U. S. LEADS

Wheat production in the United States in 1920 again exceeded that of any other nation, amounting to 787,000,000 bushels.

"Before the war," says Commerce Monthly, "the Russian Empire led the world both in acreage planted and in total production."

"During the last half of 1920 practically all of the wheat entering the international market came from the United States and Canada."

"The impoverishment of Europe as a result of the war has brought about an extreme degree of governmental control of trading in wheat and flour."

"The second motive has been prevention of unnecessary imports brought about as its corollaries price regulation of domestic crops, and in several countries, requisitioning, rationing and the use of substitutes."

"Purchasing by a governmental agency is never as flexible and sensitive to the market as is free private buying."

"Governmental purchasing in its very nature has a tendency to cause buying in large units, and the policy of an important governmental agency to represent the sellers would favorably affect the price of wheat."

"Conditions beyond the crop year 1920-21 cannot even be conjectured. The dominant factors which will finally determine European demands are low purchasing power and the policy of governmental regulation and control, which has resulted from it."

Lashed by the Whips of Circumstance

To be lashed into action by the Whips of Circumstance is not an evil.

One needs it periodically to overcome the flatulence of prosperity.

Let us be frank with each other.

Manufacturers, Merchants, Newspaper Proprietors and Public, we have all had a succession of fat years. Now some of us are timorous at the thought of lean months.

Well, lean months and lean years would be in store if we sat still and waited—but not if we show fight.

We are pleased to see fighting spirit awakening.

It is shown by the renewal of Daily Newspaper

The Daily Newspapers of Canada are resolved to do their part to make 1921 a Banner Year. They invite you to travel in their company.

Advertising Contracts for increased space this year.

But greater evidence than that—New advertisers are planning to use daily newspapers to reach out for new business with old lines, and to introduce new lines into old established fields.

While such vision, and faith, and courage, is alive in men, there can be no fear for the future.

What of your fighting spirit? What are your ambitions?

Are you going to reach out and fight for business? Well, then, you have one mighty force to aid you—that is Daily Newspaper Advertising.

And Daily Newspaper Advertising welcomes the challenge.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JANUARY 31, 1921.

SETTING THE CLOCK BACK

It will be an extraordinary condition of affairs in St. John if those who have long been advocates of vocational training stand by and see it knifed by its enemies without a protest.

It is not merely that the cause of vocational training is being set back for years in St. John, but the effect upon the province at large must be considered.

The $170,000 spent last year on vocational education was absolutely wasted; the whole idea is wrong and the city council should refuse to vote another cent until the proper system is adopted.

The Times has itself criticized the vocational board, but it was on the score that it was not spending its whole grant for last year and making more rapid progress.

Since the above was written the Times has learned on unquestioned authority that the representatives of the Commercial Club and the wholesale and retail interests who went to City Hall had no thought that the vocational training grant would be cut off, nor did they ask it.

Ottawa Journal: "The Ontario government is proposing a proper measure of social progress in the legislation it is preparing to provide for the joint liability under the law of the father and mother for the support of the illegitimate child.

The eagerness of the prairie provinces to dip into the Dominion chest has attracted the interest of more than the maritime provinces. The Toronto Globe says: "The claims of Alberta and Saskatchewan for control of crown lands and compensation for lands alienated as railway bonuses have led to a demand for better terms from British Columbia.

A WAIL OF WOE

Consumed with envy of a government which could produce a record revenue, the St. John organ of the exploiters of the Valley Railway, the lumbermen and the provincial finances generally, has set itself into a fury as it thinks of what its friends could have done with three million dollars.

It is not merely that the cause of vocational training is being set back for years in St. John, but the effect upon the province at large must be considered.

The $170,000 spent last year on vocational education was absolutely wasted; the whole idea is wrong and the city council should refuse to vote another cent until the proper system is adopted.

Halifax Echo: "Education consists primarily in being able to use the training and knowledge obtained in early life, whether in school or college or outside their limits, as means for acquiring further valuable training and knowledge, in or out of college, to the end of effective character development.

Regarding a suggestion that the hospitals should care for the mentally deficient in Ontario, it is pointed out that the staffs of such institutions should be of the highest efficiency.

The world will rejoice that the supreme council of the Allies has agreed on all important questions before it, and that they are as firmly united in peace as in the war.

ONE WORD COSTS MILLIONS New York, Jan. 31.—One small word—"please"—cost America $3,000,000 last year, so it is estimated by the telegraph company officials.

THE HIGH PLACE

I do not envy Warren G., his task I would not share; I have no presidential bed, I want no White House chair, for all it brings, as he will see, is plain and fancy care.

A PARABLE

All the flowers were sorely spent, Weared by the summer's heat, Mad mid-summer merriment, Cloved with song and honey sweet.

So they laid them down to sleep, Slumber time had surely come, When the snowdrifts warm and deep Buddled them a cosy home.

Where the wakaful starlight gleams, And the north wind whistles by, Weaving 'midst their pleasant dreams Echoes of his lullaby.

So these treasures of grace Ever dream of sunny nooks, Where the shadows interlace Over all the babbling brooks.

Where amid the noodday hush, Striking magical, and low, Anthems of the hermit thrush Gather softness as they flow.

So the weary flowerets sleep, Each within its ivory halls, Till the blessed rain comes weep, And the jocund spring time calls.

Ponder well this mystic tale, 'Till the blessed rain comes weep, And the jocund spring time calls.

LIGHTER VEIN

A Poser.

Jimmy giggled when the teacher read the story of the man who swam across the Tiber three times before breakfast.

"You do not doubt that a trained swimmer could do that, do you?" "No, sir," answered Jimmy, "but I wonder why he did not make it four and get back to the side where his clothes were."

One Difficulty.

"I thought there was a movement in your town for all the churches to merge into one."

"There is."

"What's the delay?" "They can't decide which one."—Life.

Extinct Speech.

"No workers are called servants today," says Mr. Justice Darling. "And I am informed by those who have secured specimens that very few servants could by any stretch of the imagination be called workers."—Lady's Pictorial.

Too Fast For Doc.

The incident is related of a Scottish doctor, new to the gun, who adventured upon a day's rabbit shooting.

"Hang it all, man!" he exclaimed impatiently to the keeper who accompanied him. "These beasts are too quick for me."

"Aye, doctor," the keeper replied, "but ye surely didna expect them to be still like yer patients till ye kill them!"—Pearson's Weekly.

A BIG QUEBEC LOAN FOR HOUSING NOT PROBABLE

Report Says $20,000,000 Proposal is Not Arousing Much Interest.

Montreal, Jan. 31.—A Gazette special from Quebec says:—

A campaign started by certain circles in Montreal towards having the provincial government float a loan of twenty million dollars for a housing scheme has been noted here.

There is no prospect of the government giving its countenance to any such proposal for a temporary condition. Twenty million dollars would build only 5,000 houses at $4,000 each, and this would be but a drop in the bucket, and at the same time would not encourage private building enterprise.

FOURTH BLAZE IN SAME PREMISES

Two alarms from box 5, corner of Mill and Union streets, about 11.30 o'clock on Saturday night called the fire department out to fight a serious fire in the offices of H. P. & W. F. Starr, Ltd., coal dealers, in Smythe street.

This fire, making the fourth that has occurred in the building in the last two years, was the worst of series that has been experienced by the company.

The lower part of the building was almost entirely gutted, and the office, which had escaped very lightly in the other fires, was badly damaged this time, not only by the fire but also by the dense smoke, and the water which completed the wreck.

A peculiar feature of all these fires is that nearly everyone has occurred on Saturday night between 7 o'clock and midnight.

OPERA STARS STARVED OUT.

Paris, Jan. 31.—Starvation conditions in Poland and the inability of the public to support the artists at even the slender pay allowed them by the government is driving the Warsaw Opera Company out of the country.

CONVENTION OF ZIONISTS

Stress Laid on Need of All Jews Rising to Emergency of Present.

Montreal, Jan. 31.—The seventeenth Zionist convention opened here on Sunday afternoon, and both Major James De Rothschild of Paris and Judge Julian Mack, president of the American Zionist organization, who were the principal speakers, laid stress on the need of Jews, whether Zionist and non-Zionists, rising to the emergency which had arisen in the life of their race.

Major Rothschild declared that the future of the Jewish homeland rested on a Jewish peasantry to be created there, while Judge Mack said it would indeed be grievous if Palestine failed to draw men and women from all lands and bring to the new land the best they had inherited or acquired in the land of their birth and education.

Resolutions were adopted by the convention expressing gratitude to the Canadian government for its assistance in bringing pressure to bear on the British government to have the political future of Palestine determined in accord with Jewish aspirations, to the British government for making possible the establishment of a Jewish homeland, and a resolution of greetings to Sir Herbert Samuel, high commissioner of Palestine.

GENERAL ELECTION IN BRITAIN NOT COMING IN JUNE

London, Jan. 30.—Members of the prime minister's official cabinet in Downing street, today ridiculed a report that Mr. Lloyd George had warned the party whips to prepare for a general election in June.

The rumor of a possible election apparently was the outgrowth of the decision of Lord Robert Cecil and Lord Hugh Cecil to join the opposition party in parliament and gossip concerning the Earl of Derby as the possible leader of the Unionists.

RECENT DEATHS

After an illness of about three months the death of Richard Parker occurred in this city on Sunday afternoon at the advanced age of eighty-five years. Mr. Parker was a native of Nova Scotia and had followed the sea as a life and came to make his home in St. John about sixteen years ago. He resided at 10 Charlotte street. He had commanded sailing vessels which made long voyages and could relate many thrilling tales of his adventures. He was very proud of the fact that he brought the first cargo of Bermuda onions that was ever shipped to the port of St. John, sixty-six years ago. Very many will regret to hear of his death as he had a whole circle of friends. He leaves two sisters to mourn, Miss Annie Parker and Mrs. Thomas Brown of Clinton, (Mass.). The funeral will take place at the church of Rev. H. A. Goodwin will conduct the services.

The death occurred Sunday at his residence, 77 High street, of J. Howard McMackin, a well known and respected citizen of St. John. Mr. McMackin, who was seventy-seven years of age, had been for many years employed in the freight department of the Canadian National Railway, but was discharged about five years ago. He was ill only a short time and death came suddenly. He is survived by his wife, who was formerly Miss Hastings, of this city, and two nephews, A. W. McMackin, of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, and S. W. McMackin, of the Canadian Insurance Company. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The death occurred at her home at Public Landing yesterday of Mrs. Eliza A. Knapman, wife of David E. Knapman. Mrs. Knapman was sixty-eight years of age and besides her husband is survived by a sister, Mrs. J. Sinnett, of Calais (Me.), three sons, two daughters and two grand-children.

Word was received yesterday by John R. Hopkins of the death of his cousin, William R. Rees, which occurred on Saturday night, Jan. 29, at Seattle, at the age of seventy-two years. Mr. Rees was a native of Bristol, England, but was for some time a resident of St. John. He worked for many years under his uncle, John Hopkins, in Union street, and afterwards went into business in Waterloo street. He was one time superintendent of the Exmouth street Methodist church Sunday school and sang in the choir of the church. About twenty-eight years ago Mr. Rees went to Seattle, where he engaged in a commission business. He is survived by his wife and four sons. Many of the older residents of St. John will regret to learn of his death.

The death of William H. Porter, aged 29, occurred at his parents' residence, 47 Broad street, early on Sunday morning after about six months' illness. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Porter; one brother, Robert J. of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Alonso Stephenson and Mrs. John Butler, both of this city. The funeral will take place on Tuesday at two o'clock from his parents' residence to Greenwood cemetery.

The death occurred at Mispec on Saturday, after a lingering illness, of Mrs. Annie F. Doherty, widow of Richard Doherty. She leaves three sons, Frederick, Roy and Maurice, all of this city; two brothers, Samuel and Robert Thomas, both of Mispec; four sisters, Mrs. Thomas Shillington of Falls Falls, Miss Belle Thomas of Mispec, Mrs. William Garnett of Falls Falls, and Mrs. Isaac Murray, of this city.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Watson, 96 Fort street, will sympathize with them in the death of their little daughter Julia P., which occurred on Saturday.

Annie A. Hayes, formerly of St. John, died in South Boston on Jan. 27.

Many friends in the city will learn with deep regret of the death of James Arthur McLennan, which occurred early this morning at the General Hospital. The late Mr. McLennan was a young man, well known in the city and very popular among a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. He was taken to the hospital at midnight on Friday, so that his sudden death will come as a great shock to those who knew him. He leaves to mourn his father, James McLennan, of West St. John, and one brother, Frederick. The late Mr. McLennan had been employed for several years with J. A. Pugsley & Company.

William B. Hayes died recently in Barton, Vt., where he was visiting friends. He was born in Chipman, Dec. 30, 1871, and was a well known lumber merchant of Maine and has a large circle of friends in Canada who will regret to hear of his death.

William Gunn, famous cricket professional, died in Nottingham, England, yesterday.

FUNERALS

The funeral of Mrs. Thomas Verinder took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Stieper, 26 Parlane Row. Following a service at the house interment was made in Greenwood cemetery, Rev. G. F. Dawson and Rev. S. Howard, officiating.

The Methodist ministers in the city made their monthly exchange of pulpits yesterday morning. Rev. B. Clarke of Portland Methodist church, was heard in Centenary church; Rev. Neil MacLauchlan of the Queen Square church, preached in Carleton Methodist church; Rev. George F. Dawson of Exmouth street church, was in Portland Methodist church; Rev. J. Heaney of Carleton Methodist church, conducted the service in the Queen square; Rev. H. A. Goodwin of Centenary, occupied the pulpit of Exmouth street church; Rev. Thomas Marshall, of Fairville, was the preacher in the Carmarthen street church, and Rev. E. Styles of Carmarthen street church, conducted the service in the Methodist church in Fairville.

Rev. V. N. Purdy, financial agent for the Maritime Home for Girls in Truro, was the preacher in Trinity church in the morning.

Rev. F. S. Porter, secretary of the New Brunswick branch of the Canadian Bible Society, conducted both services in the Fairville Baptist church yesterday.

In the absence of Rev. F. S. Dowling, who was visiting Hampton, a service was held in the interests of the foreign mission board of the Presbyterian church, his pulpit in St. Andrew's church was occupied in the morning by Rev. Dr. Farquharson, port chaplain, and in the evening by Rev. A. M. Hill, Ph.D., Brotherhood secretary for the maritime provinces.

David's church here to arrange for during the season. Rev. Currie gave a varied and beautiful programme of organ selections in St. David's church on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Blake Ferris assisted as soloist and her rich, clear soprano voice was heard at its best. A large audience greatly appreciated the musical treat which the recital provided. A silver collection was taken and proceeds will be devoted to the reduction of the church debt. Mr. Currie, who is a gifted musician, gave a masterful performance and drew forth wonderful melodies from the mellow-toned organ.

The numbers on the programme were as follows: "March of Triumph" by Semmence; solo, "Hear My Cry, Lord" by Wooler, sung by Mrs. Ferris; "Andantino" in G Minor by Cesar Franck; Prelude to "The Deluge" by St. Saens; Prelude in Fugue, composed by Bayard Currie; Christmas pastorals on the theme "Silent Night" by Harper Minnet in G by Beethoven; song, "Open the Gates of the Temple" by Knapp, sung by Mrs. Ferris, and the First Movement from the Twelfth Sonata by Rheinberger.

Twenty-five Years Superintendent.
The Sunday school of the Queen square Methodist church yesterday, at the close of the afternoon session, presented to its superintendent, R. Duncan Smith, a handsome leather club bag in token of appreciation of his work and interest in the school and to mark the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his election to that office. The presentation was made by the pastor, Rev. Neil MacLauchlan, in the presence of the whole school. Mr. MacLauchlan read an appreciative address which was also presented to the superintendent. He spoke of the high place which Mr. Smith held in the community, in the church and in the school as a Christian gentleman, the highest title to which any might aspire, and said that the pastor, teachers and scholars greatly appreciated the fact that Mr. Smith had, after earnest solicitation, consented to continue in office as superintendent. To his ability in that office, the efficient conduct of the school, and his personal interest in the school, Mr. Smith made a suitable reply.

Charles I. Anniversary.
The anniversary of the death of Charles Stuart, King of England, at the hands of the Cromwellian Puritans, was commemorated yesterday in numerous Anglican and Episcopal churches throughout the world yesterday. King Charles I. was beheaded in front of his own banquet hall, Whitehall Palace, on Jan. 30, 1649, and when the Church of England had recovered from spoliation by the Puritans, it canonized the executed monarch as St. Charles the Martyr and for many years there was an office in the Book of Common Prayer devoted to him. In the Episcopal church in the United States there is a national organization known as the Society of St. Charles the Martyr, which has its headquarters at Philadelphia.

In St. John yesterday a prayer for King Charles was said at all of the services and at the solemnization of the Holy Eucharist at 11 o'clock in the Mission Church of St. John Baptist, Rev. C. W. Follett, rector of Simonds, preached a powerful sermon on that monarch and on Archbishop Laud of Canterbury, who was beheaded four years before his sovereign.

The evening service in the Germain street Baptist church was under the auspices of the Y. M. A. of the church and a choir of about twenty-five young men led the singing and rendered a very effective anthem. Paul Cross sang a solo most acceptably. The young men had charge of the ushering and there was a large congregation. The association is a vigorous and enterprising body.

Rev. Dr. A. M. Hill, Maritime Secretary of the World Brotherhood Movement, was the special preacher at St. Andrew's church on Sunday. Dr. Hill, who is no stranger to St. John pulpits, made a fine presentation of the part brotherhood must play in the new social order and delighted the large congregation that heard him. One great weakness of the past, he said, had been the lack of fraternity and good-fellowship to be found among the men of the individual congregations. Men had said fraternally to be found everywhere but in the church. The Brotherhood movement aimed to make brotherhood dominant in the church as well as outside of it.

His Lordship, Bishop Richardson, who is making a tour of the churches in the diocese in the interests of the diocesan mission funds, was the preacher in St. John's (Stone) church yesterday morning and in St. James' church, last night. Taking as his text at Stone church, "It is more blessed to give than to receive," he gave a plain statement of the condition of the mission finances and, while he complimented the congregation on its generosity in giving in the past, he told of the urgent need of support of home missions at the present time. He spoke impressively of the privilege, blessing and duty of giving and of its place in the formation of Christian character.

In Memory of Mrs. MacLaren.
In Knox church yesterday morning an impressive memorial to the late Mrs. J. S. MacLaren was held. Speaking from the text, "She hath done what she could," the pastor, Rev. Moorhead Legate, paid an eloquent tribute in which he said the congregation met under the cloud of a great loss, a personal loss, a loss to the church and to the community.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY.
The executive of the Holy Name Society, Cathedral parish, has been completed by the election of the following officers: J. George McDermott, vice-president; John J. Coughlan, secretary;

James J. Walsh, sacristan; Wm. Fitzgerald, novice master; T. Leo Holland, music leader; Chas. J. Ritchie, librarian; Wm. J. McCann, marshal; P. M. Higgins, Charles Mitchell, R. H. Tobias, Jas. Murphy, Jas. Barry, T. M. Burns, T. Mahoney and Jer. Griffin, consultants. The election of Louis J. McDonald, president; J. E. Emery secretary and W. L. Walsh treasurer was announced several weeks ago.

The case of William Nearin, charged with criminal assault, was resumed Saturday afternoon in the police court. The evidence of one witness only was taken. Dr. H. L. Abramson, provincial pathologist, was on the stand and gave evidence in regard to certain tests he had made at the request of the authorities. He also gave evidence regarding the condition of the two little girls, who had been attacked. After hearing this evidence the magistrate sent the accused up for trial.

TORONTO'S FIRST
NON-ARMY CHIEF

Old Police Tradition Broken in Appointing Chief Dickson, Who Rose From Ranks.

VERY FINE ORGANIZER
In Thirty Years on the Force He Has Never Had a Bad
Mark.

SAMUEL JAMES DICKSON, the new Chief Constable of Toronto, is the first non-military chief this city has had.
His appointment is the first break in the tradition of military command of our police force, carried on by British officers or by Canadian officers brought up in the English tradition.
Samuel Dickson joined the force as a fourth-class constable at 2 years of age in 1891. He has risen through all the ranks to command the force because he is a brilliant organizer, a born leader, a strict but not a stern disciplinarian, a man of outstanding intelligence, who has a big business man's rather than a police official's conception of life in general and of the public in particular; and last, but not least, because he is a man of high personal character and honor, who in thirty years' service has won the very highest respect of his force and of the citizens.

In thirty years the new chief has never been "on the carpet" for a breach of regulations. When it is remembered that our force is as picky with rules and regulations as aarrison regiment, this fact has a unique significance. A man of colorless character might easily lead as

Chief S. J. Dickson

Irreproachable a life. But Mr. Dickson is a Belfast Presbyterian by birth, has the formidable character consistent with that origin; yet has no red-dening in his record sheet.
Our new chief is a man intimately acquainted with every street in the city. This is a new attribute of the chief's office. During his promotion through the ranks of patrol-sergeant, sergeant and inspector, Mr. Dickson has served in all the police divisions of the city, and is personally acquainted with them all.

Having served through all the ranks, he is thoroughly conversant with the life his men are obliged to lead and with the conditions under which they must work.

These two things—his knowledge of the city, of all types of citizens and of his men, aside from his personal qualities, will make for something new in police chiefs.

Mr. Dickson is also very British in his beliefs and opinions. When he was seven his parents moved from near Belfast to the United States, but after a few years came to Canada in search of things British. His boyhood was spent on a farm.

The only sensational incident in Mr.
Dickson's career was the Varcoe murder case in 1901. He was on duty on Queen street east one night, heard a shot in a store, saw a burglar emerging from a window, and in the ensuing fight the constable shot and killed the burglar, who, it was found, had only a moment before murdered Varcoe, the owner of the store.

Mr. Dickson was inspector of No. 1 Division, downtown, having been promoted in 1917. He was appointed deputy chief in 1918.

EDITOR HIRED THE WORLD'S GREATEST

Edward Bok Secured Articles
From Celebrities Who Never Wrote Before.

BUT NOT GLADSTONE
Mrs. Gladstone Received $15,- 000 From Him—Decided to Frame the Check.

NOT many names are better known in the United States than Edward Bok's. For 25 years he was editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, which he raised to a net sale of nearly two millions.

Two years ago, at the age of 56, he resigned, and the first thing he did in his leisure was to write a book. He called it "The Americanization of Edward Bok" (he was Dutch by birth).

It reveals not at all the sort of man one would imagine to be an editor of a ladies' paper. A friend of Roosevelt and Kipling and Mark Twain. A man full of humor and good sense. He admits that, as an editor, his chief difficulty was to abstain from revealing his real self.
He tells us there were two Boks, and he writes about the editorial one in the third person, as if he were not writing about himself at all.

"His tastes, his outlook, his manner of looking at things were totally at variance with my own. Little by little I learned to subordinate myself and to let him have full rein."
It was a relief to the real Bok, therefore, when he was able to retire. Retirement has given him many satisfactions:

"No man can realize, until on awakening some morning he feels the exhilaration, the sense of freedom that comes from knowing he can choose his own doings and control his own goings. . . .

"It is a wonderful inner personal satisfaction to reach the point when a man can say, 'I have enough.' His soul and character are refreshed by it.
He begins a new life."

Roosevelt Envied Him
OF the reason for his success Mr.
Bok says:

"He gave his readers the subjects they asked for, but invariably on a slightly higher plane."
He generally got what he wanted, or something near it. When he could not induce Mr. Gladstone to write for him, he paid Mrs. Gladstone $2,000 for some articles. Then came an amusing episode.

"Some time after Bok had sent the check to Mrs. Gladstone, he received a letter from Mr. Gladstone expressing the opinion that his wife must have written with a golden pen, considering the size of the honorarium.
But," he added, "he is so impressed with this as the first money she has ever earned by her pen that she is reluctant to part with the check.
The result is that she has not offered

A Seat of Torments for Irish Wife Beater
Brings Pain, Profanity and Repentance

Sinn Fein Court Makes Punishment Fit the Crime—Drunkard Made Swill Beer.

DURING a recent visit to Ireland I was much impressed by the manner in which a certain Sinn Fein "magistrate" dealt with a case of wife-beating, writes an English barrister in the London Daily Mail.

On receiving the wife's complaint he immediately sent two of his "police"
for the defaulting husband, who,
being unable to deny the authorship of the bruises on his wife's countenance, was forthwith sentenced to attend in person at a seat of torments, and strapped to a gate, where he spent the night in a state of pain, profanity and ultimate repentance.

In England (and Canada for that matter) it is impossible for a magistrate to make the punishment fit the crime in this way. His repertoire of penalties is too limited, and his knowledge of the parties too slight to enable him to mete out more than a saxial and haphazard justice.

On the day of trial the wife's anger, after the manner of woman, will have

evaporated and given place to pity.
She will contradict the information which in the first heat of truth and rage she gave to the police; she will probably swear that the manifest black eyes and bruises were administered by another—if not by herself, as in the famous case of the wife who swore that she had bitten off the end of her own nose. In any event, she will say that her "old man" is an ideal husband, when he is not in drunk.

Even if she persists, what can the unfortunate magistrate do? He may bind him over, or fine him, or lock him up for a few days—a kind of rest-cure, which is seldom a punishment and still more rarely a preventive.

Drunkenness is perhaps the main cause of wife-beating and our Sinn Fein "magistrate" is almost a prohibi-tionist.

In one instance he compelled the defaulting publican to provide a vast quantity of liquor, and the drunken

Lt.-Col. W. W. Ashley

THE suggestion to bury an unknown warrior in Westminster Abbey on Armistice Day originally came from Lt.-Col. Wilfrid William Ashley, M.P. He represents the Fylde Division of Lancashire as a Conservative and from 1908 to 1913 was member for Blackpool. He commanded the 20th Battalion King's Liv' Foot Regiment in 1914-15, and is Chairman of the Executive Committee of Comrades of the Great War.

It is for deposit, and has decided to frame it. Considering the condition of our exchequer, I have tried to explain to her, and so have my son and daughter, and if she were to present the check for payment and to allow it to pass through the bank the check would come back to you and that I am sure your company would return it to her as a souvenir of the momentous occasion. Our arguments are of no avail, however, and it occurred to me that an assurance from you might make the check more useful than it is at present!"

What sort of position Mr. Bok had may be judged from Mr. Roosevelt's admission. "I envy you your power with the public," and from President Wilson's note to him, sending from the White House a contribution "which I hope you will think worthy of publication. If not, will you return it to me?"

President's Cigar Too Strong
OF a visit to President Harrison there is a most diverting description. Mr. Bok was invited to take a cigar.

"Thank you," Bok said as he took one from the President's case. He looked at the cigar and remembered all he had read of Benjamin Harrison's black cigars. This one was black—inky black—and big.

"Allow me," he heard the President say, as he handed him a blazing match. There was no escape. The aroma was delicious but two or three whiffs of that cigar, and Bok decided the best thing to do was to let it go out. He did "I have allowed you to talk so much," said the President after a moment, "that I have had a chance to smoke. Allow me," and another match crackled into flame.

"Thank you," the editor said, as once more he lit the cigar, and the fumes went clear up into the farthest corner of his mind, sending him to the land of nod.

"Take a fresh cigar," said the President after a while. "That doesn't seem to burn very well. Will you like that one in a while, although I am careful about my cigars." Bok said hurriedly, "It's not the cigar."

"Well, grove it to me with another," was the quick rejoinder as he held out his case, and in another minute a match again crackled.
There is only one thing worse than bad smoke, and that is an officious smoker, chuckled the President.

"Bok couldn't prove that the cigars were bad, naturally. So smoke that cigar he did to the bitter end, and Roosevelt, having a talk on a busy morning with Mr. Bok's little son, Florence Nightingale refusing to see him; C. L. Dodgson denying that he was "Lewis Carroll"—all sorts of celebrities peep out of the pages of this most entertaining philosopher, and he himself pieces us up as much as any of them.

A SLAP FOR SHAW
THE Rambler is responsible for the following in Tit-Bits:

Whenever answers to invitations are under discussion, someone is bound to remember the story of Bernard Shaw and Lady Randolph Churchill. She invited him to lunch. In reply he sent this telegram: "Certainly not! What have I done to provoke such an attack on my well-known habits? Lady Randolph wired back: "Know nothing of your habits. Hope they are not as bad as your manners."

IT'S NOT WASTED.
WHEN a woman takes the conceit out of a man she adds to her own.

wife-beater was compelled to drink beyond the limit of endurance.

He was seized and well-nigh drowned in it. Nor (as some may suppose) did he find the experience stagnant.

In another case, not directly concerned with cruelty, a lazy and improvident husband was compelled to labor on his own farm under his wife's orders for a period of three months. The first day's disobedience was repeated, for the "police" came in the evening and administered chastisement.

THE CONFESSORIAL
Uncensored Talks With Big Men About Themselves

No. 12—HON. HOWARD FERGUSON.
By Emil Longue Beau

"WAIT till I see if we can get a room," said he, in the lobby of the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, the morning after the Ontario Conservative Convention had glorified him.

"Come on," he called, after a quiet talk with the clerk, and he led me to the Red-Parlor, at the east end of the first floor, overlooking Front street.

"Been here before?" he asked.
I said yes, and that I supposed the shade of John A. might be invoked;
and the shades, also of the manufacturers who founded the N.P.C.F.
in this very room.

"N.P.C.F.?" questioned the Hon.
Howard Ferguson, Provincial leader of the Conservative party. "I suppose you mean 'National Policy Campaign Fund'?"

"You're on," was the reply.
"Nothing like it," he said; "nothing in the world. History repeats itself, if I have anything to say about it. I wonder if this is the same furniture that Macdonald used. Is it the willows and give the boys some political jazz. They've had about enough moping by the waters of Babylon."

"You're Scriptural this morning,"
said I.

"I got that from Tom Crawford, but I mean it all right. There's a lot of the spirit stuff that's talked nowadays make you tired? The Conservative party's good enough for old Tom, and old Tom's good enough for a Methodist class meeting, so what the dickens more can the people want? Politics is politics. Do you expect men to work for the party and then see somebody else get the office—fellows who think they're too fine and good for party workers' daily food? At the rate we're going it will soon be a disqualification for public office that you've tried to do any public service."

"They tell me Drury has a good deal of consultation with university professors and people like that.
They'd be a fine crowd to handle conventionally and keep the boys in good heart, wouldn't they. And as for running a Government department, well,
"and Mr. Ferguson threw up his hands in a gesture of despair and said: "My good grammar stuff! Just think of it!"

"Would you mind rehearsing the articles of your political belief?" I asked the Conservative leader.

"Not at all," he said. "Get office by promising the people what they want. Try to give it them if you can.
Make friends. Hold on to office. The more you are open to attack the more you attack the other fellow. That's practical politics, isn't it?"

I confessed my political education had been sadly neglected, which caused Mr. Ferguson to say:

"I'm from the County of Grenville.
That county was famous almost a hundred years for the fierce fighting of its elections. We were all brought up to understand that there are different codes for politics and business, and very different codes for politics and home life. In elections you say anything that occurs to you about your opponents. Of course they are graters and nigpoppers, ready to sell the Province or the country for their own selfish ends. The other side has all the votes of political crookedness. Your side has all the virtues of public utility. This is the code of all politicians. You have all the statements. 'There's no trick they won't make.' You view with alarm all they have done, and point with pride to everything your own side is going to do."

"When the elections are over you forget it, if you lose, and if you win you do your best to make everybody else forget it. Having won one election your chief business is to win the next. To that end the policies of the Government generally, and the management of departments in particular must be directed. Preparedness is the salt of party life."

"You give Cabinet timber that way?" I inquired.

"You cut timber that way," he replied. "Nobody was more surprised than I when a holler was raised about the way I ran my department under Hearst—well, I shouldn't say under Hearst, for I'm a believer in the free hand. There was a wise old fellow in our county who gave me a lot of useful pointers just about the time I began to inquire whether business and politics were connected with the admirable business of keeping his faithful advisers in power by timely donations to the campaign funds. In Canada, the exploitation of natural resources,
the function of the royal fountain of honor, and Prime Ministers don't get too busy about this side of practical politics. And so—"

"New Premiers shouldn't be too fussy about what other Premiers have stood for."

"They should not, for the business of party politics must be carried on as part of the King's business."

"And the campaign fund is the key to everything?"

"One of the keys. Will you touch the bell?"

The reader will not take too literally the observations of leading men about themselves recorded by Mr. Longue Beau, but will understand that they are what the speakers would be likely to say confessionally.

Curious Case in Indian Court Shows Strange Phase of Hindu Mind.

HERE is a curious little story, told by Hachecomber in the Daily Express, illustrative of the medieval mind of the mild Hindu and giving light on a subtle phase of Indian mentality. The facts were derived from a case which came before a district magistrate in the United Provinces and are as follows:

The principals in this case were two men of the Chambar, or leather-dressers' caste, one of whom accused the other of having abducted his wife.
The husband, Ramakshara, brought forward witnesses who declared on oath that in broad daylight, while Ramakshara was absent gathering hides, the other man, Bhima, accompanied by two persons, whom they identified as his brother and cousin, entered Ramakshara's chawl (or cottage), tied Mrs. Ramakshara by the wrists and ankles, put a gag in her mouth, and carried her off by main force.

Bhima, examined by the district magistrate, denied that the girl had been bound and gagged, and averred that she came with him to her own father. Six months later, before he was six years old, Sammie had challenged and beaten the champion chess player of Poland.

After the armistice was signed Mr.
Rzeszewski with his wife and Sammie toured Europe, exhibiting Sammie as a chess champion. And in 1918, when he was five years old, Sammie went to Vienna, B. H., Constantinople, Bulgaria and Rumania and finally to Paris. Sammie was orphaned and received little education. His business was more than chess. It was not like before the war.

One of Sammie's uncles, on his mother's side, was in business in New York. Correspondence had informed him of his marvelous nephew, and he suggested that the Rzeszewski family come to America, where they could live in luxury and be appreciated for their infant prodigies and a tour would bring fortune as well as fame.
Sammie and his parents landed in New York shortly after the receipt of the letter.

At eight and one-half years Sammie weighs fifty-five pounds, and to one of us he would appear underdeveloped, but those who know the race say he is no noticeably run for his money.
Few child of his age. Sammie's record suggests that he has a slight double curvature of the spine, although this has never been ascertained.
Nevertheless, Sammie speaks Yiddish and German, as well as two or two of French and is beginning to learn English. He reads Yiddish fluently and German without a great deal of difficulty. He can write his name in Yiddish script.

He knows the relative positions of such countries and cities as he has visited, but his knowledge of geography as children learn it, from books in school. He can tell time.
Ten days ago he knew the hours and half hours, and on November 12 surprised his family by knowing the quarter hour. He knows nothing of mathematics, but knows well how to drive a large, appreciable money value and understands thoroughly the difference between 25 and 50. He is an excellent judge of time and distance, as he shows in boxing, and has an unusually good musical sense. He likes grand opera and symphonies, but has no use for jazz.

There doesn't seem to be anything abnormal about Sammie, unless his ability to play chess is abnormal. If he is a defective he has not given any signs of it. He is quick enough to learn when he does give himself to it.

The amusements he likes best are boxing and bicycle riding. His present ambition is to be a champion bicycle rider. He puts on the gloves with Samuel Kramer, the boy violinist. Sammie Kramer is seven and a half years old and weighs ninety-seven pounds, forty-two pounds more than Sammie Rzeszewski, but Sammie Rzeszewski invariably beats Sammie Kramer.

He is a good sport at chess. Mostly,
he whistles very softly while playing chess, a barely audible sibilant. If his opponent makes a bad move he is likely to ask, "Do you want to make that move?" And if the answer is "Yes," Sammie probably will give one more chance with the qu. "You are satisfied are you?" On a second affirmative reply he will shrug his shoulders with the remark, "I am sorry for you," and go on to victory.
At the end of the game he knocks out the men with a sweep of his hand. That is his only evidence of triumph.

Chess he does not talk about to any one who does not understand the game, nor will he play with any one except a good player. A new acquaintance wanted to play chess with him and got out the board and arranged the pieces. Sammie sat down or the game, but his opponent's first move showed that he was inexperienced and Sammie closed the board and put it away.

"You don't know how to play chess,"
he said.—New York Tribune.

BRANCH IN CITY

A mass meeting of the Catholic women of the city was held last evening in

St. Vincent's auditorium to hear an address, by Miss Margaret Jones, of the Dominion executive, Catholic Women's League, on the objects and aims of this organization with a view to establishing the league in St. John. Miss Jones, who is a fluent speaker, met with an enthusiastic reception and after she had answered satisfactorily questions from members of the different existing societies in the city, the consensus of opinion seemed to be in favor of establishing a diocesan branch of the league. The object of the league, as explained by Miss Jones, is to co-ordinate the many existing societies under a central governing board for the purpose of eliminating the danger of overlapping in the work per-

The Catholic Women's League is already a Dominion-wide organization with headquarters at Ottawa and with branches in many of the principle cities from Edmonton to Halifax. The constitution calls for an organization similar in many respects to the I. O. D. E. The president of the Dominion organization is Miss B. Guerin, and Mrs. C. J. Doherty is first vice-president.

Rev. William Duke, parish priest of the Cathedral parish, was chairman of the meeting and on the platform were His Lordship, Bishop LeBlanc, Rev. Father Coffyn, representing St. Peter's parish, and the presidents of the different women's societies as follows: Mrs. D. P. Chisholm, St. Monica's Society; Miss A. Gosselin, St. Vincent's Alumnae; Mrs. F. Power, Catholic Girls' Guild; Miss Haney, St. Vincent de Paul Society; Miss W. McNeill, A. O. H. Auxiliary; and Mrs. John Owens, of the Dominion executive, Catholic Women's League.

Father Duke introduced the speaker with a few well chosen remarks, giving his hearty approval of the Catholic Women's League and expressing the hope that it might be formed here.

Miss Jones read the constitution of the league and explained its objects and aims. She said that the league would have its headquarters at Ottawa, this being the main directing board, and each diocese would have a sub-directing board, the object being to embrace every Catholic woman in every community into a strong organization which would subdivide the work of the community among the different existing societies if those societies saw fit to join the larger organization. It would not be necessary for these societies to entirely lose their identity. If they wished they might become only associate members but this would not give them the right of a vote at the Dominion conventions. In order to avoid confusion they might retain their existing names, if the societies decided to join outright, they would then each would be a unit, similar to the chapters of the I. O. D. E. If there were any women in the audience who did not belong to one of the existing societies they could form another unit and become a sub-division of the larger organization. Twenty-five was the least number of members of one unit. She answered many questions which were asked by members of the audience and cleared the air of any misapprehensions as to the submerging of identities of existing organizations, saying that they might retain their titles, prefixed by Catholic Women's League, and carry on doing their present work so long as their duties did not overlap other units' duties.

Father Duke spoke strongly in favor of the league and said he felt sure he was safeguarding the interests of the Catholic societies when he urged them to join this organization which he felt sure would be able to accomplish a great deal of good and would be a central body to which the outside world might look to when they wished representations of Catholic women. His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc also addressed the meeting, saying that he was in favor of having the Catholic Women's League independent of all other societies but since it seemed to be the wish of the present societies to keep their identities, the only alternative was to have them become branches with a "diocesan board" subject to the diocesan board. Rev. Father Coffyn also spoke in favor of the formation of the league in St. John. Father Duke tendered to Miss Jones a vote of thanks on behalf of the meeting. No organization work was proceeded with as the different societies will hold meetings in the near future to get an expression of opinion from the members upon the plan of merging their identities with the Catholic Women's League.

WORK SHORTAGE NULLIFIES THE
WAGES INCREASE

Phase of Labor Situation in England in 1920 is Commented on.

London, Jan. 14.—(A. P., by mail.)—British labor has gained a great advance in wages as well as a further shortening of working hours during 1920, but the new year begins with a rising tide of unemployment. Increases in wages during 1920 have amounted to nearly £5,000,000 and affected 7,647,000 workers. A labor correspondent of the Liverpool Post says, however, that "it is probably a modest estimate to say that the whole of these wage increases have been swept away by unemployment and under-employment." For example, the textile workers to the number of 1,033,000 received, in the earlier months of the year, advances in wages totalling £290,000 a week. The greater number of mills are now running only three days a week, and it is well within the mark to put the loss from under-employment at £1,000,000 a week. "In the engineering and shipbuilding industries 1,202,000 workers received advances to the amount of £429,500 a week, but here again the wage advance has been more than lost by unemployment and under-employment. Dock workers have had the same sorry experience, and the lesson, which it carries is that in competitive trades the wage-earning power can be maintained only on an output of corresponding value."

During the year 533,700 workers have obtained an aggregate reduction of 2,071,200 hours a week. Although there have been more industrial disputes than in 1919, the number of working days lost by strikes shows a diminution. There were 1,653 disputes during the year 1920, involving 1,922,000 workers, and 36,567,000 days were lost, the latter being swelled by the coal strike in October and November.

BOY HANGED IN BARN.
Thought to Have Been Experimenting With Rope.

Cambridge, Ont., Jan. 31.—Kenneth, the fourteen-year-old son of Mrs. Ellen Symington, of the Eight Line of Plympton, was found dead in the barn, hanging by a rope attached to a ladder. The boy was of cheerful disposition and the theory of suicide is not generally believed. It is thought that the boy had been playing or experimenting with the rope, and had met with an accident or carried his experiment too far.

MacLEAN'S MAGAZINE
Pointing out that until the beginning of the present century Canada was little better than many scattered settlements in the wilderness, and those settlements for the most part composed of people who came from other countries to "engage in the desperate struggle" with the bush, the article by T. A. Crerar, leader of the National Progressive Party, in a leading article in MacLean's Magazine, seems to be leaning issue, goes on to deduce that "a government can rarely rise above the source from whence it derives its origin and every rough many of the things which are freely given their talents and energies to public life, the level of our governments in both the federal and provincial spheres, has been exceptionally low. Their efficiency and foresight have often left much to be desired." However, Mr. Crerar has discovered "a new political consciousness among Canadian citizens which demands a sweeping away of the old party affiliations no matter how remote.

HONEYED SPEECH DELAYS FORDNEY TARIFF MEASURE

Washington, Jan. 30. - Honeyed words from the opposition opened yesterday's senate debate on the emergency tariff bill. Senator Thomas, Colorado, opened a long speech in opposition by presenting a letter from a United States beekeeper pleading for a tariff on honey. Foreign honey imports were "ruining" the beekeeper, he said. Senator Thomas declared he would not act to protect the United States bee from "pauper bees of Europe" despite a suggestion from Senator Fletcher, Democrat, Florida, that he "sweeten the bill" with such an amendment.

IN SEARCH OF MISSING GIRL

Detroit Typist is Believed to be a Prisoner of Rum-Runners in Lonely Shack.

Detroit, Jan. 31. - A heavily armed posse, composed of deputy sheriffs and searchers searching islands of the lower Detroit River in an effort to rescue Mary Caldwell, pretty 18-year-old typist, who has been missing since December 15, from a band of rum runners believed to be holding her captive in a lonely shack upon one of their insular hiding places. The search is the result of a secret communication received by Sheriff Coffa containing what he described as "the most authentic information concerning the Caldwell girl yet received." The greatest anxiety is being maintained concerning the time of starting the rendezvous of those participating in the search and probable destination. Employees of the Sheriff's office said, however, that a thorough search would probably be made of Zug Boggs, Flight-Hickory, and Sugar Island, as well as other islands on Canadian and American sides near these localities. Miss Caldwell, a striking type of southern beauty, left her home at 29 Piquette avenue, Detroit, on Dec. 15 for her desk in an office of the Studebaker Motor Company at the corner of West Jefferson avenue and Clark street. She has never returned. On December 16, her glove, containing a note, was found at West Jefferson and Junction avenue by George Davis, an employee of the Detroit Chemical Works. The note read: "I am being taken away by four men in a boat. Am in great danger. Please notify Mrs. Caldwell, 29 Piquette avenue."

THOROUGH SEARCH

Squads of detectives headed by special investigators from city and state police as well as county deputies began a search of the city for rum runners, including boundaries above and below the city for many "leads" were picked up by the searchers. Some indicated that the girl, accompanied by a friend, left Detroit aboard the interurban car for Toledo, where the trail was broken. Other reports led to Jackson and cities in the south. But after exhaustive effort, sleuths finally abandoned the chase upon belief that the girl had gone into voluntary hiding or was dead.

BUILDING MATERIAL SHOULD BE LOWER

Canadian Lumbermen Will Try to Bring Other Industries Into Line.

Winnipeg, Jan. 31. - That lumber prices had fallen to a greater extent than many other building materials, and that the lumberman was being made the goat by the manufacturers of those materials, was the contention made by bringing before the convention of the Western Retail Lumbermen's Association, Mr. Dutton submitted figures showing that while the cost of many manufactured materials for building remained at the peak, or were not much lower, the price of lumber had been substantially reduced. He had heard several manufacturers and dealers in other lines saying that their prices were being brought down, said Mr. Dutton, who added: "I maintain that their prices should come down, too."

TRUTH ABOUT HARBOR COMMISSION ACT

To The Editor of The Times-Star: Sir - The writer of the letters in the Globe signed "For Commission" in declining to accept your invitation to sign his name says: "What does it matter so long as he deals with incontrovertible facts," etc. It would not matter if the writer dealt with facts, nor would it matter if he had fairly tried to do what he says should be done, that is to have the public informed as fully as possible as to the meaning and intent of the Act, so that they may be able to vote intelligently on the question should the occasion arise.

If the writer of those letters had honestly tried to do either or both of these things he would have the approval of every one, including those who are opposed to the acceptance of the Act, and it is to be regretted that in his desire to have this Act accepted he has made misleading statements and given little information regarding the Act itself. He admits "The Act may not be absolutely perfect in all its details," and adds, "New acts are, but if it is developed as it is, I have no doubt that such amendments as might be found necessary could be easily secured."

The Act is an agreement between the Federal Government and the City of St. John regarding the transfer of our harbor to the Government and it is accepted we cannot take from or add to it a single word. Its acceptance by a prebute in its present form would be a clear indication of an agreement on the part of our people are satisfied with the Act just as it is written; and a request for amendment immediately after accepting it would make us appear deplorable. The time to have an agreement of sale of property made right is before it is accepted, and it is far to be regretted we cannot take from or add to it a single word.

Under the Act our harbor from Green Head, on the river, to Partridge Island, to Red Head and thence unto Courtney Bay becomes the property of the Dominion of Canada and the city will have no further legal title, sit in it and outside of what is contained in the agreement of sale we will have no more right to say what will be done with it than we have to say what will be done with any other federal government property.

The Act provides that the federal government shall appoint a commission consisting of three members. Where they will come from and what their qualifications for the position may be rests with the federal government. Their position will be very similar to that of any other government appointee and they will be subject to the direction of the head of their department at Ottawa. They have no power to vote money or make any agreement on their own authority. It is a matter to be regretted that the matter would receive the consideration of the association.

Under commission there will be a large increase in the cost of operation and "For Commission" says "Under harbor commission or not we cannot expect the harbor which owns the harbor will be provided for it" - but the Act provides that the revenue of the harbor shall pay the bill. It clearly states that expenses, interest on government wharves and elevator, on bonds and sinking funds, shall come out of harbor revenues; and this policy of the government has been confirmed on the floors of parliament.

"For Commission's" remark, "If this work had been started a year ago, as it might have been, what a help it would have been to the unemployment situation of the harbor," is a statement which he wishes it to be inferred that the Commission Act had been accepted the government would have at once started new developments at this port. There is nothing in the Act or in the attitude of the government to justify this assumption.

The government is putting a large amount into the Courtney Bay development, and I think I am correct in stating that that contract calls for the completion of the dry docks and a certain number of wharves in 1922. In addition to this, under the terms of the tri-party agreement to supply whatever facilities are necessary to take care of the traffic on the West Side, and whether we have harbor commission or not we cannot expect the government to provide facilities before the trade of the port requires them. It is the increase of trade through this port that will bring the development, and not the increased development that will bring the trade. Unless Western Canada recovers its trade through this port, sufficient extent to make it beyond the capacity of our facilities to handle it we cannot expect the government to spend money here.

It is the ever increasing trade through Montreal that has increased the port development there, and not because they have Harbor Commission. That Commission in its present form was inaugurated to take care of the traffic; it didn't create the traffic. Nearly all of Canada's port developments at this port are Montreal. Would that we could say the same of St. John.

On the other hand consider Quebec with its Harbor Commission. Has it not been a miserable failure in so far as bringing trade to that port is concerned? Halifax is getting a big development in the memory of its port. Captain Francis W. McAuley, who lost his life in France, as his wife and daughters may direct.

Watertown, N. Y., Jan. 31. - Beware the hootch vampire. She's the latest enemy of bootleggers in these parts. NOW WALKS AS WELL AS EVER

Halifax Man Had Rheumatism so Bad Before Taking Tanlac Could Hardly Get About.

"The people who used to see me hobbling home from work can look at me as I come walking briskly in and see what a few bottles of Tanlac has done for me," said Robert Barley, 21 Agricultural street, Halifax, N.S., recently.

"For over three years I suffered with rheumatism in my feet and legs. My feet hurt so bad I could hardly walk home from work, and when I got home I simply wanted to drop into the first chair I came to and pull my shoes and try to get my feet to quit burning and aching so. I couldn't sleep at night, and was so nervous the little excitement would get me all upset.

"Well, the very first bottle of Tanlac got me started well on the road to recovery, and now my rheumatism is gone and I can walk home like a sixteen year old when I get through work every day. I used to have a lot of trouble with my stomach, had no appetite, and even that trouble has been corrected, and my appetite is just fine and I have gained several pounds in weight. I never heard of a medicine helping anyone like Tanlac has me."

Tanlac is sold by F. W. Munro and the Ross Drug Co., St. John; L. C. Allingham, Campbellton, N.B.—(Advt.)

MR. BRINDLE REPLIES

To the Editor of The Times. Sir.—The case for the Seaman's Institute. In reply to the letter of Richard Crane re the sailors' trouble, I may say that Crane came to us from the Salvation Army, telling me that his money was done and he was not allowed to stay in that institution any longer.

I told him our beds were full, and he was welcome to the floor like the rest of the men who were without beds. He was satisfied with that for a few nights, and then demanded a bed as his right; later he demanded bed tickets in the same way. It will be understood by your readers that with fifty or sixty men around the place a large amount of extra work was made by the staff. Several times the men have been asked to lend a hand with the broom to help keep the place clean. Crane is one of the men who has consistently refused.

The same man was signed on the S. S. Wainate last week at $70 a month. He got an advance note for half his month's wages. He came and asked me to cash the note for him, which meant that I should have to wait till his ship had gone from here for five days before I could get the money from the company, and if he failed to sail with the ship I should not get the money at all. I had no confidence in the man, so refused to hand out the $30. Crane left the boat next day.

"This man says I will do nothing for the sailor. Crane himself at the moment was penning the lie I owed me $30.50, and he told me to buy food, and he owes it yet.

He was in the habit of using my office telephone three or four times a day to talk to the place a large amount of extra work was made by the staff. Several times the men have been asked to lend a hand with the broom to help keep the place clean. Crane is one of the men who has consistently refused.

To Be Troubled With Constipation

THE CAUSE OF MANY ILLS. If you do not feel well and go to your family physician, one of the first things he will do is ask you to hold out your tongue. The reason for this is that the condition of the tongue shows the condition of the stomach and bowels.

If you allow your bowels to become constipated you will have bilious attacks, sick headaches, coated tongue, sour breath, heartburn, water brash, etc., and these troublesome ills, which cause so much annoyance and misery. Keep your bowels moving regularly and you won't be sick.

In Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills you will find just the remedy you require for this purpose. They are purely vegetable and do not grip, weaken or sicken. Mr. Jas. S. Harris, Box 984, Halifax, N.S., writes: "For two years I suffered with constipation. I could not get anything to cure me, and hardly anything would give me even temporary relief. One day my uncle induced me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and, even though I had tried them with much faith, but I soon found they were doing me good, and after using the second trial I was relieved of my trouble."

With some men gratitude is most conspicuous by its absence. Sincerely, W. BRINDLE, Manager.

The Times has received letters from Rowland H. Hamp, Thos. O'Brien, F. Waldi, Edward L. Briscoom, James Mooney and J. Johnston, strongly endorsing Brindley's Seaman's Institute, and dealing even more vigorously that he with Richard Crane, discrediting his testimony at every point.

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

To the Editor of The Times. Sir.—Three points that have emerged through the recent discussion of vocational education in St. John are of more than local interest and affect the movement throughout the whole province. I would appreciate the privilege of making a brief statement with regard to each through your paper.

First, it has been alleged "that practical education, which is what we desire, may claim to be a vocational teacher." This is decidedly not the case. The teacher must have thorough knowledge of the practice and theory of the subject he teaches and in addition should have a knowledge of the art of teaching. At the beginning of the work in New Brunswick, as in other places, it is necessary to select expert workers from the various vocations and give them temporary permits to teach. These workers have been working this field for ten years and are still issuing temporary permits.

The policy of the New Brunswick Vocational Education Board, with reference to the important matter of teacher training, is to carry on a summer school year for the professional improvement of the teachers; to offer evening professional courses in the larger communities; and to pay the traveling expenses of approved persons wishing to take advanced courses at standard training institutions outside the province with a view of becoming recognized teachers in New Brunswick. Already several are taking advantage of this offer, and eighty were in attendance at the 1920 summer school.

New Brunswick has agreed to join with the other provinces in establishing a central institution for training vocational teachers in Canada. It is hoped to have this school in operation next year. It will be located in Ontario or Quebec.

By the above means the vocational board will soon have a permanent force of thoroughly equipped teachers to man the schools and evening vocational schools. Meantime, we are compelled to employ those who possess practical efficiency and who are willing to improve their professional skill as opportunity offers. But every teacher must be approved. Second, as to qualification of students. It has been said that all and sundry are accepted in an effort to get "anyone at all to fill up the classes."

The law says anyone may attend evening vocational classes who has reached the age of sixteen, and who is able to profit by the instruction given. At present there is a waiting list in St. John city of over 300 applicants.

At the time of registration each student is made of his educational history and experience. His aptitudes and opportunities are studied and every effort made

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES' CONTEST HEARD

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—Argument by counsel, in a motion for judgment brought by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees against the executive council of the Dominion Trades Congress to restrain that body from putting into effect a revocation of the charter granted to the Brotherhood by the Congress was heard by Justice Rose in the supreme court of Ontario on Saturday, his lordship deferring his decision.

The original action was taken by the Brotherhood to secure an interim injunction against the trades congress executive, but by consent of both parties the suggestion of Justice Rose, it was decided to change it to a motion for judgment.

The main reason advanced by the executive of the congress for the expulsion of the C. B. of R. E. is that it was a national organization, and according to the constitution of the congress had no right to a charter.
