It is said that shoes can be made of any kind of skins. Even banana skins make good "slippers."

WORD was received here Sunday that Lieut. Stewart Cowan, son of Mr. John Cowan, K. C. of Sarnia, had been killed in action. Lieut. Cowan was well-known in Watford. He was 24 years of age and went overseas with the 70th Batt., going to France with a draft.

THE editor's thanks are due Dr. B. Kenward of San Francisco, for copies of "The British Californian," a paper published in the interests of British-Americans. If its readers follow the precepts of its columns there will be little danger of them losing their love for the mother land.

If Watford has a regulation to prevent spitting on the sidewalks it should be enforced and if there is no such regulations, the board of health should make one. The habit is a loathsome one, not calculated to increase the health of the town and should not be tolerated. Some mornings the walks in places are in a disgracefully dirty condition.

EVERY PERSON should know that a rural mail box is as sacred as a box in a post office. We have heard of mail getting in the wrong box by mistake, and it having been kept for some time. Now, we do not blame the mail carriers as we are all liable to mistakes occasionally, but those who keep mail that does not belong to them are certainly guilty of a serious offense.

SINCE the war began four Watford boys have been killed in action. Gunn Newell, although he enlisted from Warwick, we understand, born when the family lived here; T. L. Swift, T. Lamb, and Sid Brown were also born here. Quite an appalling record for a village of this size. Four others who enlisted here, although not natives of the place, have also fallen on the battle field, namely, Alf. Woodward, J. Ward, F. Wakelin and T. Wakelin.

PREMIER HEARST has cabled his endorsement of the British Red Cross appeal on Oct. 16th, as follows:—"My visit to England and France has aroused deeper appreciation than ever of the splendid work of the Red Cross. It deserves every support, and I trust the people of Ontario will respond with their usual generosity to the British Red Cross Appeal for October 19th."

THE editor had one thing specially to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day, namely that the Guide-Advocate has about three tons of paper in the cellar. Under the present condition of the paper market this is a blessing to be truly thankful for, and we shall be still more thankful when the goods are paid for. If you owe us anything now is the time to come forward.

REV. DR. S. S. BATES, Educational Secretary of McMaster University, Toronto, will occupy the pulpits of the Baptist churches in the Watford field as follows:—My visit to England and France has aroused deeper appreciation than ever of the splendid work of the Red Cross. It deserves every support, and I trust the people of Ontario will respond with their usual generosity to the British Red Cross Appeal for October 19th.

THERE is MONEY in old paper. One lot of 6,000 pounds was knocked down to the highest bidder in New York city at $2.60 a hundred pounds, and another lot, consisting of unsold and returned copies of a newspaper, brought $1.65 a hundred pounds. These prices indicate that our patriotic collectors should get much more for old paper than they have been getting. The most of the money in the business goes to the middleman.

THE October meeting of the I. O. D. E. was held at the home of Mrs. C. Howland, Miss Abbott assisting. After discharging of the business part of the meeting, the following program was given. THE Freemasons of Inwood came over here in force on Tuesday evening to the meeting of Havelock Lodge. The visitors put on the third degree for the home lodge and did the work in a faultless manner. MR. N. W. ROWELL, K. C., Leader of the Opposition, on his return from the Front, gives the following tribute to the work of the Red Cross:—"I bring a message of cheer to those who have relatives at the Front and who fear they may be wounded. I believe everything human skill can do, that human care and sympathy can provide, is being done and provided each day and each night throughout the year by the Army Medical Corps and the Red Cross. It is a perfect marvel of efficiency."

THE regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. H. Cook on Oct. 4th, the vice-president presiding. The Institute has donated $2 for the Soldiers' Christmas Stocking Fund. We have also finished 11 quilts for the new Ontario fire sufferers, three more being quilted and finished at Mrs.

T. Dodds' last week. Any one having second-hand clothing to give will please leave at Mrs. J. Bambridge's not later than Friday of this week as the ladies intend packing a bale Friday afternoon.—Sec.

UNDER date of Sept. 19th, Pte. Vern Brown writes to his mother. In speaking of the engagement that he and his brother Sid were in he says: "We're going for a rest now but when we will get there is a question as to how we have been walking several days now. I'm alright mother, thanks to Our Heavenly Father's care. Sid and I went in together, but I lost track of him somewhere in the line. I think he's alright, probably got lost like some others. Anyway, mother, no one saw him get hurt, so I hope to see him turn up yet."

Lambton Farmers' Insurance Co.

There was a busy meeting of the Directors of the Lambton Fire Ins. Co., in the Roche House on Saturday. It was fortunate for the Company that its financial standing was so good, enabling it to pay at once all its losses, without recourse to an assessment or even the sale of any of its securities. The claimants with one exception were heavy losers, as their loss exceeded their insurance, which goes to prove, though the cause of losses were unknown, the claimants were innocent. No one of the many farmers placed any faith in the cause being "spontaneous combustion" all thought incendiarism the cause.

The losses paid were: Mrs. Mowbray $825, Silas Hayes $880, Robert Marsh $1050, J. and G. Thompson $1400, J. E. Lester $1688, T. K. Thompson $4175, Peter McLellan $900.

Some small stock claims were also paid. The loss of P. McLellan was caused by sparks from Engine filling silo.

PTE. JOHN SIDNEY BROWN

Pte. J. Sid Brown Killed in Action

Another of Watford's sons has made the supreme sacrifice and laid down his life on the battle field in Europe where he was doing his bit helping to fight our battles and defend our homes and country.

On Saturday afternoon a telegram was received from Ottawa by Mrs. Brown stating that her husband, Pte. John Sidney Brown, had been killed in action on September 15th.

Almost everyone in Watford knew Sid Brown. He was born here Dec. 6th, 1888, and lived the greater part of his life in this town. After finishing his education he learned the barbering business with his father, Jacob D. Brown, and later came into possession of the business.

Some time afterwards he disposed of the business and went to Northern Ontario where he remained for several months and then went to Petrolia, where he was burned out, and immediately afterwards enlisted. He was married on May 10th, 1911, to Miss Heurietta Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Williams, of Watford, who with two children, Bernice aged 4 and Allan aged 3 years, mourn the loss of husband and father.

He also leaves father and mother, four sisters, Mrs. Geo. Edgar, Mrs. Ern Hume, Mrs. Harry Williams and Miss Elsie, and one brother Vern, who is serving the King in France.

Pte. Brown enlisted at Petrolia about the middle of April of this year and left for overseas with the 70th Batt. on Good Friday, April 21st. After training at Shorncliffe, England, the battalion was broken up into drafts and sent to France, Pte. Brown being placed with the 18th Batt.

The Late Miss S. J. Williams

Miss Sarah Jane Williams passed away rather unexpectedly at her home on Main street on Thanksgiving morning. Although she had been confined to the house for a short time she was not considered in a dangerous condition. Miss Williams was a woman who had made for herself an especial place in the hearts of her neighbors. Although in business, she lived a quiet life, doing good and being kind and considerate to all with whom she came in contact.

Miss Williams was born in Brantford, Ont., March 1838. She was the eldest child of the late John and Anne Williams, pioneer settlers of Warwick, who settled on lot 18, con. 4, Warwick, still the family homestead. She came with her parents to Warwick when four years of age, and with the family shared in the hardships and privations of pioneer life.

When 16 years of age she left home to learn the trade of dressmaking with the firm of John Green & Co. of London. On completing her apprenticeship she opened a shop in Warwick Village, then a flourishing business centre, and remained in business continuously until her death. For the past 56 years she has been in business in Watford, probably a record in the district.

The funeral was held on Wednesday morning to the Watford cemetery, the Rev. F. G. Robinson, pastor of the Methodist church, of which deceased was a life-long member, officiating. He paid a high tribute to the Christian character and steadfast purpose of the life of deceased. The pall-bearers were: J. H. Hume, T. B. Taylor, W. E. Fitzgerald, A. Cameron, E. D. Swift and W. Thompson.

Deceased is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. Baker, and three brothers, John S. of Toronto; Joseph S. and H. P. Williams of Watford.

HELP FOR WORKING WOMEN

Some Have to Keep on Until They Almost Drop. How Mrs. Conley Got Help.

Here is a letter from a woman who had to work, but was too weak and suffered so much to continue. How she regained health.

Frankfort, Ky.—"I suffered so much with female weakness that I could not do any work, had to hire it done. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I tried it. I took three bottles and I found it to be all you claim. Now I feel as well as ever I did and am able to do all my own work again. I recommend it to any woman suffering from female weakness. You may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. JAMES CONLEY, 516 St. Clair St., Frankfort, Ky.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it will be confidential.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Toronto Telegram: With all her preparedness, all her military training, and all her alleged 'intellect,' Germany has not been able to strike one blow so decisive that any one nation is crushed beyond resistance.

Canadian single taxers at their annual convention at Niagara Falls recently, decided to urge upon the Dominion Government, in view of the enormous war expenditure, the necessity of raising revenue by a tax upon the land values of the Dominion. A tax of one per cent. on land values would produce an additional revenue of $90,000,000 yearly with a maximum of equity and certainty, and might be collected through existing municipal organizations with a minimum of expense.

The man who runs an auto should have a clear, level head, and keep it clear and level. As soon as he shows signs of the speed bug, he should be chained up to insure public safety. The speed limit allowed by law is at the rate of 20 miles an hour. As we understand it, this doesn't mean 20 miles an hour up hill and down dale, but a speed not in excess of 20 miles an hour at any time. At the rate fixed by law, or even lower, a man can go a long distance in a day, and the accidents would be fewer than we hear of now.—Durham Chronicle.

Remarkable prodigality is often displayed by Canadian officers and soldiers on their return to England from the front on a short leave, according to Col. F. H. Laing, of Windsor, who spent four months in the old country visiting his sons, who are serving in the overseas forces. "The boys land in England with their pockets full of money, and they start out to have a good time," said the colonel. "They do not know whether or not they will ever see 'blightly' again once they return to the front, and they proceed to make up for the time they have practically been buried in France, far away from opportunities of spending their money." One young officer, an acquaintance of the Windsor man, spent $26 in five days, nearly $100 a day, while on leave, and this was only one example cited by the colonel.

Theodore Tribune: Ptes. George Pearson, D. McLennan and J. Miller, who have been with the 143rd Bn. for nearly a year, were discharged last week as "physically unfit." These seem to be the little, or no, system in the military medical department. These men look very much fit today, and have been passed out on slight defects, which did not deter them in doing military duties in any way. The time to have passed these men out was when they were first taken on—not a year later. There are thousands of such cases throughout Canada, no doubt, which means thousands of dollars of good money thrown away.

For The Farmer Boy

How to keep the boy on the farm? The white lights of the city are always big attractions for the boy brought up on the farm, and his school education still further draws him city ward. Still there are many things occurring which are helping the farmer to make it easier for him to keep the boy at home. The electric roads, the rural route, the daily newspaper, the automobile and other agencies at work are bringing the country nearer the city, and making life on the farm in some ways preferable to city life. The question arises, does the farmer sufficiently encourage the boy to stay at home? Are the prospects held out to him bright enough to keep him on the farm?

One of the U. S. agricultural journals, the Farm and Fireside, tells a story that is worth repeating and for the farmer to take to heart:

Last spring, a year ago, a 10-year old neighbor boy was given 10 cents by his grandmother. He purchased a packet of cucumber seeds with his money and grew a nice patch of cucumbers for the local village market. His crop brought him a little more than $6 in money, all of which his mother allowed him to keep and spend as he pleased. With $1 of his money the boy purchased a few little things for himself, and with the other $5 he purchased a ewe lamb. By this spring his ewe lamb had grown into a mature mother sheep, and she gave birth to two lambs. So now the boy has three for his investment. The mother sheep is now worth $10, and the lambs are worth $5 each, making a total value of $20. He has earned with his 10 cents in a year and a half. Besides he sold the wool this spring from the mother sheep for $2.45, which he has placed in the savings bank as the beginning of a bank account of his own.

This ten cents was a small matter. But its results may shape the whole course of the boy's life. It is not unusual, we are told, for a farmer to give his son a pig or a calf or a sheep and perhaps a colt, but the boy has a rude awakening when he comes from school one day to make the discovery that his property is missing. Father has sold it in his absence and pocketed the proceeds as a matter of course. We suspect, says an authority, that there are many boys, now with heads sprinkled with gray who can recall experiences of this kind. It is no wonder that so many youngsters have become discouraged just at a time when they stood at the forks of the highway of life.

It has never been pushed by sensational methods, but has simply gone on effecting relief and making new converts.

THE ARCH OF CTESIPHON.

Large Remnant of a Once Wonderful and Magnificent City.

Just below Bagdad, on the Tigris, there stands a wonderful ruin known as the Arch of Ctesiphon—all that remains today of a once mighty city, the one time capital of the Parthian kingdom.

The ruins consist of an immense chamber, 21 feet wide by 254 feet long, with an arched roof in one single span of the whole width, the crown of the arch being 124 feet high. The edifice has a back, but in front is entirely open from top to bottom, displaying the whole of the magnificent vaulted chamber. On one side, at the same height as the arch, extends a kind of facade. The whole building is constructed of burnt bricks about a foot square, and it is supposed that the front was originally cased with marble.

Historical records show Ctesiphon was a second Babylon in point of size and in the splendor of its palaces and princely houses. When taken by the Romans 660,000 captives and a rich booty fell into their possession. Later it became the capital of Persia. Here Chosroes, the twenty-third king of Persia, lived in great style. His throne was in a palace of prodigious height and so vast that it was supported by 40,000 silver columns. Its roof was enriched with 1,000 golden globes, which all had different movements and represented the planets and the various constellations.

Some centuries later this wonderful palace and city were sacked by the Arabs, since when it has gradually decayed, all that remains today being this single arch.—Wide World Magazine.

THE CULPRIT CAME BACK.

Because "Big Sim" Was Only a Sheriff and Not a Surveyor.

A Salt Lake City man tells this story of one "Big Sim," a deputy sheriff of Eureka, from whom no criminal could get away by the 'cross country method. Sim was familiar with every foot of ground in eastern Nevada and could outrun a coyote.

As deputy sheriff he engaged in several long chases, always with success. His capture of a horse thief known as "Spanish Abe" was the toast of Eureka for a long time.

This Spanish Abe was a "bad actor," who made it his business to appropriate stray cattle and the blooded mares of the neighborhood. With a companion he was finally rounded up and incarcerated in the Eureka jail. The next night, however, the criminals forced the window of their cell and took to the brush, mounted on the fleetest animals they could steal.

Big Sim, hours later, hit the trail in pursuit. Spanish Abe turned toward Utah and was changing horses along the road. Big Sim, renewing his mount likewise and cutting across country, gained on the fugitives in the desert. Pursued and pursued he had been riding continuously, and the horses were giving way under the strain. But Big Sim kept on, and it is said he was well into Utah when he brought Spanish Abe and his companion upon a level with his gun and clapped on the handcuffs.

"You have no right to take us, Sim," the Mexican whined. "We are in Utah."

"Rats!" Big Sim replied. "I ain't no surveyor. Come on."—Case and Comment.

A Stream of Water.

A high pressure jet of water will bowl over a man as easily as if he were a box of matches and leave him half stunned. It will even turn a bullet from its path. Experiments have shown that a jet of water can be produced at such a high pressure that it becomes practically a bar of iron. Swords have been blunted in attempting to cut through these extra high pressure jets. Some years ago an armed thief attempted to hold up a high official of the Bank of England in his private office. The official managed to get out of the room unharmed and locked the door. A resourceful attendant brought the fire hose. He opened the door sufficiently to insert the nozzle. In a few minutes the would be thief was picked up senseless.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Family Affair.

It was at the information bureau—the place set apart for inquiries about wounded men in the various hospitals. In dattered a particularly pretty girl and addressed the rather severe looking lady in charge.

"I wish," she said, "to see Lieutenant Ernest Wagner. In what hospital is he?"

"Lieutenant Wagner can receive visits only from his relatives."

"I am his cousin."

"And I am his mother."

FAMOUS BRIDGES.

The Highest, Largest and Most Ornate Structures of Their Kind.
The biggest bridge in the world is the Forth bridge. The British navy can pass under it, and its biggest dreadnaught looks like a pygmy in comparison.

The highest bridge in the world is the wonderful single span which crosses the gorge discovered by Livingston, into which the mighty Zambesi leaps in a fall only matched by Niagara. This light, airy looking structure is 400 feet above the river bed, so that the dome of St. Paul's could comfortably stand beneath it.

The longest single span in the world is the span of Brooklyn bridge. It is a suspension bridge, and its supporting towers are 1,600 feet apart. Imagine the strength of the cables capable of supporting such a terrible dead weight, to which add the surging traffic of two vast cities.

The two longest bridges in the world are the Tay bridge in Scotland and the great bridge which carries the railway across the St. Lawrence at Montreal.

The most ornate bridge in the world is the Tower bridge across the Thames. In fact, it is perhaps the most beautiful bridge in existence. It is unique, too, in that it is both a girder bridge and a suspension bridge and is also like the ancient drawbridges of romance.

Its cost was £1,500,000, which is just about half the amount the Forth bridge cost.—London Chronicle.

INFLATION AS A DEFENSE.

Easy For the Puffer Fish to Bask in Natural Enemies.

The puffer fish affords a novel example of the way nature sometimes works to protect her creatures. The many different species inhabit all tropical and other warm seas and certain large rivers. Few of them reach a length of more than two feet.

The peculiar characteristic common to all of them is their ability to inflate themselves with air or water until they become almost spherical in shape. The air or water that fills the abdomen or the esophageal sac is retained by a valve in the throat and can be discharged almost instantly.

A few good sized eel were placed in one of the exhibition tanks of the New York Zoological society with a dozen puffers about two inches long. The hungry eel at once attacked the puffers, but in an instant every puffer inflated itself so completely with water that it became almost globular. All the eel could do was to knock them about like toy balloons, too big to be swallowed, too smooth to afford any hold to the jaws.

Puffers that become frightened near the surface of the sea and are inflated with air sometimes drift ashore, where they roll along the sands until they die and are dried by the sun and wind. The Japanese make lanterns of their dried inflated bodies, for the stretched skin is as transparent as oiled paper.—Youth's Companion.

Locating Icebergs.

The captain of an ocean steamer in most cases finds out when his vessel is approaching an iceberg from the men down in the engine room. That sounds queer, but it is a fact nevertheless. It appears that when a steamship enters water considerably colder than that through which it has been going its propeller runs faster. Such water usually surrounds the vicinage of icebergs for many miles. When the propeller's action therefore is accelerated without the steam power being increased word is passed up to the officer on the bridge that icebergs may be expected, and a close lookout for them is established. There are natural reasons for the propeller acting in this way, and sea captains will assert the same thing.

One Good in Flimsy Houses.

The Japanese have an easier time than their confreres in Europe. Crime in the land of the chrysanthemum is almost limited to theft and cases of bodily harm resulting from street brawls. It is next to impossible, the chief of the Tokyo police says, for a murder to be committed without some one hearing of it at the moment. This is due to the fact that the houses are composed of paper and bamboo, so any noise in a house occasioned by robbers or assassins would not fail to attract the attention of neighbors.—Dundee Advertiser.

No Hope For Them.

"Some folks fuss with the world because it won't turn to look at them," says a Georgia philosopher, "but if it should stop to hear their complaints they'd soon be fussing because it doesn't talk back. There's no pleasing them this side of heaven, and even up there the angels wouldn't know how to make 'em feel at home."—Atlanta Constitution.

Taken at His Word.

"When a cook is making her bread she is unlike the rest of the world in one particular."
"What is that?"
"She does not want her friends to come to her in her hour of knead."

Good actions ennoble us, and we are the sons of our own deeds.—Cervantes.

BELGIUM'S BRNEFACTOR.

A Great Man Whose Name is Seldom Heard.

"Hoover? Who is Hoover?" someone asked at a war conference recently. The ignorance was excusable, for few people know who or what "Hoover" is, although, to quote the words of a member of President Wilson's Cabinet, "Hoover is the American of all Americans who has played the most important part in the great tragedy being enacted in Europe."

Herbert C. Hoover, who is head of the Belgian Relief Fund and has directed the expenditure of £10,000,000 in recent months, is one of the most brilliant engineers and financiers in the world. Europe has decorated him for his achievements in mining engineering, and he is a member of many scientific and learned societies.

His greatest engineering work has been achieved in China, where he has opened up mines and vast networks of railways. Starting life as a farmer's boy, he worked barefooted in the fields. Hoover paid for his own education, supporting himself for four years at Stanford University, afterwards qualifying for various mining appointments, achieving a reputation in Mexico and California before coming to Europe and becoming such a power in the mining and engineering world. It is a saying that where Hoover leads other men follow, and today the former farmers' boy is sought by Royalty and the business kings of the world. From his office in London he directs his huge mining operations in all parts of the globe, as well as the great relief work for unhappy Belgium.

To Regularize Marriages.

Irregular marriages in Scotland are receiving the attention of the Secretary of State for Scotland, and he has recently introduced in the House of Commons a bill to amend the present registration law. A memorandum attached to the Bill states that the present law provides that the parties to an irregular marriage in Scotland may apply to the Sheriff within three months of the marriage for a warrant to register the marriage. Owing to the neglect of the parties many warrants are not followed by registration. The number of applications has considerably increased since the war, and there is reason to suppose that the parties in a number of cases are soldiers and sailors. The Bill makes it possible for men serving with the colors to comply within the limits of a short furlough with the formalities necessary to a regular marriage. At present that is often impossible, and many who would prefer to be married regularly are compelled to resort to an irregular marriage.

National Emblems.

On the origin of the adoption of the thistle as the emblem of Scotland history is almost completely silent, but tradition is as glib as ever. According to one story, the Danes were stealing barefooted through the darkness towards the Scottish camp (in spite of their rule which regarded a midnight attack upon an enemy as unwarrantable), when one of the soldiers suddenly trod upon a thistle. Involuntarily he uttered a cry of pain, and the Scotsmen, being aroused, leaped to their feet, hurled themselves upon the Danes, and inflicted fearful slaughter upon their foes.

The origin of the "wearing of the leek" by Wales is still a matter of archaeological disputation. Welsh ecclesiastical tradition ascribes it to St. David, who caused the Britons under King Cadwaladr to distinguish themselves by wearing a leek in their bonnets when they fought against the Saxons. Shakespeare, however, ascribes its origin to an incident in the Battle of Crecy.

Colors and Heat.

In an attempt to illustrate graphically the relative values for summer wear of different colors in dress materials, an interesting experiment was recently conducted. Four strips of cloth, made of the same material and weight, but of different colors, were placed on a cake of ice and exposed to the sun. The fabrics wore white, yellow, red, and black. The result showed in a striking way how white reflects the sun's rays while black absorbs them.

The ice covered by the piece of white cloth was not melted to any appreciable degree during the test; that under the yellow strip was slightly depressed; a deep cut was formed beneath the red cloth, and a White-Washed Kerbstones.

Since the exigencies of war have made it necessary largely to eliminate street lighting in British cities, it has been found advisable in certain instances to whitewash the kerbs on either side of public thoroughfares so as to make it easier to discern the roadways at night.

At Norwich a pneumatic painting-machine carried on a steam wagon has been successfully employed for doing this work. The lime solution is forced through a hose under air-pressure and directed at the kerb. A nozzle especially designed so as to prevent the spreading of the wash beyond certain limits is used. With this equipment the work can be done at a rate of about three miles an hour.

Richest in Europe.

Queen Wilhelmina of Holland is said to be the richest sovereign in Europe in her own right, her income being enormous from the crown lands and from her vast colonies.

Exit Red Tape.

By the substitution of white for red tape in London Government offices a saving of $7,000 a year has been secured.

Our First Paper Mill.

The first paper mill in America was established in 1690 at Roxbury, near Philadelphia. The second was erected in Germantown in 1710, and the third, founded in 1714 on Chester creek, in Delaware, was the source of Benjamin Franklin's supply.—Argonaut.

FLYING BULLETS.

Forces That Control the Curve They Take to Reach the Ground.

The trajectory of a rifle is the curve which the bullet describes in traveling from the muzzle of the rifle to its mark at a given range. This curve is the component of two forces—first, the momentum imparted to the bullet in the rifle barrel and second, the downward pull of gravitation. Many persons have the erroneous idea that so long as a body is traveling ahead very fast it will not drop.

The fallacy of this notion can be very prettily shown by a laboratory experiment in which two rubber balls of the same size and weight are projected from a miniature catapult at precisely the same instant, but in such a way that ball A has double the velocity of ball B. Although ball A will travel twice as far as ball B before it strikes the floor, it will always be observed that the two balls strike the floor at the same instant.

High velocity, then, does not free a rifle bullet from the effect of gravity, but it does enable it to travel a greater distance ahead before it has had time to fall any given distance. That is the true reason why high velocity tends to give a low trajectory. For comparison of cartridges the height of the trajectory at midrange is generally taken as the standard.—Outing.

APACHES OF PARIS.

Strife Over an Underworld Beauty Led to Their Undoing.

The apaches of Paris are an order of the lowest and most dangerous criminals in the world. There is not a great central organization like the Italian orders and no fixed rules or assemblies. It consists merely of groups of crooks operating in different quarters of the city. These little groups or circles take their names from the quarter of the city that they inhabit and have their own conventional signs, places of meeting, leaders and the like. The members are usually young, beginning as boys of ten or fifteen years.

The women associated with these criminal bands are called marmites in the vernacular of the underworld. There was a struggle in Paris between the apache bands of Manda and Lecca, involving, like the Iliad, the abduction of a Helen. She was a famous beauty in the subterranean cafes of Paris and called, in the argot of Montmartre, La Casque d'Or. The very name has the ring of romance. She was betrothed to the leader of the Manda and was carried off by the rival band of Lecca. War followed between the bands—a bitter, vindictive, bloody feud.

This contest destroyed the apache ascendancy in Paris.—Melville D. Post.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE for the health of the family? The mother, of course! She is naturally particular to give her children only the purest of internal medicines, but she may not always know that a remedy applied to the skin enters the child's system, by absorption, just as surely as a medicine that is swallowed. This is a fact, and the mother should, therefore, use only the purest ointment obtainable.

Scientific analysis has proved Zam-Buk to be absolutely pure. The great English Chemist, Mr. W. Lascelles Scott, says: "I have made an exhaustive analysis of Zam-Buk and have no hesitation in certifying its purity and its inestimable value for skin ailments and injuries."

Although the healing powers of Zam-Buk are beyond those of other ointments, it is at the same time so refined that it agrees with the most sensitive skin—even the skin of a baby. Mothers who have once used it say they cannot do without Zam-Buk.

It is best for eczema and all skin diseases, ringworm, blood-poison, scalp sores, ulcers, boils, pimples, plies, burns, scalds, cuts, etc. All druggists or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, 59c. box, 3 for $1.25.

ANOTHER SUCCESS

East Lambton Fall Fair Draws Big Crowd.

PLENDID EXHIBITS, GOOD RACES, FINE WEATHER, SATISFIED PATRONS.

There was a great gathering at the annual fall fair of the East Lambton Agricultural Society on Wednesday last and the fair was a grand success in every respect. The weatherman was generous and favored the fair with one of the pleasantest days of the season. The crowd did not arrive as early as some years, but doubtless this was on account of the large number of autos now in use. There were autos everywhere—ranged along the streets and parked in the grounds by the score—and many of them had come a long distance.

There was an exceedingly fine display in the exhibition hall, especially in the ladies' work department. Many beautiful specimens of work were shown, and it was the general opinion that in this department the display was equal in quality to anything seen in the city shows.

The ground floor of the hall contained a magnificent display of apples shown by the Warford Fruit Growers' Association and the interesting display of the Ontario Agricultural College. These were under the supervision of Mr. W. P. McDonald, the county agricultural representative. The rest of the floor space was taken up with a Ford exhibit and the piano men. Harper Bros. had a fine display of Mason & Risch piano players and pianos and Singer sewing machines.

In the dairy and cookery departments there was an unusually fine display, especially of butter and honey. The flowers were not as plentiful as some years, but that no doubt is accounted for by the recent frosts and the late date at which the fair was held.

The entries in the outside classes were a good average and some very fine animals were shown. The poultry class was also up to the mark.

Almost everyone predicted that the display of fruits and vegetables would be small, but a visit to the tent which contained these articles soon disillusioned the spectator. Probably the fruit entries were not as numerous as usual but some very fine samples were shown. The display of vegetables was exceedingly good.

THE RACES

The speed events were well contested and furnished excellent sport. The different events were won in straight heats.

NOTES

The prize list will be published next week.

Dr. J. B. Martyn, M. P. P., Alvinston, was an interested spectator.

The display of flags and other decorations was very creditable.

Gate receipts $775; entries 2100; grand stand receipts $75; concert receipts $92.

J. D. Lourie of Sarnia, officiated as starter in his usual capable and satisfactory way.

Ray Morningstars special for the best kept Ford car on the grounds was taken by Fred Restorick.

The Klitties Band gave a good supply of inspiring music. They are always well received.

Irl Hicks' reputation as a weather prophet has gone punk. He predicted a stormy day for the fair.

The refreshment booths were well patronized and the owners were well satisfied with the business done.

The directors will meet on Saturday, Oct. 21st, to examine the prize list. After that date the prize money will be paid by the Treasurer.

The prize for best patriotic drill by a class of public school pupils was awarded S. S. No. 11, Warwick; Miss Florence Edwards, teacher.

Mrs. Metcalfe, aged 75, a successful exhibitor in the ladies' department won P. Dodds' Special for the oldest woman on the grounds.

The sheeny jewelry business, try your strength machines, try pins and swat the nigger games were not patronized much. The day for these is past.

There was keen competition for Brown's Special for best single roadster driven by a lady. Mrs. Mitchell of Glencoe was awarded the prize.

The prize for address on "What Effect the War will have on Canada?" was taken by Linda McIntosh, S. S. No. 10, Warwick, teacher Miss M. Mansfield.

The little McGregor sisters of Sarnia were just as charming as heretofore. One never tires of watching their grace and agility on the dancing platform.

The young ladies representing the Daughters of the Empire did well selling flags. Their endeavors realized a good sum for patriotic purposes. Nearly every one approached gave willingly.

The surrounding towns and villages sent good delegations and many old friends met and had a hearty handshake. There were several visitors from Michigan and Sarnia sent a goodly number.

The merry-go-round was kept busy all the time and the youngsters had a jolly day. Some of the little ones had looked forward for many a day for the promised fun, and the directors have retrieved their lost reputation concerning merry-go-rounds.

The concert given under the auspices of the Society in the Armory was well attended and a really first-class program presented. W. A. McCutcheon, the harpist, is a pleasing artist and Robert Hannah the elocutionist and entertainer, gave some clever sketches. Miss McIntosh, the well-known and popular violinist is always welcome.

The baby show under the fraternal supervision of President Farrell passed off peaceably, the judges, who were from a distance, reserving decision until they escaped from the grounds. The winners, Mrs. V. Wellington's baby 1st; Mrs. Gordon Luckham's 2nd; Mrs. Harry Guy's 3rd. The other entries were highly commended for their good looks and exemplary conduct.

Swift's special for best 5 minute speech on "Who Started the War," by public school pupil, awarded Willie Fitzgerald, of Watford, teacher Miss Hume; Sarah Cundick, Union Section 16 and 20, Warwick and Bossanquet, second, teacher Marie Davidson; Lottie Higgins, S. S. No. 3, Brooke, Miss Mary Coke, teacher, 3rd.

A large motor trunk laden with peaches reached Petrolia on Saturday night after ten o'clock. The owner immediately offered the peaches for sale at twenty-five cents per large basket and sold the whole lot—125 baskets—in twenty minutes.

Remember that this month is the best time to fight the bugs that would destroy your garden next year. Burn all the tops of plants—asparagus, potatoes, melons, cucumbers and tomatoes, particularly, and you will have destroyed many pests of next summer. Do not bury or plow under.

The recent frosts were more pronounced in Michigan than here and growers claim that they have spoiled all possible chances of beans giving a good yield this year. The crop in Minnesota suffered likewise, and potatoes were badly injured in both districts. One Michigan dealer claims that beans will retail at $10 per bushel before winter is over.

Moses Simons, aged 72 years, met a tragic death on his farm near Wyoming Wednesday, the result of the caving in of a gravel pit in which he was working alone. The discovery was made by his daughter, Mrs. S. Wilkinson, with whom he lived, the fatality occurring not far from the home. Mrs. Wilkinson summoned help, and the body was promptly released, and Dr. W. Reid summoned, but life was extinct.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Did you ever stop to think of what it means to be a Canadian? Turn it over in your mind a few times and then never forget that you are a Canadian.

Walkerton Telescope—Something of a sensation was caused in one of our schools recently when two youngsters who had been fighting were given their choice by the teacher of a strapping or fighting it out before the whole class. After some hesitation the two youngsters got up and waded in again before the class and it was no fake exhibition either.

Canada is now paying about twenty-five million per year to the wives and dependents of the soldiers who have gone to the front. Separation allowances, which a year ago totalled about one million per month, now exceeds two millions per month. In addition to this amount paid monthly by the Dominion Treasury, the Patriotic Fund is now expending about one million per month, distributed among some 7,500 families, whose normal source of income has either been cut off or seriously diminished by the enlistment of wage-earners.

Dressing Station, Firing Line—Official Film, "Battle of the Somme."

An urgent call for help again goes forth from the Motherland's mighty life-saving agency—the British Red Cross. The Empire is called upon to give greatly, give lovingly, give quickly, that the sick, wounded and suffering on all the battle fronts may not languish and perish in their hours of deepest need.

Here is a great work in which all can share. The Joint War Committee of the British Red Cross Society and Order of St. John is the only institution which carries voluntary aid to the sick and wounded of the British forces on land and sea in every region of the war. Thousands of lives of our bravest and best are saved through this splendid work. YOUR gift may save a life. Isn't it worth doing? It is. GIVE!

The Red Cross looks after the transportation of sick and wounded—it equips thousands of hospitals, rest and convalescent homes, it supplies countless requisites for hospital work, clothing and other comforts. Over 2,000 Red Cross Motor Ambulances are at work on the various fronts, while "rest stations," hospital trains, steamers and launches, food for prisoners, books, special work for the blind, etc., etc., are a few, only, of Red Cross activities.

The Sick and Wounded
Call For Your Help
Give on October 19th

Ontario's princely gift in 1915 of $1,514,000 rang a clarion mercy call throughout the Empire. The British Red Cross were grateful beyond measure, and their appeal through Lord Lansdowne, President, now comes to us as to friends who sympathize and help. The need is greater to-day than a year ago—it is ever growing. Will Ontario do less than she did last year? No! GIVE—give a day's pay, give all you can, GIVE.

Your gift will go entirely to the British Red Cross, where, again, through much voluntary work, the working expenses are cut down to only 2 1/4% of the total revenue. Thus, if you give $10, actually $9.77 1/2 goes to the healing and saving of some stricken hero. The expenses of the Ontario Committee, advertising, printing, etc., are being met entirely by the Provincial Government.

Premier Hearst Has Seen the Work

"My visit to England and France has aroused deeper appreciation than ever of the splendid work of the Red Cross. It deserves every support, and I trust the people of Ontario will respond with their usual generosity to the British Red Cross Appeal for October 19th."

Prime Minister of Ontario.

Mr. N. W. Rowell, K.C., Brings a Red Cross Message

"I bring a message of cheer to those who have relatives at the front and who fear they may be wounded. I believe everything human skill can do, that human care and sympathy can provide, is being done and provided each day and each night throughout the year by the Army Medical Corps and the Red Cross. It is a perfect marvel of efficiency."

MR. N. W. ROWELL, K.C.,
Leader of the Opposition.

He gives twice who gives quickly.
Your help is needed NOW!

The Motherland's only direct appeal to us for help in this great war is her great Red Cross mercy work. Ontario's response must and will be quick and generous. GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The fall is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day is warm the next is wet and cold and unless the mother is on her guard the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mothers best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose will prevent colds or if it does come on suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will quickly cure it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Why A Child Needs Glasses

MANY children are born with a defect of vision. Unless it is very great the child does not particularly suffer until the school period. Then the young mind becomes intent upon study and any defect of vision becomes a direct strain upon the brain. To relieve this the child will squint, or turn the head, in many cases using only one eye. This habit grows until we almost have a deformity of the eye. Parents; do not let this be the experience of your child. We will gladly and thoroughly examine your child's eyes, and tell you truthfully how best to remedy it. See to it now.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought The Joy Of Health After Two Years' Suffering

MADAM LAPLANTE

35 St. Rose St., Montreal, April 4th.

"For over two years I was sick and miserable. I suffered from constant headaches, and had palpitation of the heart so badly that I feared I would die. There seemed to be a lump in my stomach and the constipation was dreadful. I suffered from pain in the back and kidney disease.

I was treated by a physician for a year and a half and he did me no good at all. I tried "Fruit-a-tives" as a last resort. After using three boxes, I was greatly improved and twelve boxes made me well. Now I can work all day and there are no headaches, no palpitation, no heart trouble, no constipation, no pain or kidney trouble and I feel like a new being—and it was "Fruit-a-tives" that gave me back my health."

A Stranger In a Strange Land

He Found a Strange Custom, but Was Equal to It.

By ALAN HINSDALE

A man left an eastbound train passing through a region west of the Missouri river and inquired for transportation to a point out of the line of travel. He was unmistakably English in the appearance both pertaining to himself and his clothes. But instead of the rugged physique of many Britishers he was rather small, and his pale cheeks gave evidence of ill health.

There was a difference of opinion as to how he could best reach the point he was aiming for. Some said the road was rough and the gentleman did not look as if he had the strength to stand the jolting of a wagon. Others said that if he went on horseback he would be equally shaken up. The wit of the locality suggested that there were road agents along the line of travel and it was as much as a man's life was worth to pass over it. In saying this the joker nudged the man next him, as much as to say, "Reckon I'll skeer him out of it."

The stranger listened to these suggestions with evident interest, except the one about the road agents, this not seeming especially to interest him.

He succeeded in hiring a team to take him to his destination and was driven by the owner, who, wondering at an Englishman wearing apparel by no means like any other in that region, was inclined to question him as to why he was there. But the gentleman was tactful and gave him no satisfaction. Indeed, after the driver had abandoned his attempt to pump the stranger the Englishman asked a few questions for himself.

"I've heard," he said, "that out here there's what they call 'gun play,' that there are men who think no more of putting lead into a fellow than into a dog."

"Oh, that sort of thing used to be practiced out here," was the reply, "but we're civilized now and don't do it any more. At least it's not practiced near the railroad, where the country has been settled, and court law has taken the place of gun law. But away from the railroads there are spots where the rough element has congregated, and there's still more or less free shooting. This region where you're going is one of that kind. I wouldn't advise any man to go there without a couple of revolvers slung under his coat."

"They say," remarked the stranger, "that when there is shooting going on it's the man who 'gets the drop,' as you say out here, on his enemy and shoots quickest who comes out ahead."

"That's about it," said the other. The stranger turned from the use of the revolver to the products of the country and learned that horses were raised there and the point he was making for was a center of a horse raising territory, from the fact that it comprised fine grazing lands. The stranger asked about the price usually paid for an average horse and the best way of getting horses to market and seemed interested in getting all the information on the subject that was to be had. But he didn't admit that he was personally interested in horsemanship.

On reaching their destination—a hamlet of half a dozen houses—they drew up before a store building which was the only one in the place that was not occupied for dwelling purposes except a saloon. As the Englishman alighted he attracted the attention of a couple of men standing on the porch of the saloon.

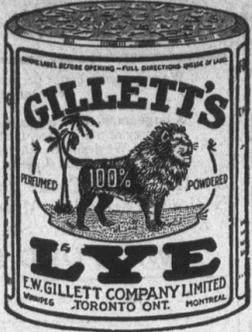

"Just look at that, Pete," said one of these men, referring to the stranger. "Did you ever see anything so purty in your life? Do you ketch on to the glass eye—and the hat?" The Englishman wore a helmet. "Just think of you or me sportin' sich a lookin' thing as that on our heads. And see the yaller things on his shoes, all buttoned up so ladylike."

"Shouldn't wonder if we could get some fun outen him, Bill," said the other. "Let's ask him in for a drink." Meanwhile the Englishman was making inquiries for a man he had come to meet. The two men on the saloon porch approached him, and Bill addressed him in this wise:

"My friend, I don't know who you are or where you come from, but it's the custom o' this place to treat all strangers hospitable, and me and this yere gent invites you to step into the saloon and have somethin'."

"Your kind attention is appreciated, I assure you," said the Britisher. "But seeing that I don't drink I must ask

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

"You to take the will for the deed."

"That's somethin' we never do in these parts," was the reply, "especially when a man's invited to drink. Perhaps you're not aware that with us 'refusin' to liquor when invited is considered an insult."

"Oh, you mustn't take it that way. I'm not in good health, and my doctor has forbidden my drinking spirits."

"Your doctor don't know what fine whisky we have in this yere country and how much good it'll do a sick man. Come on, stranger; we'll give you the best dose o' medicine you ever tuk in your life."

"I reckon, Pete," said Bill, "that seein' the stranger is a shrieved, miserable specimen we'd better let him off. It ain't no credit to force sich a ladylike purson as don't appreciate true hospitality."

"Well, then, suppose he sings us a song?"

"I'm no hand at singin'," said the Britisher.

"There's nothin' about singin'," Pete persisted, "to hurt a man's insides even if he's sick. Now, see here, stranger; you give us a song mighty quick."

He took a revolver from his hip, cocked it and brought it to bear on the Britisher, who, seeing that he must either sing or get shot, began to do the best he could in giving "Britannia Rules the Waves." He had scarcely given a stanza before Pete put a bullet so close to his ear that he stopped at once.

"See here, young feller," thundered Pete, "we don't want any such song as that! Give us somethin' American."

"I don't know any American songs," replied the Britisher. "I might teach you some money making tricks. I know one or two that you could practice on your friends to a profit."

The prospect of getting something by which he could "do" a friend caught Pete's attention. He asked what kind of trick the stranger meant and was told that the best explanation would be to show the trick.

"Have you got a coin about you?" he asked.

Pete fumbled in his pocket and pulled out half a dollar, which he tossed to the Britisher. The latter put it in the palm of his right hand.

"You see," he said, "that it's in the palm of my right hand. I put it up my sleeve this way. Now I take it out of my sleeve and put it in the palm of my left hand. I now put it up my left sleeve and take it out and put it in my left hand."

While he was doing this he was fumbling up his right and left sleeve. After placing the coin for the second time in his left hand he pulled his cuffs down over both hands; then, with fists closed, he extended one fist toward Pete and the other toward Bill.

"Which hand is the coin in?" he asked Pete.

"The left," was the reply.

"What do you say?" Bill was asked.

"Left."

Something cracked in the stranger's right hand, and Pete fell forward on the ground.

"Hands up!" to Bill.

Bill's hands went up in a hurry.

"Would you oblige me," said the Britisher to the man who had driven him, "by relieving the gentleman of his weapons?"

The driver acceded to the request and handed two revolvers to the Britisher.

This ended the episode. Pete was picked up, dangerously but not mortally wounded. Bill agreed to call the affair, of which he had not approved, quits, shook hands with the Britisher and was handed back his weapons.

At that moment a man rode up on horseback and, seeing the stranger, asked:

"Major Hollester?"

"Yes, Mr. Grierson."

"Well, let's proceed to business."

The two men withdrew from the others and after half an hour's conversation returned to them.

"Gents," said Grierson, "this is Major Hollester of the British army. He was wounded fighting the Turks and has since been in poor health. So they sent him over here to buy horses for the British army. I have just contracted with him for a thousand head."

"I'm sorry," said Major Hollester, "to have put lead into one of your number. I've seen enough of that at Gallipoli and don't want any more of it."

"How did you get the drop on Pete and Bill?" asked a witness to the shooting.

The crowd seeming more interested in an explanation than in the apology, the major explained. Pulling up his sleeves, he showed slung to each arm by an elastic strap a Derringer pistol.

"You see," he said, "when I shoved the half dollar up my sleeve and pulled it down again I pulled one of these little barkers with it, so that when I extended my hands I had one of the weapons in each hand. I was ready then to fire, but so disliked hurting any one that I delayed a moment, as if carrying out the trick, asking this man Pete and then the other which hand held the coin. I wouldn't have thought of carrying arms in this peaceful country, but Mr. Grierson wrote me that there were some lawless characters about this location and it was the custom to wear arms. I have found the Derringer the best weapon for short notice and fixed a pair in my sleeves."

"What's the cross you wear on your watch chain, major?" asked a looker on.

"Oh, that's what they call the Victoria."

"What's that?" asked several persons at once.

The major looked abashed and, turning, walked away toward the conveyance in which he had come.

"I think," said Grierson, "that I can explain what that is. I received a letter stating that Major Edgar Hollester, V. C., would visit me for the purpose of buying horses for the British army. Noticing the V. C. tacked to his name, when I wrote my correspondent again I asked what it meant. The reply was that it stood for Victoria cross, a decoration given by the British government for bravery. I was also informed that Major Hollester had especially distinguished himself at Gallipoli and had been decorated therefor."

Major Hollester, having completed his contract for horses, was driven to the railway station and proceeded northeastward, entering Canada.

WATFORD ASTONISHED BY SIMPLE MIXTURE

Watford people are astonished at the INSTANT action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika. ONE SPOONFUL removes such surprising foul matter it relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. Because Adler-ika acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel, a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. Taylor & Sons, Druggists.

13,000 Masons Have Enlisted.

Masonic symbols have become realities to eighteen thousand Masons who have enlisted in the Canadian overseas force; they have thereby interpreted into deeds the teachings and ideals of the ancient order. Their Masonic training fitted them for entrance into the khaki brotherhood, and many of them have been faithful unto death, notably the late Major-General Mercer, who was a Past Master of the Masonic order.

Ten thousand Masons have enlisted in Ontario; this is equivalent to almost nine battalions or over two infantry brigades.

He Saved His Quarter.

To salvage a twenty-five-cent piece for a five-cent fee, George Storey, a ten-year-old London lad, crawled through a small, murky, gas-laden, rat-infested sewer for a city block the other day. He brought the quarter out, and was hailed out in a weakened condition by his companions. He was in the drain for a considerable time.

"What made you think it would be easy?"

Miller's Worm Powders will drive worms from the system without injury to the child. The powders are so easy to take that the most delicate stomach can assimilate them and welcome them as speedy easers of pain, because they promptly kill the worms that cause the pain, and thus the suffering of the child is relieved. With so sterling a remedy at hand no child should suffer an hour from worms.

Most Eminent Medical Authorities Endorse It.

Dr. Eberle and Dr. Braithwaite as well as Dr. Simon—all distinguished authors—agree that whatever may be the disease, the urine seldom fails in furnishing us with a clue to the principles upon which it is to be treated, and accurate knowledge concerning the nature of disease can thus be obtained. If backache, scalding urine or frequent urination bother or distress you, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, gout or sciatica or you suspect kidney or bladder trouble just write Dr. Pierce at the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y.; send a sample of urine and describe symptoms. You will receive free medical advice after Dr. Pierce's chemist has examined the urine—this will be carefully done without charge, and you will be under no obligation. Dr. Pierce during many years of experimentation has discovered a new remedy which he finds is thirty-seven times more powerful than lithia in removing uric acid from the system. If you are suffering from backache or the pains of rheumatism, go to your best druggist and ask for a 50-cent box of "Auric" put up by Dr. Pierce. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak women and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the blood have been favorably known for the past forty years and more. They are standard remedies to-day—as well as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for the liver and bowels. You can get a large trial package for 10c. of any one of these remedies by writing Dr. Pierce.

Doctor Pierce's Pellets are unequalled as a Liver Pill. One tiny, Sugar-coated Pellet a Day. Cure Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Dizziness, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.

Threatened the King.

The honor of knighthood is not one which appeals to everybody. Coke of Norfolk, who considered that he had a far better claim than the speaker to the designation of first commoner of England, strongly disliked the idea of a handle to his name. This fact was well known to George IV. When Coke was chosen to head a deputation praying the king to dismiss from his person and council those advisers who by their conduct had proved themselves alike enemies to the throne and people George announced that he would get even with him. "If Coke of Norfolk enters my presence," he declared, "I swear I'll knight him." The threat was repeated to Coke, who rejoined, "If he dares such a thing I swear I'll break his sword." And as the sturdy Norfolk squire was quite capable of doing this, George refrained from carrying out his threat.

Feet of the Chameleon.

In their tongue, their feet and their eyes chameleons differ remarkably from other lizards. Their feet, though possessing five toes, are divided into two grasping groups, looking like a hand in mittens, and only by close examination you perceive the presence of the two or the three opposing respectively, but so close together as to appear like one broad one. On the padded soles or palms of these grasping limbs you can feel and see the small—may one say—palp, which enable them to grasp so firmly that it is difficult to detach a chameleon from its foothold. These clinging feet, together with their prehensile tail, enable them to sustain themselves on the branches in the strongest gale.

Needn't Go Higher.

A drawing master, who had been worrying a pupil with contemptuous remarks as to his want of skill in the use of the pencil, ended by saying:

"If you were to draw me, for example, tell me what part you would draw first?"

The pupil, with a significant meaning in his eye, looked up into his master's face and quietly said:

"Your neck, sir."—London Tit-Bits.

ROADS WORK GOES AHEAD.

Ontario Government is Completing Organization of Big Scheme.

One of the significant signs of stability in the midst of the war struggle is the manner in which the different departments of the Ontario Government are continuing the ordinary routine of administration, and at the same time laying careful plans to deal with the added problems that are sure to arise as the war draws to a close.

The war necessarily called a halt to several important projects that had reached a stage when actual work was about to commence. Not one department of the Government but was obliged to suspend or curtail operations to some extent. This was particularly so in the case of the highway improvement program.

It might be pointed out that the scheme initiated by Sir James Whitney three years ago for a province-wide system of highways had been enacted into law. A million dollars has been set aside to start the important work. The former Highways Branch of the Public Works Department has now been enlarged into a Department of Highways under a Deputy Minister, who has taken over the administration of the Motor Vehicles Act and the licensing of automobiles as logically coming within the scope of this work. The failure of the Senate at Ottawa to pass the Highway Aid bill has not affected the policy of the Provincial Government towards highway improvement. The new department has gone ahead completing its organization and making a survey of the situation all over the Province.

Until the dislocation caused by the war has passed away and monetary conditions become normal it is not expected that many counties will embark upon a program of highway construction, especially while their money raising efforts are absorbed with war grants. But this will not prevent much necessary and good work being done on the township roads. These roads are feeders to the main county roads, and unless they are properly maintained the efficiency of the whole scheme will be impaired.

W. A. McLean, Deputy Minister of Highways, has prepared for distribution an admirable pamphlet road construction for township road superintendents and overseers. This manual, as it is called, sets out in simple plain language the important principles which should be applied to township road maintenance and improvement. The essential features, it is pointed out, are: (1) thorough drainage of the subsoil, natural or artificial, making a strong, unyielding foundation; and (2) a wearing surface, forming a smooth, hard, compact crust, which sheds water readily, and distributes the concentrated wheel load over a greater area of subsoil.

With this as a beginning it goes on to show that a good earth road is the first step towards a good gravel or stone road, and the various stages in this development are briefly described. Separate sections are devoted to earth roads, tile drainage, gravel roads, and working diagrams are included to make plainer the descriptions given.

After all highway betterment is largely a matter of common sense and co-operation. The Government has come forward in a large handed way to assist the rural communities to improve their roads. It will bear a considerable portion of the cost of construction in counties; it will pay part of the salary of a township road overseer; and it will contribute a portion of the annual cost for maintenance of improved county roads. But to insure the best return to the people for this investment those having to do with road maintenance must be instructed in their work.

For two years now a conference of road overseers and superintendents has been held early in the spring in the Parliament Buildings where instructive papers were read and road problems discussed. The best experience in road construction and maintenance has been reduced by the department to available form for these men, and the next few years should witness a great movement towards highway betterment in Ontario. This is in harmony with the general advance that is taking place in agriculture. The labor problem has forced the farmer to use more machinery, the Hydro-Electric as it is extended will further simplify this difficulty, the motor car and telephone brings the farmer nearer the centre of population, and the centres of population as well nearer the farm, and the connecting link is good roads. That is the economy of the whole thing.

Hard and soft corns both yield to Hol-lowy's Corn Cure, which is entirely safe to use, and certain and satisfactory in its action.

Refused to Make Munitions.
Canadian prisoners in Germany were sentenced to a year in jail by the Germans for refusing to make war munitions, according to a letter received in Ottawa from Corporal Ian A. Simons, formerly a prisoner in Germany, and now transferred to the internment camp in Switzerland. He writes that Corporal Harry Hogarth, of Ottawa, is one of those who refused to make munitions, and it is expected he will have to serve the year's sentence which has already been imposed upon him. "Although I Had Little Faith in Them"

That is the feeling of hundreds who have been helped by Gin Pills. They advise after the cure that when they used Gin Pills it did not seem possible that such a simple remedy could relieve such severe suffering. The line above, for instance, is from the letter of Mr. H. F. Herbert, Pleasantville, recommending

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

He says, in part, "I suffered from kidney trouble for several years. I have tried numerous remedies and used medical prescriptions without having permanent relief, my case being chronic. I decided to try Gin Pills although I had but little faith in them. The first dose gave me relief. Since, I have taken four boxes of these pills and I find myself completely cured."

If you have lame back, swollen joints, constant headaches, urinary troubles, stone, gravel, rheumatism, remember Mr. Herbert's experience and try Gin Pills.

taken to bring it before the authorities, so that it can be investigated, as, according to The Hague tribunal, prisoners of war are not to be called upon to make munitions.

Big Ore Shipments.

The Steel Company of Canada will ship to Sarnia during the season of navigation over 500,000 tons of iron ore from the ranges near Superior and Duluth. This tonnage is the greatest ever ordered to be delivered at this port, and will require nearly a hundred shiploads. The ore will be loaded into cars at Point Edward, and will be hauled from there to Hamilton. Twelve thousand carloads will be required to move it.

Fought Eight Aeroplanes.

That Lieut. Jack Simpson of Guelph met his death when, single-handed, he attacked eight hostile aeroplanes, is the word received recently by his father, Mr. J. H. Simpson, in a letter from Flight Lieut. R. Corbett, R.F.C. The report says: "Your son went up on patrol duty and met eight hostile machines coming over the lines. He attacked, and against such heavy odds he was, of course, badly handicapped. Eye-witnesses say they watched the gallant act of a British aeroplane attacking eight hostile machines. Your son was shot in the head, so all must have been over instantly. He died a hero's death."

Time Makes Changes.

Two relics of former legislators in Osgeode Hall, Toronto, have been placed in danger by the renovating of the heating system in the King's Bench and the Common Pleas court-rooms. They are desks which were installed by the Law Society of Upper Canada in 1823, during the reign of King William IV., when students at law were required to be in attendance in the courts. The desks were for the convenience of the students, who were required to sign a register showing that they had been in attendance each day.

The desks were in use as late as 1870, and Chief Justice R. M. Meredith, who was called in 1869, entered his name in the books kept there.

Cost of Living Up.

The cost of living in Canada has gone up about 25 per cent. in the last twelve months. After the war there must be a great reaction in commodity prices, or the level of earnings, as they will be then, will be utterly insufficient. Canada must depend on its land to see it through, and be prepared to neglect nothing to develop its farm output.

THE ONLY WAY TO CURE RHEUMATISM

Must Be Treated Through the Blood and the Poisonous Acid Driven Out

The twinges and tortures of rheumatism are not due to cold, damp weather as so many people suppose. Rheumatism comes from poisonous acid in the blood. This is a medical truth that every rheumatic sufferer should realize. There is only one way to cure rheumatism—it must be treated through the blood. All the liniments and rubbing and so-called electrical treatment in the world will not cure rheumatism, and the sufferer who tries them is not only wasting money, but is allowing the trouble to become more firmly rooted in the system and harder to cure when the proper remedy is tried. Dr. Williams Pink Pills have had remarkable success in curing rheumatism because they go right to the root of the trouble in the blood, driving out the poisonous acid, releasing the stiffened joints, clearing away the torturing pains, and giving the victim renewed health and ease. Mr. Vincent Brow, Havre Boucher, N. S., says: "For two years I was an almost constant sufferer from rheumatism, the trouble being so bad at times that I could scarcely get about. The trouble seemed to bring with it anaemia, and altogether I was in a very bad condition. I used doctor's medicine for almost a year without relief. Then on the advice of a friend I decided to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I think I took altogether about a dozen boxes, with the result that I am again enjoying perfect health."
You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

If the miserable coward who sent me the malicious lying letter last week will have the courage to give me his name, I will make things very interesting for him. Ever since coming to Watford I have neither said nor done anything that I am ashamed of, but judging from the dirty obscene language used in his letter my correspondent cannot say the same thing. Before he repeats his experiment let him remember that I am a free man, and I will attend to my business if he will keep to his.
