MEMBERS OF COLLEGE OF CARDINALS WHO WILL ELECT NEW POPE

HOW A POPE IS ELECTED CARDINALS LOCKED UP

Members of Sacred College Are Pastmasters in Art of Electioneering.

The election of a successor to Leo XIII is an event which will not only absorb the interest of the Roman Church, but will command the attention of Christians of every name throughout the world. Altho without the civil authority which formerly attached to his office, he bears ecclesiastical sway over two hundred and thirty millions of people, and his political views and desires still have great weight in the diplomatic circles of the civilized world.

On the morning of the tenth day after the death of a Pope the meeting of the cardinals for the election of a successor takes place. This meeting is called a conclave, from clavis, a key, indicating the supposed secrecy of the proceedings, not only with respect to the meeting itself, but also with respect to the individual cardinals and the other officials present. This custom, which dates back to the thirteenth century, arose out of stern necessity. More than once in troublous times the immediate election of the successor pontiff was so important that in order to secure a speedy decision by the college of cardinals, these worthies were kept under lock and key. Such was the case when Innocent III. died in 1216, and the election of Honorius III. was made in two days. In 1227 Gregory IX. was elected under similar circumstances, altho the election required eleven days. However, even this expedient sometimes failed to accomplish its purpose. A notable instance was that of Clement IV., who died in 1268. A bare majority of the college were Italians, but there were enough French cardinals to cause a deadlock for nearly three years. After seventeen months had passed without an election, the people of Viterbo shut the cardinals up in a palace. When more than another year had passed without result, the roof of the palace was removed and the conclave was exposed to the elements. Even this did not avail, for it was not until September 1, 1271, that Gregory X. was chosen.

Such experiences led Gregory X. and the council he called at Lyons in 1274 to formulate a code of rules for the government of future conclaves, known as the constitution ubi periculum. In the main this code remains in force to-day.

In earlier centuries a papal election might be held almost anywhere in Southern Europe, but for a long period there has been no election outside of Rome, and generally the conclave is held in the Vatican. Immediately after the formal announcement of the Pope's death preparations are begun for the choice of his successor. The required number of little wooden cells, each about 8x12 feet, are erected, and materials for the same, numbered and ready to be put together, being always kept in readiness in the conclave. In 1875 for the first time these cells were not used, but small apartments of three or four rooms each were specially constructed in the great hall of the Vatican. These were much more comfortable and convenient than the cells, as each cardinal is allowed the presence of two attendants, who could thus be kept near him. These suites also made communication between the cardinals less easy on account of the large space necessary for their erection.

Having assembled, the cardinals go in procession, in order of rank, to St. Peter's or other appointed place, where the mass of the Holy Spirit is sung and a sermon delivered by an ecclesiastic especially chosen for this service. This discourse is called the Eligendo Pontifice, or the election sermon, and the preacher is expected to remind the cardinals of the importance of the high function they are about to perform and to charge them to lay aside all personal preferences and to make their choice with an eye only to the welfare of the church and the glory of God.

The service finished, a master of ceremonies takes the cardinals to the conclave, where they are received by the attendants and a marshal, who is a layman. The conclave is officially closed at evening, all persons other than the cardinals and their attendants are excluded, and the doors are locked and the keys entrusted to the custody of the chamberlain. The officials are strictly charged to prevent either the ingress or the egress of any one until the conclave shall rise. The only exceptions to the rule being that a belated cardinal may demand admission to the conclave and a notary, cardinal attendant or official may be permitted to leave. A committee of three cardinals now verifies the report of the officials that none are present save those provided for by the constitution. The greatest care also is had by the chamberlain that there shall be no intercommunication between the cardinals. For this purpose sentinels are stationed at intervals, both night and day.

The voting sessions are held in the Sistine Chapel, and begin on the following day. The following diagram will explain the official ballot. Fig. 1 shows the entire ballot, as prepared by the voter before folding. The words Nomen and Signa are written on the back of the ballot so as to come into place when the ballot is folded.

Pastmasters in Scheming.

Notwithstanding the careful guarding to secure secrecy there is always more or less of electioneering. In the urgent exigency the unexpected length of Leo's reign has broken many a slates, and, also, the late weeks and months have not been idle ones to those who are aspiring to the pontifical chair. The cardinals are many of them ambitious, and there are parties in the church as well as in the state. Promises are often made or exacted in return for votes, and as a rule the high officials of the Roman Catholic Church are past masters in the art of electioneering. Not infrequently it has occurred that some "dark horse" has unexpectedly been chosen. The outside world is in the progress of the conclave enterprise generally known and the proceedings from day to day are reported with considerable accuracy.

When an election has been made the dean of the cardinals approaches the Pope-elect, canonically made, in a loud voice asks: "Do you accept the pontificate?" The answer is announced to the assembly by the dean of the cardinals, and the Pope-elect, who has been chosen, kneels before the altar, and the Pope is conducted to the altar. The Pope is conducted to the altar, and the Pope is conducted to the altar.

ELECTION OF NEW POPE.

Conclave of Cardinals Held Ten Days After Leo's Death.

On the official notification by His Holiness in a critical condition the conclave is set forth. In all the churches in Rome. At St. Peter's it is exposed on the high altar, covered with a cloth of white lawn, which is only removed on the death of the Pope.

Meanwhile summonses are sent by telegraph to the foreign or absent cardinals, and those in Rome are called to the Vatican. On the death occurring the first step to be taken is the official verification that the Vicar of Christ is no more. This act, which is performed with a certain prescribed ceremony, devotes upon the Cardinal Camerlengo (Chamberlain) to whom, on the demise of the Holy Father, the supreme authority for the time being is committed. Attired in full canonicals, His Eminence, attended by the Cardinals, prelates and laymen of high rank at the papal court, proceeds to the chamber of death. Kneeling at the door with a wand of silver, the Cardinal Camerlengo enters the room, and advancing to the couch on which lies the dead figure of the Pope, he touches the breast and forehead and then sinking on his knees proclaims in a loud voice: "Dominus noster mortuus est." The fisherman's ring and the other papal seals are then handed to the Cardinal Camerlengo, together with a document, formally attesting the death of the Pope.

THE LATE POPE.

As soon as this ceremony is accomplished, the body is embalmed, and attired in the Pontifical vestments, as a preliminary to the public exposition of the remains in St. Peter's. The body, which is committed to the charge of the Papal Chamberlains, is first of all taken to the Sistine Chapel, and thence by a covered way to the great basilica, where it lies in state for three days in the chapel of the Holy Sacrament, reposing on a richly striped canopy. Four members of the Noble Guard watch over the remains day and night with drawn swords. The body is so exposed that the faithful in defiling the temporary stiale executive, on the first meeting of the cardinals, the Cardinal Camerlengo reads the papal bulls touching the election of a Pope, and then, in the presence of all, breaks the fisherman's ring and signs of the deceased Pope.

THE LATE POPE.

dissect by the words "accedo nemini." If this new vote leads to no result, the papers are burned, and before, and the conclave adjourns until the following morning, when the election begins afresh and quite irrespective of the previous day's proceedings. When at length the determining vote is taken, and the cardinal deacon, as scrutineer, announces the election of a candidate.

Cardinals Render Homage.

The election being over a summons is at once sent to the prefect of ceremonies, who specially enters the chapel bearing the fisherman's ring. An interval then occurs, during which the canopies are removed from the stalls of the cardinals, and the newly elected Pope, and his holiness returns to robe himself in the pontifical vestments. On his return the fisherman's ring is placed on his finger by the Cardinal Camerlengo, and the new Vicar of Christ gives the first solemn benediction to the members of the Sacred College from the steps of the altar. Then, taking his seat on the Sedia Gestatoria, the Pope receives the homage of their eminences, and communicates the name which it is his pleasure to assume as Pontiff. Next the first cardinal deacon takes the oath of obedience, and hastening to the Grand Sacristy, he kneels before the altar, and on the great piazza, announces to the expectant multitude the election of the Pope, using the form of words concentrated by memorial usage: "bring you tidings of great joy. We have a Pope, the Most High and Reverend Lord (here insert Christian and surname of the new Pope) who has taken on himself the name of (Plus X. or Leo XIV.)."

Three Methods Employed.

The election of a Pope is effected by three methods, by acclamation or adoration, in which is embodied the idea of the divine inspiration by the Holy Spirit, and by ballot. The late Pope Leo was elected on the second day of the conclave by acclamation. The system of voting, called the scrutinium, is regulated by exact prescription. The proceedings are under the direction of six cardinals, two from each order of bishops, priests and deacons. Every cardinal is provided with a voting paper, on which he writes the name of his chosen candidate, but not his own name. No one is permitted to vote for himself. When the requisite interval is passed, each cardinal, beginning with the one of the most ancient creation, leaves his staff and advances to the high altar. Amid a solemn hush the elector prays for a while on the altar, and then, declaring aloud that his vote is given according to his conscience, drops his voting paper in the chalice. When all have voted in like manner, the six scrutineers examine the papers and proclaim the result. If the cardinals have obtained the required number of votes—two-thirds of the number of cardinals present, plus one—the result is declared, and the voting papers, collected together, are buried in a brazier, with damp straw, the dense smoke from which, rising from a particular chimney, visible from the outside, and proclaims to the outer world that no election has taken place.

Second Vote.

Under these circumstances, on the afternoon of the same day a second vote takes place, supplementary to the first, and called the accessit vote. In this procedure embodies the theory that the cardinal who has obtained the largest number of votes in the morning is the most acceptable to the conclave. Consequently, his name is the only one considered for the moment, and each cardinal votes for him by writing the word "accedo" on his scheda, or voting paper, or signifies his assent by the words "accedo nemini." If this new vote leads to no result, the papers are burned, and before, and the conclave adjourns until the following morning, when the election begins afresh and quite irrespective of the previous day's proceedings. When at length the determining vote is taken, and the cardinal deacon, as scrutineer, announces the election of a candidate.

Archbishop in Better.

Kingston, July 20.—Archbishop Gaultier's illness turns out to be erysipelas. His Grace is much better to-day.

CHAIR OF THE VATICAN IS FOR RICH AND POOR

One Pope Was an Ethiopian, Three Were Jews and Several Laymen.

The antecedents and circumstances of those who have occupied the Papal throne present some strange contrasts. Many of the successors of St. Peter have been descendants of princely and knighted families, as was Leo XIII, while others have come from families whose position in the social scale was the reverse of high.

Sixtus V., who was exalted to the throne in 1585, was a pig driver of Mantua, where, under the name of Felix Peretti, he attracted the attention of a Franciscan monk, who educated him. He rose to be Bishop of Fermo, and then was elected Pope.

Alexander V., chosen in 1609, had been a beggar boy; Sixtus IV. (1471) was the son of a fisherman; Urban IV. (1261) was the son of a cobbler; the father of Adrian VI. was a weaver; Benedict XI. was a shepherd's son and Boniface the Great had been a street arand and had even held the horses of the bleich riders for pennies. It is related of him that when he was crowned as Pope, in recollection of his early days, he had two kings to lead his mule.

Pontiffate Declined.

Tradition declares that Victor I. was an Ethiopian and a colored man. Three of the occupants of the Holy See have been Jews, but that was in the early days, before the lines of religious belief were so straightly drawn. These three were St. Peter, St. Clement and St. Pius I., who reigned in 642.

Clement was mentioned by St. Paul as a fellow-laborer in the third verse of the fourth chapter of the epistle to the Philippians. He was the fourth Pope, and suffered martyrdom in the year 100. Theodorus was descended from a famous Jewish scholar, who removed to Rome during the occupation of Judea by the Romans.

Several of the Popes were laymen, and the election to the pontificate has been declined several times. Martin IV. was a layman, and at one time mayor of the City of Rome. Clement IV. was a lawyer, and was secretary to St. Peter, St. Clement and St. Pius I., who reigned in 642.

From Cave to Vatican.

Persons holding that ecclesiastical rank are not pledged to vows of celibacy. He separated from his wife after his election as Pope, however, but she and his daughters lived in Rome during his pontificate and saw him frequently.

Benedict III. declined the papal chair because he did not consider himself competent to accept the responsibility. Nicholas I. called the Great, also declined, but was persuaded to accept. Clement II. resigned after a short term; Clement XI. twice declined, and the third time he was elected accepted.

Thousand Sign Contract.

New York, July 20.—Thousands of men members of the unions which have signed the employers' plan of arbitration, returned to work to-day, after being out of work in many cases since May 3.

ARE IN OF 'LEAD PONTIFF.

Born in 1814. Died in 1878.

High up in a cleft of Monti Lepido, a portion of the Volturno range, is situated the little town of Carpieto. Its five thousand inhabitants pursue the even tenor of their way far from the stir of the world. The but fifty miles northwest of Rome, its inaccessible position prudently cuts it off from the fretful rush of this age. No rivalry desecrates the quiet of the mountain hamlet, and ever care to follow the zigzag path that leads to the fragment of the old world. It is surrounded by ancient fortifications. Early in the seventeenth century a monastery of the Reformed Franciscan Monks was established there. His mediocrity of nature and straggling with picturesque lack of plan over its uneven resting place. It was to this refuge that a noble family of Siena came about 1500, driven from its native place by intestine feuds. This family bore the surname of Pecci. It descended down the mountainside, and became distinguished in the church and in the law courts. It was in this quiet spot that, on March 2, 1810, Joachim Pecci was born. His father was an officer in Napoleon's legions.

His Early Training.

This boy was of a religious constitution, and his mind was never turned by the glamor of his father's profession. Evidence of this is found in the fact that in his fourth year, on being chosen from his fellows to undergo an oration before the assembled faculty and students of his college, he chose as his subject the moral and bloodless triumph of the Holy See over the brute violence of Napoleon's despotism.

In 1817 the family moved to Rome in order that the lad might attain some degree of letters. A year later he was placed in the Jesuit college at Viterbo, where he remained for six years. Among his schoolmates there was the venerable Father Teiler, S. J., who did not many years ago in Montreal, Superior-General of the Mission in Canada. In his fourth year, on being chosen from his fellows to undergo an oration before the assembled faculty and students of his college, he chose as his subject the moral and bloodless triumph of the Holy See over the brute violence of Napoleon's despotism.

Some Boy Popes.

But he was not the youngest of the Popes. John XXI. was elected at the age of eighteen by the influence of King Otto, whom he crowned King of Italy, but lived only a short time after and died suddenly.

Some authorities say he was assassinated; others that he was poisoned. He was only twenty-seven years old at the time of his death. His successor, Leo VIII., was a layman, and ruled the church for two years.

Benedict IX., who occupied the papal throne from 1033 to 1048, was elected Pope when he was only twelve years old, thru the influence of his uncle, the Counts of Tusculum.

England's Only Representative.

Pope Adrian IV. who reigned from 1154 to 1159, was the only Englishman who ever wore the tiara and a very remarkable man.

His name was Nicholas Breakspere; he was born at Abbot's Langley in Hertfordshire, was the son of a beggar, and during his childhood subsisted upon alms and begged upon the streets. He became a servant in a convent, where the monks educated him and admitted him to their order.

Lord Macaulay, in his history, speaks with great praise of the dignity, courage and influence of Pope Adrian, and says that this beggar boy "held out his feet to be kissed by three years' teaching. This journey of mentality was a great yachting event and the highest distinction entered the legs on these occasions. Unfortunately his frail constitution forbade that he should pluck the laurel. In the work of preparation he broke down and his physician would not allow him to participate in the strife of arguments.

At the completion of his arts course in 1830 he entered on the study of divinity at the University of the Sacred Heart, or, more properly, the University of Normandy."

Only a few more days in which to get ready. That explains the bold attack made on the prices of all lines that are a little top-heavy, and is sufficient reason for this tempting array of extra values that will be awaiting visitors to this store Wednesday morning at eight o'clock. Come and see.

IRISH POST MISTRESS
ARRESTED IN WINDSOR

Mrs. Ellen McKea Admits Guilt and Will Go Back to Ireland.
Windsor, July 20.—Detectives Campbell and Mahoney of this city and Secret Service Officer Chamberlain of Ottawa made a big capture here this morning, when they placed under arrest Mrs. Ellen McKea, formerly sub-postmistress at Tubbermore, a suburb of Dublin, Ireland. Mrs. McKea is wanted by the Irish authorities on a charge of embezzling about $2500 from the postoffice saving deposits and forging receipts to cover her misappropriations.

Sums of money have been disappearing from the Tubbermore postoffice for the past ten years, and the Irish authorities have been baffled in their effort attempt to locate the leakage, so thorily and effectively did the postmistress cover up her misdeeds.
She was traced to Halifax and thence to this city, where Detective Mahoney located her, and had her under surveillance for some days, awaiting instructions from Ireland. She had a drunken husband and eight children to support, and did not deny her guilt when arrested. She has waived extradition and will be taken to Ireland for trial.

O. R. A. ANNUAL MATCHES.
New Rollings Established for the Various Competitions.
The O. R. A. annual matches will be held on August 26, 27 and 28. Several new rollings have been established, among which are the following:
A class is to be formed called "Tyro."
Any man who has never won a prize of $4 or over in the Canada company matches of the O. R. A., D. R. A.
or N. R. A. meetings.

"Cadets"—Any member of a regularly organized cadet corps in the Province of Ontario who has been certified by the officer commanding his corps.
Retired militiamen are allowed to shoot in the Mulock aggregate except for medals and badges. The Canada Cup match is open to members who have never won a prize of $4 or over and to duly qualified cadets. The prize list in this class has been increased from $50 to $80.

Cadets' Challenge Trophy—This match is at 200 and 500 yards, 5 rounds at each range, open to teams of 6 from any one corps. First prize, the Goodham Challenge Shield, value $100, presented by Major O. E. Gooderham, Royal Grenadiers, and also $25 in cash;
second prize, $15 cash; third prize, $10 cash. These cash prizes are donated by the Toronto Street Railway Co.

"Duke of Cornwall Match" has been changed from two stages to one stage, with 7 shots at 600 yards and 7 at 800 yards.
In the "City of Toronto Match" scores of equal numerical value will have to be shot off.
In the revolver match the time limit for 6 rounds is reduced to two minutes.
Extra Series Match, 200 yards—This match has been improved this season.
J. E. Austin, military tailor, has been added to the list of competitors. The first prize, which is valued at $50. All other Extra Series matches have an increased prize list.

Another Drowning.
Morris, Man., July 20.—Robert Brown, a young man aged 27, lost his life while bathing in Morris Creek yesterday. He was a son of John Brown, one of the pioneers of this country, and a resident of Morris for nearly 30 years. The deceased was one of the most highly respected young men of the district. The body was recovered about three hours after the accident.

Langley and His Airship.
Wide Water, Va., July 20.—Work on Prof. Langley's airship, which was suspended Saturday, was resumed with vigor to-day by Smithsonian expert and mechanics, and they have nearly completed the launching of the craft.
It is to dash across a track seventy feet and catch the airship into space. The car will be sprung from its fastening by twelve heavy steel springs, forty feet long. It will be discharged from two brass piston boxes, and a high velocity will be attained at the other end. Having launched the airship the car will be held on the rails.

May Not Recover.
Owen Sound, July 20.—William Campbell fell from the roof of a house on Princess-street this morning and sustained injuries from which he may not recover. He is a carpenter and was working at the roof of the building.
The support for his foot gave way, and he fell 28 feet, breaking several ribs and sustaining internal injuries.

Brook Old Boys.
The old boys and girls from Brock Township, North Ontario, held an organization meeting at Room 10, in the Central Y.M.C.A. last night. About 50 members were present, and the following officers were elected: G. V.
Burgess, president; T. E. Vallentyne, secretary; and J. T. May, treasurer. It was decided to place the annual fee at fifty cents, and committees were appointed to make arrangements for an excursion to Cananong on Aug. 1 were appointed.

Died in Oregon.
Ingersoll, July 20.—C. W. Paterson, son of the late Thomas Paterson of this town, died at Marshfield, Oregon, July 1.

HAULING CATTLE AT SEA
HAULING FROM STEAMER

Men Guide Them Ashore to Mouquet by Means of Ropes.
St. Pierre, Miquelon, July 20.—The steamer Monterey, which stranded in July 15 at Point Pitte, remains in the same position as when she first ran aground. The weather has been extremely moderate, and, although the coast is very wild, operations have been carried on vigorously for the salve of cargo. The Monterey carried 12000 cattle.

Big Show at Munro Park.
The show at Munro Park was ended last night by a very large crowd. Eddie Cox, late of Smith, Dodge & Co., may Leon, with his trained animals, and other comedians, and their comedy songs and dances. Flan-ger, lighting change artist; Johnson and West, comedians; the vignettes, and other features make a splendid program. The covered auditorium enables all to see the performance in comfort whatever the weather may be.

DOZENS OF FRENCH ORDERS

Driven From France, Religious Orders Turn to Protestant Country as Mecca.

London, July 20.—Strange as it may appear, Protestant England seems to be the Mecca of the priests and nuns recently driven out of France, and many of the refugees are arriving here weekly. They are now making preparations to settle down and build new monasteries and convents.

The French government has given as its reason for prosecuting these orders that they took part in political intrigues; that they were the means of fostering the cause of royal pretenders, and generally were a menace to the republic and her free institutions.

Whether the French government is right or wrong, the legislation has cost the country $3,000,000 for the construction of new schools, while the stipends of the new teachers taking the places of ejected ecclesiastics will amount to $1,000,000 a year.

The monks and nuns thus expelled from their native land are wandering over Europe, seeking new homes. They have been seen in the south coast of England, and in Teignmouth, Eastbourne and Bournemouth, and rumors of South Devon and the New Forest have started with surprise and amusement at the quaint costumes that have appeared among them.

They are very kindly, peaceable folk, these invaders, but the strong Protestants with suspicion and alarm. There is no hint of anything un-English about the monasteries and nunneries that are rising again in England, something that dates from the old tradition that springs from the days of the Armada and culminated in the execution of the Catholic monarch, King James II.

Let none the less the cross-crowned buildings to and fro in the fields about the village of the Holy Spirit came from France to the old manor house of Ince, a manor house set in a broad park under the same sweep of Dartmoor. They are about 100 in all, and are carrying on a laundry for a livelihood.

Within some 20 square miles in that lovely land of beautiful Devon, which lies between the moorland and the Channel there are now three nunneries and two monasteries. The Walsingham Priory of the Holy Spirit came from France to the old manor house of Ince, a manor house set in a broad park under the same sweep of Dartmoor. They are about 100 in all, and are carrying on a laundry for a livelihood.

Man Dies of Glanders. New York, July 20.—James M. Cahill, a fish dealer of Unionport, Westchester, died in the Presbyterian Hospital last Wednesday of glanders. The doctors at that institution say it is the first case that they have ever had. Cahill had a horse that became ill some time ago. He tried to doctor it, but the animal became worse on July 10, he told his wife to sell it. Some one notified the Health Department and a veterinary surgeon was sent to examine the horse.

Pat, Cawley Dead. Westport, July 20.—Patrick Cawley, a highly respected citizen of this place, died this evening, aged 71 years, after an illness of several months. He was one of the pioneer settlers, having lived here nearly 60 years. His wife predeceased him exactly 25 years ago today. He is survived by a family of four sons and three daughters—John, Mark, Mrs. M. P. Adams, Mrs. John Hamilton, Jr., and Mrs. Flynn, of this place; James of Whitby, Ont.; and Thomas of Saginaw.

Murder and Suicide. New Orleans, La., July 20.—District Attorney J. Ward Gurley has been assassinated in his office in the Mecheux Building by Charles B. Lyons, a cotton roller. Lyons shot himself fatally.

MAKING SPLENDID HEADWAY

Dominion Exhibition Arrangements Progressing in Fine Style.

A GREAT NATIONAL EXPOSITION

Manufacturers, Breeders and Exhibitors Entering into Spirit of the Occasion.

Every department of the Dominion Exhibition is rapidly assuming shape. It can safely be said that in no previous year have matters been so well advanced as they are this year.

What is true of the Manufacturers' Building is true of the other buildings. The general plan of each shows but few places yet to be let.

In the old main Building there will be an exhibit of carriages and other methods of transportation that will easily exceed anything seen before at Canada's great fair.

Both the cat and dog prize list will be ready for distribution to-day. Dr. Bell, superintendent, has had a large number of applications for each and he is confident that both shows will excel anything Toronto has had before.

Among these were the heads of all the various railway brotherhoods. The six members of the brotherhood who escorted the remains from Winnipeg were the active pall-bearers.

For the first time there will be a superb collection of pheasants, some especially imported from the Far East, China, Japan, India and Persia all sending their quota.

Poultry, pigeons and domestic pets will also be exceedingly numerous this year. For the first time there will be a superb collection of pheasants, some especially imported from the Far East, China, Japan, India and Persia all sending their quota.

MARKET-ROOF LEAKS.

Looks Now as if a New One Will Have to Be Put on.

The only unsatisfactory feature of the new St. Lawrence Market so far as can be seen by an inspection of the huge pile is the roof, and this is certainly in a most deplorable condition of disrepair.

The storm of Sunday afternoon washed away great quantities of the roof which the seams are caulked, and left inlets for streams of water, which flooded large sections of the market below.

The construction of the roof was bungled from the start. First, the pillars for supporting the roof were altogether too light and the roof refused to go on with his contract.

Last winter, when the roof leaked so badly, the architect was satisfied to remedy the roof by the use of a large quantity of the best lumber.

The contractor creaked up the seams with tow, and this has proved entirely unsatisfactory when a heavy rain falls.

The only remedy apparent is the construction of an entirely new roof. The boarding below the metal fascia is too light, being only 7-inch lumber.

The contractor for the roof for $12,000, of which $5000 has been paid and the balance $7000 held back until the architect reports the work satisfactory.

Health

Pure and rich blood carries new life to every part of the body. You are invigorated, refreshed. You become strong, steady, courageous.

That's what Ayer's Sarsaparilla will do for you.

Charged with attempting to swindle Lord Minto out of $100, a young English army officer, who registered at the King Edward as Hon. C. Charteris, a friend of His Excellency, but who is said to be E. M. B. Charteris, an ex-tenant of the Dublin Post Office, occupied the attention of Magistrate Denison yesterday morning.

The gentleman in question landed in Toronto on Tuesday last, and after registering at the King Edward, wrote from there to His Excellency some hard luck tale, asking for financial assistance.

The next day the manager received a telegram from Major Maude, instructing him to pay $100 to Charteris. Another followed shortly, however, asking them to enquire carefully into the identity of the man.

Queer actions on his part and the fact that a lady stopping in the hotel at the time reported having seen him under the name of Charteris, caused the manager to wire a description to Major Maude, which resulted in the order being countermanded. Charteris has imposed on a number of local clubs, but no complaint of any swindle has been laid. He is being detained, that further enquiries may be made.

In addition to the charge against L. L. Bateman of defrauding Samuel Newberry of $100, the complaint has now sworn out a warrant for the $60 hotel bill which he was induced to guarantee by the absence of W. B. Smyth, Bateman's solicitor, whom the latter had represented as having money in his charge for the payment of the bill. The case has been adjourned and Bateman is out on his own bail of $200.

Port Townsend, Wash., July 20.—While bound from Seattle to Vancouver with freight and passengers, the steamer North Pacific struck Craven Rock, near Marrowstone Point, driving a dense fog. Investigation showed the vessel to be leaning and distress signals brought the tug C. B. Smith, which started shoreward with the disabled steamer. Finally she broke away, drifted off and disappeared in the fog. Later, when the fog lifted, the packet was discovered fast in mud in fifteen feet of water five miles from the scene of her original accident.

The employees of the grocery department of the Eaton Co., Limited, held a very successful picnic in High Park on Saturday afternoon. After gathering to the number of between 60 and 70, a good program of sports, consisting of ladies' foot races, baseball, football, etc., was engaged in. The successful competitors in each event receiving prizes, which were highly appreciated by the winners.

Henry Holgate, the engineer recently appointed by Judge Winchester to look into the reconstruction of the Glenora Bridge, arrived in Toronto from Montreal yesterday and looked over the plans of the bridge. He will be asked to give an estimate of the cost and the time will come the question of how the county can raise the money to repair the structure.

WANT OBSERVATORY TO STAY.

University Authorities Interested in the Movement.

A large deputation waited on Sir Wm. R. Meredith, Chancellor of the University, and Principal London, at Osgoode Hall yesterday afternoon to make an arrangement with varsity authorities respecting the removal of the Observatory to Ottawa.

The Mayor introduced the various speakers, who met stormy protests against the proposed removal, and advanced reasons why the Observatory should stay in Toronto, after it had been here for 60 years or more.

It was decided that the University will all the city in having the buildings kept here, and they will give a new site for the department, provided the government will erect the buildings. Further representations will be made to Ottawa upon this understanding.

Hot Weather Beauty

The fresh bloom and beauty which is so attractive in women—the beauty of perfect health—falls an easy victim to the enervating heat of summer. The roses fade and a sickly pallor takes its place; nervous headaches leave dark shadows beneath the eyes; the eyes themselves lose their sparkle and lustre; rashes and blotches destroy the fine texture of the skin and almost without warning beauty has fled.

These troubles are but outward manifestations of the effect of hot weather upon the digestive system. With perfect digestion beauty can defy the heat.

CANADIAN STOCKS ARE LIFELESS
General Electric and Cable on a Parity-General Gossip, Notes and Quotations.
World Office, Monday Evening, July 20.
Little can be said of the local stock market today. It is absolutely quiet and with distinct inclination to drifting prices. Stocks on the list and gave evidence of some liquidation. The price at the close was 155 and only 154 was bid. The strike at the foundry works of the company is no doubt responsible for some measure of the inactivity. Cable sold on a parity with this stock at 155, and compared out considerable advance for buyers. Coal held very steady all day, with small trading and no selling in Dominion. Steels continued to show signs of the common stock at 15. The latter company is expected to be very active in funds to carry out needed improvements and some plan of campaign to repurchase the stock. As predicted, Twin City and Toronto Rail declined with the weight of the market, but only lost fractionally. C. P. R. was easier with New York and lost nearly a point for the day. Navigations, C. U. B., was particularly steady and British American gained at 91. Banks were dull but firm.

Headquarters Boston, July 20. Dominion Coal was dull today, the only active being at 97. Hale, Higginson and Towle sold at 97. Tole and Hale bought. Dominion Steel opened at 112, and closed at 113. The market was weak under lead of Amalgamated Copper, which made a new low record at 48, and closed with only a fractional rally. Telephone was weak, selling at 120 1/2; the rights sold at 2 1/16. Massachusetts Gas sold at 20 1/2 and the preferred at 7 7/8.

NEW YORK, July 20.—We expect to see an irregular stock market today. It has lost strength by the reduction of the short in the bears and we expect to see a drive at specialties, including the Industrials. We have expected to see a speculative rally on the 20th bank statement, but the support extended leads to the belief that the market will be weak. We think the sales of Illinois Central, New York Central and St. Paul on strong spots after rallies and a decline. There are bear points on Sugar and Amalgamated. It is reported that a bull account in Missouri Pacific is being gunned for. Bear lists continue to be elevated on local markets. We are bullish on Baltimore and Ohio, but would buy only when weak. The same may be said of Erie and the Town Topics.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

Boy Named Bryan Thrown From a Horse, Sustaining Fractures of Both Arms.

COWS AND PIGS KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Excursion Friday.

Toronto Junction, July 20.—County Councillor J. D. Evans is pasturing a mare in Harry Wood's farm near Ingleton. A 6-year-old boy named Bryan, with two other boys, while playing in the pasture jumped on the mare's back. Two of the boys jumped off, and on reaching the ground, one of them picked up a stone and threw it at the mare, which made it gallop on with Bryan on its back. He hung on for a little while, but eventually was thrown off, and in the fall both his arms were broken.

During the thunderstorm yesterday a cow belonging to James Scott, High Park-avenue, was struck by lightning. It was standing in the stable tied by a chain to the wall and saved the structure. The pig had taken shelter under an implement shed, and the shed was struck. The remains of the late Alex. McGregor of 1201-20th-avenue, a well-known contractor, were laid to rest yesterday afternoon.

North Toronto. Boys set fire to the wooden bridge on Wolburn-avenue, Bedford Park, on Sunday afternoon, but John Arkless fortunately saved the bridge and saved the structure with a few pails of water.

East Toronto. A meeting of the church wardens and members of the congregation of St. Saviour's Church was held on Saturday evening in connection with the 31st anniversary of the church. It was decided to hold the church social on Sunday afternoon, July 26, and to make several other improvements. The careful management of the sexton, Mrs. English, and the assistance of the church warden, J. W. St. John, M.L.A., and W. J. Hill, ex-M.L.A., were present to look after their duties.

East Toronto. A meeting of the church wardens and members of the congregation of St. Saviour's Church was held on Saturday evening in connection with the 31st anniversary of the church. It was decided to hold the church social on Sunday afternoon, July 26, and to make several other improvements.

A Junior League club has been organized in the city of Toronto. The club will have as its object the promotion of the following officers: Hon. President, Thomas Parsons, manager; Hon. Secretary, J. W. St. John, M.L.A.; Hon. Treasurer, Frank Gillingham, captain, W. G. G. There are about 20 members, with a membership of a large number of members.

The 40th anniversary of the Acacia Lodge, No. 40, A.F. & M., 10-10th-avenue, will be celebrated on Saturday evening, July 25, at the meetings in Society Hall, since the fire at the Acacia Lodge destroyed the lodge and in consequence there was no regular meeting. The 40th anniversary of the lodge was celebrated on Saturday evening, July 25, at the meetings in Society Hall.

Mrs. Perkins and children and Miss McCreary were visiting in the city of Toronto. Mrs. Perkins is the wife of Mr. J. H. Perkins, who is a well-known contractor in the city. Miss McCreary is the daughter of Mr. J. H. Perkins.

Robert Davies is determined to stop all building on his premises at the dam above the paper mill. The bathing place is close to the dam and the privilege of bathing has been badly abused. Constable Ramstein, in response to complaints received, sent a notice to the bathers to stop bathing. They will be ordered to stop bathing during the season, and offenders will be arrested on the spot.

APPEAL IS GRANTED. Victoria, B.C., July 20.—The full court gave judgment today in an appeal in Hopper v. Dunsmuir, a side issue in the famous case brought by Edna Wallace Dunsmuir against her millionaire brother, allowing the appeal with costs. As there is little chance of the preliminary questions being settled by October, in view of this decision the court ordered that the trial be further adjourned until the December sitting.

If you want to save money now is the time to order your coal. Try our Plymouth coal and you will save $6.50 per ton; pea, $5.50. James H. Miller, 100 King Street E. Phone Main 2379 and 2380.

Exhibition Furniture for Sale. One of the most successful exhibitions furniture manufacturers have held in this country has recently closed. It was held in the Main Building of the Toronto Exhibition and attracted attention from all the trade and from a great many responsible outsiders as well.

The Furniture Show finished last week and we bought a big slice of the exhibits. Our original intention was not to advertise this until after stock-taking, but we've decided to make a clean breast of it right away. The goods will be on view to-day and to-morrow. There will be a discount on every price ranging from 20 to 30 per cent. This fact in the face of the other fact that Furniture is going up in price on account of the increased price of labor and of lumber, Quarter-cut oak, for instance, is double the price it was a year ago. The will be a host of values like this to-morrow and you are very welcome to come in if only to see the advanced styles for fall.

Note.—We pay freight on out-of-town deliveries.
