CHAPTER XII.

It was growing dark when I reached the rectory, and the gates were open. The gardener had just passed through them with a barrow-load of dead leaves and other rubbish. He was a crusty-looking old fellow in a fur cap and a purple-sleeved waistcoat, and he had about the testiest temper in Whittleford. But I rather liked old Goslett, and stopped to speak to him.

"Hello, Goslett, how are you? Plenty to do—eh?"

Goslett growled, and informed me in one gruff sentence that there was "more 'an plenty" to do, that the weather was "eruel and cold," that he had the "rheumatisms bitter bad," and finally that this was the fifth time that he had filled "this blamed barrow" with "they bothersome leaves;" and, having delivered himself of so much in a manner by no means gracious, he took up his "barrow" and went off grumbling with it.

I laughed, and went on to the house. Striking into the path leading up to the hall door, I came upon a rather pretty little picture—Miss Alice and her major saying good-bye to each

Now feels Strong and Vigorous

And Fit for Any Amount of Work as the Result of Using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. J. Hurlbert.

It is so easy to overlook the warning given by headaches, indigestion, falling memory, lack of power to concentrate the mind, irritability and worry over little things, that many a man does not realize his danger until on the verge of breakdown.

Like the writer of the letter quoted below, you can call a halt to the wasting process and restore vim and energy to the nervous system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. This great food cure has a wonderful record of cures.

Mr. J. Hurlbert, 28 James street, Brantford, Ont., writes:—"I was very much run down in health and as a consequence my nervous system was very much exhausted. Close confinement at my work, I think, brought on the trouble. I started using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and by the time I had used up one box I felt a great improvement. The continued use of this preparation has thoroughly restored my system so that I feel strong and vigorous and fit for any amount of work. I have also used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Ointment with splendid satisfaction, and recommend them at every opportunity." other in a lover-like fashion. The hall door was open, and the flood of yellow light which came streaming out threw their two figures into strong relief—the major's broad shoulders and handsome head, and Alice's pretty figure in its clinging dress of crimson cashmere, her fluffy flaxen hair adorned by a coquettish little lace cap. And the light showed too a very softened and gentle look upon her saucy piquant face, a look which made me involuntarily think of the rector's last words; and I too came to the conclusion that Miss Alice was indeed "very fond" of her soldier-lover. She wanted to come down to the gate with him, it appeared, a suggestion which he combated on account of the cold—which, to be sure, was sharp enough. But Alice had her own way, of course, and in a minute or two they passed down the path, not seeing me, for I had drawn back into the shade of a group of laurels which grew there. In a little while Alice came running lightly back. I put out my hand and touched her arm as she passed me, and she started back with a slight scream.

"All right, miss. I saw you!" I said, laughing.

"My goodness, Ned; how you startled me! You horrid boy! What did you do it for?"

"Why, it wasn't my fault!" I returned.

"Oh, no, although you have nearly frightened me out of my shoes! How long have you been here?"

"Only a minute or two."

"Why didn't you come in then, instead of lurking about under the bushes like a burglar?"

"Because I thought I might be in the way, my dear," I said, half laughing. "Didn't I say I saw you?"

"I'm sure you were welcome!" she answered, tossing her head, but blushing brightly, too. "Who told you, Ned; or did you guess?"

"Guess? Not I. It wanted Nat to do that. The rector told us. He was round at Chavasse a little while back, I've come laden with all the congratulations that I can manage to carry. Considering that you have broken my heart, I hope I am fulfilling my agonizing task pretty well."

"You ridiculous boy!" cried Alice, laughing as we entered the hall; and she shut the door.

A bright fire was burning there, and a couple of comfortable looking chairs were drawn up to its warmth. Miss Deeping glanced toward the drawing-room and hesitated.

"Will you care to go in, Ned? Mother is asleep, I think."

"Not on any account then. We'll talk here."

I took one of the chairs, and she the other, holding out her hands to the blaze. Pretty hands they were, and on the third finger of the left one gleamed a splendid ruby, in a dull gold twisted setting. I bent forward to look at it more closely.

"What a jolly ring, Alice!"

"Isn't it?"—holding it out. "Very old-fashioned, of course; but I like it all the better for that. George got it in India."

"George?" I echoed with a blank look.

"Of course. Didn't you know that that was Major Constable's name?"

"I didn't, indeed. That ring is valuable, too, I should think, Alice."

"Oh, yes! Father professes to be rather a judge of such things, you know, and I'm afraid to repeat what he says it is worth. For my part, I'm half afraid to wear it—I've never been used to rings. As for mother, I believe she dreams of it. I think she has asked me at least thirty times today if I'm certain it is safe. She is in a state of mild excitement about it—just like her, isn't it?"

"Just," I assented. "I say, Alice, what does she say about it all?"

"My engagement, you mean?"—and she laughed outright. "Ah, Ned, it has been as good as a play! I've had warnings enough to scare a Methodist parson. And the thing she wound up with," cried Alice, her pretty face dimpled with irrepresible laughter, "was a devout wish that I should never be such a victim to spasms as she had been! Did you ever, now?"

"I don't think you look much like a victim to anything."

"I'm sure I hope I sha'n't be, if mother is a fair specimen of matrimonial martyrs. How is Natalie?"

"All right; sent her best love and all that sort of thing, you know. She would have come with me, only she had to practice some special songs with mademoiselle."

"That mademoiselle is a horrid tyrant, I believe," said Alice, wrinkling her forehead. "I don't like her a bit; do you?"

"Not a scrap," I returned bluntly. "Neither does Nat, or I am mistaken. I say, Ned, what is that is up with Roger Yorke?"

She spoke quite coolly and easily, turning her frank blue eyes upon me; but I know that I flashed her a look of quick suspicion in reply. The name, mentioned so abruptly after that of Lucille Valdini, had startled me; but certainly I could read nothing of concealment or half-expressed meaning in her face. I repeated her words stupidly—

"Up with Roger Yorke?"

"Yes. Do you mean to tell me that you have not noticed it?"

"Noticed what?"

"Why, how he is altering!" Alice said, holding out her hands to the fire again, and making her ring flash redly in the light. "I thought you were sharp-sighted, Ned Chavasse!"

"And so I think I am; but I certainly haven't seen any change in Roger," I said, uneasily, all the perplexities and doubts which I had tried to stifle seeming to crowd upon me again. The fact is, I've not seen quite so much of him lately. How do you mean he is altered, Alice?"

"Why, in every way!" Alice declared, emphatically. "A month or two ago he used to be always ready to talk and laugh—together the jolly fellow in Whittleford; now he is

WOMAN'S MOST SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE

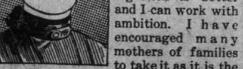

Known All Over The World—Known Only For The Good It Has Done.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

Fox Creek, N. B.—"I have always had pains in the abdomen and a weakness there and often after meals a soreness in my stomach. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better and I can work with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. WILLIAM S. BOURQUE, Fox Creek, N. B.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of whom state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

Famous "Pint of Cough Syrup" Recipe

No Better Remedy at Any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Make a plain syrup by mixing two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of warm water and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of pure Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, and fill it up with the Sugar Syrup. This gives you a family supply of the best cough syrup at a saving of $2. It never spoils. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

The effectiveness of this simple remedy is surprising. It seems to take hold instantly, and will usually stop the most obstinate cough in 24 hours. It tones up the jaded appetite and is just laxative enough to be helpful in a cough, and has a pleasing taste. Also excellent for bronchial trouble, throat tickle, sore lungs and asthma, and an unequalled remedy for whooping cough and croup.

This recipe for making cough remedy with Pinex and Sugar Syrup (or strained honey) is a prime favorite of thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been imitated, though never successfully. If you try it, use only genuine Pinex, which is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in quinic acid and all the natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this recipe.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

grave and quiet, almost gloomy. I'm sure, when he was here to-day, I could hardly get a sentence out of him. And you haven't noticed, you say?"

"Perhaps he's out of sorts," I suggested.

"Pooh! It isn't that. No; he's bothered about something."

"Do you know of anything likely to bother him?" I asked, flashing another keen look at her, as I thought of the suspicion over which I had been brooding as I came along, and in which she was implicated.

She, however, shook her head with the frankest of looks.

"Indeed, no; I wish I did know what it was. I like Roger Yorke, and I don't like to see him looking so wretchedly depressed. He is too steady to get into debt, and I don't know what else to put it down to, unless indeed he has fallen in love with your charming mademoiselle," concluded Alice, with a laugh.

"What on earth makes you connect Roger with mademoiselle?" I queried, considerably startled.

"Why, nothing—it was only a joke! Doctor Yorke is hardly goose enough for that. I should be far more inclined to imagine him a victim to Nat—the demure little puss! There—there's mother calling me; I shall have to run! Will you come in and speak to her?"

But I excused myself from that, and, leaving only my apologies for Mrs. Deeping, shook hands with Alice and came away. But outside the rectory gates I paused and pulled out my watch. Half past four, and the dinner hour at Chavasse was not until two hours later. With a sudden resolution, I made up my mind to walk on to Redtops and see if I could not find old Roger. True I had not noticed the change in him of which Alice Deeping had spoken; but I had too firm a belief in the keenness of that young lady's observation to doubt that it was there; and I had got it into my head that this gloom of his was caused by the secret, whatever it was, in which Miss Valdini was concerned. As I have said, I had been trying to forget the whole affair of late; but Alice's words had again stirred up my old doubt and perplexity. After all, I thought I would speak to him about it, and take the chance of his telling me to mind my own business. On the other hand, it might relieve him to refer to it.

Approving of One's Self.

By RUTH CAMERON.

There are many kinds of happiness in the world. There is the happiness that comes when the worldly hope men set their hearts upon prospers. Anyone who knows his Omar can tell what becomes of that kind of happiness.

There is the happiness that comes from giving pleasure to others.

There is the happiness which is the almost inevitable accompaniment of a thoroughly healthy physical condition.

There is the happiness that comes from being admired or envied.

There is that rich sense of satisfaction that springs from knowing one is well dressed.

And then,—and it seems to me there is nothing in the world that can quite compare with this,—there is the happiness that comes from approving of one's self.

Two courses of action were open to a friend of mine. She could seize a wonderful opportunity for foreign travel, thereby fulfilling the dearest wish of her life, or she could stay at home with the old folks to whom her absence would be a tragedy.

She had a very good reason for taking the first course of action besides her own pleasure. The opportunities of foreign travel where just what she needed to advance her in her profession. Many girls would have justified many qualms they had by this fact. She didn't. She recognized the greater opportunity and stayed at home.

We were talking about the matter one day, and when I tried to praise her she said whimsically, "You mustn't praise me. I was really selfish. You see, I knew that if I went I couldn't approve of myself. And that would make me unhappy. And I didn't want to be unhappy so I stayed at home."

Of course she deserved praise, and yet after all I fancy she was right and that she got the most pleasure that way.

Unless you have been able to stifle your sense of duty into insensibility, there is no misery like that of not being able to approve of yourself. To me the most impressive passage in Du Maurier's Trilby is that in which Trilby tells about the only time she really did wrong,—when she failed to take her little brother on a holiday trip she had promised him, and went off with a coaching party, leaving him crying at home. The misery she felt all that day is described with such a poignant simplicity that it brings to mind the days when we have failed of our obligations and were miserable because we could not approve of ourselves.

It is pleasant to have others approve of us but that pleasure isn't comparable to approve of one's self.

It is pleasant to have others approve of us but that pleasure isn't comparable to approve of one's self.

Engagements.

BY H. L. RANN.

An engagement is an exciting ceremony which is performed at the precise moment when platonic friendship ripens into love. Some of these friendships take so long to get ripe that they wind up in a breach of promise suit, compelling the plaintiff to come into court with a bundle of love letters that would raise blisters on a slate roof.

There are two kinds of engagements—long and short, but both will effect a cure if followed up by a quiet home wedding. The long engagement is a form of protracted entertainment included in by cautious members of the male sex who look before they leap. The longer they look the more cautious they get, but they keep on lapping up father's electricity and steam heat and steering the conversation away from the state of wedlock. When this has gone on for several years the neighbors begin to throw out disparaging remarks about cold feet and other blemishes, and this usually ushers in the ring service. Long engagements are all right where both parties have heard the last call to the dining car, but as a rule they are a dangerous proposition.

The short engagement is a foolhardy pastime which sometimes results in hooking a reckless suitor before he has time to don the conventional black. It has caused many a young man to plunge a 13½ neck into a matrimonial yoke with visible assets consisting of a copy of "Barriers Burned Away" and a $2 bill. This short engagement is generally followed by an elopement which brings heavy grief to the father of the bridegroom, who has to telegraph money for the return trip and finish off the attic.

Engagements are always preceded by a painful scene known as the proposal, during which the suitor gets down on one knee and contracts lock-jaw in the calf of the right leg. Some men never have to go through this ordeal, as their time is fully occupied in trying to outrun some determined member of the opposite sex, while others propose to everybody they can back into a bay window with the lights turned low.

Wonderful Cures Reported in Germany.

The use of simple herbs as remedies instead of the more concentrated and usually more dangerous inorganic substances, has been revived very widely of late. In Germany a new school of physicians has arisen which throws out almost a whole of the pharmacopoeia and relies on an adaptation of the method of wild animals in curing themselves.

It was Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., who first advocated the extended use of some of our native roots, such as: Golden seal and Oregon grape root, mandrake and queen's root, black cherrybark. These are the chief ingredients in Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which has been so well and favorably known for nearly half a century. A harmless cleanser and stomach tonic that nature has provided.

J. DONALD MATHESON of Ossining, N. Y. says: "I suffered for over five years with what the doctors told me was dilated condition of the stomach, associated with a catarrhal condition of same, and nervous heart. I had tried enough nux, bismuth, gentian, rhubarb, etc., to float a ship and naturally thought, there was no cure for me, but after reading what eminent doctors said of the curative qualities of the ingredients of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I gave it a fair trial. Took the 'Discovery' and also the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and can truthfully say I am feeling better now than I have in years. I cheerfully give permission to print this testimonial, and if any 'doubting Thomases' writes me I will 'put him wise' to the best all-around medicine in the country to-day."

THE PLOT That Failed

WHY WAS THE ATTACK MADE NEAR PICCOTT'S HOUSE? EXTRAORDINARY REVULSION OF FEELING. THE GOVERNMENT IS NOW HARD UP AGAINST IT.

To-day we tell again the story of the great and glorious victory in the Tory stronghold at Bay Roberts. In the story itself we are able to devote more attention to details than we could yesterday. Thursday the 6th of January, will long be remembered as a gala day for Port de Grave. Perhaps never before in its history was such enthusiasm ever shown. Mr. Coaker, the President of the F.P.C., accompanied by Mr. Lloyd, visited this settlement attended with at least four hundred and fifty men. All along the route from Clarke's Beach, flags and banners were visible on all sides and joyous shouts were heard from the homesteads while cheers for Coaker and Lloyd and the Union were frequent. The Orange band was in procession and played appropriate airs to the delight of all. At night a public meeting was held in the Orange Hall and addresses given by both Coaker and Lloyd, which were listened to with rapt attention, and the statements made were greeted with thunderous applause. Everything passed off without a hitch and the Best of Good Fellowship prevailed throughout. On the following day Friday, 17th, Coaker and Lloyd proceeded to Bay Roberts where both had been invited, attended by a strong contingent of Union men. When the procession neared the Western End of Barened it was met by a large deputation from Bay Roberts. After much cheering and exchange of greetings, the whole procession, headed by the Bay Roberts contingent, proceeded on its way to Bay Roberts which is about 2 1/2 miles from the spot where the contingents met. As this concourse of people—half of whom were Bay Roberts men—wended its way the sympathy shown by bystanders by cheering and firing of guns, was unmistakable and showed how popular the Union movement was even with those who had not yet had a chance of hearing the President explain its objects. At Colley's Point South, a small body of men, about twenty, cheered good-naturedly for the Morris Government, and these cheers were vigorously responded to by cheers for the Union. The one thing noticeable was the utter absence of disorderly opposition. When the procession turned by Cullerton's to enter Bay Roberts, the enthusiasm was even more pronounced still. Men, women and children cheered continuously and guns were fired all along the route by sympathizers. The best of order prevailed throughout the whole march.

Until Piccott's House was reached there had gathered a group of his supporters, fortified by liquor, who attempted to stop the procession, declaring that Coaker should go no farther. A dash was made by this gang to block the way, a scuffle ensued in which blows were given and returned much to the discomfort of the Piccott group. During this conflict the Union Jack was pulled down and trampled in the mud. Coaker behaved with the utmost coolness and courage, while Lloyd rushed to Coaker's carriage and urged the Union men and sympathizers to march on which they did. Too much praise cannot be given the men in the procession for the coolness manifested by them under the provocation. Had it not been for the coolness and their desire to conduct themselves decently the result might have been very serious indeed for this gang of Government heeleders who would deny British fairplay to their own townsmen. Their plot, however, failed and failed miserably. The procession now proceeded eastward as far as Beachy Cove, and along the way it was continually added to as a result of the rowdiness of the few men, near Piccott's house, who tried to turn Coakor out of the place. At Beachy Cove the procession halted, and retraced its steps again to Klondyke in order to show the Piccott faction that the Fishermen were masters of the situation and

Not to be Intimidated by a few Marconi men and Government sop grabbers, massed for the occasion. When the spot where the trouble at first previously occurred was reached, cheer upon cheer was given for Coaker and Lloyd while the erstwhile and tipsy trouble-makers slunk moodily away. Short speeches were made by Coaker and Lloyd at Klondyke Bridge, thanking the Bay Roberts fellows for their reception and announcing that a meeting would be held in the Orange Hall that evening at eight o'clock. Everything points to the fact that a plot had been formed to down Coaker and the Union at Bay Roberts. First we have that anonymous letter written to Coaker threatening him that if he came to Bay Roberts he would get even worse treatment than Sir Robert Bond received at last election in Western Bay. Second, there was the attempt made by the few Piccott men to block the public way which was a concerted act. Then the utterances of the gang, "Coaker shall not pass this spot; turn him out of Bay Roberts." All this show that the whole thing had been pre-arranged. The result however, was a revulsion of feelings greater than has ever been known in Bay Roberts.

Men who had up to that time been supporters of Piccott, publicly declared that they were finished with him and his Government, and would no longer support a party that could resort to tactics of rowdiness to support their cause. The meeting had been announced for eight o'clock but by seven the large Orange Hall was packed to its utmost capacity. This coterie of Piccott men had obtained admission to the hall, grouped themselves together and decided that Coaker should not speak. Coaker went to the hall at seven o'clock to make some preliminary arrangements and found it packed and so decided to begin the meeting at once. Coaker had no sooner begun his address when he was interrupted by this band of Piccott plotters, by shouting, hooting and stamping and so prevented the hall being used for the purposes for which it had been hired. So persistent was the crowd in their efforts at making a noise that the speaker closed the meeting with the National Anthem. Coaker then stated that he had the names of the disturbers and would take legal steps to have them realize that they were interfering with the rights of other men. This had the effect of bringing them temporarily to their senses and they consented to his speaking provided he refrained from talking politics. Coaker agreed and began his address which lasted two hours. During this address Lloyd came and had great difficulty in getting into the hall because of the crush of people. The men, however, made way for him and he took his seat on the platform. Lloyd had been told that the Piccott gang would not let him speak but he was not to be deterred by that. When Coaker finished Lloyd took the floor and after a time was promptly met by the hooting and stamping of the "few." He succeeded in getting a hearing for a quarter of an hour during which time he showed that the little band had succeeded in making themselves a nuisance by a union of strength, thus showing what a small united band could do. He told them that not one of them alone could shout him down. Not one of them alone could stamp him down. They had found it necessary to unite to do as a united body what none of them could do alone. They were giving the finest object lesson in the effectiveness of the principle of Unionism that Bay Roberts could receive. This turned the laugh on the Piccott gang, the audience enjoying the turning of the tables on the interrupters. For a time there was silence and then they started again and clenched Mr. Lloyd's argument. The hearty cheering of the audience exposed the disgust of 96 per cent. of the audience at the tactics of the Piccott interrupters. This was evidence of the failure of the plot against the Union movement, for it had turned well the Wave of Indignation against the plotters. The great majority of the people there were in sympathy with the Union and wanted to hear Lloyd and would have ejected the little band but the hall was too closely packed. The meeting was now closed to the public by singing the National Anthem, and Coaker announced that any person desiring to join the Union could give their names to him immediately. At this juncture objection was raised by the few heeleders. They claimed that Coaker had now finished with the hall; after some altercation it was decided that Coaker should hire the hall again if he wanted to go on with his Union meeting. He consented to this, but the kickers or hiring committee would not agree even then, unless he paid double hire. There was a protest against the exaction but Coaker agreed, and the money was promptly raised by his many sympathizers. This step in the plot to prevent the formation of a Union had failed again! A lodge was formed and within a little while one hundred and fifteen members signed the roll, thus Bay Roberts has the honor of enrolling the largest number of Union members at any one meeting in the country. On Saturday, about noon, a large contingent of Union men and sympathizers from Bay Roberts, east and west, accompanied Coaker and Lloyd to the railway station amid great cheering and gun firing. At the station Coaker and Lloyd addressed the concourse of people which amounted now to over a thousand persons. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed and the remarks were punctuated with cheers for Coaker, Lloyd, Liberal Party, and Sir Robert Bond. It is estimated that within a few weeks Bay Roberts will have the largest Union lodge in the country. The people are not going to stand for Tory rowdiness any longer. A Liberal victory for Mr. Grace district is now assured. Three Liberals for Harbor Grace is the watchword of Bay Roberts. Mr. Coaker told the audience that he had never had experience of a Tory Government retaining the confidence of the people sufficiently to be returned for a second term, and that the Morris Government would be turned out next fall and he was cheered to the echo. That is the overwhelming sentiment to-day in the old time Tory stronghold at Bay Roberts. They are determined to oust Sir Edward Morris and to put Sir Robert Bond and the Liberal Party in charge of the Government next fall.

For Burns Zam-Buk.

Stops Pain at Once. This is the verdict of all who have tried Zam-Buk. The woman in the home knows best its value. A burn from the stove, from a flat-iron, or a hot pan, is instantly soothed by Zam-Buk. When the little ones fall and cut or scratch themselves, Zam-Buk stops the pain and, incidentally, their crying. The best proof of this is the fact that children who have once had Zam-Buk applied come for it again. For more serious burns, too, it is unequalled. Mr. John Johnston, 734 South Marks Street, Fort William, a moulder in Copp's Foundry, says: "Some time ago I burned the top of my foot severely by dropping some molten iron from a ladle I was carrying. A large hole was burned through my shoe and into the top of my foot. I was taken home, and Zam-Buk was applied to the burn directly. It was surprising what relief this balm afforded. The burn was so deep and so serious that it required careful attention, but Zam-Buk prevented other complications arising, and as it was daily applied, soothed the pain and allayed the inflammation. In the course of two weeks the hole burned in my foot had been quite healed." Mr. W. B. Gibson, of Belleville, writes: "We have tried Zam-Buk often on cuts and sores, and I think there is nothing that can equal it." Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., St. John's, Nfld., for price.

HOW THEY MAKE ICE AT TORONTO. In response to several queries, the following description of the manufacture of artificial ice at the Arena is given: A large tank of brine is used, through which enormous coils are run. Liquid ammonia is forced into these coils by two 50-ton machines, and this pressure acts as a compressor and changes it into gas. The brine is pumped out of the tank through the pipes laid on the floor, and is returned by pipes to the tank again. When the brine leaves the tank it is twelve degrees, and when it returns it is twenty-two degrees. The brine being so cold causes an excess frost. This system is very economic and uses everything over and over again. They also turn out fifty tons of ice per day for hotels and domestic purposes. This is the first plant of its kind in Canada and is the largest in America. Similar plants are being installed at Hamilton, Ottawa and Montreal. The women often display a fine degree of courage, but few of them are brave enough to sleep down stairs. "Eph' Wily says if it is left to him the narrative poem will go with the descriptive music. The Gilberg, the tailor, who has four suits promised for Saturday night, devoted two hours of his time yesterday to a discussion of industrial slavery. Every man has his favorite amusement and most of them indulge in it to the detriment of business. In nearly every family the words, "father" and "goat", are synonymous terms.

Furness Liner Puts Into Port

EXTENSIVELY DAMAGED.
The s.s. Cynthiana, Capt. Gorst, put into port yesterday afternoon in a badly battered condition. She had a fearful experience and everything movable aboard from stem to stern was smashed, while some of the cargo in No. 2 hold was damaged by water, which also flooded the stokehold. The ship was sixteen days out from Baltimore to Leith with a general cargo. She left Baltimore on Saturday, January 4th. The weather at the outset was moderate. On Monday, the 13th inst., a heavy westerly gale was encountered, accompanied by seas, which continually swept the decks. Four hundred miles northeast of St. John's, the wind increased in velocity to a hurricane. The liner was "hove to" for three days. From then until port was reached the ship experienced a succession of hurricanes. To form some idea of what the conditions were like, is that it took her a week roughly to cover 400 miles. The damage suffered during the storms amounted to the Captain's bridge being almost completely demolished, life boats were swept out of the davits and smashed in pieces, derricks were unshipped, iron stanchions twisted and bent, bulkheads and bulwarks were stove in causing damage to the cabin as well as allowing the water to gain access to the cargo in the hold underneath; also as a result the officers quarters were flooded and their clothing saturated with water. In addition to the above the deck seams of the ship opened and the water poured into the stoke hold and engine rooms so that the pumps had to be kept in operation. On Thursday last when there was a lull in the storm for a short while, Captain Gorst decided to bear up for St. John's. During the last few days at sea the captain had to send his orders to the engineers by word through the sailors who stood on deck, as the telegram signal on the bridge was carried away and washed overboard. Sunday night a violent snow storm and N.N.W. gale was experienced and the ship was badly buffeted. The sailors' quarters in the forecabin were flooded during the voyage. The cargo that was damaged by water is now being discharged at the Furness Wight pier to allow a survey to be made. The Cynthiana is 2,100 tons net register, is 7 years old and owned by the Furness Line, but was never here before. Captain Gorst was here in the Damar, Dahome and the Dalton Hall, which was in here last year for repairs. Temporary repairs will be made in St. John's to the Cynthiana, to allow her to proceed to her destination.

British Society's Annual.

Last night the annual meeting of the Nfld. British Society was held in the British Hall with a large number of members present. The reports of the Society for the year and that of Albert Edward Branch were read and adopted and proved very satisfactory. The election of officers for the current year was conducted by Brother H. Maunder resulting in the election of the following:—
President—Mr. W. H. Goodland.
V. P.—Mr. J. M. Lawrence.
Treasurer—Mr. G. H. Cook.
Secretary—Mr. T. P. Samuelson.
The committee appointed comprised Messrs. H. Cowan, S. Bursell, T. Volsey, W. Bugden, Geo. Hammond, J. Auchincloss, W. Buller, E. Burridge and T. Dowden. After the election votes of thanks were accorded Mr. Maunder and his aides for the able manner in which the election had been conducted and the retiring officers for their efforts in promoting the Society's interest during the year which was one of the most successful in the annals of the body. The singing of the National Anthem closed the convention.

Victoria Chapter Election.

Victoria Chapter, No. 1, L. O. A., held its annual meeting last night, a large number of members being present. The reports of the Scribe and Treasurer showed that the Society was progressing very favourably. The election of officers conducted by Comp. J. Milley resulted as follows:—
W. C. in C.—Comp. L. J. White.
Ex. C.—Comp. W. R. Stirling.
Chaplain—Comp. T. Noseworthy, Sr.
Scribe—Comp. W. T. Penney.
Treasurer—Comp. W. J. Peet.
S. H. at A.—Comp. A. Harris.
1st Lecturer—Comp. T. Noseworthy, Jr.
2nd Lecturer—Comp. H. Noftall.
1st Conductor—Comp. E. Carter.
2nd Conductor—Comp. W. Noseworthy.
Inner Guard—Comp. I. Chafe.
Outer Guard—Comp. T. Adams.
The installation will take place to-night.

Red Cross Line Changes.

The S. S. City of Sydney was a month on the dry-dock at Halifax and underwent renovation and survey. She will begin the Red Cross Line schedule from this port, sailing tomorrow night and will run in conjunction with the Florizel during the absence of the Stephanie. While the latter two ships are at the icefields the City of Sydney will be joined by the S. S. Morwenna to run the service between St. John's, New York and Halifax.

$30,000 for Three Years.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 6.—Roger Bresnahan, deposed manager of the St. Louis National League baseball team, will sign within a few days a three-year contract with the Chicago National League team. Bresnahan is to receive $29,000 for three years' work—$10,000 as a bonus and $6,334 a year salary. Bresnahan's claim against the St. Louis club was compromised Saturday, and Bresnahan was paid a sum variously estimated at between $11,000 and $20,000 for his contract, which had four years to run, and which called for $10,000 and 10 p.c. of the club's annual profits.

No Express This Evening

As the S. S. Solway will sail direct for Sydney at 10 o'clock to-night taking mails and passengers no express will go out this evening. The local, however, for Carbonear, will go out at 6 p.m.

One disadvantage in being a King is that a King is expected to kiss his male relatives.

More Schoolboy "Howlers"

Speaking at a meeting recently, Dr. T. J. Menamara, M.P., told some amusing stories of quaint sayings attributed to children, which he had collected from school teachers in various parts of the country. Here is a selection:—
Teacher: "What is a mediator?"
Pupil: "Please, sir, a mediator is a chap who says, 'Hi! me instead.'"
Teacher (to a London class): "What is grass?"
Boy: "Grass is what you have to keep off."
"Why would David rather be a doorkeeper in the house of the Lord?"
"Because he could walk outside while the sermon was being preached."
"How do you know the earth is round?"
"Because it says 'In the Bible, 'world without end.'"
When he once asked a London class of girls, added Dr. Menamara, what they would say if he told them he saw the sun rise in the west, he got the reply that it was impossible.
"But," he persevered, "supposing I still declared I had seen the sun rise in the west?"
"Well," one of the little girls at length replied, "I should think you must have got up rather late."

Laxative for Old People--'Cascarets.'

What glasses are to weak eyes, Cascarets are to weak bowels—a 10-cent box will truly amaze you.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep. acts gently.

A Plea For the Drama.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—
"Variety is the spice of life" we are told; if this is so it is not possible for us to have a little more variety in the way of amusement during these winter evenings.

The moving picture shows are very good, and the respective managers are doing their best in this line, but there seems to be something lacking. We miss the good old times when we could spend an evening enrapt with such performances as the "Kerry Gow," "Robert Emmet," "Old Home Stead," etc., etc.

As an evidence of the need of variety one has only to visit the Star Theatre, and I should like just here to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Rossley. They certainly deserve credit for the manner in which they have trained these little ones in such a short time.

I understand Mr. Kiley, the obliging Manager of the "Nickel," endeavored to bring a troupe for the New Year, but negotiations fell through. St. John's missed what it has always looked forward to, the "Play of New Year's Night;" now that there is not much likelihood of any professional players coming her before Lenten Season, why not do the next best thing and have one or two amateur performances. We have the talent and now that the Casino is idle, have no doubt Mr. Kiley would be only too pleased to do his part. I am aware it is not all profit for the performer, as they each have to go to more or less expense, for which one or two nights would hardly recompense them. Nevertheless I think they are all sporty enough to catch on to the spirit of the thing. Namely to make our winter evenings as pleasant as possible.

Come, gentlemen, see what you can do. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, in anticipation for space.

Yours truly,

VARIETY.
St. John's, Jan. 21st, 1913.

Words of Counsel

When you see a man is busy doing sums or writing notes don't go up and drive him dizzy with your whiskered anecdotes; for the man who's bored and worried, when by business he is hurried, may rear up, incensed and flurried, and deprive you of your goats. When you see a man is brooding over troubles of his own, when you hear his grief protruding from his system, in a groan, don't put up a line of wallings touching your own ills and allings; don't indulge in foars and railings—let the weary man alone. When you see a man is cheerful, as he tries his way to make, don't go up with forecasts fearful that will make his bosom ache; do not say his course is folly in this world of melancholy; if he finds the old world jolly, let him grin, for heaven's sake. If you see a man is married, do not boast that you are not; for the burden he has carried makes his spirit sore and hot; bearing much, he'll never bear less; if you stir up envy, careless, he may claw you till you're hairless, with a sudden fury fraught.

LONDON, Jan. 20.

Full power to declare a resumption of hostilities against Turkey, was telegraphed to-day to Dr. Danoff, leader of the Bulgarian delegation, and his colleagues, by the Bulgarian Premier Ivan Gueshoff, who told them to exercise it whenever their opinion was that further negotiations became useless. Representatives of the Balkan Allies will, therefore, directly notify General Savoff, the Bulgarian Commander-in-Chief, that the armistice has come to an end, as soon as it is apparent that there is no hope of peace, or of the plenipotentiaries reaching mutually satisfactory arrangements. Hostilities will then commence four days afterwards. Bulgaria, Serbia and Montenegro, to-day, presented an ultimatum to Turkey, giving the Ottoman Government fourteen days in which to make a favorable reply to their demands, according to a News Agency's despatch from Constantinople.

LONDON, Jan. 20.

The Balkan plenipotentiaries do not conceal their impatience and firm determination to prevent Turkey from postponing the settlement. Meanwhile, unofficial conversations have been begun among the Allies, regarding inter-Balkan delimitation. Dr. Danoff, and the Greek Premier were engaged in this task to-day. As no agreement has been reached concerning Saloniki the Greeks hope to find it difficult in retaining the town when the Bulgarians get Adrianople. Reschid Pasha received long messages from Constantinople this afternoon, and it is asserted that he was instructed to confer with Sir E. Grey, with the object of obtaining direct intervention by the Powers, under the form of mediation, or in another way. If more acceptable, so that Turkey might be spared the humiliation of ceding Adrianople at first hand.

Articles of incorporation for a society called the Rockefeller Foundation, to administer a philanthropic fund of $100,000,000 to be donated by John D. The bill was introduced by Peters, of Massachusetts.—The incorporators to administer the fund are John D. Rockefeller, J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., Fred C. Gates, T. J. Murphy, Harry Pratt Judson Simon Flexner, E. A. Alderman, V. Rees, C. O. Heydt, and such persons as they may associate with themselves. The object is to promote the well-being and advance the civilization of the peoples of the United States, its territories, and of foreign lands; the dissemination of knowledge; the prevention and relief of suffering; and the promotion by philanthropic means of any and all elements of human progress. The Bill contains a provision prohibiting the Foundation from adding to the capital fund, and forcing the expenditure of the entire income concurrently.

Indians are on the war path. School teachers and missionaries at Iyonk and Beluga on the coast of Cook's Inlet have fled for their lives. This startling statement is made by W. A. Vinal, United States Commissioner at Ophir, at the head of Innuka River, by his wife, and F. A. Twitchell at Tacoma, who have reached that point from the interior. According to their story, Professor and Mrs. Cooper of the Government School, have fled from Susitna, some 80 miles distant. They started out in face of a blinding blizzard, and were escorted part of the way by the Vinal party, who do not know, however, whether they reached their destination. The teachers were warned by some pupils that the natives were planning to kill them and plunder the school. The school at Beluga was also deserted. A posse headed by Deputy Marshal Evans, has set out for the scene of the disorder. Terrific gales are blowing in this section, and it may be some time before word comes out.

Remarkable Escape from Starvation, off Cape Horn.

Extract of letter from DAVID JAMES (Master), of the late bark "Coloquio," of Glasgow. "Having lost our ship on Staten Island, on the 5th of July, and having saved neither effects nor provisions, we were then compelled to travel over the island for ten days, subsisting on nothing but shell-fish and seaweed. On the 19th of July we came across another shipwrecked party of seventeen, the surviving part of the crew of the British ship "Dunbevi," of Glasgow, fourteen having perished through exposure. Now, the ship was lost on the 23rd of June, and a lot of the cargo, consisting of EPPS'S COCOA, was washed ashore out of the wreck. There was nothing saved except the Cocoa, and we, numbering twenty-five men, were kept alive on it up to the 20th of August, when we were rescued by the steamer "Mercurio," of Buenos Aires.

"Too much praise cannot be given to this Cocoa. We had a good stock of it there; we used it in a liquid state for drink, we also baked it in the fire, which kept us alive and warm for 6 weeks on this barren island, situated in a region of perpetual ice and snow."

Watch out for the F.P.U. at Bay Roberts. See the Union grow.

United we stand, divided we fall.

Ten months' hence, the Morris Government will be as sick a crowd as the Piccott disturbers of the peace are to-day in Bay Roberts.

Their names are known. It was remarked in Bay Roberts that the disturbers were mainly men who were enjoying jobs and sops got through the influence of Piccott. They see the end and their spirits are disturbed.

Morris must go and Bond be put back again, is the cry of the country. It is high time to turn out the Government, and the country is waiting for a chance.

We cordially endorse the protest against the secrecy observed by the authorities in the matter of magisterial and Government enquiries. There is no need of secrecy. In England inquests, etc., are held in public and the press is present, and report the proceedings. There is no good reason why the same course should not be followed here, and many reasons why it should. It is the only way to give the public confidence in enquiries.

To-morrow the Curriers will hold a Charity Bazaar. The object is a good one, and should meet with strong support from the public.

We are informed that the Port de Grave men on Saturday, took their guns and all the powder they could obtain, up on the mountains opposite Bay Roberts, and fired fraternal salutes to the fishermen of Bay Roberts, on their grand and glorious victory in putting down the Piccott disturbers of the peace and the record they had made at the formation of a Local Council at Bay Roberts. They fired away every ounce of powder they had.

Amid rounds of applause at Port de Grave, Coaker offered the opinion that after the next General Election, there would never be a Tory Government again in Newfoundland.

At the great open air meeting at Bay Roberts, Coaker declared against a second term for the present Tory Government. This was received with thunderous applause and cordially endorsed by the thousand people present. Lloyd talked Unionism and Liberal politics for all he was worth and his remarks were received with rounds of applause.

Doing Well.

The Jubilee Scholar, Mr. Crawford, is doing well at Dalhousie University. Although he entered a month late, owing to sitting for the Rhodes Scholarship examination, and although he took up the second year's work, at the first quarter's examination he came out first in Latin, Greek and French and second in English and History. It shows his grounding at St. Bonaventure's must have been sound.

Enthusiastic Meeting at Freshwater.

Special Evening Telegram.
CARBONAR. To-day, President Coaker arrived here last evening at 5 o'clock and held a public meeting at 8, which was well attended. Only short notice was given as Mr. Coaker intended going to Heart's Content, but the storm prevented him, the roads being bad also. The chairman was Mr. Joyce. The President spoke for three hours, delivering the best speech of the three he has so far delivered here. He was continually applauded and carried conviction home to every man. It was the best meeting ever held here, and the speech far exceeded anything ever heard here. At the close he was cheered with a vim, and cheers were given for Hudson and Barrett. The Union's platform is sure to receive the toilers' support and two Union candidates will be elected for Bay de Verde. Such a man as Coaker is appreciated by the underdogs and his appeal for support next fall will be responded to. The President left for St. John's via Carbonar this morning as the roads are too bad for travelling. We trust he will come again soon and that Hudson and Barrett will come with him.

Board of Trade Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade took place yesterday afternoon. The attendance was large and President G. C. Fearn presided. The report was read and all discussion was deferred. Sec-Treas. Payne submitted the financial statement showing a deficit of $600. The President stated that this would be met by the guarantors. President Fearn criticized certain writings that appeared in the Press. One of his remarks were objected to by Mr. Robinson who considered them unmerited. The election of officers resulted as follows:—
President—W. G. Gosling.
1st V. P.—W. S. Monroe.
2nd V. P.—C. P. Ayre.

Messrs. John Browning, G. C. Fearn and R. B. Job were appointed committee men. After the election the by-laws were amended. The annual subscription for residents of St. John's is $10.00 and $5.00 for non-residents instead of the uniform rate of $10 as formerly, as by this time there was a diminution in the number present. Mr. Fearn suggested that an afternoon might be set down for the formal discussion of the report and a motion for an adjournment till Monday was moved by Mr. Monroe and seconded by Mr. Fearn. This on being put to the meeting was defeated. The questions of Bait, the Mona and congestion of Traffic were discussed by Hon. John Harvey and Mr. F. Moore noted the absence of such matters as telephones and the hotel in the Report and dealt in a practical way with the salmon and herring fisheries. Mr. McDougall pointed out the pressing need for Bait Supply and dealt with other issues. Mr. Fearn stated that the Telephone and Hotel questions were now at a deadlock and continued his reference to criticism by the press. Hon. J. A. Robinson, the only press representative present, made a spirited reply when Mr. John Browning referred to the suppression of the reports of public enquiries, specially referring to the recent destruction of a mail car and mails by fire. Mr. Robinson showed that information on the matter had been refused, the plea put forth being that it was illegal to give information while such enquiry was on. He thought that in the interest of the public this should be speedily remedied.

Handell's Messiah.

The practices have now been resumed after the Christmas Holidays. Excellent progress has been made and a good performance is hoped for. The "Amen" Chorus will be sung on this occasion for the first time in Newfoundland; in previous performances of the "Messiah" it has been omitted owing to its great difficulty. This is the last week in which new names can be received, and any ladies and gentlemen who wish to join the choir should send in their names at once to the conductor, Mr. A. H. Allen, 71 Rennie's Mill Road. This week's practice announced for Wednesday evening, has been postponed till Friday.

What I Saw at Devine's
Great Change of Business Sale.

(By a Spectator.)

January month is not generally supposed to be a busy month along Water Street—nor is it now if we make one or two exceptions. For all that, last week was certainly an interesting time at Devine's. Walking down town in the early part of the week I was surprised to notice crowds of people flocking at express rate to Devine's Great Change of Business Sale, and it awakened my curiosity so much I had to go in and see what it was all about.

WHAT I SAW.

The first sight that greets the shopper as he or she enters is a large sign which says that a "Genuine Sale is now in force." Piled high, piece upon piece, on a side counter, is an enormous bulk of Flannelette, perhaps in all some three or four hundred pieces—in Pink, Cream, White and Striped effects—splendid quality goods at from 7c per yard up; and no doubt for anyone who wants Flannelette it is a great time to get it cheap.

On a large table in the centre of the store, around which an eager army of lady shoppers clustered, some marvellous bargains of Dress Goods Ends were being offered, and were going at what seemed to me very low prices indeed.

But the great attraction was the Whitewear section, where hundreds of dainty Children's Dresses, Corset Covers, 50c. Blouses, Princess Skirts, Embroideries, etc., were displayed.

Moving a little farther on towards the centre of the store, Boys' Suits and Overcoats are on sale, and are reduced down to cost in price to clear all out. These goods are great value, and whoever gets them no doubt will get a bargain. They seem to be going fast.

Of course, as a man, what interested me most was men's apparel, for I wanted a good Suit at a low price. In these days, when the cost of living is so high, I find that it is too much of a grind to be giving $20.00 to $25.00 for tailor-made suits, so I thought of an American Cut Readymade. I was not disappointed, for here to my heart's delight were dozens of up-to-date Readymade American Cut Suits at half price. My purchase at $10.00 filled the bill and fitted me in every respect as well as suits I had been in the habit of paying $20.00 for.

Another great bargain is the Blankets, and no doubt shrewd housekeepers are not slow in taking advantage of the good value offering.

THE HELP.

This feature struck me very forcibly. As I entered it was not difficult to see that this well trained staff are ever on the alert to give courtesy and attention to every customer, whether he is a man with a million or a man with a dollar. They spare no pains in showing one through the whole stock and pointing out the bargains in every department. One feels at home and no way embarrassed when looking for any article.

THE STORE.

Particularly pleasing is the fact that all the goods are displayed on the first floor. There are no steep stairways to mount, consequently there is no getting out of breath following sales' help around. Everything is completely ordered for the customer's convenience.

THE CROWD.

All the week immense crowds thronged this busy centre, and as the days went on the numbers seemed to swell, until Saturday night it was almost impossible to gain admittance. Every inch of space in the rear of the store was covered with busy buyers, and in front the congestion was so great that the doors could scarcely be opened. Before leaving I asked the Manager a few questions, as follows:—

Did you expect such a crowd as this when you started? Well, he said, if these prices don't bring a crowd there is no use in a Genuine Sale.

How long do you expect to continue this sale? All January, he replied, until every article is sold right out.

What do you intend doing? I asked. My plans are all laid for a change of business, he said, but I prefer waiting a short time before giving details to the public.

Before closing let me say that the bargains are the best I've ever seen, and anybody who has a dollar to spend in Dry Goods, they cannot do better than go to the Farewell Dinner.

A farewell luncheon was tendered Mr. T. C. Fitzherbert, Secretary to His Excellency the Governor, on Saturday last, by Messrs. H. C. Carter, Charles Taylor, Frank Steer, John Jardine, Frank Donnelly, John Lindberg and P. C. O'Driscoll, at the Curling Rink. Mr. Fitzherbert has made a host of friends during his sojourn amongst us. The sportsman always found him ready to help in every way anything for the advancement of game protection, and he has made some very valuable suggestions from time to time. At the close of the farewell game on Saturday, Mr. Fitzherbert was tendered a right royal "for he's a jolly good fellow," and it is generally hoped to see his genial face amongst us again.

BODIES NOT RECOVERED.

The bodies of the four young men, Davis, Alyward (2) and Bromley, who were drowned at St. Julien's on December 1st, as referred to in the Telegram some weeks ago, have not been recovered, news to that effect having been received by the Prospero from the north.

A shiftless woman is one who stops at the delicatessen store on her way home from her club and comes out carrying her husband's dinner in a pail.

There never was a time when I was not considered lucky in the Highlands where I grow; then gradually my fame spread and spread and I am now welcome everywhere, bringing luck to all—especially in love affairs; in fact, I am now the emblem of luck.

When, in September, 1855, Prince Frederick William of Prussia was riding with Princess Royal up Craigna-Barr, he found a clump of me growing up the side of the path, which he picked and gave to her. The late Queen Victoria tells in her Journal how this little sprig of lucky heather brought good fortune to both Prince and Princess.

To bring you luck, you must either find me or get me given to you. If bought, I bring no luck whatever, but having once secured me, you must never part with me. Pack me up in a piece of paper or put me in a pendant, but keep me carefully till the next season, for to lose or throw me away would be very unlucky.

FOUGHT TO A FINISH.—Saturday evening at 7 o'clock two young men had a falling out on New Gower St., and decided to fight to a finish. They proceeded to Buckmaster's field, where they pummelled each other for nearly a half hour, when they were separated. Both were badly out about the face, completely exhausted and their clothing was torn and covered with mud. They had to be assisted home.

Henry T. Munn vs. Bowring Bros.
Warren, K. C., for Bowring Bros., read a petition to the Court asking for leave to appeal to the Privy Council against the judgment in this matter which was in favour of H. T. Munn.
Mr. Foote asked for time to confer with his client, Mr. Munn, who is now in Toronto. Conditional leave to appeal was granted.

Geo. J. Carter vs. Moses Mayers.

This is a claim for damages for breach of contract made in September 1911, by the defendant to sell to plaintiff ten shares in the Capital Stock of the Newfoundland Clothing Factory. The plaintiff claims $748.52 damages.

The defence is that the plaintiff did not pay for the shares within a reasonable time or at any time.

Morine, K. C., for plaintiff.

F. A. Mews for defendant.

Morine, K. C., opened his case and called Geo. J. Carter, who was sworn and examined by Morine, K. C., and cross-examined by F. A. Mews, for defendant. Mr. Mews then called Mr. Mayers, the defendant, and examined him. Morine, K. C., cross-examined Mr. Mews then summed up for the defence.

At one o'clock the case was not concluded.

To H. Feder,

OPTICIAN, ST. JOHN'S.

TWILLINGATE, Jan. 2nd, 1913.

Dear Sir,—I will certainly report to you. The glasses that you fitted for me several months ago give me great satisfaction and I say from my heart with all sincerity that I would not part with my glasses for ten times what they cost. For several years I could not make out a person's features at the shortest distance away, so you can imagine how near-sighted I was and I feel very thankful that I met you at the Hotel at Twillingate, and had my eyes tested, and got glasses from you. What a difference a suitable glass makes to the eye. I can now easily see anything at an ordinary distance. I can certainly say that you are a noble and practical man in your optical business. Every one whom you treated at Twillingate is quite satisfied with your glasses. I confidently recommend every one with afflicted eyes to use your glasses. I remain,
Yours sincerely,
ELIZABETH PENNEY.

P.S.—Don't forget to come next Spring; there is lots of work for you here.—E.P. Jan 18, 1913

Quality in Music.

It cannot be said that music is a human creation, and, as far as the substance of the world are concerned, a mere accident. As well can it be said that man creates the colors of the prism, and that they are not in the properties of the light, because he shapes the prism by his own mechanical art. Or, if still we doubt, if it still seems incredible that the soul of music is in the heart of all created beings, then the laws of harmony themselves shall answer, one string vibrating to another when it is not struck itself, and uttering its voice of concord simply because the concord was in it, and it feels the pulses on the air to which it cannot be silent.

Nay, the solid mountains and their giant masses of rock shall answer, catching as they will, the bray of horns, or the stumblingblast of cannon rolling it across from one top to another in reverberating pulses, till it falls into bars of musical rhythm and chimes and cadences of silver melody. I have heard some fine music, as men are wont to speak, the play of orchestras, the anthems of choirs, the voices of song that moved admiring nations. But in the lofty passes of the Alps, I heard a music overhead from God's cloudy orchestra, the slight peals of rock and ice, contained in by the driven mist, and only dimly visible athwart the sky through its folds, such as mocks all sounds our lower worlds of art can ever hope to raise.

I stood (excuse the simplicity) calling to them, in the loudest shouts I could raise, even till my power was spent, and listening in compulsory trance to their reply. I heard them roll it up through their cloudy worlds of snow, sifting out the harsh qualities that were tearing in it as demon screams of sin, holding on upon it as if it were a hymn they were singing to the ear of the Great Creator, and sending it round and round in loud reduplications, of sweetness, minute after minute, till, finally, receding and rising, it trembled, as it were, among the quick gratulations of angels, and fell into the silence of the pure empyrean. I had never any conception before of what is meant by "quality" in sound. There was more power upon the soul in one of those simple notes, than I ever expect to feel from anything called music below or even can feel till I hear them again in the choirs of the angelic world.

The Telegram Account

Appreciated in the Bay.—Temperate and Not Exaggerated—Coaker in the City.

President Coaker returned to town by the mid-day train from Carbonear. He held a big public meeting last night at Freshwater, speaking three hours. His visit to Freshwater, which was another strong Tory settlement, was decided upon about 3 p.m. yesterday, but although the people only had an hour's notice it turned out to be the greatest meeting ever held there, as intimated by Mr. Joyce, the F. P. U. Chairman, in his message published elsewhere. Mr. Coaker's meetings at Western Bay and Freshwater were full of enthusiasm, not a single interruption although both places were fully three-quarter Tory last election. At Western Bay several strong Tories from Broad Cove attended, but instead of opposing they applauded and voted for a second speech from Mr. Coaker which he promised to deliver next week.

At Freshwater last night they cheered for Coaker as he finished a brilliant speech of three hours. When speaking for two hours he wished to close but the whole audience were so delighted that they unanimously desired him to proceed, saying they were willing to remain until midnight.

Owing to bad roads, Mr. Coaker returned to town for a few days. His voice is also hoarse and his throat weak as the constant strain of delivering such long speeches must take an effect upon the throat.

Silly Cove will be visited in a day or two and Briggs as well. Friends at Spaniard's Bay and Coley's Point have invited Mr. Coaker to address meetings at those places.

We hear that Conception Bay is delighted with the Telegram's account of the Port de Grave and Bay Roberts meetings. Mr. Coaker says the people of Harbour Grace, Port de Grave and Carbonear District are indignant concerning the flag incident at Bay Roberts and the attempt to mob the Unionists and friends at Bay Roberts, the effect of which will do the Government great harm, as all feel convinced that it was a deliberate plot which the Tory gang knew about days before it happened.

The fact that 115 were chiroled the first night at Bay Roberts is hailed as a great victory for the F. P. U., for another hundred will enroll at the next meeting to be held. Several wished to join at Freshwater last night after the public meeting. The strongest Tories in Bay de Verde District are disgusted over the insult offered to the Union Jack. The District Council delegates from all parts of Bay de Verde District were present at Western Bay and heard of the Bay Roberts affair from the President's lips, and every delegate took home the news to all parts of the District on Saturday night, as all left for home after the public meeting closed.

The News article yesterday giving Piccott a majority was the subject of much criticism over the Bay last night as every one knows that no Council ever can initiate at the start all who sympathise with the Union. At Bonavista only 11 joined the first meeting, while to-day the Council there numbers 500. At Twillingate only 5 joined at the first meeting, while to-day 450 names form the list of membership there. Robinson will have to revise his figures at Bay Roberts very often, for several who applied at Bay Roberts on Friday were refused admission owing to not being eligible for membership. Such men as Capt. John Parsons wished to join, but being engaged in business could not be admitted. Some twenty were refused on the grounds of ineligibility. Robinson's spurge on behalf of dying rowdism and Piccottism was received with decision over in Conception Bay where all know the facts as they are, and the News spurge only showed that Mc Grath is not the only bluffer.

Painful Accident

MAN BREAKS LEG.

Ed. Field, a workman at A. Harvey & Co's premises, was the victim of a very painful accident last night. He was engaged helping to unload the coal cargo on the s.s. Cape Breton. On this occasion he happened to be near the "skids" which slipped from its position and one end of it fell across Field's right leg, breaking it below the knee. The injured man was picked up by fellow workmen and driven in a sleigh to his home on Prescott Street, where Dr. Anderson who was summoned, set the bone and put the leg in splints. It will be several weeks before Field can resume work.

Special to Evening Telegram. MONTREAL, To-day. During the third act at the LePorte-fueille Rouge Theatre National, Ernest Valhubert was accidentally shot down by Paul Cottle, when the former breaks away from guards and rushes across the stage. Blank cartridges were used in the performance, but some hard substance in the barrel of the rifle entered Valhubert's groin. He was painfully but not mortally wounded.

Special Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, To-day. Ten thousand girls affected by agreement of Saturday between shirt-waist dressmakers' employees, who rebelled at the terms of proposed settlement, remained out on strike. Other 27,000 went to work on increased wages. Those still on strike say they are dissatisfied with five to ten per cent raise of pay offered them. There are still approximately 125,000 workers on strike in all branches of the garment trades.

Special Evening Telegram. NEW YORK To-day. Two battered sleds which journeyed to opposite ends of the earth, occupy a place of honor to-day in the American Museum of Natural History. Captain Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, presented to the Museum one of three sleds used by his expedition. It was placed beside the sled which Admiral Peary used when he found the North Pole. Capt. Amundsen and Admiral Peary have been elected to Honorary Fellowships of the Museum, an honor which is shared by only four others.

Special to Evening Telegram. LONDON, Yesterday. Rechad Pasha, accompanied by Tewfik Pasha and Osman Pasha, visited the British Foreign Secretary, but the nature of Sir Edward Grey's reply has not been disclosed. The meeting of the National Assembly at Constantinople has been postponed until Wednesday. The Porte's reply to the note of the Powers will be presented after this meeting. The general impression is that the Turkish Government is weakening with respect to the demands of the allies. A Bucharest despatch says, it is expected before February 1st a settlement between Roumania and Bulgaria will be effected. Roumania will not get as much as she wanted. Bulgaria will cede some of the Forts in the neighborhood of Silistria but not the town itself.

Special to Evening Telegram. NEW YORK, To-day. Describing Henry C. Freeman, a wealthy insurance broker, who with four other men were indicted yesterday for complicity in Arson Trust as a man who has got rich out of his arson crimes, Assistant District Attorney Waller demanded Freeman's bail to be fixed at fifty thousand. The penalty for offence is twenty-five years' imprisonment. Freeman and Abraham Schlicht and another indicted man, were remanded to toms without bail. One man was sent to Sing Sing for thirty years, another was convicted and will soon be sentenced; five are under indictment awaiting trial. This is a record prosecution to date of alleged fire bug industry. The fire Marshall reported to District Attorney that since this investigation in the Trust began, several weeks ago there has been a notable falling off in the number of fires.

Another Man Missing.

SUPPOSED TO HAVE FALLEN OFF CLIFF. From parties who have just arrived from the South West Coast, we hear that a fisherman, belonging to Hare Harbor, in Fortune Bay, is missing from his home. His name could not be ascertained from our informant, who saw him at Stone's Cove where he had been preparing his vessel for the winter's banking trip, which commences the first of next month. The stragglers left Stone's Cove on January 6th to walk to his home in Hare Harbor, a distance of six miles. Since then his whereabouts are unknown. Various theories are held out, but the likely one is that he fell over a cliff into the sea and was drowned. There is also a belief that he was overtaken and perished by a storm which raged shortly after he left Stone's Cove. The woods have been thoroughly scoured in the endeavor to find his body, but without success. The missing man was married and a large family survive him.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES DYPHTHERIA.

Hr. Grace Notes.

The silver tea service donated by the ladies of the Presentation Convent here to the Cathedral Christmas Tree was won by Miss Annie Croke on number 870.

Those that attended the 10.30 Mass at the Cathedral yesterday were very much pleased with the very able sermon preached by His Lordship Bishop March.

Two shebeen cases were before the Court last week; one, an old offender, was fined $150.00 and costs, which she paid; and the other for the first offence was fined $50.00 which was also paid. Two other cases for breaches of the Temperance Act will come before Judge Oke to-day.

In the above connection the public are loud in their praises of Head Constable Sheppard and the police for bringing the offenders to justice and thereby putting a stop to this unlawful selling; but the old practice of the police entering and catching people in the act of drinking liquor left less chance for any inclined to stretch the truth or ignore it, or in other words when the police did the work themselves and not the witness.

The S. S. Adventure anchored in the outer harbour early this morning, and is now there waiting a chance to come in. It is almost enough to make people feel warm to think there is 2,000 tons of coal so near.

A very large number of our citizens are now indisposed through colds, etc., and the doctors are kept on the move.

Miss Emily Ash is at Clarke's Beach on a visit to friends. She is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Telford.

The tern schooner Hilda R. arrived on Thursday last to load codfish for the firm of Messrs. R. D. McRae & Sons. The Hilda R. is from Halifax, and after loading will proceed to the Mediterranean markets. She is a fine new vessel and is much admired by all our people particularly the seafaring men who delight in viewing and admiring her.

Died on Tuesday, Jan. 14th, of pneumonia, Mark, son of Charles and Elizabeth Ash, aged 1 year and 8 months.

Conductor Meets Accident.

Conductor R. Gaul, of the Bruce express, who arrived in here Saturday last met a painful accident while his train was at Clarendville. He was engaged coupling the hose which gives steam to the cars for heating purposes when it suddenly burst and the hot steam going up his sleeve scalded his right arm badly. He is now being treated by a doctor and could not take his train out yesterday being laid off from duty.

Steamers Arrive.

CAPE BRETON.
The s.s. Cape Breton entered port at 2.30 p.m. yesterday, after a passage of forty hours from Sydney. The weather throughout was favorable. A very rough night at sea was spent Sunday. The ship brought a full cargo of coal to A. J. Harvey & Co., who chartered her for one trip only.

CITY OF SYDNEY.
The s.s. City of Sydney, Capt. McDonald, reached port at 4 p.m. yesterday from Halifax. She left there at noon on Saturday and met with strong head winds. Early Monday morning the ship encountered a very strong N.W. gale and snow storm which delayed progress. She brought a full general cargo and the following saloon passengers: R. A. Squires, and R. Morrow.

Notes of Long Ago.

L. C. MORRIS.

CHAPTER II.
THE OLD ENGLISHMAN'S STORY.

Some twenty years ago, while travelling on the West Coast, and waiting at Little Bay, LaPolla, I was entertained at the residence of the late Mr. LeSeigneur and was very kindly treated and highly respected. Having dropped along somewhat unexpectedly, and another visitor being at the house, it so happened there was not a spare room on the night of my stay; and Mrs. LeSeigneur, who was very anxious to do her best, asked me if I would sleep with another person, of which of course I readily agreed.

The person proved to be a very old gentleman who had passed his fourscore years, and who was enjoying the evening of life; after travels and toils, such as only seafaring men and fishermen understand. After retiring for the night, I talked to him somewhat, and found that he had come to Newfoundland a very young lad, about the age of thirteen; and as his story was very interesting, as all such stories are, I listened to him into the hours of the night, as he related to me something like the following:

"My name is Morgan, and I came to Newfoundland about 1820, and have never left it since. My home was in Poole, England, and I remember well the town, the seaport, and the shipping of that day; and I remember the fascination that came over me for travel and adventure, and how it grew upon me; until finally I decided to take the step which has meant so much to me; for by it I became lost to my own friends at home. In England, and have been surrounded by my children and grand-children here in Newfoundland, especially in Fortune Bay. Though I attended school at home, my chances of education were meagre, and its value was not known to me. However, I left the old school house, said good-bye to the old master, and set my face towards the New World. My ideas of the New World, or what it meant, of course, were very vague; still it implied a chance which perhaps would mean better bread, and perhaps would mean fortune. It has meant bread, but not fortune; but now that the end is drawing near and I have had my time and my day, I am satisfied with the course which I took.

"At the time when I came to Newfoundland, a passage could only be procured in the early spring; as it was then that the crews were shipped and apprentices taken on. Among the different firms which were known at home in connection with the Newfoundland trade, that of Newman seemed to be the most prominent; and every season they shipped quite a large number of lads and men, who signed articles for so many pounds with board and lodging; and who served what is known as two summers and one winter, and at the expiration of that time were taken back in one of the firm's ships, and landed in England.

"It was under these conditions that I signed articles, and bade good-bye to my native village, and to my childhood memories. The vessel in which I came was called the Eliza, and was a barque of some 240 tons. She is still running, and is one of the oldest vessels in the world. With a crew of some fifteen men, which included a carpenter and a sail-maker, and with some forty or fifty apprentices and several shipped men, our good ship left London, which is the headquarters of the firm of Newman & Co., and was soon clear of the Thames, and was waited on towards her destination. To me it was a wonderful change, and an experience never to be forgotten.

"The ship looked ponderous, and the captain and officers appeared as very great men; and the crew impressed me as great men also, for it was certain that most of them had been abroad in the world, and therefore knew much of its history and its customs, which to me seemed wonderful. The ship had two decks, and also a quarter deck, or poop. She was not built for passengers, but had accommodation suitable for men shipped such as we were. These quarters were separate from those of the crew, and were next to the locker or sail room, where the spare sails were kept (for such vessels always carried a spare suit of sails as well as a sail-maker). Our berths were rough, but comfortable, and the food was such as that given in all English ships, and was dealt out to us by measurement, commonly known in the British Shipping as the Pound and Pint system. Hard bread and corn beef, potatoes and peas, black tea and coffee, with the usual share of boiled flour, commonly known as duff.

"Such was the fare of all on board, and whether we liked it or not, we had to put up with it. We soon found there was no room for compliments on board the Eliza, and it was either take it, or do without it. The food was rough indeed, but to make it worse, many of us suffered from seasickness for part of the voyage, and some the whole way across. The weather during the voyage was fair, though nearing the Banks it was marked with storm. There was no serious mishap, and after twenty days the joyful cry of "land ahead" was heard, and our captain told us that within another day or two we would be safely landed at Harbor Breton. This was very pleasant news to us and we all felt better, and were looking forward with keenness to the spot where we were to spend a year and a half, and to the conditions of the place.

"And so, on the twenty-third day, we got well within the waters of Fortune Bay, near Brunette Island, and hauling west a little, we soon ran in between the Eastern and Western Heads of Hr. Breton. One by one the sails were lowered and clewed up and furled, and we looked around us upon our first vision of what we called the "New World."

SAVES ELDERLY PEOPLE FROM KIDNEY AND ALADDER MISERIES

Stop Disturbing Bladder Weaknesses, Backache, Stiff Joints Rheumatic Pains Disappear After Few Doses are Taken.

While people along in years are naturally more subject to weak kidneys, they can avoid the tortures of backache, and rheumatism, and be saved the annoyance of getting up at night with disagreeable bladder disorders, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly relieves the most severe and obstinate cases.

Croxone cures these conditions because it removes the cause. It is the most wonderful remedy ever devised for ridding the system of uric acid. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. Croxone makes the kidneys filter the blood and sift out all the poisonous acids and waste matter that cause these troubles.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped-up inactive kidneys like water does a sponge, dissolves, and drives out every particle of uric acid.

Women Stops Row.

On Saturday evening last a row occurred between two male residents of the Battery. The cause, it is alleged, was that one of the men, who is blind, was engaged by the Municipal Council to look after a water fountain in that section, while the other was a disgruntled aspirant for the same job. It appears that the blind man's daughter saw a man, whom she identified, use the fountain in a rash way and acquainted her father. Whereupon the latter confronted his opponent with and other poisonous impurities that lodge in the joints and muscles and cause rheumatism. It neutralizes the urine so it no longer irritates the bladder, overcomes unnecessary breaking of sleep and restores the kidneys and bladder to health and strength.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what else you have used. The very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it, and all your misery and suffering soon disappear. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

the report he had heard. Hot words elicited blows and a fierce fight ensued. After several minutes had elapsed the principals were separated by a few women, who prevented what looked to have a serious finish. The case will be thrashed out in court.

Death of W.A. Graham.

We regret to have to announce the death of William Alexander Graham, of pneumonia, at DeNevers, on the 6th inst.

Will was educated at the Methodist and Bishop Field Colleges in the seventies and entered the office of John Munn & Co., when he left school, where he spent five years. He was a fine fellow, the soul of honour, and a great favourite with the people of Harbour Grace. Later in life he often looked back to the pleasant time he spent in the Bay. The old town had not then begun to decline. He used to refer to it as "Dear Old Harbour Grace," and one of his great pleasures was to get good news of some of his old Newfoundland friends. He went to the United States about thirty years ago and drifted to Oklahoma then a new country and engaged in business and ranching, where he lived until his children grew up. He then settled down in Monte Vista. He leaves a widow and four children in Colorado, besides two sisters here, Mrs. C. Stevenson and Miss Graham to mourn their irreparable loss.

Superior Merit Alone

Can win the approbation of those accustomed to the luxuries of life. Their approval is not lightly given. The unstinted praise accorded OLD HOME TEA by tea-drinkers of this class clearly proves its vast superiority.

Made from the finest, purest and most carefully selected teas, OLD HOME is precisely what a perfect tea should be—full flavored, rich and exquisitely mild.

The Testimony of Facts!

From a letter published in the "Autocar" of Sept. 14th, '12, we notice that out of 13 Cars in a garage at Harrogate the following splendid tribute to MICHELIN TYRES:

- 3 Cars fitted with 2 MICHELINS each out of 4 Tyres.
- 2 Cars fitted with 3 MICHELINS each out of 4 Tyres.
- 5 Cars fitted with 4 MICHELINS each out of 4 Tyres.
- 3 Cars fitted without any MICHELINS at all, which shows out of 52 Tyres, 32 were MICHELINS. In other words, 61 1/2 per cent of Tyres fitted were MICHELINS, the remainder being divided between five other makers. MICHELIN Beats Them All.

SHOES

FOR YOUNG MEN.

PARKER & MONROE, Ltd.
The Shoe Men.

We have a Shoe that is a great favorite with Young Men who are smart dressers, and who want all the style kinks that can be worked into a Shoe.

Our TOURIST $3.50 Shoe.

This is the Shoe that fills the Young Man's fancy to the letter.

Made on lasts that are correct but extreme in style.

Straight or swing. Extension soles, narrow toes and military heels.

Blucher and lace cut. Choice leathers.

All sizes and widths. Not high priced, when we say $3.50.

Many young men have already found out, and others are finding out, that this is the store for swell Shoes. If a Shoe is here, it's right.
