FARMERSVILLE UMBAR YARD

Building Lumber Flooring, Clapboards, Shingles, Fence Pickets, - &c., &c., -

VERY CLOSEST PRICES

Special Inducements to partil whole Car Loads delivered at ellamy's Station.

WANTED -- A Quantity of ine, Ash, Hemlock and Tamarac Logs also a few Basswood and Elm. W. G. PARISH. 4-5

Professional Cards

Drs. Cornell & Cornell.

FARMERSVILLE . . . Ont. Ir. C. M. B. CORNELL will be at hone Tuesdays, Thorsdays and Sturdays of SPECIAL CONSULTATIONS. . B. CORNELL, M.D. | S. S. CORNELL, M. D., C.M.

Hutcheson & Fisher, Arristers, Solicitors, Conveyancers, &c., BROCKVILLE.

office, two dgors East of Court House Ave.

$50,000 to Loan at 6 per cent. J. A. HUTCHESON 4-3 A. A. FISHER Dr. Vaux,

C urt House Ave., Next Door to Post Office BROCKVILLE.

Diseases of women." Office hours from 1 to 3 p. m.

B. J. Saunders, B. A. Sc. C. E.

DOMINION AND PROVINCIAL LAND SURVEYOR,

Draughtsman, &c., FARMERSVILLE, - - ONT.

J. C. Judd, BARRISTER, ETC. Brockville Ont.,

MONEY TO LOAN AT THE LOWEST RATES.

The Gamble House,

FARMERSVILLE. THIS fine new brick hotel has been elegantly furnished throughout in the latest styles. Every attention paid to the wants of guests. Good yards and stabl-

FRED. PIERCE, Proprietor. Wm. Webster,

HOUSE PAINTER & GRAINER Kalsominer, Paper Hanger and Glazier.

CONTRACTS taken for inside and outside work at closest prices. Residence next to Berney's Livery, Main st.,

$500.00

W case of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, www.ease of Dyspopsia, Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, Indigestion or Costiveness we cannot Cure with WEST'S LIVER FILLS, when the Directions are strictly complied with Large Boxes, containing 80 Fills, 26 Cents; 6 Boxes $1.00. Sold

A. C. BARNETT, DEALER IN MADE

HOES,

VOL. III. NO. 7.

THE EAGLE

QUIRING NO OIL.

Best in the World!

ANTI-FRICTION GEARING, RE-

SOLID WHITE RUBBER ROLL.

ERS, VULCANIZED TO SHAFTS.

CONSTRUCTED ENTIRELY OF

MALLEABLE IRON, QALVAN

IZED IN THE EEST POSSIBLE

CONNOR'S

IMPROVED WASHER!

Best Washing Machine in the Market.

These machines will be left on trial for reasonable period, and no sale unless fair trial proves them to be satisfactory

R. W. CHALIS.

COAL! COAL!

Office and Yard,

WATER ST., BROCKVILLE.

Electro-Plate,

Watches, Clocks,

and Jewellery.

ILKESBARR F

ner. Read our circulars care

Agent, Farmersville.

WRINGER.

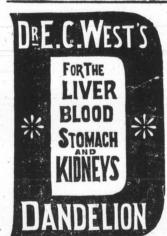

Farmersville, Wednesday, February 9th, 1887.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

Farmersville Circuit. Rev. G. Rogers, pastor, FARMERSVILLE.—Sabbath services in the South Church at 10.30 a. m. and 7 p.m. Public prayer meeting Thursday evening at 7.30., in the North Church, and Young People's meeting Saturday evening at 7.30. Sunday School at 2.30 p. m. Duncan Fisher, Superintendent. Sunday School at 2.50 p. m., and Shellon's at Lake Lovada at 1.30 p.m., and Shellon's at 1,15 p. m., Sunday, June 18th, and every altern-ate Sabbath thereafter. Elhe at 1.30 p.m., and Towriss' at 3.15 p.m. Sunday, June 20th, and every alternate Sabbath

Church of England. Fashionable Tailoring

UPSTAIRS Under the Management of John Baillie.

GO TO

H. H. ARNOLD'S

FARMERSVILLE

DESIRABLE GOODS

CLOSEST LIVING PRICES.

SEASONABLE Cabinet-making in all its Branches.

Charges Moderate.

FRED. CLOW'S, FARMERSVILLE. THE OLD RELIABLE Tailoring House A. M. CHASSELS

MAIN ST., FARMERSVILLE.

SUITS MADE UP IN THE LATEST STYLES AT SHORT NOTICE.

C. C. S. the residence of Rich. Arnold. Juddwelling on Church street.

main street.

son & Son propose erecting a large

show and work room on Victoria street

N. Witheril has already commenced getting material on the ground for a shop and dwelling house on West

We might go on and enumerate doz ens of other buildings that are either under way or which will be commenthereafter.

Washburne's and Hard Island alternately
Friday evenings at 7.30. CHRIST'S CHURCH.—Rev. R. N. Jones, incum bent. Service every Sunday at 7.00 p. m., ex cepting the second Sunday in the month, wher service will be held at 10.30 a. m. Holy Com munion after morning prayer. Sanday Schoo at 2.30 p.m. Service every Thursday at 7.3 p.m. Seats all free, Baptist.

Sunday services at 10. 30 (Jan. 23d. Feb. 20th arch 20th and April-17 omitted). Prayer and also meeting every Wednesday evening at 7 l welcome. Rev. S. Sheldon, pastor.

Presbyterian Service in the Baptist Church every Sabbatl evening at 7. Rev. Mr Roberts, Pastor.

Poetry.

WINTER.

To my loving mother the merits of on the ground for a large brick block, bis little poem are ascribed. I say to be erected on the present site of merits because I hope there are some the drug store and Thompson's grocontained therein. Some of your readers have censured me with plag-larger many while on the other hand, my Beach's store with the building to be occasional verses have been appreciated by a few good friends, and kindly discounted by yourself and able staff, and renovated during next season. to whom I feel indebted. Of the John Hause has commenced preparlittle poems I have offered you from ations for building a large brick dwell-time to time, I can say to all, no one ing on Wiltse street. D. Wiltse is can point to their frailities as well as making preparations for building on I myself; though they serve to amuse Henry street. Mrs. Stone will prome, and cost me some labor at least. bably erect a house on her lot next to

Now, sweeping over landscape bleak, and And through each rustic bower of leafless Old Boreas stings the balmy autumn air And sways the drooping elm in the breeze. At yonder bush is hushed the feathered the snow, No chaims are there fond lovers to inspire, No sound save this, the sturdy woodman's

The winding brook that babbles 'neath the Is resting from its labors, draped with to showing to those of our renders

The village streets are covered o'er with snow, The school ground hushed, the merrymakers still The 'cicles from the eves now reaching heatlhy and thriving place for a per-The merry sleigh bells chime, "'tis winter chill."

The Charleston hills seem bleak and far away—

The Charleston hills seem bleak and far away—

In the completion of the Brockville, with the completion of the Brockville, bushel 24,500 trains of 20 cars each away-They look like objects outlined on the sky; Westport & Sault St. Marie Railway, Their snow clad tops with scattered pine look grey, Westport & Sault St. Hall St. H Against their sides the driven snow piles high. The merry masons from the eaves have

The merry masons from the eaves nave flown,
The oriole and robbins taken wing,
But soon will genial nature claim her own,
Again they'll swell the anthem of the proximity to Charleston Lake greatly

FARMERSVILLE ITS PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE.

Another thing which needs improvement is the state of our sidewalks. Those we have, with the exception of In looking into the future of our a few pieces put down by private entown we think that everything betoterprise, are in a dilapidated condition, kens a prosperous era before our citiwhile some streets which are lined zens. Although the building operations with residences on both sides, are allast season were larger than ever bemost entirely without walks of any fore, the outlook points to next season as likely to far surpass any previous year in the number of new buildings kind. This winter there are whole streets which have not yet seen a snow shovel, and it is no infrequent likely to be erected. A prominent sight to see ladies wading ankle deep in slush. And we know of several contractor informs us that over twentyfive new buildings are already projected for next season, and that allarge property holders on the principal streets, in front of whose premises ready a large amount of material is the snow is allowed to remain from on the ground ready for operations as the first fall until the sun melts it off soon as the weather permits. Let us in the spring. What the town needs glance briefly at a few already under is a strictly enforced snow by-law. We way. A. Parish & Son have a large have pointed out Farmersville's adquantity of stone, brick and sand on vantages which would attract strangers the ground for their new store and to it as a place of residence; and if High Priest Mr. F. H postoffice. This building will be 40 improvements are effected on the lines x 100 feet, two stories and a basement. suggested by us, the repellant disad-Jas. Ross and J. P. Lamb have the vantages will have been removed. plans drawn and some of the material The future of Farmersville will, to great extent, be moulded by its citizens.

The natural advantages are great, and to these have been added, by the enterprise of the residents, a Harbo system of educational institutions which should go far towards making our town famous, and which, in fact, do contribute largely to our progress and advancement. Let the past and present commendable public and private enterprise of our citizens be developed into aggressive life and activity, and let no opportunity of adding to our resources be lost. Then, with the impetus which the opening of the railway will give, our population, our mercantile and manufacturing interests, and our educational advantages, should be doubled during the next two or three years.

Guaranteed Circulation, 600.

hook and ladder company in a state of efficiency would be small, and would be more than met by the consequent decrease in insurance rates.

Wiltse proposes putting in a new plate glass front to his store early in the spring. Wm. Layng has got material on the ground for a large carriage

The Globe.

The gross debt is $371,000,000. This is over $1,000,000 for every constituency ounty $300 for every family.

ced as seen as the frost is out of the ground in the spring; but we prefer devoting the remainder of this article If piled up in silver 35 trains of 20 who have any inclination to come here cars each would be needed to carry it to settle that few towns possess the away. advantages that Farmersville does as It has increased $75 a minute under a place where those seeking a good Tory rule.

would be required to haul away the decai, "kept up his own end" remarkto the east, west, north and south.

There are no sluggish streams or would encircle the earth at the equaponds in the immediate vicinity and tor and lap over. consequently all kinds of malarial The annual interest is $21 a minute.

While he within makes merry by the fire, and exciting can be had during the Laughs at his hopeful wee one, on the floor, In vain attempt to imitate the sire.

While he within makes merry by the fire, and exciting can be had during the summer season at trifling cost, on this most beautiful of inland waters. The fishing facilities in these waters the now with love hails his good wife are unsurpassed by any in the province of this most beautiful of inland waters. The fishing facilities in these waters the now with love hails his good wife are unsurpassed by any in the province of this most beautiful of inland waters. The fishing facilities in these waters the now with love hails his good wife are perhaps almost equal to any the continent. The mine waters the continent. The mine waters the continent was comprosed of nearly voices, and the manner in which several choruses were taken up on this most beautiful of inland waters. The fishing facilities in these waters are in the majority on the School Board that much abused (and we fear too little used) book, leave an unholy find are perhaps almost equal to any the continent. The mine waters are in the majority on the School Board the manner in which several choruses were taken up on this most beautiful of inland waters. The fishing facilities in these waters are in the majority on the School Board that much abused (and we fear too little used) book, leave and the manner in which several choruses were taken up on the province of ontario where Conservatives are in the majority on the School Board that much abused (and we fear too little used) book, leave are in the majority on the School Board that much abused (and we fear too little used) book.

The continent of the manner in which several choruses were taken up on the province of ontario waters.

The fishing facilities in these waters are in the several choruses were taken up on the sections throughout the Province of ontario waters.

The fishing facilities in these waters are in the several choruses were taken up on t

BUILDING HARDWARE, &c., &c., &c. All Goods Bought as Cheap as

A. PARISH & SON

DRY-GOODS,

GROCERIES.

BOOTS AND SHOES,

CROCKERY.

sold at prices to suit the times. "NOWHERE CHEAPER."

Possible, for CASH, and will be

We turn It out And put in the other

"Moved, seconded and carried that we Dont want no Homemade Scripters in this country, and resolved that we will Have the Bibel, the Hole Bi-bel and nothink but the Hole Bibiel.

"Carreyed that we put it Out."

ORATORIO OF ESTHER. An Excellent Performance by Delta Amateurs.

Last Thursday and Friday evenings the commodious town half at Delta was filled by intelligent audiences, assembled to hear the charming dramatic oratorio of Esther, presented by Delta amateurs, under the direction of Professor C. M. Lewis. Following is the caste of characters:

JEWS.

...... Mr. R. M. Percival Mordecai. Queen Esther.....Miss Addie Soper Maid of Honor .. Mrs. W. H. Denaut, Prophetess...... Miss J. E. De

Queen's Attendants M

King's Pages ...

Miss Soper, as Queen Esth very natural and unaffected itation of the character. Her fascinatingly sweet and pure, as rendering of the several solos all to the part won the admiration of a who were present. Mrs. H. E. Eyre FACTS ABOUT THE PUBLIC DEBT. did exceedingly well in the cnaracter of Zeresh, which called for the display of considerable histrionic ability, to which she proved herself equal. his is over $1,000,000 for every con-ituency.

Mrs. Denaut, as Maid of Honor, and Miss J. E. Denaut, as Prophetess, ac-quitted themselves well. Unfortunately, the latter caught a severe cold, and, being unable to sing, her part was $50 for every man, woman and taken by a substitute the second night. The Queen's Attendants, Miss E. Barlow and Miss S. Denaut, and the young ladies who waited upon Zererh (Miss Toda Denaut and Miss M. Barlow) deserve favorable mention. The King found a representative in Mr. W. W. heatlhy and thriving place for a permanent residence can come and find a miles with dollar bills.

It would pave a highway for 105 Foster, Smiths Falls, who did fairly well. Mr. E. Tanny, of Woodstock, gave a good representation of the character of Haman, looking and acting the part in a manner worthy of praise. Mr. R. M. Percival, as Morwheat.

If the wheat were loaded in wagons placed in line on a road the line semi-professionals last mentioned, he suffered nothing by the comparison. His acting was especially commendable. The support given by the minor characters was evocilent. The chorus was composed of nearly sixty voices, and the manner in which the several choruses were taken up and sustained throughout was creditable

THIS ORIGINAL DOCUMENT IS IN VERY POOR CONDITION

A Legend of Good St. Valentine.

St. Valentine at Peter's gate Did knock with might and main, 'Let 'ne out for once, erg' tis too late ; 'My time has come again."

Then Peter slowly turned the key, And let the good saint go. It was the fourteenth of Februaree, And the ground was white with sno

The saint he smiled as he paced Broadway, His teeth gleamed clear and pearly, Jor he actually hadn't been out in broad day Since in the third century—early.

"But love," thought he, "and life and youth Are surely the same as of yore, I'll just go around and discover the truth, And make things as nice, if not more."

He really expected to be amused When he paid his first morning call But the ladies "begged to be excused," They'd been all night at a ball So the saint in wonder turned away,

And bravely tried once more; But here they all had visits to pay, And the footman showed him the door

But he still kept on, and tried all kinds— The good, the grave, the busy; He saw all sorts of brains and minds, Till they fairly turned him dizzy.

For one was practising Mendelssohn Alone in her maiden bower; Another was carving an old dry bone While a third read Schopenhauer.

A fourth in water and oils could paint All things beneath and above; A fifth in good works was a perfect saint; But they'd none of 'em time to love.

Sadly St. Valentine floated back To the gate of good St. Peter.

"Alas!" cried he " of girls there's no lack,
And I must say I seldom saw sweeter.

"They're good and pretty, gay and wise; They're nothing if not pedantic; They know what they like and what they despi But they don't seem to be romantic."

Then St. Peter clanged the brazen gate, And let in the dear old sinner, Who'd been up early and stayed out lete, And probably wanted his dinner.

MORAL. I pray, sweet maids and youths, beware, And mind what you're about; For now the saint's around, take care, Don't let him "find you out."

The Ae Gowden Link.

(By John Abercrombie, Bridgeport, Conn.) I'm wae, wae tae see ye, my bonnie wee boy, The pride o' my heart and yer fond nither's joy; I'm wearyin' fu' sair yer blythe face tae see— 're the ae gowden link that birds Lizzic an'

> orn, and I miss ye at e'en; o hame wit loot Charlie, I ween; o' toys scatter'd roun' I can see k that b nds Lizzie an' me. d ilk o'ening it > > rt for a wee zie an' me. Lizzie an ich an "Alice in Wonderland" sort erformance on the part of a tree could not but excite the curiosity of an intelligent youth. Accordingly, Roger pushed for-ward, and, getting round an intervening tree, this was what he saw. In a little glade about ten paces from him, flapping its ears, stood an enormous elephant with great white tusks, looking as large as a house, and as cool as a cucumber. Nobody, to look at the brute, would have believed under a burning sun. He was now refresh-ing himself by pulling up mimosa-trees as easily as though they were radishes, and eating the sweet fibrous roots.

A NOVEL

eating the sweet fibrous roots.

Roger saw this and his heart burned with ambition to kill that elephant, the mighty great beast about a hundred times as big as himself, who could pull up a large tree and make his dinner off the roots. He was a plucky boy, was Roger, and in his sports-manlike zeal he quite forgot that a repeating carbine is not exactly the weapon one would choose to shoot elephants with. thought, he lifted the little rifle, aimed it at the great beast's head and fired. He hit it somewhere, that was very clear, for next moment the air resounded with the most terrific scream of fury that it had ever been That scream was too much him; he turned and fled swiftly Elephants were evidently difficult things t

Fortunately for Roger, the elephant Fortunately for Roger, the elephant could not for some seconds make out where his tiny assailant was. Prosently, however, he winded him, and came crashing after him, screaming shrilly, with its trunk and tail well up. On hearing the shot and the scream of the elephant, Ernest, who was standing some way out in the open in anticipation of a driving shot at the Guinea-fowl. had run toward the spot of a driving shot at of a driving shot at land run toward the spot had rutered the bush, and, t, out he came

ing. The probability of Jestopping the beast at that distance were quite sixty yards off—was

There was a second's pause. The snapping tip touched the retreating trousers, but did not get hold of them, and the con-tact sent a magnetic thrill up Ernest's back.

'Boom—thud—crash!" and the elephant was down dead as a doornail. Jeremy had made no mistake: the bullet went straight through the great brute's heart, and broke the shoulder on the other side. He was one of those men who not only rarely miss, but always seem to hit their game in the right

Meanwhile Mr. Alston had extracted the story of the adventure from Ernest.

"You young rascal," he said to his son, come off that tusk. Do you know that if it had not been for Mr. Kershaw here, who ourted almost certain death to save you from the results of your own folly, you would be as dead as that elephant and as flat as a biscuit? Come down, sir, and offer up your thanks to Providence and Mr. Kershaw that you have a sound square inch of flesh left on your worthless young body!! Roger descended accordingly, consider-ably crestfallen.

Never you mind, Roger, that was a most rattling good shot of yours at his knee," said Ernest, who had now got his breath again. "You would not do it again if you fired at elephants for a week."

And so the matter passed off, but afterward Mr. Alston thanked Ernest with tears n his eyes for saving his son's life.

This was the first elephant they killed,

This was the first elephant they killed, and also the largest. It measured ten feet eleven inches at the shoulder, and the tusks weighed, when dried out, about sixty pounds each. They remained in the elephant country for nearly four months when the approach of the unhealthy season forced them to leave it—not, however, before they had killed a great quantity of large game of all sorts. quantity of large game of all sorts.

It was on the occasion of their return to Pretoria that Ernest made the acquaint-ance of a curious character in a curious

As soon as they got to the boundaries of the Transvaal Ernest bought a horse from a Boer, on which he used to ride after the herds of buck that swarmed upon the high yeldt. They had none with them, because n the country which they had been shooting no horse would live. One day, as they were travelling slowly along a little before mid-day, a couple of bull vilderbeeste galloped across the waggon-track about two undred vards in front of the oxen. The voorlooper stopped the oxen inorder to give Ernest, who was sitting on the waggon-box with a rifle by his side, a steady shot. Ernest fired at the last of the two galloping bulls. The line was good, but he did not make sufficient allowance for the pace at which the bull was travelling, with the result that instead of striking it forward and killing it, the bullet shattered its flank and did not stop its career.

"Dash it!" said Ernest, when he saw what he had done, "I can't leave the poor beast like that. Bring me my horse; I will go after him and finish him."

The horse, which was tied already saddled behind the waggon, was quickly brought, and Ernest mounting told them not to keep the ng told them not to keep the country and meet them at the outspan place about a mile or so on. Then he started plainly discerned standing with one leg up plainly discerned standing with one leg up on the crest of a rise about a thousand yards away. But if ever a vilderbeeste was possessed by a fixed determination not to be finished off, it was that particular vilderbeeste. The pace at which a vildervilderbeeste. The pace at which a vilder-beeste can travel on three legs when he is not too fat is perfectly astonishing, and Ernest had traversed a couple of mines of great rolling plain before he even got within a fair galloping distance of him. He had a good horse, however, and at last he got within fifty yards, and then away they went at a mery vace. Ernest's object they went at a merry pace, Ernest's object being to ride alongside and put a bullet through him. Their gallop lasted a good two miles or more. On the level Ernest gained on the vilderbeeste, but whenever they came to a patch of ant-bear holes or ridge of stones, the vilderbeeste had the pull and drew away again. At last they came to a dry pan or lake about half a mile broad, crowded with hundreds of buck of all sorts, which scampered away as they came tearing along. Here Ernest at length drew up level with his quarry, and, grasp-ing the rifle with his right hand, tried to get it so that he could put a bullet through the beast and drop him. But it was no easy matter, as any one who has ever tried it will know, and, while he was still making up his wind, the yilderbeaste slued nd and came as kim bravely Had his

the result that the round and came at time bravely. Had his horse been unused to the "ork, he must have had his inside ripped out by the crooked horns, but he was an old hunter and equal to the occasion. To turn was the speed was too great, but he probability of Jeremy's beast at that distance—they sixty yards off—was infinia second's pause. The snapleft him, but he recovered, and, mounting his worn-out horse, wandered on again. Luckily he had broken no bones. Had he done so, he would probably have perished miserably in that lonely place.

The sun was sinking now, and he was faint for want of food, for he had eaten nothing that day but a biscuit. He had not even a pipe of tobacco with him. Just as the sun vanished he hit a little path, or of those men who not only rarely miss, but always seem to hit their game in the right place.

Ernest sank exhausted on the ground and Mr. Alston and Jeremy rushed uprejoicing.

"Near go that, Ernest," said the former. Ernest nodded his head in reply, he could not speak.

"By Jove! where is Roger?" he went on, turning pale as he missed his son for the first time.

But at this moment the young gentleman hove in sight, and, recovering from his fright when he saw that the great animal was stone-dead, rushed up with yells of exultation, and, climbing on to the upper tusk, began to point out where he had hit him.

Meanwhile Mr. Alston he decreased the was well there was a poor chance of his awakening.

How long he lay so he did not know, it seemed a few minutes, it was really an hour, when he was suddenly awakened by feeling somebody shaking him by the shoulder.

"What is it?" he said, wearily.
"Wat is it? ach Himmel! wat is it?
dat is just wat I wants to know. What do you here? You shall die so." The voice was the voice of a German

The voice was the voice of a German, and Ernest knew German well.

"I have lost my way," he said in that language! "I cannot find the waggons."

"Ah, you can speak the tongue of the Vaterland," said his visitor still addressing him in English. "I will embrace you," and he did so.

Ernest sighed. It is a bore to be approach in the day by the very large and the did so.

embraced in the dark by an unknown mal

German when you feel that you are not far off dissolution.

"You are hungered?" said the German. Ernest signified that he was.

"And athirsted?"
Again he signified assent.
"And perhaps you have no 'gui bacco)?

"No, none. "Good! my little wife, my Wilhelmina, shall find you all these things." "What the mischief," thought Ernest to himself, "can a German be doing with his little wife in this place?" By this time the stars had come out and gave a little light.

gave a little light.

"Come, rouse yourself, and come and see my little wife. Oh, the pferd!" (horse)—

"we will tie him to my wife. Ah, she is beautiful, though her leg shakes. Oh, yes, you will love her."

"The deuce I shall!" ejaculated Ernest; and then, mindful of the good things the lady in question was to provide him with, he added solemnly, "Lead on, Macduff."

"Macduffer! my name is not so; my name is Hans; all ze great South Africa know me very well, and all South Africa love my wife."

love my wife."

"Really!" said Ernest.

Although he was so miscrable, he began o feel that the situation was interesting A lady to whom his horse was to be tied and whom all South Africa was enamored of, could hardly fail to be interesting. Ris ing he advanced a step or two with his friend, who, he could now see was a large, iriend, who, he could now see was a large, burly man with white hair, apparently about 60 years of age. Presently they came to something that in the dim light reminded him of the hand hearse in Kesterwick church, only it had two wheels instead of four, and no springs.

"Behold my beautiful wife," said th German. "Soon I will show you how her leg shakes; it shakes, oh, horrid."
"Is—is the lady inside?" asked Ernest. It occurred to him that his friend might be carting about a corpse.

Inside! no. she is outside, she is a over," and stepping back the German put his head on one side in a most comical fashion, and, regarding the unofficial hearse with the deepest affection, said in a hearse with the deepest affection, said in a low voice, "Ah, liebe vrouw, ah, Wilhemina, is you tired, my dear? and how is your poor leg?" and he caught hold of a groggy wheel and shook it.

Had Ernest been a little less wretched, and one degree further off starvation, it is probable that he would have exploded with laughter, for he had a keen sense of the ludicrous; but he had not got a laugh left in him and begies he was affected. in him, and, besides, he was afraid of offending the German. So he mere! murmured, "Poor, poor leg!" sympathetically, and then alluded to the question of eatables. "Ah, yes, of course. Let us see wha Wilhemina shall give us," and he trotted Wilhe n keeping with its hearse-like character pened by means of two little folding doors opened by means of two little folding doors, and pulled out, first, two blankets, one of which he gave to Ernest to put round his shoulders; second, a large piece of biltong, or sun-dried game-flesh, and some biscuits; and, third, a bottle of peach-brandy. On these viands they fell to, and though they were not in themselves of an appetizing nature, Ernest never enjoyed anything more in his life. Their meal did not take long, and after it his friend Hans produced some excellent Boer tobacco, and over their pipes he told him how he had lost his way. Hans asked him which road he had bee veling on.

"The Nustenburg road." "Then, my friend, you are not more the tenth of the thousand paces off it. My wife and I ravel along him all day, till just low

He | City of Rest, and my wife and I, we must ourney on, on, on till we find it."
"Where do you come from now?" asked

Ernest.
"From Utrecht, from out of the east where the sun rises so red every morning over Zululand, the land of bloodshed. Oh over Zululand, the land of bloodshed. Oh, the land will run with blood there. I know it; Wilhemina told me as we came along; but I don't know when. But you are tired. Good! you shall seep with Wilhemina; I will sleep beneath her. No, you shall, or she will be—what you call him—offended." Ernest crept into the cavity, and at once fell asleep, and dreamed that he had been buried alive. At dawn he emerged bad buried alive. At dawn he emerged, bad his friend farewell, and gaining rejoined the wagon in safety.

CHAPTER XXXII.

ERNEST ACCEPTS A COMMISSION. A young man of that ardent, impetuous A young man of that areant, impetuous, intelligent mind which makes him charming and a thing to love, contrasted with the young man of the sober, cautious, moneymaking mind (infinitely the most useful article), which makes him a "comfort" to his relatives and a thing to respect, avoid, and marry your daughter to, has two great safeguards standing between him and the ruin which dogs the heels of the ardent, the impetous, and the intelligent. These are, his religion and his belief in women. It is probable that he will start on his erratic career with a full store of both. He has never questioned the former; the latter, so far as his own class in life is concerned, are to him all sweet and good, and perhaps there is one particular star who only ship for him, and is the sweetest and best of them all. But one fine day the sweetest and best of all throws him over, being a younger son and marries his eldest brother, or a paralytic cotton-spinner of enormous wealth and uncertain temper, and then a sudden change comes over the spirit of the ardent, intelligent, and impetuous one. Not being of a well-balanced mind, he rushes to the other extreme, and believes in his sore heart that all women would throw over such as he and marry eldest brothers or superannuated cotton-spinners. He may be right or he may be wrong. The materials for ascertaining the fact are wanting, for all women engaged to impecunious young gentlemen do not get the chance. But, right or wrong, the result upon the sufferer is the same—his faith in women is shaken, if not destroyed. Nordoes the mischief stop there; his religion often follows his belief in the other sex, for in some mysterious way the two things are interwoven. A young man of the nobler class of mind in love, is generally for the time being a religious man; his affection lifts him more or less above the things of earth, and floats him on its radiant things of earth, and floats him on its radiant wings a day's journey nearer Heaven.

The same thing applies conversely. If a man's religious belief is emasculated, he becomes suspicious of the "sweetest and best," he grows cynical, and no longer puts faith in superlatives. From atheism there is but a small step to misogyny, or rather to that disbelief in humanity which embraces a profounder constituent disbelief in its feminine section, and in turn as already inine section, and in turn, as alread said, the misogynist walks daily along the edge of atheism. Of course there is a way out of these discouraging results. If the mind that suffers and falls through its suffering be of the truly noble order, it may in time come to see that this world is a world not of superlatives, but of the most arid positives, with here and there a little comparative oasis to break the monoton of its general outline. Its owner may learn that the fault lay with him, for believing too much, for trusting too far, for setting up as an idol a creature exactly like himself, only several degrees lower beneath proof; and at last may come to see that though "sweetests and bests" are chimerical, there are women in the world who may fairly be called "sweet and cod" the text and cod "the text and cod "sweet and cod". who may fairly be called "sweet and good." Or, to return to the converse side of the picture, it may occur to our young gentleman that although Providence starts us in the world with a full inherited or indoctrinated belief in a given religion, that is not what Providence understands by faith. Faith, perfect faith, is only to be won by struggle, and in most cultivated worked with gold beads or timed worked with gold beads or timed worked with gold beads or timed used by young girls under light very perfect faith. minds by the passage through the dim, mirage-elad land of disbelief. The true believer is he who has trodden down disbelief, not he who has run away from it. When we have descended from the height of our childhood, when we have entertaine Apollyon, and, having considered what he has to say, given him battle and routed him in the plain, then, and not till then, can we ay with guileless hearts, "Lord, I elieve," and feel no need to add the sadly ualifying words, "help Thou my

(To be continued.) Various Odd Trees.

A "Kentucky coffee-tree" bears a broad at pod, something like the tamarind pod and is said to make a fair sort of coffee The Cornelian cherry, from Italy, has a let scarlet drupe about as large as an old-ashioned ox-heart cherry. Gerris oaks, from Turkey, keep their green leaves late. These outlast some of the green English oaks, and have even no only reached the falling stage that most of our indigenous trees reached more than a onth ago. This Turkish oak bears uge acorn. It is long, and grows on a huge acorn. It is long, and grows on a long stem like a cherry.

The liquid amber tree and the Siberian pea grow in this country. The pea is in a little pod not bigger than the pod of the sweet pea, but its yellow bloom in spring, on a tree near the lake, makes one of the charming sights of the park in May. Bad boys break off its branches in winter for Use as "chipmy" etcles in their gather. e as "shinny" sticks in their games or

JOTTINGS FOR THE LADIES.

Latest Fashion Notes.

The latest fancy from Paris is a little compon of crisp tulle, from which rises a heron's plumes, to be worn in the hair with dancing toilettes.

The newest cloaks for little girls hav waists reaching only to the arm-pits, mere like a deep yoke than a waist, and skirts falling to the ankles.

Pleated fronts to basques are worn by persons who have very slender figures, even in the heaviest velvet materials. They have two pleats at the top of the shoulders next the collar, and then drawn to the middle, becoming plain a* he waist line.

The new overcoats for young girls turned out by Redfern have the high, military collars fastened with a little irregular shaped strap, that is loose and buttons to a button on either side of the collar.

For wear in wet weather are shown silk rubber cloth long wraps, with sling sleeves. These are in indefinite plaids, with the pre-vailing color shades of dark blue, red, green prown and tan.

Nearly all the newest wraps have the fashionable "sling" sleeve, and those wraps made of the same material as the suit show, when the arm is raised, a lining of soft, striped surah; this same lining is employed for the little fancy muff also matching the suit.

The tendencies in draperies is to make then long and full and quite dissimilar to anything hitherto fashionable. These draperies have heavy, pointed fan folds and very little looping. The effect is obtained by the varying length of the points in by the varying length of the points which the drapery hangs rather than by loops. These modes are seen with plair loops. These modes are skirts and large tournure.

Instead of folds or frills in the neck and sleeves, modistes now send home each dress waist finished off with ribbons, which may be white or in direct contrast with th be white or in direct contrast with the dress material, such as rose-pink in moss-green dresses, or red, or orange in those of dark blue. The gauze ribbons, with looped or picot edges, are used. They are folded over not quite double so that both the fancy edges will show just above the collar of the dress.

All the French waists show an effort t All the French waists show an effort to make the shoulders as high and square and the waist as long and slim as possible. This effect is gained by a shirring across the chest and on the shoulder seams, and the fulness drawn down as far as possible to the waist and there shirred more closely again. This gives the slip effect seen by again. This gives the slim effect seen in French fashion plates, and while giving an improved slenderness and grace to thin, angular figures, hides all the pretty curves of good ones.

The tailor gowns of dark copper red, trimmed with the same shade of plush, are worn to afternoon teas by young women with small red velvet turbans without s brim, and adorned with gray or brown wings and breasts of birds. The heads are not used. With these are worn with lovely effect breast knots of pink roses. For carriage wear red becomes more and more popular. Several dark red suits are shown with trimmings of black mink, and bonnets of red velvet and jet.

For wear to the theatres by those ladie who are prepared to adopt the English fashion of appearing without bonnets, are shown little Marie Stuart coifs of silk and plush, the face being surrounded by pearl beads matching the hue of the coif. Attached to it is a long scarf of surah that is drawn around the throat. These can be worn without disarranging the hair and thrown off and on more easily than a lace scarf, while thoroughly protecting the head and throat from the night air.

Shoes for balls are still very open on top the ends are pointed and they are worked with beads. They are trimmed with a small bow or "strass" buckle. These shoes are of satin to match the dress. Black satin and velvet shoes for dinner wear are used by young girls under light wool or gauze dresses are of cream, blue or bronze kid. They either match the dress or trimmings in color. It is not necessary the stockings should match the dress
The favorite colors are rose color and Some Recipes.

Lemon Cake.-One and a half cups o

sugar, one-half cup of butter, one-half cup of milk, two cups of flour, two eggs, juice and grate the rind of one lemon, one-half teaspoonful of soda; bake in small square tins and ice on sides and top.

Lemon Cakes.—Rub together in a dry state three-quarters of a pound of flour, two ounces of butter, then add three-quarters of a pound of pounded sugar, the juice and rind of one lemon and two eggs; mix well together with half a wineglassful of brandy, and make into small cakes, which is the small cakes halfs in the smal and make into small cakes; bake in time (previously buttered) for about 20 minutes Ginger Cakes .- Beat to a cream half pound of butter with four eggs, add half a pound of flour, half a pound of powdered loaf sugar, two ounces powdered ginger; mix these in by degrees; roll out, and to the thickness of about a quarter of an inch cut into biscuits with a tin cutter; bake in a rather cool oven for tweety minutes. a rather cool oven for twenty minutes. Lemon Turnovers .- Three dessertspo fuls of flour, one of powdered sugar, rind of one lemon, two ounces of butter, two eand a little milk. Mix the flour, sugar a the grated rind of lemon with the milk the consistency of butter, then add the egr well beaten and the butter melted some tin saucers, po

TAKING COLD.

An Old Soldier Relates His Experience During the War.

Writing to the Scientific American from incinnati, Andrew Van Bibber says Cincinnati, Andrew Van Bibber Bays. Reading in a recent issue of your paper an Reading in a recent issue of your paper an article of Dr. Brown Sequard on "Taking Cold," it occurred to me that colds are peculiar to civilized life and to our com-fortable, warm rooms. I have had colds as requently perhaps as any one, but during me period of my life I was entirely free from them, with one exception. I served through the war in the Fifth Ohio cavalry, beginning at Shiloh and ending my service with the march to the sea. We were an active regiment, always at the front and therefore always remarkably unencumbered with tents or comforts. We were exposed to all weathers and all seaexposed to all weathers and all seasons. Many a time we were rained on for a week or more. When the sun came out the next week or the week after, it dried us. Many a time, long after dark, after a march in rain and mud all day, we have been filed into miry woods, where we slept in the rain with the running water wash-ing between us and our blankets. I have seen men wake in the morning with their hair frozen in the mud. But none of us caught cold. We swam the Tennessee river after midnight, when the mercury was at zero and among floating ice and came out with our clothes to our armpits frozen like sheet iron and then marched till morning. In the cold winter of 1863-34, we were in the mountainous country of East Tennessee, where it is as cold as Ohio. We were there from November until Aarch, without any tents or shelter until arch, without any tents or shelter of any kind, moving every day and sleeping in a different place every night, with the temperature frequently below zero. I have, with my comrades, ridden upon the skirmish line when I could not lift a cartridge out of my box, nor even pick up a carbine cap. I have been on night pickets, mounted, when the pickets had to be relieved every fifteen minutes because if relieved every fifteen minutes, because if left longer the men could not load and fire. But we never caught the slightest cold, nor did I ever in times of cold and exposure to wet see a soldier with a cold. But I did catch one cold in the army, and I never had such a one before or since. It came from excessive comfort, or what seemed comfort excessive comfort, or what seemed comfort to us. We were at Camp Davies, Miss., the southern outpost of the great fortress of Corinth. Having been there some months, we began to build neat log cabins, with openings for doors and windows—no glass or doors, of course. One of our mess being a young bricklayer, we thought to surprise our neighbors in style and confort, and we sent for brick, and het built us a large chimney and fire-place, and we built a good fire. That settled us. Four of us had to go to the hospital with tremendous colds on our chests and in our heads. We never had such heavy colds in our lives. This was about the middle of our three years of ser-vice, and before and after that I never saw in exposed soldier with a cold. Of course few days after our cabins were finished we got marching orders. I believe all old soldiers will bear me out that in active campaigns, where there was great exposure to the weather, no one had a cold. come to think of it, in my experiences in Colorado and Utah, in recent years, I never saw an Indian with a cold, though hey stand more exposure than our cattle It is our hot rooms that give us our colds. If a person would camp out from fall till spring, exposed to the weather of a severe winter, he would never take either a cold, pleurisy or pneumonia, and would be absolutely free from them. But when you are in Rome you must do as the Romans do, and take warm rooms and colds.

A KING IN HIS CRADLE.

The Little Pink-Toed Twenty-Pounder a The baby king of Spain is a fine, hand-months-old Alphonso XIII. should be treated with the most rigid ceremony, his mother will never call him "the king" unless on very strict State occasions, but uses the simple term of "my child." His Majesty has his own vast suite of apartments next to those of the Oueen Regent. ments next to those of the Queen Regent; and a special guard keeps his bed room door at night. His foster mother, the sturdy peasant Raymunda, feeds and amuses the baby; but he is washed and dressed according to traditional ceremony by a bevy of ladies of honor, under the direction of his "governess," who held that same office towards his father. Doctors visit the baby twice daily, and every day he drives out with his governess and Raymunda—sometimes with the Queen. In court ceremonies Raymunda must not In court ceremonies Raymunda must not carry the king; that is the duty of the Mistress of the Robes or of his aunt, the Infanta Isabella. Queen Christina is a most devoted mother, spending all her time with her boy, and the Infanta Isabella is equally attached to her nephew.—

London Graphic.

The Greatest Men.

was recently offered by th NOISO JOUR Breatest living men.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL VIDENCE.

Boy, a Man, a Gu

No matter how strong may be to n a chain of circumstar a evidend in a chain of circumstar levidence there is always a doubt, a lact certainty, that should weaken it and cause us to distrust it. I remember a story my grandfather used to tell of a case in which an innoce.: life was sacrificed for a guilty person. boy on a farm, for some misdemeancr, was sentenced by his father, a stern man with sentenced by his father, a stern man with an eye to saving a half price ticket, to be deprived of his annual circus privilege, and, in addition, he was to hoe so many row of corn while the rest of the family tool in the lady's pad act, the bare back riding of Jack Robinson, the club that killed Caption Cook and other attractions of the great provided the work. could be worked without detection. could be worked without detection. But he graw hungry after awhile and went into the lews and investigated the pantry. There were seven pies—it was an American household—seven blackberry pit baked for Sunday. The boy, who was not feeling very well himself, soon plated his person anterior to six of the pits. but paused thoughtfully, and with keepinger. paused thoughtfully, and with Reenright.

midway on the seventh. One half is the the left. He then caught the family cat, thrust her nose and feet into the remains of the pie, and dropped her on the klern, white sanded floor of the pantry that significant the sanded floor of the pantry that significant is the sanded floor of th white sanded floor of the pantry thit is a might track around on it. Then hewen back to his corn rows. Evening bright the family home. The boy saw them dist joyously out of the big waggon. He may how the overripe apples fell from the when his sister jumped over the side and lighted flat-footed on the ground. If saw his father let himself distributed over the double-trees and get him is kicked twice by the roan colt. He kicked twice by the roan colt. He kicked twice was the saw his mother waiting patiently until say his mother waiting patiently until section body had time and inclination to take hababy. He saw his grandmother perchiself on the hub of the lind wheel on the foot, while she made vague, circumferent l, wandering excursions for the wide, who world with the other. He saw his brothers let themselves down over the tailgate and sneak away to avoid doing any work. It last the waggon was empty, and there were visible signs of excitement about the horse. "The raid is discovered," said the beg. cutting the roots of a healthy stalk of cor and carefully hilling up a vigorous lag weed. Presently he saw his father conduct of the house with the gun over the shoulder and the cat under his arm. culprit is arrested," calmly remarked the young robber, as he leaned thoughtfully upon his hoe, and watched his father dis-appear behind the barn. The sharp report another victim to circumstantial evidence -Bob Burdette. Death of a Man Rescued by Grace Darling.

of a gun rang out upon the quiet of the sun-set hour. "There," said the boy, with the confident expression of one who knows what he is talking about, "there goes

On Tuesday, in the little village conetery of Whitburn, the grave closed over the remains of James Nicolson, who was perhaps the only remaining survivor of the circ of the steamer Forfarshire, who were so gal-lantly rescued by the English herone, Grace Darling, in 1838. Nicolson was then a young man of 22, and acted as fireign on board the steamer, when she was wrecked on the Farne Islands. If was not inclined to be very communicative on the subject of the disaster, and never recalled the subject without being deeply affected by the recollection of the sufferings he and his fellows endured on that terrible night. It was gathered from him that for three hours he hung on to a rope, using his teeth and nails as in a death-grip. He afterwards got a footing on the rock, and on exploring it in the darkness was gladdened by finding a sea-fowl's nest containsome child who enjoys robust health, and does credit to the immense amount of care with which he is surrounded. Though court etiquette requires that the six months-old Alphonso XIII. should be devouring element would not reach them. lows. They "thought it was an angel, and this sufficiently indicates the severa strain their minds had endured through the long, dark hours of night. After the occurrence Nicolson gave up the sea. He was twice married, and is survived by a rown-up family.

A Mayor Honored.

One of the penalties of greatness is 110 obligation of sharing one's name with a new invention or fashion. Broughen gave his name to a vehicle, Wellington to Loots, and the late Premier to a bag; but all this is nothing to the fate of the Mayor of Bolton. A lioness in a menagetic stocatly gave birth to three cubs at Bolton, and, as s often the case with the human race, lifficulty arose as to naming the proprietor) and another Comn.c ie instance, let us sav. vho dropped in to asynche says: The schooner C. Gr. as wrecked last Monday night in a gale cf. Dover West, and her crew of sxmen wers blived to have perished. This evening, however, three of the crew reached Halifax and reported that two more of their number were at Dover being card for till they recover from the injuries and exhaustion consequent more their fiers. and exhaustion consequent upon their fierce struggle with the elements. The survivor ate that the schooner struck about 10 clock at night, and the foremast fell against the cliff, resting on a ledge about thirty feet above the deck. Five of themen clambered above the deck. Five of the men clambered up the mast and reached the narrow ledge on which it rested. The sixth and missing man was the captain. He was last seen to enter the cabin, and it is thought that after leaving it he fell through the deck and hurt himself so badly as to be unable to move. The five on the rock had barely reached their place of refuge when the schooner parted and was washed out of sight. From the ledge the men clambered to the top of the rock, where they remained until Wed. the rock, where they remained until Wednesday morning, half clothed and without shelter, food or water. The storm continued throughout all this time and the the people on the shore who knew of the wreak to make a search. On Wednesday morning, the sea having calmed down, bott crews put off from the land. The n m on the rock attracted their attention ard lines being thrown to them they were dagged through the water into the boats. Al were fearfully exhausted from their eposure to the elements, and had they no compelled to remain in their terrible sition a few hours longer all would have grished. The mate, James Watt, was so or gone that his life was despaired of, but e is now rallying and will recover in ime. He is being taken care of at a house n Dover, where another of his comrades also remains until he is able to proceed to

A VICTIM OF THE EARTHQUAKE.

Discovery of an Almost Naked Mar Wandering Amid Mountain Snows. A Wolf Creek (Tenn.) despatch says: George Caldwell, while bear-hunting a few days ago on Balsam Mountain, one of the highest mountains in North Caroling discovered a man almost naked wandering aimlessly around in the snow, which was nearly two feet deep, and eight miles from the nearest habitation. On seeing Cald-well he started to run, but was easily overtaken and captured. His clothing was found to consist of a flannel undershirt, which was forn into shreds, and one shee. His feet were frostbitten and legs fearfully scratched by briars. He is a veritable living skeleton. Fy securing his hands Caldwell succeeded it taking him to his house. All efforts to tet him to tell his name or to get from him intelligent account of himself have so any intelligent account of himself have so far failed. When spoken to he becomes violent, tries to get away, and talks de-liriously about being a fireman on an engine in Charleston when the big shake engine in Charleston when the big shake dame. His mind seems entirely gone, and he will only sleep when completely exhausted by his rayings. It is with difficulty he can be made to take nourishment. It is supposed he was crazed by the earthquake shock of August 31st, and wandered to the mountains, but how he has lived this long is a mystery. Caldwell is taking care long is a mystery. Caldwell is taking care of him and will take steps to restore him to Cowardly Murder of a Manin a Saloon-A Dagger Plunged Into his Heart.

STABBED TO DEATH.

A Chicago despatch says: Early yester-day morning John Watts, a well-known character about the docks, entered Wilson's liquor store, corner of South Water and Clark streets, accompanied by a male companion and two women. The quartette entered a wine-room in the rear. Shortly afterwards three men entered the saloon, m had a badly bruised face and eyes. This one listened at the door of the wine-room, and then, turning to his com-panions, said: "Now I'm going to do him up." With that he drew a long dirk and stepped to the wine-room door. Pushing it open, he saw John Watts sitting with his back to him, and, without a word of warn-ing, the murderer bent over the unsuspect-ing man's shoulder and plunged the dagger up to the hilt into his heart. Jerking his weapon out, he ran through the door, followed by his chums, and escaped. Watts rolled from his chair, with a wine-glass clutched between his fingers, and died. His friend immediately left the saloon, but the women were locked in a cell at the armory, where they are playing drunk and feigning ignorance of the whole transac

A BURKE AND HARE CASE.

Old People Killed and Their Bodies Sold to the Doctors,

A Baltimore despatch says: The trial of Anderson Perry, colored, for the murder of Emily Brown was continued in the Crimal Court vesterlay. The avidence dispatch says: A large trunk shipped by express from New York, and directed to "J. N. Wilson," this city, arrived on Supplay. The avidence dispatch says: A large trunk shipped by express from New York, and directed to "J. N. Wilson," this city, arrived on Supplay. wn was continued in the Crim-yesterday. The evidence dis-bith of crime unparallelled in the of the city or State, ho was employed in pal Court vesterday. The evidence dis-Maryland '

CHEAP FOR CASH.

An Entire Family Sold by a Pennsy

vanian for $90-The Wife Satisfied A Wilkesbarre, Pa., despatch says: Th llage of Nanticoke is in a fever of excite ment over a startling affair which has just taken place. John Wayrick came to the United States from Germany twenty years ago, and found employment in one of the Pansylvania coal mines. By industry and found from the coal mines. fragality he managed to accumulate money He married a buxom lass from his own native land and six children blessed the union. About three years ago Wayrick took to drinking, lost his lucrative position in the mines, his property was sold by the sheriff to pay his debts, and the wife was compelled to keep boarders in order to feed the children. Through the influence of friends, Wayrick was a pranaded to relinquish his bad influence of friends, Wayrick was igrauaded to relinquish his bad habits. On the first of the new year he swore off drinking and was given a job in the mines. All the neighborhood congratulated themselves on the wonderful reform worked in the heretofore hard-hearted husband. Wayrick is now on his road west, however. Having fallen again he bought a ticket for Chicago on Saturday. On Friday he sold his whole family to one of his boarders. Philip Maner, for day. On Friday he sold his whole family to one of his boarders, Philip Mauer, for the sum of $90, $50 for the wife, and $20 apiece for the two boys, aged 14 and 12. Mauer refused to pay anything for the four younger children, as he said they would be a burden on his hands. The original contract was that Mauer was to give his three younger children to his sister for safe keeping, and Mauer pay him $150 for the wife and other children, who were old enough to work, but in consideration of Mauer this work, but in consideration of Mauer taking the whole family, a reduction of $60 was allowed. Mrs. Wayrick says she is satis-fied with the bargain, as Mauer is a sober man and will be good to them. Wayrich was once a member of the Town Council and an influential man.

MOLTKE AND WELLINGTON.

Herr Richter Puts Civil Liberties Befor

A Berlin cable says: The new German Liberals of the second Berlin district met yesterday for the purpose of deciding on their action in the coming election for the member of the Reichstag. Three thousand electors attended. It was resolved to support Prof. Virchow against Gen. von Moltke's candidate. Herr Richter, in his speech advocating this policy, admitted the personal merits of Gen. von Moltke as Superintendent; but, he contended, it was lot the duty of the electors to provide that s not the duty of the electors to provide that the military interests of the Empire should be strongly represented in the Reichstag, but rather to elect to that body those who could and would defend the civil interests of the people, to the end that there might be a proper equalization of the civil and military 'claims put forth. The views of eminent civilians should be recognized in opposition to a one-sided military view. When the Duke of Wellington, continued Herr Richter, utilized his military glory and his personal merits to override the constitution of England, Englishmen defautted and the constitution of England, Englishmen defautted and the constitution of the control of the c antly declared that though he had been ictorious in Spain and at Waterloo he hould not be victorious against the people f England. In like manner Gen. von oltke, though he had been victorious over Austria and over France, should not be permitted to be victorious against the citi-

CRUEL CHICAGO EVICTIONS. An American Railroad Company Worse Than Irish Landlords.

A Chicago despatch says: The Chicago Hilwaukee & St. Paul Railway has of late geold fra kept men busy tearing down some old frame houses on North Green street, near its right of way, in order to made room for a proposed new freight-house. It is said that esterday morning, without warning, workrances which exist to cheap and rapid transfer of land, to facilitate the provision of allotments for small householders, and provide for a readier sale of Glebel ands. They had seven children, the oldest not more than 11 years of age. Suddenly the street of the sum of the lamentable depression of allotments for small householders, and provide for a readier sale of Glebel ands. The Commission which I issued in 1885 to inquire into the lamentable depression of the lamentable d than 11 years of age. Suddenly the steps were cut down, and the Walsh and Cummings families begged that they be left until they had removed their furniture. The workmen, however, did not even put up a ladder to aid them in getting out. The men succeeded in cutting the foundations so that the building was seen to rock, and then came down with a crash, completely demolishing the under story. Mrs. Cummings, who had climbed out, dragged Mary Maggie and Annie Gillespie from the debric of the first floor. All these sustained bumps

ANOTHER "MAXWELL" CASE.

Headless Trunk Discovered in a Trunk

THE IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT

Speeches by All the Big Parliamentary Guns.

TEXT OF THE QUEEN'S SPEECH

Further Repressive Measures for Ireland Promised. A London cablegram of last Thursday says: Parliament was opened to-day. The following is the Queen's Speech: My Lords and Gentlemen :

My relations with all foreign Powers ar Any relations with all foreign Powers are friendly. Affairs in southeastern Europe are still unsyttled, but I do not apprehend that any disturbance of European peace will result from the unadjusted controversies which have arisen in that region. While deploring the events which compelled Prince Alexander to retire from the Bulgarian throne. I have not indeed it examples Prince Alexander to retire from the Bulgarian throne, I have not judged it expedient to interfere in the proceedings for the election of his successor until they reach the stage at which my assent is required by the Berlin Treaty.

The task undertaken by my Government in Egypt has not yet been accomplished, but substantial advance has been made towards the assurance of external and internal tranquility.

Operations in Burmah have been conducted with bravery and skill for the puructed with bravery and skill for the pur-ose of extirpating brigandage, which has rown during recent years of misgovern-nent. The bands of marauders by whom pper Burmah has long been infested have been dispersed. Many of the leaders have laid down their arms, and I entertain a confident hope that the general pacification of the country will be effected during the resent season

Commercial treaties have been concluded with Greece and Roumania. entlemen of the House of Commons

The estimates will be submitted to you careful regard to the economy and fliciency of the public service.

My Lords and Gentlemen The condition of Ireland still requires your anxious attention. Grave crimes in that country have happily been rarer in the last few months than during a similar period of the preceding year; but the relations between the owners and occupiers of the land which, in the early autumn, exhibited signs of improvement, have since been seriously disturbed in some districts by organized attempts to incite the latter class to combine against the fulfilment of their legal obligations. The efforts of the Government to cope with this evil have been seriously impeded by the difficulties incident to the method at present prescribed by statute for dealing with such offences. Your early attention with such offences. ing with such offences. Your early attention will be called to proposals for a reform of legal procedure which seem necessary to secure the prompt and efficient administration of the criminal law.

Since I last addressed you the Commissioners directed to inquire into certain subjects of great importance to the national welfare of Ireland have been actively prosecuting their labors. The record of the ecuting their labors. The report of the commission on the operation of recent Acts lealing with the tenure and purchase of and will shortly be laid before you, and will doubtless receive from you that early and careful attention which the serious in and careful attention which the scrious importance of the subject demands.

Bills for the improvement of Local Government in England and Scotland will be laid before you. Should the circumstances render it possible they will be followed by a measure dealing with the same subject in Ireland.

A Bill for improving and cheaponing the

A Bill for improving and cheapening the process of Private Bill legislation for Engand, Scotland and Ireland will be sub

You will be asked to consider measures rances which exist to cheap and rapid been suffering for many years have pre-sented a valuable report, which, with the mportant evidence collected, will be laid

A Bill for altering the mode of levying ithes in England and Wales will be sub-

With regard to Scotland, you will be asked to consider measures for the reform of the Universities, for completing recent legislation as to powers of the Secretary for Scotland and for amending the procedure of Criminal Courts

Scotland and for amending the procedure of Criminal Courts.

Measures dealing with the regulation of railway rates and preventing fraudulent use of merchandise marks will be brought under your consideration.

In the performance of these and all other momentous duties, I earnestly pray that the blessing of Almighty God may attend your labors. THE SCENE AT THE OPENING.

of the Central district were notified. The trunk, when opened, revealed the body of a man with the feet and legs and left arm cut off.

As early as 8 o'clock this morning members, began to arrive in the House of Commons so as to secure good scats. The first to appear was Mr. Selwyn, Conservative member for Cambridgeshire. The scenes at the opening of Parliament were duller than usual. The crowds about the buildings showed little if any enthusian, and the members were equidently. n, and the members were evidently regards the future. Lord oveted seat too great for a time of peace. It has been said that I resigned in haste. The fact is that there were differences between myself and my colleagues in the Cabinet almost from the beginning of the present Government. (Cheers and laughter.) As I did not desire to remain wrangling in the Cabinet, I asked to be allowed to retire, unless the Government expenses were reduced within absolute peace limits. The Marquis of Salisbury wrote in response to my request, defending the estimates in the face of possible war, as he said. There was no course left open for me but to write my resignation, stating that I desaid that I resigned in haste. The fact i write my resignation, stating that I de-clined to be a party in the game for the high and desperate stakes other nations were playing for, and I have seen no reason since to regret the step I took." (Cheers.)

In conclusion, Lord Randolph, whose speech lasted forty minutes, quoted from his last letter to Lord Salisbury the statement that he left the Cabinet with regret, out without misgiving or hesitation.

Mr. W. H. Smith said the Cabinet tried to retain Lord Randolph, whose action is was thought might have been modified it time had been allowed to discuss the differ nce, which was susceptible of acco The subject was then dropped.

Mr. Gladstone rose and delivered an eulogy on the Earl of Iddesleigh, whom he said he had the honor to introduce into public life. Mr. Gladstone said the sentinents of sorrow for the Earl's death were miversal, and were based on the sterling nerits of the man. Viscount Weymouth Conservative) then moved the address in ceply to the Speech.

Mr. Gladstone applauded what he called Lord Randolph Churchill's sacrifices in the behalf of sound economic policy and the udicious mode in which he proposed to apply the principles he advocated. He Gladstone) found no fault with the Governnent's foreign policy, but he thought Salis-oury's Mansion House speech was calculated to raise apprehension and the country was entitled to be reassured. He objected to the severance of the Treasury portfolio from the Premiership, the former being practically a sinecure. He also objected to combination of the offices of Premier and Foreign Secretary, which made a man responsible for the dict tion of momentous foreign despatches. It was most important that this dual action should be maintained as a security alike for the Sovereign, the Cabinet and the country—that is, that the foreign policy be conducted jointly by the Premier and the Foreign Secretary. Reerring to the Canadian fisheries quest ne said he trusted the papers on the subj would speedily be presented to the House He said he thought England and Scotlan very justly complained of the Irish mono poly of the time of Parliament, but he eared there was small likelihood of remedy being found. He was ready to be en to one that the Local Governmen question would not be settled this session The Government, he said, also proposed the leal with the criminal law in Ireland although they tried to make is sound better by using the term procedure. It was gratifying, he conjugated to be the leave of the lea inued, to hear that crime was rare in Ircland, but in regard to the allusion the inciting of tenants against landlord greatly lamented the fact that th Queen had not expressed regret at the ecent lamentable evictions in Kerry. The oor people thus treated were unable to ay their rents, and the attempts made as st session to relieve such cases had be astrated by the Government. Althou ir Michael Hicks-Beach had bee ir Michael Hicks-Beach had been "exer-sing pressure" upon landlords with the iew of modifying proceedings in cases of eccssity, yet despite this evictions have ontinued, and nobody can tell how many hore are in store. In conclusion, Mr. ladstone said he hoped the sanguine ex-ectations of the Royal Speech would b In the House of Lords the Earl of Erne oved the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

he disclosed the fact that the Government intended again to introduce a Coercion Bill. The Government could not be acquitted of responsibility for the carrying on of the Plan of Campaign, for they had delayed denouncing it when they knew i was illegal. They had also refused to stop evictions by the measure brought into the House of Commons. Referring to the fact that the Marquis of Salisbury had two Cabinet offices, that of Prime Minister and that of Minister of Foreign Affairs, at tl same time, Lord Granville said it was bad for the country, for the Sovereign and for the Cabinet, besides being unfair to the Marquis himself.

Lord Salisbury opened the debate for the Government by alluding to the resignation of Lord Randolph Churchill, saying the Government were sensible of the loss they had sustained through his resignation. The Premier said, however, that he thought the execution of Lord Randolph Churchill's policy at the present time would inflict an injury on the public service, because it was a time when no one could tell what crisis might happen. The Marquis said hehoped the Conservatives would soon again have the 'advantage of Lord Randolph Churchill's services. Continuing, Lord Salisbury said that a most unjust reference had been made to the Conservative action. Premier said, however, that he thought the had been made to the Government's actio had been made to the Government's action toward the Plan of Campaign, The Irish Executive, he declared, had taken the promptest legal measures against the Plan of Campaign. The party really responsible for the origin of the plan and any success it had obtained was that section of the Liberal party which relied for its strongest supmort upon the Irish party and the leadsupport upon the Irish party, and the leaders of which did not think it their dury to denounce a scheme of deliberate Government we

ALIVE IN HER COFFIN.

Baby's Timely Notice to Her Parent That She Was Not Ready to be Buried.

A Louisville despatch says: Two months ago William Sperinfogel, a stone mas: n, came to this city with his wife and their two children, and moved into a little cottage cn Fetter street. On Wednesday night their younger child, a little girl nearly a year old, was taken sick with convulsions, and on Thursday night to all appearances she died. A neighbor assisted the mother in preparing the body for burial while Sperinfogel went to the nearest undertaker's and bought a cheap coffin. Yesterday they started in a hack for the St. Louis Cemetery, and when they had nearly reached it a peculiar noise, which was at first thought to be the creaking of the carriage wheels, was noticed. A moment later, it was live and the streaking of the carriage wheels, was noticed. A Louisville despatch says: Two months was a first filogon to be the creating of the carriage wheels, was noticed. A moment later it was discovered that the noise came from the little coffin. The father, tearing off the lid, found the baby alive. She was carried back to their home in her father's arms, and now lies scemingly dead with the exception of an occasional moan. Several physicians visited the house last night, but made no fort to explain the condition of the child while it was being prepared for burial. None believe that it will live, but all unite in saying that the case is a very peculiar Latest Scottish News.

Colonel Mackenzie, Fortrose, has left 2500 to the Northern Infirmary, and £2,000 to the University of Aberdeen for two bur saries for boys of the name of Mackenzie.

On the 12th inst., Dr. Robert Beveridge Aberdeen, died very suddenly. He called at a friend's house, when he was seized with illness and expired almost immeat a friend's ho diately.

The Queen's Remembrancer had decided retain as "Treasure Trove" the 12,000 silver coins of the 13th century recently found in the premises of Mr. Thomson, Aberdeen, but is to allow him the value of 300 ounces of silver. A portrait of Professor Edward Caird was, on the 8th inst., presented to the Senate of the Glasgow University by former students and other friends. Sir W. Thomson presided and Mr. James A. Campbell, M.P., made the gresentation. Glasgow is called the second city of the In 1881 when the census was mpire. taken it was found that there were 705,109 people in Glasgow and suburbs, and 681,93 in Liverpool and suburbs; the population of Glasgow is now fully 770,000. Agnes Gilchrist, widow of Rev. Arch. Craig, Mount Carmel, Ind., who died there recently, was a native of Kilmarnock, and her husband was one of the most prominent of the old Radicals of Kilmarnock and his name is one of those inscribed or the Reformers' Monument in Kay Park. Dollar has lost a well-known resident by he death of Mr. James Wardlaw, iron-nonger. Deceased was never married, and monger. Deceased was never married, and belonged to the Pitreavie family, being cousin to Sir Henry Wardlaw, Bart., of Tillicoultry. He was a quaint humorist, and was fond of relating reminiscences of Canada, in which country he for severa rears resided. The late Sir James Dalrymple-Horn The late Sir James Dalrymple-Horn-Elphinstone was in his day a well-known and familiar figure at Westminster. He had the appearance of a flourishing farmer, but he had been a satior in his youth and twice represented Portsmouth in Parliament. He was reputed to be a great authority on all naval matters and spoke frequently and freely about everything directly and indirectly concerning the sea.

The death was appropriate on the St.

The death was announced on the ast. of Rev. James Beattie, of Cupar Fife inst. of Rev. James Beattle, of Cupar Fife, in his 91st year. He was born in Inver-keillour, Forfarshire, in April, 1796. Mr. Beattie was the author of "The History of the Church of Scotland during the Com-monwealth." He is survived by two sons ministers of the Free Church—namely, Rev. James Beattie, Australia, and Rev. W. D. Beattie, Monimail, Fifeshire.

Latest From Ireland. The Belfast Police Force has been in-reased to eight hundred men.

Mr. Michael Eagan, of Derrinakane, parish of Oakfield, county Clare, died on Jan. 3rd, aged 105 years.

The marble statue of the late Lord O'Hagan by Thomas Farrell, R. H. A., is finished, and ready to be placed in the hall of the Eour Courts. Dublin of the Four Courts, Dublin.

On Jan. 6th Ald. McCorkell died at his residence, Richmond. Mr. McCorkell was head of the well-known shipping firm bearng the name. He was several times Mayor f Derry.

The Lord-Lieutenant has declined to grant his County Down tenants any abatement, but has expressed his willingness to sell at a reasonable rate. The tenants have offered a fifteen years' purchase.

The Primate of All Ireland has issued letter calling for the raising of a memorial fund to commemorate the Queen's jubilee year in accordance with a recent resolu-

Modern Jenny Gedd news to vs the Greenock Tele met with a po

PRETTY WOMEN IN LONDON.

Lady Colin Campbell a Target for Many Curious Glances. n Madge in London Truth.) Lady Colin Campbell was conspicuous among the celebrities of the Grosvenor Gallery private view. It was quite amusing to see how the people came up in twos and threes to stare at her as she stood talking to Mr. Whistler, till at last they accumulated and became quite a lense crowd. Lady Colin looks as though all the staring of theworld could not for single instant disturb her self-possession. Her fine figure was well displayed in a beautifully-made dress of dark red-brown cloth and plush. Her bonnet was one of those very fashionable but very ugly ones which ascend in a steep slope from the back. Her earrings were the envy of every dispersed learnings were the envy of every dispersed to the steep slope. iamond-lover in the room. They wer arge single stones of the first water, and they shone and glittered temptingly in the brilliant light. Lady Colin was with her father, Mr. Blood. Lady Randolph Churchill, in subdued tones of brown and beaver, shone star-like among the crowd of gazers. She was with an elderly lady who must once have been almost as pretty as she herself.

There were few pretty growns, but many magnificent mantles. Two or three cos-tumes wholly red, usually unpardonable, were quite forgivable in the state of the atmosphere. They warmed one up to look at them. A lady in a well-cut redingote of light checkered cloth and a distressingly small waist puzzled everybody. "Has she dyed her hair then?" was the question asked by all who saw her. Two lovely girls in sombre seed and force with beautiful in sombre seal and furs, with beautiful gold-brown hair falling round their child-faces, were followed by a buzz of admiration. There were many pretty women. A few wild heads lent added value to the neat. A gown and bonnet of ruby velvet, trimmed with costly sable-tail, caused pangs of envy in many a breast; but few would have changed identity with the vearer.

One or two actresses stood near us as we sat. They unconsciously pitched their voices so as to be heard by many, even when they addressed the individual only. The genial journalist was in great form. I heard him accuse a lady of being a captain of heavy drgoons. Hedeclared he had seen the spurs under her gown. Perhaps she wears steel "tips" to her heels. That always gives a military ring to the footfall. One or two actresses stood near us as we ceding Precious Gems to a Dog and The Killing the Dog-Other Tricks.

CLEVER DIAMOND THIEVES.

Killing the Dog—Other Tricks.

Although there is a considerable and lever detective staff on the diamond fields, here are those at Kimberley who can out it the police, at any rate for a time, and the police, at any rate for a time, and the police is the police. to it happens that such a number of stores annually stolen as to prove a factor i disturbing the market price, says "Chamers' Journal." The chances of detection are no doubt great; but the hope of secur-ing a few hundred pounds by a little pecu-lation is so tempting that there are always hundreds of men at "the game. Some of the thieves—that is, the men who steal the tones they are paid for unearthing-dis play great ingenuity in carrying away th gems. The business of diamond-diggin is naturally of a rough-and-ready kind and presents opportunities for fraud which are not available in other industries. When diamond stealing first became a business those interested. specting no evil, were easily cheated Stones were then carried away correaled about the person of the laborers. But as the thefts increased greater precautions were taken to insure the detection of the thieves. Some of the "dodges" which have been every the "dodges" which have been resorted to in order to carr diamonds from the diggings have been n a little remarkable. We have only root however, for a sample or two. Upon o occasion it is related that an ingenio Upon or laborer wrapped the stones in a small piece of soft bread, the morsel being greedily snapped by a dog. The dog was carefully looked after till the mine was left behind, when it was ruthlessly killed to obtain the hidden diamonds in its stomach. Domest hidden diamonds in its stomach. Domestic fowls have been trained to swallow the smaller stones, which have afterward been cut out of their crops. A parcel of stolen gens has been known to have been got out of a well-watched digging by having been ingeniously fastened to the hair of a horse's tail

Poor Birdie ! The vanishing bird-cage trick, which was

The vanishing bird-cage trick, which was done some years ago, required great strength on the part of the magician, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. Contrary to the general impression, which was that the cage was made entirely of rubber, it was composed of strong steel bars, at the joints of which were powerful springs. The cage was held in the magician's hands, with the live bird twittering between its wires. ive bird twittering between its wires, un conscious of the cruel fate that awaited it.
Often the magician went down into the audience and gave people a close inspection of the cage, which he always held between year in accordance with a recent resolution of the Archbishops and Bishops. He advises that a general synod should decide the shape of the memorial.

It is proposed to organize a national pilgrimage from Ireland to Rome on the occasion of the Golden Jubilee of the Pope next year. A similar pilgrimage has not taken place since 1698. A deputation of priests and laity will probably wait on Archbishop Walsh in Dublin shortly to obtain his sanction.

Of the cage, which he always held between the palms of his hands, using all the cape in the stage, he faced the audience, telling them to keep their eyes on the cage. This they did, but to no avail. With a light inuscular movement of the arms, and the usual "one two pany from the cage and the latter, with its crushed and mangled little victim, was gone, no or where the palms of his hands, using all the palms of his arms of his hands, using all the palms of his arms of his hands, using all the palms of h acerations and bruises to his arm, and as he bowed and smiled it back under his

And the soft night winds are whist,
As though some s. irit were hovering nes
In folds of dream-like mist,
And I feel, though mortals are nowhere ne
That I am not quite alone,
And with gloomy thoughts of dying and dead
My heart grows cold as stone.

But whether 'tis death that hovers near,
And kneeks at the door of my heart,
Or whether 'tis some bright angel come To be of my life a part cannot tell, and I long in vain
The secret strange to know,
While the moments of mirth, and grief, and pain
Move on in their ceaseless flow.

And at night when I kneel to a Higher Power

And ask His tender care,
One yearning cry of a wayward life
Is the burthen of my prayer;
That I may bend, with willing lips,
To kiss the chastening r d,
And learn the way through the golden gate
To the great white thrue o. God.

—James Clarence Harrey.

THE DAY AFTER.

What May Happen to a Young Man Who Indulges Too Freely.

It was the day after New Year's, says the San Francisco Chronicle. He came up full of affected enthusiasm and affection, for of anected enthusiasm and anection, for his head was big enough for a No. 25¾, but she must not know it. She entered e room and greeted him coldly

"My darling," he said, "is this how greet me on the New Year? What' atter ? "Mr. Simpson," she said, "all is over etween us. "What—what have I done?"

"Mr. Simpson, I have loved you devotedly, assionately, for six months and three days. naturally have permitted all those chaste liberties which engaged people concede to one another, but I cannot overlook your onduct yesterday."

Then he began to try and think back. I am told that it is one of the hardest things in the world to do to think back over New n the wo. Year's day.

"My conduct!"
"Yes, Mr. Simpson. You were ast night.' " Oh, come, Lucinda.

was quite sober, inde you know that when you left,

My se. and their own, together wa paying for all the

A man can keep house sple cents a day in Persia.—Letter Thoughtful Santa Claus

Little Dot-Did your mamma hang er stocking Christmas?

Little Dick—No; did yours?

"Yes; I didn't see it, but she said sh

What did Santa Claus put in it?"
A real, live baby."—Omaha World.

You Can't Read This

without wishing to investigate, if you are wise. Send your address to Hallett & Co., Portland, Maine, and you will receive, free, full information about work that you can do, and live at home, wherever you are located at which you can earn from $5 to $25 and upwards daily. Some have earned over $90 in a day. Capitalnot required; you are started free. All is new, Both sexes; all ages. Snug little fortunes await all workers.

Herr Krupp pays tax on an income of $1,250,000 a year. There is money for some people in the armed-camp condition of Europe.

Tender Corns,

Soft corns, corns of all kinds removed with-out pain or sore spots by Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Thousands testify that it is certain, painless and prompt. Do not be imposed upon by substitutes offered for the genuine "Putnam's" Extractor. Sure, safe, harmless

Just what France wants to go to war for s not very clear. From the 1st of January of the end of June, 1886, there were only four more births than deaths in Paris. In Marseilles, Lyons, Bordeaux, Toulouse and Amiens the number of deaths was largely in excess of births. Peace and matrimony are what France steeds, not war and widow-

I was so bad with lumbago and solare three years ago that I could scarcely ri from a chair or walk, other tree and I was entire

STORIA ETREET, FARMERSVILLE.

TERMS.

ADVERTISING.

JOB WORK.

The Reporter job room is fully equipped with the latest styles of type and presses, and possesses every facility for turning out first-BETHUEL LOVERIN,

THE REPORTER.

FARMERSVILLE, FEB. 9, 1887.

FARMERSVILLE AND VICINITY.

Our Reporter's Note Book Turned Inside Out for the Benefit of the Public.

Municipal Council.

The municipal council meets for the dispatch of township business on Saturday next at 10 a.m.

For coughs, colds and all throat and lung diseases use West's Cough Syrup. All druggists.

Revival Services

The "Savage Band " of evangelists are conducting a series of meetings in Methodist Church. The services ld every evening until further

'- Robinson, con-Railway, have half cash rdy of Walkerton esbyterian pulpit here evening, and also held Monday and Tuesda; verend gentleman is a talented her. The Rev. Mr. Milard,

Lansdowne will preach in the same lace on Sunday evening.

Farmers' Institute. Special attention is directed to Special attention is the public from a serious illness.

The advertisement of the public from a serious illness.

Mr. Geo. M. Bates is at present in Mr. Geo. M. Bates and writes meeting in connection with the large state of the meets Institute for this Electoral Dissection of the Elizabeth city N. Carolina, and writes triet, to be held in Farmersville on that darkies seem to be the principal AGENCY. Monday next. The day named is the product of the State. only one on which the services of those interested in the success or the meeting will give it all the publicity possible, as well as come out to it themselves, as many interesting topics will be presented by the able staff of will be presented by the able staff of the success or the his debts.

The recent thaw flooded the flats and prompt payment of losses the Royal has no equal.

Gibson are managers this season, and Brockville Loan & Savings Co. speakers whose names appear on the charge a small fee for use of the slide. programme.

Correspondents Wanted.

We are anxious to place before our news, and we ask all our friends to furnish us with any items of interest which may occur in their neighbor- BIRTHS, MARRIAGES & DEATHS. hoods, or that happen under their personal observation. It often happens that interesting items do not reach us until after our forms for the week are le up. We cannot be everywhere Junn. find out everything that is going and therefore earnestly request Mi

NOTES AND NEWS.

There was a panic in European stock markets last week, caused by

The British army estimates this year will include the new repeating rifle, the defence of home ports and the equipment of submarine mining corps for the Clyde, Mersey, Tyne, favor him with their patronage corps for the Clyde, Mersey, Tyne, Tay and Severn rivers and Belfast bay. The War and Navy Departments will Strictly in advance, $1.00 per annum, or $1.50 The War and Navy Departments will not paid within six months. No papers thus be enabled to make a concerted thus being a more and the strictly of the strictly in the enabled to make a concerted defines in the enabled to make a concerted the strictly of the strictly in the enabled to make a concerted the strictly in the enabled to make a concerted the strictly in th defence in the emergency of a sudden attack on any of the above ports.

Miss Van Zandt and Anarchist Spies have been married by proxy, the groom being represented at the ceremony by his brother.

The project of building a railway from the Ottawa to Georgian Bay via Renfrew, Eganville, etc., seems to have taken definite shape. The Italian and Abyssinian forces have been defeated by the Arabs in the Soudan, and Italy is greatly excited over the news of the reverse.

The Anticosti Land Company fraud has been fully exposed by the Canada Gazette in London.

The Queen at ended a dramatic performance last Wednesday for the first time since Prince Albert died. The London Standard's Berlin correspondent says that the tension beveen France and Germany is extreme. B. Lawrence, wholesale optician, Montreal, has assigned; liabilities $100,000, assets not known. Canadian creditors only hold $8,000 of the claims. The failure is caused by the suspension of a large English firm.

CURRENT PRICES.

Grain.—Oats, peas and buckwheat are called for. Oats, 30c.; peas, 50 o 55c.; buckwheat, 35 to 40c.

CHEESE. - A few wanted at 12c. BUTTER is in demand, and sells from Se. for fair to 20c. for prime.

Eggs are scarce and bring 18 to 20c. LARD. - There is demand for a quantity at from 10 to 12c. Hipesfetch $4.25 to $525; pelts, 50 to Hay sells from $8 to $9.

MEAT.—Beef, $4 to $5; fresh pork in good demand at $5.50 to $6 for medium size. Pork retails at 8 to 10c. POULTRY.—Chickens are in demand at from 30 to 35c. per pair; ducks, 6 to 7c. per pound. Turkeys are wantto 7c. per pound. T ed at from 8 to 10c.

APPLES .- Cooking, in demand at Apples wanted at from 75 to 80 cts.
POTATOES.—These tubers are in de nand at from 35 to 40c. RUTA BAGAS.—A few bags would find quick sale at 35c.

Onions wanted at 90c to $1

Beans range from $1 to $1.10. Wood.-Dry hard wood, $3; dry oft wood, $2 to $2.25.

Elbe Mills.

Prof. Robertson could be obtained; days last week and cheered the hearts those interested in the success of the his debts.

is West's Liver Pills; they never disappont you. 30 pills 25c. All druggists. repairing the engine and other machinery, to be ready for the spring saw-We are anxious to place before our readers the latest and all the local stays with him as miller.

Wr. Anthony Tripp avoided. isurance, appy to Notices under this head inserted free of Deaths.

-- At Morton, on the 1st inst., Amos

G. Judd, aged 64 years. herefore earnestly request of friends assist us in this residents of Source Crosby, in which township he was born and in which had a home all his life. The occased leaves but one son, Mr. J. C. Judu, and I now have the few was and I now

ELBE MILLS.

THE subscriber has leased the mills this place, and begs to announce to the public that he has thoroughly refitted and repaired the mill and put in

NEW MACHINERY,

Satisfactory Work at Moderate Charges Lumber and Shingle Sawing, Custom Grinding, &c., done in the Best Possible Manner. CHEESE BOXES MANUFACTURED

Flour, Feed, Bran, &c., kept in Stock Constantly. H. R. GORDON.

FARMERSVILLE & MALLORYTOWN

Stage Line

SAM'L L. HUGABOOM, PROP'R.

LEAVES the post office, Farmersville, Mallorytown on arrival of train from west, reaching Farmersville about 7 p. m.
Will wait arrival of Westport stage sengers, if notified in time by

NOTICE.

THE partnership heretofore existing between the undersigned, as general grocers, in the village of Farmersville, has been this day dissolved by mutual conent. All accounts due the late firm must be paid to D. Wiltse at once. Dated the 24th of January, 1887. JAS. ROSS,

D. WILTSE.

THANKING the public for the patronage accorded the late firm, I beg to announce that until further notice I will carry on business in the old stand, where I will keep a first-class stock of new groceries and provisions. The stock of jewellery and nick-nacks, will be sold at cost until all are cleared out, as I intend giving up these branches. I solicit a share of public patronage.

3-7

JAS. ROSS.

FASHIONABLE from 30 to 50 cts. per bushel; Eating DRESSMAKING

MRS. G. A. McCLARY respectfully informs the Ladies of Farmers-ville and vicinity, that she will be pleased to execute for any who may favor her with their patronage, any work in the Dressmaking Line, in Perfect Satisfaction Guaranteed, easonable Prices Residence, Main st., Farmersville, ove . C. Barnett's shoe store.

The Latest and Most Fashionable Styles

FARMERSVILLE

Royal Insurance Company.

A SSETS $27,000,000. Rates as low as

Mr. H. R. Gordon, of Farmersville, CAPITAL $200,000.00. Persons wishing to borrow will find it to their For further particulars as to loans and Farmersville.

TO MY OLD PATRONS AND THE PUBLIC GENERALLY :

A. JAMES.

I BEG to inform you that I have opene out my harness shop in the

and I now have the sem H

He was an Finest Rooms for B the Coi

IS THE RIGHT PLACE TO BUY YOUR TEA

A NICE WAX DOLL Given away with One Pound of Tea

Crockery, China and Glassware SOLD VERY CHEAP.

-Bigg's New block. Sign of the Big--

T. W. DENNIS, BROCKVILLE.

FARMERSVILLE CARRIAGE WORKS.

I am now manufacturing for the winter trade a First Class lot

Latest Style Cutters and Sleighs.

Call and inspect before buying elsewhere. I am better prepared than I have been for any of the past years to give every satisfaction.

at 11.30 a.m., arriving in Malloryown in time to connect with G. T. R. express east and west. Returning, leaves

Special attention paid to Horse Shoeing & Jobbing

Farmersville, Nov. 1836

D. FISHER

We are determined not to be second in our business, but mean to be the first. Our goods are the best in quality and quartity, and will be sold at Low Prices, for Cash, Approved Credit or Farm Produce.

OUR SPECIALTIES: Family Flour, Pastry Flour, Graham Flour, Cracked Wheat, Rolled Oats, Granulated Oatmos! Our Sugars are the Cheapest. Self-praise is no praise; but a trial of our TEAS will do away with any need of our praise. In Coffees we defy conpetition. Half a dozen different kinds to select from, including a ine imported from Botanic Gardens; warranted pure

When you want any and everything in our line for a small sum of money, the place to get it is at

THOMPSON'S GROCERY.

THE GREAT

MAIN SII. FARWERSVILLE

will for the next 90 days offer Great Inducements to purchasers of DRY GOODS, GROCERIES, BOOTS & SHOES RUBBERS, and FANCY GOODS.

wish to reduce our stock before spring preparatory to enlarging our premises. Look for Bargains. We have a few more pairs of thos 4-BUTTON KID GLOVES AT 55 CTS

Secure winter goods while our stock is complete, at low prices.

BROWN & CO.

rs' Institute.

A public meeting in connection with the Farmers' Institute for the Brockville District, will be held in the OLD C. M. CHURCH.

RMERSVILL

Monday, 14th fer

:--: Electric Light :-

BROCKVILLE

ONTARIO. Photographs taken by Daylight or Electric Bromides a Specialty.

Parties wanting photographs enlarged should send them direct to the gallery, as all kinds of work is guaranteed first-class, at lowest Prices. None but fiast-class material used, and first-class artists employed in each depar ment. Those wanting photos, or enlargements should call and inspect our work, as we Advertise Nothing but what we Con do. R. H. GAMBLE, . . Photographer, SUCCESSOR TO A. C. McINTYRE.

FARMERSVILLE

Look out for Special Announcement In this Space

NEXT WEEK

W. M. for H. P. at P. W.

CENERAL MERCHANT. MAIN STREET, FARMERSVILLE.

B. W. M. for H. P. at F W.

WHICH, BEING INTERPRETED, MEANS

AT P. WILTSE'S.

B. W. M. for H. P. at P. W.

THE PEOPLE'S STORE,

FARMERSVILLE.

CASH! CASH! CASH!

To-day than have ever been offered in Farmersville before and our store has been

CROWDED WITH PEOPL

Protings One out no morning atil night securing