Chicago Murderers May Know Their Fate on Friday Sept. 5

ALIENIST KROHN
PEDDLES PERJURY,
DECLARES DARROW

Savage Attack by Counsel for Loeb and Leopold in Chicago Court.

CLOSES THIS WEEK

Judge Calverly May Give His Decision on Friday of Next Week.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 25.—The youthful slayers of Robert Franks were admitted by every alienist who examined them to be without emotional reaction, a directing force in the mind of any normal person, with the exception of one physician, "who sells his services for cash and peddles perjury," Clarence S. Darrow, bulwark of counsel defending Richard Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., charged Saturday in pleading mercy for them before Judge John R. Caverly.

Says He's Orator

Every one of the psychiatrists on both sides of this case told the court that emotion furnished the urge and drive in life, that is, with the exception of Dr. Wm. O. Krohn, "who is not an alienist but an orator," Mr. Darrow declared. "Dr. Krohn, testifying for the State, said they did have it; that his short opportunity for examining them was 'a fine' although the others said it was not, 'but Dr. Krohn is not a physician. His license has been employed to professionally go into and out of courts playing his victims without regard to their age or sex or circumstances. Dr. Krohn for sixteen years has been peddling perjury and you all know it.'"

Darrow today made the final argument of his "miserable" in behalf of the two confessed slayers.

After his address to the bench, Attorney Benjamin Bachrach, Mr. Darrow's associate, will make a final rebuttal speech, which he said might consume eight hours.

MOTHER IS DYING;
MCCOY READS BIBLE

He Goes Under Heavy Guard to Her Bedside Today.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 25.—A court of justice and the bedside of a dying woman today were to be the scenes of two ordeals in the life of Kid McCoy, former pugilist, charged with the murder of Mrs. Theresa Mors, here Aug. 12.

In the Superior Court he was due to plead to eight charges of murder, robbery and assault with intent to murder, growing from which were the shooting of Mrs. Mors and a subsequent hold up and pistol attack in and near the Mors antique shop on the day of her death. Later he was to be escorted under heavy guard to the bedside of his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Selby, near death since the news of her son's arrest brought on a heart attack.

To the judge on the bench he was expected to say only "guilty" or "not guilty." To find words for the stricken swailing him on what probably will be her death bed was another task.

Just before they told him of his mother's condition yesterday McCoy was recovering some of his former confidence manner. He had so far thrown off the depression of his first few days in jail that he indulged in a boxing exhibition with another prisoner for the entertainment of fellow inmates in jail.

When word reached him of his mother's critical illness, however, he withdrew from the others and remained alone and down-cast for the remainder of the day, at times seeking solace in the Bible.

Dr. Slade-King, who is within a few months of being 100 years old, told a deputation from the council that he would not retire.

Was Struck by Lightning—Earth Tremors, and Cloud Bursts in England.

London, Aug. 25.—(British United Press.) By H. N. Moore.—Earth tremors, cloud bursts and thunder storms of extreme severity have caused exceptional damage throughout England over the week-end. The temperature was the lowest recorded for several months, dropping as low as 37 degrees in some places.

The ancient Abbey of Hoshan near Norwich is destroyed by lightning. This great pile was built in 1105, and was one of the historic ecclesiastical ruins of England.

Reports from the country this morning show that scores of pigs and poultry were drowned or otherwise destroyed.

An earth tremor at Lochaber in Scotland lasted for six seconds.

Edinburgh, Scotland, Aug. 24.—(Canadian Press)—Two earth shocks coming at short intervals Friday night struck the villages of Spean Bridge, Roy Bridge and Galloch in the Lochaber district of Inverness. The shocks were accompanied by a reverberation which alarmed the inhabitants, but no casualties or damage to property was reported.

City Newsies Have Glorious Day at Torryburn

In their hundreds they came—big ones, little ones, light of skin and dark also, but every one with an eight-cylinder, forty-horse-power appetite to enjoy the good things that were provided at the newsies' picnic on Saturday afternoon on the Bishop's grounds at Torryburn, when they were the guests of The Telegraph-Journal and The Evening Times-Star. Above is shown as many of the lads who could be enticed away from the ice-cream freezers and other attractions to have their pictures taken. Also in the crowd are members of the staff and the numerous friends of the newsies. Near the right of the photo is "Mother" Tiltson, well-known friend of the newsies; also are shown several members of the City Cornet Band, among them James Connolly, one of its first members; in the middle of the group is Sergeant George Baxter, "father" of the newsies, and in the little bandstand on the left is Frank Washington, bandmaster of the City Cornet Band.

WEEK-END ON THE
BONNIE BANKS OF LOCH LOMOND

Miles of Lakes Embowered in Green Hills Close to St. John.

AT JOHNSTONE'S

Some Impressions of a Day—Fish and Fishermen—Striking Features.

A week-end at Johnstone's on Upper Loch Lomond. In the past a suggestion of possible pleasure, in the future a memory to recall with delight.

It is a scant fourteen miles from the city, over a good road, the last two and a half miles along the shore of the lake, with other miles of lake beyond, on a country of rugged natural features where hills and woods and shining waters invite by their rich and varied loveliness, as do the hills and waters of that other Loch Lomond beyond the sea.

There was time on Saturday evening after dinner to stroll along a private road through Mosher's farm, with young trees growing thickly on either side to a bridge across a stream where white trout tempt the angler. Lines were cast from the bridge, but the stream was very low and only two or three small fish rewarded the patience of the boys and men who tried their luck. The stream winds through an interval, and it was worth the walk to see as the evening fell the reflection of the green banks in the mirror-like surface. In the pool at the bridge itself a cluster of tall and slender young spruces stood inverted, so sharply delineated that every branch and twig was reproduced with an artistry no brush could ever rival.

The Evening Hours

On the return a merry group was found on the wide verandah of the hotel. There was an utter absence of restraint. These were home-folks, they made the visitor one of themselves in the most delightful camaraderie. Except for the sound of voices an utter stillness prevailed, and a cool darkness, save for the glimmer of stars in "the infinite meadows of heaven" fell on the outer world.

Old London Bridge
Is "Falling Down"

London, Aug. 25.—The familiar rhyme, "London Bridge is Falling Down," loses its blithe note on the ears of London's officials, who have received warnings that the ancient structure is bordering on the conditions described in Mother Goose.

River workers report that one of the piers has dropped four inches under the stress of traffic thrown on the structure when the Waterloo Bridge became incapacitated for heavy vehicles. Tests are shortly to be made to ascertain the repairs necessary to save London Bridge, which dates from 1831.

Boston Couple Married in Maine
Find Their Wedding Was Illegal

Boston, Aug. 25.—Iron-bound marriage laws, legal red tape and a clergyman performing a marriage ceremony out of his jurisdiction, were responsible for Robert G. Lenaerts and his bride, Miss Eva K. Haskell of Waltham and Newtonville, having a second wedding and an additional honeymoon.

Everybody is happy now, but what the second marital knot was tied in real Old Massachusetts style the innocent victims of a mistake were considerably worried.

The amazing information that their first marriage was not according to law came in a letter from the town clerk of Sunset, Me. It was among the numerous letters of congratulation that awaited the couple upon their return from their honeymoon. Their happiness was turned to deep gloom when they read that the Rev. Henry Snyder, who was temporarily filling the pulpit of the Deer Island, Me., Methodist Church, and who had tied the knot on Aug. 6, was not licensed to perform marriage ceremonies in Maine.

The couple lied to "mother," the groom's mother, Mrs. Henry Lenaerts of Waltham. Not a word was said to other relatives, not even to the best man, a brother of the groom. The mother directed them to Judge John M. Gibbs of the Waltham District Court, who after hearing their troubles, waived the five-day law, and City Clerk Richard Steele of Waltham tied the knot to the satisfaction of the parties concerned, including the State.

Immediately after Mr. and Mrs. Lenaerts started on their second honeymoon.

Paris, Aug. 25.—(United Press)—The Young of New York is to serve temporarily as Agent-General under the Daves reparations plan, probably for a period of three months, during which time he will get the staff well organized and break in his permanent successor. In this work he will be aided by Rufus C. Daves, brother of General Daves, and Henry M. Robinson, who like Mr. Young, served on the expert committees which drew up the plan.

WILL BUILD FOUR
STEWAMERS FOR LAKES

London, Aug. 25.—(By H. N. Moore, British United Press)—The Earle Ship Building Company of Hull announces that it has secured a contract to build four new steamers for the Canadian lake trade. The ships will be delivered at Montreal next spring.

The contract comes as a welcome relief to the Yorkshire port, owing to the fact that lack of orders in the ship building trade has created an unusual amount of unemployment and some distress.

Wizard of Finger
Print Plan Retires

London, Aug. 25.—All over the world police departments use the system of telegraphic codes for finger prints, transmission over thousands of miles, which was invented, and has been perfected after many years' work, by Superintendent Charles Stockley Collins of Scotland Yard, who has just retired.

He is one of the believers in the theory that the identity of a criminal can be definitely established by the markings of the left thumb and the right little finger, a system which, if adopted, would supersede the present one of taking the whole ten finger prints of a criminal.

MOROCCANS ARE STILL FIGHTING

Their Guerrilla Warfare Shows Strategy That Worries the Spaniards.

Madrid, Aug. 25.—The warfare in Morocco between the tribesmen and the Spanish forces continues, according to official advices made public today. Although conditions are described as bitter, it is declared that reinforcements for the purpose of strengthening garrisons and replacing units which have suffered casualties in actions with the Moors.

A feature of the situation as disclosed by the communication is that the tribesmen are using modern strategy in their tactics. Their attacks are principally thrusts into the Spanish lines, and the latter are described as being on the defensive. The tribesmen are carrying out these operations notwithstanding the fact that the Spanish air force is constantly reconnoitering. Naval units continue to bombard that portion of the coast held by the tribesmen. The rocky terrain is described as making a decisive battle virtually impossible. It gives the enemy an opportunity constantly to harass convoys, and to maintain their mountain guerrilla warfare.

FOND MAMMAS
ON BERENGARIA
BESIEGE PRINCE

His Failure to Enter Ball Room Disappoints the Fair Ones.

AN ARTFUL DODGER

Chased by Photographers—Strolls Deck Late at Night—Retreats to Bridge.

Aboard The U. S. S. Berengaria, Aug. 25.—(United Press)—On this steamer, which is crowded to the bulwarks with passengers, falling overboard is a common sight. The Prince of Wales is leading the life of a hunted animal.

Whenever His Highness leaves for a moment the sanctity of his private suite, there is a rush of would-be spectators. Fond mammas, with high aspirations for their dotting daughters, seize their charges by the hand and dash to the deck, and spend much of his time on the captain's bridge where others dare not pursue.

The young man caused more than a sensation Sunday night. The rumor that he would dance had gone before him to the ball room. Scores of girls, mostly Americans, sat expectantly in the ball room. The great opportunity was about to arrive.

The Prince arrived, but not the opportunity. He stood in the doorway, surveyed the eager, hopeful group for a moment, and turned about and went below.

Disappointed persons leaving the dance later saw him strolling on deck. He walked the last deck's length and back for hours, singing to himself in a voice distinctly audible for fifty feet. He paid no notice to the somewhat amazed spectators, who drew silently aside.

He attended church services Sunday morning. He sat hidden behind the choir, composed of bell boys, stewards and stewardesses, and gazed speculatively over the throng of passengers who were present. Immediately afterward, he went to the gymnasium to make arrangements for his daily exercises.

LOCATELLI SAFE;
HAD BEEN MISSING
SINCE THURSDAY

Aviator and Companion Rescued by U.S.S. Richmond Off Greenland.

U. S. FLIERS HALT

Will Overhaul Their Machines Before Proceeding to Labrador.

(By United Press.) Washington, Aug. 25.—Lieut. Locatelli, Italian aviator, who had been missing since Thursday, has been picked up by the U. S. S. Richmond, off the coast of Greenland, the army air service was advised officially here today.

A despatch received by naval radio from the U. S. S. Raleigh stated the Richmond had picked up Locatelli at 11.24 last night. The despatch read: "Locatelli found, latitude 59.56; longitude 39.48; sighted 11.24 p. m. Embarked passengers. All well."

The Americans will probably get to Indian Harbor, Labrador, tomorrow night, and the Richmond, with her rescued castaways, should arrive at the Labrador coast about the same time.

Forced Down in Fog. The message was interpreted as meaning that the Italian had been forced down in the heavy fog banks raised by melting icebergs just before he reached the Greenland coast. If this is correct he had been buffeted about in his plane, the gate-sweeping seas for three nights and three days.

THREE MEN KILLED
IN SUNDAY BATTLE

A Family Feud in Oklahoma Ends in a Fatal Encounter.

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 25.—Three men were killed and one was wounded Sunday afternoon on a public highway, 21 miles east of Tulsa, in a battle which climaxed a family feud starting over an argument.

The dead are: Malcolm Young, 19, a county highway officer; J. Clark Young, 21, a brother of Tulsa; and Homer McMillen, 18, living six miles east of Catoosa.

Charles Young, 45, of Tulsa, father of the Young brothers, was shot in the right leg above the knee. The trouble started about a week ago over a controversy between children of the two families. Sunday the Youngs are said to have become engaged in a quarrel in front of McMillen's house. McMillen's father is said to have told them to move along and the shooting started soon thereafter.

Motor trouble had forced Locatelli to come down on the water during the flight on Thursday from Reykjavik, Iceland. He was unable to bring his plane into the net again and drifted 100 miles. He requested that his airplane be destroyed and his wish was complied with.

American Proceed. Washington, Aug. 25.—The United States army aviators received off another lap on their round the world flight Sunday and are now at Viguit, Greenland.

Skirting the coast, they covered the 125 miles from Frederiksdal, where they found a haven after their hazardous journey from Iceland, in a little more than two hours.

In a message announcing arrival of the two planes at Viguit, Lieut. Smith in command, said motors would be changed and both machines completely overhauled before the next lap of the flight.

Pontoon Damaged. Lieut. Smith's message, addressed to Major Patrick, chief of the Army Air Service, said that a pontoon on his plane has been damaged by ice Saturday night, even though protected by the Islands Falk, a Danish steamer, and that sailors and natives had been employed to keep the ice away.

Another radio despatch, also addressed to General Patrick, came from Milwaukee, and gave the time information that the planes took off from Frederiksdal at 1.45 (Greenwich mean-time) and had "arrived O. K." at Viguit at 4.00 p.m.—two hours and 19 minutes later. Neither message indicated clearly that the flight was made Sunday, although army and navy officers here were certain that it was.

TWO MOORE STREET DWELLINGS
GUTTED IN EARLY MORNING FIRE

Firemen Have Stiff Battle
With Blaze for More Than 3 Hours.

While the majority of citizens throughout the city were peacefully reposing in bed at 8.45 o'clock this morning a serious fire was raging in Moore street and before the devastating flames were under control two large-story wooden dwelling houses had been practically gutted.

The fire broke out in a house owned by Michael Colahan and when detected had made so much headway that all efforts on the part of the firemen proved unavailing and it spread to the three-story house adjoining, which was owned by Mrs. Margaret Thornton, of New York.

The fire was first noticed by people residing in that vicinity and they quickly aroused the tenants and then sent in an alarm from box 818. The fire apparatus quickly responded and soon had a number of streams playing on the flames. The members of the Salvage Corps fought hard to save some of the furniture, but working under a big handicap they were only able to get a small quantity out before they were forced to desist by the flames and thick smoke.

In the Colahan house two families, named Reicker and McDonald, resided. They had no time to leave when awakened and were forced to leave the house in their night clothes. The second house was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Cases, and Miss Mary E. Irvine. They were also forced to make a hurried exit and owing to the rapidity with which the fire spread they lost the majority of their furniture.

Mr. Colahan's house was partially covered by insurance and that of Mrs. Thornton was fully covered, but as far as could be learned the tenants did not carry any insurance on their furniture and their loss in all cases was said to be quite heavy. The all-out sounding shortly after 7 o'clock this morning.

FREDERICTON TEAM
WANTS GUARANTEE

Dispute Over Saturday's
Game Here Develops a
New Angle Today.

The dispute between Fredericton and the War Vets took on another turn this morning when W. E. Vaughan, president of the Fredericton team, informed the local management that they wanted payment of a $175 guarantee for the two games here. The local management refused to pay the guarantee and Vaughan said Fredericton would not play here again.

The local management offered Fredericton $125 Saturday night in payment for the afternoon game, but declined to give any more in view of the visitors' disgraceful tactics here. The local team they owe more to the fans in this respect than to Fredericton, and intend standing by their decision. It will create no hardship, they maintain, if Fredericton does not appear here again.

IS FINED $25 FOR
IMPERSONATION

G. Haines is Convicted of Representing Himself as Detective Biddiscombe.

Considerable interest was manifested in the police court this morning in a case in which G. Haines was charged with falsely representing himself to be Detective Biddiscombe after Sunday night, Aug. 10. When the case was called the defendant pleaded not guilty. E. J. Henneberry appeared on his behalf. At the conclusion the prisoner was fined $25.

The first witness summoned by the prosecution was Emily Axtell, nee Bid- dicombe, who testified that she had recognized him as the man whom she alleged chased her and a companion in the Germain street cafe on Sunday night, Aug. 10. She explained that they were going home from work when the defendant chased her companion to them, she said, she asked him and told her to come along with him. She said he asked where she was coming from and where she was going and then informed her he was Detective Biddiscombe. She said she got away from him and accompanied by her girl friend arrived home. Another fellow, who was with the defendant, said, "Come, can't you be half decent. I am trying to use you decent." She said she thought the defendant would not have asked her to go to a hotel with him.

Cross questioned by Mr. Henneberry, she told of seeing defendant come into the restaurant a couple of days later and said to her employer, a Chinese, "There's Detective Biddiscombe." She said she was informed by him that the man was not Biddiscombe, but his name was G. Haines. When she approached him and asked him to come along with her, he said, "You are not Biddiscombe," he said. "Wise up," she claimed to have informed J. B. Dever, on behalf of the defendant, whom she thought was Detective Biddiscombe. He had been in the restaurant with Detective Kipling and when asked if she had not said to the defendant on the night in question, "My heavens, I thought you were Biddiscombe," she said she had not, but her companion had.

Ebel Spickford was the next witness summoned. She said she had met the defendant previous to the Canterbury street affair and had spoken to him. She said she was present during the conversation between the defendant and Miss Axtell. She acknowledged that while they were together sandwiches had been passed around. She confessed that she had made the remark to the defendant: "My heavens, I thought you were Biddiscombe." Detective Biddiscombe told of making the arrest, after which the defendant took the stand.

Accused Testifies.
He said he knew Miss Stockford, having spoken to her on two previous occasions. He told of visiting the restaurant one night and seeing both girls there. He did not know Miss Axtell. He said that on the Sunday night in question he and a companion went to the hotel and saw the two girls leave the restaurant. They followed them down Canterbury street and walking quite fast. They caught up to them when Miss Stockford said to him: "My heavens, I thought you were Biddiscombe." He said he did not molest them in any way and claimed that the whole thing had only been a joke.

Mr. Henneberry then addressed Magistrate Henderson, pointing out that the word "falsely," which appeared in the charge had no substantiation. He said that the representation had no influence upon the minds of either of the young women. He also questioned the credibility of Miss Axtell's testimony and said that her evidence was contradictory. Magistrate Henderson read an ex-

U. S. WARSHIP IS STILL OFF ISLAND

The Detroit, Here to Aid
Fliers, Anchored Near Partridge Island.

The U. S. S. Detroit is still anchored about a mile off Partridge Island and she will remain there until tomorrow unless the present plans are materially changed this afternoon. No further word has been received by Edward H. Carter, the acting American consul, since he received the code message last evening from Washington stating that the Detroit would proceed here on Tuesday to assist the world fliers.

The Detroit arrived off the island last evening after coming up the bay without the aid of a pilot and when George W. Miller and Richard Cline, of the local pilot crew, met the warship all the assistance requested was a safe anchorage place. The news of the vessel's arrival was quickly around the city and caused considerable excitement as it was thought that the fliers must be due at once.

The wireless operator at Red Head reported this afternoon that he was keeping in touch with the Detroit and he was also expecting to get in touch with the fliers about the time they reached Labrador.

Harbor Master F. D. Alward said this morning that he had received no further information concerning when the Detroit would come into the harbor. Several parties chartered motor boats and attempted to board the warship outside the island last night but their efforts were unavailing as the vessel was in quarantine and could not be boarded until cleared by the port doctor. A local meat dealer made a special trip to the scene but they refused to talk business with him yesterday.

The Detroit is here to assist the world fliers and if they decide to remain in the city for any length of time they will live on the warship.

The U. S. S. Detroit is a light cruiser of the first line, has a displacement of 7,500 tons and a speed of 33 knots, being one of the second fastest class of ships in the United States Navy, surpassing in speed only by destroyers of the first line, the speed of which is 35 knots. Of the same class are the Omaha, Milwaukee, Concord, Cincinnati, Raleigh, Trenton, Marblehead and Memphis, the last three of which are still building. Her armament consists of 12 six inch guns, four three inch anti-aircraft guns, and ten 21 inch torpedo tubes. The cost to build her was $24,425,000. The Detroit was commissioned in 1923. It took three years and six months to build.

With the exception of two American warships which visited here during the war, the Detroit is the first United States ship to visit here in 20 years. In 1904 when the tenacity of the landing of Champlain was being celebrated another U. S. S. Detroit, U. S. S. Topoka, as well as the flagship H. M. S. Ariadne and the French ship Froude, were here to participate in the celebration.

tract from the criminal code dealing with such cases and said that a fine not exceeding $100 could be imposed on the defendant who had a perfect right to be on the street as they were going home from work. He did not consider that the defendant was so sufficiently intimate towards the witness, Miss Stockford. He said he also thought that he had laid hands on both. He said he would take into consideration the arguments of Mr. Henneberry and would in consideration of his daughter, Elizabeth Georgina, to James S. Hoyt, the marriage to take place early in September.

SUBSTITUTE

A well known actor used to tell an amusing story concerning a Turkish boy he had in a small town "out West." "My attendant was a very strong man," he said. "He laid me on the slab and prodded and kneaded and pumiced and hammered me in a most emphatic way. At the end, after I got four terrific resounding smacks on the bare back with the palm of his enormous hand. "What on earth did you do that for?" I panted. "Oh, no offence, sir," replied the man; "it was only to let the fellow know I was ready for the next comer! You see, the bell's out of order in this room!"

SECOND MYSTERY
MAN LOCATED

No. 1 was Captured on Saturday and $5 Paid to Finder.

The search for No. 2 of the mysterious trio offering $5 to the holder of a ticket to the New Brunswick Protestant Orphanage had not been successful up to noon today although many suppositions regarding his identity could be heard on every street. No. 2 was captured at 1.40 o'clock in Canterbury street on Saturday afternoon by Donald J. Hayes, of Peter street.

No. 1 turned out to be T. Allan Robinson, often known as "Hank" who is a member of the "reportorial" staff of The Times-Star. Mr. Hayes had a copy of The Telegraph-Journal and one of The Times-Star for Saturday in his pocket at the time and he thus wins a year's subscription to The Telegraph-Journal.

No. 2 is described as shorter and stouter than No. 1. He does a considerable trade with all parts of province, is a prominent fraternity man, has a pleasant smile and often wears a buttonhole bouquet. He is good looking and popular and usually very "natty" in his dress.

MAYNES HOME,
TELLS OF JOURNEY

"Billy" Maynes, St. John sensational quarter mile runner, arrived home on the Montreal train this afternoon after participating in the Olympic games in France and Ireland. He arrived at Montreal on the Canadian Pacific steamship Montreal last Friday night. The Olympic games were his only participation in one event, the mile relay race, in which Canada finished fourth. In this event a new world's record was established by the United States team, who were forced to shatter the former record in order to win out over the Holland runners, who finished second, and the Great Britain boys, who were a close third.

Canada led both France and Italy to the tape. After leaving France, Maynes went to London for a week and then proceeded to Dublin, where he participated in the Irish Olympic games. He competed in the quarter-mile and was eliminated by Lavan, the Irish champion, who made such a good showing in France. He explained that the track of grass was very slow, due to heavy rains. This, he said, accounted for the slow time made in all events.

The ceremonies attending the opening of the Olympic games were most impressive, Maynes said. Standing with right arm upraised on a dais in the middle of the French Republic, he saw forty-five nations and facing the grandstand where stood listening the President of the French Republic, he saw the thrones of kings and emperors and ambassadors of many countries, George Andre, a noted French athlete, took the oath, and Maynes said that was a long story. There was much to be said for both sides, he said.

ST. JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 25, 1924

BRITAIN AND THE SUDAN.

Why does Egypt demand control of the Sudan? Economically because the Sudan contains the sources of the Nile, upon which river Egypt is so dependent; and, politically, because Egyptian ambition seeks absolute control of a territory which possesses great natural advantages.

There is a White Flag Society whose banner bears in red a map of the entire Nile valley, including the Sudan, with the flag of Egypt flowing over all. The chief, though perhaps not the most violent exponent of the Egyptian policy is Zaghlul Pasha, the present ruler of the Government.

"Zaghlul is reported to have said that Egypt demanded absolute and complete territorial independence of any foreign power, and that he would never rest until this aim was achieved. The Nile must cease to be an English river and its thoroughfares from its sources in the Sudan to its mouth in the Mediterranean must be handed back to the Egyptian authorities."

It must not be forgotten that Egypt lost the Sudan because of inability to govern it, and that her rule was marked by terrible oppression, and that it was a rebellion by the Sudanese themselves that drove the Egyptians out. The story is thus recalled by the Ottawa Citizen.

"Egypt had the opportunity to govern the Upper Nile territory, but failed forty years ago. Under corrupt Egyptian administration, the inhabitants of the Sudan were the helpless prey of slave-raiders. Ultimately, inspired by the leadership of a Mohammedan holy man, the Mahdi, the Sudanese swept every vestige of Egyptian rule out of the country. British lives were lost, too, including General Gordon at Khartoum, in the collapse of government. But for the intervention of the British army under Kitchener, the conquering dervishes under the Khalifa, after the death of the Mahdi, would probably have gone right through Egypt to Cairo and Alexandria. Kitchener's re-conquest of the Sudan restored order and security. Under the Mahdist movement and the Khalifa's rule, living conditions for the Sudanese had been as bad as under the incompetent Egyptian administration."

Under the rule of Great Britain agricultural and commercial prosperity returned and has been maintained. Sir Francis Wingate succeeded Lord Kitchener as governor-general of the Sudan; British officials with Egyptian subordinates, in accordance with an agreement between Great Britain and Egypt, gave the country the benefits of a just and firm administration."

But Great Britain has done much more. An irrigation scheme of vast dimensions is being carried out to convert millions of acres between the White and Blue Nile into a cotton-growing area, and already a beginning of a million acres. The scheme was developed twenty-five years ago, and has wonderful possibilities. Of the present situation the Toronto Globe says:—

"It is incredible that any British Government would surrender all the fruits of years of toil and planning to Egyptians untrained and unfit to use them or to realize for the Sudan the destiny to which it is entitled by its natural advantages. The British Prime Minister has frankly admitted Egypt's interest in the country. Egypt pays five-sixths of the cost of the military occupation, and is vitally concerned in the upper waters of the Nile, which control her economic life. He has given the Cairo Government specific assurances that Egypt's rights shall be protected, and has asked the Egyptian Premier Zaghlul Pasha, to go to London to discuss the question in a friendly spirit. Zaghlul has accepted, but it looks as though Egyptian Nationalists even more extreme than he had fomented the mutiny in the Sudan in order to prejudice the negotiations."

White Flag Society is active, and quite ready to foment rebellion. British warships have gone to Port Sudan and troops are on the way. The Toronto Globe says:—

"There is a considerable body of negro troops in the Sudan, many of them veterans of the army which Lord Kitchener led to victory, who have never even in the most trying times wavered in their loyalty to their British commanders, and who have never outgrown their hereditary hatred of Egypt and the Egyptians. Great Britain, however, maintains a picked body of white troops in the Sudan and also in Lower Egypt along the Suez Canal, and Premier Ramsay MacDonald recently made the emphatic announcement in the House of Commons that Great Britain will not tolerate any hostile action by Egypt or by Egyptians in the Sudan, the possession of which, as of the Suez Canal, she is determined to retain at all costs."

There are two reasons for this attitude on the part of the British. One is that great investments of British capital have been made in Sudan development, and the other is the obligation of the British to prevent a return of the old shameful conditions under which the people of the Sudan were bitterly oppressed and the slave trade flourished. The withdrawal of British influence and control would be a calamity, and until the Sudanese are able to govern themselves there is no likelihood of such withdrawal. Egypt has been given her independence, but that does not give her the right to exploit the Sudan, and her own experiment in self-government is hardly an inspiring example.

UNEMPLOYMENT.

St. John is not as deeply interested as most other Canadian cities in the problem of unemployment, but the coming winter may develop conditions which will make special measures to provide work for some of the wage-earners necessary. It is well to be prepared, and the city should be well represented at the unemployment conference in Ottawa the first week in September. All the provinces are to be represented, and there will be a general survey of present and prospective conditions. The idea is to secure co-ordinated effort to deal with the problem rather than to have each province or locality working alone. The Federal Government regards the unemployment problem as essentially provincial and municipal, but will be represented at the conference.

Ottawa affords a good illustration of what some of the cities have to face not only in 1918, but in summer. It has a Civic Unemployment Committee, and its inception is thus stated by the Citizen:—

"Careful estimates, based on investigation by those familiar with the situation, place the number of unemployed in the city at 1,500. From present indications this number may steadily increase until the total exceeds that of the winter of 1921-22 and all others since before the war. To add to the aggravation of the situation, a greater number of men will face the winter without a reserve than ever. It is a conservative estimate to say that 4,000 men, women and children will look for relief to the city this winter."

This certainly is not a cheering prospect. Even in the month of July 54.4 per cent of those getting relief attributed their trouble to unemployment. The Citizen presents some further figures that are instructive, as follows:—

"Between October 1st, 1923, and July 31st, 1924, the Social Service Department of the city aided 719 families whose sole or chief reason for seeking aid was unemployment. Many other families were helped for other reasons. Of this number 376 families have been more or less permanently assisted, while the remainder, 343, have been helped occasionally. The chief divisions by nationalities of the total were 276 Canadian families other than French, 208 French-Canadian families, and 122 British families, the remainder being other nationalities, ranging from 15 Italian families to one Swedish family. The figures mean that at least 8,600 individuals in Ottawa have been continuously or occasionally given relief through unemployment in Ottawa since last October."

conditions of distress that will prevail in the cold season. The September conference should develop some scheme by which all cities and towns may be relieved to some extent of the burden due to unemployment.

The careless setting of fire is a constant menace in this richly wooded province. The law must be invoked and punishment meted out to those who disregard the law and the danger to life and property by starting fires and leaving them to spread and cause destruction.

Press Comment

THE FRENCH PRESIDENT.

(Toronto Star.) A good many people do not realize that France for the first time has a Protestant president. Gaston Doumergue is a Huguenot bachelor. He is not irreligious as are most French politicians who are not devoted to the Roman Catholic faith. But he is a Free Mason.

In 1919 Doumergue was the premier of France. He feared that Germany had imperial ambitions and supported the unpopular three-year conscription term. He was sent to Russia to try to keep the country in the fight against Germany, but failed. Later he represented France at the Genoa conference.

Doumergue is a good-natured, likable man and a steady, rather than a brilliant politician. While called a Radical Socialist he is really a very mild Liberal. But when Premier Herriot told him of his intention to name Poincaré president, Doumergue, who was president of the Senate at the time, logically chose, bluntly told him that it was the vote of the two houses of parliament that determined the president, not the cabinet. Germany must show a genuine desire to meet its obligations, or Doumergue will resist any loosening by France of her hold on the economic life of the big Teutonic republic.

MAKING BEST USE OF HOLIDAY TIME.

(Calgary Herald.) One of the Herald's correspondents writes that it seems highly to Rev. Dr. Duncan Main, of Hangchow, China. Dr. Main is a medical missionary, who has spent more than 40 years healing sick bodies and tending sick souls in that great, populous country. In that long time, with his large experience and contemplative mind, he has developed a serene philosophy which he applies to even the common things of life. In his latest letter to the Herald he writes of the hot weather in China, and the rush to the hills for a vacation, which leads him to comment upon his own, whether sedentary or active, muscular or mainly mental; habits as to exercise, food, and so on.

The office man who is accustomed to a certain amount of exercise will be able to spend with benefit a more active outdoor holiday than one unfit through lack of exercise to do so. For the sedentary person a training in the exercise of little-used muscles and lungs should be undertaken by him. The office man who is accustomed to a certain amount of exercise will be able to spend with benefit a more active outdoor holiday than one unfit through lack of exercise to do so.

If, on the other hand, says this philosophical adviser, you are one of those whose daily routine is a expenditure of muscular and nervous energy, your holiday programme will have to be drawn up on different lines. You will require for your adequate recreation and recuperation considerable muscular relaxation. But even those who work with their hands require more than rest for their nerves and muscles; they require recreation for their minds. You must, therefore, refrain from excessive mental repose. You must tone and stimulate your jaded nervous system by seeking experiences that appeal to your inmost being.

Whatever you do, he adds, don't worry. In the majority of cases habitual worriers are those who are over-interested in themselves, and their own health; people in whom the self-regarding instinct has become over-developed. As a result they are abnormally sensitive and prone to exaggerate even trivial annoyances and inconveniences by brooding over them. Difficulties which are self-centred folk would brush aside and dismiss from the mind as of no moment are made much of by them. They find cause for worry, and for complaining in the slightest criticism passed on them.

Sometimes they never weary of telling their worries to all who listen to them. Sometimes they even cherish them in secret. Don't give way to self-pity when you are out to get health and strength to fit you for your work. Throw out the life line, says Dr. Main, and lend a hand to someone who needs it, or is depressed, visit someone who has had too many children to look after, and you will forget yourself and feel happy. The kindness you radiate is the only kindness you retain, so go in for broadcasting. This is all very kindly advice and very sound. One should not heed it only at holiday-time. It can be applied the year round. Indeed, one should be careful to make use of odd hours scattered through the week, every week, to seek physical change and not let a whole year go by in dull routine, with a change only in the two weeks of vacation.

WANNING SUMMER.

(Father Cassidy, Ottawa University.) Phoebus now prepares for parting. Out from Leo's starry inn. Down his fiery chariot darts. Toward the realm of Virgo fair.

Summer fond, it seems, is waning— Lazing fast her gentle way; With great gear attaining. Decks herself in proud array.

Gay and gorgeous garlands wears she. Verdure of the richest hues; Flowers brilliant smiling bears she. Sparkling with the morning dew.

Golden-rod her features brightens— Greets with gladness her eye; All her splendours richly heightens. Ere she bids us fond good-bye.

Thistle-down, a daisy yellow, Vails its meadow's bosom air; Waits on dings and zephyrs mellow. Glad to upward idly soar.

Ripen fields of grain all golden. Ready for the sickle keen; Now bespeaking summer's end. Summer's waning days serene.

LIGHTER VEIN. Such a Foolish idea. Clerk (at summer hotel)—The lady in No. 16 has been complaining about the service.

Overheard by H. P. "In the hot season I like to attend Dr. Blank's church; his sermons are so breezy on a hot Sunday it's a positive luxury to listen to him."

He Never Returned. Mr. Stavitski—Really, I must be going. Must say those saddest words ever spoken—good-bye.

Miss Weir—You might say something sadder than that. You might say "Au revoir."

The Sluggard's Reply. "Go to the ant, thou sluggard!" we said to one on the grass on the Esplanade. "Yes. All I need is the here," growled he.

About to be Deposed. "How is your cooking doing?" "Rosa."

"Well, the whole house is sub-Rosa just now, but there's being to be a change."

Her Logic. Mrs. A. (at resort)—Doesn't it worry you to have to write to your husband for more money?

"Yes. All right. It's his having a good time he owes it to me, and if he isn't having a good time he has saved it."

"DIED" AT SEA, BUT COMES FOR VISIT. British Officer who Strangely Survived Torpedoing, Now in New York.

New York, Aug. 25.—Had it not been for the presence of a nun in a Dublin hospital on Oct. 10, 1918, who rubbed his body with alcohol for three hours after the surgeon had pronounced him to be dead, Major E. B. Hummald might be dead. Major Hummald would not have arrived here with his wife and 11-year-old son Peter on the Atlantic Transport Line's steamer "Leinster" on the night of the torpedoing of the ship. Captain Hummald was on a raft with his boy and after an hour and a half Peter saw his unconscious father washed away by a wave.

Picked Up as a Dead Stoker. Half an hour later a destroyer came along and picked up all the bodies that could be seen floating on the surface of the sea and returned at full speed to the British Army where they were conveyed to the military hospital to see if there were any signs of life. When Captain Hummald was picked up his body was covered with soot and oil from the torpedoed steamer. The naval officers on the destroyer thought he was a stoker until they noticed the gold crest of the Twentieth Hussars embroidered upon his cap. The surgeon in the hospital pronounced the army officer to be dead, but one of the nuns doing nursing duty declared there was still a slight trace of warmth about the heart. After three hours' continuous rubbing with alcohol she had the satisfaction of seeing Captain Hummald open his eyes and gaze vacantly at the standing by his bed. In the meantime his son Peter had been rescued from the raft by the boats' crew of the steamer "Leinster," which did not dare to stop to pick them up. He was landed at Kingstown and sent to a nursing home in Dublin, where an aunt found him three days later and took him home.

Boy Remembers the Adventure. Captain Hummald recovered from his trying experience in the Irish Channel and rejoined the army. He had no further mishaps, he said. His son, Peter, said yesterday that although he was only 5 years old when the incident occurred he could remember perfectly seeing his father being carried off the raft by a wave and floating away from him. He added that his mother might not have come to New York either if she had not been attacked by influenza. "It was jolly lucky that mother was ill then, wasn't it?" Peter said.

CAMEL'S BONES ARE FOUND IN KANSAS

Are Among Fossils Recently Discovered in Bed of Lake.

Lawrence, Kan., Aug. 25.—Half a ton of fossil bones, all of them new to the University of Kansas museum and some of them new to science, have been discovered in Sherman county, Kansas, according to H. T. Martin, curator of the University's museum. Mr. Martin and Curtis Hesse, laboratory assistant, spent four weeks this summer near Goodland, Kan., and uncovered more than 100 tons of sand in uncovering the fossils.

"Parts of at least fifteen species of mammals were recovered," said Mr. Martin. "These included three species of camels, one as large as a small giraffe, the smallest the size of a sheep, two species of rhinoceros, three species of three-toed horse, dog, cat, peccary, deer and three species of mastodons. The fossils were found in a formation that apparently had once been a small lake bed, some 300 feet square, and several feet under ground, making it necessary to us a plow and scraper to get down to the fossil-bearing sands."

"The bones, which are of a jet black, were found scattered over the entire space, but parts of bones that we sometimes found widely separated fitted together perfectly. Apparently," said Mr. Martin, "these bones were distributed by freezing, either through ice on the lake, or glaciers. That is the only way I can explain the sharply broken bones and their distribution. No complete skeletons were found. We are highly pleased with the results of the trip, for it will add greatly to the scientific knowledge of the animals that once roamed western Kansas."

SELF-SERVICE AT FAIR DINING HALL

New Departure Inaugurated For Speed—All Space Taken For Exhibition. Several radical changes in the systems in use at the St. John Exhibition have been announced for this year by Horace A. Porter, manager of the big fair. They will include a new system for the dining room and a very ingenious one in view of the special hardships placed on this year.

To avoid the difficulties experienced formerly in getting the visits to the exhibition served promptly a self-service system has been worked out by Mr. Porter and E. A. Hickey, who will be in charge of the dining room. Each dinner or supper sealer will go on entrance immediately to a counter where he will be served with a tray containing his full meal. There will be standard meals for each day although some choice will be possible in the matter of dessert. It was thought to be impossible to run a full cafeteria system on account of the variety of things needed and the danger of some of them spoiling. The new system is expected to insure the people being waited on in order and to speed up the business of serving the lunches enough, at least, so that the congestion experienced at times in former years may be avoided.

All Space Taken. The dining room this year will be in charge of Mr. Hickey, who has been connected for years with the Green Lantern lunch room and who was with them when they catered for the reception given at Rothesay.

Major Cecil Cameron Found Dead in Sheffield Barracks

London, Aug. 25.—Major Cecil A. Cameron, commanding the 4th Battery, field artillery, was found shot to death at his quarters in the Sheffield Barracks today. Letters left by the deceased indicate that he was in financial difficulties and was suffering from disappointment because his wish for appointment as military attaché at Riga, Latvia had failed to materialize. He was a son of Col. Alyn Cameron, V. C. Thirteen years ago Major Cameron and his wife were sentenced to three years imprisonment for attempted fraud in connection with a claim against an insurance company for the fictitious loss of a necklace. Later Mrs. Cameron confessed that she was guilty of the attempted fraud. Her husband, she said, had tried to give evidence at the trial, which while clearing himself would render her conviction inevitable. Major Cameron had been removed from the army on account of his conviction but was permitted to re-enlist in 1914.

Subsequently on account of his distinguished services in the army he was granted a full pardon and was reinstated in rank and figured prominently in the military honor list of 1917.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

PETEY POLAR BEAR'S HOUSE

There sat Mister Bear reading his paper.

"Let's go to see Pety Polar Bear," said Weeny to the Twins. "All right!" said Nancy and Nick. "Up north near Santa Claus," said Weeny. "Near Mister and Mrs. Seal?" asked Nick. "Not so very far," said Weeny. "I hadn't floated away on an iceberg, we'd have gone to see Pety while we were up north before. But since we have so much magic along, it won't take us long to go back. Got my satchel with my mighty and speed?" "We've got it," said Nancy. "And your tooth-brush, too?" "Then all aboard for Santa Claus Land!" cried Weeny, swinging his trunk back and forth, pretending he was a brakeman with a lantern. "Toot! Toot!" And away he started to the cold, cold north to visit Pety Polar Bear, his old circus friend. And you'd be surprised how quickly they got there on the elephant express. You'd certainly be surprised! Why, in no time at all they were standing right before Pety's house and knocking on his ice-door. "Come in," said a grumpy, growly voice. So Weeny turned the knob with his trunk and went in, but it was a pretty tight squeeze and the Twins nearly got scraped off his back. There sat Mister Bear reading his paper. He looked surprised when he saw them. "Why, how d' do?" he growled pleasantly. "I didn't know we had company. Do sit down. Mrs. Bear is out hanging up our winter furs so the moths won't get into them. She'll be in a minute. "Is Pety at home?" asked Weeny, elephant, sitting down to let the Twins slide off his back. "Not just now," growled Mister Bear. "He's gone to the fish store to get some fish for lunch. What news do you bring?" "Oh, there isn't any news, much," said Weeny. "Things are just about the same. "How did the ball game turn out?" asked Mister Bear. "Oh, the Boxers won," said Weeny.

"Two hundred to one hundred and ninety-nine" "Why, I thought you said there wasn't any news!" said Mister Bear in a pleased voice. "The ever so glad you came to visit Pety." "That's news, too!" said Mister Bear in a pleased voice. "The ever so glad you came to visit Pety." Weeny and Nancy and Nick were all thinking the same thing. "If Mister Bear keeps on, we won't have much time to play with Pety." They had never seen such a curious person in all their lives. (To Be Continued.)

Swimming Healthful

Vacation days at an end, Mr. Mann was inclined to slip back into his care-less routine of living. "Doing any swimming?" the physical director asked him when they met one day. "Not since my vacation," answered Mr. Mann. "That's what they all say. They all go away for two weeks or a month; get their physical selves built up and then come home feeling pretty peppy; they go at top speed on the little energy newly acquired or slide back in their chairs and take on a large-sized bay window. "You fellows have an idea that you can get through the year on the two weeks or a month that you use in getting back to nature."

ARRIVES HERE ON LONG CANOE TRIP

G. H. G. Smith Traveled From Sydney To John in 17 Days. Looking as healthy as possible, browned with exposure to sun and weather, G. H. G. Smith, of Toronto, paddled the harbor in his canoe and landed at Reed's Point wharf at 7 o'clock Saturday evening after 17 days of actual travel by canoe from Sydney, C. B. Shortly after his arrival Mr. Smyth said that his next objective point was New York, from which port he will travel by steamer to England and will then paddle to France. He expects to arrive at Rome on Jan. 1, 1925. He will leave on the next lap of his journey at 10 o'clock or as soon as possible thereafter this morning from Reed's Point wharf. Mr. Smyth says that he is just making the trip by canoe as an adventure. He is obtaining at each port of call signatures of mayors and the seal of the city or town to show that he has visited each place. Speaking of his travel to date, Mr. Smyth said that after leaving Sydney, C. B. he proceeded round Cranberry Head to the Little Bras d'Or Gut, thence through the Grand Narrows, the Bras d'Or Lake to St. Peter's Canal, down through the canal to Goose Island and through Lenox Passage to Port Malcolm, thence up the Strait of Canso and from light to light across St. George Bay, a distance of 21 miles. He then paddled along the Antigonish coast to Pictou, N. S. Thrilling Experience. After remaining at Pictou for a few days he paddled to Bale Verte and then portaged seven miles, carrying his canoe to the Cumberland Basin, where he again entered the craft and started paddling down the coast. He passed the six lighthouses along the coast when rounding St. Martin's Head near Quaco Light, Mr. Smyth says, he experienced the worst weather and sea since leaving Sydney. He said that frequently his canoe shipped water and, to make his load lighter, he was obliged to throw into the lake or scotch sea of food into the sea. He finally made Quaco Light after a most thrilling experience and received the kindest treatment from the lightkeeper, Harry Bradshaw, who informed him that when he was rounding St. Martin's Head the wind was blowing 40 miles an hour. He arrived at the Quaco Light at 7 o'clock Friday evening. Mr. Smyth left Quaco Light at 8 o'clock on Saturday morning and reached Reed's Point wharf at 7 o'clock that evening. Arriving here he was taken in charge by the local pilots and given the very best of attention. His expressed gratitude for the kindness and information regarding the coast received from the St. John pilots.

HELD FOR DIAMOND THEFT.

Philadelphia Woman Charges Jerseyman With Pawnring Her Ring. Philadelphia, Aug. 23.—George F. Long, said to be a member of a Newark (N. J.) family, was held in lieu of bail for the Grand Jury on charges of fraudulent conversion of money and passing a worthless check. Mr. Long was arrested at his summer home in Ocean Grove, N. J., on complaint of Miss Florence V. Mondead, a real estate operator of this city. She charges him with having stolen a diamond ring worth $1,800 on the pretense that he would have it "fixed" in New York. Instead of doing so, he pawned it, he was charged, and he was held in New York for $500. Long said he had nothing to say about the charge at present. Miss Mondead testified that Long assured her he was a millionaire, but was short of money, and she lent him $1,400. "He gave me security which later turned out to be worthless," she declared. Long, according to Detective Fox, who arrested him, has been married three years and has been living in Ocean Grove with his wife.

When friskiness gives place to fractiousness in your kiddies, you should recognize at once the danger signals. Sulky, listless, moping children are generally sick children. Often it's nothing serious, of course. Something may have upset the little insides, or possibly they are constipated. Whatever the cause of the trouble may be, until it is removed they can't regain their usual spirits.

The surest, simplest way to remedy all the small ills that bother the small ones is to stir a tiny dose of Kruschen Salts into their breakfast cup of milk, tea or cocoa, or bowl of porridge. The littlest pinch is enough - about "half a dimeful." Though they never know they're taking it, it gently, but thoroughly, frees the little bodies of all the clogging waste matter that has been sapping their energy. The youngsters wake up next morning their bright cheery little selves again, brimful of "that Kruschen feeling," happy as a day is long.

Don't wait for the spectre of illness to invade the nursery. Every druggist sells Kruschen at 75c a bottle. Let your children have their own bottle to themselves, and be prepared for anything. But buy it now.

Tasteless in tea, cocoa, milk or porridge. Give each child just a pinch - and stir it well in. Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day

An occasional dose of Kruschen Salts is prescribed by doctors for children who are constipated, liverish, or out of sorts. Next time you pass a drug store, go in and get the bottle - 30 children's doses - nearly a year's supply. SOLE IMPORTING AGENTS: CHARLES GYDE & SON, MONTREAL

Bobbed and Unbobbed Find New Wigs Are Great Boon

New York, Aug. 23.—In the good old days if a woman wore a wig she kept it to herself because she wore it for the same reason she wore false teeth—to remedy a deficiency of nature.

Today a woman may own half a dozen wigs which she changes as often as she changes her frocks, and she doesn't care who knows it.

Skilfully Made. The modern wigs are so skilfully made that if a woman wished to keep the matter of wearing one a family secret she would have much less difficulty doing so than in the old days when a wig had a way of looking less like hair than anything else.

But the idea of the modern wig is not to deceive, but to please and to fit a woman for any emergency.

Bobbed hair is comfortable and most appropriate when wearing a garconne frock or a sport outfit. But when one is in dress-up in ruffles and silks, one needs hair—and that's where the wig helps you out.

Of course wigs become fashionable when bobbed hair became so popular. Long-haired ones are a positive boon to the woman who has cut her hair and then learns, alas, that her hair was her crowning glory. Short-haired models are equally convenient for the woman who won't sacrifice her hair for a temporary fad, but must have bobbed hair.

Great Boon. They have not only been a boon but a positive salvation to the woman whose husband has threatened to leave her if she bobs her hair or to the woman who would lose her job if her employer caught her with short hair. Undoubtedly wigs have come into our complex life at a time when we need them most. Long may they wave!

The woman in the photograph shows you how you can have a boyish bob, a curly bob and long Godiva-like locks in just the amount of time it takes you to adjust three wigs. And in one she is a blonde, in one a brunette, and a red head in the third.

At London, Mr. Low admitted that he had done with a view to further enlarging the export of Canadian wheat to the British market.

REPORT ON CEREAL CROPS OF WORLD

From information furnished in the most recent reports of the national Institute of Agriculture, the position as regards the cereal crops may be summarized as follows: The majority of the countries of Europe, June was a month of changeable weather, with frequent downpours and occasional hailstorms which resulted in some local damage.

The French wheat crop in North Africa and the grain-growing parts of Asia Minor also forecast a good yield.

In the aggregate, the reports at present available seem to confirm the forecast of a satisfactory harvest.

The data already to hand in regard to the 1924 crop of wheat, against the 1923 crop, is as follows: 174 million last year, of 43 million more than the 1922 crop.

It may be estimated that the countries whose area are included in the above figures are producing 45 per cent of the world's wheat.

Mr. Low stated also that a tremendous market was possible in the export of meat, but that Canada must study the highly competitive market, especially of the British market, if it is to become a successful exporter abroad in the field.

WEEK-END ON THE BOULMIE BANKS OF LOCH LOMOND

(Continued from page 1) Presently a sure and loving touch on the keys of a piano drew the younger members of the party within doors. There was a little dancing in the piano room, a song or two in chorus, and then one sang The Lost Chord with the feeling and expression, stirring memories and feelings that words could not express.

There was the story of one man who had a path through the woods far up the lake and raised a large family, living to a green old age.

At dinner new faces were seen at the table, for some people had motored out from the city after the meal.

Allan A. Ryan's Son Enters Wall Street To Regain Fortune

New York, Aug. 25.—Wall Street will know soon whether the business adventures of a youth in college fit him to cope with traders of long experience.

For Allan Aloysius Ryan, Jr., son of the famous Wall Street broker and grandson of Thomas Fortune Ryan, has gone onto the street to retrieve the $5,000,000 his father lost in an unsuccessful corner on Stuts stock a few years ago.

Fresh from Yale he has just purchased a seat on the Curb Exchange after serving an apprenticeship as stock runner, stock clerk, margin clerk and order clerk. He is 21 years old.

Young Ryan has husky replicas of his father, who was a sensation on Wall Street.

Young man from the country walking along a city street, stopped in front of the fire station and looked in.

"Dye have many fires in town?" he replied the fireman.

"Ever try to see how quick you can get out?"

"Oh, yes?"

"At that moment an alarm was sounded. At the first stroke of the gong the men rushed to their posts, the doors of the station opened, and within a few seconds men and engine were speeding down the street."

"The young man watched the proceedings with admiration."

"Well," he exclaimed, "there isn't many places where a stranger would be able to do that!"

FORFEITED GAME TO WAR VETERANS

Capital Outfit Wins First Game Saturday Afternoon, 3-1.

Fredrickson won the afternoon game on the East End grounds from the Vets, 3 to 1, and forfeited the second game, 9 to 0, when they refused to accept a decision of Umpire Mahoney's in the fifth inning on a steal home by Johnny MacGowan that tied the score, 2 all. The sportsmanlike tactics of the visitors disgusted the spectators and many of them informed the Vets' management that if Fredrickson was paid for the forfeited game they would never attend another Vets' ball game. The local management has decided to pay Fredrickson for the afternoon game but not for the evening contest and has practically decided to ban Fredrickson in other games here this season.

CITY NEWSBOYS HAVE GREAT TIME AT PICNIC ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

400 or More Enjoy Themselves to Fullest at Torryburn.

From the time they left the Canterbury street office early Saturday afternoon until they returned about 8 o'clock that evening, the 400 and more newsboys of The Times-Star and The Telegraph-Journal on their first annual picnic thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

They told the world in no uncertain fashion they had had a grand time. Not a single accident occurred in getting this crowd of youngsters out and back—the only casualties being caused by a few by over-stuffing of the good things.

DECIDE ON LOCATION OF WAR MEMORIAL

City Council Agrees to Position in King Square—Other Business.

The city council this morning agreed on the location of the war memorial in the triangular plot in King Square opposite the Admiral Beatty Hotel. Other matters discussed were the erection of a comfort station, repairs to the sidewalks damaged by the contractor for the civic hydro system and more accommodation for voters at the polls on the Wall street bridge. Tenders for pipe and valves for water extension were referred to the Commissioner of Water and Sewerage for report.

War Memorial. A delegation from the War Memorial committee, composed of R. T. Hayes, M. L. A., Thomas Bell, Mrs. Sherwood Skinner, Col. E. T. Sturdee, John N. Flood, C. B. Allan and M. E. Mooney, was present in connection with the site of proposed memorial. Mr. Hayes acted as spokesman and he said that in view of the opposition of the council to the removal of the fountain at the head of King street, the committee had agreed to place the monument in the triangular plot of King Square, just opposite the Admiral Beatty Hotel. He also announced that he had received word from the sculptor that Spoon Island granite would be used for the base of the monument and it would be worked up by a St. George firm.

Commissioner Frink said he would rather not have the monument placed in the square, as in his mind it detracted from the beauty of the open space, but as the people seemed to want it there, the site proposed was as good as any, and he was willing to move at the council meeting tomorrow that the request of the committee be granted.

Mayor Potts said he was inclined to agree with Commissioner Frink, but as it seemed the desire to have the monument there he would not object. Tenders Opened.

Tenders for pipe and gate valves were received as follows: Pipe. Vroom and Arnold, 4 inch, $65.25 per ton; 8, 10 inch, $60 per ton. General Supply Co. of Canada, 4 and 6 inch, $62 per ton; 8 and 10 inch, $58.70 per ton.

Valves. Drummond McCall, Ltd., 6 inch, $19.67; 8 inch, $20.94; 10 inch, $46.67. T. McAvity & Sons, 6 inch, $17.10; 8 inch, $27.70; 10 inch, $46.15. John T. Farmer, 6 inch, $27.00; 8 inch, $30.00; 10 inch, $38.00. General Supply Co. of Canada, 6 inch, $18.40; 8 inch, $22.00; 10 inch, $46.00.

Sidewalks Matter. Commissioner Frink said he would like to ask the Commissioner of Public Safety, as a member of the Civic Power Commission to have some more made to get action in the matter of having the sidewalks, damaged by the contractor for the Civic Power Commission, repaired as it would soon be winter.

Commissioner Harding said the Commission had been waiting for a statement of cost from Commissioner Frink and if an estimate of the cost were furnished the money would be supplied.

Commissioner Frink said he wanted an order from the Commission and this he had been unable to get. Commissioner Harding undertook to have action taken at the meeting of the Civic Commission this afternoon.

Commissioner Harding said he had received complaints that traffic was congested on the Wall street bridge as teams did not use the here, in which the street car tracks were. He was informed that nothing in the traffic regulations prevented vehicles from using that side of the bridge.

Comfort Station. Commissioner Harding remarked that the statement of Commissioner Frink in regard to the use of King Square had rather upset his calculations as he had in mind the bringing in of a resolution for the erection of a comfort station in the square, in view of the need for such a station in the city.

Commissioner Frink said this was an old matter at City Hall and he had at one time had plans for a comfort station in Market Square, the cost of which would have been about $24,000. This amount had rather staggered the council of that day and nothing further had been done. Mayor Potts said he had received a number of communications on this subject and had it on his list as one of the matters to bring before the council. He felt that a city of this size should have two or three of these comfort stations and he was disposed to look with favor on the erection of one. Commissioner Frink said he would bring down the plans which he had on file.

IS INVESTIGATING MILK SITUATION

Commissioner Wigmore stated this morning that he was securing information in regard to milk prices and distribution costs in other cities and just as soon as this was available he and Commissioner Harding would start their investigation into the cost of milk to the consumer here. He had also written to Ottawa to get some information in connection with the findings of the cost of living committee during the war time on the spread to be allowed the dealers in this commodity.

The Commissioner said he also expected to have some information from the producers of milk in regard to the price the dealers were paying them.

ORPHANAGE OPENING.

The final arrangements for the speakers at the official opening of the orphanage party for the N. B. Protestant Orphanage have been completed. Hon. Dr. Roberts will be the first speaker and he will represent the province, while His Worship Mayor Potts will represent the city and Hon. R. W. Wigmore, warden of the county, will follow the Mayor.

GIRLS RECOVER STOLEN ARTICLES

Camp Broken Into at Fair Vale—Money and Clothing Taken.

An impromptu third degree staged by a number of young ladies who have a summer camp at Fair Vale resulted in the return of the stolen property by two girls, one about 15 and her sister, about ten years of age.

About ten days ago the young ladies who have the camp returned home to find that some person had been in and a number of articles were missing. Up to this time they had not taken the trouble to lock the door but then decided to do so. A few days later they found another visit had been paid to their camp and a most articles taken, about 25 in all being missing. Among the stolen goods were a wrist watch, bracelet, food, clothing and $8 in money.

Friday afternoon a neighbor found a girl on the verandah with the screen of a window in her hand and asked what she was doing there. She replied that she had knocked at the door and the door had been opened. The girl and her sister were questioned by the young ladies who occupy the camp and finally admitted they had been trying to get in the house but it was the first time and that the stolen articles had been taken by their young brothers.

Saturday some of the goods were returned and yesterday afternoon a basket containing most of the goods which had been missed, and some that the owners had not missed, was placed on the verandah of a nearby house and $4 of the money was sent back.

WILL STAGE GAME FOR MILK FUND

Insurance Men to Play Series of 3 Contests, Starting Tomorrow.

The response to the appeal made by The Times-Star and The Telegraph-Journal for the Milk Fund has been generous and gratifying to those in charge of the administration of the fund, but every additional contribution lessens the chance of the Grim Reaper to take another little life when the sympathy and aid of others who do not need help is given freely and quickly.

The silent appeal, which the purchase of a baby in want makes to the average citizen is tremendously powerful and when the need is as apparent, as it is in this case, it needs only the sending out of the challenge to ensure a prompt and ready answer. The facts which are being revealed recently by those in charge of the free milk distribution for the city has come as a shock to citizens who never dream such a state of affairs could exist in a modern, Christian-professing city. But now that the story has been told there can be no excuse for recurrence of these dreadful conditions.

Another contribution in the shape of proceeds from a benefit ball game is planned by the fire underwriters and the underwriters in the city, who have arranged a series of three ball games on the North End grounds in aid of the Milk Fund. The first game will be played tomorrow night there at 6:30 o'clock, and others will be announced later. All the proceeds will go to the fund. M. Merritt will manage the life insurance team, and Charles Ellsworth their opponents.

NEW CHURCH FINE EXAMPLE OF ART

The erection of the Stella Maris church, East St. John, besides being an artistic keynote to the fast-growing community, has altered the skyline considerably. From all viewpoints the Gothic lines stand boldly forth, even from such a distance as across the bay looking from the main section of the city. Located at the heart of the community, it gives a pleasing touch to the countryside coming and going along the main thoroughfare. It is doubtful if there is a purer example of Gothic architecture in Eastern Canada than this little edifice in its gray granite.

The roof, which is now in place, is steep like the Gothic churches of Europe and its general lines have been drawn true to the art of the ancients after whom the architects have made their plans. Architects Frechet & Feney have given St. John a rich contribution to its art treasures in the pretty church at East St. John.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "in the country yesterday I saw a cow work her horns and head through a wide space between two fence poles and regale herself on some growing oats on the other side."

"That cow," said Hiram, "was almost human—wasn't she?" "I don't quite see the connection," said the reporter.

"Don't you?" said Hiram. "Well—you come on out to The Settlement some Sunday an' watch some folks goin' along the road. They git over the fence an' grab off things they haint no more right to than that cow hed to them there oats. If you holler at 'em they look at you as if you hed no right to speak on the Lord's Day. Yes, sir—that their cow must be an observant critter, she seen at two-legged cattle what 'join' an' thought she ort to foller a good example—By Hen!"
