THE SOUNDS OF INDUSTRY.

I love the banging hammer,
The whirring of the plane,
The crashing of the busy saw,
The creaking of the crane,
The ringing of the anvil,
The grating of the drill,
The clattering of the turning lathe,

The clattering of the turning latine,
The whirling of the mill,
The buzzing of the spindle,
The rattling of the loom,
The puffing of the engine,
And the fan's continuous boom—
The clipping of the tailor's shears,
The driving of the awl,
The sounds of busy labor—
Llove them all.

I love, I love them all.

I love the ploughman's whistle,

The reaper's cheerful song.
The drover's off repeated shout,
As he spurs his stock along;
The bustle of the market-man,

And husker's joke and mirt!

The kind voices of dairymen,
The shepherd's gentle call—
These sounds of active industry,
I love, I love them all.

For they tell my longing spirit

A strife which ever bringeth

O, there is good in labor,

To the striver all his part.

O, there is good in tabor,
If we labor but aright,
That gives vigor to the day-time,
And a sweeter sleep at night,
A good that bringeth pleasure,
Even to the toiling hours—
For duty cheers the spirit
As the dew revives the flowers.

CHEAP SCHOOL-TEACHERS.

It is to be regretted that in some of our school sections, the trustees, in employing teachers, are more governed in their choice by the smallness of the salary, than by the competency of the salary, than by the competency of the settimated amount that this county sends away from home every year for bread stuffs. What an an enormous drain this is upon our people. Mr. H. R. Stryers,

Deer Sir.—Three years ago I was suffering terribly with Inflammatory Rheumatism. Our minister's wife advised me to take Vecetrine.

After twking one bottle, I was entirely relieved,
this year, reeling a return of the disease, I again
commenced taking it, and am being benefited greatly. It also greatly improves my digestion.

MR. H. R. STEVENS.

In 1872 your VEGETINE was recommended to me; and, yielding to the persuasions of a friend, I consented to try it. At the time I was suffering from general debility and nervous prostration, superinduced by overwork and irregular habits. Its wonderful strengthening and curative properties seemed to affect my debilitated system from the first dose; and under its persistent use I rapidly recovered, gaining more than usual health and good feeling. Since then I have not hesitated to give Vegeting my most inqualified indorsement as being a safe, sure, and powerful agent in promoting health and restoring the wasted system to now life and energy. Vegetine is the only medicine I use, and as long as I live I never expect to find a better.

MR. H. R. STEVENS.

Low Sir.—About ten years ago my health failed through the depleting effects of dyspepsia, nearly a year later I was attacked by typhoid fever in its worst form. It settled in my back, and took the form of a large deep-seated abscess, which was fifteen months in gathering. I had two singical operations by the best skill in the State, but received no permanent cure. I suffered great pain at times, and was constantly weakened by a profuse discharge. I also lost small pieces of bone at different times.

Matters ran on thus about seven years, till May, 1874, when a friend recommended me to go to your office, and taik with you of the virtue of Vegettire. F did so, and by your kindness passed through your manufactory, noting the ingredients, &c., by which your remedy is product.

By what I saw and heard I gained some conlence in VEGETINE.

By what I saw and heard I gained some confidence in Vegetine.

I commenced taking it soon after, but felt worse from its effects; still I persevered, and soon felt it was benefiting me in other respects. Yet I did not see the results I desired until I had taken faithfully for a little more than a year, when the difficulty in the back was cured; and for nine months I have enjoyed the best of heelth.

I have in that time gained twenty-five pounds of flesh, being heavier than ever before in my life, and I was never more able to perform labor than now.

During the past few weeks I had a scrofulous swelling as large as my fist gather on another part of my body.

I took Vegetine faithfully, and it removed it level with the surface in a month. I think I should have been cured of my main trouble sooner if I had taken larger doses, after having become accustomed to its effects.

One hundred and five feet from the ground is the water sheet of the tower, and above that is covered with dressed stone, made to fit closely, in slabs two by five feet, inclining at an angle of about thirty degrees from up right.

In the summer of 1870 a citizen of the place was examining the tower with a glass when he observed, springing from the third crevice above the water sheet, on the east side of the tower, 110 feet from the ground, a little twig. But little was thought of it, and it was scarcely discernible with the naked eve. The next spring some interest was exhibited to know if the miniature tree, in its strange and exposed position, had survived the wintry blasts. It had survived, and when sun and spring showers came on, put out its leaves plentifully and grew luxuriantly all the season. By this time it was easily seen with the eye, but as it could not be approached in any ordinary manner nearer than from the roofs of buildings on the opposite side of the street, its species could not be ascertained. The third spring it put forting again with renewed life, vigor and size. This spring it was decided to be a silver maple, sprung, no doubt, from a seed carried by a bird or whirlwind and lodged in that exalted place. By this time the tree had become famous. Accounts of it had appeared in the papers; but the story was not generally believed.
