CITY TO ENFORCE HEADLIGHT LAW

British Regiment Stands Ready As Canton Riots Resumed

NON-GLARE RULE MUST BE OBEYED

Police Launch Drive Against Offenders Under Motor Vehicle Act.

CHIEF IS EMPHATIC

Officers Are Instructed To Make Inspection of All
Headlights.

"It shall be unlawful to carry on a motor vehicle any lighting device of over four candle power, equipped with a reflector, unless the same shall be so arranged, deflected or arranged that no portion of the parallel beam of reflected light when measured 75 feet or more ahead of the lamp shall rise above 42 inches from the level surface on which the vehicle stands."

The non-glare headlight section of the highway traffic act will be rigidly enforced in London, according to Chief of Police Robert Birrell. Police officers were instructed today to make minute inspections of all local cars believed to be equipped with glaring lights. Police court proceedings will be taken against offenders.

Chief Birrell made this announcement today in order that motorists might be duly warned before police action is taken. Numerous complaints received at police station recently have prompted Chief Birrell to take drastic action to enforce the section of the act governing glaring headlights.

Backed by Graydon.

Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon is behind Chief Birrell in his effort to stamp out the glaring headlight menace. He has given assurance that substantial fines will be imposed on first offenders, probably the maximum amount, $10 and costs. Stop signals at street intersections must also be strictly observed. Chief Birrell said today. Officers have been instructed to check up on motorists who ignore the signal. One stop signal in particular, that at the corner of the Pipe line road and Wharfside road, is not being observed. This is one of the most dangerous intersections in the city, and unless motorists pay attention to the police order, accidents are bound to result, he pointed out.

Cards for Drivers.

Elimination of the headlight glare menace is easily possible by police action in the opinion of Secretary Ed. Bernard of the London motor club, who had a conference with Chief Birrell on the subject yesterday.

Mr. Bernard's suggestion was that police officers should stop motorists whose lights are not properly focused, thereby causing dangerous glare, and hand them a printed card stating that their lights need attention, and directing them to an official headlight fitter.

Will Amend Federal Act

Bill To Change Canada Temperance Law Passes Commons.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 24.—The bill to amend the Canada temperance act passed all stages of the house of commons this morning; it now goes to the senate. The bill chiefly affects the province of British Columbia and will give that province the right to prohibit private importation of liquor into the province, except for medicinal, sacramental and industrial purposes.

PLAN TO SHIP BY LAKE ROUTE

Chamber of Commerce Behind
Scheme To Develop Port
Stanley Facilities.

Indications of the great importance which the harbor at Port Stanley may before long assume to London manufacturers and shippers is seen in the effort being made by a Hamilton steamship line to establish connections here for a freight line between Hamilton and Port Arthur and Port William. The proposal was discussed at a meeting of directors of the London chamber of commerce yesterday, and representatives of the shipping concern, known as the Langell Transportation Company, have already made satisfactory arrangements with the London & Port Stanley railway for the handling of shipments to and from Port Stanley to be forwarded by the new water route.

Use of Port Stanley as a port of call by vessels plying east and west from the head of the great lakes will provide London shippers with a medium of transportation. Motor truck shipments have been increasing in popularity recently, but the new rail-and-water route now being inaugurated will be able to compete on a much lower freight tariff. The new service, which will commence operation July 1, will offer London shippers both class and commodity rates to San Francisco, Port William and Port Arthur and beyond.

C. of C. Behind Plan.

The chamber of commerce will do everything possible to develop the use of London's harbor at Port Stanley as a shipping point, and is heartily behind the new company in its effort to establish a service.

Replacement of the old steamer Colonial by the much larger boat, the St. Ignace, on the Port Stanley to Cleveland route of the Western Reserve Navigation Company has been a gratifying incident in the effort to make the harbor a real lake port. This company has already so developed its freight business between the two ports that the volume of freight carried so far this year already exceeds the total carried during the whole of last season. Widening and deepening of the harbor, which will be completed this fall, will enable the largest lake boats to visit Port Stanley, and London through the connection by a municipally owned and operated electric line will to all intents and purposes become a lake port.

Official Frown Quashes Jail Smoking Suggestion

Prisoners "Out of Luck," Is Goldie's Answer to Jury
Recommendations.

Cigarettes will not drop from the lips of jail prisoners now or at any other time, according to Hon. Lincoln Goldie, provincial secretary, who this morning definitely put his stamp of disapproval on the recommendations of three Middlesex grand juries that prisoners confined in the county jail be allowed to smoke under proper supervision.

"They're out of luck," the Hon. Mr. Goldie told The Advertiser. "No smoking will be allowed to prisoners except those who are sentenced to be hanged or men who are ordered tobacco by the jail doctor."

"If you are going to allow prisoners to smoke, why put them in jail at all as a punishment?" queried the Guelph M. L. A. "The rules and regulations are very strict on this point and they must be carried out."

"There is no hope in the future, as far as I can see, of this regulation being changed."

L.S.R. FARE DECISION DELAYED

Board Must Now Probe Precedents Advanced by Railway's Counsel.

ALL EVIDENCE IN

Judgment in City's Action
Against Road Not Expected
For Some Days.

Judgment of the Ontario railway board regarding the city of London's street railway fares protest has been held up, pending investigation of precedents named by E. C. Ryckman, K. C., counsel for the London Street Railway Company. W. S. Coo, who acted as secretary at the railway board proceedings here a week ago, has submitted a verbatim report of evidence to commissioners. No definite date for handing down a decision could be given today.

Mr. Coo stated over long distance telephone from Toronto today that evidence has all been handed in and awaits the judgment of the board. According to Secretary Small it may be some days before a judgment is ready.

J. A. Ellis, member of the railway board, is recovering from his recent serious illness. It will be some time, however, before he will be able to resume his duties.

N. Y. BANDITS GET $200,000 IN GEMS

Perpetrate Robbery of Jewelry
Store as Broadway Is Crowded.

New York, June 24.—Two armed bandits held up the diamond store of Marcus Feldman on Broadway in the theatrical district this morning and escaped with diamonds said to be worth between $150,000 and $200,000. The robbers, with pistols drawn, entered the store and tied up two clerks on duty. They then ransacked the counters, piling diamonds and jewelry into a bag, and made their escape before an alarm was given. The holdup occurred shortly after 10:30 o'clock, when Broadway was crowded.

BOY IS DROWNED.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Thorold, June 24.—Stanley, 8-year-old son of Alex. Morcow, was drowned in the old Welland canal late yesterday afternoon, losing his balance while fishing and falling into the old channel. His body was recovered at 7 o'clock.

NATURE DELAYS POOL OPENING

Dry Spell Lowers River Level,
Necessitating Filter Bed
Change.

Yet more time must elapse before the water can be turned on at the Thames park swimming pool. This time Mother Nature is the one at fault. It appears that when preparations were being made this morning to fill the big tank with water from the Thames, it was discovered that owing to the continued dry weather water in the river is at a very much lower level than last year, so low, in fact, that it will be necessary to lower the filter beds through which water is passed into the pool. This work will occupy three or more days. Speaking of the suggestion of a London citizen that the swimming pool problem be solved by piping water from the sulphur springs at the foot of Dundas street to Thames park, General Manager Buchanan pointed out that the cost of such a scheme would be greater than the estimated cost of installing the filtration plant, and showing baths, each of which has caused all the trouble over the opening of the pool.

"In the first place, the distance between the two points is 2,400 feet and the cost of piping water for that distance would run to over $5,000, in addition to which the water would have to be pumped. Furthermore, the water would be delivered at the pool at so low a temperature that it would be some time before it warmed up sufficiently to make swimming comfortable. We could carry out the improvements desired by the provincial board of health for much less than it would cost to put the sulphur springs idea in operation."

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR NURSES TONIGHT

Empire Event To Be Observed
Here in First United (First Presbyterian) Church.

In memory of the Canadian nurses who lost their lives overseas during the great war, a memorial service is being held in the First United church (First Presbyterian) this evening. This service is being held simultaneously with memorial services throughout the empire, and at the same time as the service in York Minister, England, when the Duchess of York will unveil a window erected to the memory of the nursing sisters of the empire by the international council of women.

The service in this city will be conducted under the auspices of the local council of women, of which Mrs. John Rose is the president. Rev. J. Bruce Hunter and Lieut.-Col. F. Reason will be the speakers.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY MARKS CONSECRATION

Canadian Press Despatch.
Hamilton, June 24.—With the impressive rites of the Church of England and in the presence of a throng of clergymen and laymen from all parts of the province, Very Rev. Derwyn T. Owen was today consecrated as bishop of the diocese of Niagara. The service was conducted by Most Rev. George Thorneley, archbishop of Algoma and metropolitan of Ontario. As sponsors for the bishop-elect were the bishops of Montreal, Toronto and Huron, while the bishop of Ottawa preached the sermon.

BEER SALE SINKS TO LOW LEVEL

Little Orphan, Disowned by Wets and Drys, Barely Exists.

NOW A MONTH OLD

Wets and Drys Alike Look Forward To Drives On 4.4
Beverage.

One month of 4.4 beer finds a situation that in sport parlance would be termed "loafing." Both wets and drys are waiting for the "opportunity" to launch into their respective big drives and all the while, the orphan beer is eking out little better than a mere existence. Local hotel proprietors with a few beverage vendors. Two good reasons are advanced for this rather unpropitious attitude toward the new-come. The first is that beer is still selling at 10 cents a glass, which all agree is five cents too much. The second is that 4.4 tried to masquerade as a strong man, but was found out.

Local hotel proprietors with a few beverage vendors. Two good reasons are advanced for this rather unpropitious attitude toward the new-come. The first is that beer is still selling at 10 cents a glass, which all agree is five cents too much. The second is that 4.4 tried to masquerade as a strong man, but was found out. Even on warm days they have found that business has been only fair. However, July and August are the two big tourist months of the year and all are hoping that the visitors will grasp the waving torch and hold it until an even break may be declared on the season's trade.

According to Lieut.-Col. W. T. Law, president of the city branch of the Moderation League, that body is working quietly but surely toward the downfall of the Ontario temperance union. "The new beer seems to be fulfilling its duty," he remarked this morning. "It is something to the workingman and it has been steadily advanced, and it has offered no redress to the great mass of moderate drinkers. The league is growing stronger day by day and we are working for the importation of liquors and distribution of stronger ale have been granted. The wet chief seemed tickled at the report of the address given by Mr. Gaudin Wright, of this city, president of the Women's Christian Temperance union of Canada, at the prohibition party in Edinburgh, in which she predicted a dry Dominion in the very near future."

"Why shouldn't she say that?" the colonel laughed.

The Ontario Prohibition Union is ignoring 4.4 but is also working quietly, to bring about a state of affairs. "There is no use in fooling around with a little matter," said David Ross, head of the London branch, describes the status of the new beer in prohibition circles. Any way, it is a "very flat beer," Mr. Ross says.

LIBERALS CHOSEN.

Canadian Press Despatch.
St. John, N. B., June 23.—Dr. L. M. Curran, M. L. A., and W. A. Ross were unanimously elected the standard-bearers for the Liberal party in St. John county in the coming provincial election at the convention here this evening. A. F. Bentley, M. L. A., declined to accept the nomination on account of business reasons.

Another Mystery of Arctic Is Cleared Up by H. A.
Snow.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, June 24.—Another mystery of the polar region was solved yesterday when H. A. Snow, big game hunter and explorer, just returned from a two-year's photographic expedition of the Arctic regions, announced the discovery of the remains of missing members of Vilhjalmur Stefansson's North Pole expedition in 1914 on Herald island. Snow's discovery clears up the 11-year-old mystery of the fate of the five members of the crew, one of the two parties in which the expedition was divided, who quit the ice-locked and sinking Karluk and started out on the long trek back to civilization. The first party, led by Stefansson, completed the long journey after terrific hardships. The other party, led by the ship's doctor, was never heard from and relief expeditions found no trace of it.

Snow declared he came upon the remains when he picked up pictures on Herald island, which is about 65 miles from the spot where the Karluk was lost. A half-completed camp at the foot of the island, and a severely built a shelter. He believes the entire party perished of exposure and starvation a short time after they reached the island.

Identification of the party was made positive, said Mr. Snow, by relatives of the men to whom he brought personal effects found on the island near the bodies.

EIGHTEEN DIE IN FIRE.

Associated Press Despatch.

Cairo, June 24.—Eighteen persons are reported dead and two severely injured in a fire that destroyed 350 native dwellings in the Egyptian town of Abu Hammam.

Bandit Chief Slain In Fight

Associated Press Despatch.
Sofia, June 24.—Five of the bandits who participated in the attack on King Boris, near Sofia, in April, were located by police near the village of Balizha yesterday. In a brief, sharp fight, the leader of the band, named Boneff, was killed, but the others escaped. Their identity was established by bones left behind in their flight, including a pair of field glasses which the king left in his automobile after the attack.

Will Advertise on Eiffel Tower

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, June 24.—The French government's need for additional revenue has induced it to grant a concession permitting an automobile manufacturer to use the Eiffel Tower for an electric display advertisement.

The sign will cover three sides of the famous tower, the name of the car extending from the first story to the third.

BUYING OF TITLES TO BE ILLEGAL

Marquis of Salisbury Introduces Bill To Ban Traffic
in Honors.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 24.—The long-promised bill making it an illegal offence to attempt to obtain titular honors in return for money payments was introduced in the house of lords last night by the Marquis of Salisbury, Lord Privy Seal.

The question of trafficking in titles came up in the house of lords early in the day when the Marquis of Salisbury, in answer to a question which had been raised by the Earl of Selborne, said the government proposed to introduce a bill this year with the object of making an attempt to traffic in honors an illegal offence, but he feared the time for the passage of the bill through the house of commons could not be found this session.

Disclosures that honors were being trafficked in were made in the London newspapers in 1922 when Lloyd George was premier and he appointed a committee to investigate the matter.

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY TO VISIT SIR ADAM

Hon. Lincoln Goldie Plans a Trip to London in Near Future.

Hon. Lincoln Goldie, provincial secretary, will visit Sir Adam Beck at his home here within the next two weeks, he told The Advertiser this morning. His trip will be purely one of personal interest in the bygone chieftain's welfare, Mr. Goldie explained, and is not prompted by business reasons.

In announcing his intention to call upon Sir Adam, the provincial secretary evinced a deep regard for the convalescent's present condition. Government officials who have been Sir Adam since his return from Johns Hopkins hospital have told him that he is greatly improved, he said, but he has postponed his own visit until he felt Sir Adam's recovery had reached the stage where interviews would not aggravate his case.

REFUGE IS SOUGHT

British Women and Children
Take Steamer For Hong Kong.

Associated Press Despatch.

Canton, June 24.—Several Europeans were killed and many others were wounded today when fighting broke out between Chinese agitators and residents of Shamen, the foreign concession here. Women and children are fleeing to the U.S.S. Asheville, preparing to leave for Hong Kong. The situation is very serious.

Five hundred British and other foreign women and children left Shamen at 6 o'clock this morning aboard the British steamer Honam for Hong Kong.

A British infantry regiment was ordered to stand by in case of need. The break today came after demonstrators fired in the direction of Shamen yesterday, killing a Frenchman, E. Faucher, and injuring Commissioner of Customs Edwards and V. G. Murrell, a chemist. The latter was shot in the arm. Edwards was wounded in the knee.

MUTINIES INCREASE.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 24.—The Daily Telegraph today claims to have full corroboration of its report of yesterday that "omnibus and serious disorders have broken out in Manchuria and are spreading."

It declares mutinies have occurred on a fairly large scale among the troops of Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian dictator, who is now absent from Mukden. The Chinese paper agents are credited with taking advantage of Chang's absence to provoke risings against him and the foreign colonies.

The sudden departure of Chang Hsueh Liang, son of Chang Tso-Lin, from Shanghai was due to the situation in Manchuria, the paper says, his father having sent him an urgent message to return immediately to deal with the trouble.

SENDS NOTE TO CANTON.

Associated Press Despatch.
Hong Kong, June 24.—The British consul-general at Canton, it is learned, sent a note to the Canton government on Monday, prior to yesterday's shooting incident, warning the Chinese authorities that any attempt to molest British subjects, the foreign settlement, would be resisted by force and that the government would be held responsible for the consequences.

The consul-general said he was drafting the document because he had learned that during a planned patriotic demonstration student elements intended making snatches of themselves by attacking the bridges leading to Shamen.

SERIOUS IN AMOY.

Associated Press Despatch.
Hong Kong, June 24.—The situation in Amoy, a Fukien province, is reported to be more serious, owing to the insistence of the students in demonstrating against foreigners in the international concession.

The Chinese authorities believe they can control the position, but the British and Japanese consuls have requested their governments to despatch warships to Amoy. Meanwhile a steamer is ready to take off the foreign women and children should the necessity arise.

TROOPS DESPATCHED.

Associated Press Despatch.
Hong Kong, June 24.—A detachment of British Indian troops left today for Shamen, the foreign settlement of Canton, as a precautionary measure following the outbreak there.

HONG KONG IN HAND.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, June 24.—Colonial Secretary Amery told the House of Commons today that the British Government has the Hong Kong situation well in hand and is able to preserve law and order there. Foreign Secretary Chamberlain was asked whether he had evidence that the disturbances in China have been fostered or aggravated by agents of another government. He replied affirmatively, but did not specify the government to which he referred. Mr. Chamberlain gave assurance to the House that England is not giving and will not give any support directly or indirectly to any of the rival factions in China.

TRIBUTE PAID TO NURSES' MEMORY

Wreath Is Hung at Tablet of Commemoration in Victoria Hospital.

Uniformed figures, with which mingled interested Londoners, gathered in the spacious hall at Victoria hospital this afternoon where they paid tribute to the nurses of the hospital who served overseas during the war, and who gave their lives in service. The little ceremony was very brief, yet very impressive, and under the tablet Miss Hilda Stewart, who served in Egypt, hung a beautiful wreath in memory of Lieut. Agnes McDougall, London; Lieut. Harriett (Pat) Mellett, London; Lieut. Catharine M. MacDonald, Brantford; Lieut. Dorothy M. Y. Baldwin, Paris; and Lieut. Maude Hanna, Wingham, who died in Christie hospital, Toronto after the tablet had been erected. They are all graduates of Victoria hospital, this city.

The service opened with the singing of O God Our Help in Ages Past, and last post was sounded by Sergt. Warner and his band. The response of the nursing sisters to the call of their country during the period 1914 to 1918 was the theme of a short address given by Rev. J. Bruce Hunter. He told of their contribution to the cause, and of their great help in creating and maintaining the morale of the troops by being a link between the armies and the home ties through their gentleness, sympathy and confidence in the men. "They offset to a large degree the coarseness and brutality of war," he said.

"Secondly," he said, "was their life service. True to their profession they gave themselves unreservedly to the welfare of the others, suffering themselves all manner of privation and need by watching through the long hours of the night in the cold; tramping through the mud while the whirl of enemy bombing planes could be heard overhead, never faltering.

"Many a man is living today because he was nursed back to health and strength by the never failing devotion of the nursing sisters," Mr. Hunter stated.

He further spoke of their sacrifice, the sacrifice of those nursing sisters, 1,500 of which in the British Empire laid down their lives for their country in moments of imminent danger he told the little gathering, they forgot themselves that they might protect their patients.

"Nor do the 1,500 fallen represent the sacrifice," he went on to say, "for who can number the nursing sisters who are suffering from the effects of the terrible ordeal of war."

"It is not too much to say that no one can possibly estimate the invaluable service rendered by the nursing profession in winning for the world peace and good will toward men."

MINERS' RELIEF EUCHRE SWELLS LOCAL FUND

Women's Labor Party Holds Successful Event in East End.

The response which is meeting the efforts of the Women's Labor party to swell the local relief fund for Nova Scotia miners and their families was well illustrated last night, when the social euchre held in the east end town hall attracted 20 tables of players.

The winners were: Ladies, Mrs. J. Brewer; men, Tom White, consolation prizes, Mrs. E. Little and W. Wicker.

After the tourney, refreshments were served. Mrs. Floyd Wells, president of the women's party, was convener of the euchre committee.

16,000 Welcome Returning Danes

By F. A. MacKENZIE. Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News. Copyright, Copenhagen, June 23.—Eight hundred Danish-Americans, arriving to visit the Motherland, were greeted here by twice eight thousand Danes assembled on Copenhagen's quay in a storm, offering them a greater welcome than Denmark has offered any distinguished guests for a generation.

There were no gun salutes and no big military display, but something more moving still, a spontaneous, tremendous popular demonstration of goodwill. The king's guard band played national airs, while Denmark's premier voiced Denmark's welcome home.

BIG POWER PLANT AGAIN OPERATING

Town of New Waterford Again Has Usual Water Supply.

Canadian Press Despatch. Glace Bay, N. S., June 24.—Waterford lake power plant, which was raised two weeks ago, following the pitched battle between corporation police officers and strikers, was partially in operation today. Last evening for the first time in several weeks the town of New Waterford had its usual supply of domestic water. At No. 12 colliery there was a detachment of troops, which arrived there this morning from Sydney. Power generated from the No. 2 colliery plant was used to run the fans at Nos. 12 and 16. Though the damage at the Waterford lake power plant is not as serious as was first indicated it will, nevertheless, be some time before the plant can operate at the normal capacity. How the boilers were under steam today.

Last evening the pumps at No. 2 and No. 9 collieries and No. 4 and No. 11 collieries were started and were in operation today. Pumps were operating at Nos. 4, 9, 10, 11, 22 and 24 collieries. Fans were operating at Nos. 12, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

The old carpenter shop at Bridgeport was burned down last evening, and at 2 o'clock this morning an unoccupied house at McLeod's Crossing, owned by John McLeod, a company policeman, was destroyed.

LONDON FIRM PLANS PLANT AT DORCHESTER

Williams Canning Company Now Selling Stock in That District.

Special to The Advertiser. Dorchester, June 23.—Definite steps for a canning factory for Dorchester have been taken. The Williams Canning Company of London has purchased a site on the south side of the river and bordering on the Hamilton road. The company has been preparing plans and specifications for a large plant, work on which will be started immediately.

Representatives of the firm were in this district today selling stock in the new project and arranging for the purchase of the site. It is expected that some corn and fruit will be handled in the new factory this fall.

MacMillan Exploration Ship Peary Arrives in Sydney Harbor.

Canadian Press Despatch. Sydney, N. S., June 24.—Lieut. Commander Eugene M. MacDonnell of the MacMillan exploration ship Peary, said today that he knew of no further wireless equipment to be sent here for the expedition beyond a party which had been left at Wiscasset when the Peary sailed from there. He said this in response to queries concerning new naval equipment, which it was reported was being forwarded.

CITY CATHOLICS ATTEND LUCAN CHURCH PICNIC

A number of London Roman Catholics left early this afternoon for Lucan where they will attend the big St. Patrick church picnic, using held in the church grounds there.

The afternoon sport list compiled by the rector, Father Hogan will be featured by softball and baseball games.

Judging from previous crowds at this picnic, the attendance will be well over 2,000 people.

DEFAULT JUDGMENT.

Default judgment for $276.88 has been entered in county court in favor of F. B. Smith & Co. against Frank Spettigue. Costs to be paid by Mr. Spettigue were fixed by Judge Macbeth at $21.60. The plaintiff company sued for the amount of judgment for goods sold and delivered to Mr. Spettigue, and for work performed by Buchner & Ramsey acted for the plaintiff in the case.

Explorer Still Dreams of Land Existing Near Pole On Canadian Side.

DATE NOT SET

Trip To Norway Begun Accompanied by One Surviving Seaplane.

Associated Press Despatch. King's Bay, Spitzbergen, June 23.—Roald Amundsen, and the other members of the expedition which recently made an ineffectual attempt to reach the north pole by aeroplane from Spitzbergen, sailed today from King's Bay for Oslo, Norway. They took with them the seaplane which brought them back from the Arctic Circle to Spitzbergen.

The first batch of congratulatory messages was delivered to Amundsen yesterday.

Amundsen told the Associated Press that he looked upon the expedition just ended as experimental, his dream for years having been to make a flight over the pole, landing in Alaska. For this project he had now gathered much additional and valuable knowledge, but he was unable to say as yet when he would undertake the next flight. He said he believed land exists near the north pole on the Canadian side, which he purposes to discover.

His plans for the immediate future have not been decided.

The lost aeroplane, it is believed, has probably been crushed by the ice in which it was left fast, and parts of it may eventually drift westward and be cast up somewhere on the Greenland coast.

LOCAL ASTRONOMERS INSPECT SUN SPOTS

Last Meeting of Season Held at Bird Sanctuary of W. E. Saunders.

Yesterday afternoon, about 40 members of the London branch of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Saunders, Central avenue, from where they went by car to Mr. Saunders' bird sanctuary farm at Pond Mills. Here Mr. Saunders' large telescope was set up and the sun examined for sun spots. The sun is now just entering a very interesting period of sun spot activity, which will continue to increase for the months go by until a maximum is reached in about three years.

A committee convened by Mrs. J. C. Middleton had made ample arrangements for the sumptuous supper which was then served. An exciting game of football filled the remaining short hour till the stars appeared. As darkness came on, the members obtained splendid views of Venus, Saturn, the moon and several of the brighter stars. This is the last meeting of the society before the holidays. The meetings will be resumed in October.

TEACHERS' OVERSEAS TRANSFER HELD UP

No Other Canadian Teacher Willing To Share Trip Abroad.

Present indications are that Miss Annie Clark, Charles street public school, will be unable to exchange with a teacher in England during the coming year.

Two women teachers from Manchester, Eng., applied some time ago for schools in either Hamilton or London, but neither wishes to come to this country unless both secure positions. Up to the present no other teacher in either of the two cities has expressed a wish to participate in the overseas exchange of teachers and thus the outlook for Miss Clark is not very bright.

Administrator G. A. Wheable, B.A., is interesting himself on Miss Clark's behalf, however, and arrangements may be made to grant her wish to teach in England for a year.

ENTRANCE STANDARD AT UNIVERSITY UNCHANGED

Registration For Fall Term at University Has Commenced Already.

There will be no change in the entrance requirements of the University of Western Ontario this fall, was the statement given out by Dr. K. P. R. Neville, acting dean, this morning.

"It will be just as easy to get in this year as it has been others," said Dr. Neville, adding that there have been no changes made in any of the courses or departments.

Registration for the fall term has commenced. Three applications to begin medical courses have already been received from prospective doctors.

Monday is the official registration day for the summer school. Dr. H. R. Kingston, director, said today that applications were coming in, but for the summer sessions the majority made application on the opening day. The lectures begin on Tuesday.

U. S. FEDERAL OFFICERS SEIZE CANADIAN ALE

Rochester, N. Y., June 24.—Nine men were arrested and six hundred cases of Canadian ale seized early today when federal officers swooped down on a group of beer runners unloading the cargo from a launch off Nine Mile Point on Lake Ontario near here. The launch and two automobiles also were seized.

The members of the crew escaped amid a hail of bullets fired by the customs men. The nine men arrested are to be arraigned today. The value of the seized property is estimated at $10,000.

Straw-Hatted Mohammedans Throw Turk Capital In Uproar

By JUNIUS B. WOOD. Special to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News.

Constantinople, June 23.—The Mohammedan men to appear in the streets of the Turkish capital a few days ago wearing straw hats created a sensation almost equal to that when Turkish women discarded the veil upon Turkey becoming a republic.

Protests from strict religionists against the discarded fez hardly started when the chief of police ordered further fuel to the controversy this week. Following a decision for the fezlike cap, which traffic cops have worn from time immemorial.

Constantinople now is the centre of a fervid controversy, with most newspapers in editorial of the curly Turkish type advocating persistent fezzes whether to wear broad-brimmed fezzes.

Examinations Begin With Tests in Grammar, Writing and Geography.

High school entrance examinations began this morning with about 325 pupils writing at seven centers in the city. About 370 pupils were passed into the collegiate upon the recommendation of their principals, without having to write on the departmental examinations.

The entrance exams commenced with papers in grammar, writing and geography and will conclude on Friday with papers in composition, spelling and history. Tomorrow's test will be in arithmetic and literature. Reading will be taken by the presiding officers at any convenient time.

The centers at which the entrance exams are being written and the approximate number writing at those centers are as follows: Rectory, 40; St. Peter's, 41; Chesley, 60; Alexandra, 40; Victoria, 51; Lord Roberts, 48; Ryerson, 40.

Those who are acting as presiding officers are: Principal E. A. Miller, M.A., of the collegiate institute; Principal H. B. Beal of the technical and commercial high school; Inspector J. A. Sullivan of the separate schools; F. H. Galpin, Lord Roberts school; B. Knight, Victoria school; Bro. Philip De La Salle school; assistants, T. H. Willis, Fenwick road; John Campbell, Fenwick road; R. J. Shaw, Lorne avenue school.

The papers will be examined by the London high school entrance board, and the results published early in July.

DR. COLLIP TELLS OF NEW SERUM

Hailed as Greatest Contribution to Science Since Discovery of Insulin.

Canadian Press Despatch. Regina, Sask., June 24.—Hailed as the greatest contribution to medical science since the discovery of insulin, the advance of experimental work in connection with the thyroid gland was outlined by Dr. J. P. Collip, University of Alberta, in a scientific address here last night before hundreds of doctors attending the annual convention of the Canadian Medical Association.

Dr. Collip, who was associated with Dr. Banting and Best in the perfection of insulin, dealt with the physiological significance of the extract with which he ultimately hopes to effect complete cures of six complications resulting from certain operations affecting the thyroid glands.

The researches today, he explained, had been confined to experimental work upon animals, particularly dogs. A peculiar form of convulsion had long been associated with operation on these glands. By injection of the new extract, these severe symptoms could now be completely controlled, so long as they are regularly applied. Failure to administer the injection resulted in a recurrence of the convulsion.

Dr. Collip stated definitely that the extract had not been applied to the treatment of human patients, adding that clinical application of the remedy would of necessity have to be carefully worked out before it could be safely applied to a human being. But unquestionably, he asserted, results already obtained opened up great hope for such as he said suffered with these hitherto hopeless symptoms.

The speaker, who is a member of the medical staff of the University of Alberta, was obtained from the ox, the glands of 300 of these animals being required for the production of one pound of the serum.

SLOTH IN RETURNING EARTH IS DANGEROUS

Philip Lizmore Warned to Give Back Fifteen Loads He Carted Away.

Philip Lizmore, London township teamster, who was ordered to return the 15 loads of earth he carted away from a neighbor's property, has returned five loads, according to County Magistrate Hawkshaw, and unless he gets busy and takes the earth back to its first resting place, he will land in court once more for sentence.

Lizmore, when he appeared at the court house a month ago, stated that he thought he was removing the earth from one part of his own property to another.

The court corrected this idea and allowed him to go on suspended sentence provided he returned the soil. A warrant will be issued for Lizmore's arrest unless he carries out the court order immediately. Magistrate Hawkshaw stated today.

KITCHENER MAN HEADS STATIONARY ENGINEERS

Windsor, June 24.—F. A. M'gug of Kitchener was elected president of the Canadian Association of Stationary Engineers at today's session of the association's annual convention, succeeding Robert McKenzie of Kingston.

B. J. Gordon of Kingston was elected treasurer, and G. A. Brown, Toronto, secretary.

Following the election the delegates boarded a boat for a day's outing at Bois Blanc island.

Churchill Backs CHANGES IN POLICY

Tells Philip Snowden Government Doesn't Believe in Standing Still.

Associated Press Despatch. London, June 24.—The house of commons at its final sitting in the committee stage of the budget debate, which, like the previous sitting of the committee, finished at an early hour in the morning, passed the list of the government's minor amendments this morning. The amendments include provision for imperial preference to imported lace and embroidery.

The discussion on the amendments was responsible for a sharp epigrammatic exchange. The opposition scoffed at the chancellor of the exchequer, Winston Churchill, for changing his mind with regard to his own measure.

"Change is good, if it is in the right direction," the chancellor responded. Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer in the late Labor government, "to improve is to change," countered Snowden Churchill, "and to be perfect one must change often."

WESTERN CANADA TAKES MANY ONTARIO HELPERS

A number of British families, arriving in the city this week, have been placed on farms by John Farrell, immigration agent. One family from Holland was also located on a district farm.

Mr. Farrell stated that the supply of single farm hands recently had not kept up to expectations, a number of the young men having gone to the west, where crop prospects are fairly bright at the present time. This has led to increased demand in western Canada as a number of the expected farm hands were already billed for jobs.

NON-GLARE RULE TO BE ENFORCED

Light testing station where the trouble could be adjusted. The officer would take the number of the car and instruct the driver to report at police headquarters within a certain time to show that he had complied with instructions by having his headlights tested.

Failure to do so would result in the issuance of a summons and a consequent heavy fine. Such action, Mr. Bernard said, would very soon teach the necessity of proper adjustment of headlights.

Not in Focus.

The trouble does not lie in headlights of two great candle power, Mr. Bernard assured the Advertiser today, but solely in the fact that many motorists do not know, or do not care, whether their lights are properly adjusted. The motor club is seeking now to establish here a testing station where every motorist in the district can definitely determine whether or not his lights are properly adjusted. If all headlights were properly focused there would be no need for dimming of headlights on highway when two cars approach each other.

"Dimming, in fact, is criminal, and a worse danger than the glaring headlights," stated Mr. Bernard, "because the human eye is unable to adjust itself to the sudden change quickly enough to meet a sudden emergency." His advice to motorists who are called upon to meet the careless driver with glaring lights is not to attempt to look directly into his lights, but to keep the eyes to the right of the road and to judge the situation on the left hand side to care for itself.

DORCHESTER FAIR MOVE'S BLOCKED

Member of Donnybrook Board Succeeds in Toronto Suit.

The historic Donnybrook fair held on the same grounds at Dorchester for the past 50 years will not be changed, despite the best efforts of some of the members of the North Dorchester Agricultural society.

Frank Neely of Dorchester, one of the members of the society, brought a supreme court action against the directors before Mr. Justice Lennox last March to restrain them from giving up the present site for a 17-acre plot some distance away, and the court has decided in favor of Mr. Neely, according to judgment entered today.

The defendants proposed to purchase the 17 acres at a cost of $2,400, or $200 an acre while the township assessor in the witness box stated that the land was worth more than $80 an acre at the outside price. The land in question was assessed but $40 an acre, he stated.

George Morehead, of Wilmot, Morehead and Neely appeared for the plaintiff at time of trial. F. H. Curran represented the defendants who will have to pay the court costs.

RUSSIA INTERESTED IN SECURITY TREATY

Soviet Government Press Warns Germany To Keep Out of Agreement.

Associated Press Despatch. Berlin, June 24.—The departure of the soviet ambassador, M. Krostinsky, for Moscow, lends color to the opinion generally voiced in diplomatic circles that Russia is much concerned over the proposed security pact for western Europe. Mr. Krostinsky and M. Krassin, the soviet envoys in London and Paris, also have been summoned to Moscow.

Repeated editorial feelers in the Moscow press warn Germany that she risks estrangement with Russia if she binds herself to the western European powers in such a manner as to destroy the relationship brought about between Russia and Germany by the Rapallo treaty, which was negotiated during the conference of the allies in Italy in 1922.

On the German side it is argued that the Rapallo treaty does not forbid an arrangement such as is contemplated by the security pact. On the contrary, it is pointed out, if Germany joins the League of Nations, with which the Rapallo treaty already is registered, she can destroy the united front against Russia because all decisions in the League of Nations are executed by council where Germany will have a seat must be unanimous.

BIG GAINS ARE MADE BY WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

Biennial Convention Is Being Held At Victoria, B. C.

Canadian Press Despatch. Victoria, B. C., June 24.—The afternoon session of the biennial convention of the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada met in joint conference with the provincial convention of the women's institutes of British Columbia. Mrs. D. Watt, Manitoba dominion president, presiding. Mrs. F. B. Fadden, Huntingdon, B.C., welcomed the delegates and Mrs. R. Robertson, Ontario, responded.

The feature of the session was the address of the dominion president, Mrs. Watt, who said a review of activities during the past two years would show a steady increase in the progress of the work during the past two years in its progress through the "progress reports."

Another important matter dealt with was the international position of the present, said particularly by the question of whether Canada should go ahead with the formation of an international organization and call a convention at Victoria during 1926.

The replies given to a questionnaire showed that the members were unanimous that the relations with Great Britain should be strengthened first.

Mrs. H. H. Speckley, Manitoba, corresponding secretary, presented her report. She declared that the "focus point" of all work was the small local institute which acts as an inspiration to a group of social homes, "Enterprise and adventure" were the precise words to describe an undertaking that attempts to reach the individual homes of a membership exceeding 60,000 the secretary added.

BRITAIN FACING NEW LABOR CRISIS

Employers Demand Return To Eight-Hour Working Day.

Associated Press Despatch. London, June 24.—Executive of the Miners' Federation announced after a meeting today that they would make every effort to prevent the longer hours and lower wages proposed by employers in the coal industry. Details of their campaign will not be decided, it was announced, until the specific proposals of the mine owners are known.

Associated Press Despatch. London, June 24.—The prolonged trade depression and consequent steadily mounting unemployment in Great Britain, which have long been subjects of grave concern now have reached a point where a crisis is foreseen.

The laborites mostly put the blame on the government, which they accuse of doing nothing, the employers cite high wages and short hours as among the chief causes of the trouble while the government ministers seem to adhere to the view that they can only undertake active interference at the request of both the employers and workers.

The situation came to a head yesterday with the closing of a joint inquiry by the operators' and miners' representatives into the position of the coal industry, which has been one of the worst sufferers from the depression.

The owners announced they would give formal notice on June 29 of their intention to terminate the present wage agreement at the end of July, and also demanded the resumption of the eight-hour working day, instead of the seven hours now legal for miners.

The miners' executive is meeting today to discuss the situation preparatory to a national conference of miners' delegates fixed for July 3, when the whole situation is to be debated. It is more than early to indicate what will follow, but it is regarded as certain that the miners in no case will agree against the present working hours.

Abolition of the seven-hour day would necessarily be a legislative matter and it is doubtful if the government would agree to introduce a measure of this kind.

Concurrently with the mining trouble, there is a serious unrest among the railwaymen, who are at odds with the companies regarding wages and working conditions. A conference between the employers and workers in this industry has been called for tomorrow.

ELMWOOD CHURCH OPENS ITS GARDEN

Many Spend Happy Evening Beneath Lantern-Swung Trees.

The picturesque home of the Elmwood Presbyterian church, which corners on Cathcart street, was the scene of an attractive function last night, the first garden party held there by the ladies of the church. Japanese lanterns lit up the lovely grounds, where beneath the shadow of old trees festive booths raised their gay counters to the undying of pocketbooks and the sweetening of many a tooth.

Inside the old house, located in the original drawing-room of the home, were found the tea tables, attractive with their centerpieces of sweet peas and mignonette. Here strawberries and tea were sold under the direction of Mrs. A. MacDonald, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Charles Mitchell.

As the guests arrived at the gate of the home, they found there a huge banner bearing the name of the church, welcoming them in. And even before they arrived strains of enticing music led their feet toward the scene of the garden party. Mrs. Reid, Mrs. Love and Mrs. Anderson had charge of the music, the program for the evening being arranged by the choir of New St. James' church and presented from the veranda of the residence. Sergeant MacDonald and his pipe band were in attendance and gave many delightful Scottish numbers.

The program also included two choir numbers, a Scotch medley and "The Song of the Vikings," vocal solos by Mrs. Wilkie, Miss M. Forbes, Miss Kuntz, Chris Fink and Percy King, and a delightful quartet with Mrs. King at the piano.

Mrs. W. A. Reid, president of the Women's Association of the church, was general convenor of the party. Many attractive booths were in evidence. The home-cooking booth was enticing by virtue of its wares and its rose and green decorations. Here Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. C. Baker presided. Other attractive booths were the ice cream and soft drinks, all in beautiful white, and convoked by Mrs. Small and Mrs. George Nightingale; the hot-dog booth, with Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. C. McCallum, Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. C. McCallum; the flower booth, a pretty stall in mauve and yellow, with Mrs. McKone and Mrs. Robert Campbell as conveners.

PRESENTATION AT WAL-LACEBURG.

Special to The Advertiser.
Wallaceburg, June 22.—As a social evening held by the Inner Circle class of the Trinity United church recently at the home of Fred Asseltine, an interesting presentation took place to Mrs. (Rev.) E. F. Armstrong, teacher of the class, who is leaving shortly for Listowel. It took the form of a beautiful boudoir lamp, and was accompanied by the following address: "Dear Mrs. Armstrong—We, your Inner Circle girls, have taken this opportunity of assembling here to spend a social evening and to say farewell to you, our dearest and most beloved teacher. As members of your Sunday school class, we wish to express our gratitude and appreciation for the spiritual and temporal interest you have ever manifested in our welfare during the past years, and during this time you have greatly endeared yourself to us by your amiable character, your earnest devotion to duty, and your untiring efforts to lead us onward and upward. We now ask you to accept this gift as a slight token of our gratitude for your labors on our behalf. Asking God's choicest blessing on you in your new field of labor, we ask you to always remember your devoted

The address was read by Mrs. Vera Asseltine, president of the class, and Miss Jessie Gillard made the presentation. A happy evening was spent in games and contests and delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Asseltine.

EXCITING DAY WITNESSED BY PORT BRUCE RESIDENTS

Small Contingent of Campers Arrive to Open Season at Orendaga.

DAY OF PREPARATION

One of the busiest days in Port Bruce since Christmas was experienced today. Such excitement! The few people in the village who would like to have had an extra nap this morning were rudely awakened by the shrill notes of a bugle, and had they glanced across Cathcart fish creek they would have seen a few odd girls quickly appear on the campus from the tents surrounding it.

Though camp had by no means been officially opened, the tents were being prepared for other campers, who later on in the morning arrived at Orendaga. It was then the camping grounds, guarded by high wooded hills and bordered by a winding river and just as winding a road, came to life, as over the grassy slope canvas-shod feet.

There is no muster time at Orendaga from the first day of camp. Only a few tents are up and ready for use, so it is the duty of the city girl to turn in and work as she has not done before. For the new camper it is a thrilling experience to assist in putting up a tent and staking it, after which boards make a floor. Care not if they fit grass springs, up several inches between the cracks.

Girls Leaving City.
And so while tents were springing up under the trees, a small group of jolly girls were on their way to the lakeside from London, chaparrons, Miss Beesley, McCann, and they had left the morning for Port Stanley, whence they transferred themselves and their great bundles of luggage (the bundle is not a camper unless it is loaded with a truck and started across the lakeshore road for their camping site).

There was really not time for a reception committee to greet them upon their arrival at their destination, but just the same, work was suspended for a short space, while the early arrivals assisted in the preparations for the day.

Then came a perilous moment! For one who has not been used to crossing an expanse of water 30 feet deep on a narrow bridge, there was quite a thrill awaiting them as they boldly set foot on the connecting link between Port Bruce and Orendaga. They even wondered if it would really bear their bundles. But it did. The villagers had outdied it solidly, even though it creaked and shook a little bit.

Friends Soon Made.
It was not long after reaching the opposite shore that the newcomers met many of the girls, and before they realized it, all were the best of friends. A call to dinner was sounded soon after their arrival, and it was answered with a dash to the lodge, where the long tables, covered with shiny white oilcloth and centered with flowers, greeted the hungry little contingent. It was a happy time, that odd about the dinner table, during which singing and yells added much merriment. Then after the stacking of dishes and washing up, the girls were back to work, that their tents might be ready for occupancy by evening.

The afternoon just flew by, and as many of the girls' parents are eating supper in their city homes, and leaving their daughters as "children of the open," and enjoying a delicious, wholesome supper at the lodge. Following supper there will be an hour or so of quiet games, and a short talk, the learning of a few camp yells and songs, and then about a glowing camp fire the girls will rest after a weary but joyous day.

Night Time Welcomed.
Very early will they retire, as it has been a busy day for them, and if the weather is fine and the sky clear, they will be assured of a good rest, even though the night is a bit cool. But should the weather fall, and give the girls a clear night, and instead, shower upon them a blessing of rain, they will not sleep quite so peacefully, as there is nothing so exciting, even though it breaks down the last wall between the strangers in the same tent, as a good rain, that

BOOKS ADD CHARMS TO EVERY ROOM

Julia Hoyt Shudders at Suggestion That All Be Bound Alike.

By JULIA HOYT.

New York, June 22.—I recently read a suggestion, made by some writer in a newspaper whose job it is to make helpful suggestions, to decorating and arranging one's house. The suggestion of which I speak was to have all one's books covered alike, as a part of the color scheme of the room. The writer stated that often books did not fit in at all with the rest of the room, and then told of a beautiful room in which one book she knew who had covered all her books in a chintz that matched the curtains.

Words almost fail me at the thought of such an atrocity, or at the thought of row after row of books bound alike. There is no room in the world in which books are not an addition, to which they do not lend atmosphere and beauty. Books have perhaps more individuality than any other plastic thing, yet beautiful bindings or even ordinary bindings fit in with any color scheme.

An old yet ordinary binding that shows the handling of years and not all the mystery and interest coincident with the thought of the passage of time and other lives should not be changed for the most beautiful of modern bindings. And, of course, when it becomes a question of old leather bindings, there is nothing more beautiful in the world. Any one who has a modern blind put on such a book is entirely lacking in any sense of beauty, and is guilty of what is, in my opinion, a sacrilege.

Embros, June 22.—The W. M. S. of the Embros United church met recently at the home of the Misses Olga and Audin Loveys. Rev. C. T. Caver opened the meeting with prayer. The president, Mrs. Cody, read the scriptures and then offered prayer. Miss Olga Lovey gave a report of the branch meeting, held in London. Mrs. C. T. Caver gave a report of the board meetings held at Ottawa. After the meeting the hostesses served refreshments. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. W. R. Karn.

WARDSVILLE M. B.

Wardsville, June 22.—Recently at the home of their leader, Miss B. Gardiner, the mission band had a social evening. Games were greatly enjoyed. The Banns of Marriage were read. Patch was presented with a Band life membership certificate, which she won by having the most money for her Banns. Bridgette was also presented with a Band life membership certificate and gold pin letter. Freda and Nina Bridgette with gold bracelets. Much regret was expressed for their departure shortly to Ruthven, where their father has been stationed as a minister of the United church.

W. C. T. U. PLANS PICNIC JULY 14

Will Open Fresh Air Camp at Wonderland On July 1.

The Central W. C. T. U. is arranging to hold a picnic on July 14 at the Fresh Air camp, Wonderland, inviting Ward 1 and Ward 2 W. C. T. U.'s to join in the picnic. Decision to hold such an event was made at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Central Union. Mrs. Ida Harrison announced that the Fresh Air camp would open on July 1, and that the W. C. T. U. huts near the Thames Valley golf course would be moved from that site to Wonderland next week. Wonderland was the gift of the city of London and had excellent swimming pool facilities for the children.

Mrs. H. W. Paddell presided over the meeting, which was featured by annual reports from the different departments showing excellent progress in the work.

According to the report of Mrs. Della Cottam, corresponding secretary, the central of London has 128 affiliated members with 81 honorary members, 53 members in the L. T. L. and 23 in the Y. W. C. T. U. The treasurer's report, presented by Mrs. Amy Fadden, pointed to the fact that $1,855.87 had been raised during the year, while the total receipts from all departments amounted to $4,288.12.

An important year has just passed for the social service department, headed by Mrs. Ida Harrison; 339 visits were made to homes, and 323 visitors cared for at the office; 50 girls and 41 women were helped, and 14 families relieved. 48 visits were made to hospitals, the total expenditure of the department being $204.57. Mrs. S. R. White, superintendent of the military department, reported that 68 names had been added from Middlesex county to the Dominion honor roll. Miss Cannell gave an interesting account of the recent county convention at Komoka, and Mrs. John Vale took the devotional part of the meeting.

Arrangements were made to keep the W. C. T. U. rooms on Clarence street open for three days of prayer on July 2, 3 and 4. Mrs. May R. Thornley, Mrs. Flora York Miller and Mrs. Della Cottam were appointed a committee to make arrangements for these days of prayer.

CHESLEY AVENUE CLUB HOLDS SOCIAL EVENING

Mothers Are Hostesses of an Enjoyable Meeting—Other Clubs Invited.

Hostesses of a charmingly arranged evening were the members of the Chesley Avenue Mothers' club last evening, when they held their 10th meeting of the season, and invited the mothers of Empress Avenue, St. Lawrence, and Boyle Memorial schools to enjoy a social evening with them.

Because it was to be a delightfully informal evening, practically no business was discussed, the hostess, president just acted as an announcer of the excellent items on a splendid program, which was rendered during the evening. The numbers were varied, and included dance numbers by Miss Violet Watson and Lenore Mercer, puppets of Miss Nicholson; songs, "London Home," by Captain Wood; several violin selections by Mrs. Armstrong and her pupil, Miss Edith Mayne; and a Hawaiian guitar number by Miss Mildred Yake and Miss Edith Hill. Mrs. Ed. Pellow was also called upon during the evening to take part in a play, "The Girl of the Year," and several impromptu readings. The accompanists were Miss Francis Mayne, Miss Irene Straith and Mrs. Eckstein.

A pleasing feature of the party was the presentation to Mrs. Mayne, the retiring president, of a lovely purse, accompanied by a very complimentary address. A happy and light refreshments were served under the convener'ship of Mrs. Hennerle.

It was announced during the evening that a tea would be held at the home of the new president, Mrs. Owen, Marmora street, on Friday afternoon, and also that the club would hold a social picnic on July 19 at Springbank.

LONDON TOWNSHIP R. E. C.

Bryanston, June 22.—The London Township Religious Education council, after its 10th meeting, convened at Bryanston United church recently. The president, Mr. Homer Knapton, presided at the opening exercises. Fine reports were given by superintendents of departments.

Prof. Fred Langford, of Victoria college, gave a splendid address on Sunday School, Evangelism and the Co-operation of the Home. He touched the keynote, when he spoke of the parents and teachers living in that close fellowship with Christ, co-operating in their work to help the child to become the finest of citizens.

Miss Alice West contributed a very pleasing number. The children's division work was illustrated by Miss Mayme Young, in which she spoke of methods to teach the child correct lessons of the giving of life, so that he might grow in wisdom according to age. Miss Young's equipment for Sunday school work is one of the finest.

In an address given by Prof. Fred Langford, teacher training was stressed. In order that the schools might accomplish their task trained teachers were given by Mrs. J. W. Smith, pastor, had charge of the devotional exercises. Mr. E. Scott, boys' worker, of London, gave "The Boy in the Street," and the great need of sympathy and love from parents and teachers, that the boy might grow in wisdom and stature.

Again Miss West contributed an excellent vocal number.

Professor Langford, in his closing address, outlined the great work being done in Sunday schools of the Dominion, yet in the vast population

PRESENTS TROPHY AT GARDEN FETE

Mayor Officials at Trafalgar Mothers' Club Garden Party.

The presentation of the championship cup to the girls of the softball team of Trafalgar school by Mayor Wenige last night featured the Trafalgar Mothers' club garden party, held in the school grounds. Alderman Robert Carswell made the presentation of the medals to each member of the team.

The setting for this little ceremony was a fairland of Japanese lanterns, gay flags and red, white and blue bunting. Little tables placed about the lawn invited patrons to refreshments, while entrancing music was supplied by the No. 4 Corps Band. Interesting looking stalls were con- tained by Mrs. Arthur Pook, president of the club, who had her sub-conveners: Mrs. F. W. Birch, Mrs. L. Harrison and Mrs. Philmore for the home-cooking; Mrs. Thomas Whit- ney and Mrs. N. S. Mills for the ice cream, and Mrs. Fred Susena and Mrs. A. Hartop for soft drinks and candy.

A delightful program was given during the evening, including attractive dance numbers by Misses Dorothy Vassel, Violet Arbuckle, Nettie Clancy, Marie Fitzgerald, Eunice Foster, Mary Hietter, Ella Johnston, Lucile Morrison, Netta Morrison, Geraldine Smoothey, Peggy Smoothey, and Mrs. A. Hartop, Tuxford, with Miss Gladys Tulles as accompanist.

There were excellent vocal numbers by Fred Dowling and Mrs. Nichol, Mrs. E. S. Little acting as accompanist; instrumentalists by Mrs. Frank Aldridge and Mr. Howard Vine and clarinet numbers by Arthur Pook. Mayor Wenige acted as chairman, presenting the cup to the softball team, which includes: Misses Marjorie Whitney, Alice Pagen, Elsie Coleman, Beth Wilson, Doris Tingey, Bessie Hartop, Evelyn Pearson, Thelma Kellor, Madeline Sinclair, Mrs. E. S. Little, Mrs. Nichol, Mrs. C. Shute and Mrs. E. S. Little.

New York, June 23.—Few women today seek the beaches without two accessories once carried by woodsmen and explorers. One is a waterproof match box. For a girl always can borrow a cigarette must have a match. The other is an indelible lipstick in a neat metal case. With the latter she not only can keep up appearances but can also use it on a desert island by the tide she can write her name on it. Most of them will have to go to a desert island to enforce their wills.

It doesn't come out in the wash. That is the beauty of the new silks now being produced. They are at every summer resort. The designs on the silk do not fade and the silks do not reveal the designs of the weavers or their status in life. The perfect figures of the latest designs.

If Napoleon arrived here today he would find that he was in an enemy country and prepare to fight the battle of Austerlitz all over again. He conquered the white coats of the Austrians, but he would be doomed to defeat if he opposed the white coats being worn this summer for his forces would be far outnumbered.

It is a white homespun trimmed with chestnut dyed silk. It may cost nothing to see an ostrich tail on one's back, but to have an ostrich stole. The new feather neckpieces are so wide that they cannot be wrapped about the throat in the manner of summer fashions, but be thrown about the shoulders. New impetus has been given the vogue for ostrich in England by the birthday gift of magnificent plumes sent by the Prince of Wales to his mother, Queen Mary.

SHOWER FOR MISS BILYEA.

Thorncliffe, June 23.—On Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gleason a shower was held in honor of their niece, Miss Myrtle Bilyea, a bride-elect of June. The choir had a kitchen shower and her Sunday school class presented her with a table reflector and vase. About fifty were present, and after spending a social hour, Miss Bilyea was presented with a clothes basket full of gifts. Much merriment was caused by musical rhymes which accompanied a few of the gifts. The rest of the evening was spent in games and music, at the conclusion of which dainty refreshments were served.

RE-ELECTED W. C. T. U. HEAD.

Edinburgh, Scotland, June 23.—Miss Anna Adams Gordon, of Evanson, Ill., was re-elected president of the World's Women's Christian Temperance Union today.

Of Canada how great the number of children do not attend Sunday school. He emphasized the great need of religious education in public schools. The officers for the coming year included: President, Homer Knapton; first vice, Herb. Forster; secretary, Victor Tackberry; children's division, Miss Madeline Haskett; Jean Stuart, girls' division, Mrs. Woods; boys' division, Mrs. W. Gibson; home department, Allen Needham; teacher training, Miss E. Arslan; president, Mrs. McDougall, E. Hudson; missionary, Mrs. (Rev.) Vance.

There was a good attendance at both sessions. The convention delegates were most graciously entertained at the tea hour by the ladies of Bryanston United church.

Dorothy Dix

"Queer Creatures! No Wonder Men Don't Understand Them!" Exclaims Dorothy Dix.

Are't women the funny things? Consider some of their humorous peculiarities.

A woman who would go to the stake and be burned rather than tell an untruth about any other subject will lie like Sapphira about her age.

There are practically no women between the ages of 30 and 70. No woman admits to being middle-aged. They are all mere girls, or old.

A woman who weighs 180 pounds speaks of herself as having a plump figure, but she calls a 100-pound woman "fat."

A woman who can tell that another woman across the street has her hair dyed, believes implicitly that she fools all other women about her strawberry jam-colored locks.

A woman will refuse to follow a diet, when her physician tells her that her life depends on her doing so, but she will heroically starve herself to acquire a girl's figure.

A woman will have forty mirrors in her house, and spend hours a day looking into them, yet never see herself as she is, or perceive that she is too old and fat, or too old and bony, to wear flapper clothes.

A woman will hire another woman to do her housework, and then pay out good money to take a course of exercises that involve exactly the same motions that are made in sweeping floors and making beds and scrubbing.

A woman who is too frail to keep house, or to be bothered with servants, can walk ten miles in a bargain store, play golf all afternoon, and dance until 2 o'clock in the morning.

A woman who has been an invalid can arise from her bed and go to work and support the family, if the occasion arises.

A girl who has been idle, extravagant and self-indulgent, can marry a poor man and immediately turn into an industrious, thrifty, economical wife.

A girl who has been raised poor, and to work and pinch the pennies, can become after marriage the laziest and most extravagant of wives.

No woman ever admits that she is high-tempered. She has a highly strung nervous organization.

No woman is ever unreasonable. She is temperamental.

No wife will confess that she is cantankerous and hard to get along with. She says her husband does not understand her.

The woman who has hysterics at the sight of a mouse will face a raging lion without the bat of an eye.

The woman who faints at the sight of a drop of blood will face a major operation without a quail of fear.

The homelier a woman is the more vanity she has, and the more she believes herself a living picture. The worse figure she has, the more she talks about her "lines."

Half the women in the world believe they would have made greater actresses than Julia Marlowe, or have been greater movie queens than Mary Pickford, if they had only gone in for the stage or films, instead of getting married. The other half are perfectly certain they could write if they had ever tried.

Women have a talent for misery. Some of the happiest women in the world are those with a secret sorrow that they tell to every one they meet.

In love women put more stress on words than on deeds. A woman will doubt the affection of her husband who is kind and considerate to her, and works himself to death to make her comfortable, if he never says her compliments, but she will believe implicitly in the devotion of the man who tells her how beautiful and wonderful she is, even if he beats and starves her.

Women are, at one and the same time, weak as water, and strong as steel; angels and cats; wise as Solomon and fools; patient and long-suffering, and quitters; faithful and loving, and heartless.

Queer creatures. No wonder men don't understand them.

ONE FRIEND TELLS ANOTHER

The fame of a successful remedy is often spread far and wide by women telling one another of its merits, as is evidenced by a letter written by Mrs. Wm. Risdale, of Mr. Forest, Ont. She writes: "I was weak, miserable and in pain. A friend told me what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for her. I tried it and am now well and strong. There is nothing equal to it for women's troubles." There are women everywhere who have been benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gladly tell their friends and neighbors about it.—Adv.

JUNE WEDDINGS

PERRIN-LINDON.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lindon, Marlborough place, Leamington, was the scene of a pretty June wedding at 3 o'clock on June 20, when their daughter, Miss Mildred Ariene, was united in marriage to Mr. James Harkness Perrin of this city, son of the Rev. L. and Mrs. Perrin, Farleigh Crescent, Hamilton.

The bride, who was beautifully gowned in white georgette and carried a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and bridal roses, entered the living-room on the arm of her father, while the Mendelssohn wedding march was being played by Miss Grace Lindon, sister of the bride. Rev. A. K. Kinder officiated.

The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Bennie, while Mr. Clyde Hatch acted as best man. During the signing of the register, Miss Anna Fraser sang sweetly.

Following a buffet luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Perrin left for Wab-Kon camp, Temagami, the bride travelling in a tweed sports costume and felt hat to match. On their return they will reside in this city.

Among out-of-town guests for the wedding were Rev. L. and Mrs. Perrin of Hamilton, Misses Edna Lindon and Helen Bessie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Furanna, of Grey street, was united in marriage to Mr. John Gardiner of London, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gardiner, also of this city. The Rev. Father Stanley officiated at the wedding mass.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white georgette, trimmed with lace, and caught at the shoulder with orange blossoms. She wore a white net veil wreathed with orange blossoms, and white shoes and hose to match. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and Ophelia roses.

Miss Rose Furanna, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, wearing a lovely gown of sunset georgette trimmed with cream lace and a large white picture hat. She carried an arm bouquet of sunburst roses. Mr. Joseph Latella acted as groomsmen, while Dr. Balogh presided at the organ, and choir furnished bridal music.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where orange blossoms, pink and white peonies and ferns were used as effective decorations.

For travelling the bride wore a smart tailored suit of navy tulle, a fox fur, the gift of the groom, and blonde hat, shoes and purse. After a honeymoon trip to Buffalo and Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner will reside in the city. About fifty guests were present at the wedding.

The groom's gift to the bride was a most onyx ring and to the best man a tie pin.

STEELE-CUNNINGHAM.

Roses, baby's breath and Canterbury bells in pretty profusion decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Cunningham, Dundas street, this afternoon on the occasion of the wedding of their daughter, Hazel Madeleine, to Mr. Archie T. Steele, son of Mr. W. Steele, of this city.

Rev. J. A. Holmes of Sandwich, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony, the bride entering the living-room on the arm of her father promptly at 2:30 o'clock. Her wedding gown was of white georgette, embroidered prettily in silk, and she wore the conventional wedding veil of white net, exquisitely embroidered, and wreathed with orange blossoms. Her flowers were a shower of roses and lilies of the valley. She wore, too, the gift of the groom, a white gold wrist watch.

Miss Frieda Cunningham was her sister's bridesmaid, while Mr. Russell Shaver acted as best man. During the signing of the register, Miss Helen Thompson sang delightfully "For You Alone," while Miss Holmes, an aunt of the bride, presided at the piano.

Following a wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Steele left by motor for Chicago on a honeymoon trip. For going away the bride donned a smart ensemble suit of green and sand, with green georgette hat to match. On their return they will reside on Mount Pleasant avenue. Among the guests were the Rev. J. E. and Mrs. Holmes of Sandwich, and Miss Gladys Raitt of Toronto.

LOSSING-LOSEE.

A very quiet wedding was solemnized on Monday, June 15, at the Methodist parsonage, Burgessville, when Olive Madeline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Losee, became the bride of Reginald Earl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Lossing of Iron Mountain, Mich., formerly of Otterville. Rev. Mr. Shaw officiated.

After spending a few days with friends and relatives in the vicinity, Mr. and Mrs. Lossing will motor to their new home in Iron Mountain, Mich.

BECHELY-WILLIS.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Willis, Goderich street, St. Catharines, was the scene of an interesting event, at high noon, Tuesday, when their second daughter, Olive Elizabeth (Beth), was united in marriage to Francis J. Bechely, D.D.S., also of St. Catharines.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a lovely gown of white ge

LOAM CIRCUIT HONORS REV. LOVE

For and Wife Receive Gifts Before Going To New Charge.

Event of much interest to those in the Sloom Circuit, London Town, was held on Monday night of week, when the members of the congregation of the Zion United Church gathered at the home of Rev. Love and Mrs. Love, and presented them with a Coleman gasoline and a silver casserole.

A few friends from the Sloom circuit were also present and gave Love a Parker duofold set. The following address was read, to the presenting of the for-gifts:

Dear pastor and wife: We, your of the Zion United church, met here this evening in order to say farewell. We cannot let this opportunity pass without expressing to you in some tangible way the love, admiration and gratitude we hold so dear in our hearts for you.

It is a time when it is difficult to express to you our feelings as you leave us for another charge. We leave you with deep interest, and prayers will ever be for your success.

The spiritual inspiration from your path to Sabbath has drawn us to you. We cannot soon forget your unselfish service and labors for us, as you went in and out of us in our sorrows and joys. Your life and influence will ever be an incentive to higher ideals and more unselfish service in the life of Christ.

We will miss you very much, but trust our loss will be another's gain. It is our best wish that you have health and strength to long live in loving service for the Lord. Therefore, we ask you to put this token of love from those who love and know you best. The musical program was given during the evening and included some clever selections. At the close of the evening the guests gathered around Mr. and Mrs. Love and for them a jolly good-bye. It was also unique that Monday evening was also the occasion of fifteenth wedding anniversary of host and hostess.

OLIVE HIVE MACCABEES. Small meeting of the Olive Hive Maccabees was held on Monday, and was decided to close the year on July and August. Plans for the year, to be held probably in August, were also discussed, but final arrangements will not be made until the evening concluded with a half hour.

OSTEOPATHIC WOMEN HOLDING CONVENTION

National Sessions To Be Held in Toronto On July 11.

Members have been notified of the meeting of the Osteopathic Women's National Association, to be held at Toronto, Ontario, July 11.

Women osteopathic physicians and wives of osteopathic physicians comprise most of the membership of this organization. Dr. Jennette H. Bolles of Denver, Colorado, the first woman osteopathic physician in the world, is president. She was a pioneer in the work of measuring and grading children, twelve or fifteen years ago, and had much to do with interesting the parent-teachers' association in such work in the days before it became a government function in connection with most public school work.

The Osteopathic Women's National Association is affiliated with the Federation of Women's Clubs, the International Council of Women, and other national and international organizations working for the betterment of the race. It was represented by Dr. Bolles at the great international women's convention held in Washington, D. C., in May.

Children's clinics and child welfare conferences are among the interests in which the O. W. N. A. is active. One of its foremost projects is at the head of the bureau of clinics of the American Osteopathic Association, and work of this type has a prominent place on the program of this meeting, which is held in the same city and the same week as the international convention of the osteopathic profession.

Drs. Marie and Rebecca Harkins of the St. George apartments are members of this society.

"OUT ELBOWS!" SAY CAPES OF FASHION

Collared "Shoe Is Novelty Which Has Wide Following.

By AILEEN LAMONT. Special to The Advertiser.

New York, June 23.—Out elbows! That is the proper command now when wearing the new evening capes. Women who have been wrapping outer coverings closely about them now walk with hands on hips, distending the evening capes to the fullest. One of the most attractive of such garments seen here is of black georgette, trimmed with long strands of steel beads, steel bead fringes and a broad collar of ostrich plumes.

One striking frock designed for the races at Saratoga later this summer is carried out in tiers of printed chiffon slanting from the left shoulder to the right hip and having the skirt in the back in two tiers. The chiffon is of marigold shade, edged with black and corded with a rose design. The costume is completed by a broad ribbon belt of cyclamen about the hips.

What more appropriate than a mushroom hat on a broiling day? Perhaps that is responsible for the vogue for straw of the mushroom shape which are exceeding their immigration quota into this country from England at the present time. These hats are of woven hemp and trimmed with a wide band of velvet tied in a full bow at the side or awathed with bright-colored georgette. The hemp weave lends itself readily to many colored combinations.

Handkerchiefs have been known for centuries, but collared shoes are a novelty. The newest name for the variegated trimming on the edges of the new pumps is the collar. The Greek key design is a favorite for such adornment, and is carried out in the collar usually as a wide band of the shoe. Nude or beige collars or white lace are frequently seen.

It is hardly possible to find a patch of greensward on a country club property near New York which has not a white coat on it these days. The coat is usually made of flannel, unlined and severe in cut, or of knitted material, with collar and cuffs so constructed as to resemble fur. The thing usually is used in on in the intervals of strenuous sports, is sleeveless and three-quarter length of white flannel.

SHAKESPEARE IS PLAYED OUTSIDE

Players Craft Garden Sees Two Gentlemen of Verona Presented.

Against a green curtain at the end of the garden at Players Craft, Queen's avenue, last night's outdoor presentation of Two Gentlemen of Verona was one of startling beauty. The players were from the Players Workshop and appeared under the direction of Miss Topley Thomas, who also designed the delightful old-country gowns worn.

The stage setting was of the simplest, merely a quaint seat and old mediaeval lantern against the background of green curtain, with the beautiful garden all about. Shakespeare might not have wished for a more appropriate setting for this most delightful comedy. In the presentation, Miss Ina Thrisk, as Proteus, and Miss Ruth Tanner as Julia, stood out by reason of the finish of their acting and the exactness of their interpretations.

One of the loveliest moments of all came with the singing of the Who Is Sylvia? song by Miss Gladys McEvoy, who very ably took the part of the singer; Miss Catharine Forte, as the musician, playing the accompaniment on a stringed instrument.

Others who played prominent roles effectively included: Mrs. Charles Lamkin as Ballantyne, the second gentleman of Verona; Miss Marjorie Partridge as Antonio; Miss Gertrude Dumaresq as Panthino; Miss Jennie Metcalfe as Launce; Miss Helen Holt as Speed; Mrs. Frieda Stephens as the Duke of Milan; Miss Violet Burges as Thurlo; Miss Isabel Davidson as Lucetta; Miss Mary Watson as Sylvia; Miss Dorothea Coleman as Alice Dawson; and Miss Isabel Griffiths as the outlaws.

Miss Topley Thomas was assisted in her work on the costumes by Mrs. Hugh Shuttleworth, while Miss Margaret Strong had charge of the seating of the large audience in the garden.

WALLACEBURG CHURCH.

Wallaceburg, June 23.—The Young Ladies' Mission circle of the First Baptist church held a successful tea and cooking sale, and sale of fancy work and Indian lace in the old Bank of Montreal building, on Saturday.

The tables were prettily decorated with lovely baskets of roses. The following were in charge of the stalls, Mesdames B. Sharen and A. Benson, fancy work; Mrs. M. Fry, Indian lace; Miss Maud Hookwell, convener of the tea room, assisted by Mrs. W. Ambler, Miss Jean Zaritz, Ada McMiller, Maud Martin, Lucy Carey, Bishop, Katherine Howard, Adelaide Knight. The proceeds amounted to $70, which will be devoted to missions.

HOLIDAY AUXILIARY.

Embro, June 22.—The Holiday auxiliary met last week at the home of the Misses Bell and Jennie Hissack. The president, Miss Sarah McCaul, presided. It was decided to hold a lawn social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McDonald on July 3. Mrs. J. C. McCorquodale gave a splendid report of the provincial meetings held in London. Miss Sarah McCaul gave a well prepared paper from the study book. Miss McCaul was appointed as a delegate to go to Blenheim. The collection was $5.75. After the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. J. C. McCorquodale.

ST. MARK'S FETE ATTRACTS MANY

Ontario Hospital Grounds Scene of Successful Garden Party.

The Ontario hospital grounds were en fete last night for the garden party held there by St. Mark's Anglican church. Strings of colored lights beneath the trees, red, white and blue bunting, and Japanese lanterns were used with pretty effect. Crowds attended, buying refreshments from the gaily decorated booths, watching the dancing on the green, or listening to delightful music furnished by the All-Canadian orchestra.

The fete began with the serving of supper, cafeteria style, at 6 o'clock, the ladies' guild of the church having charge, with Mrs. Elizabeth Willis as convener. The booths opened soon afterwards and buying began. The young people of the church and the choir had charge of the evening arrangements, which included a most successful program.

Six groups of dancers, directed by Miss Marion Stark, formed one of the biggest attractions, the numbers including novelty dances, gypsy and balloon dances, as well as many of the national dances. Among the dancers were Misses Thelma Galbraith, Jean Galbraith, Margaret Wood, Bobbie Wood, Ena Goodings, Dorothy Donahue and Dorothy Merrill. The Elite Ladies' orchestra also gave delightful numbers. Rev. A. L. Beverly acted as chairman for the evening.

The success of the garden party was due to the energetic work of the committee, including Miss Louise Dudgeon and Harold Skelton from the young people; Fred Parker and Miss Lillian Moss from the choir, and Mrs. E. Willis from the guild.

The booths were gaily decorated and well patronized, Miss Louise Dudgeon and Miss Marion Morrison being in charge of the fish-pond; Mrs. Reg. Parker and Mrs. A. Evans, of the fortune telling; Fred Parker and Thorald Neilson, of the Aunt Sally game; Miss Winnifred Dunston, Mrs. James Dart and Mrs. Taylor, of the home-made candy; Miss Lillian Moss and Miss Elsie Wright, of the ice cream; Reg. Barker and Harold Skelton, of the lighting of the grounds.

DRAINAGE NOW BEING PROBED

Health Department Strives To Remedy Sanitation
Situation.

River and creek drainage and sanitary sewage disposal in London are being thoroughly probed by the city health department in an effort to adjust the long existing complaints concerning city sanitation.

According to plans of the engineer's department, sewage disposal will be easily 50 per cent better next year when the Wellington-High pumping station and sewage disposal plants are complete, and the duplicate siphon at Evergreen avenue is in operation. Work on these systems will be completed by spring and will materially aid sewage disposal.

Real Problems.

Conditions this year are not denied and with the river a foot lower than for the same time in many years, the city is up against real problems.

This morning the spotlight was turned on the creek at Elmwood avenue and Wharfedale road. South of the creek, sewage is flowing from a storm sewer, and Dr. W. S. Downham, medical officer of health, is trying to trace the source of this. Complaints that sewage is coming from the Emery street storm sewer were made by residents near the covers. Samples of this sewage were taken by the M. O. H. today for analysis.

Tests Are Made.

Tests have been made at the University of Western Ontario, and a fairly efficient means of sewage filtration shown there. According to Dr. Downham, there is no serious trouble at the university, and a complete report of conditions will be made.

Refuse from city manufacturing plants is giving the sewer department a great deal of trouble. In breweries and several plants there is an effluvia much waste which ferments in the sewers and gives rise to much sewer gas. The fermentation period is very short, but its effects have been quickly noticed. Sewer outlets have been affected this year by low water and trenches have had to be dug to keep the flow of sewage to the river.

WOMAN KIDNAPPER GETS 10 TO 50 YEARS

New York Child Disappeared
On March 29—Presumed Dead.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, June 23.—A verdict of guilty was returned today by the jury which heard the trial of Mrs. Jones on a charge of kidnapping Raymond Von Malski, a 2-year-old child. The child has not been seen since March 29 and is presumed to be dead. A sentence of 10 to 50 years imprisonment is carried by its verdict.

TALK OF BAILIFF BRINGS PROMPTER PAYMENTS

Talk of the bailiff and cancellation of deeds has brought many agreements to prompt payment of housing commission arrears. Two nights ago the housing commission threatened to cancel the deeds in three homes, cancel the agreements on four others, and press for payment in more than a score of other instances.

Spontaneous response came to the threat. Yesterday and today a dozen or more delinquent citizens rushed to the city hall to settle their accounts. There are some 170 citizens holding agreements for housing commission buildings, and only 60 of these are reported to be paid up to date.

SHEA BOY'S CONDITION NOT BELIEVED SERIOUS

Patrick Shea, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shea, 709 William street, who was struck by a motor car on Sunday while playing near his home, shows slight improvement at St. Joseph's Hospital where he was taken following the accident.

His condition is not considered serious although he suffers a broken nose and severe face and head injuries.

MONTH'S MARRIAGES MAY BREAK RECORD MADE IN '24

During June of this year 77 marriages have taken place in London. During the marriage month of 1924 there were 92. With a week still left in June this year, there is a good chance to break the record.

The provincial marriage law has not aided Dan Cupid. Most of the marriage licenses issued from the city hall came before the middle of the month, when the law went into force.

YOUNG GIRL AND MARRIED MAN BELIEVED TO BE SUICIDES

Hopeless Love of Sunday School Head Told in Notes.

CAR FOUND BY LAKE

Associated Press Despatch.

Detroit, June 23.—Charles Kirkpatrick, 35-year-old superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school at McGregor, married, and Ruby Bopra, 17-year-old daughter of Simon Bopra, a McGregor farmer, have disappeared, leaving notes that they intended to kill themselves because they were not free to marry. They are believed to have drowned in Lake Huron together.

The notes threatening death were found in Kirkpatrick's abandoned automobile at Forester, on the lake shore and in a boat house from which one boat is missing. Both notes spoke of the hopelessness of their love and of their intention to bridge the barrier by death.

The Bopra girl entered the Kirkpatrick home Monday night as a servant, assisting Mrs. Kirkpatrick in the care of three children. Five weeks ago she left, saying she was going to visit relatives in Detroit. Kirkpatrick left home Saturday night saying he was going to attend a lodge meeting at a nearby town.

Neither Kirkpatrick nor the girl has been seen since. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was reported prostrated today as a result of the finding of the death notes.

SOCALISTS STAND BEHIND PAINLEVE

French Premier Gains Confidence on Moroccan Policy.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, June 24.—Premier Painlevé's ministry has triumphantly survived the first question on which it had been prophesied that the Socialist party would abandon it.

M. Painlevé obtained a vote of confidence on Moroccan policy in the chamber of deputies at an early hour today, the vote being 510 to 30. Instead of opposing the government, the Socialists, with few exceptions, voted with it, and one of the Socialist leaders, Leon Blum, signed the motion for confidence.

ONE MANITOBA CHURCH VOTES OUT OF UNION

Late Rural Returns Swell Union Majority To Large Proportions.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Winnipeg, June 23.—While late returns from country districts continued to swell the majority for church union in Manitoba, one suburban church, at Weston, voted in the negative. It was the first vote recorded against church union in Manitoba, the final count showing a majority of 47 against—the total vote being: "For, 5; against, 52."

A controversial situation prevails at Old Kildonan church, where last night a meeting of 72 members voted unanimously against concurring in union, members in favor of union, supported by their pastor, Rev. D. S. Miller, declared the vote illegal as the meeting had not been properly called, but a statement by Major Rev. W. F. McConnell, dominion organizer of the Presbyterian Church association, stated it was held in accordance with the provincial act.

UNABLE TO SAVE FRIEND IN COURT

Garageman Relents Too Late, After Laying Theft Charge.

George Martin, convicted in this morning's police court of the theft of a steel drill from his friend, Fred Cook, both local garage men, was remanded to jail for one week to await sentence.

In convicting Martin the court was called upon to distinguish between the words loan and theft, or borrow and steal. Although Cook notified the police department that his drill had been stolen, he was inclined to believe it had been borrowed when Detective George E. Walsh and Inspector Lucas located it at Martin's garage yesterday.

A conversation which took place when Cook notified his drill at Martin's place of business resulted in the latter's conviction. At that time an argument ensued, according to detectives and Cook accused his companion of stealing the machine. Martin declared it was his own. He had purchased it in Buffalo.

Cook reluctantly signed information against his friend this morning and stated in giving evidence against his fellow garageman that he was sorry the drill had been found in Martin's possession. He was inclined to believe Martin had intended to return the drill.

Martin himself, testifying in his own behalf, denied that he had told detectives the machine was his own and he had purchased it in Buffalo. "I don't believe a word you say," the court declared at the conclusion of the case. "You know perfectly well you stole the drill. You have been utterly untruthful in your evidence and the theft is all the more aggravated because you presumed on friendship."

MARY MACSWINEY DENIES NUMEROUS PRESS STORIES

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, June 24.—Miss Mary MacSwiney, prominent Irish republican worker returning to New York from a lecture tour, took occasion today to deny certain statements that were credited to her in the press. She was particularly insistent that she had not threatened a hunger strike if arrested in this country and that she would not return to her native Ireland until the country without a passport.

CHIEF JIMMY X PREVENTS THEFT

Industrial Area Plans and
$1,250 Diamond Saved
From Robber Band.

Chief Jimmy X, an Ojibway Indian, born in 1879, last night saved the city hall from burglars.

Sometime between dusk and daylight, the bad man, on mischief bent, entered the courtyard of the city hall. It is related today that these thugs sought to loot the hall of the plans to the city's industrial area and carry away the famous $1,250 diamond.

Treading their wicked way between avenues of dust bins, their naughty countenances masked in darkness and whiskers, hip pockets bulging with tools of the trade, the robber band came upon the window of the city health department.

They paused not a moment, but silently formed a human ladder, with the stout burglar lad just reaching the sill of the window. Extracting a chisel from his waistcoat pocket, that ill-gotten person sought to force the window sash.

He fails. Recalling he draws back a swarthy hand, clenches his bare fist and—bank! An uppercut sends his window glass flying throughout the courtyard. The fell deed is ripening.

Flashing his electric pocket lamp into the dim recesses of city health office, the robber starts his climb and then—a long screech pierces the still night air. In a moment the robber band is in flight and the hall is saved.

BIRTH RATE IN CANADA STILL SHOWS DECLINE

Figures For Month of January
Are Issued by Bureau of Statistics.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, June 4.—The birth rate continues to decline in English-speaking Canada. Statistics for the month of January covering the dominion bureau of statistics registration area, which does not include Quebec, show that in January, 1925, 11,853 living babies, 6,119 males and 5,734 females, were born, as compared with 12,833 in January, 1924, and 14,946 in January, 1923, and 14,256 in January, 1922. The equivalent annual birth for one thousand population for last January was 20.65, in January, 1922, it was 25.8.

BOY SERIOUSLY HURT WHEN HIT BY MOTOR

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, June 24.—Bruce Berry, aged 9, suffered a fractured skull, a broken arm and other injuries when he was run over last night by a motor car driven by William McCrae of Orillia, Ont. His condition is serious.

According to eyewitnesses, the mishap was the lad's own fault. He and a companion were hanging on the tire-carrier of a motor car going west on Queen street, ahead of McCrae's car, when they suddenly dropped off and dived across the road.

The first lad got clear, but Berry stumbled and fell under the wheels of McCrae's automobile before McCrae could stop. The driver notified the police of the accident, and after an investigation had been made he was allowed to go.

Riffians Face Food Shortage

Canadian Press Despatch.

Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, June 24.—The rigid blockade established against Abd-el-Krim by the Spanish and French is reported to have brought about a shortage of food supplies among the rebel Riffians. Reports from native sources say discontent reigns in the Riffian ranks, not only because of the lack of food, but also the cruel measures taken by El Krim to take his position of dominance.

MONTREAL WILL WAGE WAR ON VICE

Judge Declares Conditions
Existing Must Be Stamped
Out.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, June 24.—A new vice war will in all probability result from Judge Cusson's action yesterday in the recorder's court in imposing two maximum sentences of six months with hard labor on women found guilty of keeping disorderly houses, described by the judge as "old offenders." In addition to the maximum sentences, the judge condemned two other women to terms of four and three months, also with hard labor.

When the accused appeared in court their counsel endeavored to obtain their release by presenting various reasons why they could not be committed to jail, but Judge Cusson set aside all pleas and pronounced sentence. Immediately the recorder's court stenographers took the testimony verbatim, announcing their intention of appealing to higher tribunals.

Judge Cusson is taking the place of Recorder Geoffroy, who is on a holiday, and yesterday was his first day on the bench in the recorder's court. He condemned every prisoner brought before him.

Not since the now famous police probe has Montreal's vice area been brought out so prominently into the limelight as it was by his lordship's denunciations yesterday, and it is predicted in legal circles that the sentences he imposed, together with those he unquestionably will impose on persons involved in "red light" cases, have constituted the nucleus of a bitter vice battle.

NAMING OF SECRETARY NOT SEEN UNTIL FALL

Social Service Council Must Choose Successor to Rev.
T. D. McCullough.

The possibilities are that a local secretary for the social service council will not be appointed until some time in the fall.

The position was rendered vacant by the resignation of Rev. T. D. McCullough to accept the pulpit of Knox Presbyterian church, Kincardine.

The recent death of Rev. J. G. Shearer, D.D., general secretary for the Dominion, and the rearrangement rendered necessary by reason of church union, will, in all probability delay the work of the council for a period at least.

Mr. McCullough held the post of secretary here for the past seven years. Certain voluntary work will be undertaken during the summer months by local members of the council and until such time as a permanent appointment is made.

SWING TO BETTER BUSINESS IS FORESEEN BY W. D. ROBB

C. N. R. Vice-President Pays
Visit To Stratford—Says
Comeback Is Certain.

LOOKING TO WEST

Special to The Advertiser.

Stratford, June 23.—The belief that it was time for the pendulum of business to swing back to a period of better conditions was expressed by W. D. Robb, vice-president of the Canadian National Railway, who was in the city today. Mr. Robb is a supporter of the theory that business moves in cycles, and after the depression at present reigning, there is bound to be a comeback. He said he would rather see conditions improving gradually than with a bang.

"The gradual improvement tends to be more permanent than that of the skyrocket nature."

Mr. Robb paid a tribute to Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railway, in speaking of his accomplishments in the time he had been at the helm.

He stated that the eyes of the railroad are fixed on the West, where the progress of the crop is being watched with great interest. A good crop this year will give a needed impetus to the railway, Mr. Robb said, and added that at present the crop conditions are very good.

The immigration plans of the Canadian National Railways this year have not been successful, Mr. Robb stated. Among the adverse features in bringing immigrants to this country from Britain is the fact that pay here is really no higher than in the Old Land, and in Quebec, it is really lower. There are really but two inducements calling the Britisher to Canada, the fact that here he will have his own land, and that he will have something for his children to do.

Although there are many unemployed in Britain, it is hard to induce the agricultural type of emigrant to leave for this country. The dele system was said to be another thing that is working against immigration.

SUPERINTENDENT MEETS MEN ON CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

E. C. Meseroll, superintendent of the Canadian National Railways, met a committee of the employees at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the first meeting of the Baltimore and Ohio co-operative plan.

From now on officials and men will hold meetings at stated intervals to discuss the furthering of efficiency in the shops. Briefly the co-operative plan is an endeavor to bridge the gap between the company and the employees; to get the best out of the men and ideas put into practice for the betterment of the railway.

Canadian National officials as well as employees are enthusiastic about the plan believing that anything that can be done to further the interests of the road directly affects their earnings.

FOUR "NO TURN" SIGNS SUGGESTED FOR CORNER

London Motor club officials are forwarding to the local police department a suggestion for the improvement of present traffic conditions at Richmond and Dundas streets. The suggestion is that signs indicating no left hand turns or no turns, or the case may be, be placed on all four corners instead of only two as at present. The club also suggests that if possible these signs should be printed horizontally instead of vertically as the present signs are difficult to read at a glance. Of this number 150 passengers were bound for Alaska, while the remaining 75 were making the Vancouver-Prince Rupert leg of the famous Triangle tour.

Riffians Face Food Shortage

Canadian Press Despatch.

Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, June 24.—The rigid blockade established against Abd-el-Krim by the Spanish and French is reported to have brought about a shortage of food supplies among the rebel Riffians. Reports from native sources say discontent reigns in the Riffian ranks, not only because of the lack of food, but also the cruel measures taken by El Krim to take his position of dominance.

POLICE FROLIC AT THE TEA HOUR

"Bottle, Bottle, Who Has Bottle?"—Jake Ginsberg
Sells Idea For $200.

Jake Ginsberg's home at 98 Cence street was the scene of an happy event yesterday afternoon at the tea hour, when Inspector Lucas of the London police department and five of his subordinates dropped in for a pleasant "around."

Formalities were cast aside, and Mr. Lucas read in leger phraseology from a long roll of paper, commencing at police headquarters a search warrant, but accepted by Ginsberg as a genuine R. S. V. invitation.

Then the party commenced. Spinning events were indulged in as Inspector Lucas and his uniformed federates played "bottle, bottle, has the bottle?" Mr. Lucas was cleared the champion, having managed to uncover three glass receptacles from their place of hiding. The laurels of the winner were taken from him, as other uniforms discovered bottles which contained similarly appearing liquid, but which, tasted, proved to be a word of jesters generally ending in police invitation.

L. S. R. CONTINUES TROLLEY PROBE

Company Finding Is Expected
Before End of Coroner's Inquest.

Inquiry by the London Street Railway company into the trolley smash at Springbank last Wednesday night has not yet been completed and no report is yet available at the company's offices. Leonard Tait, general manager, is out of town today. Supt. Harry Humeston stated this afternoon that there is still evidence to secure and it is unlikely that a finding will be made before the conclusion of the coroner's inquest into the death of Charles Hoskins, former assistant inspector.

The wrecked cars are still in the company's yards and are undergoing extensive repairs. It will be several weeks before they are again ready for operation.

A successor to Assistant Inspector Hoskins has not yet been appointed.

Punishing Children.

A case tried in London's juvenile court resulted in a father being sent to jail for thirty days for beating his eight-year-old son because he disobeyed his father's order not to go swimming.

A father is quite within his right in telling his son not to go swimming, especially a lad eight years old, and in case of disobedience he is also justified in punishing the child. In this particular case it was the degree and severity of the punishment that rightly claimed the attention of the court. It requires rare judgment to know how to inflict punishment on a child in such a way that it will be of actual benefit to the child, for that should be the motive. Punishment that is inflicted because a parent is angry, and that has for its end simply the establishment of the principle that the father is king around the house, is plain nonsense and horseplay.

A good many people have laughed at the idea of punishing a child hurting the parent as much as it does the one receiving the punishment, but parents to whom the welfare and future of their children is the greatest thing in life know for a certainty that it is a very real fact.

The London man who got himself in trouble did what others have done, turned to severe and heartless corporal punishment. He may in that way have created fear in the mind of the child, but he certainly did not establish love and respect. He did not leave the way open for that great experience of the taking up of the cross and leadership of his son on a new and better basis after the affair was over. He was wrong, primarily because he punished his son from a sense of anger, and not from a motive of love. And there's all the difference in the world between the two.

Public Service Well Performed.

The claim has been advanced, particularly by Aldermen Bottrell and Douglass, that because the city council is responsible for finding the money to operate amusements in the parks that control of such activity should come under council jurisdiction. The point that will interest citizens is not in a division of authority as between public utilities and council, but first of all in seeking to know if there are any prior rights whereby the public utilities control parks, and secondly if the utilities commission is functioning properly and making the parks of the greatest benefit to the people. The second consideration is probably the more important of the two, because if it were not being well carried out there would be good reason for making an immediate change.

Springbank is London's greatest park. It was secured by the waterworks department in the first place as a source of water supply. When the waterworks department grew into the utilities commission the property went with it. It was paid for out of the earnings of water rates, the roads, lighting, etc., were put there in the same way. It is a beauty spot in every sense of the word, well-kept, well-managed, and acknowledged to be the finest park in Western Ontario. The old waterworks property across the river was last year turned into the Thames Valley golf course; it could not possibly have paid last year because there was a large outlay in making the golf course; this year it is crowded and will be a producer of revenue. The utilities commission were certainly alive to an opportunity when they made that development.

Thames park was also secured primarily as a place to get water; it was not paid for in taxes. Victoria park was given to the city by the government. The utilities commission have put in the conveniences there, as well as the lighting system, and there has been no charge made for that or for the water used there. It is a spot that speaks for itself, one of the most outstanding downtown parks in Canada. In the winter time a section of it is flooded and it becomes one of the best free skating centers of the city and is used by thousands. That is a good way to use a public park, for beauty and rest in the summer and for safe, healthy outdoor sport in winter. The utilities commission place the services of its executive staff at the disposal of the parks without making any charge.

Having in view the length of time these properties have been under the control of the utilities commission, and before them the waterworks department as far as Springbank is concerned, and also that the work of upkeep and development has been remarkably well carried out, it is difficult to build up a good reason for making or even suggesting a change. What is needed more is wholesome co-operation between the council and utilities commission. They have nothing to war over, but many things on which to agree and exercise mutual helpfulness.

What Canadians Can Do.

A. E. Dawson is now head of a well-established insurance company, with headquarters in Toronto. Twenty years ago he landed in Canada, got off a train at Lakefield, Ont., because he didn't have enough money to go any farther. He started down the country road "looking for a job," and his capital was twenty-five cents. A milkman picked him up, took him to his brother's farm, where he got his "job" at $10 per month.

When farm work was through Dawson went to Peterboro and found employment helping to put in stone foundations for houses; this paid him $1.50 per day, and when he was working at that an insurance agent came along and tried to sell him a policy. Dawson talked so intelligently that the agent picked him up and started him off at insurance. His first prospect was a farmer who was engaged spreading manure, so was too busy to talk. Dawson got a fork and worked with him and stayed until the day's work was through, when he carried away the man's application. Today he is general manager of an insurance company.

MacLean's Magazine tells the story well, and it appealed to us because it was a story of Canadian achievement. In the same issue is a recital of the progress of C. J. Mitchell, Dahinda, Sask., three times winner of the world's sweepstakes in wheat. Twenty years ago he landed on the prairie, and in order to find where his land was tied a handkerchief to the front wheel of the hired buggy, and by counting the revolutions calculated the whereabouts of his claim. Seager Wheeler, Rosthern, Sask., is also mentioned, and he should be because for five years he was the champion wheat grower of the world. More simon-pure Canadian accomplishments, in spite of the fact that in the first three years Wheeler was frozen out of his crop twice, but that was before the days of Dr. Saunders' Marquis wheat.

Canadian people should get more of these Canadian accomplishments. There are men of the Dawson type, who have had a real business romance in this country, but they hesitate to let it be known that they were down on a shoestring basis, and because they do not like publicity we have been often spending our quota of admiration on industrial or business successes in United States.

There is a wide difference between boasting of what men have been able to accomplish here and a plain, wholesome recital of the steps they took in order to succeed. No man wants to feel that he is being held up as a shining example, but there is an urgent need that young Canada get the idea on its vision that there is a future for them in this country, and they must also get, as a running-mate to that, the other great truth that hard work, more hard work, and the ability to face hardship is the price of success. MacLean's Magazine did a good piece of work in putting these Canadian successes up where we could all have a look at them.

The Men in the Background.

When Amundsen was on his polar expedition he depended on aeroplanes. There was no ship for a base from which he could make excursions on dog sleds, starting out with a well-provisioned supply. Each mile he flew north took away his power to go farther north or to return home. Each gallon of fuel cut down the possible mileage that could be made on the return trip.

When his machines were forced to land they did so in places that could hardly have been more unsuitable. Lanes of water between banks of ice that threatened to move together and crush the invader. There was one thing on which life or death depended, and that was the trustworthiness of the engines. Any person who has had experience with an internal combustion engine in cold weather knows something of the hazards of the situation. That plane, within an hour's ride of the north pole, had to start just at a time when there was an opening through which it could rise, and it did.

Back of such a performance there must have been honest work, fine technical skill. The man who designed the motors put all he had into his work; the men who made the castings, tested the steel, milled the parts—all these operations were thoroughly done. Not at any stage was there the attitude, "I guess that's good enough."

We haven't heard much about these men. They were not featured in the stories—they are probably working away in the shop as usual, doing the same kind of work, yet these men made it possible for Amundsen and his men to get out of a situation that had death written all over it.

It happens that way many times. Some of the most outstanding things accomplished have been made possible because a group of men some place in the background have done their work remarkably well.

A Second Start.

Toronto court had one of those peculiar cases to settle where a young wife persisted in living with her parents and her husband wanted a home of his own. It couldn't be settled out of court, so the husband applied for custody of the baby boy and his claim was allowed.

When the father walked across the courtroom, armed with the judge's decision, and took the child the mother followed, making the very sensible remark, "I go where my child goes."

Now let her get away from her former home and start in an establishment with her husband. It's the proper way to do business, and chances are if it had been done in the first place there would have been no court proceedings. It takes a mighty big house at times to hold two families and make a happy job of it.

Note and Comment.

What will take the smell of onions from the breath? Leeks.

Well, one thing is certain, a stranger in this town never has to look around long to find a gas station.

Canada had one bank failure in 1923 and we're still working on it. During the month of April United States had forty-five.

Begins to look as though Great Britain's control of the crude rubber supply of the world was going to help pay off the national debt. John Bull may not move very fast, but when he does make a move there's a real bump in it.

Seldom has summer-time tragedy reached out a more withering hand than when it took the lives of three Hamilton boys on Sunday morning, when they were paddling a canoe on the bay. Strange coincidence seems to have outdone itself in this case, for the three boys were all 17 years of age, sons of three widowed mothers and employed by the same firm.

The Swimm'n' Hole

Yes, things is changin' mighty fast, and hifalutin' style is here, and bathin' in a swimm'n' hole would seem to folks most mighty queer.

It's strange how times is changin' now in everything we go to do, folks seem to work on overtime a-thinkin' of some way that's new. Why, even when wee Johnny swims he does it in a built-in tank, and not like what we used to do, a-sidlin' from the clay creek bank.

And they have got to have a care if there are microbes in the pool, and if the water in the place is not too hot and not too cool. Likewise they have professors now to teach them all the newest strokes, it's quite a business in these days, this swimm'n' of the younger folks.

It didn't use to be like that when I went swimm'n' years ago, there were no folks around the spot to give direction to the show. Just outside town there was a creek, not rushin' on like rivers do, but just a plain and muddy creek, the water was a brownish hue, and where it bent around some trees that hung a-droopin' on the bank, right there was what the boys about was usin' for a swimm'n' tank.

And in that hole was other things, blood-suckers and a crab or two, some snappin' turtles lived in there, they'd well-nigh bite a leg in two. And so before we went in there we'd have some stones and rocks about, believin' how a show like that would scare these snappin' turtles out.

The way we learned to swim was crude, for when we went down to the pool, the bigger fellows from the town they used to come there after school. And they would take us shiverin' kids and heave us in our naked skin, and when we got ducked in this way why we could either sink or swim. There were no lessons in them days on how the youngster should begin, but I remember most of us just somehow struck about to swim.

We didn't have a towel down there, nor was there any dressin' shed, nor was there any lookin'-glass to part the hair upon our head. For most of them could 'tend to that before they'd past the age of five, so that they'd part their hair just so from takin' on the dead-man's dive.

We had a little fire, that's all, not that we needed any heat, because a red-hot coal was good to take blood-suckers from your feet.

Of course such ways as that are crude, scarce fit to write on decent scroll, but still we had a fair good time when we went to that swimm'n' hole.—ARK.

Seeking and Serving

A wise and noted king once wished,
And mine his wish shall be,
'Twas that he'd ne'er have riches great,
Nor feel deep poverty.
I do not ask the beggar's lot,
Nor crave I untold means;
I'd like to have a quiet place
Between the two extremes.

If wealth and honor come to me,
In God's unerring plan,
I'll humbly take them from His hand
And be a grateful man:
Yet, I'll not grieve if I'm not known
To earth's remotest ends;
I'd rather have my neighbor folk
Mine everlasting friends.

I have no quarrel with those who seek
The honored seats of state;
I envy not the few who win
Both these and riches great:
But I am more concerned by far,
As days go swiftly by,
The help that I to men can give
I'll ne'er from them deny.

It pleases Providence when we
Entreat His give to bleeding hearts
The tender, healing touch.
If, thus, I'll spend the fleeting years
Then, when this life shall end,
They who have known me best will say
Mankind has lost a friend.

COMMONS DETERMINED RELIEF MUST BE GIVEN AS ORIGINALLY PLANNED

Government Disputes Senate's Powers To Change Bill and Is Backed in Stand by Huge Majority Vote When House Divides 131 to 19—Conference Will Be Called If Upper House Persists in Course.

PREMIER ANXIOUS TO GIVE HELP THIS YEAR

By E. C. BUCHANAN.

Special to The Advertiser by Staff Correspondent.

Ottawa, June 23.—As anticipated, the government has declined to accept the Senate's radical amendments to the bill for the relief of the Home Bank depositors, and in this refusal it was supported by the House of Commons tonight by a majority of 131 to 19. The 19 who voted against the government resolution endorsing the amendments back to the Senate were mostly Conservatives, including Mr. McKeighan, the remainder being Progressives.

An issue was raised in the House over the resolution because it set forth the reasons for rejection of the amendments, these being that constitutionally the Senate had no power to vitally alter money bills. Mr. Meighan and other Conservatives vigorously denounced the resolution, maintaining that the Senate had not exceeded its constitutional authority.

Plan Aid This Session.
The opposition leader charged that the government was attempting to base a constitutional battle on the bill.

The prime minister assured the House that the government was proceeding in the usual way and that its purpose was to secure relief this session for the Home Bank depositors.

The outcome of the situation is now uncertain. If the Senate, in view of the large majority in the commons, decides to meet the wishes of the Lower House, the matter may be quickly disposed of. If the Upper House adheres to its amendments it will send them back to the commons and then, in accordance with constitutional procedure, a conference between representatives of both houses will be arranged.

Should such a conference prove necessary and should it fail of accomplishment, the government will be at liberty to take emergency action in behalf of the bank depositors that its critics have maintained it should have taken in the first place, namely, that of bringing in a supply bill over which the Senate would have no jurisdiction.

Progress Expected.
The Senate meets tomorrow at 11 o'clock, when the resolution for the commons will reach it. It will not likely take long to decide whether it will modify its amendments or stand by them.

Progress, therefore, should be made with the matter tomorrow.

Premier King stated in the course of the discussion tonight that the government was determined to do everything possible for the Home bank depositors at once. It intended, he said, to stay here till it got as much as could be got in a constitutional manner for those in whose interests it had brought in the legislation. "If the Senate is slow in action, we will still be here waiting its decision," he said.

Much of the opposition criticism of the government tonight was on the contention that the provision for the Home bank depositors should have been included in the estimates, where it would have escaped the interference of the Senate. The prime minister was charged with inconsistency in having previously expressed a desire that the Senate should have a voice in amending the bill it had.

Listen From Galleries.
Many members of the Upper House listened to the debate from the galleries.

In the afternoon, the House gave third reading to the grain bill, which is now ready for the consideration of the Senate.

THE OBJECTIONS.
Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 23.—Hon. J. A. Robb, acting minister of finance, in his motion moved in the House of Commons this afternoon gives the following reasons why the House should disagree with the senate amendments to the Home bank bill.

"1.—Because the said amendments, which consist in changing the title and adding a preamble as well as new clauses, are foreign to the bill passed by the House of Commons on the 10th of June, 1925; the said preamble setting out that certain representations have been made to the government-in-council and that the government's moral responsibility to the Home bank depositors is not admitted, and also defining the principle on which pecuniary aid may be afforded to a limited number of creditors—thereby giving expression to recitals on behalf of the cabinet and the House of Commons, which have not been authorized either by the government or the House of Commons."

"2.—Because clause 2 of the bill,

BUILDINGS BURNED IN STRIKE AREA

Washhouse Destroyed by Fire at Cape Breton Mines.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Sydney, N. S., June 23.—The British Empire Steel Corporation washhouse at No. 15 colliery, in the New Waterford district, was destroyed by fire early this morning. Fire also started in the stables at No. 14 colliery, but the flames were put out by a quick turnout of the men stationed there.

It is not known how the fire started, as there were company men at both places. Otherwise all colliery districts reported quiet last night and this morning.

No. 13 local in the Glace Bay district reported today that it had rejected the corporation terms for a settlement of the strike, made through the minister of labor on his recent visit here. This makes seven locals to reject the proposals. There are about 24 of these unions in the United Mine Workers in Nova Scotia which are affected by the wage and general contract disagreement between the corporation and miners, which has caused a cessation of work for upwards of four months.

No word has been received from International President John L. Lewis, it is stated, concerning the corporation settlement terms.

In the meantime, the proposals are not being officially announced, although it is known they include a wage decrease from the 1924 rates and some other items which the miners have so far found unacceptable.

MOTOR SHARES AGAIN ACTIVE

Pools Extend in Chemical, Sulphur and Tobacco Stocks.

New York, June 24.—The forenoon operations indicated that pools were extending their activities to new quarters, with chemical, sulphur and tobacco shares showing pronounced strength. Formation of new holding companies and the reported organization of new super-power systems have attracted the public's attention to renewed activity. Motor shares also displayed more animation in squeezing of short accounts in these issues following a 1/2 point rise in Maxwell B. certificates. At the same time, Texas Gulf Sulphur, call money, rose 4 1/2 per cent.

RAILROAD BONDS SHOW LOWER TREND IN N. Y.

Long Term Government Bonds in Demand—Market Appears Uneven.

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, June 24.—Buying of long-term United States government bonds today contrasted with scattered selling of various railroad public utility and industrial issues, giving the market an uneven appearance.
Demand for the later maturities in the government list lifted the two treasury issues and the first and fourth Liberty 4 1/2's to a new high level.
Prospective disbursement of large semi-annual interest payments on July 1 already has begun to attract new issues to the market.
The price trend of railroad obligations today was toward lower levels. St. Paul, Missouri Pacific and Chicago and North Western were the only ones that yielded to mid-level selling pressure. Sinclair, Shell and other oil issues continued to show ground, and the copper issues encountered profit-taking.

BUTTER AND EGGS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 24.—Butter receipts of butter were 2,299 packages. There was no important change in the condition of the market, which remains well maintained for all grades, with a fair amount of business passing for export account, and the market in this respect was moderately active, but there was no improvement in the demand from domestic buyers.

JUST ANOTHER DAY JUST ANOTHER LOSS FOR KNOTTY'S COLTS

Pete Harris Hangs Up Ninth
Victory With 9-0
Win.

FOURTEEN HITS

Every Tec But Pitcher Connects For One or More Hits.

Yesterday was just another day, another defeat for Knotty's Colts. It brought Lefty Harris' ninth win and a 9-0 lopsided dash, and definitely established London back again on the second rung as Bay City obligingly lost to Flint.

Harris allowed only six hits, and only two of these went out of the infield. The Tec's cuffed 14 blows off the defense, and yet plenty of the affair after the first three frames. The fans took victory for granted, but to the everlasting credit of the Leemans, they presented no crumbled front to the spectators. They bore the brunt of a jaunty fighting air after all the defeats they've suffered. Although at no time were they dangerous, they presented a fierce sort of determination that did not go much below the surface, and yet plenty of teams, subjected to the steady diet of defeat, which has been the Colts' lot, would wilt and show.

Deloit had plenty on the ball—too much for control, but it wasn't enough to stem the steady dribble of hits all in one direction. Had the Colts been able to get to Harris for any sustained amount of hitting it would have looked like a different ball game. But Deloit can't be expected to pitch base ball all the time and pitch merely for variety and then win ball games.

Every Londoner got a hit, except Pete Harris and Murphy, robbed him of one the eighth. Two walks started Deloit off badly in the first. Stimpson's infield hit filled the bases and Cross was hit to force a run. Brower's first of three hits for the afternoon scored two more.

Kernan's single, Klein's triple and Harris' sacrifice fly counted in two more runs in the third, and this led to the fourth after his single and counted in by Sandquist's single. A walk to Stimpson in the eighth, a sacrifice by Cross and Brower's single counted in another run in the eighth. The Tec's filled the bases, but Deloit grounded out.

The north field bleachers saw little of Knotty yesterday, as a little work for his single and counted in the eighth, a sacrifice by Cross and Brower's single counted in another run in the eighth. The Tec's filled the bases, but Deloit grounded out.

With two gone in the ninth Knapp ventured an infield hit, but Earl Brown forced him to end the game.

N. HURON TORIES SELECT SPOTTON

Convention at Wingham Sharply Divided—Methods of Candidates Condemned.

Special to The Advertiser
by a Staff Reporter.
Wingham, June 23.—George Spotton, Wingham, will contest the north riding of Huron in the forthcoming federal election as the candidate of the Conservative party.

The choice of Mr. Spotton split the convention held here this afternoon almost squarely down the middle, the whole spirit of the meeting being such as to presage disaster to the party if union is not attained within the ranks, and that right speedily.

Hugh John A. MacEwan, mayor of Goderich, secretary of the riding association, was the man who pressed Mr. Spotton for the honors, the vote standing 137 to 110. The tie at the 1921 convention between these two same men, when Mr. Spotton won by only three votes, only to be defeated in the election by John Warwick King, Progressive of Bluevale, by 1,500 votes, was reflected in every action at today's convention, more particularly on the part of Mr. Spotton, who was most zealous in seeking the nomination.

Stansell Swings Wildly.
John L. Stansell, M.P., East Elgin, who was the chief speaker, blamed the present government for the country's tremendous debt, for the Canadian immigration to the United States, for the deserted farms and vacant houses in the country, for the heavy taxation and the unfavorable condition of industry, and a host of other ills as well, under which he claimed the Dominion is laboring at the present time. Mr. Stansell admonished the Progressives for following "the wrong policy," affirmed that the national policy of protection is the only one remedy and the best solution of all Canada's political problems, and that the Conservatives are the only party to lead the country out of its morass of debt.

Cecil Bateman, Ethel, one of the four nominees who withdrew, stirred up some enthusiasm by proclaiming that the "Union Jack is good enough," but won only sectional applause from the crowded hall for his comment that the men selected should stand "four-square for prohibition."

Later a resolution was adopted strongly condemning any move to change the flag, but the attempt of John L. Stansell to have the candidates for the nomination their personal stand on the prohibition question was headed off and finally shouted down from the floor of the convention.

Deplores Wirepulling.
Thomas G. Allen Duggan, who was nominated, but withdrew, berated the system of nomination in use and more especially the system followed in the riding, of men going up and down canvassing right and left, "wirepulling and stuffing a convention," as it was hinted one of the nominees had done.

John J. Larkin, M.L.A., North Huron, who was nominated, also withdrew, but in doing so took occasion to plead for party solidarity in the riding.

P. R. Wigle, Goderich, M.L.A., Center Huron, who was nominated, also withdrew, taking a crack at the tariff, immigration, embargo on pulpwood, exportation of hydro-electric power, etc. Mr. Wigle held that "a tariff

LEAF'S SHOT OUT BUFFALO BISON

Kelly's Ten Homers and Double Drive in Seven
Runs.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 23.—Joe Kelly's bat was mainly responsible for the 14 to 0 defeat that the Maple Leafs handed to Buffalo here today. Kelly hit two homers in succession, and also doubled in seven runs. Carlie also hit a homer.

In an exhibition game played after the league contest the Detroit Americans had little trouble defeating Toronto by the score 12 to 3. Kelly batted the last two innings for the Tigers, and held the Leafs to one run. Howie, manager of the Leafs, batted for Glaser in the ninth and popped to Cobb for the final out-out. Manush had two homers for Detroit and Kelly got one for Toronto, his third of the afternoon.

CANADIAN ENVOY TO BE NAMED SOON

Premier King Hope: For Appointment Immediately
After Prorogation.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, June 23.—The question of the appointment of a Canadian envoy to Washington was again brought up in the House of Commons this morning, when S. W. Jacobs (Liberal, Etienne Cartier) inquired whether it was the intention of the government to fill this office at Washington during the coming recess, or to let the matter go over until after the general elections.

Premier King in reply stated that he had every hope that the appointment would be made shortly after prorogation.

LAWN SOCIAL NETS $125.
Exeter, June 23.—On Friday evening lawn street union church will hold a strategy festival on the church lawn. The local orchestra will furnish the music.

Mr. Spotton objected to the men named by the chairman on the credential committee, and proceeded to nominate a man of his own choice. He protested against the officers voting, though they have done so for years, and he finally named himself as one of the scrutineers, when asked to select one by the chairman.

At the close of his address and again after the result of the vote was announced, Mr. Spotton called for the resignations of all officials of the riding association not in sympathy with him as candidate, "in order that men can be appointed who will do the work to be done."

Mr. MacEwan avoided the personalities into which Mr. Spotton waded so deeply during the entire convention, and confined his attention largely to political affairs in the country at large.

Doesn't Blame Meighen.
He asserted that if "affairs continue as they have been doing, Canada will become merely an adjunct of the United States," and that "Mr. Meighen has grounds for being gloomy and pessimistic about the country."

Stating his belief that "the 1921 election had been absolutely thrown away," Mr. MacEwan urged his efforts on behalf of the party for the past twenty years as meriting his selection as the candidate at the present juncture.

Peter Scott, Belgrave, the president of the association, acted as chairman of the meeting, which was decidedly unruly, and which, despite the presence of a number of ladies, got almost beyond control at times.

On the Side Lines
With C.S.G.

Knotty Lee has a ball team—all but pitching—and there are plenty of experts who claim that pitching is 75 per cent of baseball.

An Oshawa woman won a side-car race against a male speedster the other day on the Oshawa track. She probably started out as a rear seat driver.

Players still argue and get themselves kicked out of ball games, but the fans are far more tolerant toward umpires than they used to be. It is as well perhaps that players do forget themselves occasionally, as otherwise baseball might achieve a rather workaday aspect. Kicking against decisions seems to be an integral part of baseball. This is shown by the fact that disputes still delay even intercollegiate games between the big colleges like Yale and Harvard, despite the fact that a few years ago, the baseball committees of these centres of learning got together and agreed that baseball needed a refining touch, and it was agreed that decisions of umpires would not be disputed. Decisions in football and any other Varsity sport are accepted without demur.

Fans have come to appreciate the umpire's task. They appreciate it, rub their eyes, and they throw their caps in the dust, stamp their feet, throw wild talk in all directions in approved sandlot and professional style.

Even at Tecumseh Park the quantity and quality of umpire balking has changed within the last ten years. The fans may jeer at the umpire, but there is not bitterness and edge to the remarks, and far from the same tone of conviction with which charges used to be hurled.

The umpire is still quite loyal to the home team, but not quite so blindly partisan nor so quick on the throw as they used to be. Whether it's for the best of baseball or not, it is better for the umpires.

IN ANCIENT TIMES.
In the old days, the umpires used to carry indicators in one hand and their lives in the other.

MAUD S.
Tillsburg, June 22.
"Dear Sir.—To settle an argument, will you please give the speed record made by the famous trotting mare Maud S. about forty years ago, and oblige."

Answer.—Maud S. trotted a mile in 2:08 1/4 in an old high-wheeled cart.

HOMILETICS—MOW

The title of this puzzle is the solution to a word or group of words appearing in this puzzle. Can you find them where they belong?

Each word reads from left to right (horizontal), or downward (vertical), according to position. Lettered in correctly, words that cross will interlock. Each number in the white squares also refers to a definition in the accompanying table.

Each definition suggests a word possessing the exact number of letters to fill the white spaces allotted to it.

Each white space is to receive one letter only. Words start only in numbered spaces.

CITY MOTOR CLUB NOT AFRAID OF COMPETITION

Talk of Rival Organization Is Not Regarded by Secretary as Serious.

Secretary Ed. Bernard of the London Motor club is not worrying over the proposal, said to be circulating in some quarters of starting another motor service club in opposition to the Ontario Motor League.

The mere fact that it is proposed to have a fee of only $1 a year is sufficient evidence, he believes, that the new organization will not last long if it gets started at all.

The club affiliated with the Ontario motor league, Mr. Bernard asserts are all operated on a purely service basis. There is no thought of profit to any individual or organization, and the membership fee of $5 merely covers the bare cost of operating the club offices, erecting signs, printing route cards and all the other services which a motor club performs for its members. For an additional five dollars a club furnishes members with emergency road service, that is it provides free towing service with a certain radius for members whose cars may have become stalled or disabled owing to accident.

In this particular also the club aims to give service as near cost as possible. Presently the club is levying towing charges much in excess of the five dollars paid by the member. In view of these facts Mr. Bernard is of the opinion that a club operated on a basis of $1 membership would find great difficulty in accomplishing anything worth-while for the benefit of its members.

Furthermore, the secretary of the local club points out, the clubs affiliated in the Ontario motor club having during a long period of years been forming reciprocal relations with other clubs all over the country, and are thus able to give members a service which no new organization could possibly hope to do.

EDMONTON PRINTERS
STILL OUT ON STRIKE

Canadian Press Despatch.
Edmonton, Alta., June 23.—The strike of members of the staff of the Edmonton Bulletin, who belong to the International Typographical union, which commenced last Friday, is still unsettled. Both the strikers and management of the paper are standing firm, and from present appearances there is little likelihood of an agreement being reached in the immediate future.

Brownies 8 to 5

Result Gives McCormicks a Chance To Tie Series.

Smallman & Ingram Thistles, cellar occupants of the major girls' softball league, caught the Brownies way off color last night and handed the former Ontario champions an 8 to 5 trimming. Solid clotting by the Thistles and eight miscues by the champs enabled the store girls to get a toe-hold in the winning column.

The defeat of the Brownies gives McCormicks, who meet Rideau Halls tonight, a chance to tie up the first series with a win.

Robins and Giants Divide
Double-Header in New York.
PHILLIES WIN TWO

Chicago, June 23.—Chicago made it two straight from Cincinnati by winning today's game 6 to 5. The batting of Adams and Brooks and the fielding of Pittsinger were features. Grimm was ordered out of the game by umpire Wilson for disputing a third strike called on him.

Robins and Giants split. New York, June 23.—After dropping the opener of a double-header to the Robins today 8 to 5, the Giants won the second game by the same count. Dazzy Vance allowed the New York club but six hits in the first contest and fanned seven batters.

Phillies take two. Philadelphia took both games of a double-header from the Boston Braves today by scores of 7 to 3 and 9 to 0. The first game was the third in the series, in which the visitors scored five times. Ryan was hit hard in the eighth inning of the second game, and the Phillies continued their attack on Genevieve. New faces were seen in the Boston lineup: Bill Vargue, formerly of Boston College, pitching; and Francis Hogan, ex-Somerville high school star, getting in as a pinch-hitter.

St. Martins last night moved into second place in the Holy name league at Sunshine park by defeating St. Martins 4-3, in one of the best games this year. Although the game was a close one, it was the result of a hard-fought battle.

St. Martins started well in the first frame, mainly through St. Martins' error. The south-enders got one of their backs in their first inning and two more in the second, and here they stopped. St. Martins came back with another error, every one of them. The last three frames went scoreless.

St. Martins' error, the youngest in the league, gave a remarkable performance, which found its climax when an O'Donnell to St. Martins' double-play killed off a St. Martins threat in the fourth inning. St. Martins at short for the losers started in the field as well as setting two of the south-enders' hits. St. Martins' triple, McGuire St. Martins' fielder hit a home run in the third.

Comets Tonight

Group "B" Leaders Out To Cinch Title.

The Pirate juveniles, leaders of group "B" of the Elgin-Middlesex league, will take on the St. Thomas Comets in a league fixture at Queens Park here tonight. The local youngsters have a big lead in the league, but the Comets have been threatening to shove them off the top rung.

The St. Thomas kids have a real outfit and should give the locals a battle for the honors. They are next to the Pirates in the standing and have been coming up fast after a bad start. Rumble may be the choice of Manager Hendry to turn back the Comets, but in view of his fine showing against the St. Thomas Yammies last Friday, Evans may be given the chance to show his stuff to local fans.

TANK THOUGHT EMPTY, EXPLODES, KILLING MAN

John Monaghan Struck Match
Igniting Latent Gas Near Grimsby.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Grimsby, June 23.—John Monaghan, aged 26, was instantly killed this afternoon when an acetylene gas tank exploded in a hardware store at Grimsdale, three miles from here.

Monaghan had been painting at his home nearby, and went to the store for some supplies. While there he offered to assist in repairs being made to the gas generator and was over the tank when it blew up. His head was caught between the top of the tank and the joint of the lower floor.

The generator had not been in use for a long time, and supposing it was completely empty, Monaghan struck a match. Some latent gas ignited, blowing the tank upward against his head.

Three-Run Rally In Ninth Puts Athletics Out Ahead

DIAMOND GLINTS

Two games today. If the Londoners win the second, which is a replay of the first, the Athletics will have won the last series between the two.

Knotty tried out the loud-speaking tubes yesterday, and he should be in form today.

Knotty took a look around the park yesterday in the fifth and observed "Everybody's here now, let's start!"

Ashley answered the clarion call by striking out, and the Athletics have been put in a position to win the series.

Loopp again contributed some nice fielding and so did Murphy. Loopp had his back to the stands when he struck out, and the Athletics have been put in a position to win the series.

PASTORS CHOSEN FOR NEW CIRCUIT

London Conference Commission
Meets in Melbourne
United Church.

Special to The Advertiser.
Melbourne, June 23.—A commission from the London conference met this morning in the Memorial United church, here, to rearrange the circuit. This was necessitated when some of the charges were left without preachers through the consummation of union.

The commission recommended that several changes be made. Those were left with the commission for final arrangements. Melbourne, Sutherland, Cooks, South Caradon, Riverside, and Middlemiss will become a pastoral charge, with Rev. G. W. Oliver and Rev. J. J. Colling, both of Melbourne, in charge, preaching alternately at each of the churches. Financial arrangements were left to the local official board.

Dinner was served by the women of the church after which a United meeting was then held in the Guthrie church, which was filled with ministers and delegates from the surrounding district. Rev. William Beattie, D.D. of London, presided. Over 150 sat down to supper, which was served in the church.

MINISTER AND M. L. A. MAY NOT HAVE DEBATE

"No Excuse Left For Him,"
Says Rev. B. Spence in Telegram.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Windsor, June 23.—Frank W. Wilson, local M.L.A., has made his final effort to induce the Rev. Ben Spence to debate the merits of prohibition. Today he declared against a meeting at which admission tickets are necessary.

In a lengthy telegram, Rev. Mr. Spence, secretary of the Lord's Day alliance, said that he had done his utmost to suit Mr. Wilson's convenience, other than coming to Windsor to hire a hall for him.

"I have left him absolutely without an excuse," Rev. Spence's telegram asserts, "and I do not know anything further humanely possible that I could do. If he backs down now, he backs down publicly, and his action is tantamount to an open confession that all objections he has urged have been a camouflage to cover up a retreat. I did not invite the challenge, but unequivocally accepted it."

LEADERS COME THROUGH AFTER BEING BLANKED FOR EIGHT INNINGS.

Associated Press Despatch.
Philadelphia, June 23.—After being blanked for eight innings, the Athletics made a rally in the ninth and scored three runs to beat Boston, 3 to 2. Bill Bagwell pinch-hitting for Rommel in the ninth, hit to left for two bases, sending the tying and winning runners across the plate after two were out.

FITZSIMMONS CHASES DEMPSEY TO EUROPE

Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, June 23.—Floyd Fitzsimmons, owner of boxing arenas at Michigan City, Ind., and Benton Harbor, Mich., will sail for London next Saturday in an effort to sign Jack Dempsey for a championship contest in this country in September or during the late fall.

Fitzsimmons said late today he had received cablegrams from the heavyweights, Dempsey and Knott, who were encouraging enough for him to make the trip. He will meet Dempsey in London on July 4.

If Fitzsimmons fails to arrange for a fight, Dempsey's manager will attempt to arrange a fight with Knott for one or two fights. The Michigan City promoter is figuring on a match between the French light-heavyweight and Young Strubling.

REALTORS' RALLY
DRAWS THOUSANDS

Ontario Men Take Prominent Part in Discussions at Detroit.

Special to The Advertiser.
Detroit, June 23.—The Realtors are prominent at the Detroit convention, the largest gathering of real estate men ever held. Over five thousand delegates are already registered and more are coming. The registration bureau had to close temporarily for lack of equipment. Realtors from Toronto, Hamilton, Windsor, Port Arthur and Brantford are taking a prominent part in the deliberations of the national association of real estate boards, which opened in Detroit today.

Lieutenant-Colonel Goolwin Gibson, of Toronto, is chairman of the property management division. At an open session, Mr. H. H. Davis, of Toronto, spoke on the rights and duties of property managers, stressing the relationship between owner and manager and the legal status involved.
The convention was called to order by Charles G. Edwards, of New York, chairman of the National Association. The convention is divided into eight major divisions: brokers, mortgage and finance, home builders and sub-divisions, property management, farm lands, industrial properties, cooperative apartments and advertising, and secretaries division. Leaders in all divisions will deliver addresses upon special phases of their business practices.
Ontario realtors contributing to the discussion will include F. Kent, Hamilton, president of the Ontario association, real estate boards; W. C. Thompson, Hamilton; J. J. Leddy, Ottawa, vice-president of the National association; J. Adair Gibson, Frank McLaughlin, A. E. Lepage, H. L. Rogers, George Garton, Edward Coke, Col. F. D. Robins, S. E. Lyons, all of Toronto.

TODONTO 'RAM! RAM!

Windsor, June 23.—"Toronto is the commercial and artistic metropolis of the dominion," so Sigmund C. Lyons of Toronto, told the delegates to the national association of real estate boards in annual convention at Detroit. "As a home city it is pre-eminent, 67 per cent of the homes in Toronto—and there are 96,000 of them—are owned by their occupants, and

W.C.T.U. Makes Mistake;
Cheer Prince Wrong Day

Mrs. Gordon Wright of London Moves Resolution at World Convention To Send Birthday Greeting To Prince—Error Stands.

Associated Press Despatch.
Edinburgh, June 23.—The Women's Christian Temperance union world convention, that is being held here, made a slight mistake yesterday. When hearing a salute fired from the castle the great gathering of women concluded that it was in honor of the Prince of Wales' birthday.
Mrs. Gordon Wright, London, Ont., national president of the Women's Christian Temperance union, Canada, moved a resolution to send a "tender and friendly" greeting to the prince in South Africa, and this was adopted.
Thereupon the convention rose and sang the National Anthem and gave cheers for his royal highness. The cheers had hardly subsided though, when somebody pointed out that the Prince of Wales' birthday was not June 22, but June 23. The convention ruled that the resolution, National Anthem and cheers were in order all the same, and the proceedings went on untroubled.
The salute, which had been fired from Edinburgh Castle, was really in honor of the anniversary of King George's accession to the throne, which occurred on June 22, 1911.

our residential districts win the admiration of all."
"Toronto is the logical location for industries, and from a financial standpoint its status is of outstanding importance. It is estimated that 600,000 invested in utilities, which are publicly owned; and we own and operate our electric light and power system, abattoirs and waterworks, besides owning the entire stretch of ten-mile waterfront area."

FIERY CROSS BURNED
ON CHATHAM STREET

Police Believe Joke of Youths Though Klan Branch Exists.

Special to The Advertiser.
Chatham, June 23.—A fiery cross, which was burned on Merritt avenue, near the western limits of the city late last night, and which could be seen for miles, was thought by police today to be a joke, foisted on the public by local youths.
Chief of Police MacLachlan declared that there were no reasons to believe that the burning of the cross was emblematic of Ku Klux Klan activities locally, although he stated that he had knowledge of the existence of a branch of the order here.
The cross burned was seven feet high, the cross piece having a span of six feet.

FIFTEEN INJURED
IN YACHT BLAST

Twenty-Five Thrown Into River When Backfire Wrecks Pleasure Craft.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Kingston, June 23.—When the engine of the new Thousand Islander backfired at Ivy Lea this morning it caused an explosion which shattered the hull of the yacht, threw the 25 passengers into the river, shattered windows in the village nearby, and scattered pieces of the boat for a considerable distance along the shore.

Of the 25 persons thrown into the river, 15 were more or less seriously injured. Captain Hawes of Alexandria Bay, N.Y., owner of the boat, was the most injured, having a broken shoulder and severe burns.
Two women were unconscious when taken from the water, and a number of others were shaken up and more or less seriously burned.
All the injured were taken to Alexandria Bay, N.Y.
The yacht sank immediately, and is thought to be a total loss.
Divers arrived this afternoon from Alexandria Bay to recover the belongings of the passengers, many of them valuable, all of which sank with the vessel.
The explosion was a heavy one, and was heard for long distances on either side of the village of Ivy Lea, which is on the Canadian side.
Villagers rescued the passengers and crew from the burning gasoline on the surface of the water, and Dr. Mackie of Ivy Lea rendered first aid.

B. C. COAL FIELD
IS GREATEST YET

Seams of Huge Dimensions Are Discovered On Hat Creek.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Vancouver, B. C., June 23.—That the recent development work on coal claims at Hat Creek, on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway will eventually prove the field to be one of the greatest ever located, is generally believed here following considerable assessment work.
Already three seams of coal, two of them of unbelievable thickness—269 feet and 177 feet—are reported to have been shown to exist by the use of the diamond drill, where Dove Brothers, Limited, have been working for several months past.
The total thickness of the coal seams is said to be 253 feet. It is estimated that four square miles of the district are underlain by coal.

LOST TRAVELLERS' CHECKS
PRESENTED AT WINDSOR

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, June 23.—The Hotel association of the province of Ontario reports that an attempt has been made to cash lost travellers' checks at a hotel in Windsor.
The checks were issued by the Ionia National Bank of Ionia, Michigan, in the name of Mrs. Bertha E. Brock, and are of denominations of $10 and $20.
The checks were presented at the Ontario and Michigan have been warned to be on the lookout for these lost checks.
