infinite goodness mercy and forgiveness of your sins ; to thank Him for the innumerable benefits received from Him, and to implore a continu-ance of His favors.

DURING MASS.

There are many ways by which you may secure to yourself the fruits of the Holy Sacrifice. Much latitude is left, on this point, to the devotion of the faithful. Some use the prayers for Mass to be found in any of the Prayer Books, while others prefer to recite the Rosary or the Litanies, with pious exercises suited for every day in the week, or else the office of the dead, the little office of the Blessed Virgin, or that of the Sacred Heart. Choose those prayers which seem best to you, taking care, however, that these vocal exer cises do not so occupy you as to to exclude the consideration of the three principal parts of the Mass: the Offer tory, Consecration and Communion.
Adopt for these precious moments some fixed practices of devotion, which may assist you to participate largely in the graces attached to them. A few may be here suggested:

AT THE OFFERTORY. Whilst the priest elevates the Host on the paten, pronouncing the words, Suscipe, Sancte Pater, hanc immaculatam Hostium, "(Accept, Holy Father, this unspotted Host,")unite your offering to his; place yourself in spirit on the altar of sacrifice and say from your heart: Deign, Heavenly Father, to receive the offering which I humbly make to Thee of my body and soul, with all their senses and faculties. They are the gifts of Thy bounty. Thee do I surrender them, and I de clare before the holy angels who now surround this altar, that I desire to use them only in conformity with Thy holy will made manifest in Thy Commandments. My most fervent wish i to belong wholly to Thee, and to devote myself in all things to the advancement of the glory of Thy Holy Name, to the salvation of others, and to my own sanctification. Sustain me by Thy grace, I entreat Thee, O Father of Mercy! that I may persevere to my last breath in these dispositions. Having thus prayed and offered your self to God, make a brief examination considering how far your conduct has hitherto corresponded with the profession you have just made, in order that you may henceforth prove more

2nd. THE CONSECRATION OR ELEVA At this solemn moment when the priest elevates before the congre gation the Divine Victim concealed under the appearance of the conse crated Host, contemplate with lively faith your beloved Saviour, as He was beheld by those who had nailed Him to the cross, covered with blood and wounded for your sins, and in the midst of His agonizing pain, forget ting Himself to plead your cause with His Father, and to implore pardon for you in that cry which He uttered from His heart, Pater, dimitte illis ("Father, forgive them."

This contemplation should inspire you with lively sentiments of admiration, love and gratitude, with horror of sin, contrition and boundless devo-

Having expressed these sentiments. unite with Jesus in the prayer which He offered to His heavenly Father on behalf of all mankind, contemplate in succession the five wounds which are. as St. Bonaventure says: "so many places of refuge, so many voices raised in supplication, to intercede for us. and at each one ask some particular grace or favor.

At the wound of the right hand Pray for the Sovereign Pontiff, and for those Bishops, priests and missionaries who labor under his direction for the salvation of souls, that their zealous exertions may be crowned with the fullest success. At the wound of the left hand: Pray for the conversion of heathens, Jews, heretics and schis-matics, and for the return to God of all bad Christians who are in league with hell against Jesus Christ and His Holy Church. At the wound of the right foot: Pray for the members of your we are. We seem to belong to this family, beginning with those most closely connected by affinity : for your benefactors and friends; and likewise, the souls in purgatory, particularly those who have most claims on your charity. At the wound of the heart of Jesus: Pray for yourself; place in that heart, burning with love, all your cares, troubles, fears, hopes and desires.

By adopting the habit of thus offering your petitions in a certain order, corresponding with the five wounds of Our Divine Lord, you will always be able in a few moments and without effort to offer an universal prayer. pleasing to God, and most beneficial to your neighbor and yourself.

The Communion. On those days when you have not the happiness of approaching the holy table, you should not neglect to make a spiritual communion, which, according to St. Teresa, "is sometimes as advantage ous as actual communion." This consists in forming in your heart with great devotion, three acts, namely, an act of contrition, as nearly perfect as pos sible : an act of charity or love of God: an act of ardent desire to approach the Holy Communion and derive from it the abundant graces which it confers on those who prepare to receive it worthily.

AFTER MASS.

Examine briefly: If you have followed exactly the preeding counsels. How you have employed the inter vals of time which separate the princi-pal parts of the Holy Sacrifice.

If you have been careful as to your exterior deportment and vigilant in voiding distractions.

If all has been well done, return thanks to God; if otherwise, ask pardon for your negligence. Before leaving the holy place, beg of Jesus to bless all your occupations during the coming day, as well as the good resolutions that you have made during morning prayer or meditation. - Cath.

Catholic Marriages For Catholics.

Bishop Wigger in his sermon last unday thus referred to marriages: "In the fifteen years that I have been Bishop I have become convinced that some Catholic men and women do not know the sacred character of Christian marriage. Some Catholics decide in an hour to get married, some in six months, and they run off to a squire, a non Catholic minister, a layman, a Jew, a heathen, or a pagan and get married. They make no Christian preparation for the marriage, but in sead they commit crimes and sins of such an awful character that I would not dare to mention them. There are many who get married in a state of mortal sin. This brings curses down on the marriage and causes many unhappy lives. That is why so many husbands and wives are separated.
"Every Catholic should be married by his own parish priest, or, with his permission, by another priest. Very often couples go to a strange priest to marry them. No strange priest will marry them un'ess they tell him a lie. marry them. They tell him they are his parishioners. A priest can not know all his parishioners. He marries them, but it is bad and they cannot expect a blessing.

"Did you ever hear of the Saviour designating laymen to administer that sacred sacrament? Every Catholic married by a non-Catholic is guilty of a mortal sin, is an enemy of God, is robbed of all rights to a place in heaven, and is in the power of the devil. All Catholics who are married by a non-Catholic minister or a lay man are excommunicated from the Church. It is not necessary for the Bishop or a priest to excommunicate them, they are cut off immediately. e Catholics look upon excommun ication as a trival thing. They should know that when a Catholic is excom municated he is deprived of his right to received the sacraments: he is in mortal sin, and if he should die he could not be buried in consecrated

Our Conception of God.

Therefore if the spiritual heart of man was to have religion, not only must that religion be definitely given o it by a message from outside but what is more, that message from above must reveal the very highest concen tion of a Creator and a Last End-the most perfect ideal of a God and Father else the heart would querulously and restlessly still seek for something more. A reason of the same kind makes the personal infusion of Divine Grace a necessity, in the sense explained. For infused grace is made necessary by the Beatific Vision which is our inheritance as children of adoption. Now, our adoption itself and that blissful Vision of God's face are so far necessary to man that a future life without the Vision, in order to be a satisfied life, would have to be a continual and violent and multiplied miracle. For a future life without the Vision would be only the possessing of the finite; but if it had only the finite, the speculation and reaching out of man's spirit would go on as in this world below; therefore, there would be unsatisfied restlessness, and therefore no peace, unless horizons were arbi trarily drawn, sounds despotically hushed, and faculties paralysed. Therefore God's immensity is needed for the heart, and God's abysmal depth for the intellect. And this makes in-fused grace necessary on earth, because the tree must be the same as the root. Ah! my brethren, we know not what valley of mortality, to this narrow re bounded by earth and sky, by gion birth and the grave ; but all the time as Christ ordains, for your enemies. our inheritance is—not the universe, At the wound of the left foot: Pray for for that is too small—but the infinite;

space, light, joy, and immortality, which can only come from one Fount of Being, and one Plenitude of Existence, Who is at once our Maker, our Father, and our Last End.—Bishop

A MINISTER'S VISIT TO ST. BERNARD'S PASS.

Enjoyed the Monk's Hospitality-An Encounter With the Dogs.

This remarkable pass in the chain of the Alps known as the Great St. Ber nard owes its name to the celebrated hospice for the succor of travellers which is supposed to have been found ed by St. Bernard in 862. The hos pice is situated on the summit of the pass at 8,150 feet above the sea level and is the highest habitation in the Alps. The pass was traversed by the Roman armies, by Charlemagne, by Frederick Barbarossa and by Napol eon. Its passage was made by the latter between May 15 and 21, 1800, with an army of thirty thousand men, including cavalry and artillery.

Rev. John S. Heisler, of the Union Methodist Episcopal Church, of Cam-den, in a recent address to his congregation made reference to a Sunday which he spent at the famous convent of the monks of St. Bernard. A representative of The Catholic Standard and Times called upon the pastor and interviewed him regarding his visit. He said that while making an excur sion among the Alps, accompanied by William T. Nicholson, of Trenton, they arrived at the convent about sunris on Sunday morning. They were quite chilled and hungry and rang the bell of the hospice. One of the monks came to the door, received them cordially and conducted them to seats at the fire Though it was August the region abounded in snow banks, and the heat from the fire proved very acceptable. They were provided with soup, assigned beds, and some time after had a substantial but not luxurious meal with the monks, who numbered about a dozen. For these services no change is made, but voluntary contribution usually given. The monks were all young men, of apparently robust constitutions, several of them speaking English fluently. The devotion with which they said grace and the spirit of thankfulness with which they partook of their meal impressed the visitors. About 10 or 11 o'clock one of the monks celebrated High Mass, the others chant ing the responses. During their stay the travelers paid visit to what is known as the dead house, where the bodies of traveler who perish in the storms are placed. They are wrapped in cloths and either laid on the floor or stood up around the The atmosphere of the region walls. preserves the corpses, so that they dry up thoroughly and there is no corrup

Of the comparative youth and vigor of all the monks, Rev. Mr. Heisler said he believed that after some years in that auty they are relieved and called to other houses of the order, thus keeping at the hospice a force that is thoroughly able to assist travelers at all times.

A stereoscopic view in Rev. Mr. Heis ler's possession shows in the foreground a group of the monks in black robes, relieved by what appears like Roman collars and a cord of white hanging from the neck like a sodalist's ribbon, but tucked in the belt. In the back ground is the hospice, apparently sev eral stories high, with a steep gable roof, while the dead house appears near by.

Of the St. Bernard dogs, whose feats in saving exhausted travelers have been the subject of so many interesting stories, he related an incident which the subject of so many interesting therefore she exclaims in the spirit of ever, after repeated urgings by her shows how alert the noble animals are in their calling. After dinner on the Sunday in question he took a stroll, wrapping himself in a shawl, which was necessary to his comfort. It was a beautiful sunshiny day, and finding a nook sheltered from the wind he lay down on a natural bed formed by the rocks and shortly after fell asleep. He awoke from his nap and rose to his feet to find about a dozen of these massive dogs standing around him. He was in doubt as to whether their intentions were hostile or not, but after looking at him and evidently making up their minds that he was in no distress and not in need of their assistance they moved away. Rev. Mr. Heisler is engaged with the other Protestant ministers of Cam-den in an evangelistic campaign, his church being the centre of one of the districts. Those engaged in it are making a systematic canvass of the city in an effort to find out what is the religious status of the people. Where a person is found to have a preference for any particular denomination, the pastor of that sect's nearest church is notified. Acknowledging the good work of the Catholic Church, he expressed a willingness to give his list of those who said that they are Catholics to the priests, but supposed that our system was so perfect that we already He also spoke of the had them all. kindly manner in which the Catholics upon whom he had called received

The Best Way to Cure

The Best Way to Cure
Disease is to establish health. Pure, rich blood means good health. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the One True Blood Purifier. Ittones up the whole system, gives appetite and strength, and causes weakness, nervousness and pain to disappear. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills are the best after-dinner pill; assist digestion, prevent constipation. 25c. Help your children to grow strong and robust by counteracting anything that causes ill health. One great cause of disease in children is worms. Remove them with Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It mayor fails never fails.

THE POOR SOULS' APPEAL.

Catholic Columbian

Some lines of Cardinal Newman voice the soul of the Church at this season, when Nature herself puts on a funereal garb, and the "falling leaves are preaching of decay," and "the year, its life resigning, its lot fore shadows ours:"

"Help, Lord, the souls which Thou hast made The souls to Thee so dear; In prison for the debt unpaid Of sins committed here."

What a tender and yet strong devotion is that of our remembrance of the souls in Purgatory! Reason would dictate our obligation to help those gone before, did not Revelation explic itly point it out. As the great Anglican Bishop Heber, the author of many beautiful and graceful religious poems and hymns, put it : Few per sons, I believe, have lost a beloved object, more particularly by sudden death, without feeling an earnest desire to recommend them in their prayers to God's mercy, and a sort of instinctive impression that such devotions might still be serviceable to them. Having been led attentively to consider the question, my own opinion is, on the whole, favorable to the practice, which is, indeed, so natural and so comfort able, that this alone is a presumption that it is neither unpleasing to the Al mighty nor unavailing with Him." Thousands of non-Catholic hearts have felt the same and yearned for some thing definite in doctrine as to prayer for the dead; but to the children of the true Church alone is this natural in stinct made holy and beautiful; for, after all, our very instincts are dim foreshadowings of mighty truths. All Christian literature abounds in this yearning to help the dead who have been near and dear to us. Who son put into the mouth of the dying King Arthur :

Pray formy soul! More things are wrought by prayer Than this world dreams of; wherefore let thy voice a fountain for me night and day. Rise like a fountain for me night and day. For, what are men better than sheep or goats That nourish a blind life within the brain. If knowing God, they litt not hands of prayer Both for themselves and those who call them

For so the whole round earth is every way Bound by gold chains about the feet of God

The Mother Of God.

Sophronius, speaking of the Bleseed rgin says "Thou hast surpassed all rgin says the angels, obscured the brilliancy of the Archangels; the Thrones are b neath thee; thou art raised above the Dominations; thou precedest the Principalies; thou art mighter than the Powers, stronger than the Virtues : thou standest above the Cherubim thou hast preceded the Seraphim. 'She is greater than the Heavens, says Peter Chrysologus, than the earth, broader than the world; for God, whom the world, does not contain, was contained by her alone. She carried Him who carries the world, bore her Genitor, nourishes Him who Thus stands Mary in the midst of time on the boundary lines of the O'd and New Testament; the former she explains, the latter she fortells and She conceived the greatest founds. blessing bestowed by God in the Old Testament-the blessing of maternity in the flesh; with her and through her enters the still greater blessing of the New Testament. The charissima of virginity, the spiritual maternity, the most fruitful Mother of the purest Vir gin, from whom henceforth, as from an immortal root, the virginal branches spring. She is the last pro-phetess and queen of the prophets, for the Word of the Lord not only came to prophecy, "Behold, from henceforth all generations shall call me blessed And with the million voices of the bells, and from the hearts of millions of the faithful, and for hundreds of thousands of days, thrice a day, in fulfillment, ascend to her the words Ave Maria. Thus she is the only witness, the only possible witness, of the Incarnation, from whose lips the Incarnation, Apostles learned it and proclaimed it.

Pat to the Rescue.

A clergyman was standing at the corner of a square in the city on Thanksgiving Day about the hour of dinner, when one of his countrymen. observing the worthy Father in perplexity, thus addressed him:
"O, Father O'Leary, how is your revrence "? "Mighty put out, Pat," was the reply. "Put out! Who'd put out your rev-

"Ab, you don't understand, that is I am invited to dine at one of the houses in the square, and I have forgotten the name, and I never looked at the number, and now it is nearly 6 o'clock.

"Och, is that all ?" was the reply. "Just now be aisy your reverance; I'll settle that for you."

So saying, away went the good-natured Irishman around the square, glancing at the houses, and when he discovered lights that denoted hospitality, he rang the door-bell and inquired:

" Is Father O'Leary here?" As might be expected, again and again he was repulsed. At length an angry footman exclaimed :

No, bother on Father O'Leary, he is not here, but he was to dine here today, and the cook is in rage and says the dinner will be spoiled. All is waiting for Father O'Leary." Paddy leaped from the door as if the steps were on fire, rushed up to the astonished priest, saying: " All is right, your reverence ; you dine at 1245, and a mighty good dinner you'll get."

"O, Pat," said the grateful pastor. 'the blessings of a hungry man be upon you."

"Long life and bappiness to your reverence. I have your malady, and only wish I had your cure."

IN THE SHADOW OF DEATH.

he Condition of many Young Girls in Canada – Pale Faces and Bloodless Lips-Given to Headaches-Extreme Weakness, Heart Palpitation and Other Distressing Symptoms - The Means of Cure Readily at Hand.

Leamington Post. The attention of the Post has lately ceen frequently called to a remarkable cure in the case of a young girl living within a few miles of this town, whose life was despaired of, but who was completely cured in a short space of time by the most wonderful of all remedies Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Since reading in almost every issue of the Post of the cures effected by the use of this medicine, we felt it to be a duty we owed to investigate this case which has so urgently been brought to our notice, and we are sure the interview will be read with interest by the thou sands of young girl all over Canada, as well as by the parents of such interest-ing patients. The young lady in question is not anxious for notoriety but is willing to make her case know in order that others who are similarly afflicted may have an opportunity of being equally benefitted. The symp toms in her disease differed in no way from those affecting thousands o young girls about her age. She was suffering from extreme weakness, caused by an impoverished condition of the blood, and her chances of life seemed to grow less every day. best and brightest fade away as well a others, but when we see a young girl of sixteen years, who should be in the best of health, with cheeks aglow with the rosy flush of youth, and eyes brigh and flashing, just the opposite, with sallow cheeks, bloodless lips, listless in every motion, despondent, despairing of life with no expectation or hope o regaining health, and with only one wish left, that of complete rest, physic al and mental, we think it one of the saddest of sights.

In the quiet little hamlet of Strang field, in Essex county, just such a case was presented to the sorrowing eyes of loving friends a few months ago in the person of Miss Ella Beacon, who fre quently said she did not care how soon she died, as life had no charms for her. To our reporter she declared that life had been a burden, but after suffering in this way for months, and after trying all sorts of remedies prescribed by physicians or furnished by friends from some cherished receipe handed down from their grandmother, but without being benefitted in the least. she was at last persuaded by a neigh bor to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial; but she had tried so many parents and friends she began the use of the pills. Before one box was taken she experienced some relief, and after the use of a few more boxes she was restored to perfect health, and there are few young girls now who enjoy life more. She says she owes her life and happiness to Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and is willing that all the world shall know it. Her case at-tracted much attention and her perfect recovery has created much comment.

The facts above related are import ant to parents, as there are many young girls just budding into woman hood whose condition is, to say the least, more critical than their parents imagine. Their complexion is pale and waxy in appearance, troubled with heart palpitation, beadaches, shortness of breath on the slightest exercise, faintness and other distressing symptoms which invariably lead to a premature grave unless prompt steps are taken to bring about a natural condition of health. In this emergency no remedy yet discovered can supply the place of Dr. Williams' Pink which build anew the blood, strengthen the nerves and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. They are a certain cure for all troubles peculiar to the female system, young or old. Pink Pills also cure such diseases as rheumatism, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus' dance, nervous head ache, nervous prostration, the after effects of la grippe, influenza and severe colds, diseases depending on humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, over work or excesses of any nature.

If?

If you want to preserve apples, don't cause a break in the skin. The germs of decay thrive rapidly there. So the germs of consumption find good soil for work when the lining of the throat and lungs is bruised, made raw, or injured by colds and coughs. Scott's Emulsion. with hypophosphites, will heal inflamed mucus membranes. The time to take it is before serious damage has been done. A 50-cent bottle is enough for an ordinary cold.

50 cents and $1.00 Scott & Bowns, Chemists, Belleville, Ont.

THE WILL & BAUMER CO.

Bleachers and Refiners of Beeswax, and Manufacturers of

CHURCH CANDLES.

The Celebrated Purissma 3 and Altar Brand . . . . .

and Baumer's Patent Finish Beeswax Candles. . . . . .

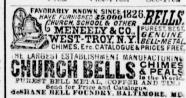

Acknowledged by all to be the best, and in use upon the altars of the Catholic churches throughout the United States. Samples and prices will be cheerfully sent

The Will & Baumer Co. 43 13 SYRACUSE, N. Y.

The O'Keefe Brewery CO. of Toronto, Ltd.

SPECIALTIES:
High-class English and Bavarian Hopped Aless
XXX Porter and Stout. Pilsener Lager of world-wide reputation E. OKEEFA, W. HAWKE, J. G. GIBS Pres. Vice-Pres. Sec. 1

PLAIN FACTS FOR FAIR MINDS.

This has a larger sale than any book of the kind now in the market. It is not a controversial work, but simply a statement of Gatholic Dectrine. The author is Rev. Geo. M. Searle. The price is exceedingly lowoff fitteen cents. Free by mail to any address. The book contains 300 pages. Address Thos. Coffey, CATHOLIC RECORD Office, London, Ont.

Church

ASK FOR DESIGNS.

OBJECTS OF THE

New York Catholic Agency The object of this Agency is to supply, at the regular dealers' prices, any kind of goods imported or manufactured in the United States.

The advantages and conveniences of this Agency are many, a few of which are:

1st. It is situated in the heart of the wholstaletrade of the metropolis, and has completed such arrangements with the leading manufacturers and importers as enable it to purchase 13 any quantity at the lowest wholesale rates, thus getting its profits or commissions from the importers or manufacturers, and hence—2nd. No extra commissions are charged its partons on purchases made for them, and giving them besides the benefit of my experience and facilities in the actual prices charged.

3rd. Should a patron want several different serticles, embracing as many separate trades or lines of goods, the writing of only one letter to this Agency will insure the prompt and correct filling of such orders. Besides, there will be only one express or freight charge.

4th. Persons outside of New York, who may not know the address of houses selling a particular line of goods, can get such goods all the same by sending to this Agency.

5th. Clergymen and Religious Institutions and the trade buying from this Agency are allowed the regular or usual discount.

Any business matters, outside of buying and selling goods, entrusted to the attention or management of this Agency, will be strictly and conscientiously attended to by your giving me authority to act as your agent. Whenever you want to buy anything send your orders to THOMAS D. EGAN.

THOMAS D. EGAN, Catholic Agency, 42 Barclay St. New York,

REID'S HARDWARE

For Grand Rapids Carpet Sweepers Superior Carpet Sweepers Sinceperette, the latest Wringers, Mangles Cutlery, etc.

118 DUNDAS STREET, North S de. LONDON, Ont.

NOVE MBER 28, 1898

FIVE-MINUTE'S SE

First Sunday of Ac

LOCKING TO THE "And he spoke to them a simi fig tree and all the trees: when forth their fruit you know That seems a strange our Lord to make use of my brethren? Yet what forcibly teach the lesson H us learn? Every one, evest child, when he sees the ning to put forth their le that summer is nigh. wished us to see that the ing the end of the world clear. And not only is that great last day who shall be changed and the angel shall be heard ca to judgment; it is equal day when the world sha when we shall be force world. There are signs telling that we are fas the appointed lot of a too often we live as if still far off, as if we h years to live ; and when comes, how many does prepared? What could be a clear of the approach of death this first Sunday of what is it? It is the new year. It is the day

Church begins over ag of penance and prayer year of our lives has g and how have we spe have we done? How do in God's sight? Are we were a year ago? I to us a year of war back and see how many and neighbors have fall of life during this past unexpected, perhaps, of them! How many come to you! They v taught you was that t was short and was rapi a close. Did you ever that? Did you ever why it was your frien was taken away and yo Ah! it was that you m our Lord Himself. yourselves," He says, your hearts be overcha feiting drunkenness a life, and that day come denly." These worker you. You have often These words fore, but what effect duced? Have you give of drunkenness and gl you rid yourselves of and sinful cares of lif delude yourselves? from the church and am young yet; I see n awful voice of God wa "Thou fool, this things shall be taken thy soul cast into hell. ask yourselves now, your fate if the voice to call you. Do not s der when you think o is it then, as reasona we ought to do? Is it awful state? Ah! has permitted us to he warning perhaps for t sad indeed will it be f heed them. And not prepare; now, at the the works of darkness from the sins by whi so long enslaved, for tion nearer than wh in me; there will be think of those things will Thou fool! Have you words of the Gospel a for enjoyment? And heart was filled with

A Mother's I do not think the realize what the ear influences of a mothe when he reaches ye mother's knee is no the man. Our mor there. We are mos when we are in a sta pendence upon oth Many a man has sto the road in his lif and perplexed, on mother's words, utte child, come before him the way. It is alizes that the best to a man is to have h watchful, tender an a mother can be w concerned. In those the lesson taughtnot by a stranger, garten, but at the becomes a precious benediction. It me salvation. And in a man thinks of a never thinks of a A look of tendernes eyes, a feeling of so his heart, and the iest infancy comes sciously, he looks up to himself the mos words, "Mother. mothers of to-day much that word will of to morrow. - Edv

Ladies' Home Journ Many a Yo When from over-weby an inherited wear and rest or medical sorted to, then no medical with the same benefit

reserve

a break

erms of

y there.

nsump-

or work

ethroat

, made oldsand

ulsion,

es, will s mem-

to take damage

50-cent

an or-eville, Ont.

ER CO.

3 0424

ent Finish

. . . . . .

eerfully sent ier Co.

Toronto, Ltd.

Hopped Ales;

BELLS.

FUREST, BEST, GENUINE BELL-METAL & PRICES FREE

MORE, MD

R MINDS.

eeswax, and

FIVE-MINUTE'S SERMON.

First Sunday of Advent.

LOCKING TO THE END. "And he spoke to them a similitude. See the fig tree and all the trees: when they now shoot forth their fruit you know that summer i

That seems a strange similitude for our Lord to make use of, does it not, my brethren? Yet what could more forcibly teach the lesson He would have us learn? Every one, even the simpl est child, when he sees the trees beginning to put forth their leaves, knows that summer is nigh. So our Lord wished us to see that the signs preceding the end of the world are equally clear. And not only is this true of that great last day when all things shall be changed and the voice of the angel shall be heard calling all men to judgment; it is equally true of the day when the world shall end for us, when we shall be forced to leave the world. There are signs all around us telling that we are fast hurrying to the appointed lot of all men. Yet too often we live as if that day were still far off, as if we had yet many years to live ; and when the day at last comes, how many does it not find un-prepared? What could be a clearer sign to us of the approach of death than this day, this first Sunday of Advent? For what is it? It is the beginning of a new year. It is the day on which the Church begins over again her round of penance and prayer and joy. A year of our lives has gone from us, and how have we spent it? What have we done? How do we stand now in God's sight? Are we better than we were a year ago? Has it not been to us a year of warning? Look back and see how many of your friends and neighbors have fallen in the battle of life during this past year; and how unexpected, perhaps, was it to many of them! How many afflictions have come to you! They were all signs, and the one lesson they should have taught you was that the time of life was short and was rapidly drawing to a close. Did you ever stop to think o that? Did you ever ask yourselves why it was your friend or neighbor was taken away and you were spared? Ah! it was that you might hear again the words of warning spoken to us by our Lord Himself. "Take heed to yourselves," He says, "lest perhaps your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting drunkenness and the cares of life, and that day come upon you sud-denly." These words are not new to you. You have often heard them be-fore, but what effect have they pro-duced? Have you given up those sins of drunkenness and gluttony? Have you rid yourselves of those excessive and sinful cares of life? Or did you delude yourselves? Did you go forth from the church and say: 'Oh! I am young yet; I see no signs of death in me; there will be time enough to think of those things when I get older Thou fool! Have you not heard the words of the Gospel addressed to the man who thought he had a long time for enjoyment? And even while his heart was filled with such things the awful voice of God was heard saying : "Thou fool, this night all these things shall be taken from thee, and thy soul cast into hell." My brethren, ask yourselves now, what would be your fate if the voice were suddenly to call you. Do not some of you shudder when you think of it? And what actions event. In the meantime the sist then, as reasonable beings, that we ought to do? Is it to go on in that awful state? Ah! my brethren, God awful state? Ah! my brethren, God awful state? has permitted us to hear these words of arrived, in order that the king might warning perhaps for the last time, and sad indeed will it be for us if we do not ordinary a prodigy. The messenger heed them. And now is the time to prepare; now, at the very beginning of this new year, is the time to cast of the works of darkness, to free ourselve from the sins by which we have been so long enslaved, for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed.

A Mother's Influence.

I do not think that women exactly realize what the early teachings and influences of a mother mean to a man when he reaches years of maturity The time which a boy spends at his mother's knee is never forgotten by Our morality is learned the man. there. We are most impressionable when we are in a stage of absolute dependence upon others. * * *

Many a man has stood at the forks of the road in his life, broken hearted and perplexed, only to have his mother's words, uttered to him when a child, come before him and point him the way. It is then that he realizes that the best thing in the world to a man is to have had a good mother, watchful, tender and anxious, as only a mother can be where her child is concerned. In those supreme moments the lesson taught-not by the nurse, not by a stranger, not at the kindergarten, but at the mother's kneebecomes a precious recollection and a benediction. It means then a man's salvation. And in that quiet moment a man thinks of a good mother as he never thinks of any other woman. A look of tenderness comes into his eyes, a feeling of softness creeps into his heart, and the attitude of his earllest infancy comes to him as, unconsciously, he looks upward and breathes to himself the most precious of all words, "Mother." It remains for the mothers of to-day to determine how much that word will mean to the men of to morrow .- Edward W. Bok, in Ladies' Home Journal.

Many a Young Man.

When from over-work, possibly assisted by an inherited weakness, the health fails by an inherited weakness, the health fails and rest or medical treatment must be resorted to, then no medicine can be employed with the same beneficial results as Scott's

Trees, the grasses, the terms and the weeds. Year after year they grew ten cod and blossomed and died, over and over and blossomed and died, over and over again, just as plants and trees do now.

Again and again, in those ages, adrift.

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

At The Door

I thought myself indeed secure, So fast the door, so firm the lock; But lo! he toddling comes to lure My parent ear with timorous knock.

My heart were stone could it withstand
The sweetness of my baby's plea—
That timorous baby knocking and
"Please let me in—it's only me."

I threw aside the unfinished book, Regardless of its tempting charms, And, opening wide the door, I took My laughing darling in my arms.

Who knows but in eternity,
f, like a truant child, shall wait
The glories of a life to be,
Beyond the Heavenly Father's gate?

And will that Heavenly Father heed
The truant's supplicating cry,
As at the outer door I plead,
'Tis I, O Father! only I?"

-Eugene Field.

Strictness and Accuracy.

Habits of exactness in every phase of life are a safeguard to character. In a considerable degree the whole boy is exhibited in any of his spheres of thought or action. He cannot, therefore, indulge in laxity in any one of his activities of head or of hand, without incurring the risk of growing lax unconsciously in other things. Carelessness or slouchiness in mere surface routine may result in a less of the sense of care and exactness in matters involving the deeper prinples of rectitude and honor. ne between right and wrong, between nesty and dishonesty, has been lest sight of by many a trusted employee mply because hard and fast lines ave fallen out of his general habits of thinking, speaking and doing. Strict ness and accuracy have a value be-yord any immediately utilitarian purpose their value is to character.

A Great Artist's Advice. Asked on one occasson to say a few words of advice to boys, Sir John Millais said: "My advice to boys is "Work!" They can't be all geniuses, but they can all work, and without work even the most brilliant genius will be of very little good. I never recommend any one to be an artist it is a wretchedly disappointing pro fession for most, and is terribly over-crowded. If a boy has got a real calling to be an artist, he will be one without being recommended. Scores and scores of people bring their chil-dren to me and ask me if I should advise them to bring them up as painters, and I always say, 'Certainly But, whatever a boy intends to be, he must grind at it; study all the minutest details, not scamp any of the uninteresting elementary parts, but work away so as to be thoroughly wel up in all ground-work of the subject. It is interesting to remember in this connection that Sir John as a boy never ceased using his pencil. was sketching every minute of the St. Louis and the Miraculous Host.

It is related in the life of St. Louis, king of France, that upon one occasion while the priest was celebrating Mass in the royal chapel, our Blessed Lord manifested Himself to the assistants during the time of the elevation, under the form of a little infant of sur passing beauty. As the king was not present, a messenger was immediately despatched to inform him of the mir aculous event. In the meantime the having reached the royal apartment. informed the king of the event, and urged him to lose no time in repairing Whereupon St. Louis, to the spot. without manifesting any surprise, quietly replied, "Let those go to wit ness the prodigy who have no true faith in the Blessed Eucharist. For my part, I am more satisfied about the real presence of Jesus in the conse-crated Host than if I were to behold Him with my own eyes. he know that true faith has a firmer can be obtained by the testimony of the senses. - Anime Divota. The Sunshine of Past Ages.

foundation in the Word of God and the teaching of the Church, than any that

The teacher bade me write an essay upon "Coal." I studied the en-cyclopedia until my head was in a whirl with big words like "amorphous substance," "bituminous coal," "lig nite and cannel coal," and they all contained "carbon, hydrogen, oxygen and nitrogen," and then I did not snow one single thing about coal, and so I asked mamma: "What is coal, any way?" "It is the sunshine of past ages," said she, and then she told me so pretty a story that I thought I would write it for "Our Boys and Girls" to Ages and ages ago, when the earth was young, and man had not yet begun to live on it, because as yet the conditions were not favorable to the life that mankind needs, monster fishes swam in the slimy seas and giant animals stalked over and through the marshy lands. Monster trees grew from the sloppy, moist ground, while grasses taller than we ever saw, and plants with huge stems and gigantic leaves, grew beneath their branches. Then, as now, rain fell, clouds floated by and the bright sunshine was over all. The brighter the sunshine, the ranker and taller grew the trees, the grasses, the ferns and the great earthquakes occurred, and the waters would roll in places where they were not before, and where they were once would be bare ground. The giant trees and the plants beneath them would e packed and buried in the mud and would see the sunshine no more.

Over and over again, trees and grasses, plants and ferns, grew in the sunshine; over and over again they were buried and packed down in the larkness, ever undergoing chemical changes.

Ages came and went, and finally man, the crowning work of the Creator, appeared upon the scene. Centuries came and went before he discovered the buried subshine. Many are the legends as to how and when he first learned of the warmth imprisoned in the black mineral that, now and then, was found above the ground.

As every good deed sooner or later to day will be outdone to morrow. It is this steady progress, no matter from time, so the short lives of the tipiest ferns of ages ago are now making light and happiness in many a home that goodness. would be dark, cold and gloomy had not the Creator in His wisdom, ages and ages ago, buried the sunshine in earth's dark bosom, to lie until such ime as He was ready to bring it again to the light of day.

It's Worth All It Costs.

ous and entertaining at home."

There was never better advice than that. "Company manners" are the most detestable things in the world, not alone because of their pretension - and all pretense is vul-gar and wrong-but because of the evil they work upon those who practice them. The girl who does not cultivate the habit of being gracious and enter taining at home is never easy and sure f herself away from home. Her voice s affected, her words are illy chosen, er attitudes are too stiff or too careles and she lacks refinement in a dozen small, fine, dainty yet most pleasing ways. The unrestrained yet always carefully guarded intercourse with "home people" is an education in it-self. They know each other's hindrances, drawbacks and weak places, therefore they readily perceive the trength and courage which overcomes difficulties, and it awakens both pride and hearty sympathy when one of the circle brightens and widens in wit and learning. A family party meeting three times each day around a plain and frugal board with the determination to make it pleasant for each other passes through years of trial and care, through sickness and disappointment, from youth to middle-life and even into age, with cheerful spirits, with cour age and hope, with growing intelli-gence, deepening refinement, an un-shadowed and vigorous youthfulness of heart and mind that wards off the real evils of age. Keep the merry thoughts and amusing incidents of each separate life story to tell graphically at home ; read and talk to each other of what you read; gather beautiful things to share under the roof tree; mark the birthdays and the feast days with the poken word of congratulation if ne more, and with some slight and simple honor if the costly gift is beyond your means. In fact, for this work money is not needed - not one cent. But no one can tell until they hav tried it how delightfully entertaining the home circle may be and how pleasant and attractive are at times the unkind or rude, never to refer to unpleasant matters, never to "talk over" sorrows, misfortunes or mistakes, unless they can be remedied; add these precautionary measures to active efforts to 'entertain the family, and the habit will become in time with all of you so delightful, so comforting, so cheering, that you will like home better than any place else and turn to it with warn and happy hearts from every dark, cold hour. Take it up in earnest, every girl among you, and be jus as pleasantly entertaining, a thoroughly gracious, polished, kindly and brilliant at home as you can possibly make yourself anywhere. nothing daunt you. You will find it worth all it costs in the end. — Catholic Standard and Times.

He always wins who sides with God, To him no chance is lost; God's will is sweetest to him when It triumphs at his cost.

All that God blesses is our good, And unblest good is ill; Ard all is right that seems most wrong, If it be His sweet will!

When obstacles and trials seem Like prison walls to be, I do the little I can do. And leave the rest to Thee.

I have no cares, O blessed will! For all my cares are Thine; I live in triumph, Lord, for Thou I live in triumph, Lord, let Hast made Thy triumphs mine.

A Word in Time.

The too careful avoidance of religous discussion which some Catholics feel as incumbent upon good breeding, may be the means of deterring some one of wavering faith from pursuing an investigation that might lead to the light. The of canons society say that religion is a subject which is to b tabooed, and generally speaking the rule is a very good one to hold by. It is the exceptional case that calls for the transgressing of this law, and the private judgment of every individual

CHATS WITH YOUNG MEN.

He who does the best he can is always improving. His best of yester-day is outdone to day, and his best of what point it starts, that forms the Almanac chief element of all greatness and Use Every Opportunity. It is the sum of little things that stands for the great accomplishments of human energy and ingenuity. If we analyze a career crowned with fame or one that breathes the perfume of good deeds, we shall find an aggre "Cultivate the habit of being graci- gate of trifles, so to speak, imposing and monumental. No great act, singly ever brought renown. Though to the popular mind it seemed the foundation and the capstone of reputation, invartably a philosophical study of anteced ent circumstances discloses a line of conduct logically culminating in the

It is obvious that scrupulous ATTENTION TO LITTLE THINGS.
is the key that unlocks the door of prosperity in every line of human effort. I ary factors that have transformed the Not alone does it brighten the prospect face and character of external civilizavery direct and substantial way our fact that in this new field of discovery immediate happiness. Take for ex- and invention, the quality of close ob prise "good breeding," as it is called, its individual possessor as well of mark the result which it produces on the minds and dispositions that come within the radius of its influence. It sonal application of the matter and the means uniform courtesy and consider-ateness that almost always awake a re-efforts of inventive, because observant f pleasant relationships which facilithe means of getting on comfortably. No nature is proof against the insidious potency of politeness. The most obdurate will ultimately capitulate to its silent but resistless persuasion. Amiability and sincerity achieve more conquests than the harsh spirit of dicwield this mighty instrument of domin- by making ion, we have only to exercise that enlarge his field of commercial or professional activity, is the assiduous cul-ivation of this trait. That is one of the little things that count immensely in the equipment of success.

JUDICIOUS SELF-RESTRAINT which civilization denominates cour-

It is the application of the same prinple in a material sense that has wrought the most wonderful results in scientific progress and material ad-vancement. To fully understand the importance and value of close observance of the trifles that comprise the de tail of the life around us, it is only necessary to study the marvellous consequences evolved from the discovery of the relation of these to the great forces that underlie the magnificent and harmonious whole. In astronomical science, the movements of the heavenly bodies, which the ordinary mind would consider a waste of time to follow with that minute particularity which characterizes learned research in this direction, are known to exert a nost momentous influence on the great fact of physical existence and the con ditions and relations that govern the universe. In physics and mechanics t is the discovery of immutable prin ciples and the appreciation of natural aws and forces that lead to the most re markable adaptation of these simpl agencies which contribute so much to man's comfort and happiness. An ex cellent illustration of the fruitfulness of

THIS HABIT OF OBSERVATION applied to what apparently are the ast important phenomena of nature, is the accidental character of the great discoveries that produce the most marvellous results of civilization, on its practical side. The present status of steam and electricity and the revoluin good faith, or merely for the sake of provoking an argument that will lead to naught. If the repulsion of a single honest enquirer and his subsequent indifference result from the too strict adherence to this unwrittened of manners, it were better that it be broken daily than that a seeker after truth should be turned adrift.

NO ONE CAN SAY POSITIVELY. That he does not possess the necessary qualifications for success in one or the other direction. Nor is it desirable other direction. The usefulness of the mighty with the spirit and teaching of Christian that the sordid love of material reward should replace ideals more in keeping with the spirit and teaching of Christian that the spirit and teaching of Christian that the sordid love of material reward should replace ideals more in keeping with the spirit and teaching of Christian that the sordid love of material reward should replace ideals more in keeping with the spirit and teaching of Christian that the sordid love of material reward should replace ideals more in keeping with the spirit and teaching of Christian that the sordid love of material reward should replace ideals more in keeping with the spirit and teaching of Christian that the sordid love of material reward should replace ideals more in keeping with the spirit and teaching of Christian that the sordid love of material reward should replace ideals more in keeping and great misery. The desirable of the microscopic that the sordid love of material reward should replace ideals more in keeping and great misery.

NOW READY!

The

of Ontario for 1897 Illustrated

THE ONLY Liturgical Calendar adapted to Ontario. THE ONLY Directory of the Church in Oatario. THE ONLY accurate Clergy List of Ontario. THE ONLY complete list of Separate Schools in Ont.

THE ONLY complete list of Catholic Societies and their officers in Ontario.

CONTAINING

SHORT STORIES - Biographical Sketches - Au abundance of Catholic reading matter, and numerous Illustrations.

Approved by the Archbishops and Bishops of Ontario.

Sing'e Copies 25 cts. Twelve Copies $2.50-Postage prepaid. Can be obtained from the Monastery of the Precious Blood, 113 St. Joseph

AGENTS WANTED in every parish. Liberal terms. Write at once. The Editor, 113 St. Joseph st

Almanaes can be ordered from The Catholic Record office, London.

popular use of steam as a motive force | most exalted ideals of Christian civilizconduct logically culminating in the event upon which public interest centres. This is so of spiritual and intellectual heroism no less than of minor achievements in the lower order of merely social and material successes.

It is obvious that scrupplons. ful advancement that has been con- of the noblest ends of Christian faith stantly made under the impetus of and endeavor. steam and electricity, and the subsidiary factors that have transformed the of future progress, but it affects in a tion. Our object is to point out the school and college to fight life's battles, ample, the careful observance of all servation of little things has been productive of enormous material benefit to the ceatify and power of the careful observance of all servation of little things has been productive of enormous material benefit to the ceatify and power of the careful observance of all servation of little things has been productive of enormous material benefit to the ceatify and power of the careful observance of all servation of little things has been productive of enormous material benefit to the ceatify and power of the careful observance of all servation of little things has been productive of enormous material benefit to the ceatify and power of the careful observance of all servation of little things has been productive of enormous material benefit to the ceatify and power of the careful observance of all servation of little things has been productive of enormous material benefit to the ceatify and power of the careful observance of the ceatific that come is the control of the ceatific that come is the ceatific that co sponsive chord. It means modesty geniuses, we find in a current publica and frankness of manner that are not tion some interesting facts that have wasted even on the most boorish of an important bearing upon the mankind. It means the establishment human interest which the subject in spires. As showing the humble begin tate the utilization of opportunities and | nings of some of the great fortune coupled with great fame, won by the men who read it. According to the writer, it is estim-tation that commands where persuasion ated that five out of every seven of would better serve the purpose. To the millionaire manufacturers began and amenities, of social interto take pains. A keen, cultivated observation will see a fortune where respect for the little things that bear upon our relation to others. Too much uttention therefore cannot be bestowed on the cultivation of this side of the haracter.

WITH THEIR OWN HANDS the articles which made their fortunes One of the greatest hindrance to advancement and promotion in life is the The babit of observing the require.

Servation will see a fortune where others are separated others see only poverty. An observing man, the eyelets of whose shees pulled out, but who could not afford to get an other pair, said to himself: "I will have, and when he has mastered them some old fellow tells him they are upon the cultivation of this side of the haracter.

> ment on shears for cutting hair and invented the clipper, and became very > hayfield to wash out the clothes for his invalid wife. He had never realized what it was to wash before. He in vented the washing machine and made

> A man who was suffering terribly with a toothache said to himself there must be some way of filling the teeth to prevent them aching: he invented gold filling for the teeth.

THE GREAT THINGS OF THE WORLD have not been done by men of large Want has been the great means. school-master of the race. Ericson began the construction of the screw propellers in a bath room; the cotton gin was first manufactured in a log cabin. John Harrison, the great in ventor of the marine chronometer began his career in the loft of an old barn. Parts of the first steamboat ever run in America were put up in the vestry of an old church in Phila delphia by Fitch. McCormack began to make his famous reaper in an old grist mill. The first model dry dock was made in an attic. Clark, the founder of Clark University, of Worcester, Mass., began his great fortune by making toy wagons in a horse Farquahar made umbrellas in his sitting room, with his daughter's help, until he sold enough to hire a The boy Edison began his ex periments in a baggage car on the Grand Trunk railroad when a news-

Evey one cannot be a great inventor or acquire vast opulence, but

NO ONE CAN SAY POSITIVELY.

We would impress on the thousands of young Catholic men who have left that there is nothing which adds so much to the beauty and power of man I dignifies him in every station, exalts him in every condition and glorifies him at every period of life. Such a character is more to be desired than everything else on earth. It makes a man free and independent. No servile tool-no crouching sycophant-no treacherous honor seeker ever bore such a character. The pure joys of truth and righteousness never spring in such a person. If young men but knew how much a good character would dignify and exalt them, how

Stray Chips of Thought.

Every man is a failure at somehing.

It is easy to compile a list of don'ts. Not a few men are like the amoba they live on what sticks to them. A jingo and a patriot are separated

It's all very odd, but a man knows less as he grows old, until at sixty he twenty he knows everything and more, too; at forty he has doubts, and at fifty he becomes very modest. What a pity that at seventy we can't really know as much as we thought we knew when we were twenty-five.

The home is the sunniest side of every great people. Without devotion to home there can be no devotion to ountry. The home is the cradle of good citizenship and patriotism; it is ne fountain of happiness, not only to individuals but to nations as well : and it is the one spot on earth that should be guarded from needless shadows.

My Duty.

True repentance has a double aspect: t looks upon things past with a weepng eye, and upon the future with a watching eve. "Then what is my next duty? What is the thing that lies nearest to me? "That, I repeat, belongs to your veryday history. No one can answer everyday history. that question but himself. Your next duty is just to determine what your next duty is. Is there nothing you neglect? Is there nothing you know you ought not to do? know your duty if you thought in earnest about it, and were not ambi tious of great things."

"Ah, then, "responded Lady Georgiana, with an abandoning sigh, "I suppose it is something very commonplawhich will make life more dreary than ever. That cannot help me.

"It will, if it be as dreary as reading the newspapers to an old deaf aunt. will soon lead you to something more. Your duty will not begin to comfort you at once, but will at length open he unknown fountain in your heart -George MacDonald.

y book of the stacontrover-t of Catholic eo. M. Searle. only fifteen ss. The book Thos. Coffey, on, Ont. lass

R DESIGNS. E----

Agency supply, at the of goods imbed States, are: of the whole-das completed ling manufactures of the whole-das completed ling manufactures of the whole-das completed ling manufactures of the whole-das control of the work of the work s Agency are ant. attention or all be strictly your giving t. Whenever our orders to . New York RE

Worth S de.

C. M B. A.

Resolution of Condolence.

Resolution of Condolence.

Orillia, Nov. 22, 1896.
At the last regular meeting of Branch 57,
Orillia, the following address of condolence, moved by R. A. Lynch, seconded by John Regan, was tendered R. M. Donnelly.
That this branch, having learned with regret the affliction that has visited the family of our esteemed and worthy treasurer, in the death of his beloved wife, we sincerely sympathize with our brother in the loss he has sustained, and we earnestly pray that God may give him and his family fortitude to bear the heavy cross He has placed upon them in thus depriving them of a loving wife and devoted mother. Be it, further, Resolved that this resolution be entered on the minutes of this meeting and sent to the CATHOLIC RECORD for publication.
R. D. Gunn, President.

A. O. H.

To the Editor of the CATHOLLE RECORD:

Please permit space in your valuable paper to throw a little light on what I consider an erronous impression. A few nights ago a little boy happened into the hall where the members of one of the Catholic societies assembled on business, previous to their opening the meeting. In the same hall a Division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians also meet. One of those in the hall at the time was reading the Charter of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. Turning to one of his comrades he said: "This organization was started to fight the P. P. A." Now. Mr. Editor, as this boy, who is pupil of St. Mary's school, is interested in the Ancient Order of Hibernians and wishes to know the motive for its establishment, and as there may be others who are without this knowledge, I thought it would be well to let them know that the society known as the Ancient Order of Hibernians was organized in Ireland during the penal laws in order to protect the clergy in celebrating the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, and also to shield the members and their families from the murdarers then let loose upon that country. In 1836 the organization was established on this continent the first Division being started in New York. The society has placed upon its banner as the source of all its laws, the three cardinal principles, Friendship, Unity and True Christian Charity. Its branches have spread to overy state and territory of the United States. In 1888 the Order was established in Ontario the first Division being in the city of Hamilton. Since then it has spread rapidly throughout this province, and no better test can be found than the financial standing of the Divisions. Applications for new Divisions are coming in from various sections of the country; and the same good news comes from the other provinces. The National Officers have just completed their agreement with the Catholic University at Washington providing $50,000 to endow a Chair in that great institution of learning, to teach the Irish language and inter

Committee, Thos. McDermott, John Lenihan, D. Howe.

WEDDING BELLS. SCANLON-HASSETT.

SCANLON-HASSETT.

A very pretty wedding, says the St. Mary's Journal, was celebrated at 9 a. m. Tuesday, in the Catholic church of that town, Rev. Father Downie, of Stratford, officiating in the absence of Rev. Father Brennan in Toronto. The groom was Mr. Thos. Scanlon, in the employ of D. Maxwell & Sons, and the bride Miss Bridget Hassett, daughter of Mr. M. Hassett, North Ward. The bride's brother, Mr. M. Hasset, clerk, in White & May's, supported the groom, the bride being assisted by her cousin, Miss Scanlon of Sarnia. After the ceremony some sixty invited guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's father, after which the couple left on a honeymoon trip to Toronto and other points. The bride was made the recipient of many handsome and costly presents, testifying more than words of the esteem in which she is held by her numerous friends. Among those present were guests from Sarnia, Cleveland, Toledo and Stratford.

M'EACHEN-FINLAN.

MEACHEN-FINLAN.

One of the most joyful events of the season occurred in the Catholic church, Bristol, on Wednesday, the 11th instant, when Miss Mary K. Finlan, daughter of the late John Finlan, was united in holy wedlock to Mr. McEachen, of Douglas. Rev. Father Kiernan, of Quyon, officiated. The bride was charmingly attired in a tweed travelling costume, trimmed with sable and Dresden silk, with hat to match, who was accided by when Miss Margaret McEachen was married to Mr. John Carter.

The bride was gracefully assisted by her sister, Miss Katherine McEachen, while the groom was supported by Mr. P. Gorman. The bride wore a rich travelling suit of green cloth, with velvet and sable trimmings, and turban to match. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. R. J. McEachen, brother of the bride, assisted by Rev. H. S. Marion, of Douglas.

Side! at the organ, but an accident prevented.

While the funeral cortege was entering the cathedral the organist played Beethoven's funeral march. The leath of a Hero. This self-was followed by a funeral march by L. K. Foster, written with a double movement on artist from New York. The cost of the work will be about $4,000. It is the personal gift of His Grace, the Most Rev. Archbishop.

After the ceremony an elegant breakfast was served at the presbytery, immediately after which the bride and groom took the train for Ottawa and other points East.

O'BRIEN-FOLTZ.

I take much pleasure in recording an interesting event that occurred in Belleville on Tuesday, 17th inst., in which one of Kingston's most respected citizens took a leading part. On that day ex-Alderman John O'Brien, of Russell street, was married to Miss Mary Foltz, of Belleville. The cere mony took place at St. Michael's church at 7:30 a. m., Right Rev. Mgr. Farrelly, V. G., officiating. A large number assembled in the church to witness the ceremony. The bride was given away by her brother, Mg. Joseph Foltz, of Belleville. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the bride's residence on Grove street, where they partook of the wedding breakfast. The bride received many beautiful and useful presents, that of the groom being a costly gold watch. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien left for their home in Kingston on the 12:20 train. On behalf of the REGORD I join with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien in wishing them many lappy and prosperous years of wedded bliss. Nov. 20, 1896.

DIOCESE OF HAMILTON.

DIOCESE OF HAMILTON.

DEATH OF PROFESSOR O'BRIEN.

It is with sincere regret we chronicle the death of Professor D. J. O'Brien, of Hamilion. Professor O'Brien's reputation as a musician has spread over every part of the Dominion. As a Catholic gentleman he was a model in every phrase of life—honest, conscientious whole-souled-gaining more and more the confidence and esteem of all as acquaintance became more intimate. Now that he has gone to his reward his many good works will count in the great hereafter. To his widow and daugher the CATHOLIC RECORD extends heartfelt condolence. May

The Hamilton Spectator of the 19th makes

The Hamilton Specialor of the 19th makes the following reference to Prof. O'Brien's death:

At about 3 o'clock, on the 18th inst., Donald Joseph O'Brien, founder and principal of the Hamilton College of Music, and one of the best known musicians in the city, died at his residence, Main and Charles street. His illness has been a long and painful one, but throughout he has borne his sufferings with a patience and fortitude surprising even to those who knew him best and watched by his bedside. For the past week it was known that he could not recover and that the end was not far distant. The finale, when it did come, was most peaceful. The watchers by his side say that he seemed to fall asleep like a child, without a tremor or quiver, as the death angel touched him. Family and friends were about him when the end came, and their sorrow was reflected in the hearts of the dead musician's host of friends when it was known he had passed away.

Prof. O'Brien was a Hamilton man in interesting at Washington providing $50,000 to endow a Chair in that great institution of learning, to teach the Irish language and literature. This act in itself should teach the thinking public that the object of the Ancient Order of Hibernians is not to follow the proscriptive organization. The order numbers close on two hundred thousand members, and pays $5.00 per week sick benefit. It has also in many of the States and Provinces an insurance attached. In Ottario they are starting a system based on the assessment per capita of those becoming members, not making it compulsory, so that no injustice will be done those who were already members and had previously taken up insurance in other societies. Any person wishing the constitution of the A. O. H., or any information, it will be cheerfully given. We are under obligation to the OATHOLIC RECORD and Register, in this province, for the many favors we have received, and we sincerely hope that it will not be forgotten by the members at large. When the Provincial Officers receive a favor it is not they alone who are benefited, but the whole order.

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE.
Ingersoll, Ont., Nov. 17, 1896.

At a regular meeting of Sacred Heart Court, No. 270, Ingersoll, Ont., the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to remove by the hand of death, the beloved wife of our esteemed Brother, Jonathan McPhee.

RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE.
Ingersoll, Ont., Nov. 17, 1896.

At a regular meeting of Sacred Heart Court, No. 270, Ingersoll, Ont., the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to remove by the hand of death, the beloved wife of our esteemed Brother, Jonathan McPatege of Music (the first in the city), which, under his stable direction, became an exceedingly popular the winter season, he carried on two or more important musical undertakings at the same time, and always brought them to a successful completion.

Chief among his more prominent public efforts were the conducting of oratories and of various services in the cathedral, the vocal society, the Hamilton minstrel performances, the two Hemphill operas and the fine performances of Donizetti's opera. The Daughter of the Regiment. He was at one time vice-president of the Philharmonic society. His organ recitals were also most attractive, and as an accompanist on the piano he had few equals. In all his undertakings he was ever kind-hearted, patient and full of encouragement, and his cheerfulness of spirit was never better shown than during the long and wearying rehearsals associated with the production of opera and minstrelsy.

In 1879 he married Miss Anna Harris, daughter of William Wellington Harris, of New York. The widow and one daughter, Josephine, are left. The funeral will be held on Friday morning from deceased's late residence, to St. Mary's cathedral, and from there to the Holy Sepulchre cemetery. The hour will be 10 o'clock, and the cathedral service is to be most complete. Rev. Father Micray of Toronto, who gave deceased his first lessons on the organ, will occupy the organ seat. It has been specially requested by the family that Mr. O Brien's many friends will kindly not send any floral tributes.

With all the solemn magnificence of the

One of the most jyful events of the season occurred in the Catholic church, Bristol, on Wednesday, the 11th instant, when Miss Mary K. Finlan, daughter of the late John Finlan, was united in holy wedlock to Mr. McEachen, of Douglas. Rev. Father Kiernan, of Quyon, officiated. The bride was charmingly attired in a tweed travelling costume, trimmed with sable and Dresdensilk, with hat to match; she was assisted by her sister. Miss Anno Finlan, who also wore a travelling costume.

The groom, who is one of the most prominent young men of Douglas, was attended by Mr. P. Gorman. The Wedding March was played by Miss Lizzie Finlan, while the small choir assisted in singing a few select hymns which were very appropriate for the small choir assisted in singing a few select hymns which were very appropriate for the cocasion. After Mass the bride's mother's, where a sumptuous breakfast was sprayed. The bride received many presents showing thereby the great esteem with which be is held by her friends. The young coaple lett by the P. P. J. train, amid showers of rice and good wishes, for Ottawa, Montreal and other places.

Carter-McEachen,

A quiet wedding took place in St. Patrick's church, and a pupil in days past of the dead organist, sat on the organ of the dead organist, sat on the organ to the dead organist the promound of the dead organist the organ to the dead organis

Night, but Joy Cometh in the Morning. The soloists in the High Mass were H. N. Thomas, C. Marks, C. Clohecy and L. Laliberte, of St. Mary's; A. Nelligan, of St. Lawrence, and J. Lawlor, of St. Patrick's. Miss Kate Clark, of Toronto, was the soprano solist, singing an "O Salutaris." The musical service closed with Handel's Dead March in Saul. J. L. Cherrier, the cathedral choirmaster, had charge of all the musical araangements.

master, had charge of all the hassesses of the ments.

In the sanctuary, besides the clergy of the city churches, there was Rev. Father Cherrier, of St. Michael's college, Toronto, and Rev. Father Guinane, of the same institution. The former, a near and dear friend of the dead organist all his life, sang the Mass and the latter acted as deacon. Father Hinchey was sub-organist all his life, sang the Mass and the latter acted as deacon. Father Hinchey was subdeacon.

At the close of the Mass, Mons, McEvay addressed the congregation briefly. They were assembled to honor and pay tribute to the inemory of one, he said, who had for more than a quarter of a century presided at the catherat organ. For the congregation of St. Mary's he wished to express the feeling of sorrow filling every heart at the removal of one whom every one had learned to love and whose labors for the Church had been so enthustastic and so manifoldly blessed. To the family and relatives of deceased he extended the condolence of the people, commending them to God for the consolation which could come alone from Him. Of the departed one he wished to say he was a man with gifts from God in the line of his particular life-work, and, recognizing this, he had always given his best efforts in that life-work to the Church as a return to God for His gifts. Of the congregation he asked that they should remember the departed one in their prayers in the words, Eternal light o grant him, and life everlasting.

The funeral procession then resumed to Holy Sepulchre cemetery, where the body was interred. The pall-bearers were representative business men and musicians—James McPherson, Herbert Morton, J. M. Boyes, J. W. Baumann, W. Elliot Haslem, Toronto; R. J. Husband, M. D., Fred. Harris and W. E. Fairclough, Toronto. The members of the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association attended the service in a body, occupying seats at the side of the sanctuary.

In the death of D. J. O'Brien Hamilton loss as assimable citizen, and one whose enterprise anctuary, In the death of D. J. O'Brien Hamilton lose

RECEIVED REWARDS OF MERIT.

During the past week the boys of St. Mary's school made great preparations for the visit of Bishop Dowling to distribute the rewards of merit. The beautiful main hall was nicely decorated with plants and dowers. Fictures of many prominent men have lately been put up in the math hall, and a statue of Mary Immaculate has been erected at the head of the mish stairs, commanding a view of the upper and lower halls. The city Catholic clergy, the school trustees and others were present with the Bishop on Monday afternoon. The Bishop first blessed the statue. The boys then delived the clicited and praise from all, and His Lordship afterwards distributed the following rewards to the successful pupils:

St. MARY'S SCHOOL.

Public school leaving certificate, obtained at midsummer examination, and 85 gold piece. presented by Rev. Father Holden—Master Michael Brown.

High school entrance certificates—Obtained by Frank Fitzpatrick, John O'Reefe, Harry Sweeney, Peter Maloney, Fred Nelson, James Cullen, J. Sinnett, J. O'Neill. Five dollar gold piece, presented by Rev. Father Holden, for highest marks of Separate school pupils at entrance examinations—Obtained by Frank Fitzpatrick.

Diploma for excellence and highest standing in class—Obtained by Charley Fee.

Senior fourth form—Testimonials of merit—Obtained by Thos. Kelly, Jas. Brown, John Sherring, Arthur Ten Eyck, Wm. King.

Junior fourth form—Testimonials—Obtained by D. De Belleville, Thomas Ryan, Charles Holland, Frank Hennessy, Thomas Dowling.

Short speeches were delivered by the Bishop, the clergy and some of the visitors, and all then went to St. Mary's hall, where the girls of Sacred Heart school were assembled. All seemed to enjoy the musical programme, and the Bishop then distributed the following testimonials and rewards of merit—Obtained by Charley Fee.

Senior Hambard of the class of the Bishop, the clergy and some of the visitors, and all then went to St. Mary's hall, where the girls of Sacred Heart school Board to each of the appren lor.—Times.

NOTES.

Rev. Father O'Reilly, Hamilton's delegate to the Irish National Convention, will deliver an address in Association hall on Tuesday evening, Nov. 24. E. T. Martin, and others, will address it association and others, will sing.

The anniversary of St. Lawrence church will be held on Nov. 29. Rev. Dean Harris, of St. Catharines, will prace in the evening.

The opening meeting of the Ladies' Benevoleut society of St. Mary's cathedral took place on Thursday afternoon in St. Mary's hall. The following ladies were elected as officers for the ensuing year: Miss Reche, President; Mrs. W. Jessop. Vice-Fresident; Mrs. J. Austin, Sec., and Miss Bucke, Treasurer.

On Monday evening, the 23rd inst., the Leo Literary society will give an entertainment in St. Mary's hall, when Rev. R. T. Burke, Oakville, will deliver a lecture on literature.

OBITUARY.

MRS. MICHEAL DILLON, PAW PAW, MICH.

It is with deep regret we record the death of Mrs. Michael Dillon, which sad event took place Wednesday morning, October 21, at the age of fifty-two years and seventeen days. The tourth of this month she celebrated her fifty-second birthday. Deceased had been ailing for the past six years, but was able to go about till six days before her death. She was much beloved by all who knew her. Mrs. Dillon leaves a family of eight children, who feel the crushing misfortune of a mother's church, on Friday, at 9 o'clock, when a Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Walt for the repose of her soul; thence to the cemetery, followed by a long cortege of sorrowing relatives and friends. She now sleeps by the side offher loving husband who died three years ago the 7th June. May the Lord have mercy upon their souls! MRS. MICHEAL DILLON, PAW PAW, MICH

" THE CATHOLIC CLUB."

"THE CATHOLIC CLUB."

For some time past the Catholic men of London have had on hand the establishment of the above named Club, and we are glad to be able to state that arrangements have been so far completed that the society may now be considered in working order. As will be seen by advertisement in another column a general meeting of the members will be held on next Friday evening for the purpose of completing organization. Rooms have been secured at 355 Richmond street, and in a few days it is expected everything will be in perfect order. The first floor will be a reading-room; it is both handsome and large—30x60 feet. A full supply of daily and weekly papers, magazines and periodicals will be kept on hand. This room also contains a piano and a plentiful supply of easy-chairs, sofas, etc. On the second flat is the billiard and games room, which contains billiard and pool tables. This room is the same size as the one on the first floor. The sasembly room is also 30x60 feet, and is, likewise, supplied with a piano and seated with chairs. In this hall the regular meetings of the Club will be held, as well as entertain ments, lectures etc. All the rooms will be a lavatory on the premises.

The organization of this club will, it is be lieved, fill a long-felt want, and prove an unqualified success not only as regards membership, but also from a social, literary and educational standpoint. It is intended to cultivate the study of literature, music and the sciences, to develop the mental, moral and physical faculties, and to promote peace and goodwill. This is indeed a goodly programme, and one which will require a great deal of painstaking work to carry out to a successful saue. Judging from the officers who have the management of the society, and by the warm interest which has been taken in its welfare, we have no reason to doubt that it will have a most successful career. That this will be the

BAZAAR IN AID OF ST. JOSEPH'S

Persons holding tickets for the St. Thomas Bazaar are requested to send the returns, as soon as possible, to St. Joseph's Convent in that city.

that ciry.

It is hoped that no ticket will be left untractiry.

It is hoped that no ticket will be left untraction. The beautiful oil painting by Mrs. Butler (formerly of Chicago), which in a short time will be placed on exhibition, is, of itself, an inducement to purchase tickets. Should any tickets remain unsold persons holding them will please return them to St. Joseph's Convent, St. Thomas, Ont. It is expected that all friends of the Sisters will unite to make this bazaar a success.

A book which will be read with much interest has been published by B. Herder, St. Louis, Mo., entitled "Children of Mary, a Tale of the Caucasus," by Rev. Joseph Spillmann, S. J. It is translated from the German by Miss Helena Long. Price, 50 cents. The centenary edition of St. Alphonsus Liguori's work on "Prayer: the Great Means of Obtaining Salvation and all the Graces Which We Desire," has lately been published by Benziger Bros., New York.

Price, 50 cents.

Many wait until the hand of death is almost clasped upon them before they consider their duty to God. Salvation is the work of a lifetime and should not be allotted but a few moments in this life as many are wont to give it. Riches and worldly gain are matters of but a few years, while salvation is for Eternity.—Rev. Patrick Lavelle.

Eternity.—Rev. Patrick Lavelle.

Look back on your life and see what blessed influences have come to you to form your character, to ennoble your aims, to inspire you with a true spirit. All this is only the preparation for a deeper and fuller life of love, which God means to give to all of us on the condition of faith. Believe that what He has begun He means to carry on and finish. That is, trust Him. Do not doubt His nearness, His influence, His good will.—J. F. Clarke.

MARKET REPORTS.

London, Nov. 25. Wheat, 82 to 84 per bushel. Oats, 17 to 23 4-5c per bushel. Peas, 34 to 47c per bush. Barley, 19 1 15 to 33 3 5c per bush. Buckwheat, 32 2-5 to 28 4-5c per bush. Rye, 25 1 5 to 30 4 5c per bush. Corn, 28 to 25 Second " $25 Gold Watch . . .

Bicycles and Watches given each month . .

NO. OF NAME OF BENTLEVAL

Western Ontario, consisting of Country

Western Ontario, con

.. WANTED ...

A MAN for every unrepresented district in Canada, to sell our

Canada, to sell our

High-Grade Canadian Trees,
Berry Bushes, Roses, Ornamental Trees,
Hedges. Seed Potatoes, Etc.
NEW SEASON JUST OPENING.
Thus you have choice of territory if you apply NOW. The only Canadian house paying salary and expenses from the start.
Liberal commission paid part-time men.

A TREAT FOR THE CHILDREN,

We have now on hand a supply of "Our Poye" and Girls' Annual." and are piezsed to be able to tell our young readers that it is beautifully illustrated throughout, and is replete with interesting and charming Stories. Rev. Francis J. Finn, S. J., the children's popular story teller, contributes a delightful tale "Looking for Santa Claus." The other stories are: "The Robber's Hospitality (a biblical legend), "The Story of Ladye Lifte, "Innocence Rescued," How Small Birds Cross the Sea." Dog Lubor in Belgium," Bells Tolled for Jack Frost, "etc., etc. together with a large (lilustrated) assortment of games, tricks and puzzles.

C. M. B. A.-Branch No. 4, London,

Meets on the 2nd and 4th Thursday of every nonth, at 8 octock, at their hall, Albien Block Richmond Street. G. Barry, President; T. J. O'Meara ist Vice-President; P. F. Boyle, Recording Secretary.

Over 700 acres under cultivation.
MENTION THIS PAPER.

Price, 5 cents per copy.

THE CATHOLICE ESCORD

Stone & Wellington, TORONTO.

As Follows:

Total given during year 1897, $19,500

NAME OF BUSTRICE

33 3-5c, per bush. The meat supply was large and beef was down to $3 per cwt., to $4.50 for the best. Lambs, 6½c, per pound by the carcass. Dressed hogs $4.50 to $5 per 100 pounds. Turkeys, 6 to 7c, a b. Gesse, 50c applece. Ducks. 50c a pair, Good butter was offered at 15c, a lb. for best roll by the basket. Crocks, 13c. Eggs, 17 to 18c, a doz. Potatoes, 25 to 35c, a bag. Apples 50 to 60c, per bbl. Hay, $7.50 to $8.50 a ton.

13c. Eggs. 17 to 18c. a doz. Potatoes. 25 to 35c. a bag. Apples 50 to 60c. per bbl. Hay, $7.50 to $8.50 a ton.

TORONTO.

Social series and the series of to 69c.; barley, 29 to 35c.; rye. 43c.; pea, 46 to 47c ; buck wheat, 38 ; oats, 24 to 245c ; ducks, spring, per pair, 40 to 50c.; chickens, per pair, 30 to 40c.; geese, per lb., 5 to 7c.; butter, in lb. rolls, 14 to 15c. eggs,new laid, 16 to 22c.; appies, per bbl., 40c to 81; hay, timothy, 815 to 814; siraw. 8heaf, 811 to 811.50; beef, hinds, 45 to 6c.; veal, carcass, 5 to 6c.; mutton, per lb., 4 to 5c.; dressed hogs, $4.40 to 85 00.

Montreal, Nov. 20.—The grain market was dull and easier, but prices showed no material change. The flour market was also quiet, buyers only taking sufficient for actual wants, and Ontario dealers show a disposition to shade prices, but no actual decline has taken place. A sale of 100 tons of Manitoba bran was made in bulk at 89.40 per ton. Meal continues quiet and unchanged. Hay in good demand at 89.50 to 810 for No. 2, and 810.50 to 811 for No. 1, per ton. Provisions continue dull and unchanged. Eggs active and firm at 11 to 145c for local limed and choice candled. Potatoes, quiet and steady at 30 to 40c per bag in combing, 33d to 64d; South Australia, 2,745 bales, clothing and combing, 32d to 63d; Tasmania, 166 bales, clothing and combing, 33d to 64d; Ponta Arenas, 32 bales, clothing and combing, 33d to 64d; Ponta Arenas, 32 bales, clothing and combing, 33d to 64d; Ponta Arenas, 32 bales, clothing and combing, 33d to 64d; Ponta Arenas, 32 bales, clothing and combing, 33d to 64d; Ponta Arenas, 32 bales, clothing and combing, 33d to 64d; Ponta Arenas, 32 bales, clothing and combing, 33d to 54d to 53d; Falkland Island, 27 bales, clothing and combing, 33d to 54d to 53d; Falkland Island, 27 bales, clothing and combing, 34d to 54d to 54d; Ponta Arenas, 32 bales, clothing and combing, 34d to 54d; Ponta Arenas, 32 bal

DETROIT. DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 25. — Wheat, No. 2, red, 892c; No. 1, white. 90c; corn, No. 2, 23½; No. 3, yellow, 24c; oats, No. 2, white, 20½c; rye, 37½c; hay, No. 1, fimothy, 810,00 per ton in car lots; honey, best white comb, 12c per lb.; cheese, full cream Michigan, 9½ to 10c; eggs, strictly fresh. 21c. per doz.; butter, fancy dairy, 14c; first-class dairy, 10 to 10c; creamery, 18 to 19c, per lb.; beans, city hand picked, 90 to 19c per bush; apples, $1.55 to $150 per bbl; poultry, live, $1 to $½c per lb; cabbage, $4.59 per 100, bbl.; pouliry, live, of to 8]e per lb.; cabbage, $1.59 per 100.

PORT HURON.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 25.—Grain—Wheat, per bush., 82 to 86; coats, per bush., 15 to 18c for new; 22c. for old; corn, per bush., 22 to 18c per bush.; buckwheat, 25 to 25c per bush.; buckwheat, 25 to 25c per bush.; buckwheat, 25 to 55c per bush.; buckwheat, 25 to 56c per bush.; buckwheat, 25 to 16c per bush.; barley, 50 to 55c per 100 10s.

Produce.—Butter, 12 to 14c per lb.; eggs, 15 to 17c per dozen; lard, 5 to 6 cents per pound; honey, 8 to 10c per pound; cheese, 95 to 100 per ton; baled, 47.00 to 89.00 per ton in car lots; straw, 81.50 per ton beans, unpleked, 50 to 60c a bushel; picked, 65c to 8c a bush.

Vectables and Fruits.—Potatoes, 15 to 18c. per bush.; arples, green, 10 to 20c per bush.; dried, 4 to 5c per pound.

Dressed Meats. — Beef, Michigan, $4.50 to $5.50 per cwt.; Live weight, 82.50 to $4.25, but in light demand; live weight, 85.00 to $2.55, but in light demand; live weight, 85.00 to $2.55, but in light demand; live weight, 85.00 to $5.25 per cwt.; mutton, 85 to 85.00 per cwt.; spring lamb, dressed, $6.50 to 87 per cwt.; live weight, $2.50 to 8.00 each; veal, 86 to $7.00 per cwt.

Poultry—Chickens, 6, to 7c per pound; hens, ewit.

Poultry—Chickens, 6 to 7c per pound; hens, 5 to 6c, per pound; alive, 4 to 5c per lb.; turkeys, 7 to 8c per pound; pigeons, 15c per pair, alive; ducks, 9 to 16c per pound; geese, 5 to 7c per pound. Not in demand.

Hides—Beef hides, No. 1, 5 to 5 c per lb; No. 2, 4 to 5 c, per lb.; for green; calf skins, No. 1, 6c per lb; No. 2, 4 to 5 c, per lb.; shearlings, 15 to 20 c each; lamb skins, 25 to 40c; tallow, 2½ to 3c, per lb.

Latest Live Stock Markets.

TORONTO.

. $ 1,000 FOR competing.

4. A printed list of winners in competitor's district will be forwarded to competitors 21 days after each competition

TENDERS FOR SUPPLIES.

1897.

The undersigned will receive tenders for sup-

Monday, Nov. 30th, 1896.

onto. The lowest or any tender not necessarily ac-

The First of these Monthly Competitions will commence January 1st, 1897, and will be continued each month during 1897.

$1,625 IN BIOYCLES | GIVEN FREE AND WATCHES | EACH MONTH

HOW TO OBTAIN THEM.

Competitors to save as many "sunlight"

And Wrappers as they can cultect. Cut off dartics, prizes will be awarded as follows:

The top portion of each wrapper—that portion containing the bending "SV N.1.4 & B. T.

SEND THIS TOP PORTON the Competitors who send in the law-port—that portion containing the bending "SV N.1.4 & B. T.

SEND THIS TOP PORTON the content of the competitor who send in the law-port of the competitor has written his or her full mame and address, and the number of Compons sent in posture paid, to Messry, and the number of Compons sent in posture paid, to Messry, and the number of Compons sent in posture paid, to Messry, and the number of Compons sent in posture paid, to Messry, and the number of Compons sent in posture paid, to Messry, and the number of Compons sent in posture paid, to Messry, and the number of Compons sent in posture paid, to Messry, and the number of Compons sent in posture paid, to Messry, and the number of Compons sent in posture paid, to Messry, and the number of Compons sent in posture paid to the num

York, Simose & all countes to the state of t

Province of New Brunswick
Province of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island
AFThe Bleydes are the celebrated Stearts, Land, 23 Scoti St., Toronto
Syracuse, N.Y., & Toronto, Ont. Each wheel is guaranteed by the makers and has complete attachments

625

12

Like a Ship in rough sea.

toms of it.

Mrs. Brown, from 8 Liberty st., in the same city writes, that she was cured by Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic from heart disease and liver complaint, after she suffered 5 years.

A Valuable Book on Nervous Dis-cases and a sample bottle to any ad dress. Poor patients also get the may dress. Poor patients also get the me. This remedy has been prepared by the Rev. Father Resear, of Fort Vayne, ind., since 1856, and is now inder his direction by the KOENIC MED. CO., Chicago, III. 49 S. Franklin Street. Sold by Druggists at S1 per Bottle. Gfor 85 Large Size, $1.75. G Rottles for 89. J. B. McLeod, Kingston, Ont.

THE CATHOLIC HOME ANNUAL.

The Catholic Home Annual should be in every Catholic home, as it is a book that will instruct and entertain all the members of the family.

A LONG LIST OF ITS ATTRACTIONS

It Contains 7 Fine Full-Insert Illus-

HIS EMINENCE CARDINAL GIBBONS-"A Good Book."

MARION AMES TAGGART—
"Elizabeth."

MAURICE FRANCIS EGAN-"A Transatlantic Marriage."
CLARA MULHOLLAND—
"For Honor's Sake."

(A breezy Irish Story.)

JOSEPH SCHAEFER—
"An Apostle of Cold Water."
(An account of Father Kneipp and his wonderful treatment.) A. R. BENNETT-GLADSTONE-

MARION J. BENNOWE—
"Sister Irene." A Sketch of her Life and Work.

"The Infant Jesus of Prague."

DR. ROENGTGEN-"A Popular Account of the X-Rays.

"To the Christ Child" (poetry); "Mary's Power" (poetry); "Our Lady of Guadalupe"; "The School of Sorrow"; "The Focl of the Words;" St. Anthony's Bread;" "Sabine;" "The Pilgrimage of St. Patrick's Purgatory."

BESIDES AN ILLUSTRATED LIST OF SOME OF THE MOST NOTABLE EVENTS OF THE YEAR 1895 96.

It costs only Twenty-Five Cents. Post Paid by us.

Fost Faid by us.

Send us the price at once, and you will get the Annual immediately. All that is necessary is to send a 25c. piece, or 25c. in postage stamps. The Annual is worth double the amount, and anyone who buys it will find it a good investment. Address,

THE CATHOLIC RECORD, London, Ont. (Also to be had from our travelling agents.)

THE CATHOLIC CLUB.

A meeting of the Catholic Club will be held in their hall, 355 Richmond Street In the held in the street in the held in the street in the held in the

TEACHERS WANTED.

TWO, FEMALE, ASSISTANT TEACHERS wanted for Pembroke Separate school. I wanted for Pembroke Separate school Salary $240 to $200. Professional second pre-lerred. Applicants furnish inspectors' testi-monials. Apply to A. J. Fortier, Sec. 943-tf

TEACHER WANTED FOR R. C. SEPAR ate school section. No. 4. Raleigh, for 1897, holding and or 3rd class certificate. Duties to commence January 4. Apply, stating salary and experience; also enclose testimonials. to Michael Glesson, Fietcher P. O., Ont. 935-2

TEACHER WANTED, EXPERIENCED and well-qualified, who can speak and teach both the English and French lampages, for school No. 13. Dover. Good references wanted. State salary Address M. Caron, Sec. Treas, Dover South P. O., Ont. 945-3

TEACHER WANTED FOR SCHOOL Section No. 9, Adjala, holding a 1st or 2nd class certificate. Apply, stating salary, to John O'Leary, Sec. Treas., Ennis P. O., Ont. 945-2 PEMALE TEACHER HOLDING A SECtion ond class certificate, for Separate school section No. 6, Biddulph. Applications to be addressed to Setven McCormick, Secretary, Elginfield P. O., Ont.

Monday, Nov. 30th, 1896.

For the supply of butchers' meat, butter, dairy and creamery, giving price for each, flour, oatmeal, potatoes, cordwood, etc., for the following institutions during the year 1857, 182.—

At the Asylum for the Insane in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton, Mimico, Brockville and Orillia; the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto; the Reformatory for Boys, Penetanguishene; the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Delleville, and the Blind at Brantford.

Two sumicient sureties will be required for the due faliliment of each contract.

Specifications and forms of tender can only be had by making applications to the bursars of the respective in-stitutions.

N. B—Tenders are not required for the supply of meat to the Asylums in Toronto, London, Kingston, Hamilton and Mimico, nor to the Central Prison and Mercer Reformatory, Toronto.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily ac-TEACHER WANTED FOR SCHOOL section No. 7, Mars, for 1897. Holding 2nd or 3rd class certificate. Applicants please state experience and salary required. Also enclose testimonials. Address John Fox, jr., Millington, Ont.

WANTED, THREE TEACHERS FOR Almonte Separate School for year 1897. One male and two female teachers. Male teacher to hold 2nd class certificate: Applications received by the undersigned until 30th day of November. Applicants to state qualifications and salary. W. H. Stafford, Almonte.

BANDMASTER WANTED.

A BANDMASTER, PLAYING CORNET; single man preferred, mechanic, carpenter or shoemaker. For further particulars apply to Rev. Principal, St. Joseph's Industrial School, Dunbow P. O., Alta. The lowest of all the lowest o

VOLUME X

Men call me dreamer— The cradie of my heal I dwell in realms beyon The gold I mint is ne Men call me dreamer— Because I spurn each And count the step that A useless toil—a roun

Men call me dreamer— Hath burned its way Its light shone o'er Jud-And thrilled the hear

Men call me dreamer— The dreamer lives a While those whose hea clay Live not beyond their

-Thomas O'Hagan, i DR. LANGTRY WOR

To the Editor CATHOL

Sir :- I see by the Toronto, that the n lie Revd. John L in the congenial of recting the ancien worship, and endea charge on Cathe bolstering the s extracts from St. St. Augustine. I a refreshing air edifying to anti-C and to his Anglica ticular, some of w selves of the Mail him. There are Anglican preache before the read rowed plumes, fact, a veritable daw. To explayears ago there another Anglica Dr. Littledale, wi Catholic in his da dale spent a good exhuming all th covered slanders the Catholic Chui fully distributed polemical religio years before his the hard things l against the anciwhich he wrote a the Church of Ro treasure house of it is, for those w is to misrepresen which they car this book, or coll nies, that our fr try, drew his in know this, you have in my pos Littledale's 'Pla

H. J. D. Ryder, tory, and therei arguments used Dr. Littledale an as his own. 1

comments in ful

readers who ma

letters can judg

the doctrine of the worship of th

explanation tha

"Dr. Littleda

only the condui or, as others I material image in adoration wi ive image-say our minds, for object with its more precisely interior act of in the image object, for the exterior acts embraced, wh entirely on to way Vasquez inck (De Inca Theologians of Sec. 3, art. 4, Thomas, who 3): 'Religio to images co such or such t they are imag carnate Gcd. soul towards does not stay that of which fore the fact given to the introduce dis acter of latra So tal ion. would seem with that C which, when proper is due clearly admit insisting tha whole worsh emplars?" So much fo The next try lavs un same passa quoted befor ics are gu were the h ment on Psa

lows: himself lear says I do nor that i feeling; fo prophets she