Lady Wyverne's Laughter.

CHAPTER IX.

Then a strange quiet fell upon her. The sound of her sister's voice fell upon her like a sound from a distance. The gentle, faithful heart was wounded right unto death, but she made no sign. She felt relieved when her sister rose at length and said it was growing later; she wanted to be alone and think how much she had been mistaken, and what that mistake would cost her.

The few artful words had their effect. Agatha believed she understood now what had seemed so strange to her before. Lord Lynne had spoken strangely when he had taken her into the conservatory, but she saw what it was. He had wanted her to plead with Ines for him.

"Agatha," he had said, "you know what I have brought you here to tell you."

He had brought her there to tell her that he loved her sister—to ask her to use her influence for him.

"How vain and foolish I was," cried the poor girl, "to think he cared for me!"

Tel how fondly he had looked at her, how tender and musical his voice! She felt almost indignant with him that he had misled her.

"It is well that no one dreams that I care for him," she thought. "I am thankful now that I had no time to speak. I am thankful too that I have kept watch and guard over my own heart, and have not allowed myself to love him as I could have done."

For some days Agatha looked unlike herself; she was gentle and patient, but the brightness seemed gone from her face. During those few days the young girl thought and won a hard battle. Ines had not spoken truly when she said her sister could not feel. She did not know how completely that gentle girl had thought and feeling under control. She did not understand the force and merits of a disciplined character. True, Agatha would never love "too well but not wisely," her heart and affections would go with her duty. She would never have schemed, and planned, and toiled to win a love that was not given to her. Not even to herself would she or did she admit that she loved her cousin unsought and unasked. She said to herself that she had been vain and foolish, that she had mistaken his meaning, that she must cure herself of all such follies, and rejoice in the happiness that was coming to her sister. But she never said that she loved him, because he had not asked her—and part of Agatha's code of honor was, "that no girl should ever give her heart or her love until it was asked for." She would not admit even to herself that she suffered from a strange new pain; she busied herself in the interests of others; she read more, talked more, and would not think.

Mrs. P. G. Murdoch, Box 433, Portage la Prairie, Man., writes: "I was troubled for years with biliousness, constipation, kidney and liver troubles. I tried many different kinds of medicine, but nothing did me much good until I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I now feel fine, but am never without these pills in the house. Dr. Chase's Ointment has relieved my husband of piles, from which he used to suffer badly."

Agatha was not capable of loving or of suffering as deeply as her sister. Neither could she have erred as her sister did. There was no height to which that deep passionate nature could not have attained, there was no depth to which it could not have sunk; but for Agatha there were neither great heights nor great depths. She would have been intensely happy as Lady Lynne. Happy because she could have loved Phillip so dearly, and her life would have been so bright and beautiful passed with him. But if it was not to be,—if Lord Lynne loved her sister,—she must be happy in another way.

Although there was no deep, traded, no broken heart, no silent despair, although even to herself she would not own that it was so, still there was a pain to be fought against and subdued.

"I should like to go away for a time," she thought, "and forget all about it."

In a strange manner this wish was gratified. Evelyn Leigh had a severe and dangerous illness. For many days she was in the greatest peril. When she had somewhat recovered, the doctor for once agreed in saying that she must have change of air and of scene. Hastings was strongly recommended, and Mrs. Leigh took a house there. Evelyn pleaded hard that Agatha Lynne might accompany them, and Agatha herself was anxious to go. Mrs. Lynne slightly demurred, and said that she would be dull and lonely; but she yielded to the entreaties of the sick girl, and it was decided that Agatha should spend the autumn with the Leighs at Hastings. Ines watched her sister's departure with the greatest relief. "Now I have the field to myself," she said; "and it will be hard if I do not succeed."

When Phillip heard from his mother that Agatha had gone for a long visit to the Leighs, he determined to return home before he went to Scotland. It would look better and less strange, he thought, than if he kept away altogether.

Lord Lynne had been grieved, and pained, and annoyed. He did not like to judge Agatha harshly, but he could not help feeling that she had in some degree misled him. She must have seen how much he cared for her, he thought, and she might have saved him the mortification. They had been confidential friends at least, and she might have told him that she loved Allan Leigh.

Phillip could not forget Agatha. He smiled when he remembered that he had once fancied he loved Florence Wyverne. He knew more of what love was now. He had held his whole heart at the feet of that gentle fair girl, and he could not forget his love. No mercenary thought had been mixed with it. He wished to marry Agatha Lynne because he loved her. He never dreamed of marrying Ines without love, simply because she had money. Just at this time he thought very little about his uncle's will; he only remembered that he had loved in vain. He thought but little, and cared as little, that the time was coming when he would have to lose the splendid heritage that might have been his.

CHAPTER X.

The autumn months came and went, and still Agatha remained with the Leighs at Hastings. Evelyn's recovery seemed at times doubtful. They had decided to remain there for the winter, and to go abroad in the spring. Lord Lynne had stayed for three weeks at Lynsweil, before he went to Scotland for his shooting. During those three weeks he was thrown constantly into the society of Ines. He would have had a heart harder than marble to have resisted her beauty and her grace; she dressed so well; her toilet was recherche, and displayed such exquisite taste. During the long autumn evenings she sang to him, until his heart thrilled with a rich passionate melody of her voice. All her wit, her genius, her talent, were called into requisition in order to amuse him. The consequence was, that during the whole time of his visit to Lynsweil not one moment appeared heavy or dull. She had always something with which to engross or amuse him.

"I had no idea, Ines," he said to her one day, "that you could be so amusing. I used to think you proud and reserved."

"No one ever cares for me," she replied, with a very frank smile. "When Agatha is near, small stars are eclipsed by the sun."

She looked so candid, and smiled so frankly, that her words quite misled Phillip, and he inwardly reproached himself that he had been unjust to her—that he, as well as every one else, had neglected her for Agatha.

"I have always felt myself half an interloper," she continued, sadly, "although I am Lord Lynne's eldest child. Was ever fate so strange or sad as mine?"

It was the first time she had spoken of herself; and the sad, musical voice, with its half-foreign accent, touched all the fountains of tenderness and chivalry in Lord Lynne's heart.

"Have we seemed cold or unkind to you, Ines?" he asked, gently.

"At times," she replied, "I have felt quite alone."

He looked at the beautiful face and the large liquid eyes moist with tears. Could this woman, with her rare Southern beauty, have felt sad and lonely? Had he, wrapped up in his vain love for another, forgotten and neglected her? Never had Lord Lynne felt so much inclined to love, his cousin; never before had she so nearly touched his heart. She saw the impression her words produced. She was too wise to weaken them by repetition.

"I am tiring you," she said. "I forgot my little troubles interest no human being beside myself. You said yesterday, Lord Lynne, you would like to hear that Venetian barcarolle. Shall I sing it to you?"

A Child's Cold.

Little people are very susceptible to a change of temperature, and a bad cold may be started by a child suddenly leaving a warm room for a chilly passage or staircase. A practical point to remember is the danger of a cold travelling from one child to another through using the same handkerchief, or sleeping in the same bed. When a child develops cold, he need not be kept in bed unless there is a rise in his temperature; a gentle aperient, a light diet for a day or two and warmth are advisable. But if his temperature has risen, keep him in bed, in a warm, well-ventilated room. In an ordinary cold, the main things are warmth, hot drinks, and light diet. A little vaseline and eucalyptus oil, mixed in the proportion of one ounce vaseline to one drachm of oil, may be applied to the nostrils, with a camel-hair brush, and it is well to sprinkle a few drops of eucalyptus on the child's night garments, thus compelling him to breathe an antiseptic atmosphere.

WINTER ILLS

The scientist was often puzzled to account for the efficacy of cod-liver oil. The discovery of vitamins has helped solve the riddle.

Scott's Emulsion

Is rich in health-building vitamins and is a helpful factor in preventing the so-called "winter ill." It helps keep the vital forces of the body strong to resist disease.

Cock of the Rock.

Cock of the rock is a remarkable bird of South America, so called from building its nest on rocks. It is about the size of a pigeon. The male is almost purely orange in plumage and has a remarkable flared crest. The female is of a dull olive brown, and is uncrested. The birds inhabit rocky water courses and bushy hillsides, where they remain close to the ground and build their nests, largely of mud, on some rock. The males court the females by assembling for "displays" in certain cleared spaces, each displaying its showy plumage by queer antics, until chosen by some observant hen. Great numbers of the birds are killed annually, as their skins not only command a high price for millinery purposes, but are much employed by the Indians in making a variety of beautiful decorations. They are thus becoming rare. A large state mummy, formerly worn by the Emperor of Brazil, was entirely composed of their feathers. The flesh of the bird is well favored, but of a very peculiar color, being bright orange red.

Rheumatic Pains

Are relieved in a few days by taking 30 drops of Rheumal's Syrup after meals and on retiring. It dissolves the lime and acid accumulation in the muscles and joints so these deposits can be expelled, thus relieving pain and soreness. Rheumal's Syrup, also known as "Extract of Roots," contains no drugs nor other strong drugs to kill or mask the pain of rheumatism or lumbago; it relieves the cause. 50c. and $1.00 bottles at druggists.

The S.S. "Navarra" brought us a large cargo of "Westmoreland" double screened GAS COAL. The coal is mined in Pennsylvania and is unexcelled for Works operations. The coke is very high quality, and is a fine substitute for hard coal. Our Ammonium Sulphate is the best fertilizer extant. We are prepared for increasing business, and cordially invite enquiries. ## Lord Curzon Demands Russia's Full Compliance With British Demands.

Police Again Raid Communists in Cape Breton--James Curran, a Newfoundland-lander, Killed at New Aberdeen--U. S. Demands Release of Foreigners From Chinese Bandits.

RUSSIA GROWS INSISTENT.

SAO CHIWANG, May 17. The Province of Shantung must get foreign captives out of the grip of Szechow bandits and talk terms towards, otherwise there will be drastic action," was the ultimatum given to the Chinese Government late yesterday by Jacob Curran, U.S. Minister to China.

NEWFOUNDLANDER KILLED.

SYDNEY, May 7. James Curran, 22, a native of Newfoundland, was instantly killed by a bullet of coal in number two colliery, Aberdeen, to-day. He was un-

MINERS AND CURZON IN CONFERENCE.

LONDON, May 17. Lord Curzon, Russian Soviet representative of foreign trade, had a conference with Marquis Curzon, the Foreign Office to-day, during the recent exchange of views between the two governments. Both had agreed to reveal nothing publicly, regarding the nature of the discussion.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT THE WHOLE SUBJECT OF RUSSO-BRITISH RELATIONS WERE REVIEWED IN THE LIGHT OF ALLEGATIONS CONTAINED IN GREAT BRITAIN'S RECENT ULTIMATUM.

The British Foreign Secretary extended the time limit of the original ultimatum to enable M. Krassin to communicate with the Moscow Government but, at the same time, it is understood that he made it clear to Krassin that nothing short of full compliance with all British demands would be acceptable. It is expected in official circles that the negotiations will result in an amicable solution. In the Commons to-day the Laborites expressed a fear that during the Whitnitude recess the Government might take some step against Russia without parliamentary consent. Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Ronald MacNeil, contended that the British ultimatum to Russia still stood, and that all that had been done was to give opportunity for M. Krassin to communicate with his Government. Stanley Baldwin, as the Leader of the House supported this view, and declared should it become obvious that no agreement was possible, the Government could not be tied down in its action that Parliament was not sitting. At the same time it was hopeful of a favorable issue. Close pressed by Ramsey MacDonald, he admitted that this did not necessarily mean acceptance of the British ultimatum, word for word, comma for comma, but a general satisfaction of British demands.

THORNTON IS HOPEFUL.

NEW YORK, May 17. That he had never been more optimistic regarding the future of Canadian National Railways, than he was at present; that he had been hampered by political interference since accepting the Presidency, that he was confident that the huge deficit on the lines operated by the Canadian Government would ultimately be a surplus, was the hopeful outlook expressed by Sir Henry Thornton, when he arrived here to-day for a series of business conferences.

MINERS PROTEST RAIDS.

SYDNEY, May 17. The next raid by Provincial Police upon the homes or places of residence of United Mine Workers, or the arrest of any of those whose premises have already been raided, and reported literature seized, will be the signal for the calling of a twenty-four hour strike in Glace Bay, and adjoining coal fields, according to a resolution, passed unanimously at a meeting of four to five thousand miners in Alexandra, Rink, Glace Bay.

A VOICE FROM THE DEAD.

MONTREAL, May 17. Washing ashore at St. John, N.B., of a plank bearing the message, "lost ship and crew, one, Captain Burns survives," is believed to tell of the loss, five years ago off Barbados, of the schooner E. E. Armstrong, Capt. Burns was the skipper of the ship. The most romantic aspect of all is that the plank with thousands of miles of Atlantic seaboard to choose from came to rest in the home port of the vessel, St. John, from where she made her last voyage.

BONAR LAW AND BEAVERBROOK.

LONDON, May 17. Political circles attach importance to the departure of Lord Beaverbrook for Paris to join Bonar Law, fresh rumours having arisen that the Premier's health is causing apprehension, and that his resignation is possible. It is generally believed that Beaverbrook holds very definite views about Bonar Law's successor.

SCHOONER ASHORE.

EAST HAMPTON, N.J., May 17. The three-masted schooner North-clipper, out of Paroboro, N.S., driven ashore by yesterday's gale, three miles west of the coastguard station here, was to-day breaking up on the beach. The schooner is 14 days out from Turk's Cove with salt for Bucksport, Maine.

SHORT HISTORY.

I don't like boys--yet they take me everywhere; to dances, to parties, and even to school. They clutch me, they press me and squeeze me. They get all the enjoyment out of me they can and then they throw me away. Sometimes I am picked up, but am always cast aside in the end. Why should they take advantage of me so? They know I am helpless and unprotected, but what can I expect? I am only a Cigarette.

Motor Lorry Goes Over Embankment.

NEWFOUNDLANDER HAS NARROW ESCAPE.

While Mr. Bart Crossman of Harvey & Co.'s employ was returning home by rail from a visit to Boston recently, the train in which he was travelling to St. John, N.B., encountered the heavy floods that caused so much damage in New Brunswick which stalled the train. In order to get the passengers to their destination motor lorries were procured and Mr. Crossman with fifteen others of the party boarded one of the lorries, and had not proceeded very far when it went over an embankment, throwing all the occupants out, all of whom sustained minor injuries. Mr. Crossman suffered a sprained arm and a badly bruised shoulder, besides other minor injuries, and is still feeling the effects of the crash. How the occupants escaped instant death is indeed miraculous, as the embankment was a very steep one.

Nfld. Highlanders Parade

COLONEL PATERSON ADDRESSES LADS.

Last evening the Nfld. Highlanders held the first parade for the summer months in their Armoury, Harvey Road. Lieut. Paterson, the Commanding Officer, and a large number of officers and lads being on parade. The Colonel in his address to the lads, congratulated them on their smart appearance and for the large number on parade. He hoped that the boys would take an active part in everything pertaining to the best interests of the brigade, and felt assured that everyone would work shoulder to shoulder and bring the kilties up to full strength. Quartermaster, Capt. H. McNeil has a full line of equipment in the Quartermaster's Department. The new kit looks quite smart and attractive, while the new Khaki Tunic in itself has a very neat appearance. The Highlanders are now comfortably settled away in their new quarters, and officers and lads alike are looking forward to the work of the brigade with greater interest than ever.

New Skipper for Britannia.

There can be few yachting skippers with a higher record of prizes won than Captain Albert Turner, the new skipper of the King's famous yacht Britannia. Captain Turner has secured more than 500 "souvenirs" during his 20 years' association with Sir William Burton, owner of many racing yachts, and this year, with his new charge, is hoping to add still further to his successes. No yacht crew can boast of so many winning flags as the Britannia, but as she has been on the water for nearly 30 years, she has had to be practically replanked at the bottom, the task taking about 1,500 feet of oak.

Secret of His Success.

One of the most noted, successful and richest men of this country in a recent article said, "Whatever I am and whatever success I have attained in this world I owe it all to my wife. From the first day I knew her she had been an inspiration and the greatest helpmate of my life." Health is the first essential of every woman who wants to be a successful wife and to hold the love and admiration of her husband. If a woman finds her energies flagging and dark circles appearing under her eyes, she has backache, headaches, nervousness and "the blues," she should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the medicine which holds the record of helping 98 out of every 100 women who try it. There is nothing better.

Thomas Meighan a Gangster in New Film.

Thomas Meighan, the popular Paramount star, appears as a gangster and gunman in his latest Paramount picture, "The Frontier of the Stars," which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre to-day. This is by far the "roughest" role in which the virile star has been seen.

Mr. Meighan has the role of Buck Lattle, leader of the Forsyth Street Gang, which he holds because of his cleverness, utter disregard of danger and two capable fists. When he is fleeing from Phil Hoyt, a Bowery detective, Buck hides to the rooftops, and there runs upon Hilda Shea, sister-in-law of the detective, a cripple, who has spent most of her life in a wheel chair on the roof.

From then on is unfolded an interesting study in two entirely different personalities, Hilda with her sweet philosophy of life and her belief that everything is good, and Buck with just as firm a conviction that there is no good. Fairs Binney plays opposite the star.

Norma Talmadge at Her Best.

"SMILIN' THROUGH" IS COMING TO THE NICKEL.

"Smilin' Through," Norma Talmadge's screen version of Allen Langdon Martin's famous stage play, will be the piece-de-resistance at the Nickel Theatre next week, beginning Monday.

According to all advance reports, this is the biggest screen achievement of Miss Talmadge. The production has been filmed on a lavish scale under the direction of Sidney Franklin.

A cast of unusual excellence appears in support of the star and includes Wynndham Standing, Harrison Ford, Alec B. Francis, Glenn Hunter, Grace Griswold, Miriam Battista and Eugene Lockhart.

Miss Talmadge plays a dual role in a dramatic story of great heart interest. She is seen as the beautiful Moneysen, who is killed by a rejected suitor on her wedding day and as Kathleen, niece of Moneysen, who falls in love with the son of the man who caused the death of her aunt.

The role, it is said, gives Norma a great opportunity to exercise her extraordinary talents as a wonderful emotional and dramatic actress.

The production is a First National attraction.

She was a country chicken. He was a village youth. He thought her "sassy pickin'!" And so she was, forsooth!

And after he had picked her, He hung her on a hook— Where everyone might see her, Who cared to take a look.

She was a country chicken. Quite undressed, we'll admit— Her bones weren't easy pickin' By a great big little bit!

It is rather a shock to be confronted suddenly with the fact that the laws demand obedience from you as well as from any one else.

The citizens of Wabana were treated to a strange sight recently when a man astride a lion, with a wildcat under each arm and using a rattlesnake as a quirt, stopped in front of a drug store, hitched the lion to the post and entering the drug store demanded a soft drink in a loud voice. The clerk asked him what he consisted to soft drink. "Oh! gimme a shot of Carbolic Acid with Blue Vitrol as a chaser," was the reply. "Those guys at Mer Rouge are getting so tough that a peaceable guy like me has to get out."

The clerk fainted.

"I thought you could keep a secret,"

said her friend. "Well, I kept it for a week," was the reply. "Do you think I'm a cold-storage plant?"

The hardest luck is usually home made.

The "Whack"

When the Government was recently faced with a sudden and violent wave of unemployment, it may be admitted that the "Whack" was the speediest and probably the only way of meeting the crisis. And it is probably true that the "Whack" saved many people from utter starvation; but the "Whack" is not a cure for unemployment and it probably does more harm than good, in as much as it is issued by the Government and some people begin to regard it as their right. England has been faced by the same crisis, and the Dole was introduced to combat the unemployment situation. The London Daily Mail, which is running a series of articles on "Scandals of the Dole," has this to say about the ruinous effect that the Dole creates:

"Even when corporations start relief works, such as building roads, it does not solve the moral problem. What is the good of putting a pick or shovel into the hands of a skilled artisan? It does not give him the mental satisfaction which would restore his self-respect, and he soon perceives that he is of less value in the work than the ordinary navy. The feeling of charity and uselessness will gall him still, especially if he knows that the very road he is making is not really wanted.

In the long run unemployment can only be solved by methods that are financially productive. The law of supply and demand is at the root of the question, and so long as the community is misled into thinking that they can live without working, so long will unemployment remain acute. And so long will fraud continue; plenty of people are drawing relief who are not "available" for work, but they are so seldom offered work that it is not discovered whether they are available or not.

The Dole is a form of paralysis. Permissible as a measure of urgency, it has now fastened itself upon the country like a fatal disease. Men must be insured against unemployment, but they must be made to realize that it is an insurance. Equally society must justify itself by a constructive policy, and not merely feel satisfied by putting forward demoralizing palliatives."

Magistrates Court.

"Economy" Should Now Be the Watchword.

If Newfoundland is to continue a self-governing Dominion, the watchword or slogan of Economy should be proclaimed from one end of the country to the other. Our interest debt on bonds, Foreign and Domestic loans is now about $3,000,000, and as the prospective value of fisheries for the coming summer at the price that are likely to rule will be only about $7,000,000. There will be left out of the treasury only about four and a half dollars to meet the civil service and all other obligations. Allowing all these other industries to produce a local value of four million dollars, we shall still be short between about two million dollars of the amount necessary to meet our requirements. The $3,000,000 made up of two loans borrowed by the present Government and the $3,000,000 left in the Treasury by the late Government have all been dissipated with very little to show for it except the additional taxation. The obvious duty for the Government then is to cut out all unnecessary expenditure and the very extravagance that has been going on for the past three and a half years, and thereby furnish an example to the whole country. If the Government is patriotic, honest and sincere in their professions to govern the country with a view to the well-being of the people and the preservation of our independence, they will do this; if not it is inevitable that we shall either drift into Confederation or back to the status of a Crown Colony and have to call on a Receiver before this Government is half way through its term of office. All this is quite plain to any man who gives the least serious consideration to our present financial condition. As to borrowing more millions, we have about come to the end of our tether. When the country was in financial difficulties before under the Government of Sir Robert Bond after the Bank Crash he did not hesitate to apply the printing press and cut down all expenditure that could be dispensed with and reduced temporarily the civil service allocations till the country recovered her financial status. We have approached a very much worse economic crisis to-day and the newly elected Government will be recreant to their duty and to the conduct that the people expect on their part if they fail to cut down expenditure by a programme of rigid economy. There are many useless departments and offices that could be dispensed with both in the city and the outports, and the civil service. It is well known, is overmanned and the work could be done by half the employees just as efficiently as at present. Able bodied men are turned out of their offices and jobs on the slightest excuse and given a pension. It is time that this should stop. The gospel of honest work should be preached to the people and they should be told that the qualities that are now essential to save Newfoundland are "Economy" and "An honest day's work for an honest day's pay," but as we said, the Government themselves should set the example and reform at the fountain head.

To-Morrow's Rugby.

CITY vs. B. F. C. The city Rugby team, which went down to defeat in their match with the B.F.C. lads on Saturday last, will play a return game at the Tannery Field to-morrow afternoon. The city team since their last appearance have had a good practice, with the result that the scrums and forward positions have been strengthened considerably. They have been fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Wilson, who a few years ago played with Kendall Football Team, of Wexham, England, and Mr. Rodney, who figured with the University teams in London. To-morrow's clash promises to be hard fought and very interesting. The city line-up will be as follows:—I. Withers, D. Clouston, E. Fox, A. Bruce, A. Johnson, D. Rodney, Capt. Goodfellow, J. Paterson, C. Paterson, R. Taylor, R. Martin, H. Carter, W. McDonald, J. Wilson and W. Clouston. A large attendance of enthusiasts of the game is expected to be present.

"Nationalization."

Mr. Coaker's new dream of the "Nationalization of Fish" is the skeleton in the new government that the Premier knows is going to be a source of trouble and a serious impediment to the normal resumption of business if the "Dictator of the North" persists in putting it into effect. True, Mr. Coaker has been shorn of his big majorities but nominally he is as powerful as ever, and he knows it. The Premier also knows it, and cannot but anticipate a continuance of the old troubles of 1920 and 1921; when he was compelled to dance every tune to the time played by Mr. Coaker. The Premier knows that the President of the F. P. U. must be induced to abandon his scheme of "Nationalization" of fish which did him such good service up North in the election; otherwise the merchants will not risk giving out credit supplies for the fishery. The merchants may sensibly and correctly take the position that there must first be a guarantee that there will be no interference with individual free and independent export of fish before they will undertake to issue supplies. And so there is a deadlock. The Premier knows that the merchants are right; that Mr. Coaker is wrong, but he has to hold his office at any cost as he did in the past, and we have no doubt, that if Mr. Coaker persists in his attitude, Sir Richard Squires will have to submit. The Nationalization scheme the merchants know, well; is the "Fish Regulations" under a new name, and one would imagine that the experience of 1919 and 1920 in the foreign markets would be sufficient to teach Mr. Coaker that he should never contemplate government control of fish export again. His egotism and stubborn pride are such that he prefers to risk another equally foolish experiment, rather than differ from the opinions of others. The very knowledge on the part of foreign purchasers of fish that we had adopted by law such a scheme as is proposed would be the signal for a boycott against our fish in all the markets of Europe and America, and they can afford to do this now better than ever as they can get all the fish they require from Norway, Iceland and France. As we see it, Mr. Coaker's scheme, if carried into practical effect the coming fall, would be "national suicide" for our fish trade. The injury and annoyance and interference with individual effort at this and would be nothing compared to the injury to our prospective fish sales in the foreign market. Mr. Coaker evidently leaves one factor out of his calculations and that is sentiment—a factor that can't be grappled with and can't be killed. The fish buyers abroad have their share of it.

Little River Coal Co.

BORING OPERATIONS TO BEGIN SHORTLY. In a very short while the Little River Coal-Mining Co., Ltd., hope to begin operations at their property at St. George's. During last winter the company purchased a 4 1/2 inch core drill from the Ingersoll Rand Company, New York and had made arrangements for having it in operation during the month of March. Unfortunately through the unprecedented transportation difficulties they were unable to carry out their intentions. The drill has been routed, via North Sydney and arriving here April 4th, it is now being forwarded to Little River. Capable of boring to a depth of two thousand feet the apparatus will be of great assistance to the Company in ascertaining the extent of the coal deposits on their property.

Gaelic League.

At last night's meeting of the Gaelic League an interesting and instructive paper was read by Mr. M. Walsh entitled "Nationalism in Anglo-Irish Literature." The lecturer reviewed the works of the best known Irish writers during the period since the English language became the medium through which Irish national writers expressed their views, not only did the writings of Irishmen during this time keep alive the spirit of Irish Nationalism and ideals but they had also the effect of enriching in a large measure English literature. Amongst the best known Irish writers of prose and verse, whose works are written in the English language, we find the names of Swift, Goldsmith, Griffin, Wolfe, Tone, Charles Lever, Carleton, Lover, Kicham, Sheridan, Moore, Davis, Manzoni, Mitchell, Ferguson, Canon Sheehan and Wm. Rooney. The literary work of the "Young Irishmen" was noted as was also that of many other writers whose names are less known to fame. At the conclusion of the lecture on motion of Mr. James O'Neill Conroy, a most hearty vote of thanks was accorded the lecturer by acclamation. During the week a Gaelic language class under the direction of Mrs. M. Walsh, B.A., held its first session and satisfactory progress was made.

Supreme Court.

(Before Chief Justice Horwood.) King vs. Bertram Squires. A panel of 48 jurors was summoned from which the following were selected: Thos. Pope, John Power, Jeremiah Healey, Stanley Coffey, Sam Ryan, A. Cranford, Thos. Dunn, Charles Moore, E. Hamlyn, Enos Clarke, Peter Murphy, Joseph Hunt. After the selection of the jury the remaining jurors were dismissed and the session was held in camera, owing to the nature of the offence. Mr. John Barron appeared for the Crown. The prisoner, who pleaded not guilty, when arraigned a few days ago with the other party to the alleged offence, one Richard Grey, was not represented by counsel. The first witness called was Mr. French, the Superintendent of the S. A. M. M. He deposed to what he had witnessed between the accused men on the afternoon of April 21st. The prisoner made a short cross-examination of the witness and denied practically all the evidence. The second witness for the Crown was Edward O'Neil, an inmate of the Metropolitan, who occupied the same bedroom at the above institution as the accused Grey. The accused was not in his cross-examination and called the witness a liar. This closed the case for the Crown. The accused was then given the privilege of being sworn as a witness or of making a statement on his own behalf. Squires thereupon made a statement to the jury, occupying about five minutes. Mr. Barron began his summing up on behalf of the Crown at noon and occupied about a quarter of an hour. This followed the summing up by the Chief Justice. The jury was out less than a half hour when they returned to court with a verdict of guilty. The prisoner will come up for sentence next week. The trial of Richard Grey takes place to-morrow forenoon.

Inter-Club Billiards.

R.L.S. INCREASE THEIR LEAD. The Inter-Club Billiard Tournament between the Masonic and B.I.S. players was resumed last night. Two games were played, each having resulted in victories for the Irishmen. The B.I.S. gained an additional 41 points last night, and are holding a comfortable lead for the honors. In the first game Harum (Masonic) lost to Constantine (B.I.S.) by 55 points. The breaks were:—Constantine (350)—21, 15, 14, 10, 19, 19, 12—124. Harum (294)—11, 10, 13, 10, 14, 10—68. The second game was between Hickey (B.I.S.) and Strang (Masonic). Both players gave a splendid exhibition. The scoring was close all the way through, and very exciting billiards was witnessed towards the close. Hickey won out by a margin of 5 points. Following are the breaks:—Hickey (250)—10, 12, 10, 13, 11, 13, 25, 14, 13—148. Strang (248)—11, 10, 11, 32, 19, 12, 19, 15, 14, 20—162.

The Test That Counts.

If the ladies of St. John's did not approve of Richard Hudnut's Three Flowers Perfume and toilet goods, we would not be interested in writing this article. It would be useless to talk about a perfume that did not have the approval of the ladies. However, St. John's ladies have most decidedly approved of the Three Flowers line, and it is to-day among the leading sellers in many stores. Many people will not use anything else now, and the fact that they can get the beautiful Three Flowers odor in all their toilet requirements, has been an extra inducement for many fastidious persons to adopt this delicate and distinctive perfume. It is nice to have the Face Cream, Powder and Perfume identical in odor. It creates a distinctiveness, a real personality, which any lady can be proud to be associated with. If you have not used the Three Flowers Toiletum, you are missing a real treat.—may18,21

Miss K. Fraser's Pupils.

TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT IN CANON WOOD HALL. On Tuesday evening, May 29th, those citizens who have the interest and welfare of the Labrador Public Schools at heart will have an opportunity to give it practical evidence, and at the same time receive a couple of hours' good entertainment when Miss Kathleen Fraser's pupils produce their entertainment in Canon Wood Hall. The Junior pupils in Miss Fraser's class will present the touching love scene from King Henry V. and all the beauty of the scene will be brought out. A delightful concert programme has been arranged, features of which will be the recitation by Miss Marjorie Glass, the "Last Rose of Summer" by Mr. F. Dobbin, with flower drill, Miss Mary Halley will execute a dance somewhat similar to her great success in "Plata's Daughter," and Miss Doris Mews will repeat the "Radium Dance," which created such favor at the Masonic Ball. In addition to the foregoing the senior pupils will present a two-act comedy entitled, "Miss Malabar's Management." Messrs. Arthur Cliff, Edward Knight and Dick Fraser will assist, and the production will be a rare treat. Miss Fraser's class has earned a high reputation for splendid performance, and this fact, coupled with the worthiness of the object should draw a crowded house. The entire show will be repeated later at the K. of C. Memorial School in aid of the Mercy Convent.

Girl Guides' Variety Entertainment.

Our readers are reminded of the big Variety Entertainment to be held on Thursday Evening, Empire Day, at the Majestic Theatre, at 8.30 p.m., in aid of the funds of the Girl Guides Association. Many well known amateurs have consented to help Mrs. C. McKinnis Harvey in her splendid effort to assist the Guides, and a delightful time is assured. Amongst those taking part in the Tableau Vivants are—Mrs. Warren; Misses Allardice, Sheila Ayre, Campbell, Cleary, C. Crane, Croobie, V. Croobie, Doyle, M. Gibb, J. Herder, E. Johnson, E. Macpherson, G. Milley, Reid, F. Reid, M. Rendell, O. Rennie, Sime; Messrs. E. Browning; R. Martin; Misses Margaret Baird, Mary McLaughlin, Margaret Parsons, Vera Sullivan, Phyllis Warren, Barbara Winter, Marjorie Young; Masters Gordon Baird, Alex. Croobie, Teddy Manney, Gerald Winter. Mrs. O'Quarbridge has kindly undertaken to reproduce the very amusing play "Mrs. Brown's At Home Day," with Mrs. LeMessurier in her inimitable part as "Sabina," and Mrs. R. Cheshire as "Miss Brown." Mr. Holmes of the Grenfell Institute will give one of his characteristic and humorous sketches, and the Guides themselves will form the closing Tableau. The funds are urgently required to assist the equipment of the new Company and towards Headquarters for the rapidly increasing sisterhood.

Newfoundland Cod Liver Oil

HIGH VALUE FROM BIOLOGICAL STANDPOINT.

An interesting paper was read at a meeting of the Society of Chemical Industry, held at the Engineers' Club in London on Monday last, April 9th, on the subject of the cod liver oil industry in Newfoundland.

The Medical Research Council of Great Britain, in association with the Department of Fisheries, recently sent Dr. E. S. Zilva, of the Lister Institute of Preventive Medicine, to Newfoundland, to enquire into the conditions of the production of the medicinal oils obtained in the colony. Dr. Zilva was accompanied on his journey by Mr. Michael Graham, of the Department of Agriculture and Fisheries. Mr. Graham's part in the enquiry being in relation to the biological aspects of the investigation.

Both these specialists have issued reports of the result of their enquiries, and Dr. Zilva read a paper at the meeting above referred to. In his remarks Dr. Zilva mentioned that the two great cod liver oil producing countries were Norway and Newfoundland, and that the Newfoundland commodity was in all respects equal, and in many ways superior, to the oil produced in Norway.

The cod liver oil industry has a new interest to medical science for its therapeutic value in the treatment of disease. It possesses vitamins so essential to the nourishment of the human body, and the oils prepared in Newfoundland have a very high vitamin potency. Indeed, as Dr. Zilva remarked, not only is the vitamin value of the refined oil very great, but the lower grade oil known as "common cod oil," and sold for industrial purposes, possesses vitamin value in a larger degree than butter.

Purity and Quality.

At the conclusion of the paper, Mr. Victor Gordon, the Acting High Commissioner for Newfoundland, was asked to open a discussion. In doing so, Mr. Gordon said that they were all very greatly indebted to Dr. Zilva for his illuminating address, which should prove a valuable addition to chemical science. Having vivid memories of his childhood, he never thought he could become enthusiastic about cod-liver oil, but Dr. Zilva and his colleague, Dr. J. C. Drummond, had so stimulated interest in this commodity that one could not help being enthused. Dr. Zilva had enlightened them as to the very high value and the increased importance of the Newfoundland medicinal oils, and it was extremely gratifying to hear him testify to the superiority of that oil over that produced by its competitor. It was a true tribute to the up-to-dateness and efficiency of the Newfoundland mercantile community to hear Dr. Zilva state that the Newfoundland medicinal oil, no matter from whom obtained, was of consistent purity and uniform quality. This was due to the fact that the Government system of inspection and supervision of the process of manufacture ("the direct steam process") was very rigidly enforced. It was extremely interesting and satisfying to know that the Newfoundland oil was taken exclusively from fresh cod livers, whereas the Norwegian product was won from a "mixed catch." Taking the degree roughly over a period of years, the imports of cod liver oil to Great Britain from Norway were five times greater than the imports of this commodity from Newfoundland.

Mr. Gordon thanked Dr. Zilva for his interesting lecture, and congratulated the Medical Research Council on its enterprise in taking up this matter, which was of great importance to Newfoundland and to the Empire.

Several scientists who were present at the meeting made interesting contributions to the discussion.—Canada, April 14th.

MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR BURNS AND SCALDS.

Suicide During Sleep?

Remarkable Story at Inquest on Hunchback.

"It is possible that this man might have been in a state of somnambulism and was guided by some sixth sense," said Mr. H. R. Oswald, when holding an inquest at Paddington, London, on a man who committed suicide by cutting his throat, after making an attack on his sister.

The man, William Bond, aged 40, a painter's labourer, of 38 Kilravock Street, Paddington, was a hunchback of a very nervous disposition, who had suffered from shock due to air raids. His sister, Annie Bond, said that on Saturday he dozed off to sleep in his chair after dinner, and while she was reading she suddenly felt several heavy blows on the head. Looking round she was amazed to see her brother standing by with a mallet in his hand.

"His Eyes Were Closed."

"He was undoubtedly asleep," she said, "for his eyes were closed and he never spoke to me." He followed her down the passage, and she ran into the street, screaming for assistance, but the passers-by would take no notice of her. Returning to the kitchen she found her brother again sitting in his chair, apparently fast asleep. She slapped his face and endeavoured to wake him up, but without success. She left the room for a few moments, and on returning found her brother lying on the floor with his throat cut.

Miss Bond added that her brother had never shown signs of insanity, but used to walk in his sleep. He was once stopped in a state of somnambulism when attempting to get out of a window.

First Case Among Thousands.

A doctor stated that he could not understand how Bond could have seen to have hit his sister if his eyes were closed. The wound in the man's throat was the largest wound ever seen in such a case; death must have been practically instantaneous.

Recording a verdict of "Suicide while of unsound mind," the Coroner said it was a very peculiar case, and he had not had one like it among the thousands he had had during the course of a long career. There was no doubt the man was not accountable for his action.

Russia's Child Criminals.

BOYS AND GIRLS' SECRET SERVICE AS AN ANTIDOTE.

A Riga telegram says that in an effort to fight "the plague of children in Moscow," the "Cheka" has announced the organization of a special branch, which will be known as "The Children's Cheka." All members of this new department of the dreaded Soviet Secret Service will be children, the oldest members being boys and girls of 16 years of age.

Russia enjoys the sad fame of having more orphans than any other country in the world, declares the "Moscow Pravda." From every portion of Russia they flock into the cities, and from every city they beg and steal their way into Moscow. Fourteen and fifteen year old boys murder and rob. There are no criminal statistics for Moscow or other Russian cities at present, but if such statistics were compiled the total number of murders, disappearances without trace, robberies and hold-ups would be terrifying. And, the children are responsible for many of these.

The illegal drug and liquor traffic carried on by these children is enormous and, as a result of its investigations, the Moscow-Soviet has asked the All-Russian Central Executive Committee to take immediate measures to combat this peril. The Committee has ordered the Extraordinary Commission to form a special children's "Cheka," to fight this class of infant criminals.—Liverpool Post.

One Fish a Season.

Swordfishing for broadbill swordfish with roll and reel no doubt heads the list of the most strenuous kinds of angling. This remarkable form of sport has been practised for a number of years on the Pacific Coast in the neighbourhood of Santa Catalina Island and to a less extent, and more recently along the Atlantic seaboard. In many respects it is the most fascinating of all forms of fishing. C.K. Stillman writes in the Health Builder.

There is considerable difficulty in finding the prospective victims as they swim or float solitary near the surface of the sea, and more yet when found, in persuading them to bite. Once hooked, the swordfish is a very resourceful antagonist and hard to keep on the line. The angler never knows what is going to happen next and is never entirely free from apprehension that the fish may attack his boat. No fishing is more productive of super thrills and of grievous disappointments. To the swordfish angler the landing of one fish is a season's triumph.

CLINGS TO ANCIENT TRADITIONS

LONDON, April 28.—The bank in which Samuel Pepps kept an account—which remained overdrawn when he died—has just celebrated its 260th anniversary. It is one of the three oldest banks in London, and goes by the name of Messrs. Hoare & Co. Since the beginning it has been ruled by the Hoare family, eldest son succeeding eldest son as head of the firm.

Time has not changed many of the customs begun by the founders. To this day a member of the house of Hoare sleeps every night in one of the quiet bedrooms overlooking a peaceful garden in the rear of the banking house, which is in Fleet Street.

Every morning at 9 o'clock he unlocks the big front door with a huge key. This tradition began in the seventeenth century. In those days coaches could not be depended upon to get one down to business on time, so one of the partners was assigned to sleep in the bank.

In the old days a leather black-jack hung outside the door, the bank being at the sign of "Ye Olde Leather Bottell." The black-jack is still a part of the bank, and so is a fine old Georgian stove, and quill pens. Adding machines have not noised their way into the business.

A staircase leads to handsome family apartments, where every day the partners still lunch around a gleaming mahogany table, using an old sand sprinkler for a pepper pot. The chairs about the table were made by Chippendale especially for the room, and around the walls hang portraits of the generations of oldest sons who have ruled the bank.

Pepps' account is to be seen in the entries of the surviving ledgers. It records that he deposited 200 pounds in 1680—long after the diary stops. Pepps soon overdraw the account by thirteen pounds, and it never thereafter balanced. Later, Cromwell did business at the bank, but his account did not slip into the red.

"Why should New Year's Day be a legal holiday?" inquires an exchange. "There only one advantage in it, that we can see, and that is that the banks are closed and they won't present a fellow with a sight draft on that day."

Japan Says Loan to China Impossible.

TOKIO—Opinion among high financial authorities here is that a large foreign loan to China at this time is out of the question.

Mamoru Ogasawara, of the Yokohama Specie Bank, and Japanese representative on the international consortium for China, declares that Japan would be unable to make a substantial loan because of the fact that China already has borrowed vast sums from Japan and so far has paid neither principal nor interest, leaving no prospect for marketing the securities in Japan when once issued. The new loan, authorized by the Washington Conference, will supply security for floating foreign loans to China, but no loans are likely to be entertained until the outstanding floating foreign obligations have been consolidated and an effort made towards liquidation. The attitude of the Japanese Bank coincides with that of F. A. Stevens, American representative of the consortium, who is satisfied that nothing worth while can be done by the consortium under present conditions.

How To SLEEP ON A BARE FLOOR

It is more a matter of SLEEP, than of bed or board.

Some people can sleep sitting up, standing up, even while walking.

Many people can't sleep in the softest of downy beds, and all of us suffer occasionally from nerve-racking, wearing, tiring wakefulness at night.

There is always a reason for sleeplessness. Usually, it is a "sour" stomach, a liver that has "lain down" on the job, congested bowels, or biliousness.

Then, just before retiring, take Beecham's Pills. They soothe an uneasy stomach, encourage the organs of digestion and elimination to natural activity, and assure restful sleep no matter what!

Obituary.

CLARY WILLIAMS.
With deep regret and heartfelt sympathy that we chronicle to-day the death of a well beloved and highly respected resident of Bay Bulls in the person of Clary Williams, who peacefully away after a short illness, on Wednesday, May 16th inst. at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. J. Williams, as he was such a well known and young resident, not having reached the age of 38 years. By her nature and good character she endeared herself to all, young and old, and his many friends will sorely miss her when they heard the news of his death, which was caused by heart failure following pneumonia. The last rites were administered by Rev. P. J. O'Brien, P. P. He leaves to mourn an aged mother, a widow, seven children, 3 brothers, Capt. John of White Horse, Albert of Los Angeles, and Alden of Bay Bulls; two sisters, Mrs. (Capt.) J. Bonta, and Mrs. Merry, both of Gloucester, and a large circle of friends, to whom we extend heartfelt sympathy.

INTERESTING LECTURE AT ROPE-WALK.

At the Ropewalk Club last night, a very interesting lecture was given by the members of the Propaganda Committee of the Newfoundland Poultry Association before a very large and attentive audience. President R. G. Williams occupied the Chair. Addresses on the various phases of poultry culture were given by Dr. Arch C. Tait, Treasurer W. R. Butler and Secretary W. D. McArthur as well as Mr. Williams. About 150 illustrated lantern slides showing different methods of hatching and feeding and housing chicken and the different kinds of poultry most suited to this country were shown. One of the speakers pointed out that $62,000 was spent for imports of eggs last year according to the Customs Statistics and this money could be easily saved if the people here would give more attention to this profitable industry.

Provision Against Drowning Accidents.

The annual report of the Royal Life Saving Society, 8 Bayley Street, London, W.C., just published, proves that the work of this Society in providing against drowning accidents continues to spread far and wide. It has branches in all parts of the British Empire and in many foreign lands. The knowledge of how to save a struggling, drowning person and how to resuscitate the apparently dead, either from drowning or from electric shock, is taught in the schools all over the British Empire. It is also part of the training in his Majesty's Naval and Military Establishments and among the Police Forces. The Liverpool Police did so well last year that they were awarded the King's Cup. Every Swimming Club is also expected to promote the subject, which is much favoured by the Boy Scouts, the Boys' Brigade, Cadet Corps and similar organizations. His Majesty the King, who has himself saved life from drowning, first as President and now as Patron, has for thirty years taken a keen interest in the Society and has regularly congratulated the members on the result of their very successful labours for the cause of humanity.

It is to be hoped that for the privilege of safety on and in the water, everyone will acquire the art of swimming and life saving, and thus help to curtail the great annual loss of life by drowning. The grand total of awards granted by the Society for ability to render First Aid in the water now amounts to 368,634, or 8,165 in excess of the previous year which also proved a record in its history of useful work.

The terms of membership for Clubs or Associations is ten shillings and six pence per annum, and hand books may be had for nine shillings a dozen. The chief secretary of the Society is Mr. William Henry, 8 Bayley Street, London, W.C., who will be pleased to supply further information to either individuals or clubs, etc., who may wish to join the Society.

Never, unless it is absolutely unavoidable, compel two little eyes to keep open after 10.30 at night. Never make them read books or papers when travelling inside or on top of motor buses—unless the print happens to be very big, and then it is not a wise habit. Bending of Light.

EINSTEIN THEORY UPHOLD BY ECLIPSE PHOTOGRAPHS.

Professor Chant, of Toronto University, asserts that the observations of the Canadian party of the eclipse of the sun at Wallal on September 21 last prove distinctly favourable to Professor Einstein's theory of the bending of light rays.

More than 30 stars have been re-observed on the photographic plates which were exposed. The actual displacements on the plates ranged from 1-1500 to 1-8000 of an inch. Professor Chant says: "The fact that there is displacement is quite certain and its amount appears to be approximately that which Professor Einstein predicted."

Cuticura Soap Will Help You Clear Your Skin

Small text describing the benefits of Cuticura soap for skin conditions.

Just Folks.

BY EDGAR A. GUEST.

A BIT OF MAN IN THE BOY. There's a bit of man in the boy, I say. A bit of man in the boy, you can catch a glimpse of the far-aways. And a look at the future joy; Whether yours or mine, you can sure-ly see. A bit of the man that he's going to be. Out of his laughter and out of his tears. Out of the game he plays, There flashes a glimpse of the future years. There you can mark his ways. The bud preclaims what the blossom will be. And a hint of the man in the boy you see.

You may think him a boy as you come and go. A boy who walks with you, A glad little fellow with eyes aglow. Yes, father and son, you are really three— You and the boy and the man he'll be.

Insanity Not Worst Menace.

The increase in insanity is not merely so lasting a measure of civilization as the rapid increase of sub-normal intelligence, in the opinion of Professor R. M. Wenley, of Michigan University. Insanity statistics did not go far enough back, he pointed out recently, to allow of a good comparison with previous periods of extreme mental strain, but the tendency of modern industrial conditions to foster sub-normal intelligence was a new thing, and a serious factor in the future outlook of society. The automatic tool, in the use of which a man had only to repeat continuously one movement to supplement the action of the machine, had done and was doing much to perpetuate the under-developed mentality, and in many industrial establishments it had been demonstrated that the man of under-developed intelligence performed these tasks better than the man of higher intellectual attainments. A man to be less intelligent than the normal to be really good at these almost mechanical jobs. In one big industrial establishment in the States, it had been found that 80 per cent. of the staff could learn their jobs in 24 hours. Then they went on for the rest of their lives repeating that one day's lesson.

Spring-Cleaning Paintwork.

Any soda in water used for cleaning paintwork dissolves the paint. The water should be moderately warm, and, if soap is needed, it should be ordinary yellow household soap and a little should be rubbed on a linen cloth. Do a small piece at a time and do not allow any water to trickle down, as this leaves marks. For very good light paint, whitening paste is really better than soap, but the whitening must be well precipitated before use, otherwise it will be gritty and injure the paint. Never use a scrubbing brush to paint-work, and do not have cloths made of wool, as bits of the woolen fibre will be left on the paint afterwards.

To clean painted woodwork which is dark in color, one of the best things is potato water, obtained by grating six large potatoes into a couple of quarts of water, and leaving this to stand. It should, of course be strained before applying it. For very dark paint use paraffin, but very sparingly, and rub it off well. It is a splendid color restorer. Highly-varnished paint should be cleaned as little as possible. When it is necessary to do so dissolve a dessertspoonful of borax in boiling water, and use this when quite cool. Dry well and polish with a leather.

10,000 Pound Bank Trick.

Two Marseilles bank clerks were robbed of £10,000 by a clever ruse a few weeks ago. They were paying in the money at the Bank of France, one man making out the paying-in slip, while the other watched the package of money, which he had placed on the counter. A stranger spoke to the latter, and pointing to two 50-franc notes on the floor, said, "Do these belong to you?" The clerk, thinking he must have dropped them, bent down to pick up the notes. At the same moment the stranger substituted for package of money on the counter a parcel which, when it was opened, was found to contain old newspapers. By that time the obliging stranger had vanished.

THE GENUINE ARTICLE. If everybody were optimists and backs up their convictions with well directed hard work the howl for an equal division of wealth would soon die out.

SCOTCH WORDS.

Do you ever find words, but the Scotch words for happy things are often most felicitous, too. Have we any word in the language more beautiful and tender than bonny?

And how does our "young girl" or "young woman" or "dapper" compare with the favor of lass? Did you ever have a Scotsman call you lass? 'Tis a very nice feeling.

And now about our words for the young members of the family? Children is commonplace, youngsters is endurable but overworked and rather flavorless. Kiddies has been made sickeningly sentimental. Can any one of them hold a candle to that beautiful Scotch word bairns?

Some less known Scotch words that I like, though I do not find them coming so quickly to mind, are "sousy," meaning plump and jolly; "chancey," meaning lucky--"It's no chancey," meaning it's unlucky, is the most common use; "muckie," for much; "forbye," meaning besides.

The Keystone Qualities.

Perhaps I like these just because I have Scotch blood in my veins. But I defy anyone to maintain that the other words I have quoted have not some special force or charm.

I was wondering not long ago why the people who have some Scotch ancestry are always so proud of it. Our literature ascribes some qualities that are not specially amiable to the Scotch--thrift to the verge of meanness, much of their own dourness. Why, then, are we so glad to say "my grandfather was Scotch"?

And then I read the other day a book which said that the important posts in any country must always be held by people who have two qualities, dependability and faithfulness. Sometimes a man with these qualities are lacking; will have many of its important positions filled by outsiders. And then I knew why we like to say "my grandfather was a Scotsman." Call them dour if you will and tell all the funny stories you want about their thrift, but you can't deny the Scotch people those two keystone qualities, can you?

Gay Words for Happy Thoughts. These, of course, are all forceful

FRIENDLY GREETINGS.

Glad smiles my map adorning, I walk the village street, and get a warm "Good morning" from every one I meet.

"Find day," cry friends, politely; they say, "well, how are things?" We hope you're feeling sprightly, and hitting on all six."

So merchant prince and peasant accost me every day; it makes my ramble pleasant, and shoos all grief away. "Good morrow," says the baker; "Fine weather," cries the cop, and 'e'en the undertaker hands out a pleasant yawp. The children, schoolward going to learn the rule of three, and daisies fair and glowing swap cheerful smiles with me. My heart is full of pity for any man who wends around his thriving city and meets no smiling friends. Some gents are so inflated with pride or cheap conceit they are forever fated to walk in Arctic street. With manner condescending they nod to Tom and Dick, and stir up ire ending just by that haughty trick. They cannot meet the voters on fair and equal terms, and talk of pups and motors and fish and angleworms. And some of them are willing to mix with Mike and Pete, but have the knack of chilling the delegates they meet!

Oil-Fired Porcelain.

The introduction of oil, instead of wood-fired, kilns has worked a revolution in the manufacture of the beautiful Sevres porcelain.

At the instance of the French Government, experiments were recently carried out, says the Continental Daily Mail, in which 2 of the 9 kilns at the factory were heated by heavy oil, similar to that which is used in steamship furnaces.

The operators report that owing to the accuracy with which the temperature can be controlled, the oil-fired kiln produces the famous Sevres blue in a manner far superior to the old kilns, while the time of baking is reduced from 25 to 15 hours.

The new method can, of course, be used in the manufacture of porcelain generally.

Music Helps the Mind.

Says a leading educationalist concerning the value of music: "I cannot think of an ideal home without music, for it would surely be very incomplete without it. To me, the beauty of music cannot be described in words. There seems to be no state of mind that one can be in in which music is not welcome. Even in the Bible we read that David played on the harp for Saul to quiet his troubled mind. We need music every day in our home more than in any other place for the good of our mind and body.

"The benefits of music are also reaching the hospitals, the homes of the sick, and busy people after a hard day's work find it refreshing to come home and hear its soothing strains.

"We also enjoy music in our homes of learning--the schools. The schools orchestra and the songs we sing in assembly makes us feel more like starting out on the day's study in an excellent mood."

When the great American public isn't sure what it wants, it votes for something different from what it has.

Dyeing Feathers.

Feathers which have been dyed at home sometimes look patchy--generally because they have not been thoroughly softened before they were put into the dye solution.

An hour or so before the actual dyeing is attempted the feathers should be well-soaked in warm water. As there is often a certain amount of grease in feathers it is a good plan to add a little carbonate of soda

(about a teaspoonful to each quart of water) to the soaking-bath. The feathers will then take the dye perfectly, and can be dried by being waved about in a warm atmosphere. When it is necessary to curl the feathers they should be slightly heated before a fire, and then stroked with a blunt edge, such as the back of a knife.

If you would like to be sure of always having a supply of fresh pure country milk from choicest dairy cows keep a few tins of St. Charles milk in the house all the time. Use it for every milk need. All grocers have it--four sizes.

Forty-Four Years in the Service of the Public—The Evening Telegram

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

RUHR OCCUPATION UNNECESSARY.

PARIS, May 18.—The military occupation of the Ruhr by French troops is not necessary to the security of France, Premier Poincaré informed the members of Finance and Foreign Affairs Commissions in the French Chamber today. The occupation of the Ruhr, he added, is essentially an operation designed to coerce Germany into paying reparations. He elaborated that the military Ruhr would be gradually evacuated in proportion to the payment of German reparations. The occupation of the left bank of the Rhine was considered by the Government sufficient military security. France was prepared to prolong the Ruhr occupation, Premier Poincaré said, as long as it was needed to obtain results. While the operations had not yet proved remunerative, if had at least recovered the military expense and would make coercion more easy, the Premier declared. The French Government was resolved to insist upon the final reparations figures as were fixed by the London accord, and that before it would agree to a reduction of the German debt an equal amount must be eliminated from the Inter-Allied debts as comparison.

BANDITS WILL SHOOT CAPTIVES.

SPANGHAI, May 18.—The British and United States captives in the hands of the Szechow bandits, back of Linching will be shot on Tuesday, if the Chinese troops are not withdrawn by that time, said a message sent by the bandit chieftain to the authorities. Marcel Barbet, a French citizen allowed out with the message on the promise that he would return after his mission was carried out.

SEVENTY ONE DEAD IN FIRE.

CAMDEN, S.C., May 18.—Seventy one persons known to be dead and two more missing after a fire had swept a frame school-house at Cleveland near here, where a concert was being given in a crowded room on the second floor of the building. The play was presented in connection with the school closing, before an audience of more than two hundred composed of the mothers, fathers and friends of the children, when a lamp exploded wrapping the building at once in a sheet of flame.

Major Cotton's Flight.

PHOTOGRAPHS OF STAG BAY DO NOT CORRESPOND WITH PLANS.

Major Cotton of the Aerial Survey Co., returned to the city by yesterday's express from Botwood. The flight of the Stag Bay dog fields, so he says, was very successful, but he would give no detailed information. A reporter of the Telegram in an interview with Major Cotton this morning, was shown two photographs of the Big Brook River, taken from 5000 feet in the air. One of the photos gives a general indication of what the country looks like, while the other shows Big Brook River as it empties into the Adirivik Bay. Judging by the photo of Big Brook River, it appears as though it runs entirely different from the maps already in existence, if such is the case it means that a considerable number of the claims are miles away from the actual bed. Major Cotton has made a thorough survey of the whole area, but the full particulars of his mission cannot be revealed at present for obvious reasons.

House Numbering Needed

Occasionally confusion and delay is caused to Policemen, Express Carriers and others owing to the fact that quite a number of houses on the different streets in the city are unnumbered. This is particularly confusing when two or more people of similar names live in the same street. In more than one instance it has been noted that the same number appears on two houses in the same street. In other cases the number runs into the hundred where there are not more than fifty buildings.

Personal.

The many friends of Capt. L. Stevenson of the S.S. Kyle, will be pleased to learn that he is rapidly improving in health at the Hamilton Hospital. As soon as he attains sufficient strength he will be removed to Montreal for further treatment. Mrs. Stevenson who is also seriously ill, shows signs of improvement. The engagement is announced of Miss Flora J. R. Munn, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Munn, of Nfld., to Mr. H. M. Jockel, of Montreal, formerly of Glasgow. The marriage will take place shortly.

Const. Dempsey arrived in the city by yesterday's express with the ballot boxes from St. George's.

Mr. James McDonnell who contested the District of St. George's in the recent campaign returned to the city by yesterday's express.

Shipping.

S.S. Rosalind arrived at New York on Wednesday night and leaves again to-morrow for here.

S.S. Sable L., which left Halifax yesterday morning for here, via St. Pierre and Burin, is due on Monday. Schr. Esther Hankinson, 13 days from New York with a cargo coal, has arrived in port to A. S. Rendell & Co. S.S. Sachel is due here to-morrow morning.

DIED AT MONTREAL.

Mr. J. A. Young, Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, this city, received a telegram this afternoon, advising him of the death at Toronto of Mr. H. A. Richardson, General Manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mrs. Leonard Voke and family wish to thank the following for wreaths to adorn the casket of her late husband.—Mrs. E. F. Adams, Mrs. M. M. Young, Mrs. Fredk. Hutchings, and for notes of sympathy—Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seymour, Patk. Whelan, Mr. Costello, E. F. Adams, Fredk. Hutchings.—adv.

C. L. B. C. Indoor Sports Great Success.

COMPETITORS GIVE GOOD EXHIBITION.

The Annual Indoor Sports of the C.L.B.C. were held last night at the Armoury. The attendance was a record one, the spacious building being filled to its utmost capacity. Among those present were Rev. J. Brinton, Battalion Chaplain, Rev. Lightbourne, Mrs. Herbert Outerbridge and several other distinguished citizens. An elaborate sports programme which consisted of 14 items, was keenly contested and highly interesting. The feature event of the evening was the race between Stone and Bailey in the One Mile Senior's. Both contestants ran a neck and neck race all the way, until three laps of the course remained to be covered, when Bailey who looked a cramp and was compelled to retire from the race. Stone crossed the tape an easy winner, with Ress second.

Other events that proved enjoyable, and caused much excitement, were the Catch-the-Train Race, Cavalry Tournament, and the Costume Boxing event. Owing to the illness of Lt.-Col. W. F. Rendell, the officer commanding, Capt. Herbert Outerbridge, O.B.E., was in charge. The programme was carried out without a hitch, and there was not a dull moment from start to finish, which speaks well for the officers who conducted the affair. The sports were a great success from every standpoint, and all concerned are to be congratulated. At the close Mrs. Herbert Outerbridge presented the prizes to the winners.

The following are the events and winners—

- Obstacle Race—(Intermediate)—1st. Smith; 2nd. Knight.
- 1/4 Mile—(Senior)—1st. Stone; 2nd. Ress.
- Candle Race—(Juniors)—1st. J. Snow; 2nd. J. Udle.

DIED.
 Passed peacefully away, on April 24th, Leonard Voke, of Spaulding's Bay (Merchant) aged 41 years, leaving wife, 4 children, mother, 1 brother, 1 sister to mourn the sad loss of a kind father and loving husband.

IN LOVING MEMORY
 of Kenneth L. England, of Spencer's Street, who died May 18th, 1922. In our hearts we mourn the loss of him we loved so dear.
 What would we give to clasp his hands, his gentle voice to hear; His loving smile and welcome voice that were so dear to us; Is resting now in Heaven above, in God alone we trust.
 And we think of you, dear one While tear drops dim our eyes; You could not say good-bye to us Before you closed your eyes.
 May heavenly winds blow softly, O'er your present resting place; We know he is not forgotten But admitted to God's grace.

N.B.S. Ladies' Auxiliary, An Election Tie.

ACTIVITIES BEGIN NEXT WEEK.

At a largely attended meeting of the lady friends of the Newfoundland British Society, held on Wednesday night, it was decided to form a Ladies' Auxiliary, for the purpose of helping on the good work of the Society. An election of officers was held and resulted as follows:

President—Mrs. Geo. F. Bell.
 Vice-Pres.—Mrs. C. W. Bowden.
 Treasurer—Mrs. Geo. H. Cook.
 Secretary—Miss M. Cook.

The newly appointed auxiliary will begin its activities by holding a card party and dance on Wednesday night next, May 23rd.

At the annual meeting of the L.S.P.U. which took place last night, a rather unusual circumstance developed. During the election in which all the offices were contested, it was found on counting the ballots for President, Mr. Flavin, the present head of the organization and Mr. William Sullivan, had an equal number of votes. The returning officer would not give a casting vote, so a deadlock ensued and it was decided to call another meeting to-morrow night when the election again will be held.

THE CHOICEST KINDS—IMPORTED DIRECT FROM EUROPE

EARLY MARKET CABBAGE—This variety is praised by all who have grown it. It is uniformly to type, is marvellous—every row and every head in the row looks as nearly alike as if all had been turned out of a mould; and the yield per acre is greater than any other variety. We use this variety on our farm, and usually have the first Cabbage on the market. Price $2.00 per lb.

DANISH BALLHEAD CABBAGE—This type of Winter Cabbage has unequalled keeping qualities. Produces large, round, compact heads, almost as hard as iron. Weighing, when trimmed, fully one-fourth more than any other cabbage of equal size; consequently it keeps in choice condition until Spring. Price $2.50 per lb.

CARROT—Selected Danvers . . . . . $2.00 per lb. 15c. oz.
BEET—Egyptian . . . . . $1.25 per lb. 15c. oz.
Also, LETTUCE, RADISH, etc. and FLOWER SEEDS—all kinds.
