MUST ENLARGE THE RAILWAY COMMISSION

Work is Accumulating Faster Than Present Board Can Handle It.

A Very Heavy Programme for Balance of Year—Cheaper Telephone and Express Rates to be Considered—Question of Through Freight Rates.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 20 (Special)—The board of railway commissioners has before it a very heavy programme of work for the balance of the present year.

The question of rates charged by the Bell Telephone Company is also pressing for final adjudication. The commissioners are now seeking to digest the 5,000 pages of typewritten evidence taken at the recent investigation in Montreal.

Other questions which are now on the board's agenda paper include the consideration of the new uniform operating rules, drafted by a joint committee of railway representatives and employees, the reclassification and authorization of new schedules of maximum freight rates, the adoption of new forms for bills of lading, the drafting of new regulations affecting the safety of passenger trains in the matter of heating, lighting, etc., and the settlement of the Toronto Union station problem which comes up for hearing on October 1st.

Commissioner Mills in commenting on the work before the commission, stated that some method of re-organization of the work of the board would have to be found so as to relieve the commissioners of some of the detail they now have to attend to and give them time for the solution of some of the larger problems before them.

Donaldson line steamer Indrani arrived last night and is discharging her large inward cargo at the new wharf.

"THE MAN WHOM THE CHURCHES MISSED"

(Christian Guardian) How the world missed that one-time Primitive Methodist preacher, of lowly origin, the fiery ranting whose strange and uncouth ideas so shocked the respectable world, the man of the "blood-and-fire" religion, that this man, unchanged and unchanging, should be the guest of Ontario's lieutenant-governor, should be given a civic reception, and should hear his praises voiced alike by the Premier of Ontario and the leader of the opposition, and that he should go to Ottawa as the guest of the general, is one of the significant facts that tells as plainly as the general takes the keenest interest in the lapsed masses that form our criminal class, and he believes in all kinds of methods for helping them; but he testifies that the only ultimately successful plan is to get them converted. Such is the man and such is his work. It is not for us to measure men with scientific accuracy, yet it seems to us, amongst the great of the last century, there were few who could rank with this militant preacher of the Gospel of Christ.

General Booth was born in Nottingham, England in 1829. At 21 years of age he became a minister of the Methodist New Connexion. Fifteen years later he organized the Christian Mission, out of which when the militant idea struck him thirty years ago grew the Salvation Army. It first spread all over the British Isles and since over the world.

THE MARATHONS AND ST. PETERS

They Will Play on Saturday—The Game With Britt's Team is Off.

Satisfactory arrangements were arrived at this morning between the managements of the St. Peter's and Marathons, and this much-talked-of game will take place tomorrow at three o'clock on the Victoria grounds, which never looked better for years. The game with Britt's picked team is off—as there is a dispute about the division of the receipts.

The following letter is self-explanatory: To the Editor of Times: Sir,—Some days ago, representing the Marathons Base Ball team, I interviewed D. J. Britt, in accordance with the challenge published by him to arrange for a game between the Marathons and a picked team, managed by him.

On arranging terms, it was distinctly agreed between the three of us, that both teams should share in the expenses including hire of grounds, printing, postage, umpire, and incidentals. The net proceeds were to be divided in the proportion of 60 per cent to the Marathons and 40 to Mr. Britt's team. Mr. Britt, in our presence, made a memo of this in his notebook and stated that he had called the game off on the grounds that we received the per centage. This we deny—the Marathons are above such tactics.

Thanking you for the space in your paper, we are, DAVID B. DONALD, H. K. CLAWSON, Sept. 20, 1907.

TROOPS GUARD THE VATICAN

For Fear of Anti-Clerical Demonstration Armed Men Are Patrolling Vatican Grounds.

ROME, Sept. 20—This being the thirtieth anniversary of the occupation of Rome by the Italian troops and the fall of the temporal power of the papacy, all the armed men in the vatican were detailed to watch the entrances of the apostolic palace or to patrol the gardens and courtyards. Considerable anxiety is being felt regarding the possibility of hostile demonstrations in view of the recent display of anti-clerical feeling. Cardinal Merry del Val the papal secretary of state who is at Castel Gandolfo, is in frequent telegraphic communication with the vatican informing the pope of the situation in various parts of Italy. The government in order to prevent the possibility of outbreaks, has caused the vatican to be guarded night and day by troops.

SHIP FOR SOUTH AMERICA HELD UP FOR HER CREW

BOSTON, Sept. 19—Though she has on board 1,400,000 feet of oak and pine lumber and is ready to sail for Buenos Ayres, the British bark, Belmont, Capt. Ladd, cannot get a crew and is held in port. It is said that sailors at present are little desirous of making the long and tedious trip to South America ports at $20 a month, when they can get far better wages in the coasting trade. The captain of vessels bound for South America in order to secure any men at all must pay a bonus of $10 for every sailor. This they call "blood money." Capt. Ladd is hoping for completion of his complement today or tomorrow.

MONTREAL STOCKS

MONTREAL, Sept. 20 (Special)—The stock market was quiet today and both Coal and Steel issues were somewhat neglected. Dominion Steel bonds sold at 73 1/2, and Common was firmer in the quotations at 21 1/8 to 21 1/4, and Preferred at 51 1/8 bid. Dominion Coal quotations were firm at 46 asked, and 45 bid. S. J. Twin City was a strikingly strong feature, advancing a full point after opening at 93 1/2. Other active stocks were: Montreal Street Railway at 188 1/2; Rio, 22; Soe, 100; Detroit, 64 1/2; Toledo, 20; Tower, 93 1/2.

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

Our esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. James Jones, has decided to change his pew in the church. He has heard rumors to the effect that the man who sits in front of him, and who dabbles in politics a good deal, has handled large sums of money at election time, and that if the fellow would sue somebody the facts would come out. James declares that this man should not project himself into the deceptions of an upright and unbought people until he has gone into court and established his innocence of all crime against the electorate. At all events James will not sit behind this man any longer. Besides, he belongs to the other party.

A. McKeown, for the defence, were allowed and the questions overruled. So far the defence has shown little disposition to cross-examine any of the witnesses.

NO MONEY IN SHORT TWINE

American Firm Which Sent Out Short Twine Fined $1,400—Their Costs Reached $12,000.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 20 (Special)—J. L. Haycock, Dominion inspector of under twine, who is now in the city, says that while in the west he imposed fines amounting to $8,900 for short twine. An American firm was fined $1,400, but as an illustration of the far reaching results of such a fine, it actually cost the company $12,000, by being forced to re-gauge its twine in the hands of the dealers. Some 250 tons had to be retagged, reducing its value $40 per ton, making a loss of $10,000. There were other cases somewhat similar, but this was the worst.

JEWISH OBSERVANCES

Yom Kippur is Just Over and Feast of Tabernacles Begins Sunday.

The Jewish Fast of the Atonement was observed on Wednesday by the local Hebrews. It is a day of fasting and this year began at 7 o'clock in the morning, concluding at 6:30 the same night. It is known as Yom Kippur. The Feast of Tabernacles begins on Sunday next and continues for eight successive days, on the last of which the last chapter of the Hebrew Bible is read, the last page turned and the first page brought out. The new year is then well on its way. The Feast of Tabernacles is a time of rejoicing, thanksgiving and blessing the fruits of the season.

The rather extensive ledge of rock on City Road has been cut away, and the second track completed on that section. A gang of men are now engaged in laying a track along the north side of King Square and down Sydney street to connect with the line on Union street. GENERAL BOOTH

The first public utterance by the venerable head of the Salvation Army on his present American tour will be delivered in St. John. He will remain here several days, and in addition to the conferences and Army meetings he will deliver an address at the opera house, when Lieut. Gov. Tweedie will occupy the chair, and on Monday evening will address the Canadian Club.

The New York Times has stated that "the influence of William Booth throughout the English-speaking world is probably greater than that of any other leader of men." Commenting on this statement and the general career, the editor of the Charlottetown Guardian recently wrote an admirable article from which the following eulogy may be quoted as of special interest at the time:—

"The general verdict of civilized peoples is today that General Booth has exercised his great powers and singular gifts of organization, administration and leadership for the uplifting and welfare of the race, and that his work has been singularly and very largely instrumental for good. To-day the soldiers of the Salvation Army are in all lands, wearing its uniform, parting, praying, preaching, singing, laboring to uplift the fallen and to lead all to the better and higher life. Hence it comes that in his seventy-eighth year the venerable head of the Army is everywhere respected and revered; his influence reaches to the very ends of the earth; the great conservative University of Oxford the other day conferred on him an honorary degree; he is everywhere received with veneration by vast throngs of people, and no emperor ever yet called forth a greater manifestation of his power over the peoples of so many lands. He has lately named his own successor, a privilege denied to crowned kings. Humanly speaking this great eminence in our times has been achieved by one man who has devoted his time and talent to high service for mankind, but achieved by a man whose methods were in earlier years much ridiculed by the frivolous, much criticized even by some worthy persons, and who doubtless sometimes given pain to the morbidly discreet, while through it all the purity of his motives has never been questioned. General Booth is one of the human wonders of our times and his career and life work are well worth the study of all thoughtful persons."

MR. EMMERSON

Hon. H. R. Emmerson took occasion yesterday to notify Liberal political aspirants in Westmorland county that he has no present intention of retiring from politics. He intimates that unless the Liberal party desires it he will not cease to be a candidate. When the general election occurs, therefore, Mr. Emmerson expects to be in the fight. There was a recent opportunity for Mr. Emmerson to have spoken in this city. He was in St. John the evening on which Hon. Dr. Pugsley spoke in Fairville. Unquestionably there have been times when the opportunity to secure Mr. Emmerson's presence at a Liberal meeting here would have been hailed with the greatest satisfaction. It is one of the features of political hero-worship hereabouts that the power to give gifts has much influence upon the attitude of the party mind. But if Dr. Pugsley is now acclaimed as the hero, Mr. Emmerson can at least recall an occasion when he passed down the board of trade rooms between two lines of cheering citizens of both parties, who hailed him as the man who had the power and had just pledged himself to labor to the utmost to advance the interests of the port. Then, too, he had an "organ" to follow his political movements with the fidelity of a Boswell, and the joy of a partisan. Therefore the ex-minister is not without some measure of consolation in the semi-obscure of his present political existence.

PRICE OF MILK

On another page of today's Times appears a somewhat exhaustive discussion of the question of the price of milk, as viewed from the standpoint of the producer. In all the leading Canadian cities there is now a discussion of this question, because an advance in the price of milk has either already taken place or is shortly expected. Between the producer and the dealer, the consumers are practically helpless as far as prices are concerned, but there is one important consideration in regard to which their influence may be felt. It relates to the purity of the milk supply. Through the board of health their interests may, and should, be much more safeguarded that they have been in the past. The question of price, after all, from the standpoint of the consumer, is secondary. It is most important that an article entering so universally into the food of the people, and especially of the children, should be absolutely pure. Whatever regulations with regard to cattle and their surroundings, and milk cans and the handling of their contents, are necessary, should be enacted and enforced.

Hon. Mr. Fielding cables that the French treaty has been signed, but that the details may not be made public until after they are laid before the French and Canadian parliaments. It is, however, intimated that the treaty deals with a much larger number of articles of commerce than the old one. If Messrs. Fielding and Brodeur have succeeded in negotiating a treaty that will be of advantage to the trade of Canada they have done this country good service. For quite a number of years this question has been more or less agitated, because it was felt that, under more favorable conditions, France would prove a profitable market for various lines of Canadian produce.

Mr. Aylesworth has returned to the attack on Mr. Borden, and with much vigor of utterance proclaims that if some things he has heard about Mr. Borden are true, Mr. Borden is not an honest politician. Dr. Pugsley declares, with much fervor, that he yearns to be dragged into court, in the confident expectation that he could produce evidence which would make Mr. Borden and Mr. Bristol, figuratively, take to the woods. All this is very noisy, but not very impressive. It convinces nobody, and does not enhance the reputation of the minister of justice or the minister of public works.

In a sermon preached in this city last evening a clergyman proclaimed his belief in a literal hell of the traditional fire and brimstone order, and declared that no conception of its horrors could be formed. It is abundantly evident in the lives of men and women today that this view regarding future punishment is not seriously held by any large section of the people. If they were absolutely convinced of the correctness of this belief, they would feel that nothing else in life was so important as to escape eternal torment.

The opposition party in York County have re-nominated the ticket which was unsuccessful in the last provincial elections. Mr. Hazen and his friends claim, however, that there has been a great change in sentiment in York county, as well as in other parts of the province, and that, despite the large majorities rolled up by government candidates in 1903, the men nominated yesterday stand a good chance of being elected when Premier Robinson appeals to the country.

It is stated that Mr. John D. Rockefeller owns one-quarter of the stock certificates of the Standard Oil Company, and that his personal profits in the last eight years have been $125,000,000. Any trust or combination which yields to one man such enormous returns is not in the interests of the general public. There is a prospect, however, that the action of the government in probing this trust may produce results of great benefit to the public.

It is announced that the harbor committee are making good progress in drawing a general scheme of improvements. It may be hoped that their labors will continue, and that when parliament meets the minister of public works will be in the position in which he has asked to be placed, to present a bill to the house providing for continuous development of winter port facilities.

The Fredericton fair promises to beat all previous records in that city, in point of attendance. In all respects it is very successful and the citizens are to be congratulated.

THE FAIRVILLE GARDEN PARTY The garden party on the grounds of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Fairville, closed last night. The Artillery Band was present and played a good programme. The winner of the voting contest for the most popular municipal councillor was Councillor John Long, with 463. Councillor Hoxley was second with 234 and Councillor Fox third with 87. Mr. Williams won first and second prizes for the rifle competition, a silver mounted cane and chin vase. The gentlemen's bean toss was won by Robert Wayne and the ladies' bean toss by Mrs. McCracken.

The prize drawing resulted as follows: Mrs. Davis, teddy bear; Mrs. Craft, quilt, one pair of sheets and two pillow slips; Russell Lingley, sofa pillow. The gate prize was won by Mrs. Thomas Dean. The garden party was a great success. Arrangements will be made for the comfort of all who will attend the General Booth luncheon of the Canadian Club Monday evening. A crowd is expected, but the stopping of the sale of tickets on Saturday night will prevent confusion. A full attendance is requested, as it is felt that the future of the St. John Canadian Club depends a good deal on how this function passes off. More tickets have been purchased than upon any previous occasion at the same date. Members are urged as far as possible to purchase today.

THE CONTENTED PUMPKIN

The Garden Truck went on a strike and made an awful racket. The foolish cabbage burst her head. The Onion split his jacket.

The Peppers burned and Beets grew red. While Kale growed like a sinner; The Popcorn cried, "I'll never pop For any creature's dinner."

The Jolly Pumpkin laughed aloud. With voice so rich and mellow. "Why, that's just what you're planted for. You foolish, selfish fellow."

"I've gathered all the sun and dew. To plumpen me and sweeten. So I can make the nicest pie That one has ever eaten."

SAVING FURTHER TROUBLE. Ambassador Bryce, at a dinner in Urbana, Ill., gave a young lady some tips on European travel.

"And above all," he said, "don't fail to tip your cabman liberally. Hansoms and four-wheelers will be cheap in London if one only paid the legal fare for them, but he who tries to pay the legal fare—well, he doesn't try it more than once."

"One day I saw an old lady stop a hansom, look up at the driver and say timidly:—

"Driver, I want to go to Ludgate Circus. I see by the book that the legal fare is two shillings. If I give you three, will you promise not to swear at me afterward?"

MAIDEN SPEECH. A young but ambitious M. P. having long resolved upon attempting some speech which should astonish the House, at last rose solemnly, and after three loud hems, spoke as follows:—

"Mr. Speaker: Have we laws, or have we not laws? If we have laws, and they are not observed, to what end were those laws made?"

So saying he sat down, his chest heaving high with conscious consequence, when another member rose, and delivered his thoughts in these words:—

"Mr. Speaker: Did the honorable gentleman who spoke last speak to the purpose or to the purpose? If he did not speak to the purpose, to what purpose did he speak?"

It is needless to describe the roar of laughter with which the House was instantly shaken, or to say that the orator never spoke again in that place.

THE MILK PRODUCERS' SIDE OF THE QUESTION

An Exhaustive Analysis of What it Costs to Produce Milk at the Farm—A Comparison of Farmer's and Dealer's Profits.

To the Editor of the Times:

Sir.—Our attention has just been drawn to an article in the Telegraph of the 19th inst., signed A. E. Macaulay.

When we wrote to the Times a few days ago we had no intention of getting into a controversy on this subject, but as the article referred to above makes special reference to us, it would seem we ought to answer it. Our first intention was to do so by saying he does not think we know much about the milk business, but gives us credit for knowing more about the feed. Well, perhaps we do know more about the feed, or its bills anyway.

But so far as the milk is concerned, we would say that we use no more milk for shipment to St. John, up to the last year, when it was proved pretty conclusively to us that it could not be made at a profit at the price the dealers then paid, and as there seemed considerable willingness expressed through the press and otherwise that a better and more sanitary method than that in effect at the time might be patronized, we started in at considerable expense to improve our dairy and to put up milk and cream in bottles sealed at the dairy and delivered to the trade in the same sanitary condition, and we are pleased to say this method is meeting with considerable success.

Mr. Macaulay then goes on to refer to the summer months, when no feed has to be bought. There is, it is true, about two months in the summer season when there is a let-up on the feed, though we do not think with the majority of feeders they let up entirely, even though the two best months, for when the cows are at all far gone in milk begin to drop off it is next to impossible to keep them up to their usual flow unless they are fed in the barn.

If it was not for this summer pasturage season we think all the milk dealers, and farmers also, would have found out long ago that they were not getting their dollar for an old one at prices that have been in effect up to now. This, we think we can prove a little later on.

Mr. Macaulay next refers to the after-feeding that is available now. Well, we may not know much about the milk business, but we are satisfied our friend cannot know much about keeping up the vitality of the farm when he would advocate turning the cows on to the after growth of the meadow, which after growth is nature's protection to the roots of our next season's hay crop, to say nothing of the punching of holes from the cattle's hoofs.

In this section we can let our cattle out about the 1st to 10th of June, with a little feed for the barn, and through the winter, but that is about as soon as their is any succulence in the grass, and which grass takes the place of the hay and most which are fed through the winter season; while to keep up the flow of milk the same grain or milk-feed has to be continued. Macaulay turns their cattle up by May 1st, it is true, but it is misery to see them standing around the fence corners or trying to find a bit of green stuff here and there. From June 10th to the middle of August is the only possible chance the milk producer can begin to pay expenses, and possibly receive a little from his winter's outlay, though the most of this time he is paying out heavily in wages to get enough crop stored for his next winter's supply.

However, Mr. Macaulay next states we try to make out the dealer was improving by making one or two (quite a difference whether he means one or two) cents a quart. Now we thought we stated clearly that the farmer, so far as we know, expected the dealer to make something and to be a partner with them as it were, as they realize they must be a part of the milk supply. We do not think any of the producers would think the dealer were imposing on them by getting one or even two cents a quart for delivery, but let us take Mr. Macaulay's figures and analyse them, and we will then give you our figures for cost of producing.

He states an average day's work for a man and team would be 35 cents. This costs him:

F. O. B., the station on the line . . . $10.50
Add freight on 35 cents at 21.2c 88
He adds here in St. John, I. c. . . . 33
Looking after it at point of shipment, I. c. . . . 18
Washing cans, I. c. . . . 35

Total $12.26

From this cost his return shows:—
10 cans—80 quarts, sold at 7c. . . . $5.60
25 cans—200 quarts, sold at 6c. . . . 12.50

Total $17.89

This would show a profit of $5.34, without making any allowance for what he gets at 4c. a pint, and also allowing a pretty liberal proportion as being sold at wholesale against the retail.

Now let us turn to the other partner in this business—the producer—and we will give you the figures as accurately as we can, though we will leave it open to criticism by any of the fraternity:

The average cow will consume at least 20 lbs. of hay per day for 8 months (180 lbs. hay at $10.00 per ton) $24.00
She will consume 10 lbs. of least, of mill feed in 8 months (240 lbs. feed at 11.2c) 36.00
Roots, at least 12 bushel per day (12 bushels at 15c) 18.00

Total $78.00

The average yield of the cows in this section will be 230 cans per year, which at 28c means $64.40

To this may be added the manure and you have a pretty fair idea of what our dairy farmers are making at the present price offered by the dealers.

These figures bring the bare cost of production to 36c per can, but to this must be added, according to Mr. Macaulay's own figures, 1c. per can for ieng, which also has to be done at the farm. This would make 37c per can. It also had to stand the 1c per can for washing, which the dealer now figures on.

Thus you will see that in the one case there is an apparent profit of nearly 29 per cent, while in the other there is almost no question about the loss, if it were not that the producer has the manure to go to, though as we have not figured any cent for the pasture it is not wise to allow much for the value of the manure. Many farmers will, of course, tell you that their hay does not cost them $10.00 per ton, as they "have that," and the same with the roots, but unlike the other saying "what we have we'll hold" what they have has to go back into milk, and the whole-milk farmer only has very few this morning—this being usually the time of year there is a raise. The milk probably last until April or May, but at present the exact date cannot be stated. As at a very conservative average there are an thousand Ottawa families taking milk, and they each average at least a quart, this makes about 10,000 cents more per day being paid out or around $100 a day or some $30,000 a month.

The Journal made some enquiries and learned that the increase made today was by one big local company made about five days earlier than last year. On August 20th last year, milk was raised from five to six cents a quart, and a month later than that from six to seven cents. At present milk is scarcer in some directions than it was at the same period last year. The Journal was informed that the feed is the main problem and that farmers who supply milk to the companies selling in the city are now being asked to high prices as $22 a ton for bran, whereas at this time in 1906 they could get it at around $15 and $16 a ton.

It is quite possible that milk may go as high as eight cents a quart here in November or December—and if it does this will be new for some years ago it went as high as nine and ten—but this depends entirely on the outlook throughout the country, as to how the pastures keep, the cost of feed of all kinds and other conditions.

It is certain, however, that for the next half year milk will not be any cheaper than it was for the corresponding period last year. As a sample of the scarcity in some directions it may be stated that from one section that a big local milk company was a few weeks ago buying 3,000 gallons of milk, they are now getting only some 2,500 or 2,600 gallons.

HAMILTON, Sept. 18.—The price of milk to the consumer in Hamilton is about the same as it is in the majority of Canadian cities, 7 cents a quart, but some of the wholesale dealers are agitating for an increase of five cents a gallon in the wholesale price, claiming that wages and the price of fodder warrant an increase. Such an increase would mean an increase to 8 cents a quart in the retail price, and the large retail dealers will put up a fight to keep the price where they are. They claim that there is little prospect of an immediate increase as the majority of the large retailers have contracted for their supply for the winter.

OBITUARY

William O. Prince

Hampton, Kings county, Sept. 10.—The death of William O. Prince, aged 46 years, a native of Dartmouth, Iowa, who was here, Sept. 9th, the family, which consisted of Mrs. Prince and their twelve year old son, removed from New London (Conn.) where they had resided for some time, to Hartford, but the husband and father was destined to never enter his new home, his duties leaving him on the road up till Wednesday, the 11th. About midnight of the latter date he was running an extra freight train on the Central New England road, and had reached the town of Lloyd, about five miles west of Poughkeepsie (N. Y.), when his engine and six cars were derailed, and after plowing up the road bed for some hundred and fifty yards, turned over on their sides, and the engineer was crushed to death under the locomotive. As the engine was in the act of turning over he shouted to his fireman to jump, which he did and saved his life, getting only a few bruises, while Mr. Prince was so horribly crushed and disfigured that it was deemed unwise to allow the remains to be viewed by his wife and child. His funeral was held on the afternoon of Sept. 12th, services being conducted by the Rev. Henry Melchior, rector of St. Thomas' church, and John H. Barlow, of the Grand Lodge of Masons. Interment was in Spring Hill cemetery. The expenses were borne in charge of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, of which he was a member.

The railroad commission of New York state decided to hold an investigation and stopped the company from raising the locomotive until their work was done. It is said that the heavy rails at the point of the wreck were improperly spiked only to every other tie, and to this is attrib-

The Runaway Boy.

There was a bad youngster one day who ran from his home far away.

He declared, so I'm told, That he meant to go home for to star.

WAS ALWAYS OUT. "Did you do much talking this summer when you were away?"

That he meant to go home for to star. - J. JUGLETS.

Laughing Gas. By RYAN WALKER.

The Optimist - I try not to place too much confidence in a man's opinion of himself.

The Pessimist - That's wise. The ass can make as much noise as the lion.

THE DIFFERENCE. Pitcher Maloney - When I see a man trying to steal I try to throw him out.

Officer Doolan - Yes, do! When I see a man trying to steal I run him in.

HIS REASON. Judge Knott - You are charged with stealing a gallon of whisky.

Salesman - No, I found out what that gentleman wanted.

Proprietor - Did you find out what that gentleman wanted?

Salesman - No, I found out what he didn't want and sold it to him.

ALL ALIKE. Passenger (at Bureau of Information) - You must be asked a bunch of foolish questions.

Attendant - I am, sir.

Passenger - What are some of them?

Attendant - The same as you are asking, sir.

There was a man standing under the store awning with a closed umbrella.

The rain fell upon the just and the unjust, and one of the latter, who was without an umbrella, came along after two or three minutes and stepped under the awning to observe:

"Nice shower, this?"

"Yes."

"Do the potatoes good?"

"Yes."

"Looks as if it had set in for the day?"

"Yes."

"Seeing that umbrella in your hand reminds me. Do you know that there are not fifty people in America who know how to carry an umbrella over their heads to get the best protection from it?"

"There's a case in point on the other side of the street. That man carries his umbrella pitched so far forward that while his toes are kept dry his heels and back are sopping wet. Do you see it?"

"Why, yes."

"All of you do the same thing, women and all. They get just one-half the protection they should."

"Do you know how it should be done?"

"Savily remarked the man who was waiting."

"I do sir. I have made an art as well as a convenience out of it. Once you get the right way, it is just as easy as the A. B. C."

NEW WORLD'S MARK AT READVILLE

Uhan, 3-Year Old, Goes Mile in 2.13 3/4 at Matinee Races

It was a "short horse soon curried" at the Readville track yesterday afternoon. The three races that made up the farewell card for the Gentlemen's Driving Club matinee all went off in straight heats. There was not much of a contest in any one of the three, but at that a new world's record was made when Charles Sanders' year-old colt Uhan trotted the second and final heat of his race in 2:13 3/4. It was one of the remarkable performances of the year, and when it is taken into consideration that Mr. Sanders is nearly 70 years of age and that the race was to wagon, it makes the mile one of the most notable accomplishments by a trotter of the age.

THE RUNNING CARD OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Editor of the Evening Times: Dear Sir:—I herewith enclose a copy of the running card of the St. John fire department, or at least that part of it having to do with the hose wagons and steam fire engines. In all cases a H. and L. truck and a chemical engine respond on all first alarms. Box 136 is a new box installed since the card was issued; the same apparatus that responds to box 132 should respond to it. I want to call your attention particularly to the number of boxes (31 in all) that if a second alarm was sounded from any of them, not any of the apparatus still at quarters would respond, and if another engine and hose wagon were required, it would be necessary to sound a second alarm and then a third alarm. There are also five (5) boxes, if assistance was required after the first alarm, we find it necessary by the running card to sound a second alarm as there are apparatus down to respond to them either on second or third alarms. There are also 28 boxes that if a third alarm was sounded from them there would be no apparatus respond. A first alarm from box 4, corner of Sewell and Coburg streets (a residential district), brings the apparatus from Nos. 1, 2 and 3, and a second alarm brings the apparatus from No. 4. Box 45 corner of Brittain and Charlotte streets, in which territory are situated large factories and mills, and always with a good breeze from the water front, I find that a first alarm from this box brings only No. 1 and 2, and a second alarm brings only No. 3, and no apparatus responds on a third alarm. Box 27 situated at Breeze's corner, would be sounded for a fire on the north side of King Square (always considered a dangerous district). I find that on a second alarm being sounded, that no apparatus at quarters would respond, but it would be necessary to sound a second alarm, and then a third alarm to secure the assistance of the apparatus at No. 4 station. Some might say that the telephone could be used to call an additional engine and hose wagon, which would be quite easy during the day, but difficult at night. Here we must remember that the necessary men to work the additional hose could not be reached by telephone, and would only respond on the alarm as per the running card. I have probably taken up sufficient space with a subject that will only receive passing notice by business men of this city, but we should not lose sight of the fact that in case of a large fire, the fire department and a good water supply are our only salvation, and it seems reasonable that every time an alarm is sounded something in the shape of fire apparatus should respond. Thanking you for space. I am yours, etc. JOHN M. JENKINS.
