CHAPTER XXI.

"If it is any pleasure to you to hear it, I will say I consider our arrangement quite perfect. If you had seen my brother before you came, which is impossible, but you know what I mean, you would understand how different he is now. And in pastry, too, the change is astonishing. Time after time Rebecca used to send up crust that really might have been tossed over the roof with less injury to itself than the tiles. Now, you can testify, Miss Grey, our dinners are not disgraced by such cookery. And why? Ah, ha! Rebecca knows better than to let her fire out when I'm near! And Gilbert's spirits are so improved, too. Why, I heard him laughing yesterday. What was it at, Miss Grey?"

Milkanna Tablets advertisement with an image of a woman and child and the text 'Milkanna Tablets'.

In this last direction her powers waxed stronger week by week. As summer waned, day only seemed to break on Gilbert Hurst with the first sound of Sydney's voice. Her presence transformed his life. Did he ask himself "How?" Well, by countless womanly intuitions; by the contact of a most animated intelligence. If by aught else, the time to formulate other influence had not come. It was yet hidden, unsuspected, but growing.

September took Sydney for her first exeat from Wynstone. The dispensing of her money accomplished, Jacob Cheene urged that they might meet. The asked-for hours were given instantly, though Miss Hurst was disappointed that the object and destination of her journey were not explained.

Quite early, when the sun was showing a copper-colored disk behind an autumn haze, Sydney set out to the railway-station. Footsteps had already brushed the dew-spangled cobwebs from the path by the poplars. The white gate stood open. Outside was Mr. Hurst. He heard the first fall of her foot, and his face lighting up with that full expressiveness that made his deprivation seem incredible, asked, might he make his morning walk beside her.

"Gladly," she answered, "if—instinctively choosing words that would not wound—"If he knew that road as marvelously as he did others about Wynstone."

"Thank you," he said, "but my memory is only canine. I was our cousin's godson, and came holiday-making to Capel Moor till I learned every nook about the place. I was to have been her heir, but she changed her mind."

"Oh! What made her do so?" Sydney exclaimed, with more impulse than discretion.

"Common sense. In those days I had a notion I could carve out what fortune I liked. Our worthy cousin took me at my own estimate, and left her little property to the one she thought would want it most."

Natural, this, yet Sydney couldn't help feeling that, as events had disposed themselves, it was something like leaving a managing magpie in charge of a disabled eagle! Then she chid herself for this ungracious metaphor, and made amends.

"Perhaps it does not signify, Mr. Hurst, which had the money. Your sister delights in using it for you."

"Poor Jean," he answered, with a smile that had sadness in it. "Her small estate is eaten up by one pensioner. When I was young I was arrogant, I fancy. I've fallen on lines that take that sort of nonsense out of a man, Miss Grey. Poor Jean!"

That reiteration was the nearest approach to complaint Mr. Hurst ever made over his own and his sister's relative positions. But Sydney, looking up shyly, saw how the grave serenity of the whole face betokened mastery of strong passion and will rather than the placidity of inborn composure, and the pity that welled up within her was less for "poor Jean" than for Jean's brother.

"Mind," he said, as they reached the valley through which the coming train was sounding like distant wind, "there are the roots of a tree across the path a little way on. Don't forget them if it is dusk when you return."

CHARLES HUTTON, Nfld's Bona Fide Music Store.

Not one in Capel Moor feared the blind gentleman.

"Oh, if you please, sir, it's some foxe gloves mother have sent the lady."

"What lady? Miss Hurst?"

"No, sir; the young lady, if you please, as come by yesterday and give mother sixpence 'cause she've sprained her wrist."

"And you don't know her name?"

"No, sir. But, if you please, she's the pretty lady."

He took the flowers carefully indoors, and summoned Rebecca to put them in Miss Grey's room.

Miss Hurst met the flowers en route, and learned their story from her brother. The little messenger's adjectives, however, escaped repeating.

"It would be Ruth Jones, I expect Miss Grey likes the road past their cottage, and she's a person that, I've no doubt, poor people would take to."

An opinion on which penniless Mr. Hurst entertained no doubt whatever. Arrived at Stillcote-Upton and Mr. Cheene's dwelling, Nancy, in stiff lilac print, her carotid rocks skewered away under a white muslin helmet, ushered Sydney through what had been Miss Ambler's shop, but was now promoted to the dignity of a private sitting-room upstairs, splendid with American cloth, to the lodger's apartment, which, rehabilitated by druggist and curtains, polished windows and fresh paint, looked quite an elegant apartment, full five shillings a week more lettable than three months before.

Suggestions of replenished purses filled the air. Jacob, in his Sunday suit, was waiting for her. The odor of excellent coffee, prepared by Miss Ambler's hands for Mr. Cheene's visitor, blended with the scent of a gorgeous nosegay, and a scheme to make this day as festive as possible was effectively carried out, with only a few minutes' unpreventable collapses.

"I have worked you too hard, Jacob," Sydney said, anxiously, when Nancy having stumped off with the breakfast, she fetched her father's office stool, and seated herself at the old clerk's feet; "you are thinner and paler. You are tired with all our talking."

"Tired with pleasure, then, Miss Sydney, and that never kills."

"It had not need kill you—our one friend—my father's and mine."

"No fear. If it could, it would have done it these last few weeks."

"Were the people glad, then?"

"Glad isn't word enough, Miss Sydney. They were nearly dazed with delight, some of them."

Then he told her how the few score pounds here, the few hundred there, had come like a gift on those who had thought their savings lost. How some could not believe their luck till hard cash proved their glad surprise no dream. How all—Sydney exulted over this—had said, "Wasn't it the best?"

FREE TO ALL SUFFERERS THE NEW FRENCH REMEDY, N. J. McNEIL'S HERAPION

very thing poor. Mr. Alwyn would have done if money had come to him before he died—for he wasn't the man to injure a soul willingly." And he showed her letters of blundering orthography, but unmistakable, and described his poor, hard-pressed landlady's outburst of joy; how she had refused her share till assured none came out of his, Jacob's, pocket, and how, when convinced her fortune had come back in a golden lump, she had insisted on embracing Mr. Cheene, and poured out such blessings on her anonymous benefactor, mixed with such self-obloquy at having overstepped the bounds of justice in the matter of her lodger's "leavings," as, confessed Jacob, smoothing his shaggy eyebrows, "made a simpleton of me, Miss Sydney, though I hadn't felt so happy for fifteen years."

And he told, too, of poor John Lewis; how his old cottage would be free at Michaelman, and he was to get back to it; and how, with Nurse's money and his own, poverty would never hang about their door again.

Sydney's eyes overflowed at that.

"If only dear old Taffy could have had her share! You put what I told you for her, Jacob?"

"Yes," he answered, "it's there. Her grave won't be forgotten now. But I felt I hardly ought to let you do it, Miss Sydney. You've left yourself poorest of all."

"Poor!" She looked up, a light in her beautiful eyes which prosperity could never have kindled. "Jacob, I never felt so rich! But I am still in debt. There is interest on interest. Shall I ever be able to pay it?"

"And I wonder," said Mr. Cheene, "if ever you will get anything for yourself. Money burns holes in your pocket, Miss Sydney."

She laughed, though tears twinkled on her long lashes.

"It's little gets the chance! And if I were as rich as Croesus, there are people I couldn't pay. You, for example."

"That's nothing, Miss Sydney, seeing what I owed your father."

"Ah! you say that to ease me."

"No, I say it to take what you might feel a burden off your shoulders. For I'll tell you the truth, as no one on earth knows it. Yes, take hold of me; that helps me, just as your father did when he'd come up and down High Street with his arm through mine, Miss Sydney, when I was a lad, and your father was just head of the office, I got into ill company. I'd joined a glee club, as they called it; but our evenings that began with glees ended with loo. And I lost at that, and—"

"Oh, Jacob, dear, don't tell me this. It doesn't matter now."

A Canada Life Endowment.

New Glasgow, N.S., February 26th, 1914. J. I. FLICK, ESQ., District Manager, Canada Life Assurance Co., New Glasgow, N.S.

Dear Sir— I wish to state that I am well satisfied with the results which your Company have given me in connection with my Endowment Policy No. 47,775, which matures on the 17th of March. I find that the returns give me over $424.00 more than I have paid in premiums, in addition to the protection that I have had during the Policy term. I consider this all the more satisfactory taking into account the fact that the dividends were applied as a Bonus every five years. I, therefore, received a return beyond Bank interest, in addition to the protection.

Yours very truly, JOSEPH STEWART.

Taking Too Much Responsibility.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Nobody in this house will take any responsibility except me," I heard a tired mother say the other day.

What she said was true. At least, to a large extent.

Her husband is an irresponsible irresponsible irresponsible person, who looks five years younger than his wife although he is actually a year or two older.

Her children are extravagant about money matters, disorderly about the house and careless in regard to their clothes. Their mother has to "keep after them all the time," as she puts it. The oldest daughter is amply old enough to take some of the care from her mother's shoulders but she never does. Her share of managing the house consists in performing certain small, routine tasks, and even here her mother has to see that the work is done and done right.

Naturally the mother of this irresponsible family, although normally a robust and energetic personality, is becoming worn out.

I don't blame her for feeling discouraged and overburdened, and yet neither do I entirely blame her family. For one of the chief reasons why they are so irresponsible is that she is so responsible.

Responsibility is not a thing that most people crave. When one member of the family gets into the habit of taking it, the rest of the family slip into the habit of yielding it.

Almost from her wedding day this woman began to take the responsibility of the family upon her shoulders. She liked to lead and rule, and responsibility came natural to her. Her husband was a rather easy going person with no great sense of responsibility.

Had he married a different sort of a woman I think he would have developed that quality. As it was he developed in the opposite direction. When the children came the same thing happened to them.

And now the mother is growing older, and she begins to find all this responsibility which she has arrogated to herself a burden too heavy to bear.

Poor, unhappy creature. I can't say I'm not sorry for her, because I'm always sorry for people who make mistakes. I've no patience with the sentiment "she's made her bed and now she can lie in it." But I do think she has no right to put all the blame on her family. One of the best stories I ever read told of a woman who had more business ability than her husband, and who, when he lost his position, went into the business world and made good. Then instead of sharing the responsibility for supporting the family with her husband she gradually came to depend on her own for his own clothes and spending money. Ultimately she divorced him and thereupon he married a woman of the other type, went back into the business world and, pushed forward by his new sense of responsibility, made good.

Every human being ought to beware how he takes more than his fair share of responsibility. Whoever takes too large a share is laying up a burden for himself and robbing his fellow creatures of their birthright. They may be willing, just as Esau was willing, but he has no right to do it and sooner or later everyone concerned will suffer.

British Runners Beat Out the Americans.

Philadelphia, April 25—Oxford University of England, won the four mile relay championship of America from the University of Pennsylvania here this afternoon in the most sensational finish ever seen in that event in the seventeen years the race has been run on Franklin field. The English team had to fight all the way and won the remarkable race by a scant foot.

The wonderful Jackson, Olympic 1100 metre champion, the anchor man of the English team, was pushed to the limit of human endurance by McCurdy of Pennsylvania, the two mile inter-collegiate champion, and fell into the arms of his supporters as he breasted the tape.

The race was run in a heavy rain storm, and the time, 18 minutes five seconds, broke the four mile record for the Pennsylvania relays. The American and world's record is held by Cornell, 17 minutes and fifty-five seconds. The track was very heavy and experts believed it to be about five seconds slow to the mile.

So close was the race between Jackson and McCurdy that it was several minutes before the spectators could learn who had won. The two men came into the home stretch shoulder to shoulder. Thirty yards from the tape McCurdy led by about a foot. Captain Jackson made a last desperate effort to take the lead and just managed to shove his shoulder ahead of McCurdy. In this way they ran, amid in tense excitement. When Jackson got the width of his shoulder in front of McCurdy he swerved slightly in toward the pole and the shoulders of the two men were almost touching with Jackson's just in front. This was their position at the tape.

As the two runners came down the stretch stride for stride, Pennsylvania supporters thought McCurdy would win and excited spectators rushed on the track. But splendid work by policemen who clubbed back the crowd kept the way clear. Otherwise the two men would not have been able to finish.

As the two men fell across the line, an excited spectator rushed at James E. Sullivan, the referee, and wildly protested that McCurdy had been fouled, but Sullivan waved him away and declared the English team the winner. There was not the slightest ground for a protest, the referee said.

As the two men finished, several thousand persons rushed on the track and surrounded the runners and officials and it was with difficulty that the winner could be learned.

After the race Referee Sullivan said: "It was the most wonderful finish I ever saw in a relay race in more than twenty-five years of athletics. Pennsylvania ran a great race against wonderful stars."

Aside from the showing made by McCurdy against the Olympic champion, the surprise of the race was the easy way in which Madeira, of Pennsylvania, beat Tabor, of Oxford, in the third mile. It was fast work for both men all the way. Tabor was unable to shake off Madeira, who forced to the front and beat Tabor in the mile by about ten yards. Madeira's time was 4:22 4-5, the fastest of the four.

Jackson easily made up the distance Tabor had lost, and he and McCurdy ran around the track together all through the first, second and third quarters and into the last quarter up to within an eighth of a mile of the finish, where both cut loose. Rain was coming down heavily at the time but the twenty thousand spectators did not appear to mind it, and cheered frantically as the two champions came into the last one hundred yards for their exciting finish. The time of this mile was 4:33 the slowest of the four, due to the fact that each man was saving himself for the final terrific drive home.

Yarmouth Woman Dead From Injuries

INFLECTED BY HER HUSBAND.

Yarmouth, April 23.—An awful tale of brutality came to light shortly before noon, from the death of Mrs. Ebenezer Hilton, of South Ohio, seven miles from town, because known. It transpires that the woman died as the result of injuries inflicted on her by her husband at an early hour yesterday morning. It is said that the couple had an altercation, and the man had backed his arguments by brute force. "The woman's chest is said to be beaten to a pulp and her face was severely cut. On top of the beating he threw a lighted lamp at her, hitting her in the face and practically taking her nose off. The lamp then exploded and the flames burned her hair off and set fire to her clothing. In her fight for life she inhaled so much smoke and fire that it was seen it would be impossible for her to live, and the doctors devoted their energies making her last hours as easy as possible. This same Ebenezer Hilton was in trouble some years ago, and served a term in the county jail for brutally beating and indirectly causing the death of his aged mother. In the latter case, after beating the old lady, he refused to allow her to be buried and she was forced to sleep in the pig pen, bringing on an attack of pneumonia which resulted fatally.

The Voyage and Its Lessons.

With the arrival of the s.s. Diana, yesterday, the sealing voyage for 1914 closes. The voyage stands out unfortunately as the worst voyage ever known for the toll exacted in life and limb. It has been marked by the loss of 77 lives and the maiming of a number of others in the case of the disaster to the crew of the Newfoundland, and the loss of the Southern Cross with 175 souls. This terrible loss has aroused the sympathy of thousands of people at home and abroad, and now some $200,000 is in sight to cope with the distress and destitution which these disasters have brought in their train. In number of seals brought in and especially as regards weight the voyage has been a good average one, and will be supplemented by a large shore catch on the French Shore. The Gulf has shown up particularly well, and the number of seals killed and put aboard was exceptionally large, although the large trip in the Southern Cross was lost. April proved itself an exceptionally bad month for storms and dirty weather. Otherwise the catch would have been much larger. The Neptune, for instance, was in the neighborhood of old seals for almost a week, but the weather was so bad, that nothing worth while could be done. The disasters of the voyage are such as to give a pause to the country and to make those in authority and those interested in the voyage, ship owners and sealers alike, stop and think as to what can be done to eliminate the risks which have proved so deadly this year, from the voyage. Everybody is awaiting the report of Judge Knight in the matter of the inquest on the Newfoundland victims. Everybody recognizes that a Commission must be held to go into the whole question of the sealing venture. Everybody feels that legislative provisions must be made to safeguard sealers from such deaths as some of them met on board of the Southern Cross and on the ice when hunting from the Newfoundland.

A Splendid Bill At the Nickel.

The Nickel Theatre had another splendid show, Saturday. At night there was a large attendance and general delight was expressed with the programme. "A Wise Old Elephant" is an exceptionally clever picture. It is a two-reel feature by the Selig Co., and displays wonderful instinct on the part of the big animal. No one who saw this picture could refrain from remarking the elephant's marvellous training. "Madeline's Christmas" is a humane story which touched the tender spot in the hearts of those present. There was also a full reel of William's Animated News, showing a number of English scenes. "The Cheapest Way" is a comedy which made a great hit with the audience. Miss Etta Gardner sang "Kiss me for I've never been kissed before," and Mr. McCarthy "A Girl in the Heart of Maryland." The programme will be repeated this evening.

NEWS BY CABLE.

Special to Evening Telegram.
VERA CRUZ, To-day.
Persistent reports continue to circulate here that Huerta intends to retire from the Provisional Presidency of Mexico, on condition that he be assured a safe conduct to a port and placed on board a foreign warship.

OTTAWA, To-day.
Word was received that Canada has won four out of the five cases recently argued before the Pecuniary Claims Commission at Washington, and in which judgment has been delivered. One was the Cadenhead case where damages were claimed by the estate of Miss Cadenhead; an innocent spectator shot at Fort Brady, Michigan, by a United States Sentry many years ago. The sentry had fired at a deserter and the shot accidentally struck a woman. The award is $2,000. Another case is that of La Canadienne, a Government boat damaged by collision in the St. Lawrence with an American gunboat. The Great North Western Telegraph Company, in a third case, secures damages for carrying away of its cable at Quebec by an American gunboat. Other cases in which damages are awarded are for seizure of the fishing vessels Lord Nelson and Frederick Gerring.

TORONTO, To-day.
Within a short distance of Toronto whither he was coming to deliver an address to the Canadian Brotherhood at the Metropolitan Church, the plan-vestor Horne, Member of the British Commons, for Ipswich, fell dead on the deck of the Niagara steamer Curonia, on Saturday night, the first of his wife. The distinguished visitor came to deliver a series of lectures at Yale University. These were concluded last week, and his visit to Toronto was the result of an invitation from the Canadian Brotherhood.

WASHINGTON, To-day.
Three South American envoys who have undertaken the task of pacifying Mexico, by diplomacy, to-day made another decisive move in their plan by requesting the States Government, Huerta and Carranza to appoint representatives to confer with them at Washington. The envoys felt confident that the step they had taken would meet with favor by all concerned. Thus far responses from Huerta and Carranza have not been clear as to whether the differences between the United States and Mexico, arising out of the Tampico incident alone would be considered by them, or whether they would accept a general discussion of the Mexican problem by sending representatives.

Mayor Ellis Returns.

Mayor Ellis returned to the city by the morning's express after a two months' absence, during which he toured the principal American and Canadian cities on business and pleasure combined. He was accompanied by his niece, Miss Quinn, and both of them are looking well after their trip. Speaking to a Telegram representative to-day the Mayor said that he was about to return when he was informed of the sealing disaster. He then altered his arrangements and on behalf of those deprived of their breadwinners, made an urgent appeal for relief in the principal cities that he visited. He interviewed the principal Newfoundlanders in these cities, and through the medium of the press and platform made a direct appeal for help. Speaking of the generous response with which his appeals were met, Mr. Ellis paid a glowing tribute to the genuine sympathy of the Newfoundlanders and those affiliated with them in these cities, which resulted in a practical demonstration in the form of generous donations. He also informed us that in New York the fund is steadily increasing and is now in the vicinity of $10,000, while that in Boston is about $5,000, and Montreal about $15,000. Speaking of the Boston contribution, which may at first sight appear small compared with the other cities, he said it represented the donations from the working classes principally, as solicited by the collectors. Many had sent their subscriptions here direct to friends, and to agents in the case of business concerns. Mr. Ellis also informs us that in the majority of cases every individual member of a household is contributing, and the amounts, which are in many instances small, because of their circumstances, are given cheerfully and with deep sympathy for the afflicted ones.

Annual Meeting

Field-Spencer Association.
The annual meeting of the Field-Spencer Association took place on Saturday last, and was presided over by Rev. G. R. Godden.
The reports submitted showed that the Association has had a very successful year. The proposed extension to the Colleges will be considered when the funds increase. A substantial sum has been raised, and further guarantees obtained.
The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows:
President—Hon. R. Watson.
Vice-President—Mr. T. Winter and Mr. H. Outebrine.
Secretary—Mr. C. Chit.
Treasurer—Mr. J. A. Winter.
The same Council was re-elected with power to increase the numbers.
After the election the rev. chairman reviewed the needs of both colleges, and heartily thanked those interested for their presence, after which the meeting adjourned.

A Memorable Event.

The much talked of operetta and variety entertainment in aid of Holy Cross Schools will take place on Wednesday night at the Casino Theatre and will be well worth a full house. The programme is elaborate and the singing and acting will do credit to a much more pretentious performance. Prof. Hutton and the Christian Brothers have given careful attention to all the details in connection with the entertainment, and the delightful and sparkling comic operetta in two acts, entitled "Breaking Up," will be a treat in itself. The performance will not commence before 8.30, so an opportunity will be afforded all those engaged in the stores to see the greater part of the first part of the programme and the entire comic operetta. Tickets should be secured immediately at the Atlantic Bookstore to avoid disappointment.

Reids' Boats.

BONAVENTURE WILL DOCK.—The s.s. Bonaventure enters the dry dock this afternoon, for general repairs.

EXPRESS ARRIVES.—The Bruce express arrived in the city at 11.20 to-day, with about thirty passengers.

MAY BE CHARTERED.—We understand negotiations are now going on for the charter of the s.s. Erik in Hudson Bay waters this summer.

DIGBY NOT ARRIVED.—The Furges liner Digby was reported 170 miles off Cape Race at noon on Saturday. She had not arrived up to press hour and is likely detained by ice.

MORE DIPHTHERIA.—Two cases of diphtheria were reported from a house on Bell Street since Saturday. The patients, two children, have been removed to hospital.

WILL RECEIVE TEMPORARY REPAIRS.—Temporary repairs will be made to the s.s. Tellus at the dock pier, as the basin is unable to accommodate the ship, because of her width.

WANTED—A Girl for Repairing Department; must be a good needle-hand and competent for the work. SPURRELL BROS., 365 Water Street, next door to Parker & Monroe's.

POLICE COURT.—A laborer for looting and disorderly conduct was ordered to find two sureties in $20 each or 30 days; and for assaulting the police was fined $5 or 14 days. Three drunks were each fined $2 or 7 days, and two more were fined $10 or 30 days.

IN AID OF NEW HOLY CROSS SCHOOLS.—Charming Variety Entertainment & Sparkling Comic Operetta, Casino Theatre, Wednesday, May 6th, at 8.30 p.m. My lady friend was delighted with the tickets I was lucky enough to get at the Atlantic Bookstore. Take the tip and hustle.—may 4, 11

The Big Show

At the Crescent To-day.
Brave Lady Babbie in 3 Reels.
A three reel photo-play full of interest and the dramatization of a story that will appeal to all is the big feature at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day when the great 3,000 feet long clear special Brave Lady Babbie will head the list. The wonderful picture which is related from the days when the American Republic was governed by King George the third, who ruled over England and her dominions at that time. The Bravery of Lady Babbie is the cent feature of a well laid plot in which Barbara Tennant the noted actress is the leader. "When Spirits Walk" is a first class comedy, and will follow the special feature. Mr. Sydney Earnshaw, the popular vocalist is singing a very pleasing song "When I dream of Old Erin I'm dreaming of You." This performance is a worthy one and will best be appreciated by the verdict of the many patrons who will patronize the Crescent to-day and to-morrow afternoons and evenings. As a special for Wednesday and Thursday the two Reel Scotch masterpiece "Shon the Piper" will be presented.
A lass with eyes of Highland Blue Who loved the Pipes and Piper, too.

Close of the Voyage.

Diana Brings Back the Key.
The S. S. Diana, Capt. B. Barbour, arrived from the northern sealfishery yesterday, bringing back the key as she was the last sealer to return and hauling for 5,000 seals, young and old, principally the latter.
The Diana did not strike the white-coats until the big patch was cut up, as the ship was jammed for several days in the early part of the voyage. On April 6th the first patch of old seals were struck and each day after a couple of hundred were taken. Conditions for killing old seals were bad. The weather was stormy and the ice broken up. Early in April most of the crew knowing about the terrible disaster, wanted to come home. While the ship was taking coal from the Nascope the crew were advised by Mr. W. P. Conker to remain out for the finish of the voyage. A few days after the men heard of the attitude of the Eagle's crew. They then got up a largely signed petition stating that they refused to work. After much persuasion and difficulty the "strikers" were pacified by the Captain. No further trouble was experienced. On Friday at least the ship bore up for home and arrived as mentioned.

The Big Show

At the Crescent To-day.

Brave Lady Babbie in 3 Reels.

A three reel photo-play full of interest and the dramatization of a story that will appeal to all is the big feature at the Crescent Picture Palace to-day when the great 3,000 feet long clear special Brave Lady Babbie will head the list. The wonderful picture which is related from the days when the American Republic was governed by King George the third, who ruled over England and her dominions at that time. The Bravery of Lady Babbie is the cent feature of a well laid plot in which Barbara Tennant the noted actress is the leader. "When Spirits Walk" is a first class comedy, and will follow the special feature. Mr. Sydney Earnshaw, the popular vocalist is singing a very pleasing song "When I dream of Old Erin I'm dreaming of You." This performance is a worthy one and will best be appreciated by the verdict of the many patrons who will patronize the Crescent to-day and to-morrow afternoons and evenings. As a special for Wednesday and Thursday the two Reel Scotch masterpiece "Shon the Piper" will be presented.
A lass with eyes of Highland Blue Who loved the Pipes and Piper, too.

Close of the Voyage.

Diana Brings Back the Key.

The S. S. Diana, Capt. B. Barbour, arrived from the northern sealfishery yesterday, bringing back the key as she was the last sealer to return and hauling for 5,000 seals, young and old, principally the latter.
The Diana did not strike the white-coats until the big patch was cut up, as the ship was jammed for several days in the early part of the voyage. On April 6th the first patch of old seals were struck and each day after a couple of hundred were taken. Conditions for killing old seals were bad. The weather was stormy and the ice broken up. Early in April most of the crew knowing about the terrible disaster, wanted to come home. While the ship was taking coal from the Nascope the crew were advised by Mr. W. P. Conker to remain out for the finish of the voyage. A few days after the men heard of the attitude of the Eagle's crew. They then got up a largely signed petition stating that they refused to work. After much persuasion and difficulty the "strikers" were pacified by the Captain. No further trouble was experienced. On Friday at least the ship bore up for home and arrived as mentioned.

SRINGAPATAN captured 1799. A fortress of great strength in India which fell before an English army under Sir David Baird. This capture added over 20,000 square miles to British territory in Southern India. HUXLEY born 1825. An eminent scientist and author of numerous works covering a great range of research. After the publication of Darwin's "Origin of Species," Huxley became an ardent evolutionist. His biological work, "Man's place in Nature," and his numerous essays, were marked by great vigour and clearness of thought, and gave him a leading position. He held important appointments and was made Privy Councillor in 1882.
 They that deny a God, destroy man's nobility, for certainly man is of kin to the beasts by his body; and if he is not of kin to God by his spirit, he is an ignoble creature.—Bacon.

A Brilliant Student.

Mr. Hal Chaplin, the son of Mr. Mark Chaplin, has won much distinction during his career as a medical student. He has just passed his professional qualifying examinations and obtained the qualification of Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians of London (L.R.C.P.) and the qualification of Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of England (M.R.C.S.). He was the only candidate from St. Thomas's Hospital who took Medicine, Surgery and Midwifery at the same time, but in doing so he passed the credits with brilliancy. In the Hospital examination he became Gold Medalist for obtaining the highest aggregate of marks. In five of the seven subjects he obtained a first class. In Midwifery and Gynecology he took first place and a £10 bursary; in Pathology first place and a £5 bursary; in Public Health, first place and a £5 bursary; in Forensic Medicine, second place, and in Surgery, third place, a result of which he and his parents may well be proud. To-day he commences sitting for the final examination for the London University Degrees of M.B. and B.S., and he has given such earnest in his professional examination of distinguished success in his University finals as we hope he will achieve.

Wedding Bells at Badger Brook.

The marriage of Miss Lucy Gibbons, of Colinet, to Mr. Philip Davis, of Colinet, was before a large gathering of guests and friends, solemnized on April 27th in the school-room at Badger Brook. The Rev. Father Finn, P.P., of Grand Falls, officiated. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Michael Conran, section foreman on the R.N. Co.'s railway. She wore a cream silk dress with overlace and veil and wreath of lilies of the valley and carried a very pretty bouquet. She was attended by Miss Katie Conran, her cousin and Miss Theresa Mullooney, a bridesmaid. Miss Conran wearing cream lace, will have to match, whilst Miss Mullooney wore a very pretty slate colored satin; Miss Annie Conran prettily attired, and wearing a veil and carrying a bouquet of lilies acted as flower girl. The best men were Mr. John Davis and Gregory Dwyer. After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was had at the home of the bride's uncle. After dinner justice to the splendid menu provided for the occasion, the Rev. Fr. Finn made a very happy speech in which he congratulated the bride and groom and wished them all kinds of happiness in their future life. Amongst the guests invited were H. W. Cole, Esq., manager A.N.D. Co., and his wife, Andrew Porter, Esq., chief accountant, A.N.D. Co., Eugene Farward, cashier, and wife, Messrs. O'Sullivan, Cunningham, Poyars, Flitsby and a host of others. Many valuable and costly presents were received testifying to the popularity of the young couple. In honor of the event dancing was kept up both on the night of the wedding and the following night and each and every one voted this wedding the best they ever attended.—Com.

McMurdo's Store News.

MONDAY, May 4, 1914.

Mum removes all odor of perspiration from all parts of the body, and other bodily odors, without substituting any odor in their place. It has had remarkable success and is more and more used as each season comes round. A word to the wise is sufficient. Price 30c. a pot.
 Why not try one of our Kidney Plasters for that annoying pain in the back. Probably it is only a vague sense of discomfort, hardly enough to bother about, yet present at odd times and continually recurring, say after you have sat in a draught, or done much stooping. A Kidney Plaster (McMurdo's) will remove that pain. Price 30 cents.

More Fires.

Fires provoke immediate sympathy for the sufferers and also thankfulness for personal escape. Another thought should be whether one is personally and sufficiently protected? An insurance policy with Percie Johnson would provide for you this desired security and at small expense. Have you enough insurance?

Golf Balls.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Slivash"
 A golf ball is a piece of currency which varies in value from 50 cents to 75 cents. It is legal tender on all golf courses.

Golf balls are made of fine rubber by an extensive and complicated process which causes them to cost more than watermelons or nail kegs. A golf ball is about 1 1/2 inches in diameter when it is bought, but after it has been driven into the long grass it shrinks to the size of a nickel's worth of radium and is extremely difficult to find.

Golf balls are very elastic and when hit brutally with a long, large-headed club they sometimes fly almost 1,000 feet. In these days of persistent and almost paralytic peace, about the only danger the average business man faces is that of being shot with a golf ball. When such a ball is traveling at its best speed it is almost as dangerous as a charge from an old-fashioned blunderbuss.

Millions of golf balls are made each year in this country, but the visible supply does not increase. In fact, there is no visible supply of golf balls. After a ball has gone into use it is invisible most of the time: In the art of crawling under a leaf or down a worm hole, no insect, however well equipped with legs, can excel a golf ball. Each year carloads of bright, new white balls are manufactured, and by winter each one of these balls has retired to some quiet spot on a golf course, where it will not be interfered with by man. Some day, thousands of years hence, archaeologists, digging around the United States, will find vast deposits of golf balls in various spots. These spots will represent the golf courses of today.

The golf ball is an education in extravagance and also in the art of holding one's temper. If a man can drive two or three nice new golf balls into the mysterious unknown without getting mad and biting his club in two he is scandalously extravagant. And if he isn't extravagant he mislays his temper even more thoroughly than he has mislaid the balls.

Are You Droopy, Tired, Worn Out?

Here is Good Advice to All Who Feel as if Their Vigor and Life Had All Oozed Away. This Condition Can be Quickly Cured by a Good Cleaning Medicine.

Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you, 'No breakfast needed here this morning.' A cup of coffee would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper was my only good meal, but I guess I didn't digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the band. A friend of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my liver, perhaps my stomach, too, because at the very start they made things go right. Look at me now—no sleep in the day-time, but hustling for the mighty dollar and getting fun out of life every minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they have rebuilt and rejuvenated my entire system."

To keep free from headaches, to feel young and bright, to enjoy your meals, to sleep sound and look your best, nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box, five for $1.00 at all druggists and storekeepers or postpaid from The Catarrohose Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

MEXICO CITY, May 3.
 Foreign Minister Jos. Lopez Portillo today resigned yesterday at President Huerta's request. Before quitting his post he told newspaper correspondents that a suspension of hostilities had been agreed upon. Sub-Secretary Robert Ruse also resigned as soon as he was apprised of the enforced retirement of his chief.

MEXICO CITY, May 3.
 The War Department to-night says that all the federal forces in the north await the result of the negotiations with regard to mediation between the United States and Mexico. It is asserted that 17,000 men under command of General Maas, are in the interior, (in readiness?) A report was current that a committee of citizens left last night on a special train bound for Saltillo for the purpose of influencing the rebels of the State of Chihuahua to join the federals in the event of an invasion.

EL PASO, May 3.
 General Carranza has formally declined the suggestion of the mediators that he cease hostilities against Huerta, pending the outcome of the plan of mediation. His note was sent to Washington yesterday and made public to-day.

MEXICO CITY, May 3.
 The situation in Mexico City to-day had the appearance of becoming serious for the Administration, and well informed circles expected that President Huerta might resign at any moment.

COWES, May 3.
 The Duke of Argyll, son-in-law of Queen Victoria and former Governor General of Canada, is dead, aged 69.

Good Ol' Al.

Red McGhee says:

Red McGhee

Al, you're some guy in baseball lore. You don't break into no box score, can't hit or field or throw. An' yet you're with us every year—Spring, summer, fall, you're always near 't horn in on the show. For action you're the candy biz, you play in every league there is an' play with all the teams. With ridge pole nerves or cellar champs, world's series games or training camps—you're everywhere. It seems.

An' baseball isn't all you do. You run with racers, boxers, too, an' golf an' tennis chaps. The wrestlers have you on their staff, you figure strongly in the game of billiard-shootin' yaps. You sail the lakes with yachtin' bugs, you're there when all those big chugs-chugs cut loose at Ormond Beach. You're certainly a funny sort. There ain't no branch of any sport too distant for you reach.

An' yet with all yer buzzin' round, y' stand jus' like a yeller hound with all the decent fans. Each time you open up yer yap, the fans all holler: "Shut yer trap!"—Yer tail's worn off from cans. But you're a sticked, darn you, Al, an' they can't shake you as a pal, no matter how they try. An' jus' as long as games are played you'll hang around like ghostly shade. Doggone you, Al!

Barrack Room Pranks

Many tricks are played upon a newly-joined recruit, who must be an exceptionally smart man to avoid being duped on at least one occasion. Each recruit is supplied with a "small kit," consisting of brushes, combs, etc., and while he is inspecting them a soldier will often come up and say, "Halloo, chum! you haven't got your soap marked with your number. You had better run down to the store and get them to do it, or you'll be sent to the trop' (guard-room). The unsuspecting recruit, deceived by the apparent sincerity of the soldier, hastens to follow the advice given, with the result that he is heartily laughed at on returning.

Another joke occurred in a certain regiment when a company sergeant-major had occasion to visit a barrack-room, to which two recruits had been recently posted. He noticed the absence of one of the new men, and asked the other where his comrade was. To the astonishment and inward amusement of the N.C.O., the man replied, without a smile, "Please sir, the corporal has sent him down to the tailor's shop to be measured for his sentry box!"

ARRESTED AND RELEASED.—A seaman named Andersen, belonging to the S. S. Tallman, who was arrested Saturday afternoon for stealing goods from the hold of the ship, was let go Saturday night on paying a $10 fine.

Carat Now Unit of Weight.

London, April 25.—To-day the metric carat of 200 milligrams is ordained the legal standard of weight for precious stones and pearls, and for the first time in the history of jewelry the unit of weight habitually employed by jewelers in the United Kingdom receives legal sanction. For the first time, too, it may be noted, is any part of the metric system of weights and measures in compulsory use in this country.

The carat originated undoubtedly in some seed plentiful in the East and uniform in size, most probably in that of the carob or locust tree, Ceratonia siliqua, which is so common on the shores of the Mediterranean. The Greek carat, like the Roman siliqua, was at one time used for weighing gold as well as precious stones, and since twenty-four of them were contained in the holden solidus of Constantine, this probably the origin of the curious method in use for denoting the fineness of gold, and in the early days the two senses of the word were identical. The solidus was one-sixth of the weight now known as the troy ounce, and, if we assume that there has been no appreciable change in the latter, the old carat was equivalent to three and one-third grains 216 milligrams.

Business Men's Investments

Next to stock and bond brokers the proprietors and partners of business concerns ought usually to be the most expert judges of investment values. They should, therefore, be able to obtain a yield beyond the reach of persons of less experience.

Business men particularly are invited to investigate the 7 p.c. Preferred Stock of the Maritime Mail Company—which we quote at par with a 40 p.c. bonus of Common Stock. We'll gladly assist in such investigation by sending complete reports.

World's Best Beggar.

The "world's best beggar" is now a peer of the realm, the Hon. Sydney Holland becoming Viscount Knutsford upon the death of his father a short time ago.

The new peer is well known for his work in connection with the London Hospital, and his ingenious devices to raise contributions for that institution have earned him the title of the "world's best beggar."

Once he offered a guinea to anyone who would give him a line to fill a hoarding, and so gained a cheap advertisement for the six weeks that the competition lasted. Another of his ruses was to acknowledge subscriptions in Azony columns of the newspapers, and add, "Six accidents an hour."

In the course of his begging crusades he has acquired an insight into the art of advertising such as few professional experts could hope to beat. He finds that a letter to the newspapers must either end in "a soft or a smile." "A letter signed by three millionaires, a bishop, and a society lady," he says, "is not worth 425."

People must be told a striking fact before they will be interested. Thus if they read that eighteen miles of catgut are used to sew up arteries at the London Hospital every year, they are more likely to reply to a begging letter when it follows. The fact that the London Hospital has never been in debt is a good line, for English people welcome success.

C.M.B.C. Harbor Mission

The Cathedral Men's Bible Class began their Harbour Mission work yesterday morning. The members attended Communion at the Cathedral at 7 a.m., at which Rev. J. Brinton was celebrant. The opening service was held at Ayre and Sons wharf and was largely attended. Rev. Brinton made a stirring address on the wharf service, dealing with the work of the Class.

Allan Boat in Port.

Over a Fortnight Coming From Liverpool.

After being ice-bound and detained by fog for several days off this coast, the Allan Liner "Pomeranian," Capt. McDonald, arrived at 5.30 p.m. on Saturday from Liverpool.

The passage, which was tedious, occupied over fourteen days. For the first week at sea conditions were favourable and good headway was made, until the field ice was met on Monday. A S. E. course was then taken to skirt the ice and the ship had to be carefully navigated. She brought 22 packages of mail matter, 1,013 tons of cargo and the following passengers in saloon:—

Hon. J. Anderson, W. H. Cass, Jos. Cocker, Bertram Cocker, W. J. Edgar, S. O. Fawcett, G. Fearn, Miss H. Graham, T. E. Hurst-Hodgson, Mrs. F. Morris, Miss M. Morris, W. Payne, wife and three children, Leon Poirer, and seven in steerage.

Good Prospects.

The following report of last week's codfishery around Channel and Port aux Basques has been received by the Board of Trade: "No dories, skiffs, or boats were fishing last week and no bankers have yet arrived. One schooner is in from the grounds. Prospects are very good at present and frozen herring is being used for bait. Last week it was very stormy the prevailing winds being N. and N. W. On the 24th a strong N. wind raised the ice embargo and to-day was an ideal one. The skiffs after being retarded since the 7th by ice grounds, and we are glad to say met with success. Many lights were steaming in the stages on the 25th which is a grand sign in a fishing settlement. The total catch is 3,500 quintals, and 140 for the past week."

Fun on Mid Ocean at Rossley's.

There will be another big comedy of Rossley's to-night with all new scenery. The stage has been transformed to look like the deck of a ship and Felix Martin will cut some capers to-night. "Look out Now," this act is all laughs and the best one yet. There are also some fine pictures. On Friday night the Big Benefit in aid of the disaster fund. One of the best performances will be given and a good long programme with many new novelties: lots of dancing. Mrs. Rossley's pantomime, young ladies and children will appear in new songs, dances and costumes. The two little St. John's girls Handford and Squires in a New Song and Dance with new wardrobe. Joe Burkhardt, Percy Orth, Bonnie Rossley, The Lavigne Stock Co., Jock and Marie Rossley will all positively appear.

Employers Meet

For Protective Association. A meeting of the merchants was held at the Board of Trade Rooms Saturday afternoon, to consider the increased wage recently submitted by the Longshoremen. An Employers' Protective Association was formed, the executive consisting of Messrs. W. C. Job, J. C. Crossley, J. Harris, J. Harvey, Messrs. G. Shea, W. E. Grieg and A. Montgomerie. These met again at 8 p.m. to further discuss the question, which will be taken up again within the next few days.

Obituary.

PATRICK D. BURKE.
At 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon Mr. Patrick D. Burke of St. M. Customs, passed away at his late residence, Monkstown Road after a brief illness, at the age of 56.

The deceased was born in St. Jacques and up to a few years ago was actively engaged in the fishing industries of Fortune Bay. For many years "Pat Din," as he was familiarly called, figured prominently in the herring industry and was widely known as the "Herring King" of Fortune Bay.

On Saturday he was up until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when he complained of being ill, but the end was not expected. Dr. O'Connell, who had been daily attending him for the past two weeks was just at the door making his usual visit when Mr. Burke died.

Mr. Burke was a man of sterling worth, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. To his widow, three sons and two daughters who survive him the Telegram extends sincere sympathy.

Divorced Life by Helen Hassong Fuesle

Lessons in Acting

Marian hurried to the address of the dramatic coach which she had found on the top floor of one of the city's finest office buildings. "Walter Hartmann—Studio" was neatly lettered in Gothic on the glass door of the office at which she paused. Her heart beat fast with excitement, as she reflected upon the good fortune which had led her steps to the office of the clean-cut, gentlemanly booking agent who had sent her hither and who dangled before her eyes the prospect of a start in dramatic life.

"You're an apt pupil," said Hartmann after a while. "That will do for the present. Did you say the rehearsals you spoke of are to begin in a week?" "Yes," she replied. "Tell me, is there a chance of my fitting myself for the part in that time?" "Undoubtedly. You catch on very quickly indeed. A lesson a day for a week will give you all the preparation you need for the present."

Entering, she found herself in the presence of an artistic-looking fellow of perhaps thirty. His rather long, wavy hair flowed back from a high forehead. Her first impression of him was thoroughly favourable, and she concluded immediately that he was competent.

"Oh, yes," he replied when she had stated who sent her. "I know the gentleman. He has placed a number of my pupils in excellent parts. I keep urging him to get out of that dingy location he's in, but the landlord of the hotel is an old friend of his father, and he remains loyal, though his out-of-the-way location is a serious handicap to him. But he knows the theatrical business from A to Z. I congratulate you that he has taken a fancy to you. That man can make you famous."

Marian sank into a soft leather chair, at the teacher's command, and as she gazed at the soft, oriental key of her surroundings, she felt that she had found her way into the headquarters of the river of success. She told her host what experience she had had, and before she knew it, her first lesson had begun. Hartmann was already commenting upon—easily corrected errors of her carriage, and showed her how to assume a more graceful sitting posture.

Presently he had her rise, and follow his example in fitting the gesture to the spoken word. It was all so easy and so logical when he told her how, and so natural and graceful, that she wondered she had never thought of these things before.

Then he urged the necessity of using the lower registers of her voice, and gave her instructions as to how to produce the effects and qualities he mentioned. Marian entered into the Marian followed his example fitting the gesture to the spoken word.

"Are you sure it would enable me to fill the part?"

"Undoubtedly. The man who sent you to me admitted as much."

"What will you charge?" asked Marian.

"Fifty dollars a week would be my regular charge in a case like this. It will force me to defer quite a number of lessons for my regular pupils. But I am interested in you, and glad to be of service to the vaudeville people who sent you to me." He paused for a moment, when she did not at once answer. "In your case," he added, "I'll call it forty dollars. I couldn't undertake it for less."

Marian did some rapid thinking. "Fifty dollars! It would wipe out practically all of her reserves! Yet, she reflected, would it not yield her a $40 a week position? It was a good bargain, she concluded, a wise investment.

"Very well," she answered.

"Good," he replied. "Then we'll consider the arrangement made."

$30 In Cash.

1. $10 will be forwarded to the person sending us the largest number of words obtained from the words "Stafford's Liniment."

2. $10 for the largest number obtained from the words "Stafford's Prescription A."

3. $10 for the largest number obtained from the words "Stafford's Phoraton (Lough Cure)."

You will have a chance to win the $30 if you follow out the conditions below.

Conditions:—All answers must be accompanied by either of the following:—

1. The outside green wrapper obtained from a bottle of Stafford's Liniment.

2. The words "Trial size" cut from the yellow cardboard box of Stafford's Prescription "A."

3. The word Phoraton from the white cardboard box of Stafford's Phoraton (Lough Cure).

Either of these three things will do so as to make your guess a bone fide one.

If you are not able to obtain either of these three preparations in your district, you can forward us (together with your answer) one of the following amounts:—

20 cents for Stafford's Liniment. 20 cents for Stafford's Prescription "A." 30 cents for Stafford's Phoraton (Lough Cure).

If you want to try to win the 3 prizes you must purchase the 3 preparations. On receipt of same we will forward the preparations you require by parcel post and your answer will be kept until the 30th day of July (1914) when we will publish the names of the winners.

In the event of two or more persons sending in the same number of words (and those being the highest ones) the one that we receive the first will win the prize.

The names of the Judges of this competition will be published at the same time as we publish the names of the winners.

Eating Too Much.

I have the measles and the croup, the shingles and the mumps; my teeth have long been in the sores and playing rump and their stumps; oh, I have buffoons on my jaws, I have to use a crutch, and Doc, he says it's all because I'm eating too much. I have the foot and mouth disease, of which the sawbones talks, and I've a pair of housemaids' knees, and I've a wise chickenpox. All native ailments I have got, and ailments French and Dutch, and Doc, he says—he makes me hot!—I'm eating too darned much. And that's the way that Science goes, in these dad-blasted days; there is no pity for your woes, for any bowl your ruse. When you are bent beneath disease, the doctor prods your frame, and springs again the same old wheeze: "My friend, you are to blame! You eat too much, you sleep too long, you don't take exercise; you never can be well and strong till you reform," he cries. Why can't he dope away our ills, since we have got the price? Why can't he cure us with his pills, and cut out good advice?

MINARD'S LINIMENT CO. LIMITED. I was very sick with Quinsy and thought I would strangle. I used MINARD'S LINIMENT and it cured me at once.

I am never without it now. Yours gratefully, MRS. C. D. PRINCE, Nauwigewauk, Oct. 21st.

A Spring Vacation

Most stomachs need a rest after the heavy work of the usual winter diet. What is needed is easily digested food—food that furnishes plenty of nourishment, but with least tax upon the digestive organs.

Grape-Nuts

is that kind of food! Made of prime whole wheat and barley, it contains all the rich nutrition of these food grains, and by long baking is partially predigested. It comes crisp, delicious and ready to eat when the package is opened.

Grape-Nuts digests usually in about one hour (Bread, for instance, requires about 3 1/2 hours).

"There's a Reason" for Grape-Nuts.

"Fine feathers make fine birds," but—fine feathers make a mighty poor breakfast. That is why we breed the egg-type bird, we want to get plenty of eggs, and we get them. If you want the most beautiful bird in the poultry world, that will lay eggs in plenty, give the "Buff Leghorns" a trial. Grand pen mated this season, headed by an eggbred cockerel recently imported. Eggs $2.00 per setting of 15 eggs; fertility guaranteed. S. EMBERLEY, Wood Street.

THE REINDEER

is an inhabitant of the Arctic Region, and it is possibly the most useful of all the animals which dwell in this part of the world. Unlike the Reindeer, SUNLIGHT SOAP is to be found in all parts of the civilised world, and its great utility is vouched for by millions of contented housewives who would not be without it.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

enjoys a well-merited reputation, it is absolutely pure, and will not harm the most delicate fabric. A piece of Sunlight Soap used in your next wash will convince you of its excellence.

Notes on Foxes and Other Fur Bearers

A half-dozen silver foxes consigned to Messrs. Graham Bros., owners of a big fox farm in Lobo township, were found dead upon arrival at Komoka, Ont. Graham Bros. breed silver, black and red foxes, minks and other fur-bearing animals and hitherto have had excellent luck. In the present case they claim that the death of the animals was due to lack of care in transit. The foxes were shipped from Fort William by the Dominion Express Company. On reaching Komoka station they were found to have been smothered to death. Messrs. Graham Bros. valued the animals at over five hundred dollars each and entered a claim against the express company. The amount is said to be between three and four thousand dollars.

A new method in hunting foxes which may, or may not, be adopted universally, is told by Capt. John Burns of the Temiskaming Navigation Company on his return from the best of the lake where he had put his best Silverland into winter quarters. On the last trip down the lake the captain was at the wheel when through the thin ice, when he spotted Mr. Fox on a floe of ice, between the boat and open water. The boat was rapidly cutting off all retreat and finally left the animal stranded on an island of ice. The boat was turned around and the ice breaking up deposited the fox into the lake where it was easily caught and killed. It was not of the fancy variety but an ordinary, every-day red fox, whose pelt was worth a few dollars. The method of capture, however, was unique.

Muskat and beaver skins at $50 apiece come high for even Adelard Lefrance, manager for Revillon Press at Missanable, but when the fine amounts to $5,500, or in default twenty-seven years in jail, it is a serious matter. This was the effect of a conviction registered against Mr. Lefrance by Superintendent Rogers, of the Provincial Police, and Magistrate J. E. Dewey, of Missanable, for the illicit possession of skins. "Underground" traffic in skins has been going on more or less in the North Country for years. There has been trapping out of season and the large traders have benefited, while the country has lost through the depletion of the fur-bearing tribe. For the last two years fines have been mounting higher, but the conviction of Mr. Lefrance, against whom there were 116 charges, will probably put a damper on the enterprise of the poachers. Fourteen days' grace were granted to Mr. Lefrance to finance his fine.

A valuable fox which escaped from the ranch of Mr. T. L. Borrowman of Wyoming, Ont., some months ago, was accidentally shot by some boys who were quite unaware that they were making such a costly bag. The fox was a female and valued at $5,000.

Fox farming in Alberta is fast passing the experimental state and bids fair to develop to large proportions, as well as to become a valuable asset in the already large fur business of the city of Edmonton. It is estimated that no less than one million ($1,000,000) dollars worth of raw furs are sold in Edmonton alone each year.

Let it be noticed that fox pelts from the farms in the maritime provinces bring a much higher price than the pelts of the wild animals; that farming obviates the cruelty of trapping and saves the species from the menace of extinction, and that the provincial legislature passed, last session, a law which makes it a misdemeanor to hunt, trap, or possess a wild fox between April 1st and December 1st.

The care of foxes at a Lacombe, Alta. farm is a matter of particular interest, when one learns that Mr. Landy, the Superintendent, has pitched his sleeping tent inside the high board enclosure and nearest the pen of the most valuable foxes. An electric light button is within reach of his hand at the head of his bed; and in case of any disturbance or trouble, a flood of light from numerous arc lamps is thrown over the entire enclosure, making it possible at an instant's notice to discover any marauder.

Henry Rosenbaum recently brought in $14,000 worth of live foxes and pelts from Battle River district to Edmonton. The consignment included two live black foxes, and three live silver foxes and eleven silver fox skins. The pelts go to the St. Petersburg market but the live foxes have been purchased by a local ranch for breeding purposes.

In February last considerable excitement was caused among the inhabitants of the country between Morrisburg, Ont., and the village of Williamsburg, six miles away, because of a black fox having been seen on farm properties in that district.

John Gentile, of Edmonton, according to a despatch from Edmonton, tried to chase what he thought was a dog out of his chicken coop in his back yard and when the animal resisted found that it was not a dog but a very fine specimen of female black fox. Forty minutes after the capture Mr. Gentile was offered $8,000 for his prize.

"Fox breeding in Newfoundland offers one of the best inducements to investors to-day," says Mr. Barrett, who is manager of the Western Star, the pioneer paper of the West Coast of Newfoundland, and published at Carling, Bay of Islands, the heart of the herring, salmon, hunting and fox breeding country. Mr. Barrett, in company with his brother, had quite an experience on the Exploits River on the East Coast of Newfoundland last April while returning from a trip to Twillingate. They were out all night in the bush at Exploits, having missed the trail leading to the pilot station, where they had made a dash to connect with one of the A.N.D. steamers going to Botwood. The next morning they reached the shore where a whale had been cast up by the sea, and they secured trophies therefrom. The following day they experienced the time of their lives.

In a forty mile trip up the Exploits River in a very tiny rowboat they got caught in the grip of the ice which was being swept down the river at a maddening speed and were carried miles out of their course, during which time they had all they could do to keep the frail craft from being crushed to matchwood or swept under the ice-floes. But it was only after a continuous battle for four hours they succeeded at last in reaching land and barely escaped being swept out to sea. "Newfoundland," continued Mr. Barrett, "is the home of the famous black fox and possesses all the natural requirements for its propagation."—Rod and Gun for April.

THE GREATER QUESTION

At this season of the year for Farmers with up-to-date ideas is, what are the best means to use to get the best returns from the land.

Fertilizers must be used liberally if large returns are looked for. There are several good chemical fertilizers which may be recommended, but Sulphate of Ammonia has been proved to give the best returns, and is the most valuable and economical source of Nitrogen for agricultural purposes.

For vegetables, grass, and all leafy crops, about one and a half cwt. per acre is the best quantity to use, and this should be applied when the plant is making its growth, as well as before sowing the seed.

If a liquid manure is preferred, a ½ oz. of Sulphate to one gallon of water should be used, and applied once a week for a month. This quantity should not be exceeded.

It is a good plan to reduce the Sulphate to a fine powder, and mix with four or more times its own bulk, for the purpose of diluting the manure, which is very powerful.

For potatoes the following mixture is strongly recommended:—
40 lbs. Superphosphate,
26 lbs. Fine bone meal,
10 lbs. Carbonate of Magnesia,
15 lbs. Sulphate of Potash,
21 lbs. SULPHATE OF AMMONIA.

1 cwt.
Apply at the rate of 10 to 11 lbs. to 48 square yards.
The use of Carbonate of Magnesia, in conjunction with Sulphate of Ammonia, is of great importance in potato culture.

For turnips use the following:—
66 lbs. Superphosphate,
13 lbs. Fine bone meal,
13 lbs. Sulphate of Potash,
20 lbs. Sulphate of Ammonia.

1 cwt.
Apply at the rate of 10 to 11 lbs. to square yards.
Sulphate of Ammonia of excellent quality is now made by the St. John's Gas Light Company, and may be obtained on very reasonable terms.

Full particulars may be obtained at the Gas Works, or at the Board of Trade Building, and a booklet of information on the use of Sulphate, it will be found of great value in securing the heaviest crops.

Setting Father Vaughan Right.

Toronto, Ont., April 22.—Father Vaughan of Enniscorthy has come in for some severe strictures at the hands of Dr. Burke of Toronto. The English priest recently gave utterance to some very disparaging remarks about the Canadian climate saying that Canada only enjoyed three months of really good summer weather. He further advised emigrants to go to the United States, where he said they would have better opportunities.

Rev. Dr. Burke, who is editor of the Catholic Register and the champion of all things Catholic, took up the defence of Canada and advised Father Vaughan to leave the subject alone of which he knew little or nothing.

The doctor also questioned the English priest's British patriotism in advising his countrymen to emigrate outside the Empire. Speaking to a representative of the press on the subject, Dr. Burke, with an Irish smile said "the place where the Father ought to have left off was before he began."

Holland, Mich., April 24.—Fire which today destroyed the home of John Cloegsma in this city resulted in the death of three of Cloegsma's children and the probable fatal injury of the mother who was severely burned. The children ranged in age from one to four years. They were suffocated. The father was burned about the head and arms and barely had time to escape.

WALT MASON'S DAILY STORY.

CHANGE OF METHODS.

"I see," remarked the melancholy boarder, "that the navy is to be deprived of its grog by official order. One by one our bulwarks and paladams are being wrested from us. I was considering joining the navy, and accepting a position as Rear Admiral, when I read this news, and the ambition left me at once. Unless a man can celebrate the Fourth of July all the year round on shipboard, there doesn't seem to be any sense in being a jolly tar."

"It beats all how temperance work is being carried on nowadays," said the star boarder. "When I was young temperance enthusiasts were as active as they are now, and far more noisy, but their methods were entirely different. Persuasion was the chief weapon then. The champion teetotalist drunkard of our community was Jim Crank. He was first assistant to the village blacksmith, and every Saturday night, when he drew his wages, he would repair to the refreshment parlour and throw in many foaming tankards. Then he would go home and chastise his wife, and drive his children forth into the howling tempest at the psychological moment, he'd drive them forth into whatever happened to be on hand."

"Then on Monday morning he'd loom up at the blacksmith shop with red eyes and an aching head and in his mouth a taste that baffles description. His employer took advantage of the occasion to point out the folly of his course. Some of the temperance workers usually drifted around on Monday forenoon to explain to him that strong drink is raging. Excellent old ladies called and gave him tracts. This sort of thing went on for a long time, and Jim got an exaggerated idea of his own importance, so much attention was paid to him. He thought he was one of the living issues, and his conceit was intolerable."

"Some of the prettiest girls in town used to corner old Jim and plead with him to cut out the Rum Fiend, and everybody envied him. I was a young man, and extraordinarily beautiful, and of charming manners and presence, yet some of those girls would pass me up in order to do some missionary work with that confirmed inebriate. The influence of this sort of thing was bad. It led young men to argue that they'd stand a better chance with the girls if they acquired red noses and had foam in their whiskers."

"Why, Mrs. Jiggers, they actually got up a play for the sole purpose of redeeming him. Jim was led into the hall and behind a group of actors, got up to represent his wife and children, weeping bitterly; and while he sat there a plaintive voice behind the scenes began singing, 'Father, Dear Father, Come Home With Me Now.' Jim burst into tears and got up and said that at last he saw the light. From that hour until his dying day nothing alcoholic would touch his lips. I'll never forget the enthusiasm there was in town that night. If the Commercial Club had secured a new shoe factory, there wouldn't have been half the excitement."

"Unfortunately, Jim's conversion occurred too early in the week. By Saturday night he was so thirsty that his breath would melt lead, and when the day's work was ended he threw off his leather apron with a shriek and hastened to the nearest rum hole. Then he followed the accustomed programme, and on Monday morning loomed up for work with red eyes and a triangular headache, and a striped taste. But an untoward thing had happened in the meantime. On Saturday evening a stranger had drifted into town and bought the blacksmith shop. So this stranger met Jim at the door and sized him up at one glance."

"No booze fighters need apply," said he, in a heartless, unsympathetic way. And that's the way temperance work is done nowadays, my dear Mrs. Jiggers. The inebriated gent isn't consulted at all. Nobody pleads for him or argues for six hours that he is doing himself infinite damage. His employer takes the matter in hand, without a trace of sentiment, and tells him in so many words that he is fired. If we refuse to believe that wine is a mocker, or want to debate the question, somebody pries us loose from our job, and we look in the mirror and find that our name is Mud."

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office,—its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modernly and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Percle Johnson represents this world known firm in Newfoundland.—ap17,14

NEW DESIGNS IN BRASS BEDSTEADS.

OUR last shipment of Brass Bedsteads is without question the most attractive we have ever received. We are always improving our stock in this line, quaint and handsome designs are continually being added, and our recent shipment of 1914 models are perfect in every detail, both of design and workmanship.

Of beautifully wrought Brass, with massive square or round pillars; highly polished, or with the new dull "Veris Martin" finish that is this season's craze, these Bedsteads add a touch of quiet elegance to the severest bedroom. All these Bedsteads are supplied with fine quality tested Springs, and Hair or Wool Mattresses if required.

Moderate Prices.
