An annular Eclipse of the Sun, April 25th, visible at Toronto, as follows:—
 Beginning at 10h. 35m. } forenoon.
 Greatest Obscuration at .. 11h. 47m. }

This Eclipse will be central and annular to portions of the Pacific Ocean, Guatemala, Yucatan, Cuba, Atlantic Ocean, Canary Isles, and the Great African Desert; and visible to large portions of North and South America, Europe and Africa.

2. An annular Eclipse of the Sun, October 20th—conjunction in right ascension at 2h. 46m. 42s. forenoon, apparent time—invisible in America—central and annular through parts of Guinea, Ethiopia, and Madagascar—at the Isle of France—in the Indian Ocean, and Western parts of New Holland; and visible throughout most of Africa, Arabia, the Indian Ocean, and Australia.

The year 5607 of the Jewish Era commences September 21st, 1846.

THE TWELVE SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC.

Or the twelve equal divisions of the Ecliptic, through which the Sun passes in his apparent annual revolution, and the day upon which he enters each.

SPRING SIGNS.

- ♈ Aries, the head & face, March 20
- ♉ Taurus, the neck, April 20
- ♊ Gemini, the arms, May 21

SUMMER SIGNS.

- ♋ Cancer, the breast, .. June 21
- ♌ Leo, the heart, July 23
- ♍ Virgo, the bowels, ... Aug't 23

AUTUMN SIGNS.

- ♎ Libra, the reins, Sept. 23
- ♏ Scorpio, the secrets, .. Oct'r 23
- ♐ Sagittarius, the thighs, Nov'r 22

WINTER SIGNS.

- ♑ Capricornus, the knees, Dec'r 21
- ♒ Aquarius, the legs, .. Jan'y 20
- ♓ Pisces, the feet, Feb'y 18

The Moon passes through the twelve signs in about 27 $\frac{1}{2}$ days.

The planet Venus will be Evening Star until 2nd March—the Morning Star till 15th December—then Evening Star again. The planet Mars will be Evening Star until 10th September—then Morning Star the remainder of the year. The planet Jupiter will be Evening Star until 14th May—then Morning Star—rising before midnight, after the 8th August, and visible all night near the end of the year.

EXPLANATIONS.—The Eclipses, Phases of the Moon, Rising and Setting of the Sun, Moon, and Planets, are computed for apparent time.

The first and second columns contain the days of the month and week. The third contains, besides the usual Festivals, &c., the conjunctions of the planets with the Sun and Moon, and with one another, which serves as a directory to show where to find them; also, the distance of the Sun from the Earth on the 1st day of every month at mean Moon, and the distance of the Moon at her greatest and least distances. The fourth and fifth columns contain the rising and setting of the Sun, computed to seconds, and set down to the nearest minute—allowance being made for refraction. The rising and setting of all the celestial bodies are also slightly affected by the temperature and density of the atmosphere—and also, except the fixed stars, by parallax. The sixth contains the difference between apparent and mean time, showing the number of minutes and seconds the Sun passes the meridian, before or after noon, by a clock measuring time uniformly. The seventh contains the rising and setting of the Moon, computed to seconds, and entered to the nearest minute—the refraction and parallax being allowed to balance one another. The eighth contains the Moon's longitude to the nearest degree, showing her true place in the ecliptic at mean Moon. The ninth and last contains the Moon's declination to the nearest minute of a degree, for midnight, at the beginning of every day.

Is there a Hell?—A pious minister of respectable talents, now in the Methodist connexion, was formerly a preacher among the Universalists. The incident which led him seriously to examine the grounds of that doctrine is striking and singular. He was amusing his little son by telling him the story of the "Children in the Wood." The boy asked, "What became of the little innocent children?" "They went to heaven," replied the father. "What became of the wicked old uncle?" "He went to heaven too." "Won't he kill them again, father?" said the boy.

The Devil Outwitted.—A poor woman in Montreal received a Bible from the British agent in that city. A Romish priest, hearing of the circumstance, made a visit, intending to deprive her of the precious gift. He offered her five dollars for the Bible. She declined taking it. He then offered her ten, and afterward fifteen dollars; she still declining, he left her. The next day he returned and offered her twenty-five dollars. She accepted the offer, and with the money purchased twenty-five Bibles, which she distributed among her destitute neighbours under such conditions that the priest could not obtain them.

Whitefield.—The late Mr. Whitefield in a sermon he preached at Haworth (for Mr. Grimshaw), having spoken severely of those professors of the gospel who, by their loose and evil conduct, caused the ways of truth to be evil spoken of, intimated his hope that it was not necessary to enlarge much upon that topic to the congregation before him, who had so long enjoyed the benefit of an able and faithful preacher, and he was willing to believe that their profiting appeared to all men. This roused Mr. Grimshaw's spirit, and notwithstanding the great regard he had for the preacher, he stood up and interrupted him, saying, with a loud voice, "Oh, sir! for God's sake do not speak so; I pray you, do not flatter them; I fear the greater part of them are going to hell with their eyes open."

Perseverance.—Two negroes at the South, who had just been to hear an eloquent pulpit discourse, were conversing together respecting it, when one remarked that he could "no understand." The other replied that he understood all but one word. "What dat?" "Perseverance!" "Oh, me tell you what dat mean; it mean, take right hold, hold fast, hang on, and no let go."

Reading Sermons.—The following is not a bad portrait of one who entirely confines himself to his notes. "He lays open his performance at large in the face of the whole assembly, like a boy at school; he reads and blunders, and blunders and reads; he stands in the pulpit like a speaking statue, without life or motion; his eyes are fixed down to the space of a few square inches as if he stared at a ghost; he hangs his head over his scroll as if he were receiving sentence of death. If the poor drudge could look around him, he would see half of his audience dozing over his dull repetition; not a soul affected, unless, perhaps, an old beggar gives a groan from a dark corner when he hears the sound. An honest countryman, happening to hear one of these paper geniuses preach, was asked by his wife when he went home how he liked the preacher. 'Alas!' said he, 'he was as poor a preacher as ever I saw, woman: he was just like a crow picking the corn; for he always put down his head for a pick, and then he looked about to see if any person was coming near him.'"

Archbishop Fenelon.—When Archbishop Fenelon's library was on fire, he was heard to say, "God be praised that it is not the habitation of some poor man!"

Dr. Rush.—The doctor once informed me that, when he was a young man, he had been invited on some occasion to dine in company with Robert Morris, Esq., a man celebrated for the part he took in the American revolution. It so happened that the company had waited some time for Mr. Morris, who, on his appearance, apologized for detaining them by saying that he had been engaged in reading a sermon of a clergyman who had just gone to England to receive orders. "Well, Mr. Morris," said the doctor, "how did you like the sermon? I have heard it highly extolled." "Why, doctor," said he, "I did not like it at all. It is too smooth and tame for me." "Mr. Morris," replied the doctor, "what sort of sermon do you like?" "I like, Sir," replied Mr. Morris, "that preaching which drives a man up into the corner of his pew, and makes him think the devil is after him."

Mr. Summerfield.—It is said of the late Mr. Summerfield, that being asked by a bishop where he was born, he replied, "I was born in England, and born again in Ireland." "What do you mean?" inquired the bishop. "Art thou a master in Israel, and knowest not these things!" was the reply.

Forgiving one Another.—A person in high life once went to Sir Earld-ley Wilmot, late lord chief-justice of the Court of Common Pleas, under the impression of great wrath and indignation at a real injury which he had received from high in the political world, and which he was meditating how to resent in the most effectual manner. After relating the particulars, he asked Sir Earldley if he did not think it would be manly to resent it? "Yes," said the ornament of the bench, "it will be manly to resent it, but it will be godlike to forgive it."
 [The gentleman declared that this had such an instantaneous effect upon him, that he came away quite a different man and in a totally different temper from that in which he went.]

The late Hearer.—A minister whom I well knew, observing that some of his people made a practice of coming in very late, and after a considerable part of the sermon was gone through, was determined that they should feel the force of a public reproof. One day, therefore, as they entered the place of worship at their usual late period, the minister, addressing his congregation, said, "But, my hearers, it is time to conclude, for here are our friends just come to fetch us home."

No Substitute for Christianity.—Infidels should never talk of our giving up Christianity till they can propose something superior to it. Lord Chesterfield's answer, therefore, to an infidel lady was very just. When at Brussels he was invited by Voltaire to sup with him and Madame C. The conversation happening to turn upon the affairs of England, "I think, my lord," said Madame C, "that the parliament of England consists of five or six hundred of the best informed men in the kingdom." "True, madame, they are generally supposed to be so." "What, then, my lord, can be the reason they tolerate so great an absurdity as the Christian religion?" "I suppose, madame," replied his lordship, "it is because they have not been able to substitute anything better in its stead; when they can, I don't doubt but in their wisdom they will really adopt it."

Human Nature.—When some one was talking before that acute Scotchman, Doctor Cheyne, of the excellence of human nature, "Hoot, hoot, mon," said he, "human nature is a rogue and a scoundrel, or why would it perpetually stand in need of laws and religion."

The Rich Man Confounded.—To be enabled to appreciate the Saviour as our wisdom, righteousness, sanctification, and redemption, is of all enjoyments the greatest. The possession of wealth, talents, power, and fame, all sink to nothing when compared with this. The poorest, the most obscure, therefore, with this, is infinitely more happy than the most elevated without it. A gentleman one day took an acquaintance of his upon the leads of his house to show him the extent of his possession: waving his hand about, "There," says he, "that is my estate." Then pointing to a great distance on one side, "Do you see that farm?" "Yes." "Well, that is mine." Pointing again to the other side, "Do you see that house?" "Yes." "That also belongs to me." "Then," said his friend, "Do you see that little village out yonder?" "Yes." "Well, there lives a poor woman in that village who can say more than all this." "Ay! what can she say?" "Why, she can say, 'Christ is mine.'" He looked confounded and said no more.

Colonel Ethan Allen.—Colonel Ethan Allen was a bold officer in the American revolution. He could face the enemies of his country with the most undaunted bravery, and in the field of battle he never shrunk from danger. But he was an opposer of Christianity, and gloried in the character of an infidel. His wife however, was a pious woman, and taught her children in the ways of piety, while he told them it was all a delusion. But there was an hour coming when Colonel Allen's confidence in his own sentiments would be closely tried. A beloved daughter was taken sick; he received a message that she was dying; he hastened to her bedside, anxious to hear her dying words. "Father," said she, "I am about to die, shall I believe in the principles which you have taught me, or shall I believe what my mother has taught me?" This was an affecting scene. The intrepid Colonel became agitated; his chin quivered; his whole frame shook; and after waiting a few moments, he replied, "Believe what your Mother has taught you."

Dr. Goodwin.—"Ah!" said Dr. Goodwin, in his last moments, "is this dying? How have I dreaded as an enemy this smiling friend!"

Wesley.—The Rev. Mr. M. was educated for the bar. His conversion arose from the following circumstance. He was desired one evening by some of his companions, who were with him at a coffee-house, to go and hear Mr. John Wesley, who, they were told, was to preach in the neighbourhood, and then to return and exhibit his manner and discourse for their entertainment. He went with that intention; and, just as he entered the place, Mr. Wesley named as his text, "Prepare to meet thy God," with a solemnity of accent which struck him, and which inspired a seriousness that increased as the good man proceeded in exhorting his hearers to repentance. He returned to the coffee-room, and was asked by his acquaintance "if he had taken off the old Methodist." To which he answered, "No, gentlemen; but he has taken me off," and from that time he left their company altogether, and in future associated with serious people, and became himself a serious character.

Safe Investment.—A wealthy merchant having lost by one shipwreck to the value of £1500, ordered his clerk to distribute £100 among poor ministers and people, adding, that if his fortune was going by £1500 at a lump, it was high time to make sure of some part before it was all gone.

Pungent Preaching.—An old man, being asked his opinion of a certain sermon, replied, "I liked it very well, except that there was no pinch to it. I always like to have a pinch to every sermon." I was reminded of this anecdote by the remark of a son of Neptune from Nantucket, whom I met in the gallery of a crowded church last Sabbath evening. He said it was a handsome sermon, "but he would have liked it better if it had struck the harpoon into the conscience of the sinner."

Mr. J. Fletcher.—It is recorded of the Rev. Mr. Fletcher, that he never thought anything too mean but sin; he looked on nothing else as beneath his character. If he overtook a poor man or woman on the road with a burden too heavy for them, he did not fail to offer his assistance to bear part of it; and he would not easily take a denial. This, indeed, he has frequently done.

Lord North, during the American war, sent to the Rev. Mr. Fletcher, of Medeley, to know what he wanted; he sent him word that he wanted but one thing (which it was not in his lordship's power to give him) and that was, more grace "Sit anima mea cum Fletchero."

The Practical Hearer.—A poor woman in the country went to hear a sermon, wherein, among other evil practices, the use of dishonest weights and measures was exposed. With this discourse she was much affected. The next day, when the minister, according to his custom, went among his hearers, and called upon the woman, he took occasion to ask her what she remembered of his sermon. The poor woman complained much of her bad memory, and said she had forgotten almost all that he delivered. "But one thing," said she, "I remembered; I remembered to burn my bushel."

Original Anecdote of a Sabbath School Scholar.—Last Sabbath, as the children were assembled at the 3rd Presbyterian church in Rochester, and a few of them standing in the porch, a waggon with a number of persons in it, apparently on a journey, stopped, and one of the men called out to the children, "Ha! loo, there, what sort of religion do you have here?" One of the lads replied, "A sort of religion that forbids our travelling on the Sabbath." The inquirer passed on without making any reply.

Haynes.—When a revival of religion was in progress in his parish, and Satan gave intimations of dissatisfaction (as he is wont to do at such times), some of his students, having been slandered for their zeal and activity, made their complaints to him of what they had suffered, and expected his sympathy and protection. After a pause, Mr. Haynes observed, "I knew all this before." "Why, then," said one, "did you not inform us?" "Because," said he, "it was not worth communicating and I now tell you plainly, and once for all, my young friends, it is best to let the devil carry his own mail and bear its expenses."

"The Devil is Dead."—It is said that some time after the publication of Mr. Haynes's sermon on the text, "Thou shalt not surely die," two reckless young men having agreed together to try his wit, one of them said "Father Haynes, have you heard the good news?" "No," said he, "what is it?" "It is great news indeed," said the other; "and, if true, your business is done." "What is it?" again inquired Mr. Haynes. "Why," said the first, "the devil is dead." In a moment the old gentleman replied, "Oh, poor fatherless children! what will become of you?"

or upwards, and every benefactor presenting a donation of ten pounds and upwards, shall be deemed a member of this Society, and entitled, as such, to a General Annual Report.

IV.—All Methodist Missionary Societies which have already been formed, or which may be formed, for the several Districts in the Province into which the Methodist Connexion is divided, shall be entitled "Auxiliary Methodist Missionary Societies" for the Districts in which they have been, or may be, formed. All Methodist Missionary Societies already formed, or hereafter to be formed, in the particular circuits of any district, shall be entitled "Branch Methodist Missionary Societies" for the circuit in which they are or shall be established. And Sabbath School and Juvenile Christmas offerings are also earnestly recommended, where exertions of that nature are likely to be advantageous.

V.—The Chairman of each District shall be, ex-officio, Secretary and Treasurer of the Auxiliary Society of his District: and every Superintendent of a Circuit shall, by virtue of his office, be Secretary and Treasurer of the Branch Societies of the Circuit over which he presides.

VI.—The money raised in any Circuit for the Methodist Missions by Branch Societies, or other local associations, and all other moneys, in whatever way collected for the same object, shall be regularly paid once every half-year, or oftener, into the hands of the Treasurer of the Auxiliary Society for the District in which the said Circuit is situated, with the deduction only of such sums as may have been disbursed for the incidental and local expenses of the Branch Society. And the Treasurer of every District Society shall remit to the Treasurer of the General Society in Toronto, semi-annually, or oftener, all sums so received by him from the various Circuits in his District, deducting only therefrom the necessary incidental expenses incurred by the Auxiliary Society.

VII.—The Secretaries of every Branch Society, or other local association, shall forward, annually, to the Secretary of the Auxiliary Society of their District, an alphabetical list of all the benefactors and subscribers during the preceding twelve months, with an account of their respective contributions. And the Secretaries of every District Auxiliary Society shall also forward annually to the Secretary of the General Society in Toronto, a similar list of all the subscribers and benefactors in all the Circuits of their Districts, an abstract of the accounts of the Auxiliary Society, showing its gross receipts, its local payments, and its remittance to the General Treasurer.

VIII.—All benefactors of ten pounds and upwards, and all subscribers of one pound and upwards, annually, to any of the Auxiliary or Branch Societies in connexion with this Institution, shall be deemed, in right of such benefaction or subscription, members of the General Society.

IX.—All persons who collect to the amount of three pounds and upwards, annually, for this Institution, or for any of the Auxiliaries, Branches, or Associations, shall also be members of the General Society, and entitled to receive a supply of each Annual Report.

X.—An annual public meeting of the members and friends of this Society, connected with such religious service as may be deemed expedient, shall be held at the place of the Session of the Conference, on the first Monday after the meeting of the Conference, at the hour of half-past six o'clock, P.M. At this annual meeting the officers of the Society shall be appointed.

XI.—A General Committee shall be annually appointed by the Conference, to whom shall be intrusted (in the intervals of the annual assemblies of that body) the superintendence of the collection and disbursements of all moneys received for the Missions which are now, or may hereafter be carried on under its sanction, and by the Ministers in connexion with it. The Committee shall consist of the President and Secretary of the Conference for the time being, and of twelve other members—seven of whom, at least, shall be members of the Methodist Church in or near Toronto. At any meeting of the Committee, seven shall be a quorum for the transaction of business.

XII.—The Conference, at each of its annual meetings, shall appoint a Committee, consisting of the President and Secretary of the Conference, the Chairmen of Districts, and five others, whose duty it shall be to audit all the accounts of contingent expenditures during the previous year, and recommend (as far as may be necessary) the appropriations for the support of the missions during the ensuing year.

XIII.—The Chairman of Districts shall have authority to draw upon the Treasurer quarterly for any sums, within the amount specified, which the Missionary Committee shall judge necessary for the support of the mission and mission schools under their care. The chairmen shall require regular quarterly communications to be made by each of the Missionaries on their respective Districts to the Corresponding Secretary of the Society, giving information of the state and prospects of the several missions in which they are employed.

XIV.—It shall be the duty of the General Missionary Committee to furnish the General Treasurer of this Society with a schedule setting forth the number of missions and mission schools, the place of location, and the amount appropriated for their support respectively, and the sum total of appropriation for the current year.

XV.—This Constitution shall not be altered but by a general meeting of the Society, on the recommendation of the Conference and Committee.

EDITOR OF CHRISTIAN GUARDIAN, Corresponding Secretary.

Mr. S. S. JUNKIN, Recording Secretary.

Missionary Committee.—Chairman of Toronto District; the two Ministers in the City of Toronto; the Superintendents of Yonge Street and Humber Circuits; and the following gentlemen, viz:—Messrs. J. R. Armstrong, J. Hodgson, G. Walker, E. C. Benns, P. Lawrence, J. Stephens, and R. Brewer.

CONNEXIONAL FUNDS.

1. MISSIONARY FUND.—That the importance of this Fund is appreciated by the members and friends of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in this Province; and that, from year to year, it has been their determination to sustain it, will appear from the receipts of the Society for the last five years.

2. SUPERANNUATED FUND.—This Fund was established many years since for the “Relief and Support of the Superannuated Preachers, and the Widows and Children of those who died in the work.” For the last five years the claims upon this Fund have been met; but as the demands must necessarily increase, it is highly important that the friends of the Superannuated Preacher, the Widow, and the Orphan, augment the Fund in the same ratio.

3. CONTINGENT FUND.—Exertions have been made for several years—even since its organization in the year 1830—to make the annual income of this Fund equal to the annual demand made thereon; and although it has been of vast benefit to the connexion, yet, hitherto, it has failed to make up the yearly deficiencies of poor Circuits,—to meet the expenses incurred by the Preachers in cases of personal or domestic affliction,—and to defray all the incidental connexional expenses not otherwise provided for.

4. CENTENARY FUND.—Nearly £10,000 were subscribed in the Province for the formation of this Fund, payable in four years. The subscriptions for many, however, flow into the treasury so tardily, that not quite £4000 have as yet been received. The Centenary Fund is appropriated as follows:

- Five-tenths for the formation of a Permanent Superannuated Fund.
- Two-tenths for assisting the General Book Concern.
- Two-tenths for furnishing Parsonages.
- One-tenth for Missionary or other connexional purposes.

5. CHAPEL RELIEF FUND.—The necessity of such a Fund has long been felt in the Wesleyan Methodist Church; and, at the last Conference, preparatory steps were taken in order to secure the establishment of so desirable a Fund. When the sanction of the Quarterly Meetings shall have been obtained, the Fund will at once go into operation. The following are the Resolutions adopted by the Conference:—

Resolved, 1st—That a Committee, to be called The Chapel Fund Committee, be appointed, consisting of five preachers and five laymen, who shall reside in or near the City of Toronto, to be nominated by the President and appointed by the Conference, who shall meet quarterly, and five of whom shall form a quorum. The President and Secretary of the Conference to be, ex-officio, members of this Committee, and the Book Steward the General Treasurer.

Resolved, 2ndly—That when a Circuit or Station proposes the building or enlargement of a Chapel, the Superintendent, before giving such proposal his sanction, shall submit to the Chapel Fund Committee a full and particular statement of the necessity, the material and style, and the expense of such Chapel or enlargement, and of the subscriptions and other resources for meeting the expenditure.

Resolved, 3rdly—That no Chapel shall be built or enlarged without having obtained the previous consent of the Chapel Committee; nor shall the Committee sanction any such proposal, unless the requirements of the Discipline have been obeyed.

Resolved, 4thly—That a fund shall be instituted in our connexion, to be called the Chapel Relief Fund, the supplies of which fund, it is recommended, shall be raised in the following ways:—1. By every travelling Minister paying 5s. or upwards annually. 2. By every Trustee of all the Chapels belonging to our connexion being requested to pay 5s. or upwards annually. 3. By private subscriptions among our friends. 4. By public collections in all our Chapels and Congregations, to be taken up by the Preachers in the first and second weeks in Aug. of each year. 5. By legacies, which it may be hoped our more wealthy members and friends will feel it their duty to leave to this fund. 6. By anything that may be received from the "Clergy Land Fund," and which the Conference may think advisable to appropriate to this purpose.

Resolved, 5thly—That the moneys which are thus raised shall be appropriated from time to time by the Chapel Fund Committee for the relief of Chapels deeply in debt, and greatly needing assistance. And that the particular state of each Chapel requiring relief, as to debts, resources or income, expenditure, &c., be laid before the Committee in writing.

Resolved, 6thly—That all the doings of the Committee shall be annually reported to the Conference, and subject to its revision.

Resolved, 7thly—That all the Superintendents, as soon as practicable after going to their Circuits, shall call the Trustees of the several Chapels on their Circuits together, and lay the plan of the Chapel Relief Fund before them, and use every suitable means to obtain their concurrence therein; and that a general circular letter, stating its objects and necessity, be forthwith published in the Christian Guardian.

Resolved, 8thly—That the Superintendents shall receive all moneys raised for this fund on their respective Circuits or Stations, and they are required to forward the same on or before first January in each year to the Treasurer.
