With one of the largest majorities ever accorded a candidate in London, Ex-Ald. George Albert Wenige has been tendered the mayor's chair.

The former councillor for Ward 1 literally swept the city, a veritable landslide occurring in every ward of the city. From the very moment that the railwaymen's poll was announced shortly after 7 p.m., he attained the lead, maintaining the same until the final figures submitted at 1 o'clock the lead, maintaining the same until the fint this morning revealed a majority of 3,133.

Probably the most surprising development of the election was the defeat of all three bylaws submitted to the ratepayers. The proposed city hall was especially mauled by the electorate, to the tune of nearly 4,000 itects and that the best design subvotes against, while the street railway purchase also suffered defeat by 400, spite the efforts during the campaign by Sir Adam Beck, chairman of building. the hydro electric commission. Mayor Wilson and others. The nurses' home proposal was rejected by 1,000 majority.

The five members of the council whose retirement will take effect back in 1912. The people voted $250,-officially December 31 are: H. J. Childs, H. B. Ashplant, L. S. Holms, O. I. Cunningham, S. J. T. Bean, John Ashton and Fred G. Watkinson.

Coles Advises Calling For Competitive Plans For City Hall.

Regret was expressed in som quarters, and satisfaction in others, with the results of yesterday's adverse vote on the three bylaws that were submitted before the people. The overwhelming majority against the purchase of the street railway was a hard knock for proponents of the measure. Sir Adam Beck took an early train for Toronto this morning. An attempt to secure an opinion from him on the trend of the election failed. Officials of the Hydro-Electric Commission informed The Advertiser that he left Toronto al-small elation over the decision of voters in regard to the Spencer site. He said that their verdict was merely a vindication of his stand and showed the consistency of the people this morning revealed a majority of 3,133.

Need City Hall. It is high time that London had a city hall that would be a distinct credit to the city, he claimed. Mayor Wilson, of course, was opposed to the Federal Square, and a staunch supporter of the Spencer site proposition. In the event of the by-law being indorsed it was intended to build civic administration offices on the Spencer site, with the idea of selling it within a term of ten years.

Perhaps the greatest dissatisfaction is felt in connection with the failure of citizens to ratify the nurses' home bylaw.

Tax Payers At Port Give Readily To Win Smiles of Pretty Maiden

No onus attaches itself to the duty of paying taxes at Port Stanley, as many Londoners who maintain summer homes there have discovered. In fact, many declare that it is a positive pleasure.

All mystery in the situation was cleared up however, when it was learned that in place of the usual stern-visaged tax collector, Miss Lena Going, a charming young woman of the village, had been appointed to the position, and it is believed to be the first of her sex to undertake the arduous duties of separating citizens from their tax money. from their tax money.

Notwithstanding the fact that she is a capable young business woman, Miss Going, who from her photograph may be recognized as extremely young and fair, has great difficulty in convincing the less susceptible of the taxpayers that she is a "genuine, honest-to-goodness" tax collector.

However, in spite of the seeming incongruity of the situation, where a pretty young woman wields the heavy club of tax rates over the entire populace, it is reported that taxes are flowing into the village coffers this year with unprecedented rapidity.

An interview with Miss Going through the severe frame of the tax collector's wicket revealed the fact that the cares of her office weigh but lightly on the shoulders her office weigh but lightly on the shoulders

Members From North of Border Young and Well Educated.

By HENRY SOMERVILLE. Cable to The Advertiser—Copyright London, Dec. 5. - Amongst the English public there is already a tendency to look on the Scottish Labor M. P.'s as a group by them selves, distinct in attitude from the party colleagues belonging to the southern side of the border.

The displacement of Clynes by MacDonald is popularly regarded as being due to the solid vote of the being due to the solid vote of the Scottish contingent. It was a new Scottish member, young Mr. Maxton, I believe, who, watching the ceremonial of the royal commission in the House of Lords on Monday, a Dominion of the Empire.

Slight in stature, the pallor and hollowness of his cheeks being emphasized by his abundant raven hair. He carries himself with considerable assurance, and on Monday, his first day in the House, he host for as many years as T. B.

Has Two Distinctions.

Mr. Maxton has two distinctions which are rather common among the Glasgow Labor members. He was in trouble during the war under the during the war under the defence of the realm act, and he is a university graduate. For a speech convicted, and one sequel was that he lost his position as a teacher, under the Glasgow school board. He afterwards earned his livelihood as organizing secretary of the Glasgow Independent Labor Party Federa-

Captain John P. Hay, who was successful in the Cathcart division s like Mr. Maxton in being an alumnus of Glasgow University, and in being a school teacher by profession. He is on the staff of Abercorn school, Paisley, but he has a very different war record. He was doing missionary work in China, when the war broke out, and he left there to oin the army and became an artillery officer in France.

His knowledge of Chinese made im useful to the Chinese corps, and nis helpfulness was acknowle by the Chinese government warded him the order of the Striped Tiger. This explains the O. S. T. which come after his name when he is fully described.

Rev. Camlachie Stephen, who wor Camlachie, is also a graduate of Glasgow University, and after work-ing in the United Free Church ministry for a number of years, he pre-ferred to become a teacher of science under the Glasgow education authority. Thus three of the new Glasgow Labor members are university graduates and school teachers, and two of these have been closely connected with church work. They are not likely to be bolshevist.

Three Are Capitalists. the Empire, as Glasgow is modest enough to describe itself, are capitalists in their degree. Baillie John Wheatley, for Shettlestone, started life as a coal miner, but his natural aptitude for business has made him a very successful publisher and adertisement agent. When he expresses himself economic theory he betrays the fact that he had no orthodox instruction in that science, but in practical matters his judgment is sound, and he is a most resourceful politician. There is no more influential member of the Labor party in Scotland, and it will be very interesting to see whether he becomes a force in Westminster. George D. Hardie, who won Springburn, helped by the fact that he is a brother of the revered Keir he is a brother of the revered Keir Hardie, is a partner in a Glasgow firm of engineers, and was regarded as bourgeois enough for the Liberals to assist his candidature. price than it did in the past. Find New Markets.

Mr. Todd said that centuries ago the countries of Europe began to be over-populated. This was eventually ne by the discovery of Amer ca, where soil fertility was supposed to be inexhaustible. Soil exhaustion has caused the obliteration of many past civilizations, and now it is commencing to be felt even in America.

At first the fringe of the continent terly to the western coast. When the McKinley tariff was pu

With new conditions.

Breed Bacon Type.

It was found that only the Wiltshire type of hog was saleable in England. This is the lean, long variety, which makes the finest dressed meats. But such hogs are hard to breed. In fact, only 1 per cent of Canadian hogs are of the type that finds a ready market in the Old Coun-family. Further, it was discovered that the modern housewife practically refused to purchase the front quarters of cattle, always preferring the hind quarters.

The front quarters of the thoroughbred animal are comparable to the hind quarters of poorer-bred cattle. Therefore, the fore quarters of the inferior sort are not merchandisable.

Therefore, the fore quarters of the inferior sort are not merchandisable. They have to be used only for sausage and in rough lumber camps. The dispropertionate demand creates a particularly high price for hind quarters to repair the deficiency in demand for the fore sections.

A crisis has been reached in the Canadian live stock industry. With importations to the United States lessened and the demand for dressed meats becoming most particular, that is to say, people will only buy the choicest kind, the only solution of the problem is for breeders to employ new measures of rearing livestock, and for the packers to inaugurate new methods of treating the dressed meat. Canada's prosperity depends greatly on whether this can successfully be brought about. A great foreign demand means a thriving industry, and a thriving industry means a boon to the grain producers of Canada a thriving industry means a boon to the grain producers of Canada, and the wealth of the grain men is in pro-portion to the wealth of the country itself.

Mr. Todd predicted that only con-certed effort on the part of the live stock producers of Canada can im-prove the industry and make for na-

Greatest of All Is the Gift of Music

Greatest, because it fills a universal need of heart and home. The trend of the times is to give gifts that are useful and enduring, and here is one that has not only these qualities, but adds to them the charm of sentiment:

The Mason & Risch Phonograph

The Mason & Risch Phonograph represents the highest development of the interpretative musical instrument because it is so built that it reproduces not only the tones of the artists, but the subtle inspiration which marks their efforts.

It is rich and resonant in tone, pure, sweet and vibrant. All mechanical sound is absorbed-only the voice of the singers or tones of the instruments are heard.

Noteworthy, too, are the beautiful cabinets which house these temples of harmony. We have been recognized leaders in the piano maker's art for more than half a century, and each Phonograph of our make shows superlative craftsmanship.

The Mason & Risch Phonograph is sold to you at the lowest price it can be sold, on terms to meet your reasonable convenience.

COVERS AN ELECTION

Tests Efficiency and Esprit de Corps—The Advertiser's Service Last Night.

Any election is always the acid test of a newspaper's alertness and efficiency of organization. People want the results at the earliest possible minute and it is a newspaper's job to meet that demand.

That was The Advertiser's slogan in tonight's election-"as quickly as possible," and every unit of the staff was keyed up to carry it through. This is how it was done.

There were really four staffs at work. Over in the city hall five Advertiser men took the results as they came in, and tabulated and totalled them. Another man sat at a telephone connected directly with an office in The Advertiser Build-ing, and over this wire he poured figures as quickly as they were put before him.

The second staff sat around a big desk at the other end of the direct telephone wire. As the figures came over they prepared comprehensive bulletins, which went upstairs by messenger to the third staff, and to the composing room, where they were made into type for this edition.

The third staff upstairs turned the bulletins into lantern slides, and these were immediately projected on the big screen across the street from The Advertiser Building, where a crowded street followed the results. The whole operation took about three minutes per bulletin.

And all during this performance fourth staff was working at top speed to turn out the regular morn-ing edition of The Advertiser, with which nothing short of a sudden earthquake could be allowed to interfere. This staff not only prepared all corners of the world, in word and picture, at the same time.

Not only were the results given.

but the big crowd outside on the street was kept entertained by a constant succession of pictures and cartoons on the screen. There were war pictures, views of London many years ago, and a series of elever cartoons by "Andy" McGuire of The Advertiser staff. The crowd liked it all, too, and stayed until the last minute, when the lantern flashed "Good-night."

And even then they could go home and read the results at leisure in The Advertiser's "Election Extra," which appeared on the streets with the first definite news of the contest. Here could be found not merely election figures and comments, but pictures of all the candidates, victorious and defeated alike, hurried through to the composing room as the results came ver the wire.

Thus The Advertiser, by careful or-

His case was settled out of court.

Drops From Race But Gets Big Vote

While George Hyatt retired from the race for the board of education before election day, it was too late to remove his name from the ballot. Despite the fact that he widely advertised the fact that he was not to be considered as a possibil-ity, 2,725 persons insisted upon casting a vote for him. It can be clearly seen that had he chose to remain in the field, his election would have been inevitable.

Expresses His Thanks in Interview With Advertiser-Promises "Open Door"-No Animosity.

The distinction of obtaining the first interview with George Wenigg as mayor-elect of London, belongs to a staff reporter of The Advertiser.

Last night when the returns had indicated unmistakably that Mr. Wenige is mayor for 1922, The Advertiser's election extra published the new mayor's first statement on his victory, and his views of office. "The great mass of the people." declared Mayor Wenige to The Advertiser, "irrespective of class or creed have voiced their opinion, and they have spoken so that they can be heard—not only by their lips, but from the bottom of their hearts."

For the People.

"Their answer at the polls today convinces me that they have grown weary of legislation at the city hall for one class, and that they are desirous of a change. As long as I am in the mayor's chair, it will be my earnest endeavor that your civic government shall be conducted along the lines of those famous words: For and by the people."

Door Always Open.

"You will also have a check upon my activities; and furthermore, my office door will always stand open to receive any and all citizens who feel that they have any suggestions to offer or any grievance to register that will be toward the betterment of this fair city of ours."

The Advertiser mentioned the defeated candidate.

"Despite the fact that personalities figured largely in the campaign," replied the mayor. "I harbor no grudge against anyone, and am still etermined that my stewardship as your chief magistrate will be a record of 'fair play toward all and favors

Coming to London 23 years ago, Mr. Wenige went on the road. Previous to that he had been selling icycles all the way from Quebec to Edmonton, and it is a fact that he was just about the first man in Canada to sell wheels in car lots.

Ten years ago the present mayor was in business in Clarence streetbicycle business, of course-and the premises were exactly 12 by 17, so when he had a customer, himself and about three wheels on the premises the place was full. Then in 1914 he put up the new building where he now holds forth. And the putting up was a spectacular affair. The contract provided that it was to be rected in 300 working hours; if it was done in less time the contractor was to get $10 for every hour saved; It took more the contractor was to forfeit $10 an hour. The vote on $300,000 for the nurses' home and the vote on building the city hall on the site of the premises now occupied were decisively beaten, and the vote on the purchase of the street railway, although adverse, gave promise at certain times of being favorable. There can be only one interpretation to all these votes, viz., that the people have turned their back on expenditure, and that attitude can well be passed on to the council. The pressure of taxation is as much the chap who knew just how the as the people can bear, and they voted accordingly. The Advertiser believes that the street railway purchase would have been a move in the right direction. The trouble was that the people got the figures $2,600,000 for a completed road, and it looked too great. warned against doing their shopping in his own business. He is not at early in the morning. A few people all afraid to own up to the fact that do it, and the habit seems to be spreading, but it is dangerous. In the morning hours there are not many people in the stores. Clerks have plenty of time, and the shopper can take her little list from her pocket, wherever that may be and proceed at leisure. This, of course, is highly undesirable.

It is much better to get down in the crowd during the afternoon when the clerks are busy, and when there is the chance of getting into a squabble with some person for having stepped on a pet corn or grabbed the particular monkey that you had an eye on.

Then, again, in the afternoon, or better still in the evenings, just a day or so before Christmas, you are sure to get something you don't want. The size you call for is all out, and you take the next one up or down, knowing all the time that there will have to be an exchange made after Christmas, and people them or getting their money back. It all helps prolong the Christmas

One way to get the shoppers out early is to advise them against it.

The Evening Story

LOVE'S RADIO,

By Clarissa Mackle. "That makes fifteen," said Henry Blake, as he tore up another half-written letter and dropped the fragments into the waste basket. "I'll write one more, and if it doesn't pull through—I'll quit. But there's a jinx on my rations!"

If you had asked Henry Blake why

If you had asked Henry Blake why he didn't walk right up to Adele and put the question to her point blank, he would have told you solemnly that every time he looked into Adele's blue eyes he simply forgot everything he ever knew. "Completely razzled," he would add grimly.

Now he was writing his sixteenth letter. His fountain pen labored stutteringly over the task, just as Henry's thoughts stuttered in hurried confusion. "Dearest Adele"—"Adele, darling'—pshaw! "Dearest"—With a rending of paper the sixteenth letter followed its follows. Henry glared at it maliciously. Then, overcome with a sudden fear that the inquisitive cook, Ah Sing, might discover and hoard these scraps of paper, so that he might pursue his of paper, so that he might pursue his slow study of the "Melican langwidg," Henry scratched the fragments out of the basket and stuffed them into his pockets, to burn at the first available opportunity. Screwing the top on to his fountain pen, he went out into the late afternoon sunshine, determined to find some other way to tell his love to Adele before one of his rivals rode boldly away with the prettiest and most desirable girl in the county.
"Hooray!" crowed Henry, and he rushed to the telephone. The Barton ranch, five miles away, was only one of six on that party line, and as Adele's voice came singing over the wire Henry heard four subdued clicks as the other ubscribers listened in.

"Hello," sang Adele. "That you,

"Yes," said Henry, hot with embarassment. "I wanted to talk to you

"Oh, yes!" invited Adele. "I wanted to talk to you, only I can't because of this confounded bunch of radio fiends listenin' in—three have hung up, Adele—guess the other one is bound to hear—must be Mrs. Fancher —thank you, ma'am," as the fourth receiver clicked.

"Oh, Henry, you are too dreadful," laughed Adele. "Let the poor things listen in if they want to! Suppose you lived on a ranch miles from every-"I do!" yelled Henry.

"Of course—and what were you going to ask me, Henry?" she inquired sweetly. (Henry could not see her tender smile, nor could he even dream that she had sent him a silent kiss into the mouthpiece.)

"Ask you-why, Adele, I just wanted to know if you wouldn't like to ride over to Red Butte and meet me at the waterfall. I'll bring over some roast ears, and we can have a little fire and see the sunset."

"Lovely," cried Adele. "I will make some sandwiches now. Suppose I start at 5 o'clock, and we will meet at the

The inventor who reaps the reward his labor is the exception, Mr. Ford is one of the outstanding exceptions. A minority stockholder in the beginning, he gained a controll-ing interest in a short time through the purchase of the Malcomson stock Some years later he acquired the stock that remained in the hands of its original holders. He paid liberally for it. For every thousand put into the business he returned millions. Whether he believed in stock

He had entered the organization in 1905 as cashier. At that time there were seven men in the office and 70 in the shop. He rose rapidly, coming in time to be charged with the handling of the finances of the company, determining depositories, the placing and withdrawal of funds, as well as having, in a general managerial capacity, to do with the establishing of the general business policies of the company. It would appear that attention to details in business was not Mr. Ford's most distinguishing characteristic in those early days. I have heard Mr. Ford's ability to delegate the doing of things to someone else as one of the secrets of his success. The three waste baskets full of accumulated mail would seem to bear out in part the correctness of the mayor's observation. Mr. Ford said to me at the time I entered the employ of the company, "My idea of a ood executive is that he is a mar who never has anything to do." I didn't take that literally, and couldn't see just what he meant. But

Melbourne Asks County For Damages Over Murrell Brothers' Affray.

Inspector Johnston, who has been in charge of public schools in West Middlesex for more than 33 years, tendered his resignation before the county council at the first session of the autumn sitting of that body on Monday afternoon.

The inspector briefly addressed the chamber. He said that he felt the present the most auspicious time for resigning. Sshool affairs in West Middlesex were never in better condition. Harmony exists among the teachers, scholars and parents alike. The various staffs were all highly competent, and the educational system in the county is in a thriving state. Mr. Johnston said that he was getting old and did not wish to remain chief of the county schools, when it might develop that he could when it might develop that he could not give efficient service. He had no desire to die in harness, but he would always be ready to nelp his successor and render any aid to the county officials they deemed essential.

Never Absent a Day.

Mr. Johnston reminded the councillors that he had not lost a day on account of ill-health during his entire term of office. He said that he wished his resignation to take effect from January 1, next year. On that date

How Mrs. White Will Give a Real Surprise To Her Husband

She knew that he always thought first of her and would far rather see her get a new coat or gown, and wear his own overcoat a year longer. But she didn't want to see him in his old overcoat, so she planned a big surprise! She knew his size, of course. She knew his taste and she knew the suits he would wear the overcoat with, and she just knew the right overcoat would be here. She picked out one that any man might be proud to wear, and it will be hanging beside the Christmas tree on the merry morning.

ST. LOUIS BATTED HIGHEST AS TEAM

Hits Decline in 1922, Show-

A steady rattle of base hits, frequently interspersed with the resounding ized American League games of the season just closed. The advance guard of a new army of extra base sluggers appeared this year and it is largely through the efforts of these new men that the greatly improved pitching made so little impress on the season averages. While a few familiar and honored names head this list, no less than sixteen men in their first or second year are found among the .300 hitters.

This year 12,041 sate drives of as-among the ,300 hitters.

This year 12,041 sale drives of assorted sizes were hammered out of 142,323 times at bat, which is an average of .2844. This is a decline of 484 in the number of hits as compared with 1921 and a decrease in the batting average of about 2.3-40 points, the grand average last year being just under .287. Two-base hits dropped 108 to 2,032; three baggers from 694 last season to 585, but home runs dicreased from 477 to 524.

585, but home runs increased from 477 to 524.

St. Louis, making a valiant bid for the championship, ousted Detroit from lits favorite position as batting leader. The Browns' record is .313 as compared with .316 for the Tigers in 1921, while Boston, low club this season with .263 is 11 points below the Athletics' mark of .274 for last year.

There was a slight increase in the use of the sacrifice to advance runners, 1,582, as compared with 1,651 last year, but there were 12 fewer bases stolen, the figures being, 681 against 693. Whiether the art of pilfering the runner's way from sack to sack is really lost can not be told, for only the fleetest of players are allowed to match their speed and skill against opposing pitchers and catchers and then only occasionally and under exceptional circumstances. The policy of playing for a number of runs in a single attack also accounts for the further decline in the use of the sacrifice, the hit and run play having superseded both the stolen base

Millions are now using this simple treatment to stop pain.
Sloan's, applied without rubbing, penetrates and produces a warming sensation. It stimulates new, fresh blood to and through the aching part. This breaks up the congestion, and since congestion has caused the pain—quick, grateful relief follows.

The world over. Sloan's stops rheumatic twinges and muscular aches. It eases aching backs and sharp, neuralgic pains. Good too, for colds in chest.

Nothing of this sort is possible in a modern "democracy" with, perhaps, several million voters. The modern "citizen's" voice in public affairs is limited to the right to te for one or other of the party candidates put before him. He, or she, is ing of these Greek constitutions, and in to particular the limitation of all power whether in the democracies or the oli osed to have "assented"

A Strange Political Device.

Some democracies (Athens and Mile tus, e.g.) had an institution called the ostracism (from ostrakon, a tile; the voter wrote the name on a tile or shell), by which in times of crisis and conflict decision was made whether some citizen should go into exile for ten This may strike a modern reader as an envious institution, but that was not its essential quality. was, says Gilbert Murray, a way of arriving at a decision in a case when political feeling was so divided as to threaten a deadlock.

There were in the Greek democracies parties and party leaders, but no regular government in office and no regular ition. There was no way, there fore, of carrying out a policy, although it might be the popular policy, if a strong leader or a strong group stood out against it. But by the ostracism, the least popular or the least trusted of the chief leaders in the divided community was made to retire for a period vithout loss of honor or property. Professor Murray suggests that a Greek democracy, if it had found itself in such of deadlock as the British tion of unity between all the Greeks, Empire did upon the question of home rule for Ireland in 1914, would have ostracised Sir Edward heroic epics, and on the continuous Carson and then proceeded to carry out the provisions of the home rule bill. neroic epics, and on the continuous intercourse that the maritime position of the states made possible.

Delight in giving others fright.

—Peter Rabbit Peter Rabbit had spent as uncon fortable a night as he could remem-ber. Yes, sir, he had spent a very uncomfortable night. It was not that that hole under an old stump in the Green Forest near the new pond of Paddy the Weaver was a bad place. It wasn't. It was plenty big enough to be quite comfortable. It was Peter's feelings that made him un-comfortable. That was it. The first screech Yowler the Bob Cat had given when he started after Peter had frightened Peter so that he almost fell heels over head. It was a frightful sound for any one to hear. Then when Yowler had screeched again at the very entrance to that hole and Peter had heard Yowler's sharp claws tearing up the earth in rage it had seemed to him that his heart would thump its way that he was safe from Yowler so long as he remained in that hole, but ever that knowledge didn't make those creeches any less frightful.

Peter would shiver at the thought of what might have happened to him. Then he would chuckle at the thought of how he had saved Paddy the Beaver from Yowler. Then he would shiver again. So for a long time he would shiver, then chuckle, then shiver, then chuckle. It was dreadful to have such mixed feelings.

I put the scroll into my pocket and went out, for a motor-car had come into the park, and I knew that Jonquelle had arrived.

I met Jonquelle and the superintendent in the long corridor; they had been looking in at my interview through the elevated grating.

"Jonquelle." I cried, "the judge was right to cut short the criminal trial and issue a lunacy warrant. This creature is the maddest lunatic in this to start for home. Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisurated Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating, or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antiacid, such as Bisurated Magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestents. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisurated Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.—Advt.

M. JONQUELLE, greatest of French detectives, was called to America and the Oriental rehearsed the story of what took place on the night when the man who could manufacture rubies and emeralds as cheaply as glass, met his death.

EGGS SCARCE ON New York, Dec. 5-Wall Street, 1:80 m.-Extension of the forenoon decline New York, Dec. 5—Wall Street, 1:30 p.m.—Extension of the forenoon decline was quite general, American Hide and Leather preferred losing 4½ points, Great Northern preferred 3, Chicago and Northwestern 3½, and Union Pacific 3 points, but the announcement of the declaration of a 25 per cent stock dividend by Studebaker and the resumption of dividends in Kennecott Copper at the annual rate of 3 per cent, served to stem the tide of selling orders for a time. Studebaker, which had been quoted under yesterday's final figure, immediately mounted to 126½, and Kennecott also scored a rise of a point. Railies in the balance of the list were not important, apart from Keisey Wheel, which rose 4½.

Watchful Care of Health Necessary

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Marvelous Help

Cumberland Bay, N.B.—"I was troubled with weak feelings, headache all the time, a cough, fainting spells and pains in my back and side. I could not do a single bit of work and had to be helped out to the hammock where I lay in the fresh air from morning until night and I had to be carried up and down stairs. After other medicines had failed a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was able to do my work once more and it was a pleasure, not a burden. Now I have a fine bouncing baby' to use the doctor's own words. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was able to do my work once more and it was a pleasure, not a burden. Now I have a fine bouncing baby' to use the doctor's own words. I am able to nurse her and enjoy doing my work. I cannot help recommending rork. My baby is now six wee and is a big, fat, healthy fellow. I am sure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for me and I recommend it to any woman in that condition." Mrs. Murray J. Barton, R.R. No. 1, Cumberland Bay,

Cannot Praise too highly

Winnipeg, Manitoba—"I cannot speak too highly of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was a nervous wreck and I just had to force myself to do my work. Even the sound of my own children playing made me feel as if I must seream if they did not get away from me. I could not even speak right to my husband. The doctor said be could do nothing for me, owing to my condition, but told me to expect another miscarriage. My husband's grand-pound as she said it was excellent for anyone in the family way. Before the first bottle was taken, I could walk alone and as I kept on with it I got stronger until I was able to do all my stronger until I was able to do all my stronger until I was able to do all my stronger until I was able to do all my stronger until I was able to do all my stronger until I was able to do all my stronger until I was able to do all my stronger until I was able to do all my stronger until I was able to nurse her and enjoy doing my work. I cannot help recommending such a medicine and anyone seeing me before I took it and seeing me now, can done for me it can do for any one in the stronger until I was able to nurse her and enjoy doing my work. I cannot help recommending such a medicine and anyone seeing me before I took it and seeing me now, can done and as I kept on with it I got took it and seeing me now, can done and as I kept on with it I got took it and seeing me now, can see what it does for me. What it has done for my work. I cannot help recommending such a medicine and anyone seeing me now, can be for the control of the cont same condition. I am only too pleased for you to use my testimonial." Mrs. EMILY DAVIS, 721 McGee St., Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Found it Great Relief

Chicago, Illinois—"I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all prospective mothers. I suffered from weakness and faint spells and had to lie down twice a day for an hour or so before I could go on with my hour or so before I could go on with my work. My cousin, who lives in Wisconsin, has used your Vegetable Compound for over five years and she came to us for a visit and she recommended it to me, saying she would pay for the bottle if it did not help me. I took that bottle and got more as I found it gave me great relicf. I recommend it to my friends and sisters and am wilto my friends and sisters and am willing for you to use these facts to help others." Mrs. I. J. Kubinski, 1813.

Life and Character Reading. DECEMBER 5.

The people born on this date and under this sign have minds WANTED and under this sign have minds that reach out far beyond the present, and so it comes to pass that a Sagittarius person is often accused of fabrication. These people always mean to tell the truth. All these people are of one thought and one idea at a time.

The governing sign of this date which is responsible for this mediestic mind is Sagittarius, the archer and the last sign of the Fire Triplicity. The governing planet is Jupiter, and the birthstone is a diamond. The astral colors are red, gold and green.

These people are very apt to be misunderstood. They see so clearly, think so quickly, and because of this natural intuition are so sure of be-Poultry Wanted We have a steady demand for good poultry. LIBERALS WIN IN HALIFAX ELECTION

Lose Out in Lanark, R. F. Preston Being Elected Over David Findlay.

TOTAL POLL IS SMALL

Hon. Robert Finn Gains Reform Victory by 1,708 Votes.

Ottawa, Dec. 4.—(Canadian Press.)—Today's by-elections in Halifax and Lanark do not affect the party standing in the House of Commons. In neither House of Commons. In neither of the constituencies is there any party change in the representative chosen. Unless there are developments in the interval, next session will see a house technically divided exactly even, with a Liberal Speaker holding the casting vote. On one side—including W. J. Hammell of Mus koka, who recently renounced his allegiance to the Progressives—there will be 17 Liberals. On the other there will be 65 Progressives, 50 Conservatives and 2 Labor representatives, or a combined opposition of 117 members.

Halffax, Dec. 4.-Hon; Robert E. Finn, Liberal, Halifax, who resigned as minister without portfolio in the Nova Scotia Government to enter the federal arena, was elected today to represent the Halifax constituency in the Federal House by a clear majority of 1,768 over the combined votes of his Independent Liberal and Labor opponents, according to prac-tically complete figures available at midnight tonight. With a total of 9,017 votes he led John J. Power, K.C., 9,017 votes he led John J. Power, K.C., Independent Liberal, who polled 4,877, and James J. O'Connell, Labor candidate, with 2,372.

Today's total vote of 16,266, according to tonight's figures, is about 50 per cent of that polled in the general elections last year. There are about 55,000 names on the lists.

The campaign in the absence of The campaign, in the absence of a Conservative candidate, involved no party issue and did not arouse great public interest.

LANARK GOES CONSERVATIVE. Perth, Dec. 4.—(By Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Lanark re-mains in the Conservative column by a majority which promises to be more than 1,400 when all the votes are in. R. F. Preston (Conservative), in the Ontario government, turned victor over David Findlay (Liberal) after one of the most strenuous by-election contests staged n Ontario in years and the strenuous ever staged in Lanark

The urban sections, namely, Carleton Place, Smith's Falls, Perth and Almonte, went Conservative by large majorities, as also did some of the rural areas. The majority tonight almost cuts in half that rolled up by the Conservative candidate in 1921. The railway vote in Smith's Falls, which was looked upon as one of the big factors in the days of the big factors in the final result, was also was the vote in Carleton Place, the home of both candidates.

U. S. Women Not as Far Advanced.

ATTACKS FLAPPERS

Distinguished Educationist Says Girls of Type Lack Originality.

Women in England are more advanced along political lines than those in the United States, according to Miss Elizabeth A. Drew, honor graduate of Oxford University, lecturer in English Literature at Collegs for three years, head of the women staff, Department of Educa-tion, British army on the Rhine from 1919-21, and several other very earned things.

Miss Drew, who arrived in the city at noon to lecture at 4:15 o'clock be-fore the Women's Canadian Club has been touring and lecturing in United States for the past two months, hence her opportunity for making comparison. Arriving in Canada for the first time on Monday this week, she laughingly refused to make any compromising statements with regard to her "impressions" of Canadian women.
