POSSIBLE MERGER OF POTATO INTERESTS

EMPIRE DAY AT HARTLAND SCHOOL

This Date in History Fittingly Observed by Scholars of the Hartland School.

A very nice programme was presented to a large and attentive audience in the Assembly Hall of the Hartland School on last Friday afternoon, the occasion being the celebration of Empire Day. The scholars in the various exercises and drills which they presented showed that they had very efficient instruction and they made a lasting impression on the audience. The object of Empire Day as explained by the various speakers was to instill in the minds of the younger generation the wonders of our British Empire and to make them feel proud to be citizens of that Empire.

The I.O.D.E. Essay Prizes were presented by Mrs. S. S. Miller and Mrs. Page Boyer. The winners of these prizes were as follows: Harlan Estey, Grade XI. Hazen Hayward, Grade IX. Irene Barter, Grade VIII. Muriel Cook, Grade VII.

Another interesting feature of the programme was an address by Rev. Mr. Haigh on Loyalty. In his remarks he as one of the judges of the essays spoke of some of the more frequent errors and also stressed the fact that the essays on Airplanes were distinctly pro-American. His address on Loyalty was very appropriate and dealt with the matter in hand in a very pleasing way.

The address of Mr. R. B. Hagerman was as always well received and his remarks touched the mark very forcibly. Mr. A. Plummer as one of the trustees spoke a few words and emphasized as did all the speakers the necessity of better attendance in school. Mr. C. E. Rideout and Mrs. Bolster also spoke a few words. Mr. Chapman in his remarks told the people that Rev. Mr. Haigh had kindly consented to spend a period each week teaching the scholars to sing. He said that this would be a wonderful thing for the pupils for there is singing and SINGING and he felt certain that even though the time expended would necessarily be short, it would not be without its fruits.

The Programme

1. Opening Chorus "The Maple Leaf Forever"—School.
2. Welcome Recitation—Harold Kelly.
3. Exercise—Grade II boys.

BIG SHIPPERS ALL INTERESTED

Would Form Produce Exchange After Model of California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

For some time the potato interests of Carleton and Victoria Counties have been negotiating to bring under one head and one management the various concerns that are now doing business in potatoes. There have been many meetings and as yet the arrangements are not complete, but reports from the various companies interested are very optimistic as to the outcome.

In all about fifteen shippers and dealers are interested and these companies are planning to unite in order that there should not be so much duplication and overlapping while they are endeavoring to market the produce of the farmer. At the present time there is so much duplication as to render the overhead expenses of the potato industry almost prohibitive. The aim of this new corporation will be to combine under one management the complete clerical staffs and warehouse facilities of the different companies that now take so much of the farmers' money. The ultimate result of this merger of interests will be a great benefit to the farmer. He will have the privilege of doing business with a monolithic concern that will control their own shipping and selling facilities. He will have the pleasure and distinction of doing business with a great and substantial firm that will do more to advertise this section of the country than the disjointed efforts of a dozen small firms would ever be able to do. He will know that when he is quoted a price on potatoes he will be getting the highest market price for the new company will be able to quote higher prices than the old firms because of decrease in overhead expenses. The new company will be always on the look-out for new markets and will not dole exercise more care in shipping potatoes in order that the quality of the product will not depreciate. On the whole it will be a great day for the farmer of this country when he wakes to the benefits that will be derived from this consolidation of interests.

All the great shippers of this section are interested and the committee recently appointed to value the properties of the different companies concerned in order that a basis of consolidation might be reached are progressing very favorably with their work. This committee is composed of H. H. Hatfield, G. G. Porter, O. R. Estey, B. P. Smith, A. D. McCain. This present move of the potato interests is by no means a new idea. For several years it has been under consideration and no doubt the losses that the shippers are reported to have suffered during the past season has hastened matters somewhat. The possibility of a gigantic Maritime Produce Exchange somewhat along the lines of the California Fruit Growers Exchange has been contemplated for some time and no doubt this is the outcome. There is to be a meeting sometime toward the end of this month and before long the shippers and other interests concerned will arrive at some definite decision in regard to this matter.

At the time of writing we are informed that this merger is almost certain to materialize for there have been several meetings already at which this matter was dealt with and

FARMERS MEET AND DISCUSS DAIRY

Meeting Held Last Night—Very Enthusiastic—Committee Appointed—Meeting June 9th.

A very enthusiastic meeting of farmers interested in the revival of the dairying industry in Carleton Co. was held last night in the Neighborhood Theatre. Although the meeting was not as largely attended as was hoped the gathering started work and will hold another meeting in two weeks' time. Mayor H. N. Boyer was elected Chairman and C. G. Anslow secretary. The chairman stated the object of the meeting and the secretary read a communication from the Deputy Minister of Agriculture which was a reply to a letter written by the Chairman. In this letter the Deputy Minister was asked for certain information and was asked to come to Hartland and address a meeting of the farmers. He stated in his reply that he would be in Hartland this week and did not give the date so the chairman had called the meeting in the hopes that he would be able to make some preparations for the meeting that is to be held in Woodstock on June 17 to deal with the question of a central creamery for Carleton County. The Chairman in his remarks felt that the right place for a central creamery was in the vicinity of Hartland and not at Woodstock as the Deputy Minister seemed to think. He then called on the audience for suggestions and remarks. Mr. Warren White dealt with the creameries in Kings County and thought that the way they worked things there would suit Carleton County. He was under the impression that a number of small creameries centrally located were better than one large creamery not centrally located.

Mr. G. F. Neales spoke of his interest in dairying and suggested the need of high class stock. He had gone into the business and had made a steady gain. Mr. A. Plummer spoke of the present dairy interests in Carleton Co. Said that it was almost impossible for the storekeepers to sell the farmers' butter because of the fact that the quality was not uniform and that was what was wanted today. The lumbermen would not buy it and they were sending to Montreal and Quebec to get the butter necessary for their needs.

Mr. Scott Shaw spoke on the subject and said that he thought that the reason for the success of the industry in Ontario was in the fact that the farmers could get feed cheaply and easily from the rolling mills and that here it was almost impossible because of the distance from this source of supply. Also the farmers in Ontario were blessed with shorter winters. He felt that the revival of the industry would benefit the farmer if he (the farmer) looked after the stock and tended to the business.

C. E. Rideout also spoke on the question. Was certain that the farmers would awake to the opportunity and he thought it a shame that a person could hardly buy a ton of first quality hay in the country. This was because the farmers were paying most of their attention to raising potatoes, nevertheless he thought that a

H. T. REID WRITES INTERESTING LETTER ON TRIP TO THE WEST

THE OBSERVER,
Hartland, N. B.
Dear Sir:—
I have collected a few impressions of the West. If you think readers of The Observer might find something of interest therein use them as you think best. Wishing you continued success,

A WORD FOR THE WEST

When I left New Brunswick in March the Maritime campaign was at its height. Mr. Belding of the St. John Telegraph-Journal was then somewhere in the west on a tour, the object of which was to bring our problems personally to the attention of influential men and organizations in the west. It was therefore with a great deal of interest that I looked forward to visiting the prairie provinces. As my business would keep me there two or three months, I hoped to be able to hear these issues discussed at some length. Nor was I disappointed. On every occasion I took the opportunity of introducing the subject. Something of what I heard in this connection might be interesting matter for eastern minds. The westerners are extremely practical. First of all a project appeals to him in proportion to its likelihood of bearing useful results that is for the west. But this by no means excludes his sense of patriotism—for a prosperous west means indirectly prosperity to Canada as a whole. But of one thing there is no doubt. To him western Canada comes first and last, and he presents sound arguments for his case.

I suggested that Eastern Canada might reasonably expect a greater proportion of the western carrying trade. If Canada is to support what practically amounts to three trans-continental railway lines, it would be good Canadian business to use them from one terminal to the other within Canada. By doing this we would be assisting the railways in cutting down average costs and preparing the way for lower freight rates, which after all is one of our outstanding national problems today. Coal from Alberta is being kept out of a Canadian market on account of excessive freight rates, which under present conditions are unalterable. For similar reasons eastern products are being excluded from the west. The answer was definite. Other things being equal the west would prefer to ship through the ports of St. John and Halifax. Against this however is the matter of freight rates, port services—that is terminal facilities for handling large shipments quickly, and also in general as better ocean service is available from American ports. The general trend of argument was that quicker delivery was made through southern routes by agents who work in conjunction with both rail and steamship services. In other words, as conditions are at present, it is a better business proposition. The west, itself, is faced with problems of first magnitude. Essentially agricultural markets are the first consideration. I am satisfied that the West will seek these markets in whatever direction and by whatever channel will promise best results for themselves. And who is to say they should choose otherwise. But one idea I have had dispelled. There is no conscious animosity directed against the Maritime Provinces. Rather there was exhibited the liveliest interest in our welfare. Many a kindly ex-Maritime I met, and these are people who are today helping to shape the destiny of this part of Canada. I wonder if we realize how tremendously the West has responded to the appeal for help in Nova Scotia mining areas. Personally I saw many, many instances where individual farms were contributing through all their employees. The westerner is practical. But he is generous to a fault. Therefore if the Maritime Provinces wish to appeal to their western neighbors they should do so on business grounds with a minimum of sentiment. Its up to the east first of all to put their house in order. By this I mean that once we have attracted western trade we should see we are in a position to cater to it. A campaign of publicity is a good thing but in this connection steps should be taken to make certain that Halifax and Saint John are developed and capable of handling unlimited shipments satisfactorily. In the matter of freight rates stronger representation should come from the East. In the matter of grain routes the west has a real problem of its own. Characteristically they are very outspoken in the matter. This refers to the northern grain route via Port Nelson to Hudson Bay. At the present time only about 90 miles of rail is required to complete the line to the sea outlet and give it a fair trial. Both great parties in Canada have approved of the necessity of this work and the west now wants action. I was told that by shipping from Port Nelson to Quebec a cheaper and quicker method of transport would be available than the present one via the Great Lakes to Montreal. Why then is there this hesitation over completing the line. There was no disguising the position as far as the West see it. For them to ship from Port Nelson to Quebec does not suit certain interests in and around Montreal. This is the general impression whether right or wrong.

In the matter of manufactured goods the west is almost entirely dependent upon outside markets. There is a general feeling that protection which is being preached as the panacea of all evil by the central manufacturing provinces is a cat of a different color when applied to the west. This is how they see it. The west thinks in terms of wheat. Say wheat is worth $1.50 per bushel. A pair of boots (typical of any necessity) can be bought from the United States for $4.50 or 3 bus. of wheat. Similarly they ought to be bought at the rate of $4.50 from Ont. or Quebec. But the American article

OBITUARY

MERRITT TRACEY

In the passing away of Merritt Tracey at the age of 78 at his home in Lakeville Carleton Co. after an illness of five weeks, the village has lost another of its highly esteemed and respected citizens. He died on Saturday, May 16, and the funeral was held on Sunday, the Rev. H. R. Bell officiating. Interment was made in the family lot in the Baptist Cemetery. He leaves to mourn three daughters, Mrs. H. T. Jones, of Lakeville, Mrs. Roy Stephenson of Nictau and Helen at home

MISS CARLETON OF 1923.

Miss Hildred DeLong of Centreville who, it will be remembered, was the winner of the first prize in The Observer contest two years ago, thereby also winning the title of Miss Carleton, left on Monday for the trip to Niagara, which was the first prize and which also included expenses incidental to the trip and a travelling outfit. At that time, owing to certain circumstances it was not convenient for her to take the trip, so Mr. Stevens, the late editor and proprietor of The Observer, gave her the amount which would have covered the expenses and outfit, and said when she wished to take the trip, he would give her transportation. So now Miss Carleton is on her trip, which she takes all the way by C. P. R., and we hope she will thoroughly enjoy it. Besides visiting Niagara, she will spend a week in Montreal, and also visit Toronto, Windsor and Detroit, being gone probably two months.

MESSAGES FROM THE YOUTH OF CANADA TO THEIR MAJESTIES, THE KING AND QUEEN, WILL ACCOMPANY KEYS FOR "CANADA BUILDING."

(Special to the Observer.)

TORONTO, May 14—King George and Queen Mary on June the 29th, in Trafalgar Square, London, England, will open Canada's new building. They will open it with keys made of gold, silver and nickel from Northern Ontario mines.

The keys for the opening will be presented to their Majesties by Hon. Peter Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner. With the keys will be presented messages from the youth of Canada, one to the King from the boys of Canada and one to the Queen from the girls of Canada.

The Toronto Star has been invited to find the boy and girl adjudged the most worthy to sign these messages to the King and Queen respectfully. Sir William Mulock and Sir Arthur Currie will act as judges.

The young person selected to sign the messages will be:

"The boy and the girl attending any primary or secondary school—public, separate or private, whose natural endowments or attainments as pupils or in the arts or any other sphere of worthy endeavor, or who have performed such heroic action, as, combined with qualities of character, will make that boy and girl fitting representatives of the youth of Canada, to sign the messages to the King and Queen on the occasion of the opening by their Majesties of 'Canada Building' in London, Eng., on June 29, 1925."

To find the most suitable boy and girl, The Star offers certain prizes and awards. To the boy and girl adjudged most qualified under the conditions outlined, to sign the cable messages to the King and Queen on behalf of the children of Canada, The Star will give $500.00 each in cash, besides the honor of signing the messages.

To the boy and girl who write the best messages for their Majesties, which the winners of the "Attainment contest" are to sign, The Star will give a cash prize of $100.00 each. The messages must not exceed 100 words each. The contests are opened to children in all parts of Canada.

"Nerves in Bad State Could Not Sleep"

Mrs. H. N. Tardell, Harrowsmith, Ont., writes:

"My nerves were in a very bad state, and for nearly six months I did not know what it was to have a good night's rest. I could not eat, and never felt well. I heard about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and thought I would try it. After taking it for a few days I began to feel better, and soon was able to sleep well at night. My appetite also returned, and I felt stronger and better, and after taking three boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I was quite well. I have also given the Nerve Food to my little girl, with good results."

H. T. REID WRITES OF IMPRESSIONS OF THE WEST

carries a duty of 33 1-3 p. c. which increases the delivered price to $6.00. The Canadian product is therefore sold at the same six dollar price. In other words the Canadian boot which ought to cost the western farmer $4.50 or 3 bushels of wheat, now cost him $6.00 or an extra bushel of wheat. And then remarks my friend "we are accused of being free-traders." Of course I do not vouch for the exactness of these conclusions. I am simply relating what I heard in the course of discussions.

SUDDEN DEATH OF MR. S. L. LYNOTT

Found Dead in Bed This Morning—Was Editor and Lessee of Carleton Sentinel of Woodstock.

The Town of Woodstock and in fact the entire province was very much stricken with sorrow on hearing this morning of the death of S. L. Lynott, editor and lessee of the Carleton Sentinel.

Mr. Lynott was well known throughout the entire province and was highly respected by all who knew him. The late Mr. Lynott had been suffering for some time with asthma and although he appeared in good health when he left his office yesterday afternoon at about four o'clock, he was found dead this morning at 7.30.

He was a son of the late Mr. Lynott of St. George who was a member of the Provincial Legislature and lived in St. George and conducted a paper there for a number of years. On leaving St. George he went to Richibucto and finally settled in Woodstock about ten years ago.

He has been connected with the newspaper business for years and his range of friends among the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association extended from coast to coast. Always a man of strong convictions he worked for what he thought was right and he made a name for himself as a man that could be depended upon to stick to his principles through thick and thin.

His first wife died about two years ago. About six weeks ago he married Miss Watts of Woodstock. He is survived by his wife and three daughters, Marie, Kathleen and Helen. His only son James was killed in the war.

To the family of the deceased goes out the sympathy of the entire community.

BASEBALL CLUB

ENTERTAINMENT

Capacity House Greets New Performers—Much Variety in Program and Good Laughs.

The entertainment given by the Hartland Baseball Club at the Neighborhood Theatre on Friday evening, was a decided success from every viewpoint.

E. W. Laskey, who is the manager of the team, announced the program, and in his opening remarks, stated that the club, on account of the strenuousness of the times, decided not to ask for subscriptions as had been done in previous years, but endeavor by giving this entertainment, to raise enough money to make the club possible. He pointed out that the entertainment was of rather an impromptu nature, as it was only undertaken a few nights before, and when time for rehearsals was very brief. But in spite of this fact the program offered was of the highest order, and very entertaining and everyone enjoyed a good laugh. It was a dandy minstrel show and the "line-up" was as follows: K. Smith, V. Simms, C. R. Allen, C. McLeod, R. Carr, W. Morgan, B. Baker, A. Baker, C. Clark, and H. Chapman.

Beside the numbers given by these artists (?) Messrs. M. L. Hayward and F. Hagerman gave readings in their inimitable manner. The program was not all humorous. Solos, which in every case, brought forth a call for an encore were given by Kilburn Smith, G. W. Birmingham and Clare McLeod. The accompanists were Mrs. S. S. Miller, Miss A. L. Kingston, Miss Helen Dunham, Mr. G. Dunham and Ross Carr.

The Hartland String Quartette on this, its first appearance in the concert hall, was favorably commented upon and added much to the enjoyment of the evening. Those comprising this quartette are W. Morgan, C. Clark, C. Baker and W. Dunham with Miss Helen Dunham as accompanist.

H. Chapman, who is the captain of the ball team, gave a specialty number which was greeted by great applause and consisted of original witticisms, a French habitant dialect reading and exhibition of rope skipping.

An unique method of selling tickets was employed which was by the tag system, the tags admitting to the performance. The sum of $52 was realized.

Manager Tedlie is to be commended in bringing to us such good pictures. Wants Women to Know How

E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cornwall, Ontario.—"I am now giving your medicine a fair trial and it surely is doing me good and I am going to keep on taking it. I used to feel so tired in the morning that I didn't want to get up, but that feeling is leaving me now. I also sleep better and feel more like working. For seven or eight years I have had headaches, tired feelings, pains in my back and across my body. I read letters in the newspapers saying what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done others. My husband says I quit too soon, but I am not going to stop taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine until I am better and haven't an ache or a pain. Isn't that the right way? I have great faith in your medicines. They must be good when those who take them speak so highly of them. I am recommending them to my friends and I will gladly answer letters from women asking about them."—Mrs. B. H. HART, Box 1081, Cornwall, Ontario.

A B-H English Paint can is literally filled with beauty. The very look of its contents as you pry the lid off suggests quality and the beauty that comes from quality.

This first impression is quickly confirmed once you start to paint with it. Every brush-stroke is a pleasure. The dull, drab surface comes to life, fairly glowing in the smooth, immaculate coat of B-H English Paint.

You cannot go wrong with B-H English Paint. Time has proved its outstanding ability to beautify, protect and preserve. It is the surest and in the long run the cheapest form of protection against time and the elements. It ends the need of frequent repainting.

POTATO GROWING IN THE MARITIME PROVINCES

By R. D. L. BLIGH, B. S. A.
Assistant, Nappan, N. S.

The potato, having as its natural habit the cool, humid, mountainous districts of Chili and Peru, finds some what similar conditions in the Maritime Provinces. This fact together with the insistent and increasing demand for Northern grown seed which means seed grown under climatic conditions similar to its natural habitat will mean a new era, namely, lower acreages and very much higher yields instead of the reverse. Hitherto, we have been producing potatoes for consumption both at home and abroad and in both markets demands is for colour rather than variety of potato. But the certified seed potato, which is now very much in demand, calls for potatoes vigorous, productive and free from disease—and bearing a certificate of inspection issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture testifying as to purity and freedom from disease.

Old, common, unproductive and unpopular varieties will eventually be eliminated, while those remaining will be standardized and production will be increased. Therefore, as the Maritime Provinces contain the largest potato areas in Canada, this circular is published for the purpose of creating a more intelligent knowledge of the requirements of this crop among farmers—and especially those of the Provinces referred to above—as well as providing suggestions as to how cultural methods may be improved and yield considerably increased.

Varieties and Strains of Varieties

Too much emphasis cannot be laid on the selection of standard varieties suited to market demands and local soil conditions. After years of experimenting with varieties of potatoes, the Experimental Stations are ready to give their results and advice upon request. Growers who act on these, together with some experimenting on their own part, may discover the varieties best suited to their needs. They may go further and secure and test under identical conditions small lots of seed of the chosen varieties from as many different growers as possible and select from these the highest yielding strain for their seed.

Tests have been conducted at the Experimental Station, Kentville, with eight strains of Garnet Chili potatoes, where, the yield in 1915 ranged from 36 to 240 bushels, or a difference of 204 bushels per acre. The difference in yield in 1916 from seed stock taken from these same plots ranged from 68 bushels to 212 bushels, or a difference of 144 bushels per acre, while the difference in 1917 yield ranged from 90 bushels to 315, or a difference of 225 bushels per acre.

The varieties that have proven the most successful at the Nappan Farm for a number of years are the Irish Cobbler and varieties falling in the Green Mountain group, such as Carmean No. 1, Green Mountain, and Wee McGregor. During the last two seasons these have been ousted from their position by newer English varieties such as Davies Warrior British Queen and Factor, which seem more blight-resistant and better suited to our local conditions than the above mentioned.

Soil and Its Preparation

The potato crop depends on the development of both the root and the foliage and as the latter is directly proportional to the former, perfect conditions should be made for a maximum root development. Large crops of potatoes are grown on a variety of soils, but the best is a rich, deep, friable, warm, sandy loam, well supplied with decaying vegetable matter, making it retentive of moisture, but supplied with good drainage.

The potato crop requires abundant moisture, but will not thrive in cold, water-logged soil. Potatoes should be sown in, preferably, clover, which should be manured with ten tons of barnyard manure per acre and ploughed down in the autumn after a good aftermath of clover has started. Autumn ploughing is preferable, owing to a more thorough decomposition of the sod and its resultant availability for the following crop. This practice assures an abundant supply of decaying vegetable matter which besides increasing the water capacity of the soil, supplies, after it has been rendered available by the action of the soil bacteria, the fertilizing requirements of the crop. Again, the deep feeding roots of the clover not only loosen up the soil to a greater depth, thus making conditions ideal for the development of perfect shaped potatoes, but also assimilate some of the inert fertilizing ingredients of the sub-soil which are rendered available for the plant by the decomposition of the clover sod.

Commercial fertilizers should not be applied as a substitute for manure but should be available so that the potato plant may utilize it while the decaying vegetable matter (manure and clover sod, are being rendered available by the soil bacteria.

Seed Selection and Treatment

Every potato grower should practice a thorough method of selection, which should not be confined to the bin the cellar, but to the growing crop. First, the grower should go over his field carefully selecting sufficient vigorous and disease-free hills to plant an area large enough to supply him with his seed stock. These are harvested and stored separately from the main crop and planted in the spring on an area specially prepared and given thorough attention regarding cultivation, roguing and controlling of insects and diseases. From this patch the most promising hills are selected and stored separately for the seed plot another year while the balance are stored for seed used to plant the commercial areas. This insures seed of the highest quality and productiveness, eliminates diseased and unproductive stock, and, if it were more extensively employed, would ensure our average yield per acre being not below 200 bushels as it was in 1920. Experiments have proven the following: First, sprouting in storage decreases both the vitality and yield of the succeeding crop. Second, sets should be of good size with from two to three eyes, a medium sized potato making four sets. Third, planting should be done as soon as possible after cutting, to preserve moisture in the potato. The drying out of the seed for a single day may decrease the yield by one-third. If weather conditions prevent planting, potatoes should be sprinkled with ground plaster or slacked time to prevent evaporation.

Planting

Potatoes thrive in loose soil; therefore, spring plough. A clover sod that has been manured and ploughed under early the following autumn should be cross-ploughed in the spring and thoroughly worked up to depth of six inches and either rolled or dragged harrowed just previous to planting. Potato planter should be used (even if owned jointly by several farmers), and planting should be done early—May 25 to June 10—in rows two and one-half feet apart, with the sets one foot apart in the rows and four or five inches deep, using from twenty to twenty-five bushels of seed per acre. If the uncut seed potatoes are placed in the sunlight for ten days, or preferably more, previous to planting an earlier crop will result.

Cultivation

After planting the cultivation of the crop is one of the chief factors in production. All previous care, soil preparation, seed selection and planting will be valueless without subsequent systematic cultivation of this crop. This cultivation should only be carried on until there is danger of injury to the potato crop. Two important factors in this cultivation are control of weeds, and soil moisture. An uncultivated soil favours the former and eliminated the latter, therefore, soil should be kept loose with the harrow and cultivation. A system should be followed as under—

A few days after the potatoes have been planted and before they are up but not until the myriad weeds in the soil have had sufficient time to germinate, the soil should be harrowed with a light smoothing harrow, this operation being repeated two or three days later.

As soon as the potato rows can be distinguished, cultivator should be started and should go as near the potatoes as possible without disturbing the earth around them. All further cultivation should be comparatively shallow to prevent injuring the roots and tubers, this being repeated every week or ten days, and after each heavy rain, until the potato tops close the rows.

Just previous to this the potatoes should be hilled or ridged up, immediately after which the cultivator should be run through to loosen the soil left bare by the use of the hiller, as from this bare unmulched surface the loss of soil moisture by evaporation would be enormous. By methods such as these, the yield of potatoes should be augmented one third.

Insects and Fungous Diseases and Their Control

Among the numerous insects and diseases of the potato, the most common and injurious are the Colorado Potato Beetle—commonly known as the Potato Bug—and Late Blight. The methods of controlling these may be successfully combined, as follows:

Apply the following Bordeaux mixture about mid July, or when the young bugs are hatched.

Dissolve four pounds of bluestone in four gallons of water. Dissolve four pounds of lime or hydrated lime in four gallons of water. Fill spray tank with 30 gallons of water and add four gallons of lime solution, stir thoroughly and still stirring add the four gallons of bluestone.

For the control of bugs add to this the following: One and a half pounds of Paris Green. Apply with pressure of from 150 to 200 pounds covering completely potato tops with spray. Repeat every two weeks until September 15. After bugs are controlled discontinue use of insecticides.

In brief these points should be considered:

Spray before bugs destroy the tops. Spray five times. This is essential. Spray before rainy periods. Dried spray will not wash off readily.

Spraying increase yield and prevents rot.

Experiments over a period of five years showed that Late Blight reduced the yield 130½ bushels per acre and caused a further loss of 21.3 per cent of the crop in storage from drying time to the following April.

All farmers and market gardeners should make a point of learning to recognize insects injurious to potatoes and diseases of plants. This information will be given on request.

Harvesting and Storage

Potatoes should be harvested during dry weather, so that the soil will fall from the tubers. If not affected by blight, the potatoes should be dug as soon as the tops are killed by frost. Potatoes that have been killed by late blight will have rot, consequently a crop of diseased potatoes should be left in the ground, or, if placed in storage, will rot. Healthy tubers that will rot in the field, if placed in storage, will rot. In harvesting the crop is an up-to-date potato digger.

Points in Storing Potatoes

Tubers must be quite dry, handled little and not bruised. They should be stored in slatted bins, one bin over the other, to a depth of three feet. Ventilation is important; sunshine must not be allowed. Ventilators should be kept open until the crop is dry enough to cause no loss to shrink and may be kept closed by packing the floor with water. Highest temperature, 40 degrees; lowest temperature, 33 degrees F.

Kleanall

Farmer Brown, who went to town to get a load of stuff, he had a little money, but he didn't have enough. So Farmer Brown said to his wife, "Now wouldn't it be nice if we could only save our cash and buy our goods on tick. Now Mrs. Brown began to frown. She did not like a debt. To think of owing anyone, it always made her fret. So turning round to Mr. Brown, she looked him in the face. "For us to go in debt again it would be a disgrace. You know I've saved some money; with you I'll not be mean. I've been intending to buy a 'lectric wash machine, but Mrs. Smith came in one day to make a little call and all the time that she was there, she talked about 'Kleanall'. She told me if I used it I would not have to rub. She used it when she washed her clothes and used it when she scrubbed. And so I did that very thing, and all the time I work I sing. The wash machine can go to shucks and you can have the hundred bucks."

BATH, N. Therefore we would like to make it clear to the public once more that the dedication of our new Canadian flag at the monument in memory of our glorious dead, will take place, rain or shine, at three o'clock on Wednesday, June 3, 1936, when prominent speakers of the County of Carleton and the councilors for the Parishes of Kent and Wicklow will take part in the program, which will assure you all that you will receive a pleasant and instructive time in return for your attendance. There will be no difficulty in finding the place because where you see the big crowd will be the place.

BIG CELEBRATION HELD AT JUNIPER

Flag Raising and Ball Game Under Auspices Aberdeen Lodge K. of P.—Large Attendance.

Monday, May 25 was Juniper's day. On that day all roads led to this new town in the back country. Carloads of visitors were present from all over the county and one might well say that all roads led to Juniper on the 25th. The celebration started shortly after two o'clock and continued till late in the afternoon. A very interesting programme was presented and showed that earnest work had been performed by those responsible for the event. Every one in the town did his or her best to make the visitors realize that they were absolutely welcome and that they were to make themselves at home and enjoy the outing.

The Programme
Address of Welcome by the chairman, J. K. Flemming.

Flag Raising, God Save the King.
Flag drill by six boys and six girls.

Recitation "What Canada Needs."
Chorus, "Oh Canada."

Recitation, "This Canada of Ours."
Chorus "The Maple Leaf Forever."

Recitation "Here's to the Land."
Address by Fred Squires of Woodstock on Patriotism.

This part of the celebration was very well carried out and the committee in charge are to be complimented on the fine programme.

The ball game was called at four o'clock. Hartland was severely outclassed and they had no hope of winning after the first part of the game. We have no apologies to offer for the team that Hartland sent to Juniper and all that the manager had to say this morning was that when Juniper comes to Hartland on Friday of this week he would endeavor to put a better team on the field. The game ended in favor of Juniper to the tune of fifteen to one. Hartland didn't seem to be able to hit Turnbull, the Juniper pitcher, and this fact, together with loose playing on the part of the Hartland team resulted in the score being what it was.

Supper was served on the grounds and many of the visitors availed themselves of this opportunity. The larger number of the visitors took their lunches with them and enjoyed their meals along the way in the many beautiful spots that Nature has provided.
