The Royal Family

THE QUEEN.

VICTORIA, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, &c., Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India. Her Majesty was born at Kensington Palace, May 24, 1819; succeeded to the throne June 20, 1837, on the death of her uncle, King William IV.; was crowned June 28, 1838; and married February 10, 1840, to his late Royal Highness Prince Albert. Her Majesty is the only child of his late Royal Highness Edward Duke of Kent, son of King George III. The children of Her Majesty are:—

Her Royal Highness VICTORIA Adelaide-Mary-Louisa, PRINCESS ROYAL OF ENGLAND AND GERMANY, born November 21, 1840, and married to his Imperial Highness Frederick William, Crown Prince of Germany, January 25, 1858.

His Royal Highness ALBERT-EDWARD PRINCE OF WALES, born November 9, 1841; married March 10, 1863, Alexandra of Denmark (Princess of Wales). born December 1, 1844.

Her Royal Highness Allice-Maud-Mary, born April 25, 1843, married to H.R.H. Prince Frederick Louis of Hesse July 1, 1872; died December 14, 1878.

His Royal Highness Alfred-Ernest-Albert, Duke of Edinburgh, Earl of Kent and Earl of Ulster, born August 6, 1844; married to the Grand Duchess Marie Alexandrowna.

Her Royal Highness Helena-Augusta-Victoria, born May 25, 1846; married July 5, 1866, Prince Frederick Christian of Schleswig-Holstein.

Her Royal Highness Louisa-Carolina-Alberia, born March 18, 1848; married March 23, 1871, to the Marquis of Lorne, late Governor-General of Canada.

His Royal Highness Arthur-William-Patrick-Albert, K. G., Duke of Connaught, born May 6, 1850; married March 13, 1879, to Her Royal Highness Princess Louisa-Margaret.

His Royal Highness Leopold-George-Duncan-Albert, Duke of Albany, born April 7, 1853; married 27 April, 1882, to H. R. H. Princess Helena of Waldeck, died 18 March 1884.

Her Royal Highness Beatrice-Mary-Victoria Feodore, born April 14, 1857.

THE SMALL AMOUNT of extra food fed to sheep in the fall to put them in such condition as all breeding sheep should be in, to go safely through the winter, should not be regretted as a loss, because as the sheep make the most out of the pasture its deficiency must be made up in order to give the pasture its greatest value. It sometimes happens that only a small part of the flock remain thin, the pasture having been sufficient for the best feeders; in which case, the thin sheep should be separated from the rest and fed this extra food where they will not be molested. This reduces the amount of extra food required, and produces also a better result.

JANUARY.—At the time of preparing the notes for our popular Almanac, the British Association for the advancement of Science has held its Annual Meeting in Montreal, and the gentlemen have departed in various directions to look at our country, and gather knowledge of its extent and resources. They appear to have been well pleased with all they saw and heard. We, too, are pleased, for in the multiplicity of subjects discussed, the character and resources of the Province of Quebec have been distinctly brought forward in a way to surprise even ourselves. The paper read respecting the country north-east of Quebec, and the immense lake there situated was a revelation to most. We refer to it only to confirm our views, frequently expressed, that the extraordinary efforts made to open up the North West has the tendency to depreciate the value and excellency of our Eastern domains. We trust some combined effort will shortly be made to survey the unknown lands, and open for settlement our own grand Province.

FEBRUARY.—There is not much ploughing done in this month, but the farmer has time to think why he ploughs. Some soils are so compact that the sprouts and roots of plants can pass through them only with difficulty. Their condition by the use of the pough, harrow and cultivator. Many soils, however, in their natural condition are no more compact than they should be to ensure the germination of seeds and the expansion of the various parts of tender plants. The soil performs three principal offices in respect to growing plants: It keeps them in position by allowing their roots to extend into it; it retains a considerable amount of moisture, and gives it up as the roots of the plant require it; it furnishes of its own substance a portion of the material of which plants are composed. The portion of mineral or earthy substance in any plant is represented by its ash. No earthy matter can be appropriated by a plant until it is dissolved. The finer any solid substance is pulverized the more readily it is dissolved. The chemist understands this, and every farmer should be more or less a chemist.

MARCH.—The perfect pulverization of the soil is of great importance in agriculture. We are told that in England the presence of much dust in the air during the spring is thought to be very favorable to the production of large crops. The air supplies to the soil the same kind of fertilizing material that the Nile does in Egypt. The luxuriant growth of vegetation on road sides, especially of white clover, may be chiefly due to the dust which is carried to the plants by the wind. In Paris the street scrapings are carefully collected by farmers who use them for fertilizing purposes. They consist of the droppings of horses, portions of paving stones, and very poor soil, all ground to powder by the shoes of animals and the wheels of carriages. In the vine-growing districts of France much use is made of the materials obtained in brick yards. It consists for the most part of fragments of bricks that have been crushed by the teams of waggons that are employed in the yards. These suggestive facts are given here, because he must be a very dull-witted farmer who cannot hence learn in how many ways he may improve his estate and increase his crops.

A SPRING COLT should be weaned a little before winter, in order that it may become used to the change of food while the weather is warm, and while plenty of succulent food can be had. Ensilage is an excellent feed for maintaining growth of colts and other young stock.

APRIL.—The horse is so valuable and useful an animal on the farm and elsewhere that every possible care should be taken of his health, and every necessary arrangement made for his comfort—*y*s, comfort. Listening the other day to a beautiful animal terribly troubled with an irritating cough, we remembered that an Ohio farmer says that he cured his horses of coughing by using oil of tar and camphor gum. He put in all the camphor gum the tar would dissolve, and gave a tea-spoonful on the tongue three times a day after feeding.

PLANNING goes a great way toward lightening work. Every morning let a reasonable day's work be contrived, and when it is accomplished stop. Don't think because you have finished the settled task long before night that you must keep drudging on, hunting up new things to do, not laid down in the day's programme, unless you want to wind up with a fresh clean house and the wreck of a woman to enjoy it. Although the chief work of women is necessarily indoor, the fact should not prevent them from taking the open air in all proper weather, in rides, walks, or in the garden. To this end, throw aside all extra work, eschew knitting, lace edging, crocheting, making tatting, and all other fancy work. Fresh air is essential to health.

WHENEVER PASTURES fail, grain or meal should be fed, and in this way pasturing land rapidly enriches it.

MAY.—We have so much respect for the horse, and have seen the useful creature abused in so many ways that we are constrained to give a few words of advice concerning him. Vicious habits are easily brought on, and therefore never allow any body to tickle your horse in the stable. He feels the torment, but does not understand the joke. Let the horse's litter be dry and clean underneath as well as at the top. Standing on hot, fermenting manure makes the hoofs soft, and brings on lameness. Change the litter partially in some parts and entirely in others every morning; brush out and clean the stable thoroughly. Use the curry-comb lightly. When used roughly it occasions pain, and to procure a good bright coat, use plenty of rubbing and brushing. Whenever a horse is washed, never leave him until he is rubbed quite dry. If this be neglected the horse may suffer from chill. When a horse comes warm off a journey, let him be walked about gently until he cools gradually. Look frequently at the animal's legs and feet. Disease or wounds in these parts soon become dangerous if neglected. Never get angry with your horse. Be reasonable.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

Hon. Wm. V. Whiteway, Q. C., attorney-general, premier; hon. James J. Ferguson, receiver general; hon. Edward D. Shea, Colonial secretary and clerk of Executive Council; hon. Wm. J. S. Donnelly, surveyor general; and hon. Jas. S. Winter.

WAGGONS THE TIRES of which become loosened need not be taken to the shop to have them reset. Take off the wheel and suspend it in a shallow trough of linseed oil, turning it around occasionally, so that all parts of the wood work may be soaked. The oil will swell out the wood work so that the tire will be tight again, and will have the further effect of making the wood much more durable. It acts exactly as a coat of paint does in excluding water.

SIMPLY PACKING in fine salt is the easiest and best method for housekeepers who desire to save a few dozen of eggs for winter use, and for poultry-keepers who have only a small number to pack for market. Cover the bottom of a keg, cask, jar, hog-head, or whatever you choose to pack in, with a layer of fine salt two inches deep; upon this place the eggs, small end down, and far enough apart so that they will not touch each other or the sides of the receptacle; then put on another two-inch layer of salt, then another layer of eggs, and so on until the package is full. The salt can be used over and over again. Eggs packed in salt took the first prize for preserved eggs at the recent poultry show in Birmingham, England.

JUNE.—We have often called attention to the value of a good garden on a farm. We know it takes time, but a garden well cultivated always pays well. A word or two about gardens. Very deep ploughing is not necessary in a plot of ground used exclusively for garden purposes. A garden cannot be kept in a mellow fertile state, favorable to a strong and healthy growth of vegetation, where the plough is allowed to sink down deep into the substratum. When a garden plot has once been thoroughly broken up, and has received proper care and attention, digging with a spade is sufficient and preferable to the plough. Root plants will do us well, and surface growths very much better where the soil is broken to a medium depth. Keep every crop free from weeds, and the soil loose in the early stages of growth. If the soil be light and sandy, elevate the beds for beets, onions and other vegetables as little as possible above the general surface, and where there is a slope be sure and shape the beds, so that rains will flow from their surface freely, without washing away the upper earths. A good garden need not be large to become exceedingly valuable.

JULY.—A gentleman farmer writing to a New York paper says: The properly preparing for market and judiciously disposing of products of the farm, dairy, orchard, and garden, are items so essential to the prosperity of producers that they should receive the careful thought and prompt action demanded by their paramount importance. It is most unwise, almost criminal, to allow a large percentage of whatever you have raised to be wasted through neglect in assorting, packing or otherwise. Like other people ruralists ought to work for profit, yet a large proportion of them (good cultivators, perhaps, but poor managers) receive from ten to fifty per cent. less than they might by exercising proper care in preparing and marketing what has cost much hard and wearisome labor. As a rule, the careless, slovenly husbandman is obliged to take what he can get for whatever he offers in market, while he who is always cleanly, and systematic—carefully selecting and honestly packing, soon establishes a reputation that his products are in demand at the highest prices.

AUGUST.—A word or two about sheep; a very profitable creature. An experienced sheep raiser says that a good way to control a flock of sheep is to take a ewe lamb to the house and make a pet of it. Use nothing but kindness, give it a name, and teach it to come at the call. When the lamb is grown, place it in the flock, and you will need only to call that one sheep, when all the others will follow. As sheep follow their leader, the training of one is the training of all, and thus you secure a saving of time and trouble. We are now told, that the old practice of washing sheep before shearing, does not pay. Aside from the colds, rheumatisms and other inconveniences incurred by men and animals, the wool is not enough increased in value to justify the time and labor expended. If the fleeces are filled with burns and rubbish, the washing they get on the sheep's back does not in any way remedy that evil. Better keep the sheep, reasonably clean and let the manufacturer do the washing. The removal of burns and other rubbish may be effected without the evils and dangers of washing.

DURING THE AUTUMN AND WINTER following separation from the mare, the foal requires an increased allowance of artificial food, for three reasons. Firstly, to compensate for the deprivation of its dam's milk; secondly, because autumn grass is much less nutritious than summer herbage; and, thirdly, because under favorable conditions the foal then possesses a greater disposition to equal growth than at any subsequent period. With the advent of cold, foggy autumnal nights, weaning colts should be sheltered in straw yards, and there receive morning and evening their daily ration of artificial food; they cannot sustain, without detriment, the hardships of inclement weather and prolonged exposure. It is, however, highly essential that they should have plenty of exercise, and for that purpose no method is so good as to allow them a daily run of some hours' duration upon a bare winter pasture.

SEPTEMBER—Take care of and do not allow your corn stocks to be wasted. A great deal of corn fodder, after the ears are removed, is allowed to remain in the field, in a very exposed condition until late in November or even to the beginning of December. The weather is thus permitted to destroy a large portion of the food valuable for cattle which will eat the leaves in preference to hay. Cattle would eat up the stalk if cut up into pieces of an inch in size, sprinkled over with a little corn-meal, all the more so, if steamed. Corn fodder should be carefully stacked in the barn or housed about the end of October, and would then prove a valuable addition to the winter's stock of provender. By the time mentioned, fall grain will have been sown, potatoes dug, etc., so that there is no work of hurry to interfere with the proper securing of the fodder crop. That it should be so secured and not allowed to go to waste we may as well add, that for horses carefully harvested corn leaves are regarded as particularly nutritious, and to the race horse, or those in which speed is of importance, they are especially valuable and desirable.

UNITED STATES.

Patterns and samples of merchandise posted for places in the United States will continue to be subject to the special rate of 10 cents each, prepaid by postage stamp, and must not exceed 8 ounces in weight.

BEAR THIS IN MIND.

Register all valuable letters, and use sealing wax for letters containing money. Transmit money by money orders.

Make complaints and inquiries in writing.

Preserve, and request correspondents to preserve, envelopes of missent or delayed letters.

Send to the Post Master envelopes of letters about which you seek information or make complaint.

Business men should be careful to authorize but a limited number of persons to receive their letters, and only those in whom they have full confidence.

AT THIS SEASON almost every farmer will find an advantage in having some hurdle fence that can be quickly moved and set up where wanted. Fifty rods of such fencing will supercede the necessity for permanent inside fences on many farms.

A MAN IN ILLINOIS has a large orchard of choice varieties of plums, but the curculio took them every year. He threatened to cut them down and make a yard for his pigs, instead, but his family persuaded him to fence the trees and let them stand. He did so, and obtained a crop of choice plums nearly every year thereafter.

IT IS A GREAT MISTAKE to pasture young clover in the fall, unless done very late to prevent the most forward pieces from going to head and seeding. Even at this time cutting is better than pasturing. The land will yield more and with less injury to the plants. In a growing season nearly a ton per acre of young clover may sometimes be cut and still leave sufficient to protect the roots in winter. If allowed to seed in the fall after sowing, clover will die, as its roots do not retain vitality after seed has formed.

OCTOBER.—Wanting a horse for general purposes we took the following hints to guide us in choosing: A bright, intelligent face and eyes, a short but not thick head, short ears, a neck small in the throat, deep at the shoulders with a broad chest, short on the back, ribbed up close to the hips, with broad hips, $14\frac{1}{2}$ to $15\frac{1}{2}$ hands high, 1000 or 1200 pounds in weight, with smooth, straight legs. Such a horse will do the most work on the least food, wear the longest, and be the least apt to become unsound, in fact will fulfill all the necessary requirements, providing his temperament is good. His frame is built solidly together, and he will retain his form and vigor, and will not become unsound in lung and limb, with proper use, even when old. Such is the horse for farmers who require to use the same animal for the farm and the road, for he is one that can draw a plough with ease, go to church in good style, or for the doctor in a hurry, or if you get into a bad place, a mud hole for instance, you may rely on being brought out safely, if your harness be all right.

NOVEMBER.—Several gentlemen have been speculating and ventilating their notions concerning the future of Canada. We have a word or two to say about the future, and we consider it as unquestionable to state that the future welfare of Canada depends a good deal more on the farmer than on the politician. It is true that a good government is indispensable, but the farmer, the cultivator of the soil, must needs keep at his work, otherwise the country cannot flourish. Manufacturers have their appropriate sphere, and become aids to the farmer in various ways, but, first and foremost, the producer of wealth is the agriculturist. The future, as the past, will prove in this country as in all countries, that the farmer is the main stay of the commonwealth. If this were not so, there would be less said on the difference between a bountiful harvest and a scanty one. How sad the tone of political leaders if the crops fail. How is every wise man gladdened when the good tidings reach him that the harvest is abundant for man and beast.

As there are many places of the same name in Canada, in the United Kingdom, in the United States and other Countries, it will be necessary always to indicate upon the forms of application and in the advices the country and Province, or State, in which the office where the order is to be made payable is situated.

With the under-mentioned exceptions, no Money Order payable in the Dominion the United Kingdom, the United States or any Foreign Country or British Possession, will be issued, unless the remitter furnish his own christian name, surname and address, and also the christian name and surname (and in the case of orders payable abroad, the full address or residence of the payee. The exceptions to this rule are as follows:—If the particulars be furnished in writing, whether by filling up one of the printed requisition forms, or wholly in manuscript, it will not be necessary to give the christian name in full, it will be suffice it if the first letter be given, but if the name of the payee, or that of the remitter be tendered at greater length whether in the initials or full name, it must be received and advised accordingly. If the remitter or payee be a firm or corporate body the usual designation of such firm or corporate body is sufficient. When a married woman is either the remitter or the payee her own christian name should be given, and not that of her husband, thus—"Mrs. Mary Smith," not "Mrs. John Smith."

When a remitter desires an order on the United Kingdom, to be paid through a bank, it is left to his option to give or withhold the name of the payee, or to substitute for the name of the payee any other designation or modification, such as "the Cashier of the Bank of England," "the Chief Clerk of the Foreign Office." Such orders must, however, be crossed by the issuing postmaster with the name of the bank through which the order is to be paid.

The senders of money orders payable in Canada can procure re-payment thereof, on certain conditions, by applying to the Superintendent, Money Order Branch, Ottawa, through whom also application should be made for repayment in Canada of money orders payable abroad. Any order, however, may be repaid without the authority of the Superintendent, if presented for repayment on the day on which it is issued, and before the advice has been mailed.

Persons procuring money orders should examine them carefully to see that they are properly filled up and stamped, and contain neither alteration nor erasure. This caution will appear the more necessary when it is understood that any defect in these respects will throw difficulties in the way of payment.

The issue of money orders on credit, or for cheques not marked "good" by the bank drawn upon, is strictly prohibited, and by the Post Office Act of 1875 is made a misdemeanor, punishable with fine and imprisonment. Persons aiding, abetting, counselling or procuring the commission of any such offence are guilty of a misdemeanor, and punishable as principal offenders.

Payees who are not known to the postmaster or paying officer are required to prove their identity before the orders they present can be cashed.

If payee is unable to write, he must sign the receipt at the foot of the order by making his mark, to be witnessed in writing.

DECEMBER.—During many years he who has prepared these notes has frequently called the attention of farmers to the necessity of acquiring knowledge, especially the knowledge adapted to their profession. We have frequently recommended, not this or that particular author or book on farming, but we have rather enforced the duty of study of culture, with a view to achieve the best results in agriculture. The time has gone by when book learning is deemed as useless and unprofitable, and we are glad to know that the desire to possess suitable literature for actual use on the farm has greatly increased. Many good works on scientific farming are now found in rural homes, where some time ago nothing of the sort was sought after. There are many useful periodicals devoted to agriculture, and every farmhouse should receive monthly or weekly one or more of these indispensable aids to good work on the farm. Be sure and subscribe for a first-rate agricultural paper.

Beautiful Plush Wall Mirrors, Plush Brush and Comb Cabinets

The witness must sign his name with his address, in the presence of the paying officer, who must then certify the payment by adding his initials. The witness must be known to the paying officer, but it is desirable, though not imperative, that he be not connected with the office. In no case must the paying officer act as witness. It is not necessary that the witness be personally known to the payee.

In cases of money orders issued in Canada, postmasters are at liberty to accept the written order of the payee on the order itself in favor of a second person if, through illness or insuperable difficulty, the payee is prevented from presenting the order in person.

When a money order payable in Canada has been lost, the circumstance must be made known to the Superintendent, who, under certain precautions, will either issue, or take measures to obtain a duplicate.

Duplicates of orders issued in Canada and payable in another country are obtainable only on application to the Postal Administration of the country of payment. Duplicates of Money Orders issued in any other country, and payable in the Dominion of Canada, are granted by the Superintendent of the Money Order Branch at Ottawa.

Money orders which are not presented until one full year after their date are considered as lapsed orders, and cannot be paid without the special permission of the Superintendent. In all such cases satisfactory reasons should be given explanatory of the delay in the presentation of the order.

POST OFFICE SAVINGS BANK.

The direct security of the Dominion is given by the Statute for all deposits made in the Post Office Savings Banks.

Any person may have a deposit account, and may deposit nearly any number of dollars, from $1 up to $300, or more, with the permission of the Postmaster General.

Deposits may be made by married women, and deposits so made, or made by women who shall afterwards marry, will be repaid to any such women.

As respects children under ten years of age, money may be deposited—

By a parent or friend as trustee for the child, in which case the deposits can be withdrawn by the trustee until the child shall attain the age of ten years, after which time repayment will be made only on the joint receipts of both trustee and child.

In the child's own name—and, if so deposited, repayment will not be made until the child shall attain the age of ten years.

A depositor in any of the savings bank post offices may continue his deposits at any other of such offices without notice or change of pass book, and can withdraw money at that savings bank office which is most convenient to him. For instance, if he makes his first deposits at the savings bank at Cobourg, he may make further deposits at, or withdraw his money through the post office bank at Collingwood or Quebec, Sarnia, Brockville, or any place which may be convenient to him, whether he continue to reside at Cobourg, or remove to some other place.

Each depositor is supplied with a pass book, which is to be produced to the postmaster every time the depositor pays in or withdraws money, and the sums paid in or withdrawn are entered therein by the postmaster receiving or paying the same.

Each depositor's account is kept in the postmaster general's office, in Ottawa, and in addition to the postmaster's receipts in the pass book, a direct acknowledgment from the postmaster general for each sum paid in is sent to the depositor. If this acknowledgment does not reach the depositor within ten days from the date of his deposit, he must apply immediately to the postmaster general, by letter, being careful to give his address and, if necessary, renew his application until he receives a satisfactory reply.

LAMPS,

For the Table or Hanging for Parlors, Halls, Offices, &c., with all the newest improvements of Burners and Shades, Lamp Burners, Chimneys, Globes, Brackets, Wicks, &c., at HART'S.

When a depositor wishes to withdraw money, he can do so by applying to the postmaster general, who will send him by return mail a cheque for the amount, payable at whatever savings bank post office the depositor may have named in his application.

Interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum is allowed on deposits, and the interest is added to the principal on the 30th June in each year.

Postmasters are forbidden by law to disclose the name of any depositor, or the amount of any sum deposited or withdrawn.

No charge is made to depositors on paying in or drawing out money, nor for Pass Books, nor for postage on communications with the Postmaster General in relation to their deposits.

The Postmaster General is always ready to receive and attend to all applications, complaints or other communications addressed to him by depositors or others, relative to Post Office Savings Bank Business.

A full statement of the Regulations of the Post Office Savings Bank may be seen at the nearest Post Office.

A WESTERN FARMER advises stringing seed corn by tying the ears together with husks in some place where the grain can be saturated with coal smoke. The odor, he says, prevents squirrels and worms from eating the seed. The seed comes up quicker, the plants grow more vigorously, and ripen several days earlier than from seed not so treated.

THE WORST of all capital errors is for the farmer to neglect his own improvement and cultivation. A man who has $10,000 in a farm and stock may easily have twice as much in himself and make his work pay ten per cent on his value. He is the greatest part of his capital, and it is the greatest of all errors to misuse himself.

IT IS VERY IMPORTANT that the drinking water be pure. The well should not be in the barn-yard, or it is certain to become polluted. Good cistern water is best, if it can be obtained. Water before meals. If the horse is very hot, give half a pailful, feed uncut hay and rub down. When somewhat cooled and dry, give all it wants, then feed the grain. In summer, pump a large trough full an hour before the horses come from the field; let them drink about three gallons each, then wait a moment, and afterwards permit them to take all they want.
