

"NOBLESSE OBLIGE."

CHAPTER I. "Shall I wear it, or not?" said Doris Carew. She was standing in her dressing-room and in her hand was a plain gold bracelet, on which was inscribed the motto "Noblesse oblige." It was Doris's twenty-first birthday, and the bracelet had come that morning, among the numerous gifts that were making her dressing-table look rather like a stall at a fancy fair.

wards him, and the long fingers closed on hers. "How extravagant it is of him to buy it! I suppose the motto tempted him. I wonder if he remembered the night when we were all choosing mottoes, and he and I both fixed on that I wonder—" "Doris," said Lady Carew, now coming into her daughter's room, "are you not ready? Sir Philip Chisholm has been here nearly half an hour."

CHAPTER II. It is two years later, and Doris Carew is unwedded still. Lovers have come to her in plenty, men who wooed her for her money, and men who wooed her for herself, but she has had the same answer for them all. She does not wish to marry, she says, or at least not yet.

"It is Wilfrid C. Lyle, that is all I know," said Sir Philip; and Doris said in a voice that was only a little clearer and sharper than usual—"Yes, Wilfrid Carew. That is his name, I know."

do it, or that an old soldier shall be outdone in heroism by a girl? I, too, have a duty to perform, and that is to set you free. I, too, have a watchword, and it is, like yours and his—"Noblesse oblige."—Cassell's Family Magazine.

THE LIBERAL LEADER.

The reception given to Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, the leader of the Reform party in the Dominion Parliament, in Toronto on Monday night, goes far to prove that he retains the confidence and esteem of the people of Ontario.

The elucidation of the Jesuits' Estates Act was lucid in the extreme, and although he spoke in the ultra-Protestant city of Toronto and made no apology or palliation for his course in Parliament, he succeeded in carrying the sense of the meeting with him in his presentation of the case.

Mr Baldwin devoted his life to one single reform, that of responsible government. Mr Brown gave his life to one single reform, representation by population; and if the Liberals of today can achieve what they now have in view, and proclaim the great principles of continental free trade, they will have done a great good to the country, they will have conferred a boon on the British race, and they will have benefited mankind; they will have performed a service of which they will have every reason to be proud.

Some of the fields of fall wheat that were sown early are beginning to present a beautiful appearance. Quite a quantity of fall wheat was sown late, which will give it a poor chance to stand the rigors of winter.

NILE.
From our own correspondent.
Mr Wm May, of Ashfield, and Miss Eliza Smith, of Colborne, were married last Wednesday, the 25th Sept., at 10 a.m. After dinner they started on their bridal tour. They expect to visit Galt, Paris, Hamilton, and spend some time in Wentworth county before returning to the Nile. Rev H Irvine tied the knot.

The Y. P. C. E. Society elected their officers last night: Miss Aggie Morrow, president; Miss Emily Curry, sec., and Miss Hetherington, treas.

Chas Girvin, jr., and his wife are visiting Mrs Girvin's friends down East, taking in Toronto exhibition on the way. During Miss Ida Plummer's illness, Miss Robertson, of Colborne, is teaching the junior department in the Nile school. We are glad to hear Miss Plummer is recovering, and hope soon to see her able for her work.

Full plowing and threshing are the chief topics of interest since the fall shows ended.

Potatoes are a fairly good crop. Where planted on porous soil before the spring rains, they are an extra good crop.

LOCHALSH.
From our own correspondent.
Mr Alex. L. McKenzie, and wife and Mr Kenneth Finlayson, formerly of this place, are about to return, after a short visit among their friends to their present home in Calumet, Mich.

Messrs. D. Finlayson and J. McDonald, of Lochalsh, have returned after taking in Detroit fair.

Messrs E. and A. Silico, of the vicinity of Ileshenk, have returned home after a short visit in Lochalsh and Lucknow.

We are sorry to relate the death of the youngest son of Mr D. N. McKenzie, who died of dysentery on the 20th of Sept.

Mrs H. Chambers, is gone down to Guelph, to attend on her sister, who is very sick at present.

On some farms around here are large gullies from which deep holes lead into the earth. A lamb belonging to Mr Duncan McRae was missed from the flock and was supposed to be stolen, when twenty-four days afterwards it was found stuck fast in the small opening of the large hole, kind of slim after its twenty-four days' fast.

A short time ago we read in the Witness of an apple tree having, at the same time, a load of fruit and a coat of blossoms. Something similar can be seen in Mr Allan McKenzie's orchard, where a plum tree after bearing this season already is now covered over again with another coat of blossoms.

The front fifty acres of lot 43, owned by Jas. Giesels, of Kincardine, that Messrs Greer and Ross, of Lucknow, had rented for 1889, was sold to Thos. Ray of Pine River.

Listen—a song of rejoicing. Hearts that were heavy are glad. Women, look up and be hopeful. There's help and there's health to be had. Take courage, O world, after a sad day. And drive back the foe that you fear. With the weapon that never will fail you. O, be of good cheer.

For when you suffer from any of the weaknesses, "irregularities," and "functional derangements," peculiar to your sex, by the use of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription you can put the enemy of ill health and happiness to rout. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee of satisfaction in every case, or money refunded. See bottle-wrapper.

For all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels take Dr Pierce's Tablets. One a dose.

Mr Edmison, who has for some time resided with his son-in-law, Mr W. Askwith, of the Mattland Block, Hullett, died somewhat suddenly last week. A couple of days before he died he was working outside and joking with a neighbor as to how well he felt, and the prospects of enjoying life for some time to come.

Consumption can be cured By proper, healthful exercise, and the judicious use of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, which contains the healing and strength-giving virtues of these two valuable specifics in their fullest form. Dr D D McDonald, Petticoat, N. B., says: "I have been prescribing Scott's Emulsion with good results. It is especially useful in persons of consumptive tendencies." Sold by Druggists, 50c and $1.

DUNLOP.
From our own correspondent.
A. C. Macdonald, with his daughter, Mrs Chas Hawkins, of Shepparton, are visiting relatives in Detroit.

The jovial laird of Landowne farm last week received many hearty congratulations from his friends. It is another son.

A school bell for this S. S. has been given for our school by the member for West Huron Dominion house, R Porter, Esq. The request was made to him by your local scribe a short time ago, and the other day the amount for it was placed in his hands and the bell was then purchased from R. P. Wilkinson, hardware dealer. In a few days it will be placed in its perch in the school tower, and ring the hours for school the same as that in No. 6, Salford. Many thanks to Mr Porter for his useful gift.

HAD A BAD FALL.—Our architect when high up aloft on the roof of the new church he is building at Port Albert, moving some planks, lost his balance and fell a distance of fifteen feet to the floor below, breaking a rib, hurting his leg and sustaining a slight cut on the face. Though stunned for a moment or so, and helped up by the bystanders, Randal Graham kindly acting as surgeon, and dressing his wounds, he afterwards pluckily made his way homewards, being driven there. The good people of the Port were very kind and wanted to send for medical aid, which he refused, and in care of our Sick committee he is progressing favorably as we write.

Miss Hingston, of Joliet, Illinois, was in Brussels for a week visiting her mother. This young lady is a stenographer, and, along with her brother George, the reports of the courts in the above mentioned city are well looked after. Mr Hingston, who passed through such a prolonged siege of sickness, is once more able to resume work.

The man who wrote that man is only the creature of circumstances was evidently a failure.

A married woman with money in her pocket is one of the most invigorating sights in the world.

Sunday is a day when people work so hard getting rested that they are tired all day Monday.—Atchison Globe.

Decreasing the Death Rate.
The mortality among Consumptives has been materially decreased of late years by the use of Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. Phthisis, Bronchitis, Abscess of the Lungs, Pneumonia and Throat Affections are completely subjugated by a timely use of this excellent pulmonary. Palatable as milk. THE POET'S CORNER.

Castle Building. "What are you building, darling? I asked of my girlie fair, As she quietly sat on the hearth rug, Piling her books with care; And the ruddy glow of the firelight Danced on her golden hair.

"I am building a castle, mother," My little maid replied; "And these are the walls around it, And here is a gateway wide, And this is a funny stairway To climb up by the side."

The busy, fitting fingers Went on with her pretty play, And the castle walls were rising In the fading winter day— When a sudden, luckless motion, And all in ruin lay!

Ah, merry little builder, The years with steadily feet, May bring full many a vision Of castles rare and sweet, To end, like your baby pastime, In ruin and defeat.

You laugh o'er the toy walls fallen; So sunshiny follows rain, And we may smile, looking backward, At ruined shrine and fame— While the heart hath shattered temples It may not build again.

From Bad to Worse. Scrofula leads to consumption. From three to six bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters will cure scrofula, salt rheum, erysipelas, boils, pimples, blotches, tetter, shingles, scald head, sore eyes, and all skin affections, by cleansing the system and removing all impure matter that causes bad blood.

Little Wraps. If the cover is removed from soap dishes the suds will not get soft. When fatness become rusty black them with stove polish and rub well with a dry brush.

Use charcoal to broil with. The flames close the pores quickly, and make the meat very tender. Silver can be kept bright for months by being placed in an air-tight case with a good-sized piece of camphor.

Use squares of dull-covered felt, pinked at the edges, under statuary or any heavy ornaments that are liable to mar a polished surface.

Do not keep ironed clothes on bars in the kitchen any longer than is necessary for thorough drying. They gather unpleasant odors.

Equal parts of white shellac and alcohol in a permanent fixative for crayon and charcoal sketches. Spray it on evenly with an artist's atomizer.

A tablespoonful of brandy put into each bottle of tomato catsup just before sealing will not only preserve it, but will add to the flavor when wanted for use.

Mahogany and cherry furniture often gets dull for want of a good cleaning with a moist cloth. Polish with the hand, rubbing well, and the result will be surprising.

Windows can be cleaned in winter, and the frost entirely removed by using a gill of alcohol to a pint of hot water. Clean quickly, and rub on with a piece of warm chammois skin.

An old and reliable English cook-book gives the following recipe as an oil-cloth restorer: Mix one-half an ounce of beeswax in a saucer of turpentine. Rub the surface all over with it, and rub in with a dry cloth.

Many young children become positively repulsive with sore eyes, sore ears, and scald head. Such afflictions may be speedily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old alike experience the wonderful benefits of this medicine.

Telegraph wire of galvanized iron is much better to hang clothes on in winter than rope, as the clothes will not freeze to it. Have it hung by a line-man, and it will never "give," no matter what the weather may be.

For chapped hands, make camphor-ice of 1/2 ounces of spermaceti tallow, 4 teaspoonfuls of oil of sweet almonds, and three-fourths of an ounce of gum camphor pulverized fine. Put on back of stove until dissolved, stirring constantly, just enough heat to melt the ingredients together.

Ely fever is a type of catarrh having peculiar symptoms. It is attended by an inflamed condition of the lining membranes of the nostrils, tear-ducts and throat, affecting the lungs. An acrid mucous is secreted, the discharge accompanied with a burning sensation. There are severe spasms of sneezing, frequent attacks of headache, watery and inflamed eyes. Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy that can be depended upon. Get it at druggists; by mail, registered, 60c. Ely Brothers, Druggists, Owego, New York.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Boiled Cauliflower.—Take one or more cauliflower heads as needed, wash them, trim of the leaves, and put them in two quarts of boiling water on the fire, adding half an ounce of salt, half an ounce of butter and the juice of one lemon. Boil rapidly until quite tender, drain carefully, and serve them with a white sauce.

White Sauce.—Put in a saucepan on the fire an ounce of butter, which melt, and add to it one tablespoonful of flour, a little salt, white pepper, and one glass of milk, mix all well together; stir until boiling, then add another ounce of butter, strain and serve.

Mashed Potatoes Browned.—Boil potatoes until mealy, rub off the skins, remove specks, put them into a bowl, and take two forks in one hand with the points of the prongs turned outward and break the potatoes with them. While breaking add butter and milk, allowing one ounce of butter and a gill of milk to every dozen potatoes, salt and white pepper if liked to taste. Form into mound, and set in the oven until brown; glaze with butter and serve.

Never allow the bowels to remain constipated lest serious evil ensue. National Pills are unsurpassed as a remedy for constipation.

All About Moths.

Beatrice in Michigan Farmer. Last spring our next door neighbor hung upon the line a handsome cloak trimmed with beaver fur, and her husband's best overcoat, both badly moth-eaten. Over $100 worth of clothing ruined, absolutely, by those destructive insects, when a little care might have prevented the damage. I sat in a dimly lighted parlor one May afternoon, where a dozen tiny, dusty-winged millers fluttered about, and later was not at all surprised to have the lady of the house ask what she should do with her parlor furniture and carpets, which were "full of moths." Another acquaintance took vigorous chase after a fuller fully an inch long, under the idea that she was destroying the parent of the brown "worms" that were destroying her carpets.

It is the little, silken-winged, light colored miller which lays the eggs which develop the larvae with such voracious appetites for wool and fur. The male of the species is often called "silver fish" by the children because of his shape and appearance, and is shy in habit and much less often seen than the female. These millers commit no damage to property, but the larvae cause plenty of tears and much wrath every year. Old houses are apt to be infested by them; and they revel in closets full of cast-off clothing, those treasures some people are so fond of accumulating under the impression they may "come handy" in that indeterminate time known as "some day." When they once get well established in a house they cost no end of trouble and loss. When the carpet are up in the spring, the floors around the base-boards should be washed with hot alum water, which destroys eggs and larvae, and the carpets well beaten, especially about the edges. When they are in the carpet and it cannot well be taken up, a good way to exterminate them is to lay a wet cloth over the infested spots and press it with a hot iron; the steam kills them. Salt scattered along the edges of the carpet is also destructive. Watch especially for them under furniture and in dark corners. To sweep often and thoroughly also assists materially in eradicating them.

When they get into upholstered furniture, it is a "regular picnic"—as a small girl of my acquaintance says of every thing—to get rid of them. They revel in the excelsior or hair with which the furniture is stuffed, and increase rapidly, eating the covering from the inside. I know but one way, and that the plentiful use of benzine. The best way is to take the furniture out doors, and with a fine rose sprinker attached to a watering can, saturate them thoroughly with benzine. It is not necessary to pack away woolen goods in tobacco, camphor or other strongly odorous stuffs, so that one goes about smelling like a sick room or a cigar factory when the clothing is unpacked for wear. Shake and beat the articles well, and at once pack them away in boxes, pasting strips of paper over the joining of box and cover. Do this early before the millers fly, and you are safe. I have always believed the cedar chests owe their preventive qualities more to their tightness than to the odor of the wood. If you put away goods in which the eggs of the moth have been deposited, they will hatch in cedar chests or airtight boxes. I have kept furs in boxes, not sealed, rolling the boxes in a linen sheet, pinned securely, and have kept small articles in linen bags hung in a closet. Paper bags are good, if tied securely, but there must be no breaks in the paper. Some people say moths will not work in colored furs on account of the dye, but why they should thrive in the dyed wool of carpets and clothings and object to the dye of furs, I can not say; at all events, I'm not taking any risks, and my furs will be put away as carefully as if no one ever suggested immunity.

Just here a word of caution. Do not fold plush or seal garments and put them away in boxes or drawers. The lying so long in folds ruins the pile of both, and is more damaging to their appearance than a year's wear. A lady who thought she had put away her new plush cloak with the most perfect care found on unpacking it an ugly crease across the shoulder; a crease which could not be removed, even though she sent the garment to be steamed. Procure a shoulder form, adjust the garment on it, lay it full length upon paper spread upon the bed, fold these over it—it is a good plan to lay sheets of tissue paper between the fronts and sleeves where they fold over—and paste together. Slip "the whole business" into a bag made of an old sheet, cotton or linen, tie tightly and hang up in a closet; then you can sleep sound nights.

Give Them A Chance.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well. Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them, that is take Roche's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. Sincerely yours, E. W. Roche.

Lawyer—I have my opinion of you, Citizen—Well, you can keep it. The last opinion I got from you cost me $150.

The best regulators for the stomach and bowels, the best cure for biliousness, sick headache, indigestion, and all affections arising from a disordered liver, are without exception Johnson's Tonic Liver Pills. Scientific and Useful.

A paste suitable to preserve the gloss of patent leather and prevent cracking is made of wax with a little olive-oil, lard, and oil of turpentine, mixed when warm, to be of the consistency of thick paste when cooled.

Cast-iron for nickel-plating should be finished fine with a soft emery buff, made by covering a wheel with leather and applying fine emery with glue. Goods that are not flat are sometimes finished in a tumbling machine to the desired finish for nickeling.

To cement zinc to glass: One pound of shellac dissolved in one pint of a solution of alcohol, with one twentieth its volume of a solution of gutta-percha in sulphide of carbon; will dry quickly. A slow-drying cement may be made thus—two ounces of thick glue solution, one ounce of linseed-oil varnish or three quarters of an ounce of Venice turpentine; boil together.

Rheumatic Pains.

Require no description, since, with rare exception, all at some time have experienced their twinges. Rheumatism is not easily dislodged, only the most powerfully penetrating remedies reach to its very foundations. The most successful treatment known, and it is now frequently resorted to by medical men, is the application of that now famous remedy for pain—Poleon's Nerviline. It is safe to say that nothing yet discovered has afforded equal satisfaction to the suffering. A trial can be made at a small cost, as the bottles of Nerviline can be had at the drug stores for 10 cents, large bottles 25 cents.

It is said that native sulphide of baryta is an active poison to rats, mice, and dogs. It is not easy to explain its action, considering its extreme insolubility; but, mixed with lard, it is readily eaten by them. This being the case, the question suggests itself whether it might not replace the more dangerous poisons now so much used for this purpose, and do away with the risk attending them.

Not a Book Agent.

Mr Goode, druggist, is not a book agent, but has the agency in Goderich for Johnston's Tonic Bitters, which he can heartily recommend for any complaint to which a tonic medicine is applicable. This valuable medicine has been with most astonishing good results in cases of general debility, weakness, irregularities peculiar to females, extreme paleness, impoverishment of the blood, stomach and liver troubles, loss of appetite, and for that general worn out feeling that nearly every one is troubled with at some part of the year. Don't forget the name Johnston's Tonic Bitters 50c. and $1 per bottle at Goode's drug store, Albion block, Goderich, sole agent.

Iron bricks, so called, are said to be in satisfactory use for street paving in Germany. These bricks are made by mixing equal parts of finely ground red argillaceous slate and finely ground clay, with the addition of five per cent of iron ore. The ingredients thus mixed together are then moistened with a strong solution of sulphate of iron, to which fine iron ore is added. After this the compound is shaped in a press, dipped once more into a thick slip of finely ground iron ore, and then burnt in a kiln for about forty-eight hours in a reducing flame.

As alcohol has a tendency to alter or even wholly destroy the colors of animal specimens preserved in it, Mr Fabre Dornegue has been led to make some researches with a view to finding a substitute for it that does not possess this inconvenience. He recommends the following mixture:—Syrup of glucose, diluted, one thousand parts; glycerine, one hundred parts; methylic alcohol, two hundred parts; camphor, to saturation. The glucose is dissolved in warm water, and, after it is cool, the glycerine, alcohol and a few pinches of camphor are added. As this mixture is always acid, it should be neutralized by the addition of a small quantity of a solution of potash or soda. After filtering through paper, a few fragments of camphor are allowed to float upon the liquid. This liquid is well adapted for the preservation of hard-shelled crustacea of green, blue, or red color, and also of certain echinoderms. Most soft animals preserve their color in it, although they contract considerably.

Here are a few good rules that can be safely followed: Give the child a seat that shall be strictly clean. Teach it to take its seat quietly. To use its napkin properly. To wait patiently to be served. To answer promptly. To say "Thank you."

If asked to leave the table for a forgotten article or for any purpose to do so at once. Never to interrupt and never to contradict. Never to make remarks about the food, such as "I saw that turkey killed, and how he died," as I once heard a little boy remark at a Thanksgiving dinner.

Teach the child to keep his plate in order. Not to handle the bread or to drop food on the cloth or floor. To always say "Excuse me, please," to the mother when at home, and to the lady or hostess when visiting, if leaving the table before the rest of the party.

To fold its napkin in a neat way, back of its chair or push it close to the table before leaving. After leaving the table not to return. I know children who observe every one of these rules, and are in no way priggish, but are simply well-behaved, delightful companions, and they owe it all to their mother's careful training from babyhood.

The Favorite

Medicine for Throat and Lung Difficulties has long been, and still is, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It cures Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, and Asthma; soothes irritation of the Larynx and Fauces; strengthens the Vocal Organs; allays soreness of the Lungs; prevents Consumption; and, even in advanced stages of that disease, relieves Coughing and induces Sleep. There is no other preparation for diseases of the throat and lungs to be compared with this remedy.

"My wife had a distressing cough, with pains in the side and breast. We tried various medicines, but none did her any good until I got a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has cured her. A neighbor, Mrs. Glenn, had the measles, and the cough was relieved by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have no hesitation in recommending this to every one afflicted."—Robert Horton, Foreman Headlight, Morrilton, Ark.

"I have been afflicted with asthma for forty years. Last spring I was taken with a violent cough, which threatened to terminate my days. Three other pronounced me in consumption. I determined to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Its effects were magical. I was immediately relieved and continued to improve until entirely recovered."—Joel Ballard, Guilford, Conn.

"Six months ago I had a severe hemorrhage of the lungs, brought on by an incessant cough which deprived me of sleep and rest. I tried various remedies, but obtained no relief until I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. A few bottles of this medicine cured me."—Ann Lovejoy, 1237 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

"For children afflicted with colds, coughs, sore throat, or croup, I do not use any other remedy. I have used more speedily relief than Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have found it, also, invaluable in cases of Whooping Cough."—Mrs. E. Coburn, 19 Second st., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

Civility. A discerning writer has said that "civility is the greatest beauty in a woman." Without pressing the adage too closely most people, no doubt, will be prepared to admit that as her charms of face and figure often make way for a woman where her better qualities would fail, so the faculty of being always civil will stand a man in better stead than almost anything else. It does this from its very rarity. Genuine civility is so uncommon a thing that he who has it affects his contemporaries as a new and very pleasant sensation. They immediately become on better terms with themselves when in company with such a man, and, as a natural consequence, they are more inclined to do him good.

Civility oils the creaking hinges of life, and often calms the tempestuous waves on the sea of life as well. The man who has it in abundant measure is well equipped for the struggle. Good measure of the same, pressed down and running over, will men be likely to pour into his bosom. He has a charm that will open many a door which would otherwise have remained tightly shut. Civility is twin brother to tact, and one who is blessed with these two good angels will find his path much smoother than that of abler men who are not so favored. Civility is the highest development in a man, and it is a mark of a superior or inventive power, but unlike these, much may be done in the way of cultivating a civil habit of thought, speech and behavior. The essential groundwork is proper self-respect, on which true respect for other people will be founded. The rule about loving our neighbor as ourself, if rightly understood and acted on, will issue in the most perfect civility.

Worms cause much sickness among children. Freeman's Worm Powders prevent this, and make the child bright and healthy.

Gypsy Religion. When a gypsy dies, that is the end. Every member of the race has a horror of death, because no gypsy lives who has faith in a hereafter. They cannot be induced to contemplate it. No genuine gypsy ever accepted Christianity. Borrow, in his many years of Bible and missionary work among them, never claimed to have converted one. In all countries, as is true of a godly number of other folk, they occasionally profess a sort of attachment to the ruling creed. For instance, we hear of a "gypsy exhorter" in Ohio, and the other day a good Bishop of Delaware was allowed to christen a gypsy child in a camp near Wilmington. But these little hypocrites are all the way of gypsy thrift. The entire race belongs to the lowest order of agnostics.—Springfield Republican.

Winter Saunter.
The winter sitting-room should be chosen from the pleasantest in the house. This can be no other than that with a southern and western outlook. No matter if other rooms are more showily decorated with paint and trimmings, we can do better, and therefore be happier here, with naught but the sun and our plants.

Choose for winter blooming plants those that are well grown but have never budded, if possible. Vines should be set remote from the glass, if in the windows at all; though they love best a shady corner and plenty of drink, as they are both modest by nature and feverish in temperament.

Geraniums should be firmly potted in rich soil, and be given plenty of sunlight. Until the plants are thickly set with many branches do not neglect to nip off the last two leaves of each new branch as it attains a growth of three or four inches. Nothing is more disheartening to a lover of flowers than to be shown a geranium that has sent upward for two feet, perhaps, two, three, or four rank, transparent stalks, with a few light hued, long stemmed leaves up and down its length, and, perhaps, a solitary cluster of buds at the spindled top, and to have its too easily satisfied cultivator introduce it gaily with "Do see how nice my plants are doing; aren't they tall?"

One who knows a healthy plant, with the true instinct of a flower physician, feels the same sort of indignation with the amateur, and the same sort of sympathy for the plant that the family physician feels when some silly mamma is proud of the very physical weakness that, in her ignorance, she has first caused and then intensified; he sees the end—so does the flower lover. The tall, pale-hued plant has not been properly restrained, disciplined or fed, so that it is like the undisciplined, ill-fed child, a sort of monstrosity that no after training can ever quite restore to what should have been its normal state of health and beauty.

As the child may be improved by fortunately passing out from the unwise influence, perhaps into a reformatory, so the plant may in time become more presentable, if its owner will cut the branches off ruthlessly within five inches of the root, and then persistently nip each branch, as it grows, suggested. If the plant's constitution has not been broken, i. e., its roots weakened, in a few months one can have quite a symmetrical plant.

If a plant has a tendency to grow thriftily one side and in a weakly way on the other, keep the sick side toward the sun, and persistently cut back the branches on the other. Do not let the earth in the pots get either baked hard and dry and dusty, neither over on the other side and keep them in a state resembling a mud-puddle. See how nature waters her plants; a heavy rain, and then they are permitted to dry off occasionally. When the leaves of a plant soften and turn yellow, it usually means, "You have given me so much water I am sick at my stomach." A baby would think it odd, I can not, so I can only die." Heed this yellow mean and that class of plants less water.

Queen Victoria has a remarkably fine head of hair, for a lady of her age; but her son, the Prince of Wales, is quite bald. Had he used Ayer's Hair Vigor earlier in life, his head might, today, have been as well covered as that of his royal mother. It is not too late yet.

Acquiring Distinction.
It is natural to every man who wishes distinction; and the praise of those who can confer honor by their praise, in spite of all false philosophy, is sweet to every human heart; but as eminence can be the lot of but a few, patience of obscurity is a duty which we owe not more to our own happiness than to the quiet of the world at large. Give a look, if you are young and ambitious, to that spirit which throbs within you; treasure yourself with your equals, and learn from frequent competition, the place which nature has allotted you; make of it no mean battle, but strive hard; strengthen your soul to the search of truth, and follow that spectre of excellence which beckons you on beyond the walls of the world to something better than man has yet done. It may be, you shall burst out into light and glory at the last; but if frequent failure convinces you of that mediocrity of nature which is incompatible with great success, submit wisely and cheerfully to your lot; let no mean spirit of revenge tempt you to throw off your loyalty to your country, and to prefer a vicious celebrity to obscurity crowned with piety and virtue. If you can throw new light upon moral truth, or by any exertions multiply the comforts, or confirm the happiness of mankind, this fame guides you to the true end of your nature; but in the name of God, as you tremble at retributive justice, and in the name of mankind, if mankind be dear to you, seek not that easy and accursed fame which is gathered in the work of revolution; and deem it better to be forever unknown than to found a momentary name upon the basis of anarchy and irreligion.

Severely Attacked.
I was severely attacked with diarrhoea, vomiting, the pain was intense and I thought I could not live till morning. One of Dr. Fowler's Wild Strawberry cured me and I have not had the least symptom of it since. Mrs. Alice Hopkins, Hamilton, Ont.

The Best Yet.—A few thousand improved note and receipt forms have just been printed and manufactured into books at THE SIGNAL, which are ahead of anything of the kind we have yet offered for sale, being bound in heavy press-board covers with cloth backs and wire stitched, and of a size that may be carried in any ordinary coat pocket. For store, shop and office use we have made a large quantity up into pads of 100 receipts each. The prices are very reasonable. Call and see them at THE SIGNAL.

A Reward.—Of one dozen "TRABERY" to any one sending the best four lines of "TRABERY," the remarkable remedy for the Teeth and Bath. Ask for at drugstore or address.

The Home Doctor.
There are certain simple facts in regard to the care of the sick that every young girl should know before she is called upon to provide over a home of her own. Physicians say there are few women capable of making a poultice, a cup of beef tea, or a piece of toast properly. If one has never had the case of an invalid, there may be some excuse for not knowing practically how to make a poultice, but one can at least inform herself as far as theory goes. A cold, clammy poultice is positively harmful.

To make a linned poultice, pour a quantity of warm water into a tin basin, stand on the back of the range, and scatter in the linned meal, stirring with the use of a proper consistency. In order by the size of the poultice required. If it is too dry it will not hold together; if too wet, it is damp and uncomformable. It should be moist, without being sloppy. Now take a clean piece of muslin a couple of inches larger than the poultice is to be, spread it with the mixture, cover with another piece of muslin, and quickly haste over an inch all around. Do this without removing it from the hot dish, on which it should be carried to the bedside. If it is necessary to fasten it on, do this with folds of bandaging, and cover with a compress of flannel to retain the heat. A piece of oil silk is less clammy and will keep moisture from the bed clothes.

There are many different formulas for preparing beef tea, but the simplest and best is as follows: Cover one pound of lean beef from the round with a pint of cold water. Have the butcher chop it fine as for Hamburger steak; beat it in the water with a silver fork for ten minutes; place over the fire, simmer for twenty minutes, strain and set aside to cool, in order to remove any little flakes of fat that may form. When ready to serve, make it hot, season with salt only, and serve with thin, brown toast, or little water crackers.—American Agriculturist for July.

Tried! Tested! Proved!
A year ago last summer I was troubled with dysentery. I procured Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and took according to directions, which completely cured me. Robert E. Green, Lyndhurst, Ont. This medicine cures all looseness of the bowels.

The Charm of a Sweet Voice.
I met, the other day, one of the most fashionable women of the city, and thing about her that charmed me the most was her perfectly trained voice. It was low and melodious, never raised above a certain pitch, but her enunciation was perfectly clear. A sweet, low voice is one of the most seductive charms in a woman, and yet how seldom one is found. The majority of women do not seem to realize this, and one's ears are constantly being tortured by the sound of loud, shrill voices. At a restaurant where I frequently dine comes very often a pretty young woman with her mother, and when I see her coming I want to go. She has a high-pitched, cracked, old woman's voice, that takes away my appetite and sets my nerves on edge. At a recent afternoon reception a handsome lady entered and began to talk. As soon as she began every one else stopped and listened, for her voice was so loud and harsh that it drowned every other. She was clever, and what she said was well listening to, but it was torture to the sensitive ear. The spell of a beautiful face is often broken by a harsh, uncultivated voice, while a sweet voice almost makes a plain face pretty. I would turn round in a crowd to discover the owner of an attractive voice, but I would not turn round in the street to catch a second glimpse of a pretty face. Pretty faces are common enough; one sees them everywhere; but a thoroughly refined, cultivated and sweetly modulated voice is indeed rare.—N. Y. Paper.

More Trouble May be Expected.
If you do not heed the warnings of nature and at once pay attention to the maintenance of your health. How often we see a person put off from day to day the purchase of a medicine which is prepared at the outbreak of a disease would have remedied it almost immediately. Dangerous Counterfeits.
Counterfeits are always dangerous more so that they always closely imitate the ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has induced unprincipled parties to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by names and appearances, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take imitation dealers may urge upon you. Hints to Reduce Discomfort.
Do not carry your umbrella or cane so that the person behind you is threatened with the loss of an eye, or must judge to avoid a thrust in the face or ribs. Be careful not to carry it under your arm at an angle of forty-five degrees going up stairs.

Do not wait in front of a railroad ticket window to consult the time-table. Do not wait in front of the ticket-seller before your pocket-book is found. Try to have the money ready, the exact change, if possible, and remember that, while you have plenty of time, everybody following you is not so fortunate.

When entering a new church, do not sit down in the aisle end, and compel each person to crowd past you. Go through to the end, and remember that to be polite requires that the least discomfort and excitement shall be caused by your seat. Brigands, robbers or Indians are not likely to make their route upon public places of worship or amusement in our day, and women may be trusted to sit in the aisle end of pews or seats.

When there are no reserved seats, and the whole house is sold at a uniform price, it is hardly fair for one person to go and reserve three or four seats for friends, saying, "the seats are engaged," to those who, more just and polite, refuse to question the injustice, and unquestioningly take less advantageous seats, though they sacrificed time to secure better, and are disturbed, after the performance or lecture has begun, by the late arrival who had used a friend to defraud the public.

If you meet a friend in a store, do not forget, in your own joy of meeting her, that the clerk's time is paid for, and that you have no right to monopolize it to the exclusion of trade.

To remember that there are other people who have their own affairs that need immediate attention, who make engagements for a certain time which they expect to keep, is to be simply just. To clog as little as possible the currents of travel in the part of every considerate man and woman.

How a Duetting Told.
A slim young man in the height of fashion was violently sneezing in a street car, when a companion remarked, "Aw, Charles, dear boy, how d'ye catch that dreadful cold." "Aw, dear fellow, left my cane in the lower hall to-day, and in sucking the ivory handle, so dreadful cold, it chilled me almost to death." If Charles had used Dr. Harvey's Red Gum his cold would not trouble him. Very unclean, or sal. at J. Wilson's prescription drugstore.

Blood is Thinner Than Beer.

I had never seen him before, and I slipped out of the room before he had a chance to see me.

Milburn's Aromatic Quinine Wine fortifies the system against attacks of ague, chills, bilious fever, dumb ague and like troubles.

I know a small man who has a large woman for a wife. In company the other night he was very attentive to her and called her "My Adolphine."
"What's her name?" asked a gentleman from the West.
"He calls her Adolphine," a lady said.
"She looks more like a whale," was the reply.

THE ENTERTAINMENT given by No. 213, L.O.G.T., on Friday evening of last week, saw a fair attendance in spite of the threatening aspect of the weather, and a good program was rendered by the local talent of the lodge. Rev. B. L. Hutton, of Victoria-st church, Goderich, gave a stirring address which dwelt much with the evils of intemperance, referring to the experience of the late John B. Gough. He told of a small boy telling an innkeeper to come out and pick up his sign that had fallen down, which on his coming out proved to be a drunken man, lying helpless, instead of a signboard. In closing, he warned the young men present to keep from the fatal L. verage. If tasted it was a fore-runner on the road to hell. Mr R. Gurn, the W.M. of the Royal Templars, Goderich, gave a searching address on the same theme. He frankly acknowledged having been a slave of the intoxicating beverage, and mentioned the progress in Goderich during the past summer, and the efforts he had made to check intemperance there. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the speakers by the chairman, Mr F. B. Linfield, who hoped both would come again to future open meetings here, which for a time may be held monthly by the lodge here.

FAREWELL ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION.—The presentation and address to Miss Horton took place at the residence of her father, Mr J. Horton, on Monday evening last, in the presence of some of her scholars. Following is the address: To Miss Ellen Horton, teacher of Class No. 2, Leeburn Presbyterian S.S.—Dear Teacher—Today we present members of your class with our love to bid you farewell, and to wish you success in the new home you are going from to reside in. For seven years you have labored in our school earnestly and faithfully, teaching us of the great truth of another Home above, and now you sever that tie which binds us as teacher and scholars, to leave us to undertake new duties in life, and that in them God's blessing shall ever rest with you is the earnest wish of your fellow workers in the S.S., scholars and friends, who ask you to accept this slight token of remembrance from them as an expression of regard and friendship of those whom you taught and with others often consulted to advance the welfare of the Leeburn Presbyterian S.S. Signed on behalf of the school—A. C. Macdonald, supt., S. B. Williams, secy. On behalf of the scholars—Mary Reiton, J. McAllister, A. Lawson, Minnie Fulford, A. Stirling, Leeburn, Sept. 30th, 1889. Mary Reiton read the address, and Jane McAllister, Minnie Fulford and A. Stirling handed the recipient the presents, which consisted of a silver butter dish with knife, a set of silver spoons, a cheese dish with cover in glassware, and a salt and pepper box. Miss Horton, though taken by surprise, made a suitable reply, thanking her scholars for their kind gifts, and stating that in after years they would become teachers in the Sabbath School, and workers in God's cause. The teachers of the school and the secretary being present joined in many good wishes to Miss Horton, who was severing with Leeburn to go to Stratford to form a new tie in life.

Mr John Rutherford, Wingham, who has been ok-keeper for the Union furniture factory Co ever since that firm commenced business in town, left on Tuesday with his wife for Scotland, where he intends residing in future.

From our own correspondent.

Messrs Jas Elliot and Wilson McLean, formerly of Goderich township and West Wawanosh, respectively, but now of Dakota, U.S., visited our village with a number of brooches, with the view of making sale of them. Mr John Gay, carpenter and contractor, who is a citizen of this village, purchased one for about seventy dollars. He seems to be well pleased with the purchase. Three of them are in this vicinity at present.

Mr Stephen Irwin of West Wawanosh is at present seriously ill. As she is an aged lady in her eighty-fourth year, prospects of recovery are doubtful.

Mr Chas Robinson, who has been on a tour northward to Sault Ste Marie and other points for some time past, for the benefit of his health, arrived home on Saturday last much improved in appearance as also in health. We welcome him home, hoping that he will continue to enjoy good health.

Mrs Bernad Redmond, of West Wawanosh, had the misfortune to fall, and as a result dislocated one of her shoulder blades bones on Thursday of last week. Through the good treatment of Drs Mc Kay and Case, she is rapidly recovering.

Mr Thos Durain, who has been in Dakota for some time, making sale of horses and attending to other business in connection with his property there, returned home on Saturday.

Weather since our last, at which time it was delightful, has been very changeable, a great part of it being wet and drizzly.

Mr George Horne and family have moved into our village, and are now occupying the new house on East-st, recently constructed by Mr John Gay, builder and contractor.

As Dame Rumer puts it: And thou Dungenannon art not to be the least in the land of Ontario, for into thee is coming a railroad from Port Barwell through this beautiful section of country. The terminus as yet has not been located, but probably Dungenannon, if not Kincardine. She is pleased to report that engineers, surveyors, etc., have commenced operations in that line. Goderich folk had better take a cue on this question.

It is not generally known, but will be in the near future, that we have inventive gentlemen in our village, as we understand Messrs Wm Lane, J. Brydgos and Rev W F Campbell, now pastor at Holmesville, have invented a very useful machine for taking stock of cloth, as also bales of goods, such as factory cotton, etc, which, upon being exhibited by Mr Lane at the Industrial Exhibition, Toronto, was a great centre of attraction, and pronounced to be a success by all who had the pleasure of seeing it operated. We congratulate the inventive gentlemen on their undertaking. We understand that a firm in Hamilton has undertaken to manufacture the machine, to which we shall refer in the future.

Mr F. Tamblin, son of Mr J. Tamblin, Hullett, has sold out his interest in the little Central Hotel, Brandon, to Mr D. C. McKinnon, of Portage la Prairie, who will take possession on the first of next month.
