GREAT STRIKE IN BRITAIN WAS SUDDENLY ENDED

Present Wage to Continue 12 Months
London, Oct. 1.—With dramatic suddenness in the quiet of the London Sunday afternoon, it was announced to a knot of people waiting in Downing Street that the great railway strike, which appeared to have brought the country almost to the brink of revolution, was settled, and that the strikers would resume work as quickly as possible.

The terms of the settlement are in the nature of a compromise. The National Union of Railwaymen agrees to call off the strike, and the Government consents to a renewal of the negotiations, the continuance of the existing wage scale for another year, instead of six months, as previously offered, and the establishment of a minimum wage of 51 shillings while the cost of living is 110 per cent. above the pre-war level.

The settlement was the result of a long conference to-day between Trade Union delegates, including representatives of the Railwaymen's Union, and Premier Lloyd George and Andrew Bonar Law in the famous conference room in Downing Street. Prior to this there was a Cabinet meeting.

It is conceded on all sides that the settlement is the outcome of the moderate but determined efforts of the executive of the Transport Workers' Federation and men like Arthur Henderson and John Robert Clynes, who throughout have set their faces steadily against the idea of a sympathetic strike until every possible avenue of mediation had been explored.

BAD BREATH? DON'T BE OFFENSIVE REMOVES THE CAUSE
Follow this advice and your Breath will soon be sweet and Pure
The bad part of Bad Breath is the fact that nearly every case shows considerable trouble from indigestion, belching gas, bloating, piles or some form of stomach misery. Often than not a simply fast, a sluggish constipated condition is the true cause of many a man's failure in life.
By aiding digestion and building up the weak muscles of the stomach and bowels, DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS completely overcome constipation and all forms of stomach illness.
"I was terribly run down with stomach trouble that arose through neglected constipation, writes Mrs. P.D. Quigley, from Washburn, P.O. I simply couldn't half digest my food. I had dreadful headaches, piles and yellow muddy skin. The effect of DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS was phenomenal. I have gained in weight have a clear skin no more headaches I eat well, sleep well and enjoy my meals.
There is no need to be in failing health when cure is so sure, so easy by taking Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25¢ a per box at all dealers. REFUSE A SUBSTITUTE.

Tobacco Habit Dangerous

RINGS AROUND THE SUN. In Many Cases Followed by Rain Within 36 Hours.

Rings around the sun or moon are properly called halos. They may be defined as somewhat complicated arrangements of arcs and circles of light surrounding the sun or the moon accompanied by others or tangent to or intersecting them, with spots of special brightness called parhelia appearing at the points of tangency and intersection. Parhelia are most often observed about sunrise or sunset frequently when the intersecting arcs are themselves invisible, except at the points of intersection. In order of frequency halos average about 22 degrees, 46 degrees, or 90 degrees in radius, but on rare occasions other sizes have been observed.

Halos are observed only when there is present in the higher atmosphere a cloud sheet which meteorologists term cirro-stratus. The floating particles forming this cloud sheet are ice crystals, as the cloud is always above the plane of permanent freezing temperatures. These are the highest clouds known, the average height being five to six miles. When the sun or the moon is observed through such a cloud sheet, refraction and reflection of some of the sun's rays by the ice crystals produce rings in which the colors when visible are invariably arranged with the red on the inside of the arcs.
Halos are good weather signs, many weather proverbs based upon the observation of halos are founded upon sound scientific principles. Studies of the relation of halos to rainfall show that during the summer months 56 to 60 per cent of all halos are followed by rain within 36 hours. During the winter months 70 to 75 per cent are so followed.

WHEN AT WORK KEEP BUSY.

Sometimes an abundance of time spoils a man for the best work. It has been noted that most men do their best under pressure. Too often men are spoiled by not being kept busy during office hours. It may be there are some who can stand to be busy by spurts. But the average man begins to loaf when occasion offers and can't get the gait when the rush comes. Besides there is danger of developing habits of procrastination when the job is indifferent as to time. As a matter of fact most men allow a job to lie until they have just time enough to produce it any way. So the wise man will keep himself busy. He will see to it that he develops the habit of getting down to business as soon as he reaches his office. He can afford to leave his business at the office where it belongs and enjoy himself at home and get ready for the next day.

TEXTILE EXPORTS SHOW FALLING OFF

Iron and Steel Shipments, However, Show Improvement over Last Year.
Montreal.—A Glance at the figures representing the export and import trade of the Dominion for August, and at the figures for the five months ending with August, is interesting where they are connected with industrial corporations whose securities are traded in on the Canadian exchanges.

For example, it has been remarked that the European business of the textile companies this year exceeded last year owing to the much-advertised orders that were received last year, and the little-advertised orders that were received the previous spring.

Of course, it is possible that up to the end of August the export figures would not show the falling off of European orders received early last spring, nevertheless, it is interesting to note that the export of textiles, fibres and textile manufactures for the five months ending with August amounted to $10,386,677, and that for the same five months a year ago they were $12,073,960. In other words, textile exports fell off about $2,000,000 in the period under comment. For August alone the exports of textiles fell slightly under those for August 1918.

On the other hand, it has been quite confidently stated that the iron and steel companies would not have so good a year this year as last. If the export business of the Canadian iron and steel enterprises is any criterion, a decided improvement is shown for this year.

In August the exports of iron and steel and their products amounted to $7,577,532, against $5,320,347 in August a year ago, while the total exports for the five months ending August this year showed business amounting to $23,064,922, as compared with $23,721,593 for the corresponding period a year ago.

This shows that, whether the domestic business of the steel enterprises has increased or not, followers of the market can count on an improvement in the export trade this year of about 44 per cent. For the remaining three months or so it is hardly likely that this increase will be materially reduced. These figures do not include non-domestic goods exported, of

The experts and imports between the United States and Canada are given separately in the figures issued by Ottawa, but, to judge from the above figures, if the rate of exchange on New York has increased by about a hundred per cent against us, while our favorable trade balance has increased by 190 per cent, other exchanges outside of New York's must be pretty heavily in favor of Canada, and it might pay the Dominion to look around for more commodities that can be got from elsewhere than from our southern neighbors.

PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION

Since it was recommended by a section of the Industrial Relations Commission, held at Ottawa in September, that Proportional Representation be investigated with a view to introduction in Canada, this subject becomes of general interest.

To John Stuart Mill is assigned the credit of having many years ago proposed this system of voting, as a means of giving representation in parliament, to minorities, according to their strength.

His proposal, as set forth in Nelson's encyclopaedia, was to permit a voter to cast his vote for any candidate in any constituency. This is by means of a single, transferable vote.

If Nelson is right, then our correspondent's claim that "no elector can vote outside his own constituency" does not square with that authority.

There would be little merit in the Proportional Representation voting system unless votes were transferable to other constituencies, since where a minority party can only vote for a candidate in the one riding, its fewness in numbers therein would not gain anything for it. Would a minority not be, to all intents and purposes, in the same position as it is under the present system?

Taking the Dominion parliament, with 234 seats, it is estimated that the number of votes required under Proportional Representation to elect a member would be 10,000. In North Waterloo there are presently registered 21,000 voters. Of this number let it be assumed that there are 500 electors who are inclined toward Socialism. Were these, under the Proportional Representation system, obliged to confine their votes to this one riding, they would not be able to secure the necessary 10,000 votes to elect a member.

It seems clear that before any minority in one riding could elect a member of parliament it would require to join strength with similar minorities in other ridings or remain unrepresented in the Commons until it had converted a majority to its way of thinking.

In theory, it was first proposed that the voting be made general over a whole country. In practice, it is often confined to a group of districts. These may, according to population, consist of as many as five ridings.

The Proportional Representation Society of Canada is for instance advocating that the present single-member constituencies be discarded and that instead there be a group of constituencies formed, which would on the average elect about five members.

By way of illustration: Waterloo, Perth and Wellington counties, which for parliamentary purposes elect six members, might be made one federal election district or large constituency. It would then be necessary for candidates to appeal to the electors of the combined ridings.

And, the elector, while having only one vote, could indicate as many choices as he desired. As the method of marking a ballot is somewhat intricate, explanation is reserved for another article.

The advocates of P. R. claim that minorities are often obtaining no representation at all. Speaking of minorities, it includes the older as well as newer parties. Here follow two examples, used by Mr. Ronald Hooper when addressing the Industrial Relations Commission:

At the Federal election of 1904, Nova Scotia Liberals swept that province, winning all of the 18 seats. The vote stood:

Liberal vote..... 25,622—Seats won 18
Conservative vote..... 46,131—Seats won 0
Similarly in the federal election of 1911, the Conservatives of British Columbia carried the province:

Conservative vote..... 25,622—Seats won 7
Liberal vote..... 16,350—Seats won 0
Under Proportional Representation, it is said that in the Nova Scotia election the Liberal majority would have elected 10 and the Conservative minority 7 seats. And that in the British Columbia instance the Conservatives majority would have secured 5 and the Liberals 2 seats.

Toronto is also used as an illustration of the fairness of Proportional Representation. It has 5 seats in parliament, all represented by Conservative members. That party being strongly in the majority. Yet about two-fifths of its electors are Liberals. The presence of that two-fifths minority in Toronto gives the opposing party two extra seats. There the Liberal minority secures no representation in parliament. It is claimed that P. R. would give them two seats to their opponents three.

The subject is one of interest and merits careful consideration on the part of electors generally.

AUSTRALIA TO TRY TRADE BUILDING

The Commonwealth Government of Australia has created a Bureau of Commerce and Industry to promote organization of the country's resources, prepare a policy for the expansion of trade, improve industrial methods and bring about the establishment of new industries. The Director of the Bureau is being assisted by a temporary general council representative of primary producers, the Chamber of Manufacturers, the Chamber of Commerce, and banking, shipping and other interests.

The main purpose of the council is to achieve effective organization from within the industries in order, as far as possible, to secure cooperation, coordination and employment of modern methods in all stages of production and marketing. It is proposed to encourage the formation of associations or groups of individual industries with an executive for each group, such executive being represented on the general council.

The Board of Trade Journal, which describes this development, states that three other objectives will be kept in view:

1. Adequate supplies of raw materials for:
 - (a) Local consumption.
 - (b) Overseas export.
2. Increased production with decreased costs.
3. Better marketing (buying and selling) facilities.

Australia already is a large exporter of wheat, flour, butter, meat, tallow, wool, and non-ferrous metals. Consideration will be given to the encouragement of other branches of primary industry. In this connection, the Bureau will have the support of the Institute of Science and Industry in keeping primary producers informed, through their associations, of what is being done in other parts of the world to increase production. Advice and assistance will also be given to primary producers in the conduct of local experiments and the application of the most modern industrial methods.

BY THE WAY

The United States Tariff Commission is preparing an anti-dumping bill to protect American manufacturers of dyes, according to Mr. Fordney, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the United States House of Representatives. In addition to this anti-dumping legislation, Mr. Fordney believes that a higher rate of duty than that proposed by the Longworth Bill is necessary to provide sufficient protection for the industry.

The United States Consul at Sydney, N.S.W., in a dispatch to the Department of Commerce at Washington states that "just now there is a formidable movement to make Australia more of a manufacturing country also substantially to increase the tariff and the preference in favor of Great Britain."

WAIT A MINUTE

AMERICAN CAPITAL AWAITS ROYAL VISITORS

While King Albert, with Queen Elizabeth and the Crown Prince are by no means the first royal visitors to be received in the capital, their visit nevertheless will in a way be something entirely new to this city. With the exception of the late King Kalakaua of the Sandwich Islands, Washington never before has received a reigning monarch as such. Heretofore all the illustrations royal visitors to the United States have been traveling incognito, which has robbed their reception here of most of its blaze and glory, its fuss and feathers.

According to the official code of etiquette, binding enlightenment nations, the head of one nation is bound to return an official visit from the head of another nation. Until President Wilson upset all precedence by going to Europe, where he was received by the King of Britain, the King of Italy and the President of the French Republic, American tradition was popularly supposed to forbid the Chief Executive of the American Commonwealth from going overseas during his term of office.

Foreign monarchs, respecting that feeling, consequently refrained from paying state visits to the United States, inasmuch as the President would be unable to return the visit. Now the situation is entirely changed, and the visit of the King of the Belgians is an official affair and made in compliance with the diplomatic custom requiring the head of one government who entertains the head of another to repay the visit.

While it is understood to be the desire of their Belgian Majesties that their stay in Washington, as well as their visits to other cities, shall be as formal as possible, official etiquette requires that under the circumstances, it being an official visit, that certain formalities shall be complied with.

Government officials, statesmen and White House attaches confess that they are not exactly up to snuff when it comes to receiving and entertaining royalty in accordance with royal etiquette, but since the visit of the Belgian royal family was announced they have been brushing up on precedents and formalities for state occasions and they believe they will be able to "get by" without any serious faux pas.

During their stay in the capital the royal visitors from Belgium are to be quartered at the White House. This, together with the announcement that the Prince of Wales who is now touring Canada will be a guest in Washington were long, serves to recall the fact that the only royal visitor to the United States who was ever quartered at the executive mansion was Edward VII. (then Prince of Wales, and grandfather of the present heir to the throne), on the occasion of his American tour in the sixties.

President Buchanan was the occupant of the White House at that time, and the fact that he had known the Prince of Wales while Minister to England made the executive mansion's hospitality all the warmer, although the President proved to be somewhat of a killjoy, for when the royal visitor proposed a dance with the younger guests at a levee, Mr. Buchanan, fearing the criticism of the people, frowned upon the frivolous suggestion.

While no other visitors have ever been quartered at the White House a considerable number on their unofficial visits to America have been received there by the President. One of the most distinguished was the Emperor Don Pedro of Brazil, who has received by President Grant in 1876. Louis Philippe was a visitor before he ascended the throne. Others in the list have included Prince Henry of Prussia, Grand Duke Alexis, the Infanta Eulalia, and the Duke of Connaught.

As for King Albert, it will be the second time that he has been a visitor at the White House. In 1898, on the occasion of his sojourn of several months in the United States he was received by President McKinley. That was, of course, more than ten years before his accession and when he was only Prince Albert of Flanders, the heir presumptive to the throne.

Mrs. Downs Could Hardly Get About the House—Enjoys Work Now.

"Before taking Tanlac was so weak that I could hardly get about the house, but I thoroughly enjoy my work now, said Mrs. Mary Downs, of 1 Currier St., Toronto, Ont. "Sometime ago," she continued, "I had to undergo an operation and it looked like I would never get over the shock. I lost my appetite and actually would go for days without eating a thing. I was so weak the least exertion would soon exhaust me, I could hardly get any sleep at night and would tremble like a leaf in waking up. "I was just in this awful fix when I started on Tanlac, and it wasn't long before I felt it was working me up and making me eat. Now my appetite has returned and I relish every bite, my nerves are much stronger and I rest well at night and never have those terrible frights any more. I am able to do all my household work without half trying and never feel tired and worn out like I did before."

Letters To NewsRecord

MORE OF PROPORTIONAL REPRESENTATION

To the Editor:—One fact which pleased me, in the reply to my letter on P. R., was that while the Editor may not be a "Briber Scot," he has sympathies in that direction, and if he will just jibe a wee, during the coming winter, we may come to a better understanding regarding P. R. and he will see what a good electoral system it really is.

Still I must like him to task for his interpretation of the word "Briber Scot." At a general election the voting is general all over the country, but still local in so far that no elector can vote outside his own constituency.

The same also applies under P. R. A voter can vote for all candidates, according to his preference of them. If his first favorite gets more votes than the required quota to secure the seat. Then the surplus votes go to the number two of the elector's choice. Under present conditions, any more than one vote can be cast for any one candidate. Your example of the single-vote candidate is rather far-fetched, and one which I venture to suppose, would get very little support.

Take our own constituency for example and say a strong Unionist were nominated for the seat. They are both well known locally, yet not known so well in other parts of the country, and besides the Liberal and Unionist Parties would be busy with other candidates all over the country. Would it be fair if the elector, if he were in any part of the country, to get the ballot paper a week in advance, to do a bit of studying, for with the names of all the probable starters, the ballot paper would really be a young newspaper. In April of this year Glasgow School Board Elections were held. Many voters were P. R. The number of voters was about 350,000. The city was divided into wards the same as here and in no case did any voter get voting for any candidate outside the boundary of his own particular ward, some wards returned six men, others more, others less according to size. Many varied were the parties who ran candidates, and in the analysis of the voting it was found that every party got just representation according to the vote cast. So you see, Kitchener Council could just as easily be elected and be more representative, under P. R. than under any other system.

JAMES BLAKE

A MAIDEN GAINS ALURE

Dear Lorna Moon—
I am a bachelor girl thirty-four. I don't want to be a bachelor girl. I have shoals of men friends, but not a single suitor. Don't think that I am not. I am conscious of my own charms. I have the best figure in our swimming club. I have unusually pretty teeth, and fine eyes, and a complexion like a healthy young girl. The girls who have half my attractions and that half, mostly made up out of the rouge pot, get proposals galore.

Men swim and walk and dance with me, and tell me when their best girl has treated them badly, but they never make love to me. What is the matter with me, say you?

I have a girl friend who has nothing but a pair of heavily blackened eyelashes to recommend her externally, but she has a constant train of admirers. She can't keep a man friend

TO RENEW COMPLEXION WITH—OUT COSMETICS

If the excessive user of cosmetics only knew the impression her artificiality really makes upon others, she would quickly seek means of gaining a natural complexion. Let her acquire the marvellous wax habit, discarding make-up, entirely, and she will soon have the kind of complexion that women envy and men admire. It is so easy to get an complexion of microcosmic wax at any drugstore, use nightly like cold cream and wash it off mornings. And the results are so remarkable. Gradually the lifeless outside peels off, a weak or so there's a brand new complexion—clear, velvety, soft, of girlish color and texture.

The treatment is so simple, harmless, and so marvelously effective, the wonder is that every woman whose skin is withered, discolored, rough, freckled or pimpled, has not already adopted it.

as a man friend, he becomes a candidate for her little pink eye as soon as he looks at her. No, while she is a good friend to a woman, she is very inhuman with man. I have known her to plead a headache when there was nothing but a thing wrong with her, just so that she could cancel an engagement and "keep him guessing". In her case the man is in a frenzy and her fair doubts his attentions to her; but if I do that, the man just says, "Too bad, old girl, and I have done myself out of a pleasant evening for nothing."

You are too obviously what you are. You are frank, friendly and wholehearted. Men like that in a girl, but they love it when accompanied with a little dash of caprice, just as they like good wholesome food with a little tang of paprika.

It is a pity men are like that, but they ARE. It would be wonderful if we could be honest with them in every. But it can't be; be honest with a man and he regards you as a chum, or he feels pursued and hater on.

A HARD COMMANDMENT
Department of Agriculture's Call For Salvation of Snakes.

The United States Department of Agriculture has a job on its hands now. It's a man's job. It wants us to quit killing snakes. It bids us have a heart for snakes or, if not a heart, a consideration of self-interest.

Our attention is called to the economic value of the common snakes we have been killing, which could not possibly harm us if they wanted to, but in an indirect way do us great good by devouring the insects and vermin that eat our food crops and muck up our meadows and farm lands, as the gopher and the mole do. We are not asked to desist from killing the venomous varieties, but there are only seventeen of these out of a total of 11 species in this country. We are asked not to kill snakes just for fun or from prejudice.

No sentimental reasons are offered. There is no kindness to animals appeal in it. It is plain business proposition, and a very convincing one. Let the snakes alone and they will eat the insects and rodents that would eat your crops. But its going to take a lot of snake clubs and other organized propaganda to stay our hands. There is plenty of sentiment on the killing side, and even passion, for there is no creature that a man so hates as he hates the snake. The snake seems to have been made, in form, in motion and in habit, for him to loathe and distrust and dread. At first of a snake the first thing we look for is a club. We begin when we are boys and we never lose the killing impulse until we get an outlook from time immemorial. He has always been the free game of the boy. No closed season to closed species, no snake exempt. No cruelty to animals in killing the crawling creature, but beneficence to the human race.

We have all felt that our lizards go forth and slay these dragons with the picture of Temptation in Eden, in the old pictorial family Bible, for there the arch enemy of our kind is represented in serpent form, but some scientists hold that our enmity to the snake dates back much further in actual time than the legend of the fall of man suggests.

However it is never too late to learn or to be reasonable. We want to raise enough wheat and other food-stuffs to bring down high cost of living, if greater production can do it, and if the snakes really do help by gobbling gophers, moles, rats, mice, and pestiferous slugs and insects, perhaps we can be induced to suspend sentence on the snake during good behaviour.—Omaha World-Herald.

"The Sor tried that the 'breaks' of the game were against them when they lost the first of the two games to us," said Manager Moran, of the Cincinnati Reds after yesterday's game, "but you will hear no such wail from us. The 'breaks' didn't beat us to-day it was Kerr. He pitched a wonderful game and should be given due credit."

However, my players were on a strange field and as quickly as they became accustomed to the playing conditions they will hit the pace that stopped the Sox in the first two games. It is possible that I may start Elroy to-morrow. That depends, however, on Gleason's selection. I may switch to Reuther or King."

The Widow's Son

By Mrs. E. Southworth

"Success to you! The medical profession in the vast benefits it confers upon society, is second to none, and equaled by one."
While the young men thus conversed, they were interrupted by the entrance of Lily Gay with a fresh cup and saucer plate, and by Nancy with the exclamation:
"I told you so! She ain't in the garden Lor! why if that ain't Master William! How do you do sir! And how did you leave all the folks at Rogue?"
"Very well, I thank you Nancy! How are you?" returned the young man cordially, extending his hand to the faithful old woman.
"Middling, Master William, honey just middling, and no more."
"Nancy did you say Lily May was not in the garden?"
"No! I told you so before! I knowed she swan't. I went to look there for her, and now I have proved."
"Then she must be in some room upstairs. Go and look for her, Nancy and tell her we are at breakfast."
And Owen dear, don't wait any longer sit down. Willie must want his breakfast. And Lily May will be here by the time I pour coffee. Willie, it is coffee, mind you, not a mixture of burnt rice, chickory and dandelion! We buy it in the grain, and roast and grind it ourselves. Sit down, said Lily Gay, cheerfully, as her white hands fluttered among the teacups and saucers, tinkling silver teaspoons and drooping sugar, and pouring cream to enrich the exhilarating morning beverage.

She had served the coffee to each one, and they were anuffing it with great relish, when Nancy re-entered the room saying:
"She ain't upstairs nowhere— nowhere at all!"
"Well now, that is very odd! Did you look in all the rooms, Nancy inquired Lily Gay.
"In every single one, and even in the clothes closets."
"Let me look! Excuse me, Willie Excuse me, Owen. I will be back in one moment," said Lily Gay, starting away from the table, and running to the door.
"Nancy," said Owen uneasily, "have you not seen her this morning?"
"Not a single sound of her! She ain't been downstairs since I've been up, and that I'll take my davy O!"
The offices of hospitality claimed Owen's attention. He helped the traveler to a hot muffin, a rasher of bacon, a boiled egg the castors, etc., and then turned his face toward the door, listening and waiting for the return of his sister.
William Spicer, junior, in an interval of examining himself, noticed this manner of his friend, and as soon as he had swallowed, inquired:
"I hope there is no reason to be uneasy?" "Oh, no," answered Owen smiling, "only it is unusual for Lily May to be so late."
While he spoke Lily Gay entered the room in excitement, exclaiming:
"Owen, she is not anywhere in house She has certainly gone out, because her school-bonnet and mantle and satchel have gone too!"
"How strange! But don't be too frightened, she may have gone out on some little errand of her own and detained longer than she was expected to be," said Owen. "Oh yes!" exclaimed Lily Gay, brightened up, "I know now just where she has gone! She has gone to the school to get the books that we left behind! And that is the reason why she went so early and took her satchel."
"How?"
"Oh, you see, she went early so as to get there before the pupils assembled and the school commenced. And she took the satchel to bring the books in."
"I should be sorry if I thought had gone to the school. The place where she received so great—" began Owen, but recollecting that Willie Spicer was present and was ignorant of what had happened on the previous day, he suddenly stopped and then resumed in another manner:
"I rather think she has gone out to post a letter or to make some little purchase, for which she feels pressed. I really wish she would return."
This last sentence revealed that undertone of an anxiety that the young man felt, without comprehending, and tried to emanate, without succeeding.
Meanwhile Willis Spicer made an excellent breakfast. "Tell me, Willie said Lily Gay, how is your father, and how does he bear his solitude when you are away?"
"Oh he is, all right, but to speak the plain truth, he does not bear his solitude very well. I told him that I should graduate in the spring and after that should return no more to Rogue's Harbor. What should an enterprising young man do at Rogue?"
"Nothing whatever, and yet I feel a very deep sympathy for your good father; his lonely old age said Owen."
"He shall not be lonely. I will keep my word with him. The young woman shall redeem the child's promise. And when you leave him finally to settle in New York, Willie, I will go down to Rogue's Harbor and be his daughter and keep house. I will do it because he was so good to my poor mother, and because I love him."
The young student turned, and smiled upon the impetuous girl, saying:
"But there are others to be considered in this matter, fair lady. How for one, will my friend Wynne like

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and laggard. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, chances often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

to part with his sister to an old man hundreds of miles away?"
"Oh! I was never Owen's favorite sister. He will do very well without me, or am I much mistaken."
"What do you say, Wynne?"
"I say that the proposition is a matter for future consideration. If the old man were quite alone down there, and my sister wished to go and fill a daughter's place in his desolate home, I should not prevent her from doing so."
"Wynne, you do come out sometimes with surprising things! But I am happy to tell you both that the sacrifice for it really would be a sacrifice will not be needed. My father has made a fortune which will enable him to retire from business. He will sell out in Rogue's Harbor, and take a house in New York."

"I am really very glad to hear that. And you will reside with him?"
"Of course."
"Next spring when I graduate, Lily Gay looked from one to the other of the speakers, as if unable to believe the evidence of her own senses, and then she suddenly clasped her hands with joy, exclaiming:
"Oh that is better than anything I could have hoped for. Mr. Spicer coming to live in New York! Why I should almost as soon have expected to see the old church transport itself to the city! And he is really coming to live among us. Oh, Owen, how delightful that will be! To have him settled somewhere uptown! And to go and spend days with him, as we used to do in the old times! And to have him come and spend days with us! It is almost too good to be true!"
Thus gaily chatting, Lily Gay arose from the table, and the others followed her example.
Summoned by the hand-bell, Nancy came in to clear the table.
"Set the coffee-pot on the stove to keep it hot for Lily May, she cannot be long in coming home now said the young lady, as she left the table and went to her workstand

$2,000,000 TAKINGS AT ONE MEETING

$308,000 FOR THE CLUB.
Windsor, Oct. 5.—Testifying Saturday afternoon before Dr. J. G. Rutherford, Government commissioner appointed to investigate race tracks in Canada, Chief of Police Elias Willis of Windsor, A. P. Healy, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, and other prominent residents, said the crowd from Detroit that patronized the local tracks were well behaved.
"There has been no indication of any increase of crime in the city," the police chief said, "as a result of racing. There are, however, too many tracks in this district, and I consider they might be reduced to one." The race track habitues are only different to other persons by reason of the flashy clothes they wear was suggested in the evidence of President Healy, who said that track patrons from Detroit "are wealthy, of good class, who wear clothes somewhat more flashy than us Canadians."

The examination of George N. Mendrie, president of the Windsor Jockey Club, disclosed that the club handled more than $2,000,000 in pari-mutuel machines at the one meeting in 1917.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WALK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her to Health.

Perth Amboy, N.J.—"For three years I suffered with a severe female trouble, was nervous, had backache and a pain in my side most of the time. I had dizzy spells and was often so faint I could not walk across the floor. The doctor said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my newspaper, and tried it. Now I am better, feel strong, have no pains, backache or dizzy spells. My one tells me how well I look, and I tell them to use Lydia E. Pinkham's vegetable Compound—that is what makes me feel well and look well. I recommended it to my sister and she is using it now. You can use this letter if you wish, for it is certainly a grand remedy for a woman's ills."—Mrs. MARTHA STANISLAWSKI, 634 Penn St., Perth Amboy, N.J.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

Banner grates save coal
THE greatest volume of heat in a warm air furnace comes from the firepot. The cold air, as it comes in contact with the hot firepot, is heated and goes into the registers. But if ashes line the inside of the firepot, forming an insulation, the main source of heat is reduced greatly, if not entirely removed.
Not so with a Banner Furnace, for the triangular grate bars of the Banner operate at the very sides of the firepot. Ashes are cleared away at the sides just as thoroughly as they are at the centre of the firepot.
If you are at all interested in the heating, you would find our booklet on "How to Choose a Furnace" helpful and practical.

TALKING IT OVER

With Lorna Moon

"A REGULAR FELLA"
 "Poipal poipal! Buy a poipa, lady."
 I turned to voice a perfunctory
 "No thanks," when I noticed that under the right arm of the paper seller there was not only a bundle of papers and a but also a crutch.
 One leg was gone above the knee and a ragged trouser bottom was pinned up round it with a big safety pin.
 I bought a paper. His hammering blue eyes looked back into mine as he handed me change.
 "How did you lose your leg, sonny?"
 "Playin' in the freight yards."
 I was just so high. I crawled under a freight car and they began shunting it blue—that's all."
 "Wouldn't it be easier to carry your papers in a bag—that crutch—isn't it a draw-back?"
 "Naw, Sir," he cried, changing my sex to suit himself, "it ain't a draw back, it's a—"
 "An asset?" I suggested. I sell more papers than my two legs. Say listun," he cried inviting me with a jerk of his head to come out of the traffic with him.
 "Want to show me?" I followed him along a side street two blocks and into a second hand furniture store.
 He led me up to a leather covered arm chair, a ratty padded affair that was homely with wear. "Ain't she a beaut?" he demanded, "fifteen bucks,
 I'm going to move her tonight."
 "It's a dandy," I agreed, "you'll have a comfortable seat."
 "Aw go on," he cried impatient at my stupidity, "taint for me, it's for me mother. She'll be crazy—just crazy when she sees it." Then coming a little nearer, and dropping his voice he said with a paternal air, "she's all wore out. Been cleaning offices for years—but she don't have to do it no more. I can take care of her I guess."

 Resisting a desire to hug him, I held out my hand and said, "You're a regular fellow."
 "Aw go on," he bantered, hesitating to put his dirty fist in my white gloved hand, "you're a regular fella yourself."

SIGNAL SUCCESSES FOR LOYAL RUSSIAN FORCES ON ESTHONIAN FRONT.
 Stockholm, Oct. 3.—The order of the day for the Russian northwestern army on October 2 stated that after some further preparation a general offensive against the Bol-shaviki would begin large quantities of provisions and war supplies having been received from England and the United States.
 "The enemy," it was added "has been driven into the marshy district where he must perish or surrender."
 A French wireless service message from Helsinki, received on October 2, reported that the Russian north western army had started a general offensive movement on the direction of Pskov near the Esthonian frontier, in the region southwest of Petrograd.

It was declared that despite the stubborn resistance of the Bolsh-aviki 11 villages had been captured and that the offensive was continuing.

REFUSE TO PARTICIPATE IN INDUSTRY CONFERENCE.
 Washington, Oct. 3.—Railroad unions representing more than 2, 000,000 workers will not participate in the industrial conference called by President Wilson for next Monday unless the basis of labor's representation is charged to include the chief executives of all international and national unions.
 Timothy Shea, of the Brotherhood of Firemen, said the change in representative had been suggested to Director General Hines but that no reply had been received and none was expected.
 Because of this he said the four brother-hoods did not expect to go into the conference, and it was thought the 14 other railroad unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor also would not participate.

An Absolute Untruth By the Referendum Committee Confusing and Misleading the Public

THE Citizens' Liberty League has discovered what appears to be a deliberate attempt to confuse and mislead the people of Ontario on the forthcoming Referendum.

Flamingly colored and sensational circulars have been sent broadcast over the Province in which it is claimed that—in the words of the advertising as shown in the copy here reproduced—"To vote 'Yes' in one column and 'No' in the others makes your ballot worthless."

That statement by the Referendum Committee is an absolute untruth. And either the Referendum Committee knew it to be untrue when they wrote it, and used it to mislead the public—or, they must confess a childlike ignorance of the whole issue that would be laughable if it were not serious to all the people—who rightly accept the printed word as true and form their opinion accordingly.

Here is what Premier Hearst in his speech to the Ontario Legislature, April 7th, 1919, distinctly stated:

"To submit the one question set forth in the present Act (The Ontario Temperance Act) would settle nothing—would not, in my opinion, be in the best interests of temperance—because after a vote on that question we would know little more about what the real sentiment of the people is on the subject than we do to-day. We would simply have to take another vote."
 "Honourable gentlemen will note every question is separate. . . . each question stands by itself."
 "On each question the voter must make a deliberate decision and vote accordingly. The full force of public opinion will therefore be recorded for and against each question."

The Citizens' Liberty League conscientiously believes that the only true solution of Ontario's vexed temperance problem is the repeal of The Ontario Temperance Act and the enactment of new legislation that will permit the general sale of light non-intoxicating beer and light wine, and the sale of pure spirituous liquors through Government stores under restrictions which the Government may deem it wise to adopt.

The Citizens' Liberty League calls upon the Referendum Committee to deal squarely and honestly with the Electorate.

But the Citizens' Liberty League will not stop to misrepresentation—and it is not going to allow the Referendum Committee to do so unchallenged.

The temperance problem is one of the most vital issues ever faced by the people of this Province. It will never be solved by distortion, misrepresentation and vilification, but only through a fair, just and honest presentation and the weighing of the facts.

Vote "Yes" to all Four Questions

Mark your ballot with an X. Any other marking will spoil it. Remember also—Every voter must vote on every question or his ballot will be spoiled.

 Apparently the Ohio, the smallest of the 10 balloons in the contest has travelled farthest of any of the six which have landed. Capt. Warren Rasser, its pilot telegraphed he descended at 10 p. m. yesterday at Perry Sound, Ont., where the Murphysboro, Ill., entry came to earth.
 The gas capacity of the Ohio was 50,000 cubic feet, 30,000 less than the other contestants.

TOMATO CHUTNEY SAUCE
 Peel 3 onions and 9 large green apples and chop with 10 large green tomatoes, 1 seeded red pepper and 1 package of seeded raisins. Add 3 pounds of granulated sugar, 4 table-spoons of salt, 3 cups of vinegar, 2 tea-spoons of ginger, 21 tea-spoons of cinnamon and 1 tea-spoon of cloves and cook half an hour after the boiling point has been reached. Bottle and seal while hot.

To prevent jam from becoming mouldy, cut rounds of tissue paper seek each piece separately in vinegar, laying a piece over the top of the jam in each jar, then tie down in the usual way.

To prevent jam from burning or boiling over smear the bottom of the preserving pan with butter before putting in the fruit or sugar.

To make jam of the right consistency, it should be sufficiently cooked. All jam should be simmered gently for the first quarter of an hour and then boiled rapidly till "cooked."

One enterprising designer has produced an entire frock of ribbon by using a heavy quality of brown moire ribbon, six inches wide, and the ribbon has been shirred to make rows after rows placed one above the other to form the whole dress.

Cyclone in Eastern Bengal Wrought Indescribable Havoc
 Calcutta, India, Oct. 5.—An intense cyclone in Eastern Bengal has wrought indescribable havoc. The jute industry is at a standstill. Thousands of small craft have been sunk and many lives lost, while thousands of peasants are homeless.

A fly will on a window-pane crawl to the top, fly back to the bottom, and crawl up again. This order is seldom reversed. It is on record that a fly crawled up a window-pane 32 times, returning each time to the same place.

Keep Chiclets a Secret!

YOUR pocket-size packet of Chiclets will soon disappear once they know where you regularly keep it. For, this dainty, candy-coated gum is a prized and popular confection.

The "Chiclet pocket" is a wise habit to adopt. After meals or after smoking, when work is rushed or when riding to and fro, the fine peppermint flavor of Chiclets is welcome—"Really Delightful."

Next time you buy Chiclets, buy two packets—one for your pocket and one for those who know where your "Chiclet pocket" is. At most stores in the block. Ten for 5 cents. For 25 cents—a generous family-size "week-end" box.

Why Every Canadian Will Buy Victory Bonds

TRIUMPHANT, Canada emerged from the war, a nation great in arms and great in trade, a nation respected and admired by the world.

And Canada will continue to hold high her head.

Our obligations to the heroic dead, to the crippled and disabled soldiers, and to the men who were so fortunate as to return, will all be met.

That is Canada's duty.

To fulfill it, every Canadian will do his part.

Canadians will keep the machinery of prosperity humming, the factory chimneys smoking, the sea and lake ports bustling with activity, and the surplus products of farm and factory going forth to Great Britain and other lands.

But to accomplish all this more National Working Capital is needed.

The money is here, but it is in the hands of individuals rather than in the hands of the nation. It is in the savings banks, loan companies and generally scattered throughout Canada. For instance, our deposits in banks and post offices have increased in five years from one billion ($1,086,013,704) to a billion and three-quarters ($1,740,462,509), an increase of nearly two-thirds of a billion ($654,448,805).

The people will loan their individual savings to the nation to be used as National Working Capital in maintaining our commercial prosperity.

Every man and woman from every walk of life is interested in maintaining this prosperity. Therefore, every man and woman from every walk of life is personally interested in making the Victory Loan 1919 an overwhelming success.

It will serve to keep Canada in its present place, far up in the vanguard of World Progress.

Victory Loan 1919

"Every Dollar Spent in Canada."

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

WAIT A MINUTE. Education for poor boys in the form of a new college to be opened in the Fall of next year, according to announcement made today by Dr. John F. Carson, pastor of the Central Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, and president of the Stony Brook Presbyterian Assembly. The college is to be erected on the grounds of the assembly at Stony Brook, L. I. and the plan is to support it by endowments from individuals and benevolent organizations. Construction of the necessary college buildings is to be begun at once. These will contain class and lecture rooms and study halls. The existing buildings at Stony Brook will be utilized for college purposes until they are all outgrown. These include a large auditorium which has been used for summer conferences and which will be beautified for a college auditorium. The two established hotels on the assembly grounds will be used as dormitories for the students. Dr. Carson and other supporters of the project believe that the time is ripe for the foundation of a high-grade college for ambitious youths who are precluded by lack of means from attending existing institutions. It is their opinion moreover that the needs of the age demand that such a college for poor boys should be a Christian institution. Therefore one of the essential studies at the new institution will be that of the Bible in which lessons the students will receive examinations. Gathering of Chemists Delegates from Canada, Mexico and several countries of Europe, including the Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, the American Ceramic Society, the American Electro-Chemical Society, and the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry. DEALERS' LUMP ADS TO BEAT MAIL ORDERS Thirty-nine of the leading retailers in Elmira, N. Y., have embarked in a drive against the mail order house through a concerted advertising campaign in which the merits of buy at home are discussed. All copy is signed by the thirty-nine co-operating firms and the half-size displays are convincing. A series of these advertising moves will be followed this fall, each one taking up the phase of a different class of merchandise.

Each Parted With $105
Farwell was said to $105 by Will Witkowski and Nick Smyrko in police court this morning. The money was paid over for the enjoyment they had in what the charge against them termed being under the influence of liquor and scrapping. The performance drew a score and a half of spectators and occurred last evening.

Asked when the fluid that was responsible was secured they replied that "Mike" some Preston man, who was accompanied by two other men in an auto driven by a fourth man, had given them a bottle.

Time Has Been Extended
The events in the market building of the past week, under the auspices of the Musical Society and the I.O. C.D.E. have been very much enjoyed by hundreds of attendants. The carnival and jive dancing have proven popular and the attendance has been steadily growing.

The request has been made by patrons to extend the period for the event and this has been done. On Saturday evening there were a goodly number of attendants and the hours were most enjoyably spent.

The fourteen-year-old son, George, of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hofert of Denison, Iowa left on Thursday last for this city and arrived here last Saturday. Barring the eight-round bout between "Scotty" Limer of Toronto and "Chip" Davis of Buffalo, and the appearance of Matt Hinkel, the famous Cleveland referee, in a Toronto ring, the boxing show at Toro to on Saturday night was a disappointment. What was expected to be the real tit-bit of the evening developed into a farce when Al. Kale of Brooklyn, substituting for "Bobby" Eber, took a beating from "Fighting Dick" Atkins. Kale, who was making his first, and the fans hope his last, appearance in a Toronto ring, refused to take the affair seriously, and made himself obnoxious to the fans by hysterical tactics.

"Scotty" Limer met his match in Davis of Buffalo, who willingly exchanged punches with the Toronto boy and gave him one of the hardest battles of his career. Davis packs a terrific right-hand swallo, and on several occasions he shook "Scotty" from heat to heels. The boys went eight rounds, asking no quarter in spite of nose and cheek. Referee Marsh, called it a draw his decision was wildly cheered.

Producers of raw fertilizer materials are to meet at the Department of Agriculture in Washington today to discuss a scale of fair prices for their commodities.

Leaving Regina today the Prince of Wales and his party plan to spend several days at Qu'Appelle Lake in hunting and fishing.

Sarnia Chief After High Prices.
Chief of Police Forbes of Sarnia announced that he was compiling data, and when he had it completed would, in all probability, ask W.F. O'Connor of the Commerce Board to pay an official visit to Sarnia. His work and information, the Chief stated, was based on prices that he had personally paid, and stated that whenever in Sarnia were practically paying 13 1/2 cents per quart for milk. Vendors of milk, he alleged, were now selling milk tickets at the rate of $1 for 15 pints. The Chief will at once get in touch with officials of the Commerce Board and await instructions from that body prior to entering prosecutions in the Sarnia Police Court.

Will Erect New Freight Sheds.
Secretary Westoby, of the Chamber of Commerce Guelph has been notified by the officials of the C.P.T. that it is the intention of the company to tear down the present freight sheds on Woolwich street, Guelph and erect on the same property new and modern freight buildings. The work on the sheds will begin next spring.

Hamiltonians Offended.
The statement of Thomas Adams, town-planning expert, made before the Women's Canadian Club on Friday regarding asylum in West Hamilton, is warmly resented in Hamilton. Mr. Adams was referring to the community known as West Hamilton, which is no part of the city of Hamilton, and it is felt that, in justice to this city, he should have made this clear as it is a reflection on this municipality, which officials contend is singularly free to a slum district. Furthermore it is stated that West Hamilton itself is as well conditioned as most rural places. Both Dr. Roberts, M. O.H., and Industrial Commissioner Kirkpatrick resent Mr. Adams' statement, and think he should retract it.
