Cressingham thought for a while. "It is a terrible part for me to play," he said at last. "Do you know, Oddie, although I know the woman is bad, I feel an awful ruffian at looking her like this."
"Ach Himmel! She loves you, that's plain!" he said in a whisper, "where is the other woman, the first, my Lord, the one that warned you?"
Cressingham turned pale. "That is my business!" he said curtly.
"I beg your pardon."
Cressingham bowed. "Let us go," he said.
But a loud knock sounded on the door as they approached it. Cressingham pushed aside the latch, and his servant, in slippers and pyjamas, entered, a lantern in his outstretched hand; he seemed half asleep.
"For you, my Lord."
"A telegram."
"An involuntary cry for help."
"Wait a moment, John, and you can show the Count to his room." He opened the letter, and presently passed it in silence to Oddie, it was a card inscribed with certain instructions.
The Count glanced at it, and whispered meaningly: "Already the path grows dangerous, my Lord. It is perhaps my turn next."
Cressingham shrugged his shoulders and pocketed the card. "Perhaps. Good night."
"Sleep well," said the German, and smiling anxiously he departed in the servant's wake.
Cressingham took the door, and turned to face his greatest task. Miss Elliott stood between the parted curtains of the dressing-room, her face pale, but self-possessed and calm.
"It was, oh so cold in there, and dark," she muttered, shivering a little.
He pointed to the fire. "You had better wait a moment and warm yourself. Presently the passage will be clear."
She crossed the room and spread out her hands to the blaze, her back turned to the man. He stood irresolutely a moment, nervously gnawing at his under lip, then, growing desperate at her silence, spoke.
"Miss Elliott."
She slowly turned her head, and looked at him across her shoulder.
"You heard?"
She nodded. "Everything."
"What can you think of me?"
"I scarcely know just yet; indeed, I haven't really thought of you. I am trying to realize how it is a woman can so degrade herself. How she throws herself at you!"
"Spare me," he groaned.
She gave a little rippling laugh. "I almost begin to fear you, Lord Francis; you must possess some dangerous magic fatal to my sex. And yet, how dead you were to her entreaties, but that was because you had an audience perhaps?"
"Miss Elliott, I assure you on my honour—"
"Spare me, my lord," she interrupted icily; "I have already seen you act tonight. What time is that?"

CHAPTER V.
FRANCINE DISAPPEARS.
Ludwig Von Oeljen felt much at odds with the world. He had been pitted off by fate into a position that exposed his sensitive nature at every step to pain and discord which he was unable properly to resent. In the first instance he was compelled to place the spy upon a man whom he respected and admired. In other circumstances a warm friendship might have grown up between himself and Cressingham. Each was a young man of good birth, and breeding of uncommon intelligence, of upright disposition. And yet they differed sufficiently in temperament to render their natures mutually repulsive. The German was nervous, highly strung, ceremonious, and strong-willed; the Englishman calm, self-contained, and determined, his generous and obliging. The pity of it was that they could not meet on common ground. The relationship between them took its course as a matter of course. Cressingham was still deeply in love with Madame Viyella, and recent events had shown him Cressingham not only a successful rival, but a rival indifferent to success.
It is hard to watch unmoved another who is a treasure ardently but hopelessly desired. It is to feel a rival's hatred; not to hate the person who wins the treasure without appreciating it. Oeljen had listened to Madame Viyella, lavishing her love upon Lord Cressingham. That was a misfortune which as a brave man he could bear with composure. But to see his rival claim the prize which he had so long and bitterly fought for, and after a long and bitter night spent in struggling with his bad angel, emerged superior to his own thoughts, and to his own conqueror. He sought Lord Francis in the early morning before his proposed journey to the States, just without his preliminary part of the whole cast resolutely before him.
The Englishman, still in bed, listened to his guest's account of the depths from his feather pillows, and without interrupting once by word or sign.
At length he raised his hand, and said: "I'm glad you've spoken, old fellow. I had saw how it was all along, but was not able to help myself. The fact was we were just a little suspicious in a game which is being played by people a lot more powerful than either of us. We are each bound to see the thing through, and we are lastingly situated. But it's no good kicking, neither of us is to blame. For myself, I'm not a coward, and I'll go along without quarrelling. At all events I'll do my best, but most depends on you; you have the worst of the deal by far."
Oeljen took his hand.
"That is kind of you, my Lord. You will forgive me for disturbing you?"
"Disturb me? No, that's just what he is. Why, man, you've acted like a brat!" And after the other had departed he repeated the word. "Disturb me? No, that's just what he is. I wish he was an Englishman!" which remark showed that Cressingham appreciated Oeljen's conduct properly, for an Englishman can be a foreigner no higher form of praise.

IN A DEADLY DECLINE.
Saved Just in Time by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.
"Before my daughter Leah began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she looked more like a corpse than a live girl," says Mrs. Geo. A. Myers, of South Woodside, Ontario. "After taking one bottle she had all turned to water. Then she began to have bad spells with her heart. At the last excitement her heart stopped. She was so ill she could not get to her feet. She was treated by all the best doctors in this part of the country, yet she was daily growing worse and her heart was so weak that she could not get up. She would faint and be very little, and would frequently awake with a start and sometimes would jump on a bed and cry Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking a couple of boxes she began to sleep better at night and to get up to return to her life. From that on she kept right on gaining and after taking eight boxes of the pills she was again in good health. She was now fifteen years of age, the picture of health, and since beginning the pills has gained about forty pounds in weight. Only those who saw her when ill can appreciate the marvellous change Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have brought about in her condition. I believe that had it not been for the pills she would be in her grave today, and it is with feelings of great gratitude that I write you in the hope that it may benefit some other suffering girl."
And Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can do just as much for every weak, ailing, pale-colored young woman who is slipping down the ladder of life as they did for Leah. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood. In that way they strike straight at the root of all common diseases like anaemia, headaches and backaches, heart palpitation, indigestion, neuritis, rheumatism and the scores of ailments that afflict girls and women. Sold by all dealers in medicine or by mail at 60 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. Send for "Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

SERIOUS FIRE IN SPRINGHILL MINE
Halifax, N. B., Nov. 2.—There is no doubt now as to the nature of the trouble in No. 9 mine at the Springhill collieries. The location of the disturbance was discovered yesterday and the unmistakable presence of smoke told of the fire which must be there, although up to five unexploded stoppings were at once put in and the inspector of mines against for Dr. Gillis and General Manager Gowans visited the mine this morning, but the result of their inspection is yet not made known.
This general opinion is that the only remedy is to send up the shaft and remove the several days before work can be resumed.

CAUGHT COLD ON THE C. P. R.
A. E. Mumford tells how Psychine cured him after the Doctors gave him up
"It is twelve years since Psychine cured me of galloping consumption." The speaker was Mr. A. E. Mumford, six feet tall, and looking just what he is, a healthy, healthy farmer. He works his own farm near Magnetawan, Ont.
"I caught my cold working as a fireman on the C. P. R.," he continued. "I had night sweats, chills and fever and frequently coughed up pieces of my lungs. I was sinking fast and the doctors said there was no hope for me. Two months' treatment of Psychine put me right on my feet and I have had no return of lung trouble since."
"Mr. Mumford had started to take Psychine when he first caught cold he would have saved himself a lot of anxiety and suffering by taking almost all lung troubles by killing the germs—the roots of the disease."

DECIDE NEXT WEEK ABOUT MAIL SERVICE
Halifax, Nov. 2.—The long discussed question whether the C. P. R. Empress shall land the English mails at Halifax or St. John or whether, indeed, they will carry the mails at all, will be decided in Montreal at the end of next week. A conference is scheduled for that city between representatives of the C. P. R., the Atlantic line and the government when a final decision will be reached.
Halifax people have little doubt that the government will insist on the mails being landed at this port. This the C. P. R. will protest against, alleging that it costs them a very large amount of money each time they make a call at St. John, instead of going direct to St. John with the mails and passengers, and further that the mails can be landed almost as fast and quite as quickly in Montreal via St. John as via Halifax.
It is likely that the C. P. R. will decline to land the mails at all, if the contract to land them at Halifax is insisted on, preferring rather to forfeit the $10,000 annual subsidy that the government pays for bringing the mails to Halifax. Such is the way they will put the matter to the government.
In case the C. P. R. thus declines to carry the mails, the whole work would fall back on the Atlantic, who are the holders of the contract, while the C. P. R. being subsidiary to them. With the Atlantic carrying the mails alone, they would have to make slow runs and the mails would suffer from the delays and long passages. This is an argument that the C. P. R. think will induce the government to allow them to have their own way about going to St. John—that the west will not stand for the slower service that the Atlantic, handling the whole contract, would have to give.

RECENT DEATHS
Mrs. Susan, widow of James S. Vincent, died yesterday at the home of her brother, Michael T. Cavanaugh, after two years of illness from cancer. She was forty-four years of age. Mrs. Vincent was a daughter of the late Matthew Cavanaugh, was married here. She went to live in Halifax, where her husband died three years ago. After that event she returned to St. John and has lived with her brother ever since. She had no children and is survived by three brothers—James, Michael T., and Patrick, who live in South Boston, and one sister, Mrs. Patrick Moffin, of this city. Deceased had been sick for two years with cancer. The funeral will be held Monday morning at 8 o'clock, from the residence of her mother, 90 Beaton street, to the Cathedral.

WEDDINGS
West-Coast.
Chatham, N. B., Oct. 31.—One of the events which causes a flutter in social circles took place at the residence of the bride's father, Henry W. Carr, Carterbury, at 3 p. m. today, when his eldest daughter, Elsie Pearl, was united in marriage to Thomas Harry Watt, of Woodstock. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Harry Harrison, and Miss Jessie Carr played the wedding march.
After luncheon the happy couple left amid showers of rice for Montreal, Toronto and Niagara. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Watt will reside at Madam.

WATER AND SEWERAGE
The water and sewerage board met last evening in monthly session and dealt with a number of matters pertaining to that department.
The mayor presided and there were present Ald. Willett, Baxter, Pickett, McEldrick, the director and common clerk.
A number of offers were received for the assignment of the lease of the Robert Caples property, which was taken over by the city from the pulp company. The H. Ryan, Robert Caples and William Sproule sent applications.
Ald. Willett moved that the matter be left in the hands of the chairman, Ald. Pickett, and director, to examine into the property and call for tenders.
A number of appeals for reduction in the water assessment were received and dealt with.
A report was read from the director in which it was stated that Edward Shillington had suffered some damage by reason of the recent breaks in the water main on his property. The amount of damage would be about $75. It was decided to communicate with Mr. Shillington to the effect that the matter would be considered.
A communication was received from D. G. Smith, fisheries commissioner for New Brunswick, protesting against the interference with the free passage of fish at Lake Robertson by reason of not allowing sufficient water to flow through the fishway. He claimed that the fisheries of Loch Lomond should not be interfered with. This communication and one from John White, applying for a fishway in the stone dam at Mispec, was referred to the recorder.
The matter of a petition from residents of Egbert street for an extension of the water system was considered. Ald. Pickett moved that the pipe be laid and that the expense be limited to $750.
Ald. Pickett's motion was carried as a recommendation to the council.
Ald. Willett asked that all regular meetings of the board, after November be held at 8 o'clock in the evening instead of in the afternoon. The mayor said he would probably arrange to do so.
The meeting adjourned about 10:30 o'clock.

BEAT WIFE TO DEATH
Bellefleur, Ont., Nov. 2.—The court room was crowded this morning when Justice Britton addressed the jury in the Kingsford murder case. The prisoner came into court smiling and wore on his breast a medal won by him in the Prussian army. He was found guilty of manslaughter by the jury after nearly four hours' deliberation. Old Kingsford killed his wife with his bare hands through jealousy.

MEN WHO ARE "IN THE NEWS" OF THE NEW YORK CAMPAIGN

Some of the Principal Figures in Hearst's Spectacular Fight for the Chair at Albany --- Hughes is Betting Favorite But the Yellow Journalist is a Highly Dangerous Proposition.

New York, Nov. 2.—The campaign reached white heat today when the speech of Elihu Root at Utica last night was slipped before the voters. The tremendous arraignment of Hearst as the instigator of the assassination of President McKinley made the issue stark and clear. The fact that the secretary of state spoke with the direct authority of President Roosevelt gave his words an overwhelming force. It is absolutely unprecedented that a presi-forces of responsible government. The prevailing view is that while Roosevelt may have aroused sympathy for Hearst in some quarters by his terrific onslaught the general effect will be overwhelming. The agreement under which the St. John Railway undertakes to do the street lighting of this city provides for twenty lamps in each street and for lamps of 2000 c. p. each, while in the five places mentioned where the price is lower than in St. John, a moonlight schedule of lamps burn 3,000 hours each year, while under the new night schedule, which the common council adopted, the lamps burn 4,000 hours. In addition in most of the towns named 1,200 c. p. lamps are used. This being the case, the cost to the city of St. John is per lamp per year, as compared with previous arrangement, besides getting light every night in the great majority of streets, the cost per lamp in Halifax for every night on the basis of the present contract would be $86.00 as against $75.00 per lamp in St. John. Besides coal costs 45 cents a ton more in St. John than it does in Halifax. These facts should make it clear to Mr. Hatheway and all others that the St. John Railway is not receiving an excessive price for street lighting but on the contrary is doing it at a lower rate than the prevailing rate in Canada where conditions are similar.

Mr. Hatheway also thinks the price charged for illuminating gas, $1.75 per thousand feet from 100 feet or more than many other cities are paying. To quote Halifax again, the price of illuminating gas is $1.75 per thousand feet as against $1.00 for heating gas. Everyone knows that the greater the consumption of gas the cheaper it can be produced. Halifax is three times as great as St. John, and five miles less of street mains, yet the price is higher there than in St. John. Besides coal costs 45 cents a ton more in St. John than it does in Halifax. These facts should make it clear to Mr. Hatheway and all others that the St. John Railway is not receiving an excessive price for street lighting but on the contrary is doing it at a lower rate than the prevailing rate in Canada where conditions are similar.

dent of the United States should intervene so decidedly in a local campaign. It is characteristic of Roosevelt that when he acted he should do so with all his might. There were days when McKinley lay dying at Buffalo that Hearst hid himself in actual fear. His newspapers were boycotted by nearly all respectable clubs and organizations in the country. He had thought he had lived that down and even in the stress of the present campaign his

THE KAISER CRITICIZED BY ONE OF HIS SUBJECTS

Venturesome German has Written Remarkable Book Dealing of Some of the Unfavorable Features of Life in the Rhineland—He Says Flatterers Have Fooled the Kaiser.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—Count Revonlow, the well known authority on naval matters who is also a conspicuous Imperialist politician, has written a remarkable book dealing with the unfavorable features of public life in Germany. The book, which will shortly be published in English, is entitled "Kaiser Wilhelm II. and the Bismarckian." Bismarck, Count Revonlow's Bismarckian are the opponents whose existence and power are the center of German politics. The author condemns the Kaiser for indulging in extremely venal interests instead of devoting his whole time to state business, as his grandfather did. The recollections he cannot possibly discharge his monarchical duties efficiently. He doubted editorial gifts have produced the most injurious effects. He has been encouraged by the exaggerated praise of his speeches and his own vanity. He is a great mistake to attach excessive importance to the Imperial utterances. A speech delivered by the Emperor reflects most his mood of the moment, and a com-

THE BOYS HAD A PLEASANT TIME

The Y. M. C. A. of St. Joseph attended the performance of the Eliza St. John Company in a body last evening in honor of their fellow member, Owen G. Coll, who is playing with the company. Immediately after the performance, some fifty members of the society, accompanied by Owen G. Coll, Harold Graham, Harry K. Roscoe, Lee C. Koehler, Dan L. Bagin, Algonquin Eden and John L. Green, repaired to White's, where an oyster supper was given by the members in honor of Mr. Coll. Despite the fact that the affair was gotten up hurriedly, all present enjoyed themselves until the early hours of the morning. Edward Moran, the society's president, was in the chair, and he spoke very pleasantly of Mr. Coll's work while in the society, and predicted a glowing future for him. Mr. Moran also referred to the excellent work of the company in the Opera House last night, and stated that it was well worth very large audience. Replies were given by the different members of the company, all of whom thanked the society for their generous hospitality. Mr. Coll, referring to his work, stated that he had been treated by the Eliza St. John Company in a most kind and generous manner, and that he was capable of achieving the great success predicted for him by Mr. Coll, who made reference to his work before the curtain last evening. After justice had been done the supper and the cigars had been lighted, the following impromptu programme was carried out: Solo, J. A. Barry; piano selection, F. Hamilton; piano selection, B. P. McCafferty; solo, D. Higgins; piano selection, Joseph Maloney; solo, J. Carleton; declamation, Owen G. Coll; solo, William Pyne; declamation, Mr. Graham; declamation, Harry G. Roscoe; declamation, Norman McKeown. J. Mullaly acted as accompanist. Messrs. Moran and McKeown were the committee in charge of the affair, and on behalf of the committee Mr. McKeown made a few brief remarks. William Pyne told about Mr. Coll and himself playing together on many occasions. The singing of "Auld Lang Syne" brought the festivities to a close.

A GREAT PLAY

The Eliza Co. this week produced one of the strongest plays in "Zits" that has been seen here for years, and Miss Aubrey, and the company made a great impression. Tonight will be the last performance of that play, and those who have opportunity tonight, Next week, beginning Monday night, will be given the stirring melodrama "Knobs of Tennessee." The scene is laid in the mountains of that state, among the moonshiners, and is full of action with a strong heavy stirring melodrama "Knobs of Tennessee." The late President McKinley is represented granting pardon to an old moonshiner who fought for the Union with his sons. Knobs of Tennessee will run the first three nights of next week, and Wednesday matinee to be followed by the great play of the "White Sheep" for the balance of the week. Lost Paradise will be the offering Nov. 12th.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM MR. HOPPER

He Replies to W. Frank Hatheway's Criticism of the St. John Railway Co.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 3, 1906. To the Editor of the Times: Sir,—In your issue of Thursday, W. Frank Hatheway has a letter referring to proposals of the St. John Railway Co. regarding extensions of their line and generally criticizing the management of the company. This is not the first time Mr. Hatheway has been heard from as a critic of the St. John Railway Co., and it is not putting it too strong to say that, speaking generally, it would scarcely be possible for the directors of the company to adopt Mr. Hatheway's ideas and continue to pay dividends to the shareholders and interest on the bonds issued by the company. Mr. Hatheway only looks upon one side of the question, which is quite evident when he asserts that "the company has not been able to pay a dividend for the past year." In making this statement, Mr. Hatheway has evidently accepted the figures of an anonymous correspondent of the Star of a few days ago, which figures are incorrect and misleading. The agreement under which the St. John Railway undertakes to do the street lighting of this city provides for twenty lamps in each street and for lamps of 2000 c. p. each, while in the five places mentioned where the price is lower than in St. John, a moonlight schedule of lamps burn 3,000 hours each year, while under the new night schedule, which the common council adopted, the lamps burn 4,000 hours. Besides coal costs 45 cents a ton more in St. John than it does in Halifax. These facts should make it clear to Mr. Hatheway and all others that the St. John Railway is not receiving an excessive price for street lighting but on the contrary is doing it at a lower rate than the prevailing rate in Canada where conditions are similar.

Best Kidney Remedy Known To Science

For pain in the back—scanty urine—highly colored urine—irritated bladder—irregular bowels—bad stomach—there is nothing that will bring such quick relief and so certain a cure as FRUIT-A-TIVES. These marvelous tablets are nature's natural remedy for irritated or weakened kidneys. They act directly on the kidneys, soothe the irritated membranes—clean, heal and strengthen the organs—and help them to new vigor with their work. Often kidney trouble is not due to any organic defect in the kidneys. If the bowels are constipated—the skin does not throw off the waste matter of the body—then these purgatives are carried to the kidneys. In a vain endeavor to rid the system of impurities the kidneys are overworked—the blood vessels are dilated—the nerves inflamed. That causes a host of kidney troubles.

Fruit-A-Tives

on "Four Liver Tablets" not only heal and strengthen the kidneys but they also increase the action of the skin, and act directly on the liver, thus curing the constipation.

Advertising Merchants

Who fall to use the columns of THE TIMES are staying out of the homes of the great middle class of buyers who do not read any other evening paper. THE EVENING TIMES delivers by carriers every afternoon, more papers than its two competitors combined. By using THE TIMES alone you can reach more homes direct than by the use of both of the other papers.

Why pay two papers to accomplish less results than can be given you by the sole use of the newspaper that has the largest circulation, as well as the largest house to house delivery in the city of St. John? Any merchant who will call at the Circulation Department will be shown the homes on each street in the city where no evening paper but THE TIMES is read. Can you afford to stay out of these homes which cannot be reached through the two other evening papers?

My Dear House-Wives:

Having ordered some of Harry Frith's Grape Fruit, out in two in centre, pick out the seeds, and run a fruit knife around the walls of each section, freeing the mass of the fibre, without removing it, sprinkle sugar over the surface, punch it into the meat, and then set in a cool place till morning. Some people like a little cherry powder over. At breakfast serve on the "half shell," eat with a teaspoon, removing the meat and juice served by section.

Happy at Last

Her Husband no longer gets Entombed—Samaritan Tastes Remedy Cured Him. This lady says: "For the first time since I have married I can be happy and contented. My husband is cured of his bad habit of drinking. Several months ago you sent me a free sample of your remedy at my request, and without any loss of time I gave it to him in his regularity. It is wonderful, and I cannot sufficiently thank you for the blessed change it has brought to my home."

THE EVENING TIMES, ST. JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1906.

THE EVENING TIMES.

ST. JOHN, N. B., NOV. 3, 1906.

The St. John Evening Times is published at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing & Publishing Co., Ltd. A company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

Circulation of The Times.

Table showing circulation statistics for the week ending Oct. 27th, 1906. Includes daily figures for Monday through Saturday, a total of 53,700, and a daily average of 8,951.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The Circulation Department Telephone is No. 15. Complaints of non-delivery of papers, change of address, and all circulation matters should be referred to the CIRCULATION MANAGER.

FREE KINDERGARTEN: If the testimony of mothers whose children attend the Free Kindergarten were placed in some forcible way before all the citizens of St. John, to arrest their attention and make clear to their minds the great value from both the educational and social standpoint of the work performed, there would be a ready response to the appeal for funds to make that work more wide-reaching and effective.

EXPECTANT: The Boston Herald has its eye upon Ottawa, where a tariff session is soon to begin. Commenting on the result in Shelburne-Queens, it says: "The new tariff programme, with its maximum and minimum system, would, of course, granting Liberal ascendancy, be put through as planned, even if Fielding were obliged to retire from public life; but the uncertain tenure of Canadian Governments makes it necessary to 'insure' the spokesman for the leading policy of the party, if only for the effect on the rest of the country."

SACKVILLE: SACKVILLE, Nov. 2.—The death of Miss Isabella Monroe, of Port Egan, occurred suddenly on Tuesday morning. Her death was the immediate cause of her death. Deceased was a person of sterling character and was universally esteemed. She is survived by an only brother, Cyrus Monroe, funeral took place yesterday. Rev. J. H. Brownell conducted an impressive service, assisted by Rev. Mr. Quinn, Messrs. Brongdon, Wills, J. G. Lamb, Wm. McLeod, W. M. Spence, Wm. Read and Colin Matheson acted as pall-bearers. Interment at Burnside cemetery.

BOSTON ODDS ARE NOW TWO TO ONE ON GUILD: BOSTON, Nov. 2.—Betting on the result of the election next Tuesday was dull in Boston today and little interest was manifested. Thomas Tarrant, of the west end, succeeded in placing one bet of $200 on Guild to $100 on Moran, but could get no others. In the Toronto building there is said to be $2,000 on Guild waiting for Moran bettors to come, and although the first idea was to bet even, this money will be placed at odds of 2 to 1 either for the whole amount, or in lesser bets down to $200 to $250. In the view of the professional bettors Guild appears to be a safe proposition up to the present time, and odds are held at 2 to 1.

HELIAX IS BEGINNING TO FEAR THAT THE C. P. R. STEAMERS REALLY ARE COMING TO ST. JOHN DIRECT: And that would be an entering wedge of no small dimensions.

Overcoat Values That Speak for Themselves.

It is so easy to say "we have the best values in town," "you can save money by buying here," etc., but quite another thing to back it up. Just think of how our business has grown, first one, then two, and then three stores turned into one to get room to accommodate the increased trade of five years—what made this necessary, but the values we gave the people. Our new winter stock is more attractive than usual.

HE MAY BE THE NEXT PRIMATE OF CANADA

Something About Bishop Sweatman Who May Succeed Late Archbishop Bond.

The Right Rev. Arthur Sweatman, D. D., Bishop of Toronto, senior bishop of the Anglican church in Canada, is the man named on all sides as the primate most likely to succeed to the Primacy of Canada, left vacant by the death of Archbishop Bond.

On the death of Bishop Bethune, Dr. Sweatman was elected to succeed him as third Bishop of Toronto, his consecration taking place in Toronto on May 1, 1879. His lordship received the degree of D. D., jure dignitatis, from Cambridge University, the same year, and that of D. C. L. from Trinity University, Toronto, in 1882.

The hospital commissioners met in weekly session yesterday afternoon. Dr. Wm. Warwick was appointed assistant pathologist and bacteriologist of the institution.

Dr. Warwick will be assistant to Dr. Addy in this branch of the hospital work. Dr. Warwick belongs to this city.

PEARY DID NOT REACH POLE BUT GOT "FARTHEST NORTH" ABSENT MORE THAN A YEAR

New York, Nov. 2.—Commander Robert E. Peary, of the United States Navy, has given to his native country the record of having penetrated "farthest north"—87 degrees and 6 minutes. News of the feat came tonight. The intrepid Arctic explorer failed to reach the North Pole as he had confidently hoped to do with his specially constructed vessel, the Roosevelt, but he penetrated nearer the pole than the Duke of Abruzzi's expedition, which had held the Arctic record, 86 degrees, 34 minutes.

NEW BRUNSWICK WOODS FOR MOOSE HUNTING

An Old Hunter Thinks Maine Woods are too Populous Nowadays — New Brunswick the Place for Game — Buffet Proof Suits Needed.

(Portland, Me., Advertiser). "I should like to go up in the woods and get a deer and a moose," said a Bangor man the other day. "But I'm not going. My bullet proof suit hasn't come from the bootmaker's so I shan't go."

"Time was," continued the cautious man, "when a body could go off and in a day's journey find a place where there wasn't a hunter behind every bush waiting to see your bush move before firing at it. There used to be some fun then, when a fellow could get his rifle and walk all day without seeing tracks of a half dozen other men and running across tin cans and sadvine boxes every half mile. Now I don't know of but mighty few corners of the Maine woods where a slug, or anything like it, can be had. The great increase in the rash of hunters to Maine and the consequent sporting lake and pond, has made the woods altogether too populous to be comfortable. You remember some good hunting place where you killed a couple of deer and a moose ten years ago, and you think you'd like to go there again, but next time you pick up any literature about the woods you see the name of your lake in headlines and the picture of a collection of camps which are guaranteed to hold from ten to twenty honeymoon couples without letting them interfere in the least."

"Well, if you want a good place to stay, good food, good bed, good fresh air and good company, you would go to that place, but if you want a nice quiet moose hunt you wouldn't. Not much. You wick where they haven't learned to talk English yet or to eat with forks, for that sort of thing."

"It may be good for the state, all this building and advertising, and for the tired city people who want a good, long, unrestricted dose of the Lord's clean atmosphere. But for the hunter, no."

FISHING DIFFERENT. "Fishing is, of course, different. You don't mind so much then because at the end of a long day you like someone to talk to and to tell the lies you have been having such a good time thinking up. There are plenty of fish and plenty of good fishing places. But fishing rods don't shoot."

"Remedy? Why, so far as stopping the rash of vacationists and sportsmen to this state is concerned, you might as well try to stop the tide with a broom, but there is something which might be stopped and that is the use of those modern, high-powered guns."

A Museum of Criminal Curiosities - Lombroso's Collection Shows Every Phase of Vicious Ingenuity.

A Dagger Like a Crucifix.

A Few Skeletons of Famous Criminals

A Criminal Sculptor's Work - Battle Between Brigands and Soldiers.

An Assassin at Work - Mouthed in Clay by an Assassin

SEARCH the wide world over, if you will, and you can find no more interesting collection...

It was not to gratify the morbid curiosity of mankind that Professor Lombroso established his world-famous collection.

Lombroso stands in the front ranks of the world's criminologists. His earlier studies were made while in charge of asylums for the insane at Pavia and Pesaro, Italy.

As the veteran, seated in his chimney corner, recalls the noise of battle, the cries of the wounded and the convulsions of the dying, so, in my opinion, was it in the case of the mal or insane persons who died in prison or the madhouse. During one of these expeditions there first dawned upon me the new idea of criminal anthropology.

It was while serving as a surgeon in the army, first in 1859 and again in 1866, that I began collecting material for my museum.

"Among them were the skulls of many who had been condemned to death, and all were those of great criminals. I had previously made use of them in my studies on the degenerate man."

"The ruler of Russia," he was quoted as declaring before a congress of scientists, "is not a criminally inclined lunatic, but an innocent, melancholy idiot, the nearest possible tool in the hands of a flattering influence."

ber of skeletons and skulls sent to the museum from Abyssinia. "It was during my collection and study of these specimens," Lombroso states, "that there flashed across my mind the thought of the criminal tendency in man was merely a kind of equivalent for epilepsy."

"The second conclusive fact was found by Roncoroni, who proved, by microscopic examination of the brain covering of epileptics and criminals, that their material texture was the same—similar, also, to that of the inferior vertebrates and birds of prey."

In a glass case is a collection of murderers and brigands. "They carry evidence of their intended use in the brutal inscriptions on many of them," remarks the collector. "For instance, here is one inscribed: 'If the hand tremble not, the blow will reach home.' 'Death to speed is the unpromising lettering of another."

"Most interesting to me is the collection of pottery, or ceramics, from the hands of noted criminals," says Lombroso. "For twenty years I have been able to get together a great number of vases, jugs and other things which were among the prisoners had decorated."

"In my book on 'The Delinquent Man' I noted the case of one Fusini, who, after killing a comrade to rob him, had thrown the body in a closet and fled. "Arrested, he resolved to kill himself on the hundredth day of his imprisonment. But before that he wished to raise up a monument to his crime and suicide."

"This he did by decorating a jug that was allowed him in his cell. "On one side of the jug he pictured himself as hanging from his cell window, and under the picture inscribed: 'Last night I hanged myself for ten years of jail.' Close by he figured his victim thrust in the closet where the body was found. Beneath it was the ironical sentiment: 'Good-bye, Gambler, you thief!'"

SKULLS OF GREAT CRIMINALS. "Among them were the skulls of many who had been condemned to death, and all were those of great criminals. I had previously made use of them in my studies on the degenerate man."

Good Blood

Good blood, good health; bad blood, bad health; there you have it. Why not help nature just a little and change the bad to the good? Bad blood to good blood; poor blood to rich blood! Ask your doctor how this applies to Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and how it applies to you! Could anything be more fair?

CARRIED DOWN BY THE FIREMEN

WATERVILLE, Me., Nov. 2. — Two inmates of a boarding house on Water street, owned by the Litchwood Manufacturing Company, were taken down a ladder from the second story by firemen early today, after their escape by the stairs had been blocked by a fire which destroyed the building. They were Irene Gallagher and Ullis G. Randall, employees of the cotton mill. The other seven boarders got out before the firemen arrived, but lost their clothing. The damage was estimated at about $10,000. The displaced obtained a big start before it was discovered.

HOW BIG WOULD AN ANGEL'S WING HAVE TO BE?

Prof. Trowbridge, of Columbia University, Figures Out a Curious Problem About Angels On Solemn Scientific Lines.

Small Flying Machine Designed on the Lines of a Soaring Bird.

THE flying power of an angel has recently been made the subject of a profound study by Dr. C. C. Trowbridge, of Columbia University, who has been trying to find out exactly the wing area that would be required to sustain such a celestial creature if of the same avianoid as a human being.

Just at present the learned doctor is not ready to give out his results in definite figures, but it is easy for anybody to make for himself a similar reckoning, basing it upon the known wing-spread of a buzzard or some other soaring bird. The wing area of a buzzard—which is a typical soarer of the type which makes of flying machines such to imitate—is five and three-tenths square feet. Five pounds is about the weight of the fowl (which may be compared to a racing yacht, with great speed of canvas and small hull); and, inasmuch as an ordinary man tips the scales at about 150 pounds, the problem is an easy one to solve.

Taking this as a basis of reckoning, then, it would appear that a fairly robust man of angel—real angels are recognized as belonging to that sex since the female exemplifies in stone on the front of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, in New York.

Professor Langley said not long ago: "It is surely possible for human beings, with practice and with the help of their superior intelligence, to learn how to use their wings, just as small boys acquire the art of walking on stilts, though such members square feet, which would imply that each wing should not be far from eighteen feet in length."

The relation of the length of the wing reason of his inferior equipment. He is to its area varied, of course, with the speed of bird. And just here comes in an important question, namely: What kind of creature, and the puzzle is to make the wing do the conventional angel—wear? Are they pigeon's wings, swan's wings or attention to including the planes of his air truth in the popular notion that a body heavier than the atmosphere cannot be sustained in that medium unless it moves rapidly. A kite of sticks and paper is given the conclusion that if an artificial much heavier than the aerial fluid which angel were put together on the most correct displaced—yet it is sustained aloft. An erect mechanical principles it would not be example much more striking, however, is able to fly with plumes of the size with furnished by the eagle, or the frigate bird, which supernatural beings of the celestial which, though an animal of considerable order in question are ordinarily equipped. The wing area of the angel usually represented in art would be far from sufficient, together, so that a telescope may be trained As a matter of fact, wings are merely upon it. Thousands of feet above the earth it is upheld without movement of a feather, though in a rarified atmosphere— anatomical impossibility, being provided, a thing possible because the fowl knows how to utilize the air currents for its support.

Passing this matter by, asavoring of a winged creature of the soaring (as opposed to the flapping) type. Its manner of flight has been studied by Dr. Trowbridge chiefly through the medium of certain hawks. These he calls "aeroplane birds," is that (according to the arguments of advanced "aviators") we must employ, instead, because they fly on what has come to be known as the aeroplane principle—in other words, after the manner of kites. An important discovery incidentally made by Dr. Trowbridge is that birds in flight are sustained to a great extent by upward currents of air.

To furnish power there must be an engine—a fact which hitherto has seemed to present a serious obstacle, inasmuch as a man, deprived of its feathers, is an accomplished which by no means defies imagination. There have been much better flyers in the world, in ages past, than any feathered creature of to-day—namely, the winged reptiles called pterodactyls, which were the most admirable flying machines ever devised by Nature. Ingenious man, with all his store of accumulated knowledge, ought to be able to invent something better yet in the way of a contrivance for aerial locomotion; and the chance wire would give the requisite propulsive force, and the steamman could devote his will do so.

Typical Angels as Represented in Art, With Impossibly Small Wings, Contrasted with the Scientifically Formed Angel Above.

Yes You Can; You Can Really SEE Through the Telephone.

TWO instruments that may be called "seeing telephones" have been perfected almost simultaneously, after years of experiment. By means of these wonderful instruments a person at one end of a wire can see as well as hear what is going on at the other end, which may be 600 miles away, or as far as it has hitherto been possible to speak through the telephone.

One instrument, called "the televue," is the invention of J. B. Fowler, of Portland, Ore. It has been tested over a distance of more than 6,000 feet in Portland, and there is every reason to believe that it can be used over a far greater distance. The preliminary patents have been issued in Washington. The second seeing telephone is the invention of Professor Koenig, a well-known scientist of Munich. It has been fully tested and works splendidly. It can be used with a wire of indefinite length, but is said to give a less vivid image and to be inferior in many respects to the American invention.

The televue will revolutionize the conditions of modern life, perhaps even more completely than the telegraph or the telephone. These instruments have made communication of a purely intellectual character very simple, but there remain hundreds of forms of communication of the greatest importance to all of us that cannot be satisfactorily accomplished without the intervention of eyesight. With the simple telephone it is difficult to buy goods with confidence, because naturally one wishes to see them before buying. But this difficulty will be entirely removed by the televue. It will simplify the task of the housewife enormously. She will be able to buy her dress goods and her provisions and do all her shopping by televue. The salesgirl will hold up the article desired before the televue transmitter and say:

"How will this hat suit Madame?"

Very frequently the televue proceeds have will be much longer than this. The shopper sitting at home will not have to put forth any physical strength, and so of the person at the other end of the line and at the same time, remain in the required position before the larger lens to enable the transmission of the image to the opposite terminal. The telephone transmitter is close by the larger lens, where the picture is received and the telephone receiver is held to the ear in the ordinary manner.

The visual image in the seeing telephone is transmitted in the form of a photograph, and the apparatus is said to depend for its working upon the variations in the electrical resistance of a ribbon of selenium produced by variations in the intensity of a beam of light impinging upon

Some Hints for the Girl Who Is Shy.

THE girl who knows herself to be shy should stand what the other is trying to tell you, though she may regret it, used you will have the effect of talking well. All that is really necessary is not to be socially more disagreeable and more let your attention wander, and at the same time, in the right place, make some brief apology or affirmation. You giving no one else a chance to speak. People fly from this overblown and aggressive talker.

A mere chatterbox is equally disliked. A good listener is always sure of appreciation. If you can but master the fine art of listening to each person with an air of deep interest, just as if there were nobody else at the moment in the wide world, and as if your greatest wish were to understand

The sounding of box 12 last night about 12.30 o'clock caused No. 3 department to report to the corner of Peter street hurriedly. On arriving, the hose cart and the Salvage Corps discovered that the glass in the box had not been touched, seeing no signs of a conflagration, the department returned to the station. Quite a crowd gathered in a short time as the result of the ringing of the alarm, which was occasioned by crossed wires.

Fourteen deaths were reported at the office of the board of health during the present week, as follows: From infection, miasmata, meningitis, cancer, enteritis, phthisis pulmonalis, cholera, infantum, uterine cancer, intussusception of the bowels, heart disease, typhoid pneumonia, chronic pyelitis, acute nephritis and dropsy cardiac, one each.

Farmers up river complain strongly of the action of the deer, which they claim, are far too plentiful for their welfare. They seem to know that the game law prevents them from being shot after sunset, for the farmers state that notwithstanding that they erect high fences, the deer jump into their fields and eat up their produce in abundance during the night.

LAWYERS WERE ANGRY

Dr. Currey and G. H. V. Belyea Had Lively Tilt During Hearing of Ejectment Suit.

An ejectment suit, Babbirk vs. McIntyre, was heard before Judge Forbes in Court room yesterday and as a result a lively tilt resulted between the opposing counsel, G. H. V. Belyea and C. H. Ferguson.

It appears that on January 29th Mrs. Babbirk, who was Mrs. McIntyre's landlady, served formal notice to quit on her tenant, Mrs. McIntyre. Subsequently some dispute arose about the withdrawing of the notice by a statement alleged to have been made by the plaintiff to the effect that the defendant might remain.

Finally Judge Forbes ordered McIntyre to remove from the tenement by the 15th inst. and to pay the rent to the 1st inst. During the hearing Mr. Currey at one time thought that Mr. Belyea was interfering with him in the examination of a witness and the former proceeded to denounce such conduct.

SALVATION ARMY BUYS METROPOLITAN The building known as the Metropole has been purchased by the Salvation Army from the Parkon estate.

The building will be used for other branches of social work. Plans for the new building, which will be erected on the site of the present Charlotte street barracks, have been passed.

The building will be of stone and brick, of two stories, and the lower portion will be used for juvenile work, while the upper story will be devoted to an auditorium capable of seating 600 people.

With this building and the metropole, the army will be able to do the class of work carried on in larger Canadian cities. Brigadier Turner left yesterday for Woodstock to arrange for the construction of the new army building there.

THE GAY FRENCHMAN IN THE DARK HOLE

Alphonse Wagner, the happy Frenchman, who has figured recently in police circles has recovered his gift of tongue, and is more keener than fool, if Dr. James Charles' convictions are correct.

The question of the man's sanity has been receiving the doctor's attention and he has already made two examinations; a third will be made tomorrow, and if Alphonse makes a good showing, he will be recommended for work in the chain gang. Dr. Wagner possesses a head, and is a fellow prisoner, in consequence of which he was placed in the "dark hole."

He laughs heartily over his adventures, which he has reviewed in good English.

RECORD APPLE CARGO

Yesterday's Boston Journal says: "When the steamer Canadian of the Leyland line sails from here next Wednesday for Liverpool, she will have in her hold more apples than ever before were taken across the Atlantic from an American port. Forty thousand barrels of apples are booked to go out on the steamer and hundreds of freight cars are on their way here from all over New England and the west with the shipment."

All records for the port of Boston are broken by this shipment and not only that, but New York and Montreal have never sent a steamer out with so large a shipment. The freight upon the apples from Boston to Liverpool is 50 cents per barrel, so that there is a profit of $20,000 to the line for carrying the apples across the pond.

Business Notices

If you have forgotten to order "Harry Fritts' Grape Fruit," "Do it now!" These are the best wearing The Gold Head Shoes speak in the highest terms of their fitting and wearing qualities, they will be made tomorrow, and if Alphonse makes a good showing, he will be recommended for work in the chain gang.
