Mountain Purse Snatcher Got Away With Another Woman's Money and Car Tickets.

Two Well-Known Society Young Women Flashed a Light In His Face.

The hold-up man who has been terrorizing people on the mountain top for several weeks, during which time he has molested nearly a score of women and snatched their purses, figured in another daring case on Friday afternoon.

A woman who resides on the mountain top was walking down the Queen street steps when the fellow sprang out of the brush and grabbed her purse, containing $2.70 and a number of car tickets.

Earlier in the week two well known south end young ladies were obliged to walk along the James street road after dark, when the ruffian attempted to molest them.

From the general description given it is the same man who has figured in all these holdups. The fact that he has time and again in broad daylight, attacked women on well travelled paths, without any attempt to conceal his features, and apparently with no fear of capture, conveys an idea of his nerve.

A TORY JAILER.

Judge Riddell Talks of Fraud in Connection With Suit.

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 4.—"These cases arose out of what, if we were to disregard the current euphemisms of the day, might be characterized as an attempt on the part of the insurance companies, which I presume consider themselves respectable, to defraud the plaintiff by refusing to pay that part of his loss covered by their policies, and that as a pretext of a most flimsy character."

The police received many reports this morning and yesterday which showed that, with a hard winter before them, the crooks are attempting to lay by for it.

Saturday night a young lad named Kettley, who was sent down to Mimico Industrial School from Winona several years ago escaped from that institution and has not been heard of since. The police are on the lookout for him.

While Miss M. O. Shaugnessy, 60 Ashby street, was at church last night, the house was entered and the thieves got away with $9 in cash, 3 brooches and 6 rings.

MERELY HUMID. English Weather is Not Nearly as Bad as It's Painted.

As a small child once remarked, philosophizing, "weather is what happens, and climate is what goes on all the time." It would be hard to name any country where both are objects of such contempt as they are in England. The sweetest behavior of weather elicits no praise; the least fallings from grace of climate are visited with wholesale obloquy.

SENTENCE SERMONS. Feigned sadness is unfeigned sin.

THE HAMILTON TIMES

MONDAY, NOV. 4, 1907.

HON. A. G. MACKAY.

On Saturday night the weather was not the most propitious for a public gathering, but notwithstanding that a large crowd turned out to hear the Hon. A. G. Mackay, the new leader of the Liberal Opposition in Ontario, give his first public address in Hamilton since he assumed his new position, and it goes without saying that his audience was not disappointed either in the man or in the meeting.

The speeches of Mr. Chisholm (the chairman), Col. Gibson, Mr. Zimmerman and Mr. Inwood met with hearty responses. They were full of enthusiasm and hope for the future.

FOSTER'S HYPOCRISY.

Some of the Tory organs, like the London Free Press, still seek to make party capital out of the Japanese treaty matter by blaming the Laurier Government for rashness and precipitancy in adopting it, and trying to create the impression that the Tories would never have allowed such a measure to pass the House.

A person who was not acquainted with the history of this matter might very well have supposed from the speech and from the remarks that were made that this was a brand-new treaty made with the young and rising Empire of Japan, and for which the government might very well take to themselves special credit.

Not much indication in that that Mr. Foster was opposed to the adoption of the treaty, is there? And Foster went on to say: Some two years ago, I think it was, we on this side of the House drew attention to the fact that there was still a possibility that Canada might be included within the provisions of this treaty.

That was the stand Mr. Foster took when the question of adopting the treaty came before the House. He was severe in his condemnation of the Government because it had not been earlier adopted. He posed as the great advocate of the treaty. Yet now when much fuss has been raised over the incoming of Japanese he has the hardihood to condemn the Government for adopting the treaty, and seeks to hide his own part in the legislation.

BEWARE THE SHARKS!

The New York Sun is doing a good work in warning the public against the numerous stock-selling schemes promoted by people of that city and advertised all over the continent. They offer great things, many of them promise fortunes for the immediate investor, but how collection is to be made is not explained. Perhaps nothing human can protect the gullible from this form of robbery, but if people would only stop to think that good things are diligently sought after by men who have money plenty, and that fortunes do not go abegging in these times, they would not so easily become prey for the sharks of finance.

THE TERM "COLONY."

Canada will no longer be referred to in British official papers as a "colony." We are a "Dominion," and that will be our style, indicating that we are self-governing, as we have been for many years. The term was selected by the framers of Confederation. Sir John A. Macdonald wanted it designated "Kingdom of Canada," but the Imperial Government objected to the name. Sir John never became quite reconciled to his failure to carry his point, as late as 1889 telling Lord Knutsford that a mistake was made and "a great opportunity was lost" when his choice of a name was rejected.

ALARM GROUNDLESS.

The Winnipeg Telegram declares that our "exports are running wild," and while it admits—being in a country where it is not popular to advocate extreme tariff taxes—that the balance of trade treaty "is as dead as Queen Anne, it professes great concern over the increase of imports at a greater rate than exports in recent months. It may calm it somewhat to learn that the United States, guarded by a Dingley tariff, are experiencing the same phenomenon. The New York Journal of Commerce points out that last month "there was an increase of over $20,000,000 in the value of imports, from $106,697,015 to $126,792,156, as compared with August a year ago, and there was an actual decrease of over $2,000,000 in exports, and they exceeded the imports by less than $2,000,000."

HERE AND THERE.

Toronto Star: The increased cost of living has been the burden of complaint too long. With plots in the cemetery selling for two hundred dollars each, the increased cost of drying claims some attention.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mr. Zimmerman is still Hamilton's favorite son. Beware of the pills left at your doors. You may need the stomach pump.

Saturday night's meeting was neither cut nor dried. It was a wet night. Why did Borden need to hide his identity under the alias of Zandray? What was up?

The County Liberals have a lot of good men among whom to choose their candidate for the Dominion House.

Hon. A. G. MacKay made a fine impression on his audience on Saturday night. "He's all right," was the verdict.

It is to be hoped that the civic authorities will not lose sight of the new mountain road suggested by Mr. Myles.

The Liberal leader wants to see the Liberal candidates in the Province early in the field. He should be accommodated.

"The brainiest man in public life in Canada I ever met," was what Hon. A. G. MacKay said of Col. Gibson on Saturday night.

Lake Erie is five inches higher than in 1906, and twenty inches higher than in 1905. Watch the Mail and Empire betwack Laurier for that condition of things.

The Dundas Tories are not seeing eye to eye in the matter of the coming Dominion election. The Collinates are not at all pleased with the Ptolemy programme. They are not enthusiastic.

St. George's Church, Toronto, held 5 o'clock tea yesterday afternoon before the evening service. The object was to entice young men, especially strangers, into the church. The tea was a success.

The City Council will have to get a move on if it intends to take advantage of Mr. Platt's offer of the park property. The offer is only good until the 10th instant.

Montreal will not appoint a Board of Theatre Censors, deciding that the police have ample power. That is something to be thankful for. This country has pretty nearly enough official meddlers under salary now.

These Beasts at Ephesus seem to be of prolific stock, and to need a deal of fighting.—Ottawa Journal.

Well, Sir Frederick is not afraid to attack them in front in spite of the support of the beastly organs that incite and support them.

There will be elections in twelve States of the Union to-morrow. In Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maryland, Mississippi and Kentucky a Governor and other State officers will be chosen; in New Jersey a Governor only; in New York, two Associate Justices of the Court of Appeals; in Pennsylvania, a State Treasurer, and in Nebraska, a Railroad Commissioner and two Regents of the State University. In Pennsylvania special interest is attached to the election of a State Treasurer by reason of the exposures of enormous pilfering in the building of the State Capitol. The condemnation or condonation of the participants in that alleged six million dollar steal is said to be directly involved in the result of the election.

Mr. James Allan, a Scotchman, who is a Socialist in theory and a millionaire in fact is standing for a municipal office in Glasgow. In doing so he has promised the electors to resign his great possessions and hand them all over to the nation as soon as ever the State is properly organized to receive the gift. "I cannot practise socialism alone," he declares, "but must await the necessary fundamental change in the social system." Mr. Allan differs somewhat from the other Socialist, who, when asked if he had two horses, would he give one away, replied "Yes," and when asked if he had two more horses, would he give one away, replied "No, I would give one away, but I would keep the other."

Chief Justice Falconbridge gave judgment on Saturday in Allan vs. Steel and Iron—Pigott Appeal. The case was tried at Hamilton before a jury on 17th October, 1907. The action was brought by plaintiff as mother and administratrix of the estate of Charles W. Allan, deceased, to recover the damages for the death of Allan through the defective machinery of the defendants. Held that upon answers to questions to the jury judgment be entered after 30 days for plaintiff for $1,500 with full costs. G. S. Kerr, Hamilton, for plaintiff. W. L. Ross, Hamilton, for defendant.

GETS $1,500.

Barbeau vs. Pigott—Judgment on appeal from judgment of a Divisional Court, affirming judgment in favor of plaintiffs. They alleged that while engaged in the construction of the Gosport & Goderich Railway in May, 1906, defendant wrongfully took possession of a certain steam shovel the property of plaintiffs. Defendant alleged that the use of the shovel was leased to him and by him put in repair, and he claimed a lien thereon. The shovel was used by plaintiffs under a contract to build the railway. Judgment was given declaratory defendant entitled to a lien for $204.51 less a reasonable sum for the use of the shovel, fixed at $10, and that upon payment of the difference plaintiff should be entitled to possession of the shovel. W. M. Douglas, K. C., for defendant. W. M. German, K. C., for plaintiff.

FINE OF $100 ON MRS. SMITH. AND HER LAWYER WILL HAVE CHANCE TO APPEAL. Husband of Maggie Smith Remanded Until Next Wednesday on Renewed Bail—Other Cases in Police Court To-day.

At Police Court this morning the Magistrate handed out his decision in the case of Margaret Smith, who was up on the charge of keeping a house of ill-fame. He found the defendant guilty of the offence, and refused to grant Mr. O'Reilly a reserve case. He added that instead of granting the reserve case he would not send the defendant down, as he had intended to, but would fine her $100, which would give Mr. O'Reilly grounds for an appeal.

Eddie Smith, who was arrested with his wife at the time of the raid, was remanded till Wednesday, as Mr. O'Reilly was not prepared to go on. His bail of $100 cash was allowed to stand.

Fred Dewart, 97 Walnut street, charged with driving a cab without a license, was not ready to go on, and obtained a remand till his employer, R. Wilson, returns to the city.

Sam, Tanarally, 15 Vine street, was charged with selling peanuts without a license, but did not appear, and the case was enlarged.

John Warren, Mary street, did not appear to tell the court why he was drunk, and "he put up for his liberty was collected as a fine."

Mike Carry was allowed to go at sunrise yesterday morning to attend church. The following all pleaded guilty to succumbing to the wiles of John Barkeport, and were asked to ante up a $250 cash; James Hall, James and Cannon streets; William Blaught, Smith avenue; Robert Cowan, Barton street west; Pat. Garrity, no address; Dave Graham, Detroit, and Thomas Green, Oakville.

PUT DEAD BODY OUT IN THE BACK YARD.

Farmer Says He Stumbled Over Housekeeper's Body in the Cellar.

Young Man and His Mother, Also a Dog, Found Suffocated With Gas.

Webster, Mass., Nov. 4.—Medical Examiner Harrison G. Blake, of this city, went to Burlington yesterday to investigate the death of Mrs. Sara Higgins, aged 60 years, whose body was found at the home of George Stubbs, a farmer, for whom she acted as housekeeper. Stubbs told the medical examiner that Mrs. Higgins had been missing for several days, and that Saturday night he went into the cellar to get some potatoes, when he stumbled over the body.

Several tenants who had seen a pet dog and a cat in the Cohen rooms missed them, and they had detected the odor of gas in a hallway near the Cohen rooms. They called in the police last night and the flat was opened. Abraham Cohen was dead on the floor. His mother was dead in her bed. In her arms was the dog. It too was dead. Gas was flowing from a jet in the kitchen. The police were last night unable to learn anything about Mrs. Cohen or her son. The police regard the case as one of accidental asphyxiation.

OBITUARY.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Harding—Miss Guy's Death.

The many friends of Mrs. Harding, wife of Mr. George Harding, the well-known butcher, King street east, will be sorry to learn of her rather sudden death. She died at an early hour on Sunday morning. Deceased had been ailing for the past three months, but on Saturday evening she felt no worse than usual, and retired. She was taken seriously ill about 2 o'clock, and passed away in spite of medical aid. Nervous prostration was the cause of death. Deceased was 32 years of age, and leaves a husband and three small children to mourn her loss. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Ada Irene, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Callon, passed away at the residence of her parents, 123 John street north, after a short illness. She was five months old. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Theresa Hutzler, wife of Michael Hutzler, passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital on Sunday morning, after an extended illness. Deceased leaves a husband, three sons, Joseph, John and Fred, at home, and two daughters, Mrs. R. H. Findley Dundas, and Mrs. L. J. Jiroux, Toronto. The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning at 8.30 to St. Mary's Cathedral, thence to Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Leo Dermody, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Dermody, Main street east, passed away at the residence of his parents on Sunday. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

The funeral of Miss Emma Louisa Gillies took place on Sunday afternoon from the residence of her parents, 191 Markland street, and was largely attended. Rev. F. E. Hewitt conducted the services, and the pall-bearers were A. J. Taylor, S. J. Wallington, C. Hancock, H. Markle, B. Smith and F. H. Rutherford. There were many beautiful floral tributes.

The remains of Mrs. Robert Slater were laid at rest yesterday afternoon, the funeral taking place from her late residence, 80 Victoria avenue south. It was very largely attended. Rev. Dr. Lyle conducted the services, and the pall-bearers were J. H. Slater, J. M. Gibson, N. Slater, J. Hedde, R. H. Slater and P. Hedde.

The funeral of James Scott took place from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. C. Johnson, Britannia avenue, R. 10, Park, yesterday afternoon. Rev. James Bracken conducted the services. Etha Guy, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Guy, 19 Guise street, died on Friday evening after a brief illness, lasting only a few weeks. She took a cold, which developed into pneumonia, taking her life at the early age of 17 years. Deceased was of a lovable disposition and was greatly beloved by her many friends. She took an active interest in the work of St. James' Methodist Church, of which she was a member, singing in the choir, being a regular attendant at the services, and on the Sunday school, and was very popular with all with whom she came in contact. The funeral took place this afternoon from the residence of her parents, and was very largely attended. Rev. H. B. Christie officiated, and the pall-bearers were Messrs. Arthur Hill, Andrew Millman, William Stoker, William Thomas, Herbert McEwen and Charles Ford. Interment was made in Hamilton Cemetery. The floral tributes were very numerous and beautiful, and included the following: Pillow, parrot, wreath, brothers, harp, grandparen'ts, anchor, Mr. and Mrs. V. Barker, wreaths, Mr. and Mrs. C. Lizard, Mr. and Mrs. W. Foster, Street Railway employees; basket, Mr. and Mrs. G. Guy, anchor, Longshoremen, Mr. and Mrs. G. Giddell, Mrs. Simeon Church choir, sheet of wheat, Mr. and Mrs. C. Jones, star, Mr. and Mrs. J. Berry, cycle, Kate Scott, and Mono Nichols; sprays, Mr. and Mrs. William Nicholson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Barber, a friend, Olive Maxwell and Myrtle Teague, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lee, Mr. and Mrs. H. Cooper, Misses Santy, W. Phillips, Mrs. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. S. Dunn, friends, Mr. Givlie and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Teeple, Edward Teeple and C. Lily, Mr. and Mrs. Vedler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Coffey, Lillian Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. C. Byers, Mr. and Mrs. Heblson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Jobborn, Mrs. Hottum, Mr. and Mrs. G. Jobborn, Mrs. Jones, the Ladies' Aid of St. James' Methodist Church, and many others.

Readings. The first of the series of interpretation readings to be given by Mrs. Sidney Devo will take place to-morrow evening in the Conservatory recital hall. Besides selections from Tennyson, Browning, Drummond, Moira O'Neill and Paul Lawrence Dunbar, Mrs. Devo will give Shelley's "Fugitives," set to music by Schumann, also Edgar Allan Poe's "Raven," with most appropriate music by Mr. Heinrich. Mr. Arthur Ostler will contribute a violin solo, and Miss Herald will play "Intermezzo on Octaves," by Tschetzky, and "Meditation," by Lischakovsky.

Between the Acts. Downie's production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be the attraction at the Grand this afternoon and evening, and will doubtless play to big business, as usual.

Among the most promising of the new generation of musical comedy stars is Tom Waters, who comes to the Grand on Friday night in his newest creation, "The Mayor of Langhland." Although he has been before the public several years, and is well known in this city, this is Mr. Waters' first season under the management of Messrs. Nixon & Zimmerman. The sale of seats opens on Wednesday.

The organ recital of the series to be given in Knox Church by Harry J. Alton will be held to-morrow evening at 8.15. Miss Margaret B. McVey will sing "A Dream of Zion," by Hadley, and two other numbers. The organ numbers will include "Sonata in C Minor," by Beethoven; "Overture to Zampa," and an overture by Aubrey and four other numbers. Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather, there was a large audience at the twilight organ recital by Mr. W. H. Hewlett in Centenary Church on Saturday afternoon. In addition to the organ numbers, Madame Laguerre-Reynolds, an English contralto, sang two songs most acceptably.

MR. BEST'S WORK. Why the Y. M. C. A. Prospers in Foreign Lands.

Referring to an address given by John R. Mott, international Y. M. C. A. secretary, the Peterboro Review pays the following well-deserved compliment to F. Best, general secretary of the Hamilton association:

During the South African war, the Canadian Y. M. C. A. sent out Mr. Thomas Best, and his work among the Canadian soldiers gave every officer and man a warm regard for the institution which he represented. In the absence of chaplains he buried the dead and conducted service on Sundays whenever possible, while during the week he visited the hospitals to write letters for the sick and wounded, organized sports to keep up the spirits of the men in camp, and on the field was foremost in aiding the wounded and arranging plans to add to the comfort of the men when off duty. It was remarkable how much he found to do, and what a large part he played in the daily life of camp and trek. If the twenty representatives whom Mr. Mott tells us accompanied the Japanese army, accomplished as much good as Mr. Best, it is not to be wondered at that all classes in Japan welcome the spread of the Y. M. C. A. in that country.

Thomas Mason, a mail clerk, residing at 672 Bathurst street; W. Farnham, an engineer, of Allandale, and several other employees of the Grand Trunk Railway, were rather seriously injured yesterday morning, as the sweeping hook at Falkenburg, a flag station on the Grand Trunk line several miles north of Brainerd, struck three men who were trailing

"Why are you standing there, Bubby?" "We're a-waitin' to see them sticks walk."

FIREMEN SHOW HOW THEY DO IT.

Thrilling Exhibition for Crowds in Union Square.

(N. Y. Sun.) A. J. of downtown Manhattan turned out in Union Square yesterday—not for getting to bring the kiddies along—to see the blue-shirted men of the Fire Department, have their yearly big show. The thrills and shivers that come through the chest of a stuntist with scaling ladders, water towers and things, to say nothing of the delicious swelch of sympathetic pride when Mayor McClellan pinned medals for bravery on the chests of nine of them—these things spurred Manhattan to whoop with joy.

For an hour about ten the most heart stopping event was when the big water tower, with two engines throbbing on its pipes, raised its head coral-like and belched from its mouth a crashing stream of water all over the packed hundreds that had blocked the crossing at Madison avenue and Seventeenth street. The tower to the centre of the block. Policemen and crooks, honest folk and knaves were all wetted down indiscriminately, and when the solid mass broke and fled down Seventeenth street the dry ones everywhere else set up a merry, merry laugh that was all a part of the big show.

When folk got off the street cars about 1 o'clock they all made for the grey-decked grand stand that had been erected on the north side of the park. Only those who had engraved invitations from the Fire Commission sat on the stand, and the rest of the crowd jammed itself into a narrow compass up and down Seventeenth street. Every roof was fringed with black figures and windows everywhere within two blocks were crowded. When shortly after 2.30 the Chief, Mayor McClellan and Fire Commissioner Lantry, came up from the west, behind a double line of mounted Troop A of the traffic squad every one knew the show was on.

Three engines and three trucks were drawn up across the street from the lower end of Grand street. The Chief, Mayor McClellan and Fire Commissioner Lantry, came up from the west, behind a double line of mounted Troop A of the traffic squad every one knew the show was on.

The Mayor called each man from the line and Oscar Lee, Mr. and Mrs. H. Cooper, Misses Santy, W. Phillips, Mrs. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. S. Dunn, friends, Mr. Givlie and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Teeple, Edward Teeple and C. Lily, Mr. and Mrs. Vedler and family, Mr. and Mrs. Coffey, Lillian Stauffer, Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Connor, Mr. and Mrs. C. Byers, Mr. and Mrs. Heblson, Mr. and Mrs. E. Jobborn, Mrs. Hottum, Mr. and Mrs. G. Jobborn, Mrs. Jones, the Ladies' Aid of St. James' Methodist Church, and many others.

EAST Y. M. C. A. Mr. Lees Gave a Good Address on Honesty.

There was a large attendance at the men's meeting in East Hamilton Y. M. C. A. at 4.15 yesterday afternoon. Mr. Geo. H. Lees addressed the meeting and Mr. S. C. Sandring sang a solo. Mr. Lees' address was very helpful. His subject was "Honesty," Romans xi, 17 was quoted, "Provide things honest in the sight of all men." Some people say honesty is the best policy, and so it is, but honesty from principle was far higher and better. There were good people who, while strictly honest in larger things, would not think it amiss to let the street car conductor pass them in a crowded car without collecting their fare, or who would look for discount on gas, water or other bills if not paid within the specified time. Weaving city water into another bill in which some people were not strictly honest. A person was either honest or dishonest. Marshall Field, of Chicago, who recently died, started his business on the basis of honesty in the little things. The business had grown to immense proportions and was still conducted on the same basis, steadily growing in importance. He believed there was more honesty in the world to-day than ever before.

Woman Makes Them Good—Mrs. Alice Whitney's Candies and Cookies as Reward for Virtue. Chicago Tribune: "A sane and safe Halloween" was the slogan with which Mrs. Alice G. Whitney, the twentieth century fairy god mother to the Lincoln school, gathered 500 children in a great celebration on Tuesday last opposite her house, 403 Belden avenue, last night. Mrs. Whitney began her preparations three weeks ago by announcing to the boys that her "Roll of Honor" was ready to be signed, and ever since then the list of signatures has been growing until almost every boy in the neighborhood was enrolled. The "roll of honor" is headed as follows: "We, the undersigned, promise to behave on Halloween in a decorous manner, not injuring any person or property. We will have our annual bonfire and not throw flour or any other commodity which will injure clothing. Whatever beans or similar missiles we shoot shall be in the air or into the fire. We will form in line at the close of the fun and give our ticket to the one appointed, receiving in return a cookie which may contain a coin." The boys who could write signed their names, and the little ones who could not listened while Mrs. Whitney read the pledge to them, and then held up their right hands and solemnly promised to keep it. Each was then given a ticket containing a piece of red cloth, and became an active worker in the cause. Every scrap of combustible material was collected from the streets and saved for the fire, with the result that the streets and alleys of the neighborhood are now being the cleanest in the city. The treasure which the boys offered up in the great conflagration last night: Seventy-seven barrels, 100 boxes, 25 bushel baskets, 2 couches, 1 cardboard dresser, 1 washing machine, 2 mattresses, and smaller articles without number. At the apex of the huge sacrificial pyre was a wallpaper dressed dummy of a woman in a sunbonnet, made by Mrs. Whitney for the occasion, and the whole was well soaked with several gallons of a mixture of naphtha, gasoline, and kerosene. After the great blazes had died down to a few red embers the boys lined up to turn in their tickets and receive the saccharine reward of virtue consisting of a big piece of taffy and a cookie each, with the delightful necessity of finding a nickel in a cookie. The only ones not supremely happy were the little girls. "They are supposed to be good for nothing," said the boys. "We don't have to bother to keep them out of mischief." "Please give me some of your taffy," Frank said one little lass. "G'wan; you didn't get a barrel," was the answer. "This was the tenth and most successful party we have held," said Mrs. Whitney. "I don't believe one of the boys broke his pledge, and we had all the tough boys in the neighborhood as well as the good ones. We have no children of our own, so we have sent of (to) all the children in the Lincoln school, and obtain their respect and obedience by kindness."

RECEPTION TO KAISER.

VISIT TO ENGLAND WILL BE MARKED WITH POMP.

Police Watch Socialists—Section Has Threatened to Make Hostile Demonstration When He Visits London.

London, Nov. 3.—England is to be invaded by royalty during the month of November. The German Emperor and Empress, who it is expected will be accompanied by the Imperial Chancellor, Prince Von Buelow, and to whose visit some political significance is therefore attached, will arrive here on Nov. 11, and will spend a week as guests of King Edward and Queen Alexandra at Windsor Castle, which has been considerably altered and improved for their reception.

A series of the most elaborate entertainments has been arranged, including theatrical performances and a great state banquet. The visit to the City of London is the cause of some apprehension for a section of the English Socialists have declared their intention of making hostile demonstrations along the line of procession from Paddington Station to the Guild Hall.

The German Emperor and Empress will land at Portsmouth, where they will be welcomed by the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught. The approach to the landing stage will be through lines of British men-of-war, Admiral Lord Charles Beresford having been ordered to take the channel squadron to Spithead to greet Emperor William, who is an Honorary Admiral of the British navy.

Three divisions of the Home Fleet will also be present, making up all a considerable naval display. The visitors will proceed directly from Portsmouth to Windsor. There are to be accompanied, in addition to Prince Von Buelow or some other representatives of the German Foreign Office, by the chiefs of the Emperor's three Cabinets—military, civil and naval; two aides-de-camp, the Minister of War, Lieut-General Von Einmim, who was invited personally, by King Edward, a doctor and the usual subordinate suite.

The other royal visitors are coming before the German Sovereign, but will remain longer so that one at least of the great entertainments Windsor Castle will shelter no fewer than four ruling European monarchs—the German Emperor and the Kings of England, Spain and Norway. The Kings of Spain and Norway, with their courts and the infant heirs to their respective thrones, are coming on unofficial visits, but with all the members of the British royal family will go to Sandringham for the celebration of the King's birthday, Nov. 9.

Another event of the month, that will bring together many royalties, is the wedding of Don Carlos of Spain and Princess Louise of Orleans, which takes place at Woodnorton, the English home of the Duke of Orleans.

DESPERADO GETS A PARDON. Emmett Dalton, of Notorious Gang, Free After Long Imprisonment.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 3.—Gov. Hersh issued a pardon yesterday to Emmett Dalton, the ex-desperado, who has been in the Kansas Penitentiary for fifteen years. Dalton has been a model prisoner, and has been "trusty" for years in Lansing.

In 1892, with his brother Bob, and three other companions, he tried to rob the two banks in Coffeyville, Kansas. He and Bob got $22,000 from one and started away, but the other three men had a fight at the other bank, and the Daltons in trying to help the other men lost their opportunity. Bob Dalton was killed, and Emmett captured. Emmett was only 20 years old. He was sentenced to death.

Dalton's mother, 92 years old, who lives in Oklahoma, has spent the last two years working for her son's pardon.

U. S. RAILWAYS MUST SHOW CAUSE Why They Should Not Issue Two-Cent Fare Mileage Books.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Every railroad operating in New York State will be summoned before the Public Service Commission on November 25th to show cause why they should not be directed by the commission to issue interchangeable mileage books of 1,000 and 500 miles at a uniform rate of two cents and without many of the restrictions now placed upon the sale of mileage books by some of the larger companies.

The two-cent fare bill passed by the last Legislature was vetoed by Governor Hughes largely on the ground, as stated in his message, that the subject required a full and fair investigation. Before passing the resolution calling the railroads before them an investigation of fares and mileage throughout the State was undertaken by the commission and an elaborate table was compiled.

NEW CHURCH DESTROYED. Sacred Edifice at Fort William is a Heap of Ruins.

Fort William, Nov. 3.—The new Catholic church which was nearing completion at the coal docks was totally destroyed by fire at night. The building was in flames before an alarm was turned in, and the brigade could not render any aid when they arrived. The building was being erected for the use of the foreign element of the city. The loss will be over $10,000.

Boy Shot in the Eye. St. Catharines, Nov. 3.—Sindair, the thirteen-year-old son of Mr. Wright, Geneva street, and a companion, Owen Cambray, were playing with a toy pistol to-day, which did not go off. When see what was wrong the pistol exploded, and the charge entered his eye. Dr. Sutherland was called, but gave slight hopes of saving the sight.

Mikado's Birthday. Tokio, Nov. 3.—To-day being the Emperor's birthday, a holiday is being universally celebrated. During the day, the usual grand review of troops was held by Field Marshal Oyama, at which the Emperor was present.

MIX THIS YOURSELF.

Recipe is Easily Prepared at Small Cost, and Many Swear by It.

Mix the following by shaking well in a bottle and taking in teaspoonful doses after meals and bedtime: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. A local druggist is the authority that these simple, harmless, ingredients can be obtained at nominal cost from any good prescription pharmacy.

The mixture is said to cleanse and strengthen the clogged and inactive kidneys, overcoming Backache, Bladder weakness and Urinary trouble of all kinds, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease.

Those who have tried this say it positively overcomes pain in the back, clears the urine of sediment and regulates urination, especially at night, curing even the worst forms of bladder weakness.

Every man or woman here who feels that the kidneys are not strong or curing in a healthy manner should mix this prescription at home and give it a trial, as it is said to do wonders for many persons.

PRINTERS OF 1870.

The Men Who Then Composed the Hamilton Typographical Union.

Mr. Ben. Brass, of the Times job room, has in his possession a copy of the constitution and by-laws of the Hamilton Typographical Union, No. 129, adopted 23rd December, 1869, and printed at the Times office in 1870, which is a curiosity in its way. The officers of the union for 1870 were: William H. Cliff, President; Walter Peddie Campbell, Vice-President; William McAndrew, Recording and Corresponding Secretary; Cornelius Donovan, Financial Secretary; John Horsnell, Treasurer; Alfred Hipkins, Daniel G. Mitchell, Rees Evans, Justus Griffin, Charles Kidner, William S. Nixon, James Doherty, Managing Committee; William C. Hooper, Sergeant-at-Arms. The former President, Mr. Cliff, is still hale and hearty, and is now rated as the oldest printer in the city. The Vice-President, the Secretaries and Treasurer of these days, however, have all finished their "takes," and the rush of getting out the paper troubles them no more.

The other royal visitors are coming before the German Sovereign, but will remain longer so that one at least of the great entertainments Windsor Castle will shelter no fewer than four ruling European monarchs—the German Emperor and the Kings of England, Spain and Norway. The Kings of Spain and Norway, with their courts and the infant heirs to their respective thrones, are coming on unofficial visits, but with all the members of the British royal family will go to Sandringham for the celebration of the King's birthday, Nov. 9.

SWINDLED MEN. OPERATIONS OF OSCAR FREDERICK SPATE AT MONTREAL.

Dominion Building Society Advertised for Collectors and Applicants Were Required to Put Up Money as Security—Spate Fled to Watertown, N. Y.

Montreal, Nov. 3.—The operations of Oscar Frederick Spate, who was chased last night by the police from Montreal to Watertown, N. Y., were unearthed on Sunday morning, when hundreds of young Englishmen, who had been victimized by him, swarmed into Chief Justice Carpenter's office and told their tale of woe.

Spate operated in Montreal under the name of Frederick Sterling. He fitted up handsome offices in the Ottawa Bank building, St. James street, and started what he called the Dominion Building Society. He had also a dozen or more side lines. It is thought that he must have carried away about $30,000 belonging to men who could ill afford to hand over their hard-earned savings.

Spate's plan was to advertise extensively for young men to act as collectors for the Dominion Building Society. Upon application the young men would have to put up a cash guarantee of from $500 to $500 each, and if they proved satisfactory they would be paid from $15 to $20 a week. With the money his collectors put up he skipped.

Spate was arrested a few days ago on a charge of fraud, and last night jumped his bail. He has been traced to Watertown, N. Y., and the police feel sure of securing him.

SHORTAGE IN CASH. CITY CHAMBERLAIN OF ST. JOHN, N. B., SUSPENDED.

The Audit Shows a Shortage of Ten or Twelve Thousand Dollars—Mr. Sandall, the Official Concerned, Says He Can Explain All Matters Satisfactorily.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 3.—There is excitement in civic circles over the fact that a snap audit of the Chamberlain's books revealed certain discrepancies which have not yet been satisfactorily explained, although an explanation may be forthcoming to-morrow. It appears that at present those who have examined the accounts find that there is from $10,000 to $12,000 not clearly accounted for. This relates to current accounts.

It may be, and is stoutly maintained by many, that a more thorough examination will show that the larger portion may be accounted for. But it is reported that the books show that several persons in the employ of the city have had advances on their salaries in various sums, mostly under $100, and that the list includes both members and officials of the city government.

Paris, Nov. 3.—A striking demonstration of what modern science can do was given this week at the Academy of Medicine, when, in the presence of a hundred physicians and surgeons, a girl of twenty, who two months ago was believed to be an incurable deaf mute, sang a solo, and later answered questions asked her by doctors in the audience.

MUST SPARE THE ROD. LONDON, ENG., TEACHERS TOO FOND OF FLOGGING PUPILS.

London, Nov. 3.—The Education Committee of the London Council has started a campaign against the use of the cane in the London schools. Word has gone forth from the committee that corporal punishment must be saved for grave moral offences and must not be inflicted until other correctional methods shall have been tried and found wanting.

Judging from a report from the Principal of one of the London schools, the committee's action was quite necessary. At this particular school there are 360 pupils in the boys' department, and upon these 360 boys there were inflicted last year 17,041 canings; that is to say, an average of over 43 canings per boy per annum. Allowing for bad boys, this average permitted of one caning a week to each pupil.

One resolution passed by the School Committee provides that corporal punishment in what are known as the infant schools shall be given only in exceptional circumstances, and then only by one hand of the teacher, on the hand or arm of the pupil, care being taken to inflict no blow upon the face or head.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS

ANY one numbered section of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the North-West Provinces, excepting 8 and 20, not reserved, may be homesteaded by any person the sole head of the family, or male over 18 years of age, to the extent of one-quarter section, of 160 acres, more or less.

Application for homestead entry must be made in person by the applicant at the office of the local Agent or Sub-agent. Entry by proxy may be made on equal terms upon conditions by the father, mother, son, daughter, brother, or sister of an intending homesteader.

An application for entry or intending homesteader personally at any Sub-agent's office may be made by the local Agent by the Sub-agent, at the expense of the applicant, and if the land applied for is vacant on receipt of the applicant's homestead entry, and only one application for inspection will be received from an individual until that application has been disposed of.

A homesteader whose entry is in good standing and not liable to cancellation, may, subject to approval of Department, make a lease of the land to his wife, child, or grandchild, or to any other person, but no one else on filing declaration of abandonment.

When an entry is summarily cancelled, or voluntarily abandoned, subsequent to the institution of cancellation proceedings, the applicant for the inspection will be entitled to price right of entry.

Applicants for inspection must state in what particular the homesteaded land is deficient, and if subsequently the statement is found to be incorrect in material particulars, the applicant may lose an entry, and only one re-entry, should the land become vacant, or if entry has been granted it may be summarily cancelled.

DUTIES.—A settler is required to perform the conditions under one of the following lists: (1) At least six months' residence upon the land in each year during the term of three years. (2) If the father or mother, if the father is deceased, when twenty-one years of age, a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such homesteader the requirements as to residence may be waived, and the settler may reside with the father or mother.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so. SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS. COAL.—Coal mining rights may be leased for a period of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $100 per acre, or more than 2,500 acres shall be leased to one individual or company. A royalty of one cent of five cents per ton shall be collected on the marketable coal mined.

PRESIDENT OF RUGBY UNION.

Former Noted Player Preached in City Churches Yesterday.

Anniversary and Harvest Thanksgiving in St. George's.

Sunday School Anniversary in Zion Tabernacle.

Rev. John Inkster, B. A., representative of the Senate and Board of the Presbyterian College of Montreal and late of Bristol, Eng., occupied the pulpits of two city churches yesterday, preaching at MacNab Street Presbyterian in the morning, and at St. Paul's in the evening.

His sermon in MacNab Street Church yesterday morning was a thoughtful discourse based on a text from St. Paul's epistle to the Philippians, i. 29: "For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on Him, but also to suffer for His sake."

At St. George's Church yesterday the 17th anniversary of the Church was coupled with a harvest home thanksgiving and Rev. Archdeacon Forrester preached to a large congregation.

stated that the day was an unqualified success in every respect.

In the afternoon there was a very large rally of the school and friends to hear an illustrated address by Miss Margaret S. Russell, of Toronto, a prominent Sunday school worker.

Centenary Church. Rev. J. H. Oliver, of Sarnia, preached two thoughtful and eloquent sermons yesterday in Centenary Church, it being the day given up to the anniversary of the Superannuation Fund.

Annual Sermon to the Orange Order Yesterday. The Orangemen of this city turned out in goodly numbers yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of attending divine service in a body, also to celebrate the anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot.

Good Turnout and a Good Practical Address. The Orangemen of this city turned out in goodly numbers yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of attending divine service in a body, also to celebrate the anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot.

Rev. Mr. Hollinrake based his remarks on the principle of justice as laid down in the constitution of the Orange Order. He said that according to the reading of the constitution, justice meant that those belonging to the order should be incapable of persecuting any one, for their religious beliefs, and that the order stood for religious rights of everyone, irrespective of creed or denomination.

Mr. Hollinrake named several instances of what he thought were injustices placed on modern civilization. He said that the King of Belgium was being forced to make a stand by the Christian nations of the world on the Congo question, which would sooner or later result in the freeing of the blacks of that country.

Mr. Hollinrake laid particular stress on the liquor traffic of this country, which he considered was an injustice to the growing land of Canada. He claimed that it was worse than any slavery that might exist, as it damns not only the body of the man, but also his soul.

Mr. Hollinrake said that this traffic should not go on uncontrolled. He believed in curbing the sale of liquor as a remedy for this great existing evil.

In speaking of Sunday labor, in connection with street cars, railways and corporation industries, Mr. Hollinrake said that it was becoming a serious menace to the country. He felt that the law of God could not be isolated with impunity, without disastrous results following.

Referring to the excessive prices of commodities, Mr. Hollinrake said that they have come to be a peril in our midst. Goods of any description are held at almost prohibitive figures. He figured that a pound and a quarter loaf of bread at present prices meant somewhere in the neighborhood of 100 per cent profit for the baker.

Mr. Hollinrake was of the opinion that this was an age of "hold-up," in which far too many were out to see how much they could make or get out of everybody else. It is really amounting to the fact that this world is no place for poor people.

Annual Sermon to the Orange Order Yesterday.

Good Turnout and a Good Practical Address.

The Orangemen of this city turned out in goodly numbers yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of attending divine service in a body, also to celebrate the anniversary of the Gunpowder Plot.

Rev. Mr. Hollinrake based his remarks on the principle of justice as laid down in the constitution of the Orange Order. He said that according to the reading of the constitution, justice meant that those belonging to the order should be incapable of persecuting any one, for their religious beliefs, and that the order stood for religious rights of everyone, irrespective of creed or denomination.

Mr. Hollinrake named several instances of what he thought were injustices placed on modern civilization. He said that the King of Belgium was being forced to make a stand by the Christian nations of the world on the Congo question, which would sooner or later result in the freeing of the blacks of that country.

Mr. Hollinrake laid particular stress on the liquor traffic of this country, which he considered was an injustice to the growing land of Canada. He claimed that it was worse than any slavery that might exist, as it damns not only the body of the man, but also his soul.

Mr. Hollinrake said that this traffic should not go on uncontrolled. He believed in curbing the sale of liquor as a remedy for this great existing evil.

In speaking of Sunday labor, in connection with street cars, railways and corporation industries, Mr. Hollinrake said that it was becoming a serious menace to the country. He felt that the law of God could not be isolated with impunity, without disastrous results following.

Ellen Terry on Snobs. Ellen Terry at a dinner in New York was condemning snobbishness. "It is the most contemptible of all shortcomings," she said. "And undoubtedly the so-called aristocratic snobs inflict a great deal of pain with their insults. They don't understand the pain they inflict, though. A snob has no imagination. He has no more idea of the effect of his work than has the little boy with the donkey. There was a little boy whose father gave him a donkey for an Easter gift. All went well with the animal for some weeks. Then one afternoon the lad limped into the house in tears. 'The bad donkey kicked me,' he howled. 'Kicked you? Then you must have been cruel to it,' said his mother. 'I wasn't cruel to it at all,' he screamed. 'I only just tried to carve my name on it with my new knife.'"

Abandoned the Struggle. "Didn't you ever have any ambition in life?" asked the austere matron standing in the kitchen door. "Winst, ma'am," said Tuffold Knutt, sighing deeply. "I have not alius led this butterfly existence. Many years ago, ma'am, I tried to raise a pair of elegant side whiskers, but they wouldn't grow. Since then I hain't no heart to do anything." "This mournful story failing to awaken her sympathies, she stambled on to the next house. Soap has been known to the world for 3,000 years.

LARGE ATTENDANCE At the First of the Temperance Meetings in Bennett's Theatre.

The first of the series of temperance mass meetings in Bennett's Theatre, under the auspices of the Central Temperance Executive, was held last evening.

The opening of the meeting was announced for 8.30, after the church services were over; but by 8 o'clock every seat in the big theatre was filled, and it was packed to the doors before the time of opening.

Mayor Stewart presided, and made a short opening address. He said his sympathies were with those who were working in the interest of temperance. He considered the temperance workers had no reason to be discouraged, as the effects of their labors were being shown, there being not nearly so much drunkenness now as there was ten or fifteen years ago.

After a short prayer, cinematograph pictures of Tissot's paintings of Christ from Bethlehem to Calvary were shown. The views were very fine and interested the audience. Pastor Philpott gave a running description of the pictures, and later gave an address. In closing he made a strong appeal to the young and old to remain after the meeting was dismissed and sign the total abstinence pledge. Quite a number did so.

In the course of the meeting Mr. Carey sang "The Holy City," and a choir sang well known hymns, the audience joining in. Mr. H. A. Martin was musical director. A silver collection was taken at the door.

Next Sunday evening an address will be given by the Rev. F. W. Hollinrake, pastor of Zion Tabernacle, illustrated with stereopticon views. The expense of conducting meetings in the theatre is, of course, much greater than it was last season at Association Hall, but it is expected that the collection will be larger, and, at any rate, any deficit to be met by subscriptions will be regarded as a good investment if it wins to the path of sobriety and right living people who now never enter a church.

Siege of Shakespeare's Tomb

Persistent Effort to Move Bones at Stratford.

How much longer is Shakespeare to be allowed to sleep unmolested in the chancel of Holy Trinity Church at Stratford-on-Avon?

In London, a fortnight ago, that question came up for discussion. A private meeting was being held by one of the many societies that exist for the study of the bard's life and works, and something more than the usual bid for idle talk and speculation was intended by the author of the query.

As an earnest Shakespeare lover and student he made some surprising statements and stirred his sober-sided audience by openly expressing the melancholy opinion that the time is fast approaching when Shakespeare can no longer be bracketed with Moses and Merlin as one of the few heroes whose tombs remain respected and inviolate.

Merlin, of course, admitted this pessimistic club member, was buried under a spell, and his grave, like that of the leader of Israel's exodus, on Nebos' lonely mountain, defies discovery and desecration.

Shakespeare, however, enjoys no such advantage. For nearly three hundred years he has maintained his last sleep undisturbed, and for the most part in an unguarded grave, but it is a growing and disconcerting conviction among his most faithful worshippers that the days of the preservation of his post-mortem privacy are practically numbered.

Until about sixty-five years ago he was safe. But times have changed; the Shakespearean controversy has reached almost a critically intense stage, and it is hardly to be expected that Hamlet's creator will continue undisturbed when kings and conquerors have fallen victims to the insatiable modern curiosity.

All the great folks of Westminster Abbey have experienced the dismal humiliation of being turned out of their leaden winding sheets by the hands of the Dean. Stanley systematically exhumed every body in the Abbey, and even the royal bones in Windsor's famous Chapel of St. George were dragged to the light.

Over in France and Italy the irreverent treatment of the remnant left of the heroes and heroines of history has become quite as pronounced as in England. The German Emperor thought it no impiety to disturb mighty Charlemagne at Aix. Even Agamemnon has suffered at the hands of the modern excavator of the ruins of Troy, and the Pharaohs and Phoenicians of Egypt would be disgusted could they but witness what flimsy protection vaults in the living rocks, and gigantic pyramids prove for helpless dead folk when the twentieth century intruder is up and going.

But while Cleopatra and the great Kamessa, Henry VIII, Pythagoras and even Abraham have been less than respectfully treated by the hands of a noble reposer. It is true that until a comparatively recent date his grave remained unopened, unvisited and almost unnoticed.

In the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries nobody was gnawed by a desire to gaze upon his ashes, and his famous epitaph was all the defence he required. But in those simple old days, the Pyramids kept their secrets and nobody dreamed any more of trying to prove that Shakespeare was Bacon, or the Earl of Essex, than of maintaining that January was June.

When, however, the first doubts as to the identity of the writer of the plays and sonnets arose an astonishing effort was almost immediately made to remove the gravestone lying over him in Holy Trinity church, and under the cover of the first attempt to open the poet's tomb no man is able to say, for there is an old crack across the slab. This sign remains unexplained, yet it may indicate that an assault on dead Shakespeare had been made before that inspired by the faith and curiosity of an American woman.

The amazing enterprise and conviction of the frail lady from New England, who forty years ago crossed the Atlantic for the purpose of exposing the Swan of Avon as a common impostor, was the means of exposing the rector of Holy Trinity church to the slab bearing the first attempt to open the poet's tomb.

Nevertheless Miss Bacon when she went to Stratford with a view of braving the curse of the poet's epitaph dealt in her underlying methods. She suffered from the obsession or gift of discovering ciphers from the plays that have made Ignatius Donnelly and scores of others famous, but she was among the first to nourish the conviction that Shakespeare wrote his epitaph with a view of protecting something more than his bones.

By the aid of her ciphers she had arrived at the conclusion that in the dramatist's grave were hidden documents of a character to prove itself things against his title to fame, and she frankly went to the rector of Holy Trinity and asked him to permit the tomb to be opened. It is to Miss Bacon's credit that she was aboveboard and most persuasive. The rector was actually half won by her fire and faith. He even went so far as to think seriously over her argument, and he had theories and ciphers, but he never could bring himself to give her the permission she asked.

At the ninth hour of the spell of the epitaph, which has overpowered so many, fell from him and he probably repented his weakness in even listening to the doughty little American woman.

It was to no less a person than Nathaniel Hawthorne, then Consul in England, that Miss Bacon confided the tale of a secret effort she eventually made to come by the documents she believed were in the tomb. One night she actually went alone to Holy Trinity Church.

She was a valiant spirit; she always called Shakespeare the "old player," or "Lord Leicester's groom." She looked upon him as a vulgar thief of other men's fame, and she believed that night that she had a free hand to deal as she liked with the tomb. But after a trying vigil she too fell a victim to the spell of that doggerel verse graven on the tomb of that master magician among poets.

She could not quite bring herself to defy the curse, she became indeed almost terrified, and so ended a scheme for exhumation all but put into execution by one of the most virulent enemies dead Shakespeare has ever had.

To some superstitious believers in the Stratford poet it is a significant as well as pathetic fact that Miss Bacon eventually died in a retreat for the insane. Her convictions, like John Brown's, began to march on, and she is by no means the last person to insist that the only way to settle the controversy raging every year more furiously over the authorship of the plays is to open the tomb in Holy Trinity Church. Worse still, she is not alone in having tried to violate the six feet of earth that Shakespeare claims.

The stories of her Stratford and listen to the townsfolk, or the police, or the present rector of Holy Trinity, they will one and all insist that Shakespeare is as safe as Capt. Kidd's treasure and that talk of violations of his tomb is the yellowest kind of journalism. Nevertheless there are to be found sober English folk who credit the rumor which says that in all there have been five attempts upon the poet's grave and that one was frustrated only last spring.

This latest indignity was perpetrated about the time when the birthday festival at Stratford was in full swing. Somebody then discovered that the cement about the edges of the grave slab had been carefully chipped away and that putty had been forced into its place.

From this it was concluded that some enemy to Shakespeare had done the work of removing the slab, and that later the vandal would return to scrape out the substitute for cement and easily with a crowbar shift the stone. Thereupon it was recalled that twenty-five years ago a similar trick had been discovered just in time.

Singularly enough have been the rector of Holy Trinity. Then as now no hub and cry was raised. A whisper of the truth got about at Oxford and so leaked out, to cause a deal of angry and uneasy comment, just as it was evident the marauders had got no further in their work than removing the cement of the church, the discovery escaped the newspapers.

It is said at Oxford though that when news of the tampering with Shakespeare's grave got to the ears of Algernon Charles Swinburne that sensitive poet burst into a passion of tears. Under the inspiration of his indignation he dashed off a sonnet and a corking good one it was, too, for when warmed to the task, Swinburne is a master hand at verbal vitriol. He produced fourteen lines of gorgeous rhyming curses calculated to stir the souls of the unknown publishers who are responsible for Shakespeare's rest.

Recently or since the last signs of intrusion on England's most sacred spot of earth was discovered, a trap in the right direction has been taken with a view to securing to the dead poet immunity from vandalistic attacks. In other words a body of guardians for his tomb has been organized.

This is the only secret Shakespearean society in existence. The names of its members are not generally known, but King Edward is said to be honorary president and a fund has been raised in order to keep Holy Trinity and its treasure under constant police protection.

Two American gentlemen belong to this society, but no German is permitted to join it, for on several occasions the German critics, who read any and every kind of mad meaning into plays, have insisted that it is proper and even wise to have the grave of Shakespeare opened.

Once upon a time a bland-spectled Herr Professor from a German university, with a ponderous tome under his arm, waited upon a rector of Holy Trinity with a round robin, signed by his fellow professors, to demand certain documents known, he said, to be under the stone in the chancel. The rector was interested, courteous but firm in refusing his permission. He has learned how to deal with the vaporing of the cranks who visit Stratford in numbers every year.

Still, even those who are the most passionate believers in Shakespeare, and who, like sensitive Swinburne, would weep and rage to see his tomb disturbed, agree that time will certainly arrive when a shameful deed will be perpetrated in Holy Trinity under the pretense of serving the ends of truth.

For a few more years perhaps Shakespeare will lie in the mysterious peace that the curse and blessing his epitaph have won for him, but his enemies are increasing and working to the end that they may successfully defy his wishes.

One and all they now persistently profess the belief, as did poor old mad Miss Bacon, that the evidence needed to vindicate an impostor and reveal the real authorship of his plays, poems and sonnets lies in that grave.

A school of his detractors even go so far as to announce that Shakespeare is not buried under the slab bearing the anathematizing stanza. At any rate they say his name is not on the slab, and it is only tradition, not any positive or accredited authority, that states that the flagstone covers the body of the poet.

This branch of doubting Thomases inclines to the belief that the stone protects a chest holding precious papers only. The man Shakespeare, it is maintained, is buried somewhere else in the old church.

They argue this with an ingenuity that would excite the envy of the traditional Philadelphia lawyer, and gleefully add that the present Duke of St. Albans is known to possess a manuscript copy of "The Two Gentlemen of Verona," written out and signed by Lord Bacon. This valuable document, it is confidently asserted will some day come into the market, and then in a cipher on the back of one of the manuscript sheets will be found an inventory of the contents of the chest buried in the chancel of Stratford's church.

In view of these facts it is scarcely surprising that the true Shakespearean worshippers are troubled, but the cause of their greatest anxiety they see in the rapid increase in England of a school of men and women believers in the poet who, goaded by the denials of their poet's enemies, are inclined to counterattack. Thus and only thus, say some of the exasperated adherents of the great William, can his imperious superiority be proved and the present shadow be removed from his name and fame.

Oh, I don't want the set, said the young woman. "I've got the metal part and the chimney, but the little white shirt is busted. It's only one of them I want."

FIGURES THAT TALK

(Christian Guardian.)

One hundred and sixty thousand "for-eigners" have settled in the Canadian west during the last five years. In 1901 there were only 11,000 people in Assiniboia, Saskatchewan and Alberta. It is estimated that there are now one million people west of Lake Superior. This is double that of seven years ago.

Last year the immigration to Canada was 252,038—a record for the Dominion. Take a railroad as long as from Winnipeg to Toronto. Take a strip of land ten miles on each side all the way. This amount of land was taken up in home-steads last year. No wonder the railroads could not keep pace with development.

There are almost one hundred thousand Galicians in Canada—that is about as many as there are people in the whole of Prince Edward Island. The Methodist Church has one missionary doctor and three ladies working among this people. There are about ten thousand Donkothobers in Canada—nearly enough to fill that enterprising railway city, St. Thomas, Ont. These people have no schools, save a small one carried on by the Society of Friends. As yet the Government is doing nothing for their education, and the churches of Canada are leaving them alone.

There are about seventeen thousand negroes in Canada—nearly enough to populate Kingston, Ont., at the last census. There are over seven thousand Mormons in the Dominion—they could fill up our beautiful city of Quebec, and the man who thinks that their presence here will not make a problem some day for Canada does not understand Mormonism.

There are about twenty thousand Menonites and twenty thousand Hungarian residents in our land—they would get on in the cities of Halifax, N. S., and St. John, N. B. There are about thirty thousand Orientals in Canada, and let some people tell the story the number is increasing very rapidly. In 1901 Vancouver had a population of only twenty-six thousand and Victoria of only twenty-one thousand.

In Western Canada almost every other man is a "foreigner." The Methodist Church employs one colporteur and one Bible woman, who speak some of the European languages—these are the "only other half" of our people.

The churches of Canada have a "home mission" problem on their hands, whose solution will not be reached without some patience and faith and self-sacrifice.

WAS IT FRAUD?

DETROIT FINANCIERS SUSPECTED MACHINERY FOR CASH.

Court Nullifies the Deal—Mr. Justice Riddell Characterizes the Transaction as High Finance and Fraud.

Toronto, Nov. 4.—"It may be that those guilty of this fraud would be shocked to hear the transaction thus bluntly described, but that is the name that fits," says Mr. Justice Riddell in his judgment in the case of Joseph W. Boyle against the directors of the Canadian Klondike Mining Company, after declaring a pretended sale by the directors as "fraud and designedly in fraud of the company."

The transaction to which His Lordship refers was a sale of $25,000 of assets belonging to the Detroit Yukon Mining Company, of which the defendants were also directors, to the Canadian company for $500,000.

The defendants claimed that the purchase of the machinery for $250,000 was a term of the arrangement. His Lordship says that he declines to accept the evidence of defendants on this point. Their application for a charter stated specifically that their stock was to be paid for in cash, and the learned judge finds that they did not intend at that time to state a falsehood.

"There never was any agreement that this machinery should be taken for $500,000 in cash or in stock," says His Lordship, "and the pretended sale was in fraud of the Canadian company and the plaintiff, the largest shareholder."

His Lordship adjudges each of the personal defendants liable for the whole amount of $500,000, and declares that the conveyance of property by the Detroit company was effected without a price being fixed. The parties are at liberty to either take the value of $25,000, placed thereon by His Lordship, or to have the value fixed by the Master for a settlement.

RUBBERLESS MOTOR WHEEL.

The Wonderful Invention of a Russian Engineer.

Berlin, Nov. 3.—Boris Loutzky, the celebrated Russian engineer, who is credited with the invention of an original automobile motor, has perfected a marvelous wheel which is designed to do away entirely with rubber tires for all sorts of motor vehicles.

Mr. Loutzky's invention is built of steel and the cone of the wheel consists really of a wheel within a wheel. The tire or outer rim is entirely independent of the inner wheel, which protrudes on either side around the hub, forming projections on which the weight of the car rests, no matter how rough or uneven the surface of a given roadway.

M. Loutzky asserts that absolutely elasticity is thus insured the car, with a consequent absolute minimum of wear and tear on the tire, which may be renewed from time to time at small cost, instead of at the fabulous prices which keep so many motorists poor buying pneumatics.

The inner wheel, or ring, is constructed of new and highly flexible steel, which gives like rubber, and makes riding as smooth and easy as with pneumatics. In M. Loutzky's description the new wheel practically constitutes an artificial and permanently level roadway for the car suspended above it.

JACK JOHNSON WON HIS BOUT.

He Got Decision Over Flynn in Eleventh Round.

Victoria Curling Club Elected Officers—Hamilton Team for the King's Birthday Race at Montreal Picked.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 3.—Jack Johnson, the negro heavyweight, won from Jim Flynn in the eleventh round of their bout here Saturday, a clean knock-out being the end of the mill.

The pugilists met in what was to have been a 45-round glove fight. The attendance was the largest at the Colma arena since the Burns-Squires fight several months ago.

There was considerable betting at the ringside, the odds varying from 10 to 5 in favor of Johnson, the favorite. Johnson's weight was announced as 194 pounds and Flynn's as 176 pounds.

Time was called for the main fight at 3:02 o'clock, and the two heavyweights immediately clinched. Johnson uppercut with his right to the stomach, but Flynn drove the negro to the ropes with about seven jolts to the body.

In the second round they fought at close quarters. Johnson got in several short-arm rights to the body. Johnson jabbed twice with left to the face, then sent a straight right to the face. Flynn tried at close quarters, but failed to land. Johnson clearly outboxed and outgeneraled his man.

In the third round Johnson landed right and left swings on the head. Flynn rushed in as usual and failed to land. He butted the black man intentionally, and in apology quickly shook his adversary's hand. Johnson shot two right hooks to the jaw as the round neared its close. Flynn rallied and landed left and right on the face. Johnson, however, had a big lead.

The fourth round was very tame. Johnson was cool, and seemed to be biding his time to land a decisive blow.

Flynn fought desperately in the fifth, but the round ended with Johnson slightly in the lead.

Neither man had any apparent advantage in the sixth.

Flynn's left eye was closed with a right swing in the seventh.

Johnson sent Flynn to the floor by the whole weight of his body in the eighth, and was jeered by the crowd.

Wrestling and clinching characterized the ninth round. Flynn was almost out when the bell rang.

In round ten Flynn rushed in, but Johnson landed a succession of right and left short-arm swings to the face. In a clinch Flynn butted Johnson viciously with his head, and was warned by the referee. It was Johnson's round by a wide margin.

"Come right on," yelled Johnson, as they began the eleventh round. Flynn tried close quarters, and tried to reach Johnson's body. The latter floored him with a straight left to the jaw. Flynn went to the mat like a log and had to be carried away by his seconds.

TORONTO BOUTS.
Toronto, Nov. 3.—The Mutual street rink was completely filled on Saturday night on the occasion of the final bout of the twelfth semi-annual city boxing tournament. The heavyweight bout showed A. Day, of the Thistle Football Club, much superior to R. Ferguson, of the Irish Canadians, winning in the first round. Extra rounds were required in the bantam and special classes. On account of the rain, the electric lights jumped throughout the entire evening, threatening to go out altogether. After the last bout Controller Ward, Hon. President of the City Amateur Boxing Association, presented the winners and runners-up with the gold and silver watches. The winners:

Bantam, 115-pound class—E. Bailey, Strathcona, won from W. Turley, British United; extra round.

Feather, 112-pound class—Gordon won by default from Godwin and Hamilton.

Extra, 118 pounds—L. Jacobs, Dufferin A. C., won from J. Wright, Maitland, third round.

Special, 125 pounds—W. Sinclair, Strathcona, won from H. McKeown, Strathcona; extra round.

Light, 135 pounds—F. W. Sutton, British United, won from R. Barrett, British United, third round.

Welter, 145 pounds—H. Lang, Irish Canadians, defeated C. Campbell, Strathcona, third round.

Middle, 155 pounds—H. Lang, I. C., defeated S. Rogers, Thistle Football Club, first round.

Heavyweight—A. Day, Thistle Football Club, defeated R. Ferguson, Irish Canadians, first round.

READY FOR THE ICE.

Victoria Curling Club Has Elected Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Victoria Curling Club at the Hotel Royal, forty members were present and from the enthusiasm shown there will be no lack of curling this coming season, if the weather is right. The election of officers resulted as follows:

Hon. President—William Burrow.
President—A. M. Cunningham.
Vice-President—J. B. Turner.
Secretary—John Smitzel.
Secretary-Treasurer—G. Shambrook.

Representatives to O. C. A.—A. M. Cunningham and J. B. Turner.
Management Committee—A. M. Cunningham, J. B. Turner, G. Shambrook, Thos. Upton, James Crooks, R. A. Milne, Wm. Dixon, W. R. Davis.

President Cunningham has donated a trophy for rink competition, which will add to the present friendly rivalry amongst the rinks.

It was decided to limit the membership this year and any person wishing to join the club should lose no time in applying to the secretary, as only a few more can be accepted.

CUBS TO PRACTISE.
The Tiger Cubs will get down to hard times this week owing to the big game here with Berlin next Saturday. They expect a hard game as Berlin has showed up to good advantage in their previous games; every player is requested to be on hand at the Cricket Grounds at 7:30 sharp to-night; also Wednesday and Friday nights at the same hour. Arrangements are being made with George Ballard to be on hand to show them the fine points of the game. Manager Long wants to see also any new players who would like to get in the game.

SECRETARIES OF ROYALTY.
The Onerous Duties of Lord Knollys and His Sister.

The office of private secretary to the King is one which, while involving a very large amount of hard work, is fraught with a continuity and dignity wholly its own. As regards the present tenant of this uniquely responsible position, it is no flattery to say, according to Lord Knollys, that no person in Great Britain, however gifted and well trained, could hope to undertake his task with a tithe of the success which now attaches to it.

For nearly forty years, with rare brief and seldom complete holidays, Lord Knollys has discharged the most delicate and difficult functions without once incurring the shade of a shadow of reproach for anything he has said or done or done of. This enviable record is the more remarkable inasmuch as in 1870 the then Mr. Francis Knollys was selected for his post less from any experience he was able to adduce than because he was the son of Sir William Knollys, a highly distinguished general officer and controller to the Prince of Wales.

The fact is that Lord Knollys combines in his own personality every attribute which should attach both to an important official and to a cultured English gentleman. It is curious to note how often an Englishman whose character and demeanor are wholly admirable in private life seems to lack all sympathetic qualities when called upon to exercise public influence and even to assume some of the forbidding characteristics of a so-called "Jack in office."

Lord Knollys's accessibility (the sure mark of a high class official and a high bred gentleman), his geniality, his desire to help wherever help is possible and to make any refusal as easy to be accepted as possible, his quick perception and power of quiet decision, combined with an almost infinite capacity for work, have rendered him not only an absolutely invaluable servant to his august master, but also a tried official in whom implicit public confidence rests. It is probable that during the last forty years no social or political matter of any sort of importance has been outside the knowledge of Lord Knollys, while no day closes without his advice being sought and his good will invoked on every sort of subject.

Coincident with Lord Knollys's services toward the King has been the work of his sister, the Hon. Charlotte Knollys, nee Woman of the Bedchamber and confidential secretary to Queen Alexandra. Although Miss Knollys's work has not been complicated by the political questions with which her brother has had to familiarize himself, it has been no whit less arduous, and, if possible, even more continuous. With the exception of a fortnight's compulsory rest, taken at the Princess Royal's house at Brighton, it is true that Miss Knollys for some years has been in daily waiting from 9 a. m. until midnight. So determined is she in spite of advancing years, to maintain her services at their supreme level that days often pass without her emerging from the palace, that her amusements and visits to personal friends are strictly curtailed, and that, in a word, her entire life is and for thirty-five years has been consecrated to the service of her august mistress.

It is needless to say that this strenuous life has won the intense gratitude and complete confidence of the Queen, who, however, frequently but vainly urges the devoted lady to spare herself in some degree.

Miss Knollys is, equally with her brother, endowed with the supremely necessary gift of perfect tact and with the kindness which affords her infinite pleasure to use her influence on behalf of the many suitors for some mark of the royal mistress's favor, although there are occasions when she feels herself bound to suggest some check to that boundless generosity which the Queen would always like to exercise.

The opening play of the third quarter was startlingly loose and unceremonial, and after eight minutes of this amusing entertainment, Dundas got the pickings for a scrimmage close to the London line and Craig went through on the third down for a try, which Gillespie celebrated. Near the end of the quarter Brady stole the ball from London's half back line, being aided very much by fumbles, and got away for the best run of the day, making forty-five yards. However, it was not until the ball was twenty-five yards out, and on the second down after an unsuccessful attempt to buck the line, the ball was passed from three men to Gillespie, who got close to the line before he was downed. Craig got through, but was offside, and the best that Dundas could do was to punt over for another rouse.

REMARKABLE.
His Only Escape.
There is a story often told to illustrate the manner in which President Lincoln was besieged by commission-seekers. Hearing that a brigadier-general and his horse had been captured, and the general taken to Richmond, he asked eagerly about the horse.

"The horse!" exclaimed his informant. "You want to know about the horse?"
"Yes," said Lincoln. "I can make a brigadier any day, but the horse was valuable."
To this John Russell Young, in his memoirs, adds a similar tale. He was calling upon Lincoln one day at the White House.

"I met So-and-so on the steps," he remarked.
"Yes," replied the President. "I have just made his son a brigadier."
"A general!" exclaimed Mr. Young, in astonishment.
"Yes," said Mr. Lincoln, with a great weariness. "You know I must have some time for something else."

ENJOYS LIFE AT 95 YEARS.

SOLOMON MILLS, OF ROCKVIEW, A REMARKABLE OLD MAN.

Masonic Service in the Methodist Church at Dundas Yesterday—Town Council Meets This Evening.

Dundas, Nov. 4.—The Rugby boys' sweeping victory in London on Saturday was quite a surprise. Not that they were not expected to win, but that the result should be so one-sided, 20-0. The team and some friends, 55 all told, took a G. T. R. special, leaving here at 12:30, which cost the club $188. The fare charged was $2, so it will be seen that the club lost money. However, it can stand it all right. The weather was principally to blame for the small-crowd that went. The game was played on a deep, muddy field, during an incessant down-pour of rain. The excursion arrived home about 10 o'clock, everybody's headgear decked with white feathers, not excepting Mayor Moss, and Col. Grafton. This was surprising and is explained in this way: Among the excursionists were Wm. J. and Chas. E. Dickson, keen sports both, who, while in London, called upon an uncle, an old time Dundas boy, Jos. O'Rourke, who presented each of them with a pair of fowls. The boys plucked the fowl on the way down, hence the fantastic decorations.

Of late quite a number of the oldest and best known settlers in this section have passed over to the majority, but one of the oldest still remains, Wm. for his age is remarkably smart, and continues to enjoy life quite as well as he did many years ago. This person is Solomon Mills, of Rockview, who is now in his 94th or 95th year. He was for many years an insurance agent and, until recently, a familiar figure in Dundas. It does not get as far away from home as Dundas now, but is still able to move about in the locality of his home.

Masonic service in the Methodist Church yesterday was well attended, considering the very unpleasant state of the weather. Besides the local members, visitors were present from Hamilton and West Flamboro. An appropriate and much appreciated sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. T. J. Mansell, and the choir of the church materially assisted by furnishing good singing for the occasion.

The funeral of the late Wm. Davy took place to Grove Cemetery this afternoon.

Mrs. Wm. D. Nelson is visiting her parental home in Orillia.

Revel services will be conducted in the Baptist Church during this week.

The November meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening when a good night's work awaits the members.

Miss Esther Wilson and Miss Annie Dudenhofer, of Orillia, have been visiting friends in Hamilton.

W. A. Davidson is on a business visit to London.

Alex. Farquharson, who has had charge of the Cataract Power Co.'s, interests here for several years, resigned his position at the month end, and goes in a few days to a similar situation in Toronto.

GUIDE TO SUCCESS.
1. Be critical with your work, that others may judge it less harshly.
2. If a man misjudges you, forgive him. To err is human; to forgive divine.
3. You may have to pay the price for standing by right principles, but your work will show the result.
4. Do not have one set of morals in dress and another in business.
5. The real worker loves his work, and it will sacrifice any pleasure.
6. There may be plenty of clouds in your workday life. Remember that the most beautiful sunsets come often after cloudy days.
7. Hesitate about giving explanations, unless you are asked for them. Apologies are often mistaken for confessions of wrong.
8. Do more than you are paid for. Remember it takes some people a long time to pay their bills.
9. Allow people to criticize your work all they like, but resent any unfair attack on your character.
10. Know more than your work demands. Extra charge is a convenient thing to have.
11. When you get discouraged, try and begin anew.
12. There are those who achieve much when they are young; more learn their rewards with years.
13. Don't be afraid of the sun. He hates to shine on those who are afraid of their own shadows.
14. Recall some of the things your mother taught you when young—they are worth remembering.
15. You can beat a dray horse, but a race horse needs sympathy and encouragement.
16. To-day and to-day make the morrows.
17. Never lie. Honest work is built on true principles.

DETERMINED SUICIDE.
Peigan Indian's Original Method of Killing Himself.

MacLeod, Nov. 3.—A Peigan Indian, anxious to go to the happy hunting grounds, loaded a shotgun yesterday, laid himself down on his bed, and after pointing the gun toward his head, tried to pull the trigger. He was unsuccessful. Failing to catch the trigger he got up, cut away the point of the mossaiss, so that his big toe protruded, lay down again, and this time succeeded in his purpose. When found the top of his head was completely shot off, death having been instantaneous.

A KRIS FOR ROOSEVELT.
Presented by Moro Prince, a Descendant of Mohammed.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Prince San Fulana, a Moro, diminutive, swarthy and seventeen years old, presented himself at the Executive offices of the White House to-day and was received cordially by President Roosevelt. The Prince presented the President with a double-edged kris, which had been in the family of the Prince for 250 years, and has the property of his father, Lamu Ali, who was killed by American soldiers two years ago. The Prince traces his ancestry to Mohammed, 77 generations back.

Priest Dies in London.
London, Oct. 2.—Father Frederick Barry, who recently at Santa Romana Catholic Church, died at his father's home here on Saturday, aged 82. He will be buried tomorrow morning from St. Mary's Church. It is expected that most of the priests of the diocese will be present.

Mr. James Conmee, M. P., states that valuable boy iron dross has been discovered near Port Arthur.

"Money Returned for Any Cause"

The "Semi-ready" Guarantee

What does it mean? "Money returned for any cause." Cause means reason—and for any fair reason or cause of dissatisfaction we give a new suit or refund your money. "Is not such a broad guarantee often abused?" asked a merchant.

Not often. Sometimes it is. In one instance a man demanded his money back after he had worn a $15 Suit for one year and a half. Did he get it? Very nearly. The President said, "Give it to him—just for his nerve." But the Cashier objected, "that this was unreasonable."

For any reasonable cause—and the customer is the judge of that word "reasonable." Does it pay? Honest, good work always pays the workers. Yes, always.

J. McCLUNG, 46 James Street North

THE NEW YORK INSTITUTION ON WHICH THERE WAS A RUN.

KENNETH'S RETURN.

Kenneth Ulrich almost ran down the gang plank, so eager was he to be back in New York. He looked around for a moment, dazzled by the many changes that had confronted him all way up the river, and, selecting a cab, jumped in, giving the cabman orders to drive him to the best hotel in the city.

As the rickety old cab rattled off up Broadway, Kenneth looked out of the window in a vain effort to locate a familiar face or object, but very little remained of his old New York.

The tall skyscrapers, the roar of the underground and the whirr and buzz of countless motor cars were all new to New York since Kenneth's time.

He looked back in the cab and seemed lost amidst this ever-changing panorama until suddenly they drove in sight of Trinity.

Yes, it was the same old Trinity. Time alone had spared Trinity. Then he looked down Wall street and a great bitterness came into his heart.

There was the sub-treasury building, but nothing else remained of the old Wall street he had known.

It was ten years since Kenneth had left Wall street, and many changes had marked his going.

He had been a poor struggling clerk in the offices of Mortimer & Co., bankers, where he had met and fallen in love with Miss Grace Mortimer, whose father was head of the firm and one of the strongest men in the street.

Kenneth, but I am mighty glad to see you. But tell me, when did you get back?"

After Kenneth had told him of his wanderings, his luck and his longing to come back, he asked: "But, Mortimer? Is he still in the street?"

Harry Wade looked at him in amazement. "Why, Kenneth, haven't you heard?"

"Why, old Mortimer is dead. He forced his daughter to marry, thinking the fellow was a rich man, and when he discovered his deception he tried to cover up his mistake by taking his son-in-law to the firm."

"But he was a worthless fellow, and worse than that, a criminal. He forged old Mortimer's name for thousands of dollars and was arrested and sent to prison."

"The old man was forced to the wall, and died of a broken heart."

"But his daughter?" asked Kenneth. "What became of her?"

Her husband died in Sing Sing, and after that she opened a studio, giving lessons in drawing and water-colors. Her friends patronized her, and the last I heard of her she was making quite a go of it.

my fault, and yet you did not write me. If you had written I would never have married him, even though father urged it as he did."

"But I had nothing to offer but my self."

"Well, Kenneth, you should have left some word where I could have found you."

"To make me more miserable!" he asked.

"But you don't seem to have found much happiness where you were." She was looking at the face, whose every line had been touched by the hand of sorrow.

Ten years before he had been a mere boy to whom the world seemed a bright place indeed; now his face had grown serious and the hair grey at the temples, and it became him.

He had not sought forgiveness in dissipation, and she was glad. "I suppose I have changed," he said, noting her glances, "but for a little sadness lurking in the eyes you are the same Grace that has come to me in every land to wake new longings and old hatreds."

"Since I left New York I have not seen or spoken to anyone I used to know. I have kept out of the way because I wanted to forget, but lately something seemed to be calling me back."

"I have been fighting it off for years, but finally grew so hungry for a sight of home, to hear the sound of your voice or to look upon your face that I yielded to the impulse."

"I did not know of your troubles until I arrived and Harry Wade (old me)."

"I never dreamed of finding you this way."

"Does finding me this way make any difference?" she asked, her voice trembling with suppressed emotion.

"Only that it gives you to me forever, and that you will repay me for all the years I have roamed and suffered and hungered for you," he said, taking her in his arms and holding her closer to him.

"Kenneth, I am so glad you came back," she whispered.

Do good to all men, as you have opportunity. Deal out kindness and favors with an unsparring hand. The cause you understand not search out. If you cannot find happiness by direct search, try another plan. Make others happy, and see if that does not make you truly blessed.
