High School Easter Examinations

At Easter, examinations were held in the three Forms of the High School on all the subjects taught. Below will be found the marks taken by the pupils of the Second and Third Forms in the Lower School Examination only. Any pupil who has made 40% in each subject, and an average of 60% should have a fair chance of passing the Lower School Examination in June. But as it costs $5 to write on the examination parents ought to know that any candidate who has not come near the required per cent. is almost certain to fail in the final.

Base Ball

The Waterdown Juniors won the first game of the season from the Millgrove Juniors in a well contested game on Saturday last. Both teams displaying snappy ball at all times. Millgrove's individual playing showed that when their team work is more perfect, they will be heard from and will be a hard team to beat. Capt. Featherston's work on the slab proved him to be made of the right kind of stuff, three times the bases were filled with only one out when he retired the side. Roberts at short stop for Millgrove, and Jim Carey at the bat featured. A fast double play by Reid to Foster to Ribson looked like advanced season work. The score by innings was:

Waterdown	1	6	1	1	0	0	x-9

Harry Gordon won the box of chocolates given by A. Featherston for the first run.

Millgrove

Mr. John Stewart, of Hamilton, has purchased a home in the village.

Mrs. Marshall Cummins is lying very ill at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Markle, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Begg of Hamilton and Dr. Crooker of Detroit, visited friends in the village on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. John Roberts and Tufgar spent Sunday in Burlington.

Mrs. Warner of Dundas is visiting at the home of her brother, Mr. G. F. Griffin.

Miss Hazel Whitley, our former Post-mistress, spent Sunday in our village.

Dr. J. O. McGregor of Waterdown will address the men's Bible class here next Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Elvin Binkley has secured a position in the Merchant's Bank in Hamilton.

Wedding bells will soon be ringing in our neighborhood.

The building of the Memorial hall within the $20,000 limit now seems a certainty. The committee have settled upon a one storey plan, and the blue prints are now being prepared. A council chamber and one other room is all the new plan calls for. The elimination of the stores in the new building was a wise decision and will meet with the general approval of the public.

A Long Career Closed

("Spectator" Hamilton, Australia)

News has just been received of the death of Mrs. E. Mackenzie, late of Hamilton, Australia, which occurred at Prince's Terrace, St. Kilda Road, Melbourne, on the 19th instant.

A short but impressive ceremony was conducted at her late residence by the Rev. J. Andrew Barber, formerly of Hamilton, after which the cortege proceeded to Brighton Cemetery. The Rev. Barber also officiated at the graveside. The coffin was covered with many beautiful floral tributes, in evidence of the high esteem in which the deceased was held by the many friends she made during her few years residence in Melbourne, while numerous kind expressions of sympathy were received by her family in their bereavement.

Mrs. Mackenzie was born in Laggan, Invernesshire, Scotland, 92 years ago and was a daughter of the late Mr. Donald MacIntyre, a large landowner in that shire. She, with her late husband, who predeceased her in 1885, left Scotland and arrived in Portland, Victoria, by the Severn in 1850 bring with her her eldest daughter, Jane, the late Mrs. John Cameron and leaving behind four other daughters, Eliza (Mrs. Dr. J. O. McGregor, Waterdown, Ontario), Kate (Mrs. W. C. Martin, Vernon, British Columbia) Isabella (Mrs. L. J. Mullock, Waterdown, Ontario) and the late Donaldina.

After landing at Portland, she and her husband spent some time at Geelong, subsequently moving to the Western district. Later she came to Hamilton, and remained there until 1915, when she left to take up her residence in Melbourne, to be near her daughters. Mrs. Mackenzie came from a distinguished military family, her grandfather having been a Captain in the Scots Guard Brigade, which served in America, and with the 94th Regiment. Her maternal great grandfather was the celebrated Colonel Donald Robertson of Woodfield, who commanded Clan Robertson at the fated field of Culloden. After many stirring adventures, and having been wounded, he finally escaped to France, where he obtained commission as Lieutenant-Colonel in the French Army. The commission signed by Prince Charlie is still in existence, as is also a medal received by him from King James II.

The deceased lady, who continued in excellent health until about eighteen months ago, and enjoyed to the end her full mental faculties, frequently related many interesting reminiscences of her early days in Victoria and her experiences with the natives in the Western district. The late Mrs. Mackenzie is survived by a family of seven daughters and two sons, the majority of whom are known to Hamilton residents, and to 18 grand-children and ten great-grandchildren.

The members of the Senior and Junior Baseball clubs wish heartily to thank all those who aided them to make the Box social the financial success that it was. Special mention must be given the ladies of the village and vicinity for their generous response to the contributions of boxes and also to those ladies for their efforts in canvassing, and to all those who took part in the program, and to the chairman, Dr. J. O. McGregor and the autioneer, Mr. S. Frank Smith both of whom did so much to add to the success of the evening.

NEW HUERTA NOW RULER OF MEXICO

But Provisional President
No Relation of Old
Dictator.

PEACE IN SIGHT

Two of Carranza's Sons
Reported as Prisoners.

Washington report: Following the complete collapse of the Carranza regime in Mexico, a new government, with General Adolfo de la Huerta at its head has been formed. This announcement was made here to-day by the mission of the revolution, whose chief is Senor Alvaro Torre Diaz.

The new government is already functioning and it is understood to have indicated that it desires the recognition of the United States. A telegram on that subject has been received from Sonora, seat of the new Mexican Government.

A peaceful outcome is indicated by the fact that despatches to-day from United States Consuls and naval officers in Mexican waters declare that all is quiet.

The personnel of the new government follows:

General Adolfo de la Huerta, Provisional President; General Salvador Alvarado, Minister of Finance; General Plutarco Calles, Minister of War; Alonzo Torre Diaz, Minister of State, ad interim.

Senor Diaz belongs to the old Diaz family, but General de la Huerta has no family connection with former President Huerta. Interesting as indicating the closeness of the relations between General Pablo Gonzales and General Obregon, it was said here that Diaz is a closer friend of Gonzales and "as suggested by Obregon for his present post.

The new Provisional President is at Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora, where the present revolution was organized. He will proceed to Mexico City very shortly, according to the revolutionary mission officers here. He is the present Governor of State of Sonora.

General de la Huerta is about 43 years of age, and is described as a man of great executive ability, both as an official and in commercial business. He was prominent in the revolution of 1913, and since that time has been employed by Carranza on special missions to settle internal troubles. Carranza, however, early in April endeavored to persuade De la Huerta to kill off the Obregon boom in Sonora and in Mexico generally. De la Huerta resisted and Carranza troops under Manuel Dieguez, invaded Sonora to interfere and then the revolution broke out. Sonora achieved its independence and other States of Mexico followed in rapid succession.

The revolutionists held a meeting at Agua Prieta, about April 5, declared De la Huerta provisional President, and agreed upon some of the necessary members of the Cabinet for an emergency Government.

According to the present plan of the revolution, the selection of De la Huerta will be ratified by the Governors of the States of Mexico, and he will be endorsed as provisional President, ad interim. The next step will be the convocation of the Congress, which will endorse De la Huerta as provisional President in order that the constitutional continuity of the succession may be preserved and prevent the injection of any objections by outside powers as to the legality of the election will be ordered for July of this year, and then a constitutional convention will be called to revise the Carranza constitution of 1917.

The President chosen by an election will be inaugurated January 1st, 1921.

So far, the most prominent candidates are Gen. Obregon and General Pablo Gonzales. Their platforms agree on a peaceful policy towards the United States and other nations. The fact that these two generals, who, with General Benjamin Hill, dominate the country with large military forces, have subordinated themselves to the new civil Government, points to a peaceful election without any further coups d'etat.

The State Department has despatches concerning affairs at the Mexican capital, but of no later date than Sunday night. These despatches refer to the arrival in the city of Gen. Obregon with several thousand men to augment the troops of Generals Hill and Gonzales. The city is reported as quiet with business resumed.

CARRANZA'S SONS TAKEN PRISONER.

San Antonio, Texas, report says: Obregonists confiscated the National Treasury funds to-day, according to a wireless message from Mexico City, received here to-day by revolutionary sympathizers. The execution of Under-Secretary of the Treasury Manuel Amaya and Gen. Elutero Avila has been confirmed. Two of Carranza's sons are reported prisoners. The fall of Monterey was confirmed by messages to the local rebel junta.

PROBABLE GOAL OF THE POLISH CAMPAIGN.

A view of the city of Odessa, Russia, which is the probable objective of the campaign the Poles, in conjunction with the Ukrainian forces, are waging against the Bolsheviks. Ukraine has claimed since the war that Odessa belongs to it, and several times its troops have occupied the city. Should Poland get access to this port she would have an opening to the sea to the south that would offset the barriers set up against her in the Baltic.

45 German Brutes Must Stand Trial

Berlin Cable.—The Allies have presented a new note to Germany, containing the names of 45 Germans, who are alleged to have committed crimes during the war, for which the Allies desire them prosecuted, according to an announcement by the Foreign Office. The note makes specific indictments, and permits the inference that witnesses for the prosecution are prepared to come to Germany.

The list does not contain the names of the former German Crown Prince, or of Field Marshal von Hindenburg or General Ludendorff.

Men accused of acts of inhumanity are named in the new list.

Among them are four U-boat commanders said to have torpedoed hospital ships; General Stenger, who is alleged to have ordered that wounded prisoners be shot, and officers who carried out that command. Field Marshal von Buslow, commander of the second German army, General von Below, General von Langemann, Prince Ernest of Saxony and General Kruska, commander of the Kaiser prison camp, are charged with spreading germs of typhus, while General von Oven, former Governor of Metz; General Scholtz, camp commander at Hohenzollern; General Huff and Dr. Michelson are charged with killing, ill-treating and robbing prisoners. Demand is made that they be brought before the Supreme Court at Leipzig.

STRUCK ANOTHER MIGHTY BLOW AT RUSSIAN BOLSHEVIK FORCES

Poles and Ukrainians Drive
Them Back On Wide
Front—Odessa Taken.

Warsaw cable: (By the Associated Press).—Polish and Ukrainian forces have struck a mighty blow at the Russian Bolshevik front far north of Kiev, and have driven the enemy back along the Beresina River. Betchitsa, an important Dnieper River crossing, has been captured, and serious losses have been inflicted on the Soviet army. Fighting is now going on over a front of approximately 420 miles.

Northeast of Muzir the Bolsheviks have been forced across the Dnieper.

Capture of Odessa, the most important Russian port on the Black Sea, is reported. Official advices of the taking of the city, have not as yet been received, the communiques dealing with events of some days ago, apparently, as they tell of the capture of Tutschin and Bratzlau, on the Bug River, some distance north of Chita.

CONFIRMED.

Paris, May 1.—Confirmation of the reports that Odessa, Russia's most important outlet on the Black Sea, had been occupied by the troops of General Petlura, the Ukrainian commander, has been received by the Ukrainian press bureau here, that bureau declared to-day.

RUSS TO SPARE DENIKINE'S MEN

London cable says: Russian Bolshevik authorities have agreed to spare the lives of soldiers captured from General Denikine's army in southern Russia, and those of other anti-Soviet troops who may in future be taken prisoner. A note to this effect was to-day received by British officials, in answer to appeals sent to Moscow by this country during the past fortnight. Suggestion is made in the Bolshevik note that the British Government negotiate with Bolshevik representatives, preferably those now in Copenhagen, regarding final disposition of men captured in the fighting against

RED PROPHECY AS TO FRANCE

Paris cable says: French newspapers are printing the following statement, just made by M. Tebitcherlin, the Soviet Commissary for Foreign Affairs, in a radio message from Moscow: "The day is not far off when France will be compelled by economic pressure to conclude a trade pact with Russia, and then she will find the Russian question not such an insurmountable obstacle as she now believes it to be."

MEMORIAL TO COLORED HEROES.

The above memorial, in cast bronze, 24 inches, will be erected in the Parliament Buildings by the colored people of Canada in memory of the men of their race who have fallen while serving in a construction battalion of the C.S.F.

FARMER UNIONS IN CONVENTION

Chicago Meeting Hears Canadian Leaders.

Canada Shows Way in Many Matters.

Chicago despatch: Representatives of farmer organizations in Canada and the United States met here to-day, to discuss the establishment of an International Board of Agriculture.

Mr. Lambert, who addressed the meeting said that agriculture was completely organized in Canada and exercised immense influence on Dominion politics.

"It has its own whips and own methods of political procedure in the House of Commons, but is constituted along broad national lines," he said.

Milo D. Campbell, of Coldwater, Mich., was until recently president of the National Board, made a plea for better understanding between Canadians and citizens of the United States and between farmers, labor and capital. "Why don't the farmers strike, as labor has been striking," Mr. Campbell asked. "Because the farmer has his piece of ground and has an interest in the general welfare of the country. It is not that he is at heart more patriotic than the industrial worker."

The question of armament will be taken up by the meeting and delegates say that they expect to pass a resolution asking legislation reducing greatly the cost of the military and naval arms of the government.

It was also planned to establish a basis of co-operation between the urban consumer and the rural producer. Mr. Lambert said that in Canada this question was in many respects in a fair way of solution.

The sessions will continue for three days and according to some of the leaders, a selection of a candidate for the Presidency may be made.

AUSTRIA FIRST TO BE ADMITTED

Can Join Nations League
This Summer.

A Geneva cable says: Austria, and probably Hungary, may be admitted to the League of Nations, at its first general meeting this summer, it is learned from a high source. Germany, Bulgaria and possibly Turkey will be made members at the second session, the date of which has not been fixed.

Germany, it is reported, will participate in the international financial conference at Brussels on the same basis as the allied nations, and it is further pointed out that this is part of the plan of the allies to re-establish as soon as possible political and commercial relations with former enemy countries, taking the League of Nations as the shortest course to accomplish this end. The first general meeting of the League of Nations will be held at Geneva.

FRENCH CROP OUTLOOK FINE

Paris cable says: So good is the French crop outlook for this year that agricultural experts believe the wheat harvest will come close to meeting the nation's full requirements for the following year. This improvement, as compared with last year, is due in some degree to the increased use of motor-driven farm equipment.

PEACE TERMS GIVEN TURKEY

Permanent Force of Allies in the Capital.

Question of Armenia Not Settled.

Washington despatch: Permanent occupation of Constantinople, which is left under the sovereignty of the Sultan, by a small international force of allied troops is provided for in the treaty which was handed to-day to the Turkish representative at Paris.

A similar international guard is provided for the garrisoning of the Straits as a guarantee of free passage through the Dardanelles and the Sea of Marmora to ships of all nations.

An inter-allied commission of control at Constantinople, consisting of the representatives of the principal allied powers, will exercise supervision over the execution of the clauses of the treaty and with the aid of the inter-allied troops enforce its terms.

Thrace, in its entirety, is awarded Greece.

Smyrna and the Hinterland, extending approximately to a depth of 100 kilometres and a breadth of 200 kilometres, is given Greece under limited sovereignty.

Both France and Italy relinquish claim to mandatory power over Cilicia and Adalia, reserving only special economic privileges.

Boundaries of Mesopotamia and Palestine, the mandates over which are awarded to Great Britain and Syria ceded similarly to France are left to be determined by special commissions.

The Armenian settlement is left open for future negotiations and decision.

Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Smith of Winona, and Mrs. Albert Smith of Grimsby, were the guests of Wm. A. and Mrs. Drummond over the week end.

The Waterdown Seniors have joined the Manufacturers League of Hamilton and will play their first game with the Colts at Wabasso Park on Saturday.

Mr. Frank Speck is having a new solid cement building erected on Main street for his tinsmithing and plumbing business. The work is being done by Mr. A. J. Thomas of this village, and when completed will be an added improvement to the vicinity.

The concert which is to be held in the rink on the evening of the 24th in aid of the Library will be something out of the ordinary. A program consisting of high class Hamilton talent has been secured, among the number being Mrs. J. Hamilton, soprano soloist, Miss Eugene Hughes cello soloist, Miss G. Wilson, cornet soloist, Miss Helen McLaughlin, violin soloist and Miss C. Elmsie a noted accompanist.

The death of Mrs. F. J. Crooker, an old and highly respected resident of this vicinity, occurred on Thursday, May 13th at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. Frank Smith.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Martha Jane Skuce, was born in England 83 years ago, and came to Canada with her parents when a child. She was married in Hamilton to Mr. F. J. Crooker and for a number of years lived at Millgrove. Since the death of her husband eight years ago she has made her home with her daughter here. The funeral took place on Saturday last to Millgrove cemetery.

LAST BIG BLOCK
 Of Canadian Pacific Reserve Farm Lands
 In Central Alberta and Saskatchewan

We would call your attention to these lands, the last large block of good virgin farm land in Western Canada, which marks the end of wholesale prices for virgin farm lands in the Prairie West.

News of this block being opened up is being advertised throughout Europe and the United States, and is being read by hundreds of thousands of people every week. The American farmers have been quick to see the opportunities offered in the Western Provinces of Canada in the past, and I am sure that they will see this last opportunity as quickly as any, and that there will be thousands of them going to see these lands as soon as the snow begins to thaw in the spring. It is, therefore, up to us in Eastern Canada to make arrangements to visit the West and see these lands at the earliest possible opportunity, and I cannot urge you too strongly if you are at all interested in getting a farm of your own, to take advantage of this last opportunity. Those who act now and secure some of these lands will reap the benefit of quicker increase in value than at any period in the past, and the land will pay for itself from the crops in a few years. The land can pay in full at any time.

Those who do not wish to improve the land at once may purchase land on our ten year contract, one-tenth cash, balance in nine equal payments at 6%, which does not require improvement of the land, or you can pay in full if you choose.

Those who get there first will get best selection and best location.

the slums, forsooth! As if the poor themselves would like that. That kind of people are never happy away from their own surroundings--what they've always been accustomed to."

Mrs. Raleigh was great on "that kind of people." She gently set them in quite another category to herself. They were diverse, entirely so. Having been used to the slums they would, of course, miss and regret them. She did not follow that line of thought to another conclusion--how Moya, who had never been used to a fashionable life, might not be happy in it. No, "that kind of people" were a law unto themselves. Mrs. Raleigh pitied them, of course. But since the poor ye had always with you, such a state of things must be endured, she would have said. And certainly she made no attempt to alter them.

She had a horror of enthusiasms. They partook of crankiness and eccentricities. They were not at all well-bred. Moderation in all things, she would have said. For she was one of those people who used quotations without digging down to the root of their real meaning at all. And she never thought that the truest moderation is that self-denial which lives for others.

So she turned to the thought of Barry Desmond with a feeling of relief. And Moya heard her pronouncement, the seal of her approval on their engagement, with corresponding dismay.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday School lesson VIII, May 23, 1920. Israel's First King, I Samuel 9:15-19:2. 9:15-21, 25-10:1.

Commentary.—I. The King Pointed Out (3:15-24). The Lord knew where to put his hand upon a man whom he could make king of Israel. Kish, of the tribe of Benjamin, was "a mighty man of power," and had a son who was "a choice young man." He was a head taller than the rest of the people. If Israel desired a powerful man as king, then surely Saul would meet their demands. It was a peculiar train of providences that brought Saul to Samuel's notice. Kish had a herd of asses, and these animals were highly prized then, and are still, in the East. They had strayed away, and naturally Saul was sent, and a servant with him, to find them. Saul failed to find the asses but he found Samuel, whom the Lord would have him meet. 15. had told Samuel in his ear.—Had revealed unto Samuel.—R. V. The Lord had told this secret to Samuel appeared that on the day before Saul appeared to him at Ramah. 16. I will send thee a man.—While Saul was searching diligently for his father's lost animals, he did not realize that he was being sent by Jehovah to Samuel. Thus God works through his providences to accomplish his will, that he may save my people.—The king whom the Lord would give to Israel would lead them victoriously against their enemies, because their cry is come unto me.—The people of Israel were not satisfied with God's plan for their government and cried unto him for a king. They would not accept God's best for them, and he did the best that was possible for them under the circumstances. 17. Samuel saw Saul.—God's appointments were perfectly timed. Saul arrived at Ramah at the right time. Samuel was expecting the future king to appear then. Samuel would know that Saul was the man, for God at once assured him. Shall reign over my people.—Literally, "Shall restrain my people."—Under the rule of the judges "every man did that which was right in his own eyes" (Judges 21:25), but now the people of Israel were to be under the authority of a King.

18. where the seer's house is.—Saul's one desire was to learn where his father's asses were, he was seeking these and not a kingdom. He thought the seer would be able to help him locate the lost animals. 19. the high place.—Samuel had erected an altar unto the Lord (1 Sam. 7:17), and it was probably on the place here mentioned. God had said that there should be one centre of worship but the condition of affairs in Israel was unsettled, and it may have been permissible to have altars aside from the one at the tabernacle. ye shall eat with me to-day.—Samuel had already honored Saul by bidding him go up before him, and he further honored him by acting as his host. all that is in thine heart.—Samuel would at once tell Saul about the lost asses but not until the next day would he make known to him his great work. Saul may have had some sort of intimation from within that he was to perform an important service for his nation. 20. they are found.—Saul desired to know about the lost animals and the found out, but he learned much more. Samuel was a seer, but he knew about the asses because the Lord told him, and he told him not only to relieve Saul's mind, and to assure him of the authority he had in giving him a message from the Lord, on whom is all the desire of Israel.—The desire of Israel was for a king, and since Saul was the man whom God had chosen, the people's desire was toward him, though they did not know whom God would give them. 21. the smallest of the tribe of Israel.—The tribe of Benjamin had been all but exterminated about three centuries before. 22-24. Apparently without answering Saul's questions Samuel brought him and his servant into the house and gave them the most honorable seats. At the feast, for which Samuel had previously arranged, he gave Saul a portion that was esteemed, especially choice. The right leg was the priest's portion, and would fall to Samuel. He reserved this for Saul as a mark of honor. II. Saul anointed (9:25-10:1). 25. Anointed with Saul.—Nothing is said regarding the nature of the conversation. We may reasonably suppose that they spoke of the condition and needs of the nation. Upon the top of the house—The flat roofs of Oriental houses are much used as places for rest, conversation and sleeping. It has been suggested that upon the house-top Samuel and Saul could be readily seen, and the people present would know the honor conferred upon Saul by the prophet. 26. The spring of the day.—The rising of the day, or dawn. Abroad.—Out of the house. 27. Bid the servant pass on.—That Samuel might be alone with Saul. That I may shew thee the word of God.—The time had now come for Samuel to make make fully known to Saul the fact of his divine appointment as king. 1. Vial of oil.—The Hebrew is emphatic, "the flask of oil"; probably the holy anointing oil described in Exod. 30:23-33, which Samuel had prepared for this express purpose.—Whedon. Poured it upon his head.—By this act Saul was set apart for a distinctive work.

III. Saul proclaimed king (10: 2-24). As Saul was leaving Samuel he was told of three signs that would confirm to him the message he had received from the Lord through Samuel. He would meet men by Rachel's tomb who would report the finding of his father's asses. He would meet three men going up to Bethel, who would give him bread. As a third sign he would meet a company of prophets and he himself would prophesy and would be changed into another man. Samuel later called the people of Israel together at Mizpeh and explained to them that the reason a king would be given was that he had rejected God. Saul was chosen by lot as king. This was in harmony with what had already been done.

QUESTIONS.—Why did the children of Israel ask for a king? What had been the nature of the government? What directions did the Lord by Samuel regarding their directible a king? Explain how did Samuel meet Saul? How did Samuel anoint Saul? Describe the anointing of Saul? Describe the meeting at Ramah.

PRACTICAL SURVEY. this Topic.—The selection of leaders, be I. A national crisis. first II. God rejected. be I. A national crisis. Samuel wisest and holiest ruler Israel had since Joshua, was at the time our lesson advanced in life, work long years had been vitally identified with the religious and political tunes of the nation. The sons of age had witnessed his early life their earliest years, but all his energy was unable to win them over to practise of justice. They would corrupt as he was upright, and he ed aside from lucre, "perverted, the as a matter of course, "perverted, the sulting in the establishment of monarchy. Their course not only honored themselves, but eadad the well-being of the nation. T advanced years of the venerable godly ruler, the unfitness of a his family to succeed him, the ing evils in the administration, the possible anarchy which his death might occasion led to the und step of the elders of Israel to As their request. II. God Rejected. The first change to a regal form of govern displeased Samuel—and God. age and with his spirit we can suppose Samuel to have been concerned the loss of his power, but it was a rejection of form of government which had divinely instituted, and which at distinguished and exalted among the surrounding nations. Theocracy, the rule of God, is the highest form of government possible. Its refusal was virtually a rejection of God. III. A King Chosen. The threads of daily life often appear wholly unrelated or hopelessly entangled. Great events depend upon apparently trivial circumstances. God's paths all lead to broadening providences. There is both a natural and supernatural element in divine providences. There is an inner circle to his everyday working. Having bidden Samuel to grant the insistent request of the people, he brought to him the man of his choice. The natural event of the straying asses was supernaturally links in the chain of events which brought Saul to the kingdom.—W. H. C.

A Pill for Brain Workers.—The man who works with his brains is more liable to derangement of the digestive system than the man who works with his hands, because the one calls upon his nervous energy while the other applies only his muscular strength. Brain fog begets irregularities of the stomach and liver, and the best remedy that can be used is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are specially compounded for such cases and all those who use them can certify to their superior power.

Of Common Tongue. "There was one word," wrote an American Red Cross nurse serving in a French army hospital, "that we quickly learned in five languages. It was the word that came most often to the lips of sick or wounded soldiers when suffering or delirium wrung utterance from them. It is Mutter, mere, moeder, madre and mother."

As a vermicide there is no preparation that equals Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It has saved the lives of countless children.

When a girl turns down the light it's a pretty good sign that the young man who is courting her isn't going to be.

Empire Day, Hurrah!

'Tis Empire Day.
'Tis Empire Day—
Hurrah! Hurrah!
Our Empire's way,
None gainsays—
Hurrah! Hurrah!

A colossal fact—the British Empire. There is no gainsaying the reality of Our Empire. It is astride this old planet. It looms up in every part of the world. Its flag, the symbol of Empire, our Union Jack, is fanned by the winds of every clime, and is specially saluted by many millions of people on the 24th of May, Empire Day, the wide world o'er. And at the present moment, after centuries of intrigue and struggle for the possession of Palestine by rival nations, the Cross is above the Crescent, throughout the Holy Land, and over the ancient and sacred city of Jerusalem our flag waves triumphant.

Our Empire, after passing through the fiery furnace trial and suffering of the Great War, emerged not weakened, but stronger, not lessened in territory but considerably extended. The British Empire was great before the war; it is greater still to-day. It occupies more than one quarter of the known surface of the earth, while more than one quarter of the estimated population of the world lives under the protection of the Union Jack. It is recorded that summer and winter conditions are equally divided throughout our far-flung Empire, and also that daylight and darkness are as equally proportioned. The Oldest Confection.

The greater part of black licorice is derived from Spain, where it is made from the juice of the plant and mixed with starch to prevent it from melting in hot weather. The licorice plant is a shrub that attains a height of three feet and it grows wild where its roots reach the water. It flourishes especially on the banks of the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers.

Since the valley of the Euphrates contained one of the earliest civilizations in the world, the probability is that licorice is about the oldest confection in the world, and the taste which the boys and girls of to-day like so well was enjoyed by the youngsters of three thousand years ago.

yond compare. A recent visitor to our shores from the Motherland, Sir Oliver Lodge, is acclaimed by all learned authorities as the greatest of living scientists, and is conceded to be the greatest original thinker of modern times. Among his many brilliant discoveries was that of the "coherer," and with his detector he devised the first practical wireless telegraph, sending signals over a distance of several hundred yards—all done long before Marconi took up the subject, and the Italian inventor undoubtedly built upon the earlier discoveries of Sir Oliver Lodge. Then in literature. Where outside of our empire can be found another Shakespeare, and such a galaxy of great, profound and brilliant writers upon every subject under the sun? In invention, to note only a few out of the immensely long list—the steam engine, the railway, the telegraph and the telephone were invented by Britishers. And where can be found a nobler band of explorers, adventurers, and missionaries? Our Empire's defenders. The British Tommy and his comrades from all the self-governing company of nations and possessions. What pen can adequately describe the heroism, the endurance, the courage, the self-sacrifice displayed by the Empire's warriors? Their exploits in many a long and hard-fought conflict against contending odds, is emblazoned on the highest pinnacle of fame. When shall their glory fade? "Not till the sun grows cold, and the books of the judgment-day unfold." CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of childhood and the child suffering from it cannot thrive. To keep the children well the stomach must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. To do this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative; are ablutely safe and never fail to relieve constipation and indigestion; colds and simple fever. Concerning them Mr Jules Augereau, Nominique, Que., writes:—"My baby was terribly constipated and suffered day and night, I was advised to give him Baby's Own Tablets and from the first they helped him and now at the age of thirteen months he is a big healthy, happy boy." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail for 25 cents a box from T. J. Dr. Williams-Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

HOW'S YOUR BLOOD? Pimples and Eruptions Mean Bad Blood

People who have impure or impoverished blood should be careful to take only a temperance remedy made of wild roots and herbs, such as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is and has been for nearly 50 years. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

The first day you start to take this reliable medicine, impure germs and accumulations begin to separate in the blood and are then expelled through the eliminative organs.

In place of the impurities, the arteries and veins gradually get fresh vitalized blood and the action of this good blood on the skin means that pimples, boils, carbuncles, eczema, rash, acne and many skin blemishes will disappear. Then you must remember that when the blood is right, the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys become healthy, active and vigorous and you will have no more trouble with indigestion, backache, headache.

Get Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to-day at any medicine dealers, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10c for trial package to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., or branch Laboratory, Bridgeburg, Ont.

BRAMPTON, ONT.—"A few years ago I was in a nervous and run-down condition and felt greatly in need of a tonic. A friend who was being helped by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advised me to try it, too. It helped me from the very start and eventually restored me to perfect health. I feel in a position to praise the 'Golden Medical Discovery' very highly and take pleasure in recommending it to all those who are at all nervous, weak or run-down."—MRS. ESTHER PEATON.

African Pigmies.

The historian Herodotus, 2,500 years ago, described the African pigmies which he located near the source of the Nile. Herodotus, for once, told the truth, for it is in that region that modern explorers have found them. Stanley described them as having huge stomachs and short legs, and as "leaping about like grasshoppers." One specimen he saw was a full-grown young woman, three inches short of three feet in height, but "perfectly formed and of a glistening sleekness of body, with absurdly large eyes."

ERNEST SMITH TALKS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Quebec Man, Grateful for the Benefit He Has Received, Pays Tribute to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Grand Pabos, West Que., May 17th, (Special).—Mr. Ernest Smith, a highly respected resident here, is one of the many who have abiding faith in Dodd's Kidney Pills as a remedy for sick kidneys. "I have suffered from my kidneys," Mr. Smith says, "and I read that Dodd's Kidney Pills were good, so I tried them. They have helped me so much that I will continue to use them when my kidneys trouble me."

The kidneys require constant attention if good health is to be maintained and serious disease averted off. The kidneys perform a most important work in the human system. They strain all the impurities, all the seeds of disease, out of the blood. When they are weak and unable to do their work the system clogs and sickness is the inevitable result. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the best remedy for weak, diseased or diseased kidneys.

Lion's Head in Fountains.

The original reason for the choice of lion's head in public fountains where the water comes out of a lion's mouth was, remarks an exchange, that among the ancient Egyptians the rising of the waters of the Nile, which was the most important event of the year, meaning life and prosperity to the whole nation, always took place when the sun was in the constellation of Leo. The lion's head on fountains is a symbol of the life giving waters of the Nile.

Miller's Worm Powders not only make the infantile system untenable for worms, but by their action on the stomach, liver and bowels they counter such troubles as lack of appetite, biliousness and other internal disorders that the worms create. Children thrive upon them and no matter what condition their worm-infested stomachs may be in, they will show improvement as soon as the treatment begins.

Righted in Time

She saw Barry come up the lane now, with an odd sinking of her own spirit, vaguely apprehensive of it knew not what.

"Moya's gone down to the shore," she told him.

"Has she?" he said, listlessly. He leaned his arms on the cottage gate, not even turning his head in the direction of the shore. Of what good was it for Moya to pretend there was nothing wrong between her and her lover, thought Una. High standards of romance or not, Moya and Barry did not come up to the average standard of an engaged couple.

"What are you doing this morning?" went on Barry. "We seem to be a loose end. No one went bathing before breakfast. That picnic on the downs which was mooted fell through. There's nothing doing all to-day. Everybody seems sleepy and dull."

"Then why don't you suggest something to live us up," was Una's reply to that.

Barry's moody look did not change. "I should be sure to suggest the wrong thing," he muttered. "And when I fall in with other people's suggestions, that's wrong, too. I'm too ready to fall in, too good-natured a chap. By the way, when is that fellow Berkeley going back to town?"

Una looked up. So disconnected a question startled her. What had Guy Berkeley's departure got to do with the coziness or enjoyment of the holiday? Then suddenly a new idea dawned on her. Had Guy Berkeley something to do with this vague atmosphere of unrest and dissatisfaction which surrounded the engaged couple? Was Barry, perchance, jealous of him? Had there even been a quarrel about him? Now Una came to think of it, Moya and Guy were a great deal together. They had struck up a sudden friendship, at which Una had been rather surprised—surprised because Guy was such a grave, deep-thinking man and Moya so heedless a girl. They might have been expected to have little or nothing in common, thought Una. Moya might have been expected to be bored by Guy, and Guy to feel a superior contempt for Moya. Instead, Una had seen them talking earnestly, engrossedly. Of course it was only about Guy's schemes of social welfare. He was an enthusiast about them, but it was strange he made a confidant of Moya, and stranger still she took an interest in such schemes. It was not like Moya, Una told herself, to discuss serious problems of life at all—or not like what she had imagined Moya to be. She was asking herself now whether she had ever quite understood her sister, or whether there was tion she herself had brought about. It is scant comfort to realize that our selves are the cause of our own trouble. Moya would have infinitely preferred to blame someone else. Probably she did endeavor to blame Barry. He was such a very poor hand at acting, she told herself indignantly. He might surely throw himself into his part with a little more vigor. If one understood a thing at least one might try to carry it through, so thought Moya obstinately.

Of course people acted very absurdly. They need not look surprised surely if she and Barry chose to walk in opposite directions. Being engaged did not rob one of all liberty of action surely!

It seemed as if Moya's joke and piece of good fun had recoiled on herself. Life was playing a joke at her. The laugh—if laugh there was—was against her.

Even Mrs. Raleigh provided no longer a piquancy in the shape of her opposition. That opposition was diminishing. She had heard something about Guy Berkeley's schemes of philanthropy. Her dream of a wealthy marriage for her daughter, a fashionable life and good social position, was fast vanishing. A philanthropist—one who spent all his money on others, who was content with an insignificant life himself, far from fashion and the world of wealth—was not her idea of a son-in-law. After all, Barry Tremond, young as he was, and with his way to make, had some prospects. Life was before a great deal in M to be developed, that had never found expression before?

And the more Una thought, the more troubled became her thoughts.

"I don't know when he's returning to town," she said. "He needs a long holiday, of course. He's been working too hard. Too hard for years, I think. One can see that just to look at him, and then we don't want him to go yet—we like having him here."

She watched Barry as she spoke. And she saw his face cloud. He laughed abruptly.

"Yes, I know you like him," he said. "You admire him, don't you? He's just the sort of man you would admire."

"I do like him, of course. I think we all admire him. He does so much good work, you see. One can't help but admire it."

Again Barry laughed. "No, naturally," he said. "But it makes a fellow like myself feel a little small. Comparisons are odious, I know. But I bin. He was not bitten with that eccentric folly that considered one's money was but a trust for others. Mrs. Raleigh's mind was changing in these days. And where Barry Tremond was concerned it was open to new impressions.

"For dear Mrs. Tremond's sake," she had told Moya. "Of course, for my part I had hoped you would do better, Moya. I had ambitions for you. I wanted to see you a fashionable leader of society. I should have used content to see you well established in the great world."

And Moya had said nothing. Guy Berkeley had once said he could die content if he had been instrumental in wiping out just one dingy street of squalor, and bringing sun and light and healthy habitation to those dwellers of hopeless poverty. She thought of that as she heard her mother speak.

But as she spoke Mrs. Raleigh had a vision, too, in her mind. Not a dream of an ennobled, beautiful slum, but an imagination of Moya—a fashionable woman, a society leader. With portraits in the society papers, and fashion articles eulogizing her taste in dress. Mrs. Raleigh had a dream of what the future of her pretty young daughter might have been.

She sighed. It was such a pity—followed by the foolish eccentricity of an impracticable dreamer. For Mrs. Raleigh did not doubt Guy was throwing his money away—money that might be of some use in the world if only she had the spending of it.

"A little mad," she had said indulgently, "an amiable crank. He has studied so much, poor fellow, that he has lost grip of real life, and runs his hobby to death. Being away with any rate seemed careless and contented enough. He was not vexed by problems, nor stung in spirit by a joke which was to have been such a piece of good fun.

Where was he? Moya wondered. Could she not have a little liberty and free solitude, even here? She glanced round. Fields and downs, they seemed empty of life. Then she moved nearer the cliff edge. Yes, there he was, sauntering along at the edge of the waves.

EARLY SYMPTOMS OF BLOODLESSNESS

Shown by Pallor of the Face and Lips—How to Obtain New Blood.

Anaemia, or lack of blood is so gradual in its approach that it is often well developed before the patient is sufficiently alarmed to consult a doctor or take proper treatment to restore the blood to a healthy condition.

The earliest symptoms of anaemia is loss of color, especially in the lips, gums and membrane lining the eyelids. Then comes shortness of breath on slight exertion, such as going up stairs, palpitation of the heart, increased pallor of the face and lips. If the thinning of the blood is not corrected it will proceed rapidly until a complete breakdown in health follows when there may be disorders of the stomach, headaches and backaches, dizziness and fainting spells. The direct effects and prompt way to increase and enrich the blood at a time like this is through the fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have restored to good health thousands of weak, anaemic people, among them Miss Mae Johnston, of Port Arthur, Ont., who says:—"Between the ages of sixteen and eighteen I worked in a telephone office, and it was very trying to the nerves and health. I became bloodless, and so pale that friends often said I looked consumptive. One night I had to be taken home from the office, and a doctor was called in who told me I must not go back for a time. Sometimes I would faint, and to walk up stairs would leave me utterly breathless. As I did not appear to be getting any better one of my girl friends, whose mother had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with great benefit, advised me to try these. I took the pills very faithfully for some time, with the result that they restored me to good health, and now when anyone tells me they feel weak or rundown I always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as I feel so thankful for the help they gave me."

If you have any of the symptoms described by Miss Johnston try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Eat nourishing food, exercise a little in the open air daily and watch the color return to cheeks and lips. You can run no risk in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, as they can not injure the most delicate system. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

the slums, forsooth! As if the poor themselves would like that. That kind of people are never happy away from their own surroundings—what they've always been accustomed to."

Mrs. Raleigh was great on "that kind of people." She gently set them in quite another category to herself. They were diverse, entirely so. Having been used to the slums they would, of course, miss and regret them. She did not follow that line of thought to another conclusion—how Moya, who had never been used to a fashionable life, might not be happy in it. No, "that kind of people" were a law unto themselves. Mrs. Raleigh pitied them, of course. But since the poor ye had always with you such a state of things must be endured, she would have said. And certainly she made no attempt to alter them.

She had a horror of enthusiasms. They partook of crankiness and eccentricities. They were not at all well-bred. Moderation in all things, she would have said. For she was one of those people who used quotations without digesting them at all. And one never thought that the truest moderation is that self-denial which lives for others.

So she turned to the thought of Barry Tremond with a feeling of relief. And Moya heard her pronouncement, the seal of her approval on their engagement, with corresponding dismay.

Suppose they found it difficult to break off this tie which begun in pretence, daily deepened now in earnest? Moya had a sensation of shackles fettering her liberty, and far more than that, tightening each moment.

Out on the free down land, the sea breeze in her ears, she drew long dissatisfied breaths. It was all fair enough about her. The corn was being cut in the fields to the right. She could count the sheaves, tall and golden. Against the blue sky and background of that still more blue horizon of sea, the harvest looked indescribably lovely and peaceful. There was scarcely a sound to break the silence, for the harvesters were at their dinner, and under the hot sun all the world seemed resting.

Suddenly Moya heard the sound of a whistle she knew. She frowned. It was Barry's, she knew well. He at

Squirrel No Weather Sign

Those who believe that the weather of a forthcoming season can be forecast with accuracy from observation of moss on trees, fur animals or the behavior of squirrels in their storing of nuts have faith in myths and mere legends.

They are in the same category with those who attach significance to black cats, ladders, Fridays and the ominous symbol thirteen.

From the scientific standpoint, Alfred H. Thiessen, director of the Baltimore weather bureau, says there is nothing in it; that there is no method, fashion or way to make long-range forecasts; that compilers of almanacs hedge themselves about with general terms, which make it difficult to pin them down, but when they do predict a storm on a certain date more often than not they are wrong. The whole proof of the accuracy of any forecast is the number of times he hits the mark over a considerable period of time long enough to prevent the probability of chance or coincidence.

Mr. Thiessen declared that long study by the weather bureau has failed to disclose any natural law governing weather which would permit it being forecast in advance for even two or three months. He pointed out the vast economic significance such a law would have, how it would affect industry, agriculture and employment.

"The weather bureau," he went on, "issues a weekly forecast of the weather for certain sections, but it is not so accurate as the thirty-six or forty-eight hour forecasts. Take, for instance, the value a season forecast would have in manufacture. If we could say with a degree of certainty that the next winter would be very cold, overcoat manufacturers could speed up production retailers could buy an extra large stock of overcoats and sell more of them. If we could say that the following winter would be mild for certain areas, the overcoat makers could reduce production, the retailers would not order so many overcoats and waste would be eliminated."

"Then in the farming certain crops require certain weather conditions favorable to them to make them grow abundantly. In the South cotton and corn are big crops. If we could say that the growing season for them would be wet or dry, the planter could plant more or more cotton, as he wished. Cotton requires dry weather, while corn needs wet weather. It would save the growers thousands of dollars if we had any method of telling what kind of moss on trees, birds of passage or moon phases. Animals or fowls do not know what kind of weather we are to have; they have no intuition or instinct which would inform them in advance.

"Squirrels store nuts according to the available supply and animals have a heavy or light coat of fur according to the weather, not according to the coming weather."

"The making of long-range forecasts by observations on animals is in the same class as making forecasts by observing a heavy coat and sweats and sheds. Many people have their horses clipped in this change period so their animals will be more comfortable. This is one proof that an animal's fur is governed by past weather, the fur having grown during the winter. The horse didn't have that heavy coat at the beginning."

"Many people have the belief that the weather of a particular season furnishes a clue to the weather of the succeeding season; that is to say, a hot summer will be followed by a cold winter, believing that there is a law of compensation which invariably holds good, or that a warm year is followed by a cold year. This is not substantiated by observation."

THE MOUNTAIN GOAT.

His Marvelous Sure-Footedness At Home.

"To me the most wonderful thing about the mountain goat is his mind," writes Dr. William T. Hornaday, director of the New York Zoological Park, in an article on "The Rocky Mountain Goat At Home," in Boy's Life. "He is so calm and so confident, so level-headed and sure-footed, that often he marches and climbs where no other four-footed animal of North America dares to follow him. I never got over my original amazement and admiration of his summit work."

"Early in our studies of white goats in that goat paradise we were treated to an exhibition of climbing that opened our eyes. As we were passing across a tiny goat pasture at the foot of a rock precipice we surprised a party of four goats on the side of the wall, about one hundred feet up. We halted to see what they would do. The face of the rock wall was reasonably rough, but it could not have been more than ten degrees from being perpendicular.

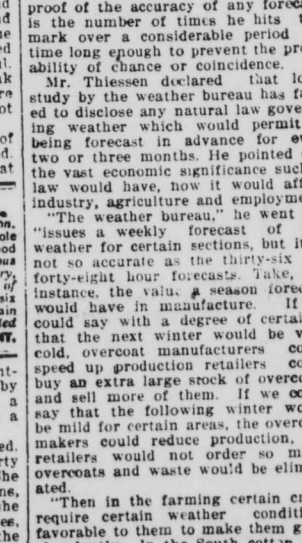

"Two goats stood safely upon the summit, looking down on their entrapped comrades. The unlucky four could have been shot as easily as picking grapes; but it is not all of goat hunting to kill goats!

"Finding that they were not being shot at, the four goats started to get away from us by climbing straight up the face of that precipice. For ten minutes we watched an amazing exhibition. Each goat chose an independent course, reached up with his front feet for a foothold, then by sheer muscular strength lifted his heavy body up the three or four feet to be gained.

"They climbed in that way about two hundred feet while we watched quickly disappeared over the summit. Then, then reached easy going and we hunters all agreed that no mountain sheep could make a climb like that; but, of course, we don't really know."

"Several times we saw goats serenely promenaded across the faces of perpendicular cliffs of bare rock so smooth that no sign of a ledge or path was visible to us, even with our glasses. In every such case it looked as if the animal were walking on air. The feet are planted with great precision and firmness, and this imparts to the animal a stiff gait, and a general appearance of a mechanical toy in motion."
