Selecting and Storing Seed Corn.

Department of Agriculture, Commissioner's Branch, Ottawa, Oct. 6. The present season has been a disappointing one to the great majority of the growers of corn in Ontario. The characteristic lack of care in selecting and storing seed has this year, more clearly than ever, proved the truth of the old adage that "experience is a dear teacher."

Poultry House Ventilation.

In an address before the Winter Meeting of the Massachusetts Board of Agriculture, Mr. A. A. Bingham said: "The hen houses in summer time, instead of being close, stifling boxes, with fronts all of glass, should be made into airy shelters by placing windows and doors with frames of wire netting, and by otherwise opening up the quarters so that they shall be little more than open sheds and abelters. The tight roof will protect the fowls, while affording always the fresh air that would naturally be found by the fowls roosting in trees. At the same time, by the aid of wire netting, the birds are protected from night prowlers of the four-legged and other varieties. The expected forward side."

The Woodman.

(By Charles G. D. Roberts.) When the grey lake-water rushes And the dripping alder bushes And the bodiless autumn wind In the fir-tree weeps and hush— When the air is sharply damp And the solitary crows are dumb— And the moose lark in the thicket Glimmers like a scarlet lamp— When the birches twinkle yellow And the cornel bushes mellow And the owl across the twilight Trumpets to his downy fellow—

Toot Your Tooter.

If you toot your little tooter and then lay aside your horn, In ten short days there's not a soul will know that you were born; The man who gathers pumpkins in the man who plows all day, And the man who keeps a bumping in the man who makes it pay. The man who advertises with a short and sudden jerk, Is the man who blames the editor because it didn't work; The man who gets the business has a long and steady pull, And keeps his ad. screaming from week to week quite full. He plans his advertising in a thoughtful sort of way, And keeps forever ad. it until he makes it pay; He has faith in all the future, can withstand a sudden shock, And, like the man of scripture, plants his business on a rock. If he can't write good copy, he employs a man who can, And the other fellow in his line is classed as "a safe investment." You can't fool people always, they've been a long time born, And you can't write good copy, he employs a man who can, who tooteth not his horn.

What Some Nova Scotia Bakers Say about the success they have had with Royal Household Flour.

Toward the quiet close of the day Back to camp he takes his way, And about his sober footsteps, Unfaded, the moonbeams startle The expectant forest side. On his roof the red leaf falls At his door the bluejay calls, And he hears, the wood-mice hurry Up and down his rooming log walls. Hears the laughter of the loon Thrill the dying afternoon— Hears the calling of the moose Ebb to the early moon.

From Poverty to Wealth. Mrs. Thomas Stacey, formerly Miss Home, a resident of Oysterbrook street, Dartmouth, N. S., has inherited a fortune of $300,000. Years ago a relative of Mrs. Stacey's went to the United States and had never been heard from. It was supposed that he had died there, and no more was thought of the matter. It has been discovered, however, that the relative "struck oil" while in the Southern States and accumulated an immense fortune, estimated at nearly a million dollars. He died a short time ago in the State of Montana, and his enormous wealth has been bequeathed to Mrs. Stacey and her brother, Rev. Mr. Home. The latter was the first to hear the good news, and after a little delay he and Mrs. Stacey decided to go South and claim what is justly theirs. They have not yet returned, but it is stated on good authority that they will secure the money. Mrs. Stacey has a husband and about fifteen children living at present in an old shack adjoining the Old Customhouse, Dartmouth, and the family have for years been in almost destitute circumstances, sometimes depending upon charity for an existence. Now the good news is received, and such a family can better be imagined than described, and they are hopefully awaiting the return of Mrs. Stacey.

Captured Monstrous Whale. The whaling steamer Lynx, Capt. N. Davidson, arrived at Louisbourg on Wednesday, 5th inst., having on board a monster whale, captured about sixteen miles off the harbor. Capt. Davidson said that when the whale was first harpooned it dragged the ship at the rate of sixteen miles an hour, until it was killed. The whale was 80 feet long, and it is estimated it will yield 2000 gallons of oil. The present mode of harpooning whales is by shooting the harpoon with a gatling gun. The same was used by Capt. Davidson in capturing the monster whale at Louisbourg. The third find from the bow of the ship had the fatal effect.

For A SUIT Neck. Or any soreness in the muscles of the back or sides you can't get any relief half so good as Nerviline, the most powerful liniment made. "My wife was so stiff I couldn't turn a quarter of an inch," writes Fred J. Baldwin, of Portsmouth. "I had it rubbed with Nerviline a few times and all the soreness and stiffness disappeared. I don't know another liniment you can depend on like Nerviline, it's splendid for colds, lameness, and can't be beaten for rheumatism and neural pain." Try Nerviline yourself. Price 25c.

It is said that preparations are already being made by members of the New York club for the defence of the American's cup against a possible fourth challenge from Sir Thomas Lipton. Members of the club think that a challenge may be expected by any mail, and that as in former years it will come from the Royal Ulster Yacht Club. Sir Thomas has not yet announced that he has made a designer, but club members believe that a challenge is sure to come, and are only waiting to find out what conditions are named before going actively to work to build the defender.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken at once as a preventive measure and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by taking it as a preventive measure. This remedy is so widely known, and so altogether good, that one should not hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. It is for sale by S. N. Weare.

The Household.

HANG THIS IN YOUR LAUNDRY. To remove Ink stains—Soak in sour milk. If a dark stain remains, rinse in a weak solution of chlorate of lime. Blood stains—Soak in cold salt water; then wash in warm water with plenty of soap; afterward boil. Grass stains—Saturate the spot thoroughly with kerosene, then put in the washbub. Iodine stains—Wash with alcohol, then rinse in soapy water. Hot tea and coffee stains—Soak the stained fabric in cold water; wring; spread out and pour a few drops of glycerine on each spot. Let it stand several hours; then wash with cold water and soap. Iron rust—Soak the stain thoroughly with lemon juice, sprinkle with salt and bleach for several hours in the sun. Grease spots—Hot water and soap generally remove these. If fixed by long standing, use either calcium or naphtha. All three of these must be used away from either fire or artificial light. Grease, white-grease, tar stains—Soak on the stains with lard, then soak in turpentine. Scrape off carefully, with a knife, all the loose surface dirt; sponge clean with turpentine and rub greatly till dry. Mildew—Soak in a weak solution of chloride of lime for several hours. Rinse in cold water. Stains—Rub with lard. Let stand for several hours, then wash with cold water and soap. Scurf stains—Wet the scurfed places, rub with soap and bleach in the sun. Fruit stains—Stretch the fabric containing the stain over the mouth of a basin and pour boiling water on the stain. In cold weather, fruit spots can frequently be removed by hanging the stained garments out of doors overnight. If the stain has been fixed by time, soak the article in a weak solution of oxalic acid or hold the spot over the fumes of sulphur. Blood stains—Rub the spots with dry cornmeal before sending the clothes to the wash. Chocolate and cocoa stains—Wash with soap in tepid water. Yarns, dyes and paint—If the stain is on a coarse fabric, dissolve by saturating with turpentine; use alcohol if on a fine fabric. Spots with chloroform in a dark ring is left by the turpentine. Be very cautious not to use either the chloroform or turpentine where there is either fire or artificial light. VINETTE.

THE HOUSE BEAUTIFUL.

Many homes, otherwise tastefully furnished, have been spoiled by ugly or unattractive paper and paint in the room. Dark rooms have been made still darker by a dull, ugly patterned paper, while sunny rooms have been made absolutely glaring by bright red paper. Have a suitable paper on your walls, and you will have a nice background to your pictures and furniture, which will set them off to advantage. Dark rooms should be prepared in light colors, which will tend to reflect the light rays, and not absorb them as dark papers do. Living rooms should have a nice medium colored paper that will wear well, and keep the dirt in the background. Rooms with a sunny aspect should be hung in soft shades of green, which will soften the strong light and be grateful to the tired eye. Rich reds and golden browns give one a sense of warmth and coziness. Blues make rooms look cold. Pink and white, or pale blue and white, have a fresh and sweet appearance, while yellow reflects a mellow light. Green is the only color that does not try the eye, no matter how long one may look at it, there it is useful for bedrooms and sick-rooms. Combinations of these colors could be made. Choose the shades with an eye to the purpose of the room. Be careful how your woodwork is painted. If you can contrast the color of the paint with that of the paper, and both have a pleasing effect, do so. If not, make them blend. Ivory white is generally a safe tint to choose, and is easily wiped and kept clean. A good plan to follow if you can do so, is to make the coloring shade off from a dark tint to a light one. Have the lower part of the walls dark and gradually get lighter as the ceiling is approached, the latter being the lightest. Have a good paper well you are about it. It pays in the end, the paper will look and wear well to the last. FOR FALLING HAIR. When the hair is dry and dandruff the following lotion used every other night will be found beneficial: To four ounces of rose water add half a dram each of sulphur, glycerine and borax. This will clear the scalp of dandruff and prepare it for the new growth of hair. While the head is in the abnormal condition indicated by the presence of dandruff the hair will neither be glossy nor of a good color, nor will there be a healthy growth of new hair. There need be no anxiety over the falling of the hair unless it falls to excess, provided new hair keeps on appearing; but no head of hair is so rich and luxuriant that it can stand indefinitely being depleted every by one hair a day if there is no corresponding gain to balance the loss.

HIS DIFFICULT CHARGE.

(London Answers.) A watchman who had been engaged by the directors of an Australian bank had brought with him good recommendations. The chairman of the board sent for him and proceeded to "part him up" as to his duties. "Well, James," he began, "this is your first job of this kind, isn't it?" "Yes, sir." "Your duty must be to exercise vigilance." "Yes, sir." "And our manager—he is a good man, honest and trustworthy; but it will be your duty to keep an eye on him." "But it will be hard to watch two men and the bank at the same time." "Two men? How?" "Why, sir, it was yesterday that the manager called me in for a talk, and he said you were one of the best men in the city, but it would be just as well to keep both eyes on you, and let the directors know if you hang about after hours."

A VARIATION OF THE OLD STORY.

"If you please, sir?" "Well, Jimmy?" "Ah, your grandmother! Go on, Jimmy." "My grandmother and me mother—" "No, sir, my grandmother, too! Both very ill, sir?" "No, sir, my grandmother and me mother are gone to the hospital this afternoon, an' they want me to stay home, an' take care of my little brother."—Chevalier Plain Dealer.

TEACHER—WHY? FIGHTING AGAIN, TOMMY?

Tommy—Johnny James started it. Teacher—But don't you know the good book says if an enemy smites you on one cheek, you should turn the other? Tommy—Yes, ma'am; but he belted me on the nose, an' I ain't got that one, so I had to pitch in an' lick him.

Jobbers' Corner.

WILLING TO LET IT DROP. Two Irishmen serving in a British regiment were good chums until Rooney was raised to the rank of sergeant. Forthwith his chest expanded, and from that time on he looked down on McGraw. One day McGraw approached Rooney and said: "Mike—I mean sergeant—Rooney—a private stepped up to a sergeant and called him a conceited monkey, what you'd happen?" "He would?" "Well, now, 'pose the private only thought the sergeant was a conceited monkey, and didn't say a word about it. Will he be put in the guard house?" "Ave course not." "Well, then, we'll have it go at that."

THE BEGGING FRATERNITY.

Mr. Macrae gives some rather good stories on the lame and maimed begging fraternity of London. He says: "I heard of one such beggar who was standing on the pavement with a board hung on his breast—'Fifty a poor blind man.' A suspicious passer-by held out towards him a florin, which he immediately clutched at. 'I see you are not so blind after all,' said the gentleman. 'It should have been 'Dead and Dumb.'"

HE WAS SOMETHING OF A NATURALIST, BUT OTHERS OBJECTED.

(Tit-Bits.) We have been hearing of a boy who thought he would like to be a naturalist, he devoted himself to the study of nature with all other that when dinner was announced on the first day he was much excited over his newly acquired knowledge, and sought to give it out for the entertainment of the people at the table. Guests were present, and, turning to the lady nearest to him, with a smiling face, he inquired: "Did you ever look at cheese through a microscope?" "I do not remember to have done so," she pleasantly replied, withdrawing from her lips the bits she was about to eat. "Well, you just ought to see the things crawl on it!" "John," exclaimed his father, "eat your dinner!" The lady quietly tucked the piece of cheese under the side of her plate, and John protested that his information on the subject wasn't wanted. When strawberries were placed upon the table John burst forth again. "John," said his mother. "Well, that's not worse than the heads," protested the eager naturalist, "for flies!" "John," said his mother. "John went out, wondering why his father wouldn't allow him to talk 'sense' when he really had something to say."

Dark rooms have been made still darker by a dull, ugly patterned paper, while sunny rooms have been made absolutely glaring by bright red paper. Have a suitable paper on your walls, and you will have a nice background to your pictures and furniture, which will set them off to advantage. Dark rooms should be prepared in light colors, which will tend to reflect the light rays, and not absorb them as dark papers do. Living rooms should have a nice medium colored paper that will wear well, and keep the dirt in the background. Rooms with a sunny aspect should be hung in soft shades of green, which will soften the strong light and be grateful to the tired eye. Rich reds and golden browns give one a sense of warmth and coziness. Blues make rooms look cold. Pink and white, or pale blue and white, have a fresh and sweet appearance, while yellow reflects a mellow light. Green is the only color that does not try the eye, no matter how long one may look at it, there it is useful for bedrooms and sick-rooms. Combinations of these colors could be made. Choose the shades with an eye to the purpose of the room. Be careful how your woodwork is painted. If you can contrast the color of the paint with that of the paper, and both have a pleasing effect, do so. If not, make them blend. Ivory white is generally a safe tint to choose, and is easily wiped and kept clean. A good plan to follow if you can do so, is to make the coloring shade off from a dark tint to a light one. Have the lower part of the walls dark and gradually get lighter as the ceiling is approached, the latter being the lightest. Have a good paper well you are about it. It pays in the end, the paper will look and wear well to the last.

HIS DIFFICULT CHARGE.

(London Answers.) A watchman who had been engaged by the directors of an Australian bank had brought with him good recommendations. The chairman of the board sent for him and proceeded to "part him up" as to his duties. "Well, James," he began, "this is your first job of this kind, isn't it?" "Yes, sir." "Your duty must be to exercise vigilance." "Yes, sir." "And our manager—he is a good man, honest and trustworthy; but it will be your duty to keep an eye on him." "But it will be hard to watch two men and the bank at the same time." "Two men? How?" "Why, sir, it was yesterday that the manager called me in for a talk, and he said you were one of the best men in the city, but it would be just as well to keep both eyes on you, and let the directors know if you hang about after hours."

A VARIATION OF THE OLD STORY.

"If you please, sir?" "Well, Jimmy?" "Ah, your grandmother! Go on, Jimmy." "My grandmother and me mother—" "No, sir, my grandmother, too! Both very ill, sir?" "No, sir, my grandmother and me mother are gone to the hospital this afternoon, an' they want me to stay home, an' take care of my little brother."—Chevalier Plain Dealer.

TEACHER—WHY? FIGHTING AGAIN, TOMMY?

Tommy—Johnny James started it. Teacher—But don't you know the good book says if an enemy smites you on one cheek, you should turn the other? Tommy—Yes, ma'am; but he belted me on the nose, an' I ain't got that one, so I had to pitch in an' lick him.
