

quate and some charges are inadequately specified.

"Some of the accused have left Germany,"

Heinz Heinze thought reduction in the list by the allies showed what the difficulties were:

Premier Lloyd George denied the accuracy of the German minister's deductions. He said it was evident Germany did not want to carry out the treaty in this respect. Dr. Simons then interjected: "We have every intention of carrying out these. The Allies. What we want is evidence. The courts cannot convict without it, and we want the allies to help us get it."

Lloyd George asked: "Have any arrests been made?"

Dr. Simons answered: "No."

"I don't see sufficient evidence for arrests," then asked Premier Lloyd George. "The allies are seeking punishment for breaches of the laws of war, and want to bring to justice persons punishable in Germany or any other civilized state. It is Germany's interest to justify herself in the eyes of the world by prosecuting her criminals."

Will Furnish All Evidence.

Lloyd George added: "The allied commission will furnish all the evidence in its possession, and I hope the Leipzig court will do its duty."

"The German minister attend a conference to that end," replied Dr. Simons. "I have been a judge myself for 20 years, and let me say that while the arm of the state is in the hands of justice. That's why we agree that in the interest of Germany herself that criminals shall be punished."

"I am satisfied that the list furnished by the allies contains only the names of the criminals. But there must be evidence, or the high court will not convict. Cases of this character generally require a court-martial immediately after the event. In this instance the procedure is novel. Much of the evidence must come from foreign countries. The Germans are unable to rely upon their own organization, and must have help from the allies."

The Goal Question.

The German minister asked for another postponement after the session dealing with the coal question this afternoon, in order that they might be able to consult with their experts so that they might make a final reply to the allied demands Saturday. M. Millerand recalled the terms of the treaty with regard to coal, and set forth how far short of these terms the German deliveries of coal had been. Dr. Simons explained that the shortage in deliveries had been due to strikes, revolutions and floods.

Dr. Simons said Germany was disposed to do her utmost to furnish the amount specified in the treaty from Silesia, thus intimating that the coal provisions of the treaty may be linked with the question of the final disposition of Upper Silesia.

The note which M. Millerand read requires Germany to give priority in coal production to the amount fixed by the reparations commission at 21,000,000 tons annually, distributed between France, Belgium and Italy.

To give effect to this decision the allies require Germany to agree to a permanent delegation, of which they are to be permitted by the reparations commission to sit in Berlin and to be informed of all coal movements in Germany so that these movements be checked at all times.

"If that is the decision of the allies," said Dr. Simons, "then there is nothing to discuss. It can only be accepted."

To this M. Millerand replied: "That is the decision of the allies, but the details of its application may be discussed."

"Very well," said Dr. Simons. "we will reply tomorrow."

The German chancellor, in accepting Mr. Lloyd George's argument stated that the German delegation would sign the protocol.

"The sitting was here suspended for some minutes while the protocol was put in proper form. It was resumed at noon."

The agenda provided for discussion of war criminals. The chief minister of justice, Heinze, explained the proceedings with regard to proceedings against these criminals before the high court at Leipzig. Mr. Lloyd George expressed the opinion that the question was not in a state to be discussed by the conference. There would have to be, he said, a preliminary meeting between competent German and allied ministers. If they failed to agree the matter would come before the conference again.

The German delegation agreed to this procedure. It admitted that it was much to Germany's interest as it was to the allies' interest that crimes against the laws of war should be punished. It was arranged that a preliminary meeting should occur at 3.30 o'clock and a second plenary session at 4.30 o'clock to examine into the coal question.

The Official Report.

The official communication regarding today's conference says:

"The conference met at half past 10 o'clock. M. Delors asked the German delegation to give its reply which had received until this morning, as to the signing of the protocol, the text of which had been handed to all the delegations by the secretariat-general."

Dr. Simons, explaining his readiness to sign the protocol, explained that while the delegation had power to accept concessions favorable to Germany, it must submit to the retributive sanctions provided for by the protocol in the event of the non-execution of the conditions laid down by the allies."

Mr. Lloyd George replied on behalf of the allies that the protocol provides for two series of measures, one series to be taken by Germany and the other by the allies. He said he saw no necessity of bringing in the reichstag in respect to sanctions which it is necessary to put eventually into execution, and who, moreover, was expressly provided for in the final paragraph of the protocol of January 10, 1920, which Germany signed.

TASCHEREAU NOW QUEBEC'S PREMIER

Takes Over Reins of Government—Adds Hon. J. L. Perron to Cabinet.

Quebec, July 9.—(By Canadian Press).—Sir Lomer Gouin displayed all the high spirits of a boy who has been let out early from school when he happened to encounter the press men this morning on their way to interview his successor, and laughingly told them: "I know where you are off to."

Hon. L. A. Taschereau had taken over the reins of government this morning, after having been called upon by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, the lieutenant-governor, to form a new cabinet. The new premier at once chose his cabinet, which remains the same as it was before, with the addition of Hon. J. L. Perron, legislative councillor, who becomes member without portfolio.

The new cabinet was sworn this morning at 11 o'clock, and afterwards there was a short meeting of the ministers, following which the new premier received the press representatives in his office. Hon. Mr. Taschereau said:

"Sir Lomer Gouin, as is now well-known, resigned yesterday afternoon, and was called upon by the lieutenant-governor to form a new cabinet. I need not say how sorry we all are to see Sir Lomer go, but I believe that his departure is a great loss to the province of Quebec. It has been indeed, a great blow to our cabinet, and I believe that they all feel very keenly the great loss they sustain through his departure."

"I, myself, and I may also speak for all my colleagues, sincerely hope that Sir Lomer will not entirely disassociate himself from provincial politics, and that he will still be ready, as we are sure he will always be, to render to his beloved province, the same services; extend a helping hand when necessity arises, for the future development and greatness of the province of Quebec."

"I asked my former colleagues to remain in the positions they occupied when Sir Lomer Gouin was at the head of affairs; I naturally could not have made a better choice than that made by Sir Lomer Gouin himself. The only new member in the provincial cabinet is Hon. Mr. Perron, I felt that since Sir Lomer had gone, the district of Montreal deserved another representative in the cabinet. Mr. Perron is a well-known lawyer; a man of many sterling qualities, and of great ability, who knows the requirements of the province, and has always been closely connected with all the affairs of the metropolis. He will undoubtedly prove a great acquisition to the provincial administration."

"As for myself, I will, of course, continue to carry out my duties, and I will continue to give priority to the further development of our natural resources. We have the finest forests and woods in the world, and there is no reason why those natural resources should not give more than they have in the past."

The police pounced upon the party, but managed to capture only one, who admitted that his companions were from London. According to the authorities, the men boarded the train at Westminster station near St. Thomas, threw the goods from a car.

DECLARES SUGAR RESTRICTIONS FAIR

Retail Grocers President Surprises New Commerce Bd. by Frank Statement.

Ottawa, July 9.—"That he had sold more sugar during the past year had made a bigger profit on this commodity than ever before, and that he was entirely satisfied with the present restrictive regulations of the board of commerce with regard to the sale of sugar, which he thought were quite fair," was the outspoken and most unexpected statement made by President of the Retail Grocers' Association, at the conference between the newly-constituted board of commerce and a delegation representing the different retail trades held in the board of commerce rooms this afternoon. Mr. Crabtree's remarks were in direct opposition to those of other members of the association.

Mr. E. M. Towers, Dominion secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, who headed the delegation, followed by Mr. J. C. Campbell, the district secretary were endeavoring to show the members of the board that the consumers here have benefited largely. He understood that sugar in the United States and Canada, you will find that the consumers here have benefited largely. I understand that sugar in the United States is at present selling at about 12 cents a pound, while here in Canada the price is 23 to 24 cents.

"The object of the board of commerce was not to fix prices, but to control profits and prevent hoarding. The board resigned its restrictions on the sale of sugar, and, I think, clearly demonstrated that their first action in controlling the profit on this commodity had saved nearly twenty million dollars to the consumers of this country since August, 1919."

But, at the expense of the retailers," interjected Mr. J. C. Campbell. "No," replied the chairman of the board, "you know well that I did that forty per cent of the turnover in a grocery store is from sugar, and that the price must necessarily be a fair and a small estimate. To use a vulgar expression, I do not think there is any kick coming from me with profit of two cents per pound, when all you get before the embargo was lifted was one cent."

operations. The radials were for short, inter-urban service, not competition with main lines of railway. The radial lines would be feeders for the main lines. As well say that the Hydro would oppose good roads and motor trucks. Hydro-Electric power was the only motive power that had not gone up in price.

Keep Politics Out of it.

"In ten years," said Sir Adam, "no one will fear a rise in Hydro prices if politics are kept out of it. But I shall be sorry for the people of Ontario if the government undertakes the building of railways and puts them over stretches of miles to give votes for politicians. I want you and everyone to realize that Hydro power is the best power and will continue to be the best power until some day, we utilize for power the rays of the sun."

A resolution was unanimously passed of the N.S.C. and Toronto Railway by the Hydro Board, and the Hydro Board in connection with the proposed Hydro radial system for the Niagara district and asking that the necessary by-laws be submitted to the municipalities at an early date.

This evening a large mass meeting was held in the Grand Opera House addressed by Sir Adam Beck, T. J. Hannigan and local speakers.

Taxidermists have to register in future and secure a license at a fee of $1.

DECLARES SUGAR RESTRICTIONS FAIR

Retail Grocers President Surprises New Commerce Bd. by Frank Statement.

Ottawa, July 9.—"That he had sold more sugar during the past year had made a bigger profit on this commodity than ever before, and that he was entirely satisfied with the present restrictive regulations of the board of commerce with regard to the sale of sugar, which he thought were quite fair," was the outspoken and most unexpected statement made by President of the Retail Grocers' Association, at the conference between the newly-constituted board of commerce and a delegation representing the different retail trades held in the board of commerce rooms this afternoon. Mr. Crabtree's remarks were in direct opposition to those of other members of the association.

Mr. E. M. Towers, Dominion secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, who headed the delegation, followed by Mr. J. C. Campbell, the district secretary were endeavoring to show the members of the board that the consumers here have benefited largely. He understood that sugar in the United States and Canada, you will find that the consumers here have benefited largely. I understand that sugar in the United States is at present selling at about 12 cents a pound, while here in Canada the price is 23 to 24 cents.

"The object of the board of commerce was not to fix prices, but to control profits and prevent hoarding. The board resigned its restrictions on the sale of sugar, and, I think, clearly demonstrated that their first action in controlling the profit on this commodity had saved nearly twenty million dollars to the consumers of this country since August, 1919."

But, at the expense of the retailers," interjected Mr. J. C. Campbell. "No," replied the chairman of the board, "you know well that I did that forty per cent of the turnover in a grocery store is from sugar, and that the price must necessarily be a fair and a small estimate. To use a vulgar expression, I do not think there is any kick coming from me with profit of two cents per pound, when all you get before the embargo was lifted was one cent."

HONOR MEMORY OF GEN. GORGAS

London, July 9.—Britons and citizens of the United States joined today in honoring the memory of Major-General William C. Gorgas, former surgeon-general of the United States Army, whose funeral was held at noon in St. Paul's Cathedral.

The pall-bearers included attaches of the United States embassy, the president of the Royal College of Surgeons, Major-General Richard H. Charles, sergeant-surgeon to the king; Brig-General John Finlay, Lieut.-Colonel James Fowler, Finlay, Lieut.-Colonel and director-general of the British Naval Medical Department, and other eminent physicians and surgeons.

operations. The radials were for short, inter-urban service, not competition with main lines of railway. The radial lines would be feeders for the main lines. As well say that the Hydro would oppose good roads and motor trucks. Hydro-Electric power was the only motive power that had not gone up in price.

Keep Politics Out of it.

"In ten years," said Sir Adam, "no one will fear a rise in Hydro prices if politics are kept out of it. But I shall be sorry for the people of Ontario if the government undertakes the building of railways and puts them over stretches of miles to give votes for politicians. I want you and everyone to realize that Hydro power is the best power and will continue to be the best power until some day, we utilize for power the rays of the sun."

A resolution was unanimously passed of the N.S.C. and Toronto Railway by the Hydro Board, and the Hydro Board in connection with the proposed Hydro radial system for the Niagara district and asking that the necessary by-laws be submitted to the municipalities at an early date.

This evening a large mass meeting was held in the Grand Opera House addressed by Sir Adam Beck, T. J. Hannigan and local speakers.

ASKS THAT BRITAIN DEFINE HER POLICY

Max Nordau Wants to Know How She Stands Towards Palestine.

London, July 9.—Dr. Max Nordau, speaking at today's session of the International Zionist Conference, asked that the British government give an explicit definition of the policy it will pursue as the mandatory power for Palestine and define clearly the terms of the mandate so that all Jews may know just what relationship there may be expected between the Zionist organization and the British government.

Dr. Nordau declared there should be unrestricted immigration to Palestine. He also stated that Palestine should be known as the Jewish state, and not as a home for the Jews.

A report by J. A. Naiditch of the national executive suggesting that all Jews be taxed ten per cent. of their annual incomes for the foundation fund for public works in Palestine resulted in animated discussion. Some of the delegates violently opposed the measure, but the general opinion of the delegates appeared to be favorable to it. Mr. Naiditch proposed that money be collected in proportion to capital in the case of property classes, and in proportion to annual income in the case of non-property classes. The collections will begin throughout the world simultaneously on an appointed day.

The money collected would be applied to institutions, shelters, immi- grant dwellings, medical help and the relief and maintenance of existing schools and the building of new schools, including agricultural, industrial, research and experimental stations. It was urged that the entire organization of the Zionists for collecting money be devoted solely to these collections, except the Jewish national fund, and that special title committees be appointed immediately with wide authority for making collections.

BEST ELEMENT IN RUSSIAN SOCIETY

Expert Says They Will Play Vital Part in Rehabilitation of the Country.

Washington, July 9.—The co-operative societies of Russia, with a membership representing more than 100,000,000 people, are the "most hopeful element" in Russian society, and will play a vital part in the economic rehabilitation of that country. Frederic E. Lee, economist in the office of the foreign trade adviser of the United States department, declared today in a report on the Russian co-operative movement.

"While for the present at least," Mr. Lee declared, "the co-operatives must be considered a part of the state machinery of soviet Russia, and have been made use of in order to carry out the policy and aims of the new economy order proclaimed by the soviets, there is strong reason to hope that in the struggle for the right to serve the interests of the masses of Russia, the co-operative idea will emerge as the keynote of the new economic order in that country."

Statistics cited in the report show that from the first co-operative society established in Russia in 1865 the number had increased in 1919 to 80,000, with a membership of 20,000,000 householders. Mr. Lee reviewed the history of the gradual development of local consumers' and producers' co-operative societies into a general national system, reorganized in 1917 as the All-Russian Central Union of Consumers' Societies.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowdays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive.

BRITAIN'S ALLIES IN VALCARTIER

History of State. The war is over. Several new states emerged out of the "debris" of the late crushed Austria. These are the Czechoslovak Republic, German Austria, and the state of Magyara. Other provinces of the dismembered empire had been given to Italy, Jugoslavia and Poland. Among these parts mentioned above Czechoslovakia is the richest of all. Enormous resources of minerals and a high standard of living are enjoyed by the whole of the population as to their necessities. Czechoslovakia is inhabited by Czechs or Slav origin, in order to defend their nation. The Czechs and Slovaks had to fight hard for their maintenance. According to a remark of the great historian, Palacky, the history of the long-distance hauling business. The results seem to indicate that in spite of the high cost of living, it is cheaper for everybody to keep on living than to start dying.

HIGH COST OF DYING RUNS CLOSE RACE WITH H. C. OF L.

Increased Doctors' Fees, Higher Succession Duties, More Costly Plots, Enhanced Price of Caskets and Stiff Schedule for Monuments, Raise Charon's Emoluments for Crossing River Styx by 100 Per Cent.

When Hamlet, prince of Denmark, decided that it was better not to "suffice off this mortal coil," no economic factors entered into his lugubrious calculations. "To be or not to be" that was the question with Hamlet, and, having announced his subject, he proceeded to debate the issue with himself in that profound soliloquy which Shakspeare has immortalized in a famous play. The preponderance of arguments in Hamlet's mind, was in favor of sticking by good Mother Earth. Therefore, the noble prince flung, firmly and forever banished every suggestion looking to a premature departure "that country" from whose bourne no traveler returns.

True as it was in Hamlet's day that "it is better to bear the ills we have than to fly to others that we know not of," it is even more true today. The one of the strongest laws of man's nature is that of self-preservation. His length of days to the extent possible limit, yet there have been in the past, and there are at present in the world, many idealists who assert their willingness to die for the cause most dear to them. But idealists often have a way of overlooking the practical implications of their proposals. Dying in these modern times has become associated with a whole host of necessary preliminary and subsequent arrangements which are intensely practical in the sense that they must be paid for in the coin of the realm. No practical idealist, therefore, nor anyone else, can afford to contemplate the prospect of a "dearly bought" high cost of dying, which ignores the high cost of living, which the world finds, is running shoulder to shoulder with its more noisy and conspicuous competitor, the high cost of living, in the race up the steep grade of increasing prices.

Axiom Refuted. There is an old saying that "it is cheaper to move than pay rent." The World, in an effort to ascertain whether the economic truth of this axiom still held when the case was one of changing a terrestrial habitation for one in another sphere, instituted a number of inquiries among some of those either directly or indirectly associated in this particular variety of the long-distance hauling business. The results seem to indicate that in spite of the high cost of living, it is cheaper for everybody to keep on living than to start dying.

The High Cost of Dying is certainly as real as the high cost of living. So expensive a venture only the wealthy would seem able to afford. But death pays no heed to prices. He is governed not by economic laws, the grim reaper visits alike the palace of the rich and the cottage of the poor. He comes indifferently to those who can afford to pay the price of his visit and to those who cannot. "It is appointed for all men once to die" is a law of heaven which neither the laws regulating the high cost of living nor any other man-made economic enactment can nullify or destroy.

ADMIRAL LORD FISHER IS CRITICALLY ILL. London, July 9.—The Times says today that it learns that Admiral Lord Fisher, former first sea lord, is critically ill.

SINN FEIN ARCHBISHOP LANDS IN TORONTO. Most Reverend Dr. Mannix, the Irish Archbishop of Melbourne, Australia, is here seen landing at Yonge street wharf. Immediately preceding him is Bishop Foley of Ballarat, Australia, who is accompanying the Archbishop to Australia.

the southern states to the great municipal industries of the north during the war took away large numbers of colored people formerly engaged in the collection of roots, barks and herbs, which are used to a considerable extent in the manufacture of certain kinds of medicines. This scarcity of labor has been responsible for the diminution in the supply of these commodities, and the corresponding increase in their cost. The retail prices naturally reflect the increased costs to the wholesale dealer, so that the dying man has to pay considerably more for his preparations than a man similarly circumstanced in 1914.

Less Than Half Cost. Before the war a man could be interred either just decently or quite adequately for less than half the cost of a Succession Duties Plot. The cost of hardware and metal trimmings and less pronounced vehicles, too, has increased in the same proportion. The cost of hardware and metal trimmings and less pronounced vehicles, too, has increased in the same proportion. The cost of hardware and metal trimmings and less pronounced vehicles, too, has increased in the same proportion.

The little plot of ground wherein all that is mortal of the deceased finds its last resting place has since the increasing prices of less sacred things. The prices of the lot themselves have not advanced greatly, but the higher wages paid the men who open and close the graves, make the cost of a lot and interment therein, approximately about 100 per cent. higher than in 1914.

Succession Duties. Estates not exceeding $5,000 in value, no matter how disposed of, and estates exceeding $5,000 in value, when bequeathed to lineal heirs, for example, to father, son, grandfather or grandmother, are exempt from the payment of succession duties. Ordinarily, however, the succession duties range from one per cent. to thirty-five per cent. of the value of the estate, the rate depending upon the value of the estate, and the relationship of the beneficiaries to the testator.

Personal Banking Service

To capably assist a client in the expansion of his business, a Bank must have an intelligent understanding of that business.

Sterling Bank Service has proved of value to many of our clients because of the personal attention given to each client, and the closer co-operation which has resulted. Little items not usually classed as Service; the obtaining of a difficult piece of information; the collection of a greater average number of drafts and notes, and the furnishing of a full and adequate reason with the few returned; the time and experience of our officers placed at your disposal, in your office as well as ours—has given us an insight into each particular business which could be obtained in no other manner.

Let us tell you the full story of Sterling Bank Service—and its special application during periods of expansion. At your office or ours—whenever convenient.

SOVIET DISPLEASED WITH TRUE REPORT

Arrested American Engineer Who Declared Industries Were Ruined.

London, July 8.—Royal C. Keely, an American engineer, recently arrested by Bolshevik authorities as he was about to leave Russia, where he had executed an industrial commission for the soviet government, incurred the displeasure of the soviets because he "told the truth, plain and unvarnished." Nicolas Inard, chairman of the All-Russian central council of trade and industry, said upon his arrival here, Inard later found a sumptuous reception, and the "Kremlin" here the soviet the truth, plain and unvarnished. The gist of his report can be resumed as follows:

HOPES FOR METHOD OF SAVING HELIUM

Grant of $5,000 to Professor McLennan, Made by Scientific Research Council.

Ottawa, July 9.—By the award of a grant of $5,000 to assist Professor J. C. McLennan in his investigations of the properties of helium to determine its use for lamps of various kinds, amplifying valves, high resistance, etc., the scientific research council for scientific and industrial research hopes to see accomplished a method of conserving helium, which at present is being wasted in Canada at the rate of one million cubic feet per month. Its value is estimated at not less than ten cents per cubic foot. Most of the wastage at present taking place is in the gas field of the Bow River district, near Calgary. In Calgary it is estimated that 12,000,000 cubic feet of helium is being lost yearly.

SPECULATION AT OTTAWA OVER HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Ottawa, July 9.—(By Canadian Press)—There is considerable speculation over the fate of the newly created department of health. Since the department came into being, it has been administered by Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the privy council. When the resignation of Mr. Rowell, however, and the probable merging of the privy council with the department of external affairs, it is expected that the department of health will be placed in the care of a minister holding some other portfolio—possibly Hon. J. A. Calder.

PLEBISCITE TODAY IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Province Voting on Question of Remaining Under Prohibition.

St. John, N.B., July 9.—Interest is very keen here on the eve of the holding of the question whether New Brunswick is to continue a prohibition province or go wet, or adopt a compromise and go in for beer and light wines. Aside from pronouncements in the churches and at meetings of societies, there has been no platform oratory, but there has been a lot of keen newspaper writing on the questions involved in Saturday's plebiscite. There has been a good deal of canvassing in St. John city, the chief feature of which has been house to house visitations by women prohibition workers, to secure the votes of the large number of women who have the franchise.

HOW TO OVERCOME NERVOUS TROUBLES

A Returned Soldier Tells How He Regained Health and Strength.

Nervous troubles of all kinds, particularly nervous debility, work a remarkable amount of damage to the physical and mental. The sufferer loses weight and strength, and frequently becomes irritable and fault-finding. Troubles that were once thrown off without any difficulty assume exaggerated proportions. Other symptoms of this nervous condition are poor appetite, headaches, exhaustion after light effort, and frequently distress after meals.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The cause of this debility is generally starved nerves. The blood, which gives the nervous system its food and power to work, often becomes thin, some thin and weak, and until the blood gains its tone and strength there can be no improvement in the condition of the nerves. In cases of this kind, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found the very best medicine. They make rich, red blood, which feeds and strengthens the starved nerves, and in several cases where the sufferer had lost health and strength. Proof of this is found in the case of Mr. Fred Sander, London, Ont., who says: "While on service with the imperial forces in Africa, I contracted a my health through continual hardship and shock. I was sent back to the base hospital, suffering, so the doctor said, from nervous debility. After spending some time in the hospital, I was invalided back to England as unfit for further service. After spending a long time in Netley Hospital, I was given my discharge, but was still a weak and nervous wreck, absolutely unfit for work. I had neither the strength nor ambition to do anything. In London I doctored for three or four months with a civilian doctor, who finally advised a change of climate. I was terribly nervous, suffered from sleeplessness, smothering and harking spells, and pains in the heart; my hands and feet were always cold and clammy. At this time I decided to come to Canada, and, shortly after reaching this country, was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After I had taken the pills for some weeks, I found myself improving. I continued taking the pills for several months, and several cases where they were beneficial in the influenza epidemic. I am of the opinion that should any of my returned soldier comrades, or Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, they would be a great help to them. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicines, or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 10.

Calling Names No Argument.

The recent American Federation of Labor convention at Montreal was regarded as having purged organized labor of any inclination toward, or sympathy with, socialism. The convention was praised from day to day for its conservatism and good sense. The recognition of the Irish republic by a convention sitting in a British commonwealth was resented in this country, but attracted little attention in the United States. The big interests add the newspapers which voiced their views day after day patted the A. F. of L. on the head.

There was a change, however, when the convention, by an overwhelming majority, declared in favor of government ownership and operation of the railways of the United States. Shrieks of "Socialist!" "Anarchist!" and "Red!" rent the air. The moral effect of this declaration by labor could not be overlooked. It reflected a tendency among the American people which has not been reported by the press.

The Republican and Democratic parties in the United States are alike in their unprogressive platforms and cautious candidates. They seem, by common consent, to have relegated everything progressive to the radicals, who are assembling today in Chicago for a national convention. The question of public ownership, however, will be fought out in the congress districts rather than in the presidential struggle, and the Farmers and Labor people may be trusted to pledge many a congressional candidate to government ownership and operation.

Worth Considering.

The New York Telegraph facetiously suggests that Eugene V. Debs, the socialist candidate for president of the United States, should be transferred from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta to the penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio. This would bring him within a few blocks of Governor Cox's office in the state house at Columbus, and within reasonable distance of Senator Harding's home at Marion. Thus the three presidential candidates could all get together on the soil of Ohio, which seems to be a breeding ground for presidents.

Mr. Debs, it is announced, will not go on the stump, but he will be well fixed for a "front porch campaign." Delegations need not write ahead for appointments, for they will always be sure of finding the candidate at home.

And this sixty of a decade may be a point in Mr. Debs' favor in the coming election. If elected, he will be certain to observe the unwritten law which forbids the president to depart from American soil during his term of office. He will not go gallivanting off to Europe like Mr. Wilson, or be continually "winging around the circle," like Mr. Taft, and the country will save that $25,000 a year appropriated for the traveling expenses of the president.

The English Speaking World at Peace.

The Rhodes scholarships and their probable effect in bringing about a permanent peace are discussed in The Outlook by a contributor, who writes with loving wisdom and enthusiasm of Oxford. Oxford, he says, has made many generous concessions to facilitate the entrance of American students who have won these scholarships. These boys find in the ancient university a seat of learning and the home of true culture, and return to their own country with the friendliest feelings toward the motherland.

All this is true, but we may respectfully doubt if the writer's hopes will be realized in seeing "future American statesmen" win the Rhodes scholarships. University graduates have been by no means excluded from the White House, but the great statesman of the future may be a pit boy in a coal mine, a printer's devil, or a country school teacher.

Some think that the participation of the British Empire and the American republic as allies in the great war will do more to perpetuate Anglo-American peace than all the universities and scholarships in the world. This seems to have been the sentiment that characterized the presentation on the fourth of July to General Pershing by Ambassador Geddes of a jeweled sword as a gift to the general from the lord mayor and corporation of the city of London. Both the ambassador and the general made felicitous speeches.

The great peacemaker, however, is the daily press. Nearly any war can be headed off by widespread publicity. In any possible quarrel between Britain and the United States there are bound to be temperate and cool-headed people on either side who would insist upon reason taking the place of rage or enthusiasm, and who would finally assemble the real facts for public opinion to deal with.

In his speech at Washington the other day Ambassador Geddes said: "In the days of America's birth pangs there were many on both sides of the Atlantic, more perhaps in actual numbers on the other side than on this, who thought the action of the framers of your constitution right. But we must remember that there were also many on both sides of the Atlantic who thought their action wrong."

But there was no press cable service at that time to publish what was really being said and done on both sides of the ocean. The colonists took up arms, believing there was no other redress, and the home government sent an army to fight them because it was taken for granted that there could be no further discussion. Since then the British colonies have developed with little friction into self-governing nations, while remaining under the British flag. Or, as General Pershing put it:

"The declaration of independence of the American colonies, which we celebrate today, was but a milestone in the development of the Anglo-Saxon race. It merely gives expression to the spirit of liberty that dominated the minds of the people and moved them to action on both sides of the Atlantic."

HYDRO IN POLITICS

THERE TO STAY

Says Mayor Church, to Accompany Broadside Against Anti-Hydros.

"Take it from me, the Hydro-Electric will get into politics, and there it will remain," was Mayor Church's retort-rapid to queries from the press yesterday afternoon as to the newest developments in the Hydro radical situation. "And let me assure you, judges should remain in their place on the bench, and farmers should remain on their farms. I can assure you that since the Drury government came into power Toronto has been in a deplorable state of chaos. Not long hence we shall have Sir Robert made the uncrowned king of London, instead of Ontario having a Crown Hill minority king."

"I don't like to know who gave anyone, Hannigan or any other, the right to invite Premier Drury to that Hydro meeting the other night," continued Mayor Church, who criticized Premier Drury as a Laurier partisan in the days gone by.

BUFFALO POLICE STATIONS CONNECTED BY TELEGRAPH

Instantaneous Receipt of Mes sages About Crimes Committed Gives Entire Force Every Chance to Act Quickly—Stolen Motors Soon Caught.

It has been installed there for nearly 50 years. Another point: how could we get competent telegraph operators, even if it were installed? It takes years to train operators, and they all draw big salaries. Buffalo has these men already trained, whereas we would have to get out and hunt them up with offers of fancy salaries. The cost of installing and operating such a system here would make it prohibitive.

While Chief Higgins was explaining to me how the system works out, a complaint regarding a stolen auto was received at police headquarters. The complaint contained 45 fairly long words and several figures. The desk sergeant took the complaint over the phone, turned to his typewriter and re-wrote it, opened his telegraph key and despatched the complaint to every precinct station in town, all in exactly two minutes and two seconds. While we were still talking, half an hour later, word came over the wire that the auto thief had been arrested and the car returned to its owner.

Foreigner commits perjury. Found guilty in the police court yesterday on a charge of perjury, committed when he swore to an affidavit that a Canadian girl was 19 years of age when she was really only 14, and with whom he went thru a ceremony of marriage, Jacob Bolons, a Russian Pole, was sentenced to one year at the Jail Farm. He is a returned soldier.

Saturday Train Service, Toronto to Lindsay, Fenelon Falls and Haliburton Via Grand Trunk Railway System.

Train No. 90 leaves Toronto Union Station, Saturdays only at 1.50 p.m.; Riverdale, 2.03 p.m.; York, 2.11 p.m.; for Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Haliburton and intermediate points. Returning, train No. 99 leaves Haliburton at 5.45 p.m., Sundays only, arriving Toronto 10.55 p.m. Trains are operated on eastern standard time. For further particulars as to tickets, etc., apply to Grand Trunk ticket agents.

More Protection for Motorists. When we arrived back home we asked Toronto's police chief, Samuel Dickson, what he thought of the auto squad and of the Morse telegraph system. In answering the first question he let drop the information that he was seriously considering organizing an auto squad in this city in the near future. "I can't say anything definite about it yet," he said, "but I have realized for a long time that some additional protection for motorists is necessary." The chief also intimated that the department were purchasing two new cars to help cope with the situation.

Altho Toronto has no auto squad, it is putting it over Buffalo as far as recovering stolen cars is concerned. In 1919 motor cars to the number of 1,560 were stolen in the city, and of these all but 51 were recovered. For this year up until June 30 cars to the number of 854 have been spirited away by enthusiastic joy riders, and of these 323 have been recovered. It must be remembered, however, that Toronto has nothing like the number of cars that Buffalo has.

An Expensive System. Regarding the Morse telegraph system, commented Chief Dickson, I am of the opinion that Toronto could not afford it. You must remember that this is no new innovation in Buffalo.

This system has proved itself to be the quickest, and most reliable medium for the transaction of police business," said Chief Higgins. "When a murder is committed, or a riot occurs, instant action can be taken by means of the telegraph. There are no long waits

JUDITH OF BLUE LAKE RANCH

By JACKSON GREGORY.

"Going in?" asked Lee, in well-simulated carelessness.

"No," she told him frostily. "Why should I? Would you want people poking about into your home just because it was in the heart of the wilderness and you weren't there to drive them out?"

"No," answered Bud gravely. "Now that you ask me, I wouldn't! Let's go and find that trail."

"But," continued Judith, "not being a fool, and realizing that one of the men we want might possibly be in hiding in here, I am going to peek in."

"Not being a fool," he repeated after her, adding gently, "and being a girl, which means filled with curiosity."

A disdainful shoulder gave him his answer. The door was unlocked, after a moment's hesitation. Judith's little gasp of pure delight.

"He's a dear, the man who lives here!" she announced positively. "You can just tell by looking at his home."

Looking in over her shoulder, Bud Lee wondered just what in his one-room shanty had caught her enthusiasm. He was secretly pleased that it had done so, so that "it" was somewhat vague in his masculine mind.

There was the roof fireplace with an iron hook protruding from each side for coffee-pot and stew-pot; a bunk with a blanket smoothed over cedar boughs; a shelf with a dozen books; little else, so far as he could see or remember, to catch at Judith's delight. Yet she, looking thru woman's eyes, read in one quick "peek" the character of the dweller in this abode.

One who was content with little who loved a clean, outdoor life, and who was tranquilly above the pettiness of humanity. Judith closed the door softly.

"I'd like to look inside his books!" she confessed. "But I won't." The lean horse foreman chuckled. Judith sniffed at him.

"You haven't any curiosity about such things as books," she retorted. "To be sure, why should you have?"

Again, leaving the cabin, she went before him. Going straight across the plateau, she showed him where one could clamber up a steep way to the ridge. Once up there, it was but ten minutes until, in a hollow they found the monument marking a trail, a stone set upon a boulder.

It was after five o'clock. When following the trail back and forth in its winding along the side of the ridge they found the signs they sought; it was fast growing dark. But there in a narrow dell where loose soil had filtered down, were tracks left by a large foot. Lee went down on his hands and knees, study them in the dusk. He got up with a little grunt and moved down the trail. Again he found tracks, this time more clearly defined. So dark was it now that they had lighted several matches.

"Two men," he announced wonderingly. "Fresh tracks, too. Made this morning or last night. I'll bet. One coming east from Indian Head. The other coming west from the plateau behind us. Who's he? Where'd he come from?"

"He's the second of the two men who shot at you," said Judith quickly. "Don't I know every trail in this neck of the woods? Bud Lee? He followed another old, worn-out trail on the south side of the ranch. They met here just as I knew they would!"

"What for?" Lee frowned thru the darkness at her eager face. "What would they want to get together for? If they had any sense they would scatter and clean out of the country."

"Unless," Judith reminded him, "they don't intend to clean out at all. Unless they mean to stick to the cliffs and try their hands again at that sort of game. They'll figure that they will expect them to be a long way from here by now, won't they? Then where would they be safer than right here in these mountains? Give me a ride and something to eat and I'll defy an army getting me out there. And think of it! If this is Trevors' work, if he means to drop more than one prize bull or cow, these heights could do to us. They could pick off a three-thousand-dollar stallion down in the pens; they could drop more than one prize bull or cow, and," she added sharply, "if they thought about girls as some men think, they could take a chance on scaring Judith Sanford out of the country!"

Lee stared at her a long time in silence.

"I wouldn't have said," he offered finally, "that Bayne Trevors would make quite so strong a play as that." "You wouldn't? Then look him in the eye! And where's his pistol, if he's picked the right men, if he sees them thru, keeping the back door open where they want to run for it? You just gamble your boots. Bud Lee, that Bayne Trevors..."

Without warning, without a sound of explosion came a wiry white into the night, a little venomous pistol, and a bullet sped by just over their heads. But thru the gloom, they both saw the flash of the gun as it spat fire and lead, and as the flames from the muzzle of the gun, Judith's rifle and Bud Lee's went to their shoulders and two reverberating reports rang out in answer.

"Lie down, damn it!" cried Bud Lee to the girl at his side, as again she came, the flash from the cliffs off to the right and as again he answered it with his rifle.

"Lie down yourself!" snapped Judith. And once more her rifle spoke with his.

For one instant, framed against the darkening sky along the cliff edge, they saw the silhouette of a man, leaping from one boulder to another, a man who looked gigantic in the moonlight. They fired; he jumped again and passed out of sight.

"Got his rifle," grunted Lee, as he pumped the action. He shot along the flash, the bullet striking the trail in front of them. And then the fourth man, from a point a hundred yards to the left of the other, uttered a cry.

"That's Number Two," muttered Lee. "They've got us in the open. Judith, let's beat it back to the cabin!" "I'm with you," said Judith, between shots. "It's just foolishness!" "Bang!" "sticking out here!" "Bang!" "for them to pop us off!"

They ran then, Bud slipping in front of her, his tall body lurching dourly between her and the cliffs whence the shots came. He slid along the sharp slope to the plateau, putting his arms toward her. And as she came down, Bud Lee grunted and said, "Fresh tracks, too. Made this morning or last night. I'll bet. One coming east from Indian Head. The other coming west from the plateau behind us. Who's he? Where'd he come from?"

"He's the second of the two men who shot at you," said Judith quickly. "Don't I know every trail in this neck of the woods? Bud Lee? He followed another old, worn-out trail on the south side of the ranch. They met here just as I knew they would!"

PETER COLEY WINS IN STRAIGHT HEATS

And Alta Donovan, After Dropping First—Rich Features at Cleveland.

North Randall, Cleveland, O., July 9.—The Ohio Stake of $5000, for 2.08 trotters, the feature of the week on the Grand Circuit program, went to an Ohio driver today, when Peter Coley, driven by Charles Valentine, Columbus, won in three straight heats, all hotly contested. E. Colorado, driven by W. H. Cox, was second, and Peter June, driven by Ed Geers, was third. Peter Coley won the first heat in a smashing drive from Peter June, took the second from E. Colorado in a stretch sprint, and won the third in a hard drive. Brusloff, equal favorite in the auction betting with Peter Coley, was a keen disappointment to his backers, finishing eighth in the first and third heats and fourth in the second.

The Tavern Stake, for 2.14 class trotters, another $5000 purse event, was won by Alta Donovan, driven by Tommy Murphy, which took the second and third heats, after finishing third in the first. Arion McKinney, driven by Erskine, was second, and Ed Geers, who was third.

The 2.15 class trot went to Walnut Frisco, when he captured the second and third heats, after finishing second to Norman Dillon in the first. All three heats were hard fought between Walnut Frisco, Norman Dillon and Alieata, the latter finishing second in the second and third heats.

THE RACEHORSE DIED.
Queph, Ont., July 9.—Harry Litt, the well-known racehorse man of this city, is today mourning the loss of his valuable racer, Edward of Wales, the horse having died at 3 o'clock this morning at New Hamburg. A few weeks ago the horse was in a box car near Dunroville with two other horses, one of which was James Hill's fast pacer, Jack Power, was thrown from one end of the car to the other when the car was given a rough shunt. All three horses were more or less injured, and two men who were in charge had narrow escapes, the horse falling on them. Edward of Wales started in one race since then, but did not show anything like his former speed, and a few days ago he became sick and finally died.

THE CASE OF LITTLE BOY.
Ottawa, July 9.—A lively legal battle is being prepared to decide who is to possess Little Boy, the colt which galloped the winner in the fourth race at Connaught Park on Monday, June 21, and is alleged to be a ringer. The case will come up in the Hull Superior Court next Wednesday. Solicitors acting for Fred Hamford, of Detroit, who claims to be the real owner of the horse, have appeared to the court to have Little Boy returned over to their client, while the Connaught Park Jockey Club has filed notice of motion to have the colt retained by the club. Representatives of the Canadian Racing Association, which authorized the Connaught Club to sell the horse, are coming here in connection with the dispute. Meanwhile, Little Boy is being closely guarded by men appointed by court officials.

At the Beach, at 3.15, Young Toronto clash with St. Simons in the senior series. Chas. Querrie and Robert Hewitson will officiate.

A splendid junior game will take place at Orangeville when Weston lock horns with Bert Booth's junior outfit. These teams put up a nice battle on July 1 at Weston when the home club were narrowly defeated in a clean contest. The turned winners in the intermediate series of the same towns is also instilled in the younger element. Fred Coombs and Jim Collins of Toronto will likely handle the match.
Brampton will have their hands full downing Niagara Falls in the senior. While the Falls are out of the race for the silverware, they may upset somebody sooner see that somebody be Brampton with others we might mention, Dr. Campbell and Bert Booth of Orangeville will officiate.

PASTIME GUN CLUB.

The Pastime Gun Club held their twilight shoot on Thursday night at their grounds, foot of Booth avenue, a good turnout of members taking part. J. Blake won the cup, and it must be quite keen for this cup as it must be won three times before it becomes the property of the shooter. R. Ellis and W. Joslin have won it twice. R. Joslin received first prize; J. Blake second, and W. Woodrow third. J. Blake also receives a nice pin for a straight. The scores:

WHOLESALE FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Strawberries were notably quiet and difficult to sell, a very few selling at 20c to 25c per box; the bulk going below that, and some exceptionally poor ones being unsold after five, three were offered of ten cents per box, which might be taken as they certainly would not keep over night.

Raspberries—There were a few shipments coming in, selling at 35c to 45c per box.
Red Currants came in a little more freely and were slightly lower in price.

McWilliam & Everist, Limited, had a car of tomatoes selling at 27c per four-basket crate; a car of Red Star potatoes selling at 12c per bushel; sweet corn at 15c per bushel; and a car of sweet peas at 15c per bushel.

SHARPUPTURN IN CORN MARKET

But Sellers Had the Advantage Most of the Time on Government Report.
Chicago, July 9.—Sellers had the advantage in the corn market most of the time today owing largely to correct opinions that the government crop report would be bearish.

Chicago, July 9.—Sellers had the advantage in the corn market most of the time today owing largely to correct opinions that the government crop report would be bearish. Prices closed heavy, 5-8 to 15-8 cents net, with September 15-8 to 18-8, and December 18-7 1/2 to 18-9.

Notwithstanding that many recent bears in corn were inclined to be conservative as a result of the big drop in prices of late, the continued liberal receipts here encouraged other sellers, who were given a further stimulus by the auspicious nature of field advices, as well as by the generally accepted outlook as to the government crop report.

Higher prices on hogs tended to lift provisions and so likewise did talk of export sales of lard.
WHEAT CROP INCREASE IN UNITED STATES. Washington, July 9.—An increase of 28,000,000 bushels in the United States wheat crop as compared with last month, with a total forecast of 809,000,000 bushels; a progressive corn crop larger than last year's and larger crops of oats, barley, white potatoes, flax and rice than were grown a year ago, were the features of the government's July crop report issued today by the United States department of agriculture.

MARKET QUITE FIRM BUT INACTIVE

Mining Bids Raised, But This Fails to Encourage More Business.

There was no loss of substance, but there was no additional buying power to the mining securities yesterday. The fact that prices were not raised did not disturb the dogged temperament of holders, and sales during the morning session on the Standard Exchange were only about 500 shares. Silver continued its erratic course by falling back three cents an ounce after having advanced slightly more than that.

DOMES HIGHER AT N. Y.

The oil stocks were considerably firmer, with Petrol selling at 142, and closing with that bid and without offerings. Vacuum Gas sold at 42 1/2. The market can be improved only by more public business, and either selling or buying would accomplish this.

BULL POOL HELD UNDISPUTED SWAY

New York, July 9.—Bull pools held undisputed sway during the greater part of today's active stock market session, their motive considered, maneuvered in selected issues being attacked by the largest and most comprehensive dealings of recent months. Many extensive gains were registered in the early and intermediate periods, but these suffered material reduction in the final hour, when call loans rose gradually from 7 per cent. to the opening rate, to 10 per cent.

Gradual Credit Deflation Recommended by Bankers. Frederick C. Goodenough, chairman of Barclay's Bank, London, England, in a address on deflation before a special committee of the house of commons, said in part as follows: With the task of reconstructing nearly one-half of the world, and with the vital necessity of maintaining employment and production in this country at the highest pitch, so that we may rebuild our own position out of profits rather than by liquidation, we must have an adequate supply of credit. An adequate supply of credit is as important to us for the time being as a reduction of prices. The latter, no doubt, to underestimate the latter, nor do I wish to abandon proper measures of deflation.

ABITIBI PAPER HOLDS UP STRONG

Montreal Trading Continues to Nonplus Many of Toronto's Traders.

The operations on the Montreal exchange were again the feature of Canadian business in securities. The papers figured prominently in the trading with Brompton, Abitibi and Spanish River making the now usual new high records. Timorous local dealers are simply looking on and wondering when the end will arrive, while the more venturesome are grabbing off a few points, and trusting to good fortune. Spanish River common barely held its own for the day and the preferred closed at the top, a rise of some five points from the opening. Abitibi had a strong rise and held most of its ground. Dominion Foundry was made active in the unlisted market, its rise from 73 to 76 1/2 followed by a closing sale of 75 1/2. Canada Bread received some early attention and advanced, but it dwindled in trading after the first spurt and lost part of the gain in the merger stocks. Steel Corporation showed considerable firmness. Canners were busy at the opening, but after the first spurt all orders were filled at a discount. Brazilian drew considerable business for the day, but was again disappointing to those bullish on the shares.

BRAZILIAN STAGNANT

The only active trading in the investments was a further decline in Bank of Hamilton to 170.
