Furnishing the New Temperance Hall.

(Under the Patronage of Lasty Bannerman.)

THE New Temperance Hall in this Town being nearly completed it has become necessary to provide the requisite Funds for suitably furnishing the same. A Bazzar will therefore be held, for this purpose, in the said Building, on

The 16th and 17th days of December next. The 16th and 17th days of December next.

The projectors of this Bazaar deem it essential to the prosperity of the cause in which they are engaged, to render the Itali as comfortable and attractive as possible—to make it at once a ralfying point for the Sons and their friends, and a credit to the community. To accomplish this object, however, from the Funds of the several Town Divisions, was found to be totally impracticable, without causing serious embarrasument thereto. An appeal to the liberality of the public has, therefore, been determined upon; and it is hoped that those friends who feel disposed to further this object, but who have not yet commenced their labors, will do so without delay. Ladies can promote this object, not only by working for it themselves, but also by directing the attention of their friends towards it, and solicities their side.

REASONS WHY ALTERNATE HUSBANDRY IS ADVAN-TAGEOUS.

REASONS WHY ALTERNATE HUSBANDRY IS ADVANTAGEOUS.

Every student of Nature must observe that the alternation of plants in the same soil, follows in a kind of antural rotation; during the growth of one species of plant, it not only exhausts the ground of certain altmentary substances, but it also surcharges the soil with excrements which cannot be assimilated so as to nourish I lants of the same species until decomposition takes place. The quickness with which this decomposition takes place, depends on the tenacity or the poresity of the soil. In calcarcous sand, decomposition goes on rapidly, such soil freely permitting the access of air, the oxygen of which combines with the organic excrements of plants, thus rapid putritification takes place through the agency of alkaline constituents. But it requires a much longer time to effect decomposion in clay or heavy loany soils, unless assisted by frequent ploughing and harrowing, hence the advantages of Summer fallowing.

Potatoes, Flax, Peas and Clover, are plants, the excrements of which, in argillaceous soile, require the longest time for their conversion into hamms, consequently these crops cannot be cultivated in the same soil in accession without degeneracy. But it is evident that the use of Alkalies, Caestic Lime, or even small quanties of wood ashes which have not been lixiviated, must enable a soil to permit the cultivation of the same plants in a much shorter time.

If rigation with water containing a certain portion of potash effects the same pairose, thus inandation may in some instance superned summer failowing, the process is best adapted to the renevation of lands lying in permanent grass.

A therough knowledge of these principles, points out the advantages of alternate husbandry, for although a soil may be exhausted of certain elementary constituents by a crop requiring less of that particular element will succeed, and the excrements of the potatocrop though they canset be assimilated to the agriculture of the firm of the same plants in a much shorter

NOVEMBER THE BEST SEASON FOR PLANTING TRESS

It is, therefore, of the atmost importance to train out the roots horizontally at that depth, and to prevent the tap root from striking vertically into a cold subsoil—an artificial bottom must be made in the pits previous to planting. This is successfully effected by making the pits about eighteen inches deep, placing a floor of broken brick and lime rubbish, mixed with street scrapings, in the bottom of the hole. This preparation should be besten firmly together, leaving sufficient depth for planting the tree with all its roots strained out borizontally twelve inches under the surface. This rule applies to young trees. Old plants generally require deeper pits. In filling in the holes, the finest mould should be carefully shaken in among the roots, and the young fibres carefully trained out singly. Before pressing the ground firmly round the stem, the tree should be gently pulled up a few inches to straighten any roots which may have been bent with incumbent earth. When finished, the ground should be moderately watered, to settle the earth to the earth to the roots; the tree ought then to be firmly secured to three stakes placed in a triangle, and secured to a strong bondage of soft rops yarn near the top of the hole where the branches diverge. A hay band should be wrapped round the trunk of the tree before bringing the tops of the stakes together—this will prevent the tree from being barked by the contact of the stakes.

To carrich the ground without injury to the tree, it is better to cover the surface with a moderate cost of manure, than to dig it into the ground among the roots. The unanure may be removed early in the Spring, leaving only the liner particles to be pointed in with a deng fork. The more the ground is cultivated about a tree the better it will thrive, provided the roots are not disturbed. The best manure for all trees, is a compet of decayed leaves, rotten chips of wood from the fuel yard, anturated with soap suds, or mixed with wood ashes. Other manures will induce laxuriant growth but not co

Smith writing from Switzerland, to the editor of the Boston Medical Journal, says—

"Immense crops are raised here of articles whelly unknown to the American farmer, and perhaps, the kind best fitted to particular localities were grain and potatoes yield poorly under the best efforts. One of these is poppies. Thousands of acres are at this moment rendy for market, which the traveller takes for granted, as he berries by, are to be manufactured into opium. They are not, higherer, intended for medical use at all, but for a widely different purpose. From the poppy seed, a beautiful transparent oil is made, which is extensive used in house-painting. It is almost as colour-less as water, and possesses so many advantages over the flax seed oil, that it may ultimately supersed that article. Where flax connot be grown, poppies often can be in poor sandy soil. Linseed oil is becoming dearer, and the demand for paint is increasing. With white lead, poppy oil feaves a beautiful surface, which does not afterward change, by the action of light, into a dirty yellow. Another season some one should make a beginning at home in this important branch of industry. The oil may be used for other purposes, and even put in the crust for salads."

THE NEW EL DORADO.

THE NEW EL DORADO.

The recent rumours of the discovery of gold in considerable quantities in New South Wales is now put beyond all doubt. Our townsman, Robert Cropper, Esq., has favoured us with the persual of a a letter received on the 7th instant from his intelligent son, John Cropper, Esq., of Goulbourn, New South Wales, who confirms the report. He says "It is being found in large lumps, and in considerable quantities. Hundreds in the short space of a few days are upon the spot, and thousands of people are upon the road to the gold diggins. Every consumable article is rising rapidly and will, I expect, be at a funzine price, in consequence of a short wheat crop in the whole of the neighbouring colonies; still, this will not stop the thirst for gold. Flour at the diggins is £3 per 100 lbs. weight; and every thing in proportion. I purchased two months ago 3000 bushels of wheat in stack at 3a. a bushel: it is now held in Sydney at 14a, and 10a in Goulbourn. A large number of people who were leaving Sydney for California, in the ship Johnstone, have forfeited their passage money, and gone up to the Bathurst diggins. I expect we shall feel much inconvenienced here for a time by our shepherds absconding and leaving our sheep in the hush, to go to the diggins; but that nothing equal to it could possibly have happened to give a forward move to this colony, I fully believe; and I think it will eventually prove of goat benefit. I hope you will give my letter and information every possible publicity, and let those who are anxious to pick up gold know where to find it, remembering that New South Wales is the very opposite to California, the former having a splendid climate, with every thing in it suitable to the wants of a man, a well-organised Government, and consequently a due and proper protection to life and property, and no Lyuch laws."—Stamford Mercury.

EDUCATION IN ARTRICA.—It is by the attention it pays to public education, that the original character of American civilisation is placed in its clearest light. Schools were established by law in every township, obliging the inhabitants, under pain of heavy fines, to support them. Schools of a superior kind, were founded in the same manner as in the more populous districts. The menicipal authorities were bound to enforce the sending of children to school by their parents; they were empowered to inflict these fines upon all who relased compliance; and in case of continued resistance, society assumed the place of the parent, and deprived the father of those natural rights which he used to so bad a purpose. At this very time (in the year 1650), those principles which were scorned or unknown by the nations of Europe, were proclaimed in the deserts of the New World, and were accepted as the future creed of a great people. The boldest theories of the human reason were put into practice by a community so humble, that not a statesman condescended to attend to it, and a legislation without precedent was produced off hand by the imagination of the citizens.— De Tocqueville.

NOVEMBER THE BEST SEASON FOR PLANTING TRESS.

We have ever wished to encourage and assist such of our population as exhibit a taste for agriculture, whether manifested in the planting of ornamental or fruit trees; and again beg to remind this class of rational men, that November is the proper season for planting all varieties of decidnous trees.

The following being rules may be found useful to those who have not had much practice, and being easy of adoption and essential to success, claim particular attention.

Deep planting is a very general error. Trees can never, the rule of the fine are provided in the proper season for planting is a very general error. PHILIPS' PATENT FIRE ANNIHILATOR.—With a view of adopting the fire annihilator machines at Knowsley, as a protection against fire, Lord Derby put the efficacy of the machines to a severe test on Wednesday last at Knowsley. He had the building in the park, known as the dairy, which his lordship is about to pull down, prepared for the purpose. The building is circular and of considerable dimensions, with windows and doors all round, all of which was increased by a sort of funuel ventilator opening through the reof. This was filled by a very large body of dry poles, pine boards, a large quantity of dried faggots, and the place well bedded with shavings, &c. For the purpose of keeping up a fierce fire, a dozen tar barries were placed in the centre of this pile. Mr. Francis Morton, of the firm of Francis & H. J. Morton, of North John-street, the sole agents for the patent, attended and minutely described the invention and the machines to Lord and Lady Derby. The fire was allowed to burn some time, when his lordship gave the word, and the machines were struck off. From the moment the vapour was brought to bear upon the burning pile, the flames became instantly controlled, and were extinguished with the marvellous rapidity which characterises the invention, and in a few minutes the whole body of fire was put out. All present expressed their antisfaction at the complete success which attended the trial.

IDEAS OF FEMALE REALTY.

In low damp ground, trees soon become mose-grown, which stops the pass of the bark and causes disease. Draining the ground, and washing the tree with bot ley of wood ashes is the best remedy. This wash may be applied early is March month, and put on scalding hot without injury to the bark; it mast effectually degree; the measurement of the continuous and kills the larves of insects, and induces clean healthy hark on the tree.

The Larve of the "Bover" may be destroyed by placing a quantity of unleached wood ashes round the trunk of the tree at the base early in autumn.

The best time for pruning trees in this climate, is Spring, just before they begin to grow. The wounds heal over immediately after the operation.

CULTURE OF THE POPPY.

An increase in the number of agricultural staples is always an addition to the resources of a scenary. Every assell production, order to flatten it, and thus give it a new beauty. The in Persians have a strong aversion to red hair; the Turks, on the trary are warm admirers of it. In China, small round eye liked; and the girls are continually placking their eyektows. they may be thin and long. But the great beauty of a Chinese is her feet, which, in childhood are so compressed by bandag effectually to prevent any further increase in size. The four a er toes are turned under the foot, to the sole of which they adhere; and the poor girl not only endures much pain, but be a cripple for lite. Another mark of beauty, consists in finger so long, that casings of bamboo are necessary to preserve them injury. An African beauty must have small eyes, thick it large flat nose, and a skin beautifully black. In New Guine nose is perforated, and a large piece of wood or bone inserted, the north-west coast of America, an incision, more than two in length is made in the lower lip, and then filled with a we plog. In Guinna, the lips are pierced with thorus, the heads inside the mouth and the point resting on the chin. The Tus woman, of moderate protessions to beauty, needs a slave a each arm to support her when she walks, and a perfect belle en flesh enough to load down a camel.

BEAUTIFUL EXTRACT.—One fountain there is, whose deep lying vein has only just begun to throw up its silver drope among mankind—a fountain which will allay the thirst of millions, and will give to those who drink from it, peace and joy. It is knowledge; fountain of intellectual cultivation, which gives health to mankind—makes clear the vision, brings joy to his life, and breathes over his soal's destiny a deep tepose. Go and drink therefrom, whom fortune has not favored, and thou will soon find thyself rich! Thou mayest go forth into the wordt, and find thyself everywhere at hopse; thou canst cultivate in thise own little chamber; thy friends are ever round thee, and carry on wise conversations with thee; nature, antiquity, heaven, are accessible to thee! The industrious kingdom of the ant, the works of man, the rainbow, and music's sweet chords; offer to thy soal hospitality—Fredereks Bremer.

THE NEW MINISTERIAL REFORM BILL.—We have reason to believe, that there is a strong party in the Cabinet in favour of making the voting by ballot a part of the forthcoming measure; and it is thought not unlikely, that Lord John Russell may, after all acquiesce in the views of his colleagues, who think that the right of secret voting is essential to the efficiency of the new bill. Be this as it may, there can be no doubt, that the ububle lord's hostility to the ballot has been very much modified of late.—Advertiser.

EXPEDITION INTO THE INTERIOR OF AFRICA.

Our readers will remember that early in 1850, Mr. Richardson, an agent of the British government, together with two German savants, and a select escort, started from Tripoli on an expedition to explore the interior of Africa. The latest information from these geutlemen, is contained in a letter from one of them, Dr. Barth, to the British consul-general at Tripoli, dated the 28th February Inst. The expedition has reached Kano, on the read to the kingdom of Barnon, where they expected to arrive in the month of April. The expedition had passed through many dangers and difficulties, with no greater misfortunes than the loss of a little property, of which it was robbed by the Tauriks. It is a singular and interesting fact, that these Tauriks, whose only food is camel's milk and a few dates, are the most powerful, athletic, and warlike race of the centre of Africa. Dr. Barth montions a wast tract of fertile land through which he passed in the region of the Great Sahara, and which has remained entirely unknown to travellers and geographers. He describes it as heing of considerable extent, beautifully wooded, with a number of small rivers passing through it, and susceptible of the highest degree of cultivation. It is inhabited only by animals, among which, he mentions the elephant, heffalo, lion, giraffe, dec. During the progress of the voyage, Dr. Barth was very near perishing in the desert, whilst the expedition was passing through the country of the Tauriks. Having left the caravan for a short time, for the purpose of making some geological investigation, he was unable to the field it again, and wandering through the anada for three days and witch the expedition is the careful of the caravan for a short time, for the purpose of making some geological investigation, he was unable to the field and the caracters. purpose of making some geological investigation, he was unable to find it again, and wandering through the sands for three days and nights, he was found, when already in a state of delirium, pre-ceeding a final dissolution, by a Tuarik, and brought back to his caravan.

During all this period of sleep, about a wine glass full of milk was all the nutriment which could be administered. Every effort to arouse her from her torpor, failed, save with remarkable exception. The voice of a former paster of the church at Naponoch, appears to arouse to consciousness and with some experion on his part, the spell is broken for a time. The recent accounts from the Australian diggins, report favourably of progress. Large quantities of gold had been found. There were already 4000 diggers, notwithstanding the inclemency of the season, which was und-winter. The Government states from each digger 30s. a month as a license fee, each party getting 14 yards frontage to the water course. Carriage from Sydney to Bathurst had risen from £3 to £25 per ton; all former occupations were at a stand still. Good stores and provisions were doubled in value. Stock keeping interests were alarmed, and it was necessary to increase the number and pay of the constabulary. Gold has been found at Bondi; also within six miles of Sydney. A great increase of diggers was anticipated when the season opened, and a large influx of emigrants. gers was anticipo emigrants.

THE GALE AT PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.—The Newbury-port Herald, of Friday, contains the following authentic account of the late dwater at Prince Edward Island:

The Committee who went down to Prince Edward Island, on be-half of the owners of fishing vessels, belonging to this port, returned last night, and brought accounts from all our vessels, except two, from which nothing has been heard, when they left the Island, on Saturday they

Saturday last.

We have been furnished by Captain Robert Bayley, and Captain George Knight, with a complete list of the vessels, lost on the Island. Of the ressels belonging to this port, forty-four are safe, and nineteen lost, and two, the Actor and Augustas, not heard from.

The masters of the schooners Falton, Ruby, Montano, and Grifton, had chartered an English brig for $1,000 to bring up their fish.

The committee estimate, that although some vessels have undoubtedly been lost at eas, with all their crews, the whole sumber of vescels sabore and lost will not exceed seventy-five, and the number of dives lost will not exceed see bundred and fifty. The following is a list of the lives thus far known to be lost, and the names of the vessels to which they belonged:

Several unknown vessels, it is supposed, foundered at sea, which were of course lost. The committee visited the wreck of one about 30 or 90 tons, a mile outside of Malpoe Harbor, but could not ascertain her unne. TRIAL OF A FEMALE FOR MURDER.—The trial of Margaret Garcety, in Essex county, New Jersey, for the marker of her lover, in nearly closed. On Wednesday, her council, C. Parker, Esq., addressed the Jury in an opening speech of g ant force and heauty in behalf of the unfoctunate girl. The Court and Jury were deeply moved. The progress of the trial developes at every single, the deep and hearties deception practised upon the wretched visit of the seducer. It is in evidence that Margaret is now executive—that she made an attempt to destroy herself by drowning, after being deserted, and was in a state bordering upon madness and despair when the act was committed. She saw her lover in the street, walking with his wife, a night or two after his marriage with another, after betraying Margaret under promises never to be fal-dilled. She stabbed him to the heart, then went home, confessed the deed and afterwards fied.—Boston Mail.

why are not their number and names, like every thing else paraded before the world? I am personally sequainted with most, if not all, of the Indians of this labad, and can confidently say, that they have the greatest aversion to Mr. Rand's teaching, and laugh at his boasted pretensions of seducing them from the Catholic Paith. They are sincerely attached to it; perfectly antifold to live and die in it; and, with exceptions, analousely attend to the practice of their religion. As for his fature hopeful prospects, they appear much more cheering and interesting from the generosity of the Committee of Gentleman who sent him, than from the secession of the Indians from their faith. Indeed, he views and wishes on this subject are too transparent to be mistaken. He speaks of the comforts of home, and of his house heing made a relige for the Indians, and then, not very, delicately but very significantly asserts, that these is power in kindness, and that the Indians whom he has fed and sheltered, will not turn him out. Mr. Rand evidently feels that the is an unwel-come intruder; and dreads, perhaps, with some reason, being torned and an excessionically. The Indians are not myrastell; but are not disposed to exchange their Faith for a night's entertainment or unsolicated kindness. It is one thing to be generous of one's own substance; quite another to collect money in the adjacent Colonics and even in wealthy England, for the ill-disquised purpose of buying over the Indians from their faith. Ne honorable man can applied external conformity, procured by the prestitution of cherished convictions nor countenance such a cause. It is not say wish, if I had the powers, to prevent Mr. Rand and family from being well supported, if his kind patrons and employers be so inclined; but only to prevent the Faith of Catholics counnited to my charge from heing tampered with by unjustifiable menus.

Patrice Edward Island, —We mentioned in our last, that the Lieut. Greernor of Prince Edward Island, had issued a proclamation directing all officers of the Revenue, Magistrates, and other subjects of her Majesty, to render all aid in their power to the unfortunate fishermen of the United States, who were wrecked on the Northern coasts of that Island, and especially to exert themselves for the preservation of property, and its restoration to the rightful owners; but it appears from what we learn of our fishermen who have returned from the scene of the late disaster, that this proclamation, though evincing the generous humanity of the Lieut. Governor, was unnecessary; for they sll spesk in the warmest terms of gratitude, of the universal hospitality and kindness they and all the ship-wrecked men received at the hands of these generous and humane Islanders. In the midst of the storm they were on the beach to render every sid in their power to save life. After it had shated they cheerfully offered their services to assist in the preservation of property. They here from the wrecks the bodies of those who perished, at their own expense prepared them for the grave, and administered to them the last and rites of humanity. Nor was this all; they opened their doors to those who had no shelter, fed and cluthed the destitute, and bestowed upon the sufferers generally every possible assistance which could alleviate their misfortune, and every attention that humanity could devise. At the instance of many of our returned townsinen, our exchanges at Halifax, and the P. E. Island papers are requested to make known to their resders the feelings of grateful remembrance in which the wrecked fishermen of Gloucester will always hold the generous hospitality extended to them in their misfertunes.

MICHAC MISSION.—A public meeting will be held (D. V.) in the Infant School Room, on Monday evening next, on behalf of the Mission. Mr. Rand will explain the objects of the Mission, and its prospects of success. Several other gentlemen are expected to address the meeting. A collection will be taken.

Blake's Metallic Fire Proof Paint, OR, ARTIFICIAL SLATE.

OR, ARTIFICIAL SLATE.

THIS admirable article has been tested for some years and provided of every valuable, becoming a perfect site, as hard as marble in a few months, completely protecting whatever is coated with it from the action of the weather and fire—a better fire-proof than tin or zinc. Several Instrance Companies certify they will insure buildings covered with it at a chasper rate, than if covered with those metals. It is of two colors, the black is best for roofing—the chocolate the best thing ever discovered for sides of either brick or wood, forming a perfect stone coating of a handsome stene or chocolate color, can be easily changed by a little white lead or other coloring matter to suit the taste. There is nothing equal to it for estemboat and car deeks, and all kinds of iron as it forms a coating nearly as hard as the iron itself, and never cleaves off.

BEWARE OF WORTHLESS COUNTERFEITS.

As the popularity of my paint has induced scores of unprincipled individuals to grind up, and offer as fire-proof paint, all kinds of worthless stuff, much of it nothing but rotten stone that has no cohesive attraction, is held on only by the oil with which it is applied; consequently as soon as the action of the atmosphere destroys the oil, it will wash or reb off like Chalk or Whiting, nothing can yet be known of its lasting qualities, as it is but little over a year since they got them up, whereas mine has been tested about seven, and where first applied is now like a stone.

The original and genuine article can be obtained of PATRICK STEVENS, Orwell, my authorized Agent for the Island.
